

Appoint Bishop New Postmaster In Cass City

Official confirmation is expected Friday of the appointment of a new acting postmaster in Cass City. Lewis Bishop is expected to replace Steve Orto in the village.

Mr. Orto had been appointed to replace Ray Lapp who resigned to become the assistant postmaster in the village a little more than a year ago.

Mr. Bishop was selected from several applicants who recently wrote civil service examinations. Appointment to the post is restricted to persons who have the top three scores in the test for the position and appointment is usually made after recommendations are received from the township and county committees of the party in power when the vacancy occurs.

An allowance is made in the tests that increases the scores of all veterans.

Leeson Shares School Record With 39 Points

Fred Leeson tied a scoring record for Cass City High School Tuesday night as he burned the meshes for 39 points to lead Cass City to an easy 71-53 victory over Marlette at Cass City High School.

The hard-driving forward notched 18 buckets and three free throws in his spectacular performance. Although he scored from all over the court, most of his points were the result of driving lay-up shots.

Leeson's 39 points tied the modern school record of 39 points established by Tim Burdon in 1952-53 . . . although Burdon hit 30 points or more on five different occasions in his final year.

Almost lost in the excitement of Leeson's performance was the fact that the victory clinched the Thumb B Conference championship for Cass City and the team posted one of its widest margins in recent years over the Red Raiders.

The Hawks moved into a quick lead in the opening period and added to its margin throughout the first half. At the intermission they were over 20 points ahead.

Coach Irv Clasen experimented with various combinations in the second half and in the closing minutes of the game cleared his bench to let everyone get in the game.

Playing their finest game of the year, the Cass City Red Hawks clinched a share of the Thumb B Conference cage crown Friday night when they rolled to a 63-38 decision at Bad Axe. The victory gave the Hawks a 9-0 record with three games to play . . . three full games ahead of second place Marlette.

Paced by Fred Leeson who poured in 10 field goals and nine of 11 free throws, Cass City opened up an early lead and the game was never in doubt after the opening period.

The Hawks used a zone defense throughout the game and the Hawks riddled it with tremendous outside shooting in the first period.

Bob Holcomb whipped in five field goals in the first quarter on shots from the side and Leeson hit a bucket from the corner and added three charity tosses. At the end of the period, Cass City was ahead 19-10.

Leeson took over the scoring

DISCUSSES TAXES—Rep. Allison Green brought Cass City Rotarians and their farmer guests up to date on the proposed new Michigan taxes and the State's financial situation Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

Rep. Green told members that letters he has received favor an increased sales tax over a personal income tax by almost nine to one.

From the Editor's Corner

Omro, Wis., a community of some 1,600 persons where Walbro Corporation has established a branch plant called Omro Products Corp., appreciates industry.

According to a story in the Milwaukee Journal, the entire community turned out for their second industry appreciation dinner in eight years in January. This one was to welcome the Walbro branch plant to the community.

The community has two plants, both of which were enticed to the community by the Omro Independent Business Association (OIBA).

To get Walbro to open in the community the OIBA erected a $65,000 building and leased it to Walbro. At the present time, some 35 men are employed in the Omro plant.

Persons interested in the growth of Cass City could well be guided by the success of the OIBA in Omro.

Establishing two industries in Omro was just one of the OIBA's many outstanding achievements. It loaned the city $4,200 to help finance a sewage disposal plant, it paid one-third of a $10,000 street lighting project, built a baseball diamond, aided the library, lighted the football field and was responsible for many other civic improvements.

It's a success story that proves what united cooperative effort can accomplish in any community, including Cass City.

Eisinger Named District Director

Kenneth Eisinger, manager of Fuelgas Company of Cass City, was named a district director for the Michigan Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association at a meeting held recently in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Eisinger will be in charge of district four which includes Lapeer, St. Clair, Sanilac, Tuscola and Huron counties.

The association has 11 districts. Mr. Eisinger is the youngest person ever to be named to the organization's board of directors.

