

From the Editor's Corner

According to statistics compiled by an insurance company, Michigan's driver training program is a bargain even though it costs some $46 to train each student to drive.

Aside from the benefits of greatly reduced personal injury and deaths in crashes, driver training actually saves residents hard cash, the company said.

Figures compiled nationally show that economic loss has been reduced about $100 per pupil.

While Cass City and Michigan schools are hard pressed these days to balance the budget, evidence indicates that economy moves should not start with the driver training program as it has in many high schools.

We believe that the Cass City Chamber of Commerce's ox roast for the Home-coming will be one of the most appealing to area residents of any that has been devised in recent years.

President Alden Asher and this year's board have planned a more ambitious evening show than any in the 10-year history of the event. The amateur show, featuring local talent, has always been a crowd-pleaser in the past. Both events will be free, a feature that has been observed in nine of the 10 events to date.

Former Kittendorf Farm Suffers Fire

A fire on the farm of John Tyrrell, the former Herman Kittendorf farm, is estimated to have done from $12,000 to $15,000 damage around 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

The fire destroyed a barn, granary, pig house, $1,500 worth of hay, a utility trailer, tools, small equipment and an unspecified number of young cattle.

Two Glen youths, Leonard and Glen Peruski, brothers aged 17 and 15, were making minor repairs when they noticed the smoke coming through the roof. They said that they had not been smoking at the time of the fire, nor immediately preceding it.

Although the blaze was kept from spreading to the dwelling, for a brief time the residence roof was ignited.

The cause of the fire has not been determined as yet, according to James Tageson, trooper.

All Comments Favorable

Open House Sunday At County Home

Over 300 visitors from all over the county and other parts of the state got a view of the new Tuscola County Nursing Home at an open house Sunday.

"All the comments I heard were very favorable," said Irl Baguley, director of the Tuscola County Social Welfare Department, "concerning both the open house and the nursing home itself."

"People seemed to like the opportunity to inspect the nursing home and the patients favored a change in their routine. They saw many friends among the visitors," he said.

During the open house, the hospital staff served coffee, cold drinks and cookies.

The home opened its newly constructed building last Nov. 23, and now has 95 patients. The capacity is 124.

Because the open house was so well received by both visitors and patients, it is probable that it will become an annual affair, according to Baguley.

Cass City Wins First Babe Ruth Loop Game, 4-3

Cass City opened defense of its Thumb, Babe Ruth baseball title Thursday when they edged Port Austin 4-3, coming from behind in the final two innings to score the win.

Wayne Brown, with relief help from Marvin McCormick, got credit for the win. Wayne pitched scoreless ball for Cass City for the first four innings, but tired in the fifth and was touched for three runs.

With two away in the fifth, Don Dillon banged a home run to give Cass City a 1-0 lead. Wayne Dillon then cracked out a triple but died on third.

The fatal fifth saw Brown yield four hits including a clutch triple that pushed across their three runs for a 3-1 lead.

Cass City narrowed the margin to a single counter in the top of the sixth as Brown doubled and scored on a boot by the Port Austin shortstop.

After holding Port Austin in the bottom of the sixth, Cass City scored twice in the last inning to record the victory.

Don Dillon walked and Wayne Dillon reached first on an error. Dave Binder came through with a clutch single, scoring Don Dillon and sending Wayne Dillon to third. He scored a moment later on a wild pitch.

It looked as if Port Austin might pull the game out of the fire in their half of the final inning. They loaded the bases with just one away when Coach Irv Classman called Marv McCormick to the rescue.

The plucky hurler induced the next batter to pop up and whiffed the next batter to preserve the victory with his outstanding relief hurling.

Wayne Dillon and Binder led the Cass City hitters with two hits apiece.

Cass City will play at Cass City Recreational Park today (Thursday) at 4 p.m. when Caseville will furnish the opposition.

Two of A Kind

Largest and most famous members of the sunfish family are the large and smallmouth bass. Like other species in this family, these two fish bear a striking resemblance to one another. As its name implies, the smallmouth, below, is distinguished from the largemouth, above, by the size of its mouth. It lacks a deep notch between the two parts of the dorsal fin which is characteristic of the largemouth. There is also a marked difference in their color patterns. The smallmouth is brown to greenish-brown and may have a series of dark, vertical bars along its side. The largemouth is greenish with a broad, black band running the length of its body.

