Attend Junior Prom Saturday evening, May 7, Cass City High School. Alexander Morin's Orchestra. Dancing 9 to 12. Admission $1 single, $2 couple. Adv.-2t

By a margin approaching three to one, electors in Cass City School District approved a bond issue of $125,000 for the addition to the elementary school in Cass City and plans are now under way to prepare to advertise for bids.

The vote on proposition one, to bond for $125,000 was 191 yes and 71 no. The vote on proposition two, to raise the tax rate limitation, was 188 yes and 73 no.

Superintendent Willis Campbell said that he expected that the district will be ready to advertise for bids in about six weeks. "I'd like to be able to do it quicker," he said, "but past experience indicates that it will be this long."

It is not expected that the addition will be ready when school opens in the fall. Present target date for completion is Nov. 1.

However, Mr. Campbell said, plans have been arranged to care for the students until the new facilities are ready. They include the use of the elementary gym for classrooms while waiting for the addition. There will be no half days of school in Cass City while waiting for the additional space, the superintendent promised.

The addition will cost district taxpayers 1.75 mills ($1.75 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) for 10 years.

Included will be four classrooms, restroom facilities and a library room.

Plans Set for Junior-Senior Prom, Banquet

"Journey to the Stars" has been selected as the theme for the annual Junior-Senior banquet and prom slated at Cass City High School Saturday, May 7.

The banquet program will be under the direction of Toastmaster Marvin McCormick. Larry Retherford will give the invocation and student speakers will be Junior President Gordon Goodall and Senior President Donald Orban.

Harry Miller will represent the faculty and the board of education will also be guests of the Juniors.

The banquet will be prepared by mothers of the Junior class under the direction of Mrs. William Schram and Mrs. Steve Orto. Sophomore girls will be the waitresses.

Under the direction of Roger Parrish, vocal music director at the school, musical entertainment will be furnished.

Marilyn Hoyer will be the vocal soloist. The "Continents," a male trio of Bill Finkbeiner, Paul Holmberg and Marvin McCormick, will sing and selections will also be presented by a mixed chorus of Junior students. The prom which follows the banquet is open to the public.

Apprehend Mental Patients in Village

Tuscola Deputy Carl Palmateer and Chief Bill Wood caught two escaped patients from the Jefferson Mental Hospital in Detroit as they were hitchhiking through Cass City Thursday.

The two were: Donald Earl Jones, 18, of Redford and Daniel Arthur Martin, 17, of St. Clair Shores.

A Lot of Water Down the Drain

A lot of water has gone down the drain . . . needlessly. An examination of the village's water softener by an expert has revealed that 75,000 gallons of water a day has been going from the pumps into the storm drains.

The 50 gallons a minute that is escaping is costing the village some $7.50 daily. Cost of repair work will be around $300, William Schram, village engineer, reported.

Every band represented at Midland will have earned a top ranking in the district festival, a prerequisite for playing in the State.

From the Editor's Corner

If they run the Gavel Club Invitational for the next 100 years there never will be a better day for it than Saturday's summer-like temperature.

The Gavel Club deserves the good fortune. It was through the club's effort that the meet was started. Devised as a money making project, it has been mildly successful.

But as an event for the school and the entire Thumb area, it has been outstandingly successful . . . bringing many of the best athletes in the State together in competition.

As expected, the council approved the zoning ordinance Tuesday night as outlined in the meeting with the planning commission last week. A copy will be at the Municipal Building and the complete ordinance will be printed in May.

Now no obstacle stands in the way of solving the village's parking problem.

Perhaps what is needed is a "take charge" action by a single group . . . it appears to be an ideal project for the Chamber of Commerce. Parking space will never be cheaper than it is now; the sooner action is taken the cheaper the project cost . . . and that action will be needed, is inevitable. As Cass City grows, the parking problem grows. Let's solve it.

General Cable Building to Cover Full Block

The Cass City Village Council Tuesday night okayed a building permit for General Cable Company for a building the size of a block in Cass City.