A Long Hard Winter

Costs Double for Removal of Snow

Cost of removing snow from Cass City streets has more than doubled over the previous season, a report compiled by Mrs. Wilma Fry indicated this week.

The report, which is sent to the State Highway Department and used as a basis for payment for keeping M-81 (Main Street) cleared of snow, showed that $2,224 has been spent so far this year as compared to $1,002 in the 1957-58 season.

The State's budget called for $1,000 for the work here. It is possible that the highway department will transfer money from other departments to pay for the heavy increase in snow removal throughout the state.

Rep. Green Tells of Proposed Taxes

Rep. Allison Green explained Michigan's tax structure and money plight to Rotarians Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel. "The business decline with its resultant loss in revenue is responsible for the state's deficit in the general fund," Green said.

He explained how revenues had been increasing rapidly through 1955, failed to increase in 1956-57 and decreased last year.

This decrease in expected tax revenue together with rising costs placed the state in its present financial situation, Green explained.

Possible solutions are an increase in the state sales tax or a state personal income tax.

Both tax measures have drawbacks, according to Rep. Green.

The state income tax charges higher income families more, which is probably the fairest way to tax individuals, he said. However, mail received is against the state income tax by a ratio of almost nine to one.

"Voters apparently feel that there will not be enough control over an income tax and that eventually it will cost more than an increase in state sales tax," Green told Rotarians.

An increase of one per cent in the sales tax has the disadvantage of taxing low income groups which are not in a position to pay as easily as persons whose income is greater.

Rep. Green said that he leans towards an income tax but would vote to place the proposition of an increase in state sales tax before the voters in the April election.

Whether or not the measure will muster the necessary two-thirds vote of the legislature before it can be placed on the ballot is doubtful at this time, Green asserted.

Regardless of which method is used to secure added revenue for the state's general fund, it is almost sure that added taxes will be levied at this session, the guest speaker said. The state will be unable to meet its payroll obligations if added revenue is not found in this session, he added.

Gagetown Seeks Twp. Support of Fire Department

Residents of Gagetown discussed fire protection for the village and Elmwood Township Monday night in a special meeting following the annual village caucus.

Village President Joe Mosack told the group that he felt that Elmwood Township should pay for all costs of fire protection, including a building to house fire-fighting equipment.

Mr. Mosack said that since Gagetown is part of the township and pays its share of township taxes, it would be paying its share of fire protection costs if the entire cost of the department was paid by the township.

At present Elmwood is served by the Gagetown department on a fee basis. Every fire call answered in the township costs $100.

Since Gagetown has only one truck it may be that the village will discontinue to allow its truck to leave the community to fight fires in Elmwood Township, spokesmen at the meeting said.

It is expected that the issue will be discussed at future meetings.

13 Girls in Newly Formed Village 4-H Club

Cass City became one of several Tuscola villages to organize a 4-H club when 13 girls met at the home of Mrs. Frank Meiser Feb. 4 and started the Cass City Sewing Club.

Under the direction of Mrs. Meiser, the club will begin work by hemming towels, making aprons and head scarfs. The older girls in the club will make skirts or simple dresses.

Mrs. Meiser was a sewing club leader in Ogemaw County for several years.

Joyce DeLong has been named president of the new group and Jane MacLachlan will serve as secretary-treasurer and reporter.

Plans call for the club to meet each Wednesday. The group was shown slides depicting 4-H work by Bill Muller, 4-H club agent, at the home of Mrs. Meiser on Feb. 3.

Revoke License of Milton Mellendorf

Milton Mellendorf, 43, of Owendale pled guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor before Justice Reva M. Little in Cass City Feb. 11. He surrendered his driver's license and paid fine and costs of $80.65.

He was arrested Feb. 10 by police officer William Wood.

To Promote Business

Ask Area Residents To Help Board

The Cass City Development Corporation Board issued a plea to residents of the community for help in creating and maintaining a favorable business climate in Cass City in a statement by the board read by President Clifford Croft at the corporation's annual meeting Tuesday night.