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance!

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field.

We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple.

This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

Cut Prices Fail to Sell More Milk

Cut-rate retail milk prices apparently don't encourage Detroiters to buy more milk. Although a price war has been raging in the city for several months, the monthly market report of Michigan Milk Producers' Association shows that sales of Class I (drinking) milk during May were down from the month before and from May a year ago.

Jack W. Barnes, Secretary-Manager of MMPA, said, "This seems to be pretty good evidence that consumers do not buy milk on price alone, and that even below-cost retail prices do not necessarily increase milk consumption."

The MMPA report also indicated that the "spring flush" in the Detroit milkshed fell short of predictions, even though total production during May reached a record high of 189 million pounds. All of the 12 million pound increase over a year ago was surplus and had to be processed into various dairy products at MMPA plants which handled a total of 28 million pounds of surplus during the month.

Only 57.7 per cent of total deliveries could be sold for drinking purposes at the MMPA negotiated Class I price of $4.348 per hundredweight. The rest went into Class II products at $2.843 per hundredweight, resulting in a base price to farmers of $3.92 and an average price of $3.77 for all milk shipped.

Any man can go wrong, but it takes strength of character to get back on the right track.

Praise has made more fools out of men than criticism.

Smith Graduates From Great Lakes

Donald L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee M. Smith, Cass City, graduated from recruit training, May 30, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp", included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

People with good records to guard seldom have time to waste.

Study Puts Value On Farm Chores

Aimed At Helping Cardiac Farmers

What's the hardest work you can do on the farm?

Answer: Holding a squealing pigging sow to ring it. Next hard at: Lifting more than 100 pounds of anything.

Neither of these jobs may sound hard to you at all. Or any number of other chores around your place may seem much harder.

But research scientists at Purdue University, studying the energy costs of 176 different farm tasks, have found that the one taking the most effort is holding the squealing sow.

As for the easiest job on a farm, it's driving a tractor for discing or harrowing. Once that tractor is used for baling or for combining, the energy required goes up some what. And if the tractor is used for cultivating or planting, then the energy "cost" goes up even more.

DO YOUR WORK
SLOW AND STEADY WITH REST PERIODS!

Study results will help doctors advise cardiac farmers.

The Purdue study was carried out over a period of five years by a team composed of physicians, physiologists, sociologists, statisticians, engineers and economists. The project received financial support from the American Heart Association, Indiana heart groups and the National Heart Institute.

One of the objectives of the study was to make information available that doctors might use to help the farmer with heart disease reduce his work load, thereby lessening the burden on his heart.

With this newly developed information, it now becomes possible to spell out what "light", "moderate", or "heavy" work on the farm is in terms of specific energy required by each task. But though the information was sought to help the cardiac farmer especially, it is felt by the researchers that there is no reason why all farmers can't use it to improve their efficiency and thus have more time to enjoy life.

From out of a shady past many a bright future has been created.

A reputation built on a weak character is likely to topple.

Men who spend too much time looking out for themselves are apt to stumble over their competitors.

Survival of The Fittest Treatment

Among the major fish management projects of the Conservation Department is the removal of stunted panfish. As in other fishery advances, this operation is geared to providing bigger and better fish for anglers. By spraying lakes with a dilute chemical solution, Department workers are able to reduce excessive panfish populations. Wherever possible, predator fish are kept alive to act as another agent in holding down panfish which are literally "eating themselves out of house and home" in many southern Michigan lakes.

BULEN TALKS CARS

DON'T PASS ME BY

To paraphrase a once popular song "Don't Pass Me By" is something I'd like to sing to a lot of pass-happy drivers. You know the type I mean... the guys who just aren't satisfied until they pass everything on the road.

And they don't care about the risks they take to accomplish this. Solid white lines, hills, even curves don't stop them. This mania for passing is all that matters. And the wild chances they take just don't figure either intellectually or mathematically. It takes longer than you think to pass a car that's doing fifty!

