Mobile X-Ray Unit Slated in Cass City

Two mobile X-ray units of the Michigan Department of Health will tour Tuscola County to give free chest X-rays to find unknown cases of tuberculosis.

One of the units will be at Rabideau Motor Sales in Cass City Tuesday, Feb. 16, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. It is also slated at Detroit Edison Co. in Caro for three days: Feb 17 noon to 6 p. m., Feb. 18 noon to 8 p. m. and Feb 19 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The other unit is scheduled at Vassar and Millington Feb. 17-19.

Adults in the county are urged to have an X-ray at the nearest location of the mobile unit.

WSC Told of Mutual Benefits Of Factory-Town

W. E. Walpole, president of Walbro Corporation, told 21 members of the Woman's Study Club "What industry does for a community and how industry is helped by the community." The group met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Chester Graham.

He cited industry aids as creating jobs, paying taxes, stabilizing the community, supporting business through wages paid, supporting schools and community enterprises and making the area known in the state, nation and abroad.

He explained that Walbro products carrying the Cass City stamp go to some 25 different countries.

Walbro, the guest speaker explained, paid out $1,045,000 in wages and taxes in 1959.

He pointed out that the more industries in the community the more young persons can remain at home as jobs are available.

Speaking of the reasons the community attracts industry, Mr. Walpole pointed to its many churches, good schools, moderate tax rates and the absence of homes with for sale signs on them.

The community's aid to industry was listed as providing schools of a high level, law and order, good local services, a clean looking town, playground and several others.

He said that Cass City should continue to work for a good airstrip as they have for good roads and a good hospital.

The Walbro executive commented on the fine feeling and attitudes among the employes and expressed gratitude for the support of the village.

Action Brisk In Merchants' League Thursday

It is beginning to look like Farm Produce has the Indian sign on the rest of the teams in the league. Although undefeated in the first four games, they have yet to overpower a team in the league.

Thursday they met Walbro, the league's tailenders, and were forced to go all out to register a 41-39 victory.

Behind 31-30 at the end of three periods, the Produce five rallied for an 11-8 margin in the final quarter and the victory. Don Root had 15 and H. Rutkoski and J. Jackson, 11, for the winners, while John Meininger netted 15 for the losers.

Erla's - Sherman's

Sherman's evened their season's record to move into a third place tie with Erla's by topping the grocery five, 37-29. Ahead 23-14 at the half, Sherman's coasted to the win. J. D. Alexander racked up 15 for Sherman's and Chuck Guinther tallied 11 for Erla's.

Tuckey-Mac and Leo

Mac & Leo's stayed on the heels of the league leaders as they posted their third win in four starts with a 38-34 decision over Tuckey's.

A big last period, that gave them a 13-6 edge, overcame a three-point Tuckey lead going into the final quarter. Clare Comment was the big gun for the winners with 16 points. Bill Tuckey and J. Lefler shared scoring honors for Tuckey's with 12 points.

Tuscola County's Share of National Debt $73,920,000

What price national debt? How much is it costing residents of Tuscola County in taxes each year to pay their portion of the interest charges alone on the debt?

From calculations made by the Tax Foundation, which keeps an eye on taxes and spending at all levels of government, the current interest charges average $51.48 per person for the entire population of the country.

It is nearly $1 a week, every week in the year, for every inhabitant.

For Tuscola County residents, applying the average interest costs locally, it adds up to $2,306,000 a year.

The rate will go up in the next fiscal year to a new high of $53.71 per person. This was indicated recently by President Eisenhower when he told Congress that the interest charges on the national debt, which were $8.1 billion a year ago, are now approaching $9.5 billion.

This rise of $1.4 billion, translated into more understandable terms, amounts to an increase in interest costs of $7.81 a year per person.

The Tax Foundation notes that, next to Defense Department expenditures, payments for interest on the debt will be the biggest costs to be met in the next fiscal year. They will exceed by far the outlays for veterans and for agriculture.

At the present time, the national debt stands at $291 billion, which is nearly $1,650 for every man, woman and child in the country.

If the residents of Tuscola County were to pay off their share of this obligation they would need the tidy sum of $7,920,000.

A glimmer of hope is seen in the President's announcement of a possible $4.2 billion budget surplus in fiscal 1961. If it is

Cass City Moves Up In Thumb B League

Bulletin: Cass City dropped a non-league decision to Saginaw Lutheran Seminary Tuesday at Saginaw when they fell to the hot shooting home team, 70-68.