Pointing out the advantages that industrial employment has contributed to the community the board said, "We cannot afford to let 'outside interests' interpret and develop public opinion which is rewarding to only their cause."

The board also listed three aims of the corporation for the village. The complete statement of the aims of the corporation follows:

"To develop our natural resources in the promotion of Cass City as a semi-industrial community."

"To stabilize employment in and around Cass City with the view in mind that we can as a dedicated group assist in securing work for an ever enlarging proportion of our young people."

"The continued and active efforts on our part to achieve and maintain favorable business climate."

"Two industries have left our community. Industries providing many jobs, both had been affected by outside interests to the degree that they found the business climate in Cass City unfavorable. It is our duty and responsibility to keep the public and our community informed and progressive. We cannot afford to let 'outside interests' interpret and develop public opinion which is rewarding to only their cause."

"We feel that the Cass City Development Corporation and its stockholders can and will do more for the development of jobs in the Cass City area than any organized outside interest. Why? Because we have the community interest at heart, not personal gains."

"We in this Cass City area have enjoyed our share of prosperity during the last six years. Evidence of this are the jobs being filled that previously were non-existent. The $1,614,182.00 in wages paid by our local industries last year have had a

Name 3 to Board Of Development Corporation

The board of directors of the Cass City Development Corporation was expanded to six members Tuesday night as stockholders voted to amend the by-laws at the corporation's annual meeting.

James Gross, who has acted as the organization's treasurer since the corporation was formed, was elected to the newly created sixth position.

Two members whose terms expire were re-elected to the board. Serving again will be Harry Little and Joe Riley. Members of the board serve without pay. They also do not charge any expenses incurred in the corporation's behalf.

The financial report submitted by Mr. Gross showed that the corporation netted $1,065.60 in 1958. This profit was from the sale of land.

In 1958 a building was erected, which is now leased to Walbro, at a cost of $35,496.78.

Since organized, the corporation also paid a dividend of $20 per share to stockholders. The corporation has issued a total of $12,500 worth of stock at $50 per share.

Mr. Field was the only Democrat to file.

Chevy panel steps lively in Florida...runs day and night, delivers 19.3 miles per gallon!

This '59 Chevy panel is on the go, morning, noon and night; it covers as much as 537 miles a day... runs so constantly that its engine never cools off completely. Yet Mr. Clark Farber, the Tampa Tribune's circulation manager, reports that the truck is delivering 19.3 miles per gallon!

This year, the light-, medium- and heavy-duty trucks of the 1959 Chevrolet Task-Force fleet are out to whip anything that comes their way—and they've got what it takes to do it!

Take the panel pictured above, for example. Powered by the '59 Thriftmaster 6 with new economy-contoured camshaft, it's building a sensational economy record, despite the sizzling pace of its work. That's typical of the way Chevrolets of all sizes are turning to on the most challenging jobs in America. The way they're made, with tough-built truck components, they make the hardest hauls look easy!

If you have a job that puts a truck on its mettle, see your Chevrolet dealer!

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

ARE YOUR TIRES TIRED?
Although I've talked about the importance of tire care before in this column this is a subject that can certainly stand repetition. When you stop to consider that poorly-cared-for tires are an open invitation to serious accidents - even death - it's just plain foolhardy not to take a few simple precautions. Here then are six simple steps to take to avoid the risk of driving on tired tires:
1. Check your tires today. The only place for a tire without any tread left is for the garbage collector.
2. Look for signs of uneven wear, bruises, or rim cuts. If worn or bald spots show up your wheels are out of alignment. Have them balanced NOW.
3. Switch tires every 4000-5000 miles, using spare. Change front tires to rear on same sides. Put spare tire with best of rear on front. Use most worn tire for spare.
4. Invest in an inexpensive tire gauge and check pressures often. Under-inflation is the greatest enemy of tire life.
5. Remember that hitting curbs when parking is the main cause of wheel misalignment.
6. Always drive in slow lanes if tires are old. Even if tires are new take time out for "cooling-off" when making long and fast trips.