To pass a car doing 50 MPH you have to get up to 60... and even then it takes a good ten seconds to pass. At 60, you cover 880 feet in ten seconds. To compare - that's an eighth of a mile or a long city block.

You might keep this in mind the next time you overtake and pass another car. Anyone who has driven any length of time has seen these "passers-by" make it back into their own lane just in the nick of time, when a car coming from the other direction looms into view. That's why I say "Don't Pass Me By" when I see trouble ahead and in my rear view mirror a pass-or-bust demon coming from behind.

Safe driving is sensible driving... and if everyone practiced a few simple safety rules think of all the injuries and lives that could be saved.

And another good safety rule to practice is to bring your car in for regular servicing and safety-check ups here at Bulens. Not only will you be helping to protect yourself and your passengers, but your car will be worth a lot more when the time comes to trade. 1953 FORD Dump Truck all ready to go. This unit can make you money this summer with all the road jobs. Very reasonably priced. Guaranteed. Come in and try it.

Used Car Lot open every night till 9:00 (except Thursday and Sunday). You're always WELCOME. Largest stock in the Thumb to choose from.

Americans Want Best Education For Children

Americans all want their children to receive the same high quality of instruction which European countries provide for about 20 per cent of their youth, declares Prof. Ralph C. Wenrich, chairman of The University of Michigan Department of Vocational Education and Practical Arts. Professor Wenrich spent four months last spring studying education in France, Spain, Italy, Austria, and Germany.

"If we are to achieve this in the comprehensive high school we must recognize, as we have never done before, the wide range of differences among youth," he says.

"We must identify and nurture the special talents which each student has. We must group youth within the comprehensive high school, according to abilities, interests, and vocational goals, for many of their learning experiences."

Does this violate the democratic principle of equality? Wenrich doesn't think so. "Our concern should be for equality of opportunity. To give all youth equal educational opportunity does not mean that we must provide for all the same education."

Wenrich feels it would be possible to organize the comprehensive high school in such a way as to achieve some of the strengths of specialized schools, yet at the same time retain the advantages of having all boys and girls in a given community attend the same high school.

He notes that European schools are almost exclusively specialized schools, and they are generally quite small. Each specialized school has a director who, by his background of education, is uniquely qualified to head the particular school.

Wenrich states, "If we could think of our comprehensive high schools as being made up of schools-within-a-school, we might have a school or division for those who plan to go on to college and another division for those who are preparing for careers in business, industry, or agriculture at the end of their high school education."

"We would probably also have a school or division for the 'uncommitted youth,' those who have not yet identified a specialized talent or a career goal. Each of these divisions would have a director (we might give the title of assistant principal) who is especially qualified to give leadership and direction to the work of that division."

Annual Showboat Program Planned

The 18th annual Chesaning Showboat, under the sponsorship of the Chesaning Chamber of Commerce, will be held from July 13 to July 18.

Fourteen small town mayors and village presidents have already accepted invitations to participate in the opening night, "Good Neighbor Night."

The boat itself is 80 feet long and is powered by six outboard motors. There will be a queen and 30 amateur acts. The Showboat Park will provide free parking for 10,000 cars.

Truemmer Wins at Owendale Track

H. Harmon Honored

Mr. H. S. Harmon, 86, of Emmett, spent Father's day in a "Houseful of children." At a dinner planned by his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Sommers of Cass City, there were 53 guests, including the following: 7 children, 11 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren, and 3 great-great-grandchildren. And at that, not all the grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present.

The children came from Constantine, Dowagiac, Flint and Port Huron.

Harmon is still very active and works in a general store every afternoon.

Race Postponed

A midget auto race will be held at the Owendale Speedway, Sunday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m. The race is the one that was rained out June 21.

All rainchecks will be honored.

Arlington Gray Does More Work With His OLIVER 18

the Combine with Everything!

Everything you want in a pull-type—and more! Here's a full 7-foot-cut combine, with an auger header that eliminates drapers. And matching its bite are big-capacity units all the way through the machine to handle your heaviest grain and bean crops.