The building is to be built in southwest Cass City on a site fronting on Garfield Street and Doerr Road.

The building will be 338 feet wide and 327 feet long. An office will be erected 150 feet by 125 feet.

Robbins Michigan Corporation estimated the cost of the building at $300,000.

Clearing trees and brush from the site started early this week.

Study Club Holds Breakfast Meeting

A breakfast at Bush's Restaurant Tuesday morning featured the regular meeting of the Cass City Women's Study Club when reports were heard from Mrs. Andrew Bigelow and Mrs. Ella Croft.

Mrs. Bigelow told of the 65th annual convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Ann Arbor April 5-8. She told of the outstanding speakers on the program and described the work being done at Girlstown. More units are needed to carry on the work, it was disclosed at the convention. Authorities said that it is not good to enlarge the present home at Loch Rio, but to have more units to preserve the home-like atmosphere.

Mrs. Croft told of the county convention held Saturday at Unionville. She said that Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr. of Gageton explained that there are 13 clubs with 300 members in the county.

Also speaking at the county convention was Mrs. Ritsema who told of the fight against the sale of obscene literature and many of the other projects of the Federation.

Hospital Auxiliary Pays $1,200 of Pledge

The regular monthly meeting of the Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary was held Monday evening at Cass City School. Mrs. H. T. Donahue presided over the business meeting. Net proceeds from the style show were $697.35. Top ticket sellers for the project were Miss Helen Kelly and Mrs. Richard Erla.

Members voted to pay $1,200 of the Auxiliary's additional $2,000 pledge to the hospital. Mrs. Donahue announced a workshop for hospital auxiliary members to be held May 18 at Mercy Hospital in Bay City. A number of Auxiliary members from here are planning to attend.

Mrs. C. M. Wallace called attention to a list of articles of hospital equipment which will be needed for the opening. Included are 80 ash trays, 175 coat hangers, a dozen flower vases and two sizes of glass jugs.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 23.

Council In Busy Session

Doerr Road Year's Top Street Project

The Cass City Village Council informally discussed a proposed $11,000 street and drainage improvement program for Doerr Road and the southwest section of the village Tuesday night in their regular session at the Cass City Municipal Building.

Doerr Road has been a thorn in the side of trustees for several years. Improving the road, which receives much of the truck traffic to local industry, has been proposed and then delayed for various reasons for several years.

Before any significant work can be done on the road itself, adequate drainage must be supplied. To drain the street and the area, plans call for some $5,000 worth of storm sewers. A main storm sewer will run from the creek west of Cass City to Brooker Street and a branch storm sewer will extend on Doerr Road to the south village limits. An expenditure of some $2,000 for sanitary sewer is also on the docket in the area.

After the drainage work is completed, grading and gravel work on Doerr Road in preparation for a hard surface road will start. It is expected that this work will cost some $3,000. All of the work is expected to be completed this summer. In 1961, if present plans are followed, the road will be hard surfaced.

Wage Study President C. R. Hunt appointed a committee to study wages for village employees. At the present time, members of the village's maintenance crew receive $1.55 per hour. On the study committee are B. A. Calka, Lee Rabideau and Andrew Bigelow.

Need Permit The council decided Tuesday that too many home owners were building additions or homes without waiting for a formal okay of their building permits.

A crackdown on violators has been ordered. The new ordinance calls for a maximum of $100 fine and 10 days in jail for starting a building before a permit has been issued.

Other Business The State Highway Department Concluded on page 12.

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in... Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Nearly Everyone Can Be A Candidate

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

If your political tensions are soaring during this election year, take heart. Michigan law makes it possible for the average voter to take an active part in many areas of politics.

First, state law opens the nominating process to all voters through the direct primary. Secondly, state law makes every effort to see that the average citizen can vote and even take part in running the election machinery.