If you'll observe these rules not only will you lengthen the life of your tires, but your own, as well!
Careful tire inspection is one of the first things we do when taking a car in. And it's what you should, too, when shopping for a good used car.

If you're in the market now drop in and see us. Every used car at Bulen's has been thoroughly safety-checked and re-conditioned from the tires up.

GREAT SELECTION, which means we have too many. We need the money so if you plan to buy this spring DO IT NOW! We will sell cheaper now than later when the demand picks up with good weather, and you will be assured of a car which will start for the balance of the winter.

USED PICKUPS. We have a tremendous demand for the older models, no supply. If you have one you're not using, let us try to buy it. Or, trade now on a new Chevrolet. We'll pay top price.

easy loading, large capacity,

with LS 300 SPREADERS

Low loading height, 75-80 bushel capacity... just two of the many features that make the LS 300 a leader in its field. Rugged steel angle frame construction allows box to set low, still have large capacity. Weight on 2-wheel models is balanced for easy handling. Auto-turn front axle on 4 wheel models allows short turns. Spreader can be backed into barn with ease.
High grade, clear wood box is specially treated to lengthen life. Wide, tapered bottom helps move manure to rear. Two beaters driven by single heavy-duty steel chain shred manure evenly. Carbon steel distributor blades pulverize the manure, spread it over ground in a wide, even pattern. Distributor is specially designed to eliminate possibility of blank spots in the row. Balanced 3-lobe feed can lets you spread 3, 6, 9, 12, or 15 loads per acre.
Handy hitch screw jack serves as stand for loading. Folds out of way when spreader is in use. Eight models to choose from: 2 or 4 wheel tractor-drawn, 4-wheel horse-drawn.

what makes a co-op work?

Co-operation, of course. Obvious? Maybe, but remember that co-operation means working together toward a common goal.
Co-operation—working together—has built the Michigan Milk Producers Association into the nation's outstanding milk marketing co-op. Co-operation has given MMPA members—year after year—more services, a more stable market and a greater return for their milk.
In price negotiations, for example, MMPA bargaining will add an estimated $11,500,000 to members' income in 1959. In the Detroit market alone, a recent one-year contract negotiated by MMPA assures members an additional $8,500,000 return for their milk.
Working together, MMPA members achieve goals impossible for anyone to achieve alone.

Winter Kill Test

Seeking an answer to winter kill control, a fisheries research biologist tests water samples from a lake in which warm, compressed air has been pumped. Vegetation decay had reduced the lake's oxygen content to a low degree, resulting in the drowning of many fish. Favorable results were noted in the samples to support use of this artificial, pumping method in other lakes affected by the problem.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Philly Scrapple Makes Special Treat For Hearty Breakfast

SCRAPPLE is an old, old dish that originated among the Germans in Pennsylvania. The genuine old-fashioned scrapple calls for young pig's head boiled until the meat is tender. Then the meat is minced and cooked in broth with corn meal, cooled and later fried. Today, people all over the country are enjoying a modern version of scrapple, a corn meal mush filled with cooked pork sausage, chilled and fried to a golden brown. Scrapple is a special breakfast treat not hard to prepare if you make the mush the night before and chill so it will slice easily the next morning.

Philadelphia Scrapple (Serves 6-8)
1 pound pork sausage meat
4 cups water
1 1/4 cups enriched corn meal
2 cups cold water
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon sage, if desired
Pan-fry pork sausage meat. Drain well on absorbent paper. Heat water to boiling. Combine corn meal, cold water, salt and sage.

The new way to prepare scrapple uses pork sausage meat and enriched corn meal. Make the day before and pour into a loaf pan for overnight chilling. In the morning slice and fry and serve with fried apple rings, maple-flavored syrup.

Slowly pour into boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Cover and continue cooking over low heat for 10 minutes. Stir occasionally. Add pork sausage; mix well. Pour into loaf pan (1 1/2-pound size). Chill.