This Oliver 18 saves more from the start. Its semi-revolving reel, with bats going straight down into the grain, reduces shattering losses. Next, 90% of the threshed grain is stopped at the cylinder by Oliver's famous "Man Behind the Gum" before it can mix with straw. An unusually long straw rack gets the rest.

Other grain- and time-saving units include the 25-bushel tank, adjustable concaves, swinging drawbar, large cleaning unit. Engine or PTO model. See the Oliver 18 before you buy.

Supreme Court Influence Is Demonstrated Again

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
The depth of its influence over the state's eight million citizens and their elected officials was again demonstrated by the Michigan Supreme Court.

In a period of just a few days early in June the high court settled legal problems stemming from family squabbles to such widely-debated state issues as taxes and labor disputes.

The court also adopted two rules of procedure that in effect remind the governor, the legislature and other judges to keep on their toes.

One rule paves the way for a quick decision on the legality of whatever tax program Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the GOP-controlled legislature agree upon. The rule allows Williams to bypass lower courts for decisions on matters "of such public moment as to require early determination."

Democrats have questioned the constitutionality of the Republican plan for a penny boost in the use (sales) tax, just as Republicans questioned the constitutionality of the Democratic-endorsed "piggy back" income tax that was defeated in the House.

Another new rule sets up a procedure for cracking down on any judge who brings "dispute" to the bench. It was another of many steps the high court has taken to tighten its control over conduct of the lower courts.

The court had a 5-3 split, with the Democratic majority controlling, on adoption of both rules.

And the court had a 5-3 split on a decision that said a taxpayer has the right to get his money back when an assessor makes a mistake.

In a majority opinion that will be a guideline for future tax disputes at the local level, Justice Eugene Black, of Port Huron, said the high tribunal upholds "the right of taxpayers to equitable relief from the unconscionable effect of crass mistakes of public officials in the field of taxation; mistakes gross enough to constitute fraud."

Black wrote another prevailing opinion he said was of "apparent statewide moment."

The opinion said the various modes of fund allocation that by constitution and statute are based on population must refer to "the most recent statewide federal census."

The court ordered state officials to distribute motor vehicle highway fund money according to Frankfort's population as determined by the 1950 census—even though much of the population now calls Elberta home.

For the second time in recent months, the Supreme Court upheld the right of strikers to engage in peaceful picketing.

The court said issuance of any injunction by the Calhoun Circuit Court forbidding peaceful picketing and the display of placards "involves denial of equity of the exercise of a basic constitutional freedom, the exercise of free speech."

In another labor matter, the state's highest court was told it would have the last word on Michigan's controversial "Ford Case." The U. S. Supreme Court rejected an appeal by Ford Motor Co. of the state court's ruling giving jobless pay to Michigan Ford workers idled by a strike of Ford workers in Canton, Ohio.

Lawbreakers got a break in two of the court's latest decisions. The justices said police stopping an auto to issue a traffic ticket may not routinely search the car. It also said a burglar injured with police in hot pursuit can collect accident insurance.

The impact of supreme court action at the local level was reflected in annexation decisions. The court upheld annexation of a portion of Novi township to the city of Northville and denied a bid by Springfield to block proceedings to annex land in Springfield to Battle Creek.

The Michigan Supreme Court has been growing in size and power ever since 1805, when three justices were appointed to serve the Territorial Government of Michigan.

With their actions early in June, the eight justices now on the court served notice they will continue to exercise every bit of this power. Their opinions on issues of "statewide moment" will be codes for conduct for generations to come.

People can be on the level and still have an uphill fight to get ahead in the world.

They say some of the planets are unable to support life—and it's not easy here, either.

SET EXAMPLE
Parents who expect to lead their children to righteousness have to go that way themselves.

Apply Spray With Caution, Says Agent

Wait for a calm day to spray with 2,4-D, advises Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture. Early morning and evening hours are usually quite free of wind.

Wind drift of this chemical can injure crops up to one-half mile away. Kebler warns against spraying 2, 4-D within one-half mile of grapes, tomatoes, soybeans, sugar beets, and many broad-leaved truck crops. Several steps to help reduce the danger of drift damage from 2,4-D are:

Use the amine form when spraying corn that has come up. 2, 4-D amine produces fewer fumes after application than does the ester form.