Seminary hit for a tremendous 48 per cent from the floor. Cass City connected on 31 per cent of its tries.

Cass City edged into a second place tie in the Thumb B Conference Friday when they avenged a one-point defeat by Frankenmuth in the opening game of the season, 51-48.

Playing at Cass City, the Hawks made an early lead stand up although they were pressed in the final quarter as Roy Tuckey and Gary Hutchinson both fouled out of the game.

Inability to convert free throws again plagued the Hawks as they hit only 11 of 25 tries. The Eagles stayed in the game by hitting 18 of 33 from the charity circle.

The win shoved the Hawks into a tie for second place with Marlette and Vassar with four wins and three losses. Bad Axe leads the league with a 6-1 record.

The Hawks raced into the lead in the first period behind the shooting of Tim Anthes, who hit three of his five field goals in the quarter, and Roy Tuckey and Hutchinson who picked up seven points between them.

Frankenmuth picked up 12 points on divided scoring.

The two teams played on about even terms in the next period. Hutchinson was almost the entire attack for Cass City as he rammed home four buckets for eight of the team's 12 points The Eagles kept pace with 11 points on divided scoring and trailed at half time, 28-23.

The story was much the same in the third quarter. Cass City edged farther into the lead by scoring 12 points while holding Frankenmuth to 10. At the end of the third quarter the Hawks had a commanding seven-point lead in the low scoring game.

Frankenmuth tried to get back into the game in the final quarter as they outscored the Hawks 15-11, but the lead amassed in the first three quarters was enough to keep the Cass City win streak, which has now reached four games, alive.

Hutchinson led all scorers with 17 points. Anthes netted 12. Bert Bleke hit 14 points to lead the Eagles.

Junior Varsity

The JV squad completed a pleasant evening for Cass City fans by decisively whipping the Eagle seconds, 52-27.

The win was gratifying because the JV squad lost the game played at Frankenmuth.

STEP OUT IN IT

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.

Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.

Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.

Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.

Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Circuit Court for the County of Tuscola in Chancery

In the Matter of the Petition of Otis M. Smith, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Tuscola, in Chancery:

Otis M. Smith, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1938, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.50 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.
Dated: November 30, 1959

OTIS M. SMITH
Auditor General of the State of Michigan for and in behalf of said State.

Photogenic Bushytail

With his front paws reverently clasped, Mr. Fox Squirrel appears to be completely intrigued by a Conservation Department photographer at work. This photogenic squirrel has made a point to show off his familiar bushy tail which comes in handy as an umbrella, shield, signal flag and balancer. Ever alert, graceful, curious and full of energy, the fox squirrel is a popular fellow in Michigan. Although classed as one of the state's so-called farm game animals, he is also commonly found in cities and villages. His country cousin prefers oak-hickory woodlots, groves and fencerows of farmlands in southern Michigan.

Fix Sauerkraut With Frankfurters In Casseroles

LOOKING FOR easily-prepared meals after some of the elaborate holiday meals you've been having?

Frankfurters rate with hamburgers as all-time favorites, and they're easy to prepare with another favorite food, sauerkraut. This main dish is appealing and inexpensive and quite eye-catching, too:

Kraut, Olive and Frankfurter Casserole
(Serves 4)

- 1 can (1 pound 11-ounce) sauerkraut
- ½ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 8 frankfurters
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- ¼ pound processed American cheese, cut in strips
- ½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives

You can make a delicious different casserole with sauerkraut frankfurters and Spanish olives as the main ingredients. Have it as a simple supper with fre bread and mugs of milk.

Combine kraut, green pepp sugar and butter. Mix well and turn into greased 2-quart casserole Make a lengthwise cut in frankfurter without cutting all the way through; spread with mustard. Fill with cheese and olives. Arrange on top of kraut. Bake in moderate (350°F.) oven 45 minutes.

When you get home rather late in the day and want to prepare frankfurters quickly, here's an easy way of grilling them attractively. You can serve with canned baked beans heated in a casserole or skillet and a tossed salad

Grilled Olive Frankfurters
(Serves 4)

- 8 frankfurters
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
- Dash of tabasco sauce
- 8 frankfurter rolls, split and buttered

Split frankfurters lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Arrange frankfurters on grill, cut side down; grill 4 minutes. Meanwhile, combine mayonnaise, olives, horseradish and tabasco; mix well. Turn frankfurters, fill with olive mixture and grill about 4 minutes. Serve on rolls.