Under Michigan's primary election law voters nominate the governor, lieutenant governor, members of the legislature, United States senators and representatives in Congress, and all county officials.

No one needs party sanction or the approval of any group to run for office. Any qualified voter may become a candidate and circulate nominating petitions.

All you need is a few signatures and your name will appear on the primary ballot. The number needed is small. For governor, for instance, a candidate needs signatures equal in number to only one per cent of the vote cast in the last general election for his party's candidate for secretary of state.

If you run for a state office the secretary of state will tell you how many signatures you need. If you run for a local office, the county clerk can give you the information.

If you cannot get the required number of signatures you may, in some instances, pay a filing fee and get your name on the ballot anyway.

This right is limited to candidates for county offices and for the state legislature where the county alone sends one or more representatives to the legislature.

The fee is $100 and if the candidate is nominated, or is a runnerup, the fee is returned. Otherwise it goes into the general fund. The filing fee method of securing a place on the primary ballot is not widely used. However, it is a means of opening the primary election to more candidates.

Michigan law protects not only individuals, but it protects groups. The major parties are protected not only by statute but by the fact that they have a large, active following.

Minority parties may not have much of a following, but in Michigan the law safeguards their right to express their opinions and compete for support through the election process.

Any minority party can get a place on the ballot by filing with the secretary of state petitions bearing names equal to one per cent of the vote for the successful candidate for secretary of state in the last general election. In this year's election, according to the secretary of state's office, this would mean that a new party would have to file petitions bearing 12,708 names.

A party which was on the bal-

Label Must Tell Clothing Content

"Keeping up with what's new" is what home economics extension members aim to do. Mrs. Frances T. Clark, county home economics agent, points to the labeling of fabrics as one example of what is new in 1960. And she adds that most extension members in the county have been studying a bulletin, "Read Fiber Labels", as a guide to buying fabrics.

The bulletin explains what to look for on the label when shopping for a new dress. If the fabric is a blend, the label will tell, and each fiber must be called by its generic (family) name. For instance, the dress may be labeled 35 per cent cotton, 65 per cent Dacron Polyester. This fiber labeling gives clues for garment care.

The new law covers identification of fiber content on wearing apparel, draperies, rugs and bedding, whether made in the United States or imported.

Extension members would like to share this fabric labeling bulletin with all Tuscola county women. They invite anyone who is interested to write or call for a copy during the week of May 1 through 7, officially designated as National Home Demonstration Week throughout the nation. Just drop a card to Mrs. Clark, Court-house, Caro, and ask for extension bulletin, "Read Fiber Labels." It will be sent to you free of charge.

The man who thinks he is a big gun is often just a smooth bore.

Mushrooms for Meals

About to be plucked is this cone-shaped delicacy known as a morel. Rated by many mushroom gourmets as the tastiest species of them all, morels are most abundantly found in the northern lower peninsula, principally in aspen and hardwood timberlands and old orchards. The peak of the morel harvest usually occurs in the spring following warm rains. Morels, puffballs, sulphur shell fungus and shaggymanes are commonly called "the fool-proof four" because of their distinctive appearance. This quartet of edible fungi has no poisonous look-alikes.

BATTERY TIPS
Gas and oil are two items of car care most people look after religiously. People still seem to run out of gas occasionally (I guess a lot of girls still haven't caught on), and sometimes pass the 1000 miles and the oil is still sticking around (and I do mean sticking).
Of the simple things, though, I think the battery gets over-looked more than anything else.

In hot weather, it's a good idea to have the generator output adjusted before starting on long trips. Overcharging is harmful to the battery. In winter, on the other hand, you should recharge the battery frequently because an under-charged battery may freeze and crack.
The water level, of course, should always be over the plates of the battery. Which reminds me of a little trick that might prove useful. If you know the battery needs water and you can't find any distilled water break some of the frost off your refrigerator freezing unit and thaw it out. It's perfect for the job.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The other day, while I was out checking my pasture fences, I got to thinking about that argument some Congressmen got in last summer about the typical farmer. I wasn't thinking too deep on the subject, in fact I wasn't checking the pasture fences any too careful. My old lady was putting out the wash, and I learned a long time ago that it's a good time to check the pasture fences—when the old lady starts talking about gitting out the wash. But the Department of Agriculture said last summer that the average farmer has mice in his kitchen and rats in his barn. Some Congressmen took it up and one of them argued that it was an insult to the American farmer, and another Congressman argued that it was true, and that it only proved that the farmer needed more help and more relief.