To serve, cut scrapple into 1/2-inch slices. Fry on a lightly greased griddle or frying pan until golden brown, turning once to brown other side. Serve with butter, syrup and apple rings.

Fried Apple Rings
Use 1/4-inch slices of pared, tart, peeled apples. Sprinkle with sugar and saute in sausage drippings after sausage has been removed from the skillet. Turn once with a broad spatula while cooking and cook until tender. If desired, the rings may also be browned in butter or bacon fat.

Mix Traditional, New Furniture

Elements of the so called traditional and contemporary furniture which so coldly snubbed each other a few years ago are now shown being happily allied. Modern furniture which is now heartily accepted has discarded the radical severity which marked its birth pangs a few decades ago.

New Features
Viewed broadly, the pieces are characteristically modern in feeling. This means their silhouette is trim, they're low and comfortable in seating, averaging only 30 inches in height. The major surface is unadorned, but there is detailing enough to interest anyone.

Legs, for example, are more elaborate than previously. Some have a thin brass overlay, others are carved or have a touch of fluting. In some cases the carved leg comes over the base line of the upholstery.

Legs splay gently forward and in several the setting of the leg is emphasized with an upward curve outline in welting.

Comfort is There
Built-in comfort is noteworthy, as is the design. Introduced this year is a new back, known as "Soft Back" which uses four inches of specially processed foam, indented from the top and sides of the frame, which gives an upholstery border. The effect is one of a very loose, soft cushion even though the puff is buttoned to the frame.

Chairs are notable for their adaptability and comfort. Many are in the tub shape, wider than tall and useful in pairs.

There's comfort, too, in the fabrics used for covering. Some have only slight texture but others are almost carpet-like in their covering. There are few sheer or silky types shown as they appear to soil too readily for most homes.

Fabrics with a dimensional quality also seem to dominate. All in all, they will probably look well in most rooms and will give comfort as well as wear.

Live one day at a time and the future will take care of itself.

Only a genius can defy public opinion without being crushed.

The man who begins at the bottom never has very far to fall.

Don't talk about yourself—your friends will when you leave.

Folks wrapped up in themselves are their own worst enemies.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:—
Let's keep Cass City a prosperous community. Now with the proposed switch over to Saturday night opening we must first get the support of our own local people and eventually we will get the rural and out-of-town shoppers.

This I believe because we have the finest shopping facilities that are available anywhere in the Thumb of Michigan.

There is nothing so discouraging to me than to meet some of our own city employees, professional and business people going in carloads to spend their money out of our wonderful community. These are the same people that depend on Cass City for their living and still patronize out-of-town business establishments.

We have any type merchandise stores, food markets, meat markets, drugs, clothing, hardware stores and etc. available to anyone's own discretion, to shop at any one for anything they'd like and never have to leave Cass City—a town that's really hard to beat. Here we have some of the finest and most hospitable people in the state.

Stop and look, is it really necessary to travel to shop and buy or better to stay and save in Cass City?

Honor Donnellys On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Donnelly were honored on their silver wedding anniversary Saturday evening, Feb. 7, when 35 friends and neighbors attended a party at the Donnelly home.

Euchre was played and Mrs. James Milligan, Stanley Edzik Sr., Sally Edzik and Alan Milligan were prize winners. The Donnellys received many gifts.

A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and white doves formed the centerpiece for the buffet luncheon that was served. The cake was made by Joyce Donnelly.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Simon and Bill Sigourney, all of Remus, and Grace Donnelly of Highland Park.

Rev. Fr. Glen Cronkite, pastor of St. Agatha Catholic Church, offered a High Mass of thanks-giving for the couple Sunday.

Don't install gas or electric ranges under kitchen windows, says Michigan State extension home economists. Be sure the window can be opened without reaching over the range. Refrigerators should not be located close to the range or radiator or receive direct rays of the sun. Refrigerator should stand level. Some counter space at the opening side of the refrigerator is also very handy.