Never Too Late To Get Clothes Sense

Every now and then you find a woman who has innate good sense about clothes. She is the one who can buy a six dollar cotton and give it the look of a Paris original.

She is the one who sets the clothes pace in school, almost automatically. Her wardrobe from then on is envied, admired and copied, but it's never expensive.

The ratio of women born with this sense of style is about one in five hundred, but if you're not one of them, just remember it can be imitated and cultivated.

Don't Overdress

The best way to find out if you lack clothes sense is to take a look at yourself in the mirror. Do this at a time when you've just dressed, without giving it much thought.

Do you look overdressed? Do you look dowdy? Are you wearing a silk or faille skirt with cotton blouse? Is your skirt straight with a snug fit? Are you wearing scarf, beads and wide belt all at one time? Does your dress have a lot of trim?

If you answer "yes" to all these questions, you're probably overdressed.

Try to Remedy

If you have answered "yes" to the overdressing questions, the best way to try at remedies is to consider some of the following points:

Think about the fabric of a suit, dress or skirt just as important as the way it's cut or the way it fits you.

If you have clothing several seasons old, do they appear just as much in style as many new things? If they do, you're on the right track.

If you can own only one skirt, choose it in a plain neutral shade rather than a plaid or novelty weave. If you have a dress that's cut well, see if you can't improve its appearance with a really good leather belt.

Try to avoid whatever is currently a fad, if it's unbecoming.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

You folks in town wouldn't know it but the people that makes nails has about quit shipping 'em in kegs and has gone to using heavy cardboard boxes. Zeke Grubb brung up the subject at the country store Saturday night and the fellers voted unanimous that is was a sad day in our history. There ain't never been nothing in this world better to set on and solve the country's problems than a good nail keg. Thomas Jefferson was probably setting on a nail keg when he figgered out the Declaration of Independence. Ham was made fer eggs, and nails was made fer kegs—not cardboard boxes.

In fact, it's got to the place where there ain't much left in this country fer a feller to set on and do any deep, solid thinking. They replaced the rocking chair with all sorts of crazy contraptions. It used to be a feller could look at a chair and know right off it was a chair. But today you have to ask the store clerk of it's a chair or a left-handed folding bed, and if he says it's a chair, you got to read the directions to know how to git in and out of the thing. And they wasn't satisfied to do away with the rocking chair, they had to git rid of the nail keg.

And speaking of nail kegs, I see where a feller in Georgia that's been making barrels fer aging liquor has gone out of business. This ain't near as serious as the nail keg situation. This feller went into a mighty uncertain business in the first place. As a general rule, folks that drinks liquor don't care how old or how young it is. They'll drink anything that pours.

This feller went into a mighty backwards instead of forwards. He ought to manufacture a tractor with air conditioning, maybe put a television set on it. Also he could put one of them walkie-talkie contraptions on it so's a farmer couud call his old lady and see if tea was being served. Things is moving fast these days, and them kind of tractors will be selling real good in another ten years.

Our preacher said Sunday that a survey showed 71 per cent of married folks is happy, 14 claims they're miserable. He din't say, but I reckon the other 15 per cent don't know the difference. He also told the congregation that all of us is close related to ever other human on earth. I reckon, Mister Editor, that is what's wrong with the world, my kinfolks is running it. I'm glad to git this information. Our preacher give us a mighty good sermon Sunday, even if it did take him two hours to do it. My old lady said "it surpassed all understanding and, like God's mercy, it was everlasting."

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Dear Mister Editor:

I never knowed until Saturday night that hound dogs was playing such a important part in the tax situation in this country. But Clem Webster explained it plain and simple so's all of us could understand it. Most of us attending the session at the country store Saturday night is a authority on hound dogs, and Clem allows as how them Congressmen is using "hound dog psychology" in spending our money.

A heap of you town folks don't understand why a hound dog will keep on barking all night, but there's a reason. A feller's dog thinks he hears somepun, so he starts barking. All the other dogs in the neighborhood hears him barking and think they got to help him out. Sooner or later the dog that started the barking finds out he don't hear nothing no more and is ready to stop barking, but by now he's got to help his buddies. And round and round it goes fer a couple hours.