Spray pre-emergence with low-volatile ester formulations of 2,4-D. Highly volatile forms may produce a gas several days after applications.

Spray with plenty of water. Using 20 to 40 gallons per acre causes less drift than using eight to ten gallons per acre.

Use a fairly low-pressure sprayer. Kebler recommends a spraying pressure of 30 to 40 pounds per square inch.

You can get best weed control if you don't cultivate for at least three weeks after pre-emergence spraying unless resistant weeds come up. With post-emergence spraying, delay cultivation for two or three days so the chemical can move into weed stems and roots.

Wash out the sprayer thoroughly after you've sprayed—post-emergence. Clean the tank, hose, boom and nozzles. Use 100 gallons of water mixed with one gallon of household ammonia, or five pounds of soda ash or eight pounds of trisodium phosphate.

Never use more of a chemical than the manufacturer's label specifies, and always read the label carefully.

Your Guide to Camping in Michigan

Michigan is literally dotted with sites where campers may pitch their tents or park their trailers this summer. These campgrounds offer a wide variety of conditions, ranging from the semi-modern accommodations at most state parks and recreation areas to the wilderness setting of state and national forests. In the latter two areas, only the bare necessities for safety, sanitation and convenience are furnished. Additional campgrounds are available in county and municipal parks. Wherever or whatever your choice, you should have no difficulty in finding a suitable camping site.

Fruit Diseases Big Growers' Expense

Diseases cost Michigan fruit growers thousands of dollars each year. Early recognition and treatment can cut this loss.

Plant pathologist E. J. Klos of Michigan State University has written a bulletin on fruit tree diseases. The publication, extension bulletin 361, is available at your county extension office.

The bulletin has dozens of photographs that show disease symptoms. Separate sections deal with apples, pears, plums, peaches and cherries.

Many disease-causing organisms have complex life cycles, points out Klos. His bulletin diagrams many of these cycles.

Keep your worries in the background—concentrate on your future.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Well, school has let out for another year and the fellers at the country store Saturday night was paying their respects to this modern education system. One feller asked me to write a piece for him this week, on account of him having a complaint he wanted to make public. I'll give it to you just like he told it to me.

This feller says that modern education has got so high-falutin that the parents can't even understand the report cards their kids fetch home. He says it used to be that a kid in school got A, B, C, D, E or F on reading or something. Now they give him a mark on "aptitude" or "energy" or mark it down that the kid is "emotional" or maybe ain't washed his teeth today. This feller says the idea in having a kid bring home a report card is to let parents know how he's doing in school. If he gets a C on reading, they'll know he's doing pretty good, and if he gets a F in arithmetic they'll know he takes after his Ma and ain't much on figgers. But now they don't know no more when they get the report than they did afore he brought it home. All they know is their offspring is good or bad in "aptitude" or something.

This feller wants the school folks to just rig up a report and send it home that tells the simple fact of how the kid is doing, without all the extra trimmings about being "emotional" or "industrious." He says that if the parents was smart enough to understand all that junk they wouldn't be sending the kid to school in the first place. They'd be teaching him at home. That's the way this feller give it to me, Mister Editor, and I'm just passing it along to you fer what it's worth.

As a rule, I don't read them Washington columnists, not if I can help it. But last night I got to reading one by mistake and saw where rose bugs had about ruined Mamie's roses this year. I never dreamed, with all the money they're spending in Washington, that they didn't have a Bureau For The Protection Of The White House Rose Garden, with a Director, Field Superintendent, Bureau Chemist, Bookkeeper, Receptionist, and Janitor. They could take such a organization and tie it in with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and then they could set up a Liaison Department. It seems a Liaison Department is one that links up two departments, giving 'em three instead of two, creating many more jobs. Somebody shore went to sleep at the switch on this one. Them politicians could take this situation and create 200 jobs out of it, maybe 300 if the rose bugs got worse along in July.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Butterfly Cake
With Strawberries
Will Please Family

ONE of the surest signs that gardens are coming into their own is the appearance of bright red strawberries. Treat the family to these berries often while the season lasts and you'll always have them looking forward to the dessert.