It ain't exactly proper, I think to say that the typical farmer has mice in his kitchen and rats in his barn anymore than it's proper to say that a certain banker who happens to be in the penitentiary is a typical banker. That's like saying that the editor of the Chicago Tribune is a typical editor. It may be true that a heap of farmers ain't got no more modern standards than I got out here, but I got more confidence in the American farmer than to say he ain't got no more ambition than I got. I ain't offering no apology fer my farm because it suits me, and if it don't, it ain't nothing fer Congress to worry about. But I think Congress would do a lot better just to keep giving the farmers more relief and quit talking about the mice in their kitchen and the rats in their barn. It's embarrassing fer us farmers to have all that stuff in the papers. Last summer when I was reading all that stuff in the papers, I felt like Ed Doolittle's wife felt the time company came and caught her with only two petticoats on.

Well, Mister Editor, by the time I had set on the creek bank fer a couple hour checking my fences and thinking about the typical farmer, I figured my old lady was through with the wash, so I went on home without solving the problem. I'm passing it along to you just as I left it. The next time your old lady gits the wash tub out, check your pasture fences and see what you can do with it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

At the project leaders' lesson on "Making the Best Use of Your Sewing Machine" last week, there were eleven different kinds of sewing machines brought in by the extension women. It was the best exhibit of different types of sewing machines that the women had ever had a chance to view.

The question came up of what kind of a sewing machine answers each individual woman's needs.

If you stitch a straight seam or zig-zag a fancy one, the choice of sewing machines is wide when you shop for a new sewing machine. Price will vary with the "ability" of the machine. The fancier the stitch and the more automatic, the more dollars you pay.

You should ask yourself, what do you need in a sewing machine? If your sewing chores are mending, altering or making simple garments, perhaps the least expensive machine will answer your needs. If sewing and trimming garments or home furnishings is a big project at your house, you may want to consider the deluxe machines. Cost may be as much as one hundred fifty dollars extra for the top model.

There are five types of machines on the market. Least expensive model is the long-bobbin, straight-stitching machine. It is not geared to high speed sewing, and all companies do not manufacture this model. The long bobbin travels back and forth which causes some vibration as the machine operates, but it is quite satisfactory for simple stitching. The round-bobbin, straight-stitching machine is a smoother running machine, suited to fast sewing.

The slant-foot, slant-needle machine is designed for better visibility when stitching. The advantage of this feature will vary with the individual using the machine. The zig-zag sewing-needle machine may be operated manually or automatically. The hand-operated machine requires practice to use effectively. By turning the knob or throwing a lever, stitching can be varied.

The automatic zig-zag machine has special controls to turn the knob or lever for you. Simply set a disk or dial and the machine directs the stitching. This fully automatic machine, of course, is the deluxe model.

Don't forget that with practice, some of the "fancy" stitching can be done on a straight-stitching machine.

So let your sewing needs guide you when shopping for a new machine. It is best if you look at several different makes and try them out for convenience and ease of operation. Also, it's best to buy from a reliable dealer who can offer prompt service and supply needed parts.

Thirty-five Years Ago

The University of Michigan's varsity track team was dealt a staggering blow when the Board in Control of Athletics announced that James K. Brooker from Cass City, captain of the Wolverine track squad, will be ineligible for further competition. Brooker, who has had a brilliant athletic career, tied for second at the Olympics at Paris last summer. The ineligibility is due to a misunderstanding on the limitation of the number of years a college athlete can participate in varsity competition.