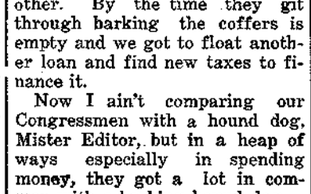
Them Congressmen, claims Clem, don't call it hound dog psychology. They call it pork barrel legislation. A feller in one state thinks his voters has got to have a airport or a big dam acrost some river. His buddies over in the next states thinks they got to help him out on account of pritty soon they're going to need a airport or somepun theirselves. So they start barking to help out their buddy and afore long all the Congressmen is barking to help out each other. By the time they git through barking the coffers is empty and we got to float another loan and find new taxes to finance it.

Now I ain't comparing our Congressmen with a hound dog, Mister Editor, but in a heap of ways especially in spending money, they got a lot in common with a barking hound dog.

Incidental, Clem was complaining powerful Saturday night about his arthritis, says it always hits him worse in the winter. It put me to thinking about how things has changed in a man's life in 50 years. The Bible says that the King of Babylon had a aching back and had to sleep on a board. What the King had was rheumatism and they ain't never found anything that would do it much good. Folks with aching backs still sleep on boards. About the only improvement they've made since the King's time was to change the name from rheumatism to arthritis. That helped a lot. Fifty year ago Clem wouldn't dare tell nobody he had rheumatism, but now he tells everybody right out in the open about his arthritis.

Yep, science has done a heap to change the thinking of man. Fer instant, when I was a boy, folks was discussing the origin of man. Since the first atom bomb I ain't heard nothing about Darwin or monkeys and how man got here. Now all folks is thinking about is how he's gonna finish.

Your truly,
Uncle Tim



Excessive Heat Cuts Milk Production

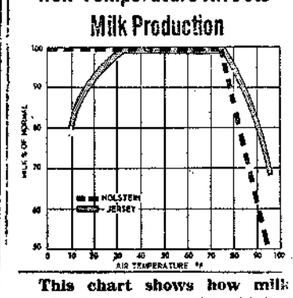
Output Drops Sharply As Temperature Soars

Cows, like humans, like to be comfortable, and they react to discomfort by giving less milk. This may be Bossy's way of saying she'd like well-ventilated quarters or even an air-conditioned apartment.

To try to translate her message into understandable terms, USDA and State researchers have been studying milk cows in experimentally conditioned and controlled quarters.

Long-range basic studies are showing what combinations of temperature, humidity, wind and solar radiation make a cow uncomfortable enough to lower her milk production. In general, tests at Columbia, Missouri, have shown that milk production dropped sharply as temperatures rose above 75 degrees F., with relative humidity at 65 per cent. Production by Holsteins fell 10 per cent at 80 degrees and 35 per cent at 90 degrees. Jerseys and Brown Swiss didn't drop as sharply.

How Temperature Affects Milk Production



This chart shows how milk production drops with higher temperatures.

Relative humidity had no appreciable effect on milk production or feed consumption at temperatures between 17 and 75 degrees. Above 75, however, high humidity accentuated the effects of high temperature on both. At 85, for instance, a relative humidity of 44 per cent caused only a slight decline in milk production by Holsteins. But relative humidity of 90 per cent at that temperature caused a sharp drop, and affected animals took about a week to recover from the decline.

Production by Jerseys also declined—but somewhat less—at the higher humidity. Brown Swiss losses were the least. Cows within a breed, however, varied enormously in response to extremes of weather.

KEY ROUTES—Most of the Michiganians who drive to Florida during 1960 will use one of the three major routes outlined here, says Automobile Club of Michigan. The most popular winter route is through Louisville and Nashville, according to Auto Club. The fastest route, except in winter, is via Charleston and the West Virginia Turnpike.

Plan Three Stops On Dairy Tour

Ideas and information on dairy housing will be the highlights of the February 8 dairy housing and equipment tour. Dairymen planning to change their dairy set-up will be interested in learning about different ways to house and manage their cows.

There will be three different types of housing arrangements on this tour, reports Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture. One will be stanchion, another switch barn loose housing, and the third a complete loose housing set-up.

The first stop at 1:30 p. m. will be at the Frank Wolak farm, two miles east and 3|4 miles north of Kingston. The second stop will be at the Bruce Ruggles farm on M-46, a half mile east of Kingston and the last stop the Lyle Curry farm, three miles west, two miles north and a quarter mile west of Kingston on Curry Road.