If mounds of whipped cream usually found with strawberry desserts bother the calorie counting consciences of any, then whipped non-fat dry milk is just the ticket. It's economical, too.

Strawberry Butterfly Cake
(Makes 1 9-inch cake)
1 1-pound 3-ounce package
lemon flake cake mix
1 pint fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 cups whipped instant non-fat dry milk crystals

Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Turn into a waxed, paper-lined 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 45 minutes or until cake test done by springing back lightly when touched. Cool. Cut 7 x 2-inch cone from top of cake. Cut cake cone in half. Wash and hull strawberries and mix with sugar. Turn half of strawberry mixture into cake shell. Top with half of whipped instant crystals. Top with remaining strawberry mixture to resemble butterfly wings, then with remaining whipped mixture. Garnish with additional berries and serve at once.

Lemon-flavored cake mix baked in a spring form pan gives the base for this butterfly cake which is decked with fresh strawberries and a low calorie topping made from the crystals of non-fat dry milk.

To whip instant non-fat dry milk crystals (for 2 1/2 cups) mix 1/2 cup of the dry milk crystals with 1/2 cup ice water. Whip until soft peaks form, from 3 to 4 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Continue beating, gradually adding 1/4 cup sugar, until stiff peaks form, which will take another 3 to 4 minutes beating time. If you want to try another type of cake, make a honey spice cake mix from the package, according to the directions. Then make the whipped topping from the dry milk crystals, omitting the sugar but substituting 1/4 cup applesauce and 1/4 cup molasses.

Laundry Tips For Cleaner Clothes

You may have an up-to-date laundry with just buttons to push or circles to dial, but there are still some things which you should know about laundry to give a cleaner, more satisfactory wash. Automatic laundering has certainly taken the hard labor out of wash day, but women should use these machines intelligently.

Blankets, for example, whether they are synthetic or woolen, should be washed frequently rather than for a long, hard cycle. In either case the water temperature should be warm or tepid. Tumble drying, here again not too hot, is wonderful for fluffing them, but let them be moist when taken from the dryer for best results.

Sort Clothes
It's a temptation when in a rush to throw all sorts of things in the washer and let the machine work, but that print dress or dark sock may well make light cottons or synthetic fabrics take on a dingy look. Sort and wash clothes by fabric as well as color. Warm water should be used for synthetic fabrics along with mild soap or detergent, otherwise, they may discolor or lose strength.

If the washer doesn't seem to do properly by the heavily soiled cottons, then treat them to a pre-soaking of 20 minutes and scrub the heavily soiled knees, cuffs or collar before placing in the washer. Use a heavy duty soap or detergent, hot water and the long cycle for washing.

When water softeners are used, add them with the soap or detergent. If fabric softeners are used, make certain the suds are out of the clothes, and use in the final rinse only.

Drying Tips
Newer models of washing machines have a special feature designed for drip-dry apparel. It amounts to a cooling off period so that wrinkles are not set in as they usually are when clothes are bone dry at a higher temperature.

Shake out all clothing, if you possibly can, when it comes out of the drying cycle.

MAIN INGREDIENTS
Equip yourself with patience and perseverance and you're well on the road to success.

ACT NOW
Advancement comes to the type of man who does his best work today—not tomorrow.

I have a question that I cannot answer. It is, why is it that the mother's batting average is the lowest of all when families compare their score on the family's calcium intake? Does mother spend so much time planning menus that are high in their calcium content for the rest of the family and then forget to see that she herself gets enough calcium in her daily food intake?

Studies at Michigan State University, as well as studies in other states, show that homemakers are the lowest consumers of calcium.

I am sure that the Michigan homemaker knows that everybody needs calcium every day. I think we all know that calcium builds strong bones and teeth. But did you know that calcium is needed for efficient heart and muscle action? Did you know that you need calcium for proper functioning of your nerves? Now, please pass the milk. One quart of milk gives as much calcium as thirty to forty oranges or two large heads of cabbage. One quart of milk provides as much calcium as twenty-seven pounds of meat.