Put new life into your farming with a new Oliver—3-4 plow 770 or 4-5 plow 880. They're spanking new in looks, in design, in feel.

They put more power to work—in practical new ways. Big, high-speed engines give you more-drawbar horsepower than ever—well over the 50 mark in the 880. A new Power-Booster Drive gives you 12 forward speeds and almost one-third more pull for the tough spots—on the go.

In plowing, Oliver's new Power-Traction Hitch transfers extra weight to the rear wheels, keeps you going at full speed. Powerjuster wheels take the work out of changing tread, and power steering makes every maneuver easier.

Come in and see these powerful new Olivers, now in bright new meadow green and clover white. Feel their power, too, and learn how it can help you boost farm profits.

Try waffled French toast, suggest Michigan State University home economists. Butter both sides of slices of slightly dry bread. Dip the bread in regular French toast batter and bake the slices in a waffle iron until golden brown and crisp.

For new furniture with oiled wood finish, extension home economists at Michigan State University advise application of a preservative every three months for the first year, and once every six months the following year. Boiled linseed oil may be rubbed in generously with a soft cloth and excess removed with soft dry cloths.

Texture Is Featured In Newest Cottons

Texture is the big news in 1959 cottons. Among them are the deeply woven textures with a souffe lightness, styled to interpret fashion's newest shapes.

Strongly textured homespun, hopsackings and ruffles feature geometric patterns as well as prints in the contemporary mood.

Ratine, a loosely woven cotton with a nubby uneven surface makes a strong bid for popularity this year in ombre colored plaids. Another new novel textured cotton features a notched surface that stimulates wicker. Pique, always a fashion favorite, is now newsworthy in a giant waffle sized weave.

Fine Finishes

Textured cottons are outstanding in their fine finishing. Wrinkle resistance, shrinkage control and little or no ironing features assure modern fashionists of quick, easy care and maintenance.

To interpret the softened silhouettes, fashion emphasizes the cloudlike cotton chiffons, voiles and soft crepes. Empire styles, delicately indicating body lines, can be fluidly interpreted in the soft, flaring sheers.

Prints and Colors

Prints are headlined in the world of fashion and prints on the textured cottons are notable for their depth of light and shade. Loosely woven hopsackings, for example, give diffused color effects to freely drawn floral prints.

Today's designs are outstanding for their sophisticated combinations of colors with vivid raspberry pink and orange printed on a copper ground. There are also purple and blue on a shocking pink ground.

Michigan Mirror News In Brief

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association
Taxpayers and citizens are still the important ingredients of government.

They can make or break political aspirants at the polls.
Those are the dual positions of the voter, the man who ultimately has the last word because he pays to be governed and served and he decides who will do the job for him.

The role of the Michigan citizen as a voter becomes important every two years on a statewide scale, but the role of the voter as a citizen is often obscured.

Some Republicans and Democrats would like to place the proposed income tax and a proposed sales tax increase directly in the voter's hands April 8.

If they succeed, the role of the citizen again assumes the cloak of the voter.

The decisions for which the voter elected legislators and administrators to make are then made by citizens themselves.

It has happened many times in Michigan's recent history: civil service in 1940, the original sales tax, oleo margarine and dozens of others.

All were sizzling hot issues before the legislature but neither party wanted to take the onus of placing them in the lawbooks.

Gov. Williams has proposed a state income tax.

Republicans in the legislature prefer a flat rate, perhaps two per cent, to his graduated income tax version, which, they claim would hit the middle-income groups hardest.

Democrats are committed to go along with Williams, realizing that many of their own supporters will be affected.

Republicans, in effect, proposed the income tax first, because it came from a report of revenue researchers working for the legislative tax study committee.

Now, they would like the voters to decide.

Vast changes can be wrought in three years.

It was in 1955 that Gov. Williams flatly opposed a state income tax and party leaders were embarrassed when it appeared the idea would be proposed.

One Democratic legislator said it would be the "fairest of all" taxes and then spent days denying he meant it as an endorsement of a levy on personal incomes.