Assisting in the tour will be Robert Aldrich, Michigan State University extension specialist in agricultural engineering.

The travel distance is only nine miles and the tour will be over about 4 p. m. Everyone interested is invited to come.

Riders Piling on Stahlin's Michigan Truth Train for '61

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Once there was a Train-of-Cars, and she was flying merrily across the country with a load of Christmas toys for the children who lived way over the other side of the mountain.

But all of a sudden, right at the foot of the mountain, the engine broke down..

Things looked pretty grim until the Little Engine That Could came along. Chugging "I think I can" with every turn of the wheels, the Little Engine pulled the toys over the mountain.

Another little engine is toiling to get another train underway.

"I think we can do it," said Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding). "I think we can tell the true Michigan story and counteract the unfavorable publicity that the state has been receiving."

Stahlin's proposal for a "truth train" has picked up momentum since he put it on the tracks at a meeting of the Michigan products Subcommittee of the Michigan Week Committee late in January.

Michigan Week planners generally agree there is not time to launch Stahlin's streamliner in time for the 1960 observance May 15-21. But there is a feeling it could be a major feature of the 1961 celebration.

Time is needed to raise the money and manpower to put the show on the road. Manufacturers and others who would supply the exhibits need more time to prepare their displays.

Stahlin, a Belding manufacturer who has stirred more interest than most freshmen senators in recent history, will devote much of his time these next few weeks to drumming up support from business and industry.

"The train is rigidly non-political and would be devoted entirely to selling Michigan," said Stahlin, a politician who feels there has been too much politics connected with Michigan business climate controversy.

Other means of promoting Michigan products are in the making.

Manufacturers, retailers, newspapers, radio and television, and other interests are planning an all-out program.

It looks like another successful year for Michigan Week.

Michigan's success--and failure--in industrial development have been compiled by the Michigan Economic Develpoment Department.

Most states report only favorable movements.

But Dr. Paul Herbert, the department's research chief, doesn't believe in sweeping dirt under the rug.

Herbert's analysis of reported industry movement in Michigan last year revealed 96 "unfavorable" movements, including 39 expansions outside the state, 26 closings, 23 move-outs, and 8 contractions of operations.

There were 313 "favorable" reports, including 199 local expansions, 50 new starts, 36 in-state expansions, 17 move-ins, and 11 reopenings of operations.

In general, there were more favorable industry movements reports in 1959 than 1958--an increase of 49 or 19 per cent.

Political ammunition for both sides is available in Herbert's report.

Someone wanting to "prove" Michigan has an unfavorable business climate need only cite that 23 industries moved out of Michigan, while only 17 moved in.

Everything would appear rosy if it were reported that 199 firms expanded operations, while only eight reduced operations.

The best bet is that Michigan's economic climate will be an issue in the 1960 election campaign--but not to the extent it was in 1958.

For one thing, there are other issues; viz, taxes, constitutional convention, legislative reapportionment, and the 1959 cash crisis.

A state nursing its 1959 black eye is beginning to realize it's better to build an out-of-state reputation by bragging from the roof tops instead of dragging through the mud.

"The epitome of integrity." That's what a top democrat said of a top Republican.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams had these words of praise for Vernon J. Brown. President Eisenhower and other political leaders added theirs.

Brown, who was the president of the Michigan Press Association in 1933 and was editor-publisher of the Ingham County News, received the praise at a luncheon honoring his more than 60 years of public service.

The 86-year-old Republican elder, who was a legislator, auditor general, and lieutuenant governor, was honored as the "grand old man of the Grand Old Party."

A rare day it was. Retired politicians are usually quickly forgotten. But not Vernon Brown.

As the temperature dips lower, hearty casseroles "smell up a kitchen" in an appetizing way, yet stretch food dollars delightfully. Many "dinner in a dish" casseroles combine macaroni, spaghetti, noodles or rice with economy beef or pork cuts and vegetables for good nutrition as well as delicious eating.

Ground beef owes its budget favor to its four servings per pound. Stretch it with other good protein sources in the meal, such as: cheese, milk or eggs. Or, stretch ground beef with equal amounts of sausage and a heart ground. This combination can be used for meat loaves, patties, chili or Italian spaghetti.