Besides providing high amounts of protein and calcium, whole milk supplies vitamin A and several of the B vitamins. Skim milk supplies these same important nutrients, with the exception of vitamin A. And best of all, milk is easy on the budget, because for the price of one quart of milk you can get an abundant supply of good protein and the A and B vitamins.

The home economics groups' county community project of construction of the draperies out at the Tuscola County Home is completed. Last Tuesday and Wednesday the following women were out to help sew on the new draperies: from the Akron group, Mrs. Howard Harrison, Mrs. Fred Bach and Mrs. Wilbur Achenschach. Elmwood group had Mrs. Grover Laurie and Miss Mary Wald. Cass City group was represented by Mrs. Herbert Ludlow and Mrs. Ralph Gauer. Mrs. Howard Reetz represented the Moreland group. Mrs. Irl Baguley of Caro also came to help the extension women. Forty-four (44) panels were made. Mr. Thomas Hutchinson, Caro, brought out five electric sewing machines for the women to use.

Set County Rye Support at 90 Cents

The county and terminal price-support rates for the 1959 crop rye have been set on the average support price of 90 cents per bushel for rye grading No. two or better of grading No. three on the factor of test weight only according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Tuscola county price support rate for 1959 is 93 cents and will be carried out, as in previous years, through farm and warehouse stored loans and purchase agreements.

The method followed in determining the rates is the same as in previous years although small changes in support reflect an added 1 cent drop because of freight rate changes and production trends.

Women's Group at Roy Brown Home

The Women's Department of the Shabbona Branch of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints held its monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Roy Brown. There were 10 members and one visitor present. Roll call was "Tell a household hint."

Of special interest at this meeting was the revelation of secret friends. It was decided to continue the secret friend plan and new names were drawn.

There was some discussion about holding a white elephant sale at the July meeting which will be held at the home of Margaret and Lillian Dunlap on July 23.

After adjournment, a lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Grant Brown.

WOMAN'S WORLD Frankly Over Fifty? Don't Be Afraid To Let It Show

IN ANY MAN'S language, nothing is more appealing to the eye than a beautiful woman. The lady who captures more than admiration, however, is the one who is frankly over fifty and not afraid to show it.

This is the lady who has discovered that her age is filled with many lovely compensations and she's learned how to enjoy them all.

When a woman looks in the mirror and realizes she's no longer a girl, her reaction might be one of defiance, despair or determination. She could resolve to be fiercely and forever young and to dispose of the years with stronger dye and louder makeup.

She can, after sadly viewing her years, give up and give in to the unpopular fiction that beauty is a pointless frivolity. The third alternative is to give herself an entirely new role, that of a woman who has put away girlish things for a special kind of mature loveliness all her own.

There's a special kind of beauty that belongs to the woman in her middle years and not afraid to show it. It isn't something she puts on a hat for special occasions only. She wakes up with it and spends some time every day wisely in good grooming.

Beauty can be lots of fun when you start the day with it! You can present a bright and charming face at the breakfast table by taking two minutes before popping in the toast and plugging in the coffee by a quick face pick-up, arranging the hair quickly with a brush and adding a dash of lipstick.

For the face, dab cold cream all over it, wipe off with a handful of tissue, and then pat cold water or an astringent all over with a cotton pad. Use the delicate tints of lipstick if you have gray or white hair with a mother-of-pearl complexion.

Remove curlers and brush the hair in place.

No rule says clothes can't be comfortable and neat at the same time. Often clothes closets are bulging with appealing garments just because you get into the habit of wearing the same thing day in, day out. Try something different!

Put Zip Into Meals With Lovely Salads

Shimmering and luscious, salads can be the high point of the meal. They add that important texture, that note of coolness and lightness to a hot and hearty main dish.

Molded salads are particularly welcome at this time of year. When appetites are on the lean side, they may even serve as both salad and dessert like this one:

Frozen Fruit Salad (Serves 4-6)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold canned pineapple juice
- 3 pineapple rings
- 1 stalk celery
- 2 bananas
- 8 maraschino cherries
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Stir gelatin dissolved in pineapple juice into mayonnaise. Add cut-up pineapple rings, celery and bananas to mayonnaise-gelatin mixture and blend well. Whip cream until stiff and fold into mayonnaise mixture. Spoon into individual molds. Freeze until firm. Unmold on greens to serve.