Since shortly after he first took office, Williams has proposed a corporation profits tax. Republicans answered with a business activities tax.

Williams objected, but it became law. He charged that the tax was levied whether a corporation made money or not. His tax, he said, would be based only on profits.

His plan now indicates Michigan will have both.

Joined with the income tax idea is a corporation profits tax of five mills, seven mills on utilities. Two other business taxes would be all but repealed but the business activities tax will remain.

Business and industry already have attacked the governor's program. They say that the extra burden of taxes will further damage Michigan's economic climate.

But both parties agree that the state will need a large new tax if it is to continue the services and expand some of them to cover a growing population.

The need is indicated by the $110,000,000 deficit.

"Our needs will never break us, but our wants certainly will," said Sen. Clyde Geerlings, Republican from Hope, in a talk to the Rotary Club of Detroit.

He thinks the state should raise rates to some of the people receiving benefit of state services. He suggests that there could be a modest fee for use of state parks.

He questions the wisdom of state college and university tuition rates, pointing out that students pay some $250 per year, while it costs the taxpayers about $1,000 per year per student.

Sen. Geerlings agrees that the Michigan citizen is the one who should set the policy for state services, how extensive the services shall be, how they shall be financed.

Citizens' letters to legislators plead for economy.

Administrators say they have trimmed operations as far as possible and claim waste is at a minimum. Legislators charge that waste is widespread in state government.

The emergency, officials say, results in part from the fact that about two-thirds of the state's revenues are earmarked and placed beyond the control of the legislature.

Restricted funds include gas and weight taxes for highway construction, two of the three cents of the sales tax for schools and parts of the tax and profit on liquor.

As the crisis reached a breaking point, the treasury had $99,000,000 but no one could touch a cent. Voters had placed it out of the reach of the legislature, sometimes at the request of the legislature.

Observers expect the 1959 legislative session to last until July. If it does, it will be one of the longest in recent history. If needed decisions are made, it will be one of the most decisive.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the paper this morning where some doctor from Boston says farming is the best way to make a living if you want to keep from getting high blood pressure. Of course, this fellow ain't doing no farming himself, and it all depends on what kind of farmer he's talking about.

For instant, take a farmer like my neighbor down the road. If you want to get high blood pressure for sure, just practice farming like he does it. He plans his work. That'll kill any farmer, and most of 'em that does it dies from high blood pressure.

For example, maybe on Sunday he'll decide to start plowing the first thing Monday morning. That ruins Sunday for him, because he'll step out ever few minutes to look at the sky and speculate on the chances of rain. He'll be all upset by bedtime Sunday night from worrying about the weather.

Monday morning he's up after a restless night, and after worrying if his tractor will start and wondering how the gas is, he starts plowing and worrying. He'll worry over the wind blowing, over the ground drying out too fast, over whether he'll get through afore it rains. After three days of this, when he's about through, he begins worrying because it ain't rained yet. This goes on from season to season and in all the years I've known this neighbor he's been bent over with worrying and high blood pressure.

The best way to farm without high blood pressure is not let yourself, your old lady, or your banker know what you're going to do tomorrow, and if the notion strikes you when you get up in the morning, don't do nothing. I even know some city folks that follows that system and is pretty healthy. It works the same, town or country.

Looks like them Government carpenters is going to mess with the White House again, I see where one of them says it was "poorly planned and not substantially constructed in the first place." In other words, it was a Government project.

It ain't been too long since Harry had it fixed up and a front porch put on it to the tune of five million dollars. I can remember when five million would build a whole village, including a town pump, a watering trough, 20 hitching posts, and leave a couple million loof for the politicians to split. For another five million, I reckon we'll get a back porch and a picture window.

In the same paper where I was reading about the White House, I saw where four times as much liquor was drunk in Washington as in any city its size in the country. That don't explain everything going on there, but it helps.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

WOMAN'S WORLD

Cut Ironing Time By Using All Aids Available Today

WHETHER you stand or sit while ironing, if there's a lot of it to do, it can be one of the most fatiguing of all the household tasks. Fortunately there are many ways to cut down the average family ironing to an hour a week, but then you do have to work at it to achieve this time.