The supply of pork is still good and so are the prices! How about trying a Boston Butt? There's more lean in this pork cut than any other and a Boston Butt can be used as a roast, ground for casserole dishes, or cubed for chop suey.

Chuck roast are favorites with most families but why always as a roast? Do you know you can have a broiled steak from part of chuck roast?

The blade chuck roast is cut from the part of the shoulder next to the ribs. Many butchers leave the sixth and seventh ribs in this chuck portion. These ribs contain the tender muscle which makes porterhouse and rib steaks such favorites.

If your butcher cuts chuck roasts with these ribs remaining, he will cut the roast so the tender eye muscle can be removed and broiled. A word to the wise—buy as thick a roast as possible—particularly if you like a thick steak for broiling. The remaining portion can be used as a roast and the trimmings ground.

For the left-over roast, how about barbecuing it? Combine ground or finely cut cooked meat with Barbecue Sauce and serve it on toasted buns.

Barbecue Sauce

½ pound butter, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ cup Worcestershire sauce, 1 pint vinegar, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, ½ cup tomato catsup, ½ cup water, 1½ teaspoons sugar, ½ cup chili sauce, ½ lemon (juice) and 1 clove of garlic tied in small porous cloth bag.

Mix all together and simmer 1 hour to blend seasonings. Remove garlic. Add cayenne pepper for "hot" sauce. This sauce may be made in advance and stored in refrigerator. Makes 1 quart.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Our Michigan

Orchards Thrive in Michigan

Among the 48 field and orchard crops grown in Michigan, we rank among the 10 top states in the country in the production of 30 of them.

In Michigan we have the world's cereal foods center and production leader at Battle Creek . . . the world's biggest bean elevator at Saginaw . . . the world's largest cash-to-grower market at Benton Harbor . . . and the nation's principal chicory processing plants in the Port Huron area.

Kalamazoo is known as the birthplace, more than a century ago, of America's celery production . . . With its diversity of fruit crops, Southwestern Michigan is known as the "Fruit Basket of the Middle West" . . . Holland, Mich., is nationally known for its fields of tulips and its annual Tulip Time Festival which attracts a half-million visitors to the Holland area every May.

Michigan ranks first in the nation in the production of red tart cherries . . . field beans . . . cucumbers . . . blueberries.

We are second in production of spearmint . . . strawberries . . . asparagus for processing . . . and plums . . . And we are third in production of celery . . . apples . . . and sweet cherries.

Our state ranks fourth in the United States in production of sugar beets . . . pears . . . grapes . . . buckwheat . . . tomatoes for market . . . red clover seed . . . cauliflower . . . and red table beets.

We rank fifth in production of peaches . . . peppermint . . . sweet corn . . carrots . . . and we are sixth in production of onions and maple syrup.

We are seventh in production of fall potatoes and cantaloupes . . . eighth in oats, popcorn and lima beans . . . ninth in field corn, honey, and tomatoes for processing . . . tenth in winter wheat, rye, head lettuce, cabbage, snap beans and potatoes of all varieties.

We are not widely known as a corn state, ranking ninth in the nation in production of that crop . . . but our 1958 corn yield of 56 bushels an acre was well over the national average of 51.7. Corn is our leading field crop in terms of production volume, but wheat is our most important cash crop. Whereas much of our corn is consumed by poultry and livestock on the farms where it is raised, most of the wheat grown in Michigan is sent to market.

Our 1958 winter wheat yield averaged 38 bushels an acre, far above the U. S. average of 28.4.

Perhaps the most notable of Michigan's farm products are its fruit crops.

Our main fruit belt extends from the southern state line to Grand Traverse Bay along the western side of the lower peninsula. The rich fruit belt lies next to Lake Michigan, which shields orchards and vineyards from sudden temperature changes.

Michigan ranks among the chief dairy states . . . seventh in the nation in milk production . . . and eighth in number of dairy cows.

At least 75,000 Michigan farmers are engaged to some extent in the dairy business . . . and 35,000 are primarily dairy farmers. Collectively, they own 759,000 dairy cows.

While agriculture ranks second in dollar value among our economic enterprises, it's a big second - worth around three-quarters of a billion dollars in annual income to our farmers . . . So big, in fact, that it easily surpasses the value of agriculture in 35 other states.

Our cash income from farm marketings in Michigan in 1958 - not counting government payments - was $714,118,000, placing us 15th among the 50 states. When government payments to farmers are included, Michigan's agricultural income approaches $750,000,000 a year.