Jellied Spring Salad (Serves 6)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup chopped pitted plumped prunes
- 1 cup diced cucumber
- 1/2 cup sliced radishes
- 1/2 cup sliced scallions or green onions

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add salt, sugar and lemon juice. Fold in prunes, cucumber, radishes and scallions. Pour into molds and chill until set. Serve with salad dressing as an accompaniment to cold cuts.

A sunny disposition attracts friends—and friends are valuable.

Good work in the past qualifies one for better jobs in the future.

Failure to pay as you go leaves a man stranded on the rocks.

The Cass City State Bank

Our statement, as of June 10, 1959, for the first time showing footings of over four million, is pretty highly inflated.

The commercial accounts are high due to the fact that we have some large temporary deposits including one from the government.

The savings accounts are high. This is partly due to the fact that we have been paying three per cent on all savings accounts for the past two years. We have never advertised the fact other than to notify the larger depositors by mail that the 3 per cent was being credited to their accounts. In fact we find some of our savings depositors don't know that we have paid them 3 per cent.

Our President is sometimes hard to find but he has been busy with other matters. Not having a bicycle like Horace Buley, he quit tennis thirty years ago. Not to discredit other contemporaries, he knew enough to quit golf when the women began beating him. His bowling collapsed when he was taken to the hospital with a sore back. However, he does play a lot of bridge and once in a while Poker, though we hope you will not advertise the latter.

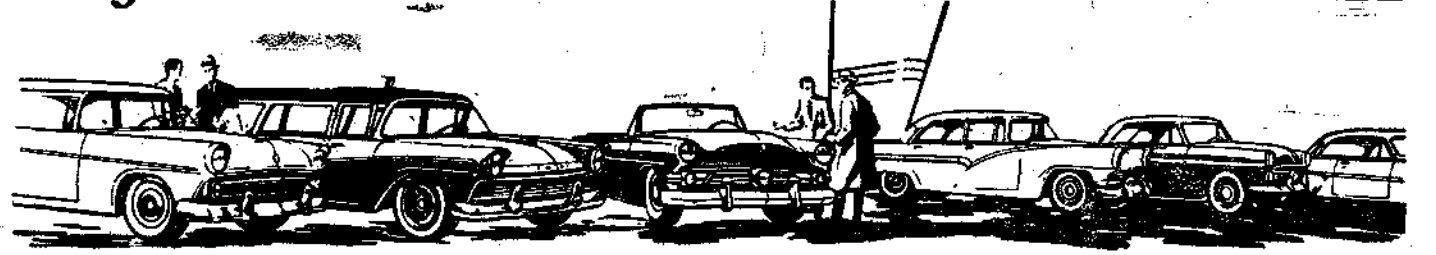

The rest of us however carry on and endeavor to give the best service we know how.

Cut Oats for Silage In Milk Stage

Cut oats for silage when it's in the late milk or early dough stage—about July 1 in central and southern Michigan, recommends Milton H. Erdmann, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

Putting oats in the silo can give up to 70 per cent more feed value than combining the grain, says Erdmann. Also, early removal of oats helps to establish a companion legume seeding.

Recent crop reports show oats started late in many parts of the lower peninsula. The farm crops specialist feels the late start should cut grain and silage yields about equally.

Oat stems are hollow, so moisture content at chopping time is important. Cut right away when you can squeeze the kernel without getting a milky liquid.

Don't graze oats that you plan to put in silo. Bossy will leave mostly stems, which make poor-quality silage.

Erdmann recommends direct cutting with a field chopper. Oats dry quickly, so they needn't wilt in the field.

If you don't have a field chopper, put a windrowing attachment on your mower. Mowed oats are hard to rake because they have no branches.

You won't need a preservative if you chop at the right time. Oat plants have plenty of carbohydrates for good fermentation.

Tall-growing varieties like Garry and Jackson produce top silage yields. But any recommended variety gives good silage. You can expect a ton of silage for every eight to ten bushels of oats that you'd get by combining late this summer.

Erdmann says wheat and barley make fairly good silage. Rye silage isn't as palatable.