First on the list of helps you should have is the adjustable ironing table that gives plenty of knee room. A silicone-aluminum cover with a springy foam pad assures faster ironing, drier clothes and smooth results even on bumpy surfaces.

One of the nicest helps is to have an ironing caddy with plenty of hangers so dresses, blouses and shirts can be hung on it to finish drying and then to go straight to the closet. A caddy that collapses is easily stored, may be used for guest wraps, too.

Tips To Try

Cottons and linens should be dried thoroughly, then sprinkled. A sprayer with a fine spray does the best job for you. Place the clothes

With good planning there may even be room in your kitchen for a laundry center as shown in this kitchen. This is the ultimate in good planning as bins for soiled clothes can be used in the base cabinets. Even the ironing board folds out from the base cabinet at the right.

In plastic bags to prevent drying and to assure even dampening.

Rayons and silks do better if they're dried only partially as they iron best while only slightly damp.

In place of crushing or rolling the clothes tightly, a time-consuming process, fold them and smooth them before slipping into plastic bag. It saves wrinkles and time.

Ironing Aids

If you do not get the clothes too damp, they'll iron so much more quickly. Most amateurs get clothes soaking wet, then they have to spend extra time ironing and they really don't look any better.

Savory Hot Soup Helps Morale Zoom

There's nothing quite like a bowl of steaming and savory soup to take the edge off a cold day. It's nourishing and relaxing and the tantalizing fragrance will keep your spirits high above cold, damp days.

For a guest dinner you might well consider a quick-frozen potato soup with some gourmet touches while for family meals why not old-fashioned oyster stew or split pea soup?

Company Potato Soup (Serves 6)
1 10 1/2-ounce can frozen potato soup
1 1/2 cups rich milk or light cream
1/4 cup chicken broth
1/4 cup blue cheese, crumbled
Combine potato soup, milk and broth in saucepan. Heat slowly until piping hot. Add cheese and heat gently until cheese melts. Serve with a sprinkling of paprika, chopped parsley or pimiento.

Oyster Stew (Serves 4-6)
1 pint oysters
1/4 cup butter
1 quart milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
Drain oysters and remove any bits of shell. Melt butter, add drained oysters and cook for about 3 minutes or until edges of oysters curl. Add milk, salt, pepper and paprika. Return to heat, bring almost to a boil. Serve very hot.

Split Pea Soup (Serves 6-7)
1 cup quick-cooking split peas
1 small ham bone
5 cups water
1/4 cup diced onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup toasted bread cubes
Rinse peas and place with ham bone in saucepan. Add water, onion and salt. Cover and simmer for 2 hours or until peas are tender. Remove bone but let ham pieces fleck the soup. Serve with toasted bread cubes.

Ever wonder why wool keeps you warm in winter? It is because each tiny fiber has a "permanent wave" which traps pockets of air that insulate against the cold.

Use a plastic clothes basket in your child's bedroom or play room to keep toys collected. Michigan State home economics specialists say it is lightweight and the handle makes for easy carrying by parent or child.

Check the labels when you buy a sweater. If the label says "Dry clean only," you should follow that advice. The dye used on the sweater may not be permanent to washing, and an uneven color might result if you try to wash it at home.

DEVELOPMENT BOARD

"Our problem today is to retain the industries we have, we must be prepared to continue to provide a healthy climate.

"There were reasons for industry moving here in the first place. It has been proven that they have had a stabilizing effect on our present standard of living.

"We must therefore, as a rural community, continue to provide the advantages industry cannot get in the city. If it be a compact labor market, if it be healthy productive employees, then these are the things that will keep industry here. The responsibility for the progress and development of our community, not only for us but for our children as well, rests with each and every one of us. The citizen, the merchant, the worker, must be interested enough in his family's future, to resist outside influences, and to individually grow with the community."