A Long Winter's Sleep For Wildlife

While men "weathers" the rigors of winter, many members of wildlife enjoy their seasonal retirement from the outdoor scene. Unruffled by elements of the world outside, they will remain in their winter retreats until awakened by warmer weather. Gophers, woodchucks and jumping mice are called genuine hibernators because of their profound dormancy. Bears, raccoons, skunks, badgers, opossums and chipmunks also hibernate but for most of them there is no marked drop in body temperatures and waking is easy.

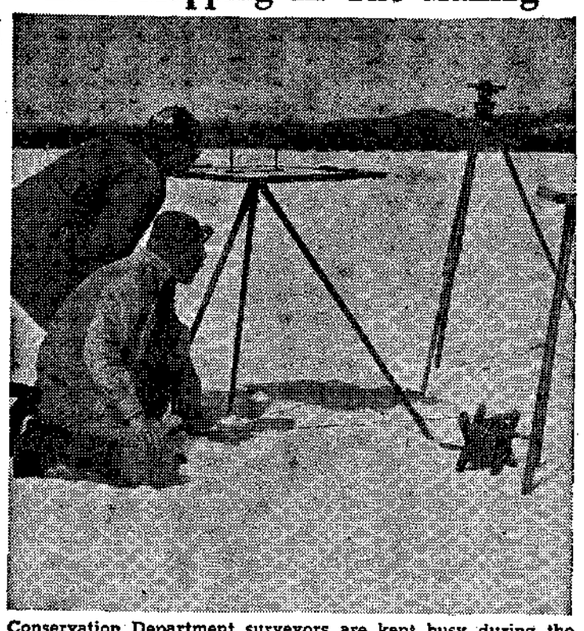
Lake Mapping In The Making



Conservation Department surveyors are kept busy during the winter collecting data from inland lakes in Michigan. Bottom contours, lake depths and outlines, weed beds and shore line features are among the major items surveyed. They are later charted on maps to aid the Department in its fisheries research and management programs. The maps also serve as excellent guides for fishermen.

achieved, he said, it should be applied to reducing the debt.

A quick calculation shows that a reduction of this size would cut Tuscola County's portion of the debt by $1,109,000. Local interest costs would drop proportionately.

Some idea of how huge an amount is the $291 billion that represents the national debt comes from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. It points out that it is equal to the combined savings of the American people—in the form of savings accounts, life insurance and Government bonds.

BULEN TALKS Cars

RED FLAGS AND HORSELESS CARRIAGES

Maybe you remember a few weeks ago I mentioned the law in Memphis, Tenn., against blowing car horns inside the city limits.

That was a good or a bad law, I suppose, depending on which end of the car horn you happened to be at. Since men first started to push themselves around in horseless carriages they've been passing laws about it, and some of them have been pretty foolish. In the years I've been around cars, I've tucked away a few of the stranger ones.

We might have had cars almost 100 years sooner than we did, for instance, if it hadn't been for an English law passed around 1830. Steam coaches were operating in those days; one man had three of them on a regular route of more than 3000 miles near London. Another Englishman had nine steam buses on regular routes.

But then came the famous Red Flag law which required a man to walk in front of the coaches with a red flag in the daytime and a red lantern at night. The fare on the toll roads and bridges was raised and raised (even in those days horseless carriages were seen as a good source of revenue) and the first practical self-propelled vehicles were forced off the roads.

As a result, there was no advance in motor transportation until after 1896 when the silly, restrictive laws were repealed. Quite a difference from today when the buyer expects—and gets—some new advance in motoring every year.

The rapid advancement of automobile design and craftsmanship means, too, that a car a few years old still has lots of dependable miles, economical transportation and even luxury in it. In buying a used car you have even a wider range of choice than in buying a new car . . .and room to splurge on a little luxury too without busting your bankbook. Glad to show you how, the next time you drop around the lot.

CORVAIR. If you haven't driven it you cannot know of its tremendous advantages such as:

1. Air Cooled Aluminum Engine
2. All 4 wheels independently sprung
3. Flat floor (no drive shaft)
4. Transaxle (transmission, differential in one unit)
5. Economy

We'd like you to drive it even if you're not in the market. The usual reaction—"I wouldn't have believed it." You are invited to try it yourself. No other American car has these advantages YET.