Twenty-four schools participated in a spelling contest at Cass City Schools Friday. Helen Severance of the McHugh school placed first. Miss Helen Craig is her teacher. In second and third place were Edith Chaffee and Lucile Knight, both of the Winston school. Miss Ina Crawford teacher.

About 80 persons were present at the high school Wednesday night to organize a parent-teacher association. Officers for the new group are: president, Mrs. A. J. Knap; first vice-president, H. W. Holmes; second vice-president, Roy Taylor; secretary, Mrs. I. A. Fritz; treasurer, Mrs. B. J. Dailey, and reporter, M. B. Auten.

Sherman in Army Exercise Abroad

Army Pfc. James M. Sherman, whose wife, Darlene, lives at Schewaga, Mich., recently participated with other personnel from the 4th Armored Division in an eight-day command post exercise in southern Germany.

The exercise, conducted under realistic combat conditions, was designed to determine the effectiveness of units of the 4th Armored Division, a major element of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

Sherman, a cook in Headquarters Company of the division's Combat Command A in New Ulm, entered the Army in October 1958, completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex., and arrived overseas last April.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Cass City High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil J. Sherman, Cass City.

People who pay compliments are seldom forced to eat their words.

The other two haven't a Chinaman's chance!

What other two? Falcon and Corvair, that's who. Every time they try to compete with Valiant they end up talking to themselves. Economy, performance, room, looks, value, Valiant's got them both beat six ways from Sunday. Check the comparisons below. You'll see what we mean.

| Valiant beat the carburetors off both Falcon and Corvair in the Mustang Economy Run. | Valiant walked off with the first seven places in the Daytona Trials. Corvair and Falcon? Still numbing. | Valiant's got room for a well-fed family of six. Plenty of room for legs, hips, heads and hats. And look how the trunks stack up. | The New York Couture Group gave Valiant their Design Supremacy Award, said it was the best looking car in America. | Below are the manufacturers' suggested retail price of the lowest cost 4-door sedan of each make. |
| VALIANT 27.23 MPG Corvair 27.03 MPG Falcon 25.64 MPG | VALIANT 101 HP inclined six Corvair 80 HP pancake six Falcon 90 HP standard six | VALIANT 24.3 cu. ft. Corvair 11.3 cu. ft. Falcon 23.7 cu. ft. | VALIANT nobody's kid brother Corvair imitation foreign bug Falcon everybody's kid sister | VALIANT $2053 Corvair $2088 Falcon $1974 |

Maybe you've noticed it too. Valiants are popping up all over. Good reason too. We're making Valiant awful easy to own. Chances are you can buy one for not a penny more than a Corvair or Falcon. We're offering immediate delivery on all models (sedans & wagons), all colors (eight spritely ones), low bank rates, no payments 'til June. And remember: we need good used cars, like the one you're driving. Get the picture? Now get Valiant, King of The Compacts!

Agricultural Career Day Slated May 9

High school students interested in the field of agriculture will have an opportunity to attend an "Agricultural Career Day" meeting Monday, May 9, in the Courthouse, Caro, at 1 p.m. Sponsoring this meeting are all vocational agriculture teachers of the county, county superintendent of schools and the Cooperative Extension office, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director. Also cooperating will be county school superintendents and principals and the office of the Dean of Agriculture of Michigan State University.

The purpose of this "Career Day" will be to bring the young folks of the county together, (1) to tell them about the opportunities in the field of agriculture, (2) stress the importance of agricultural training and education as preparation for a career in agriculture, (3) to discuss training and educational offerings at Michigan State University and the college of agriculture with these students.

Agriculture today is the nation's largest industry. It employs nearly 40 per cent of America's entire working force although only about 12 per cent of our population live and work on farms.

In addition to farming (and farmers in the years ahead must be scientists and businessmen), there are many opportunities in sciences related to agriculture—engineers, finance, journalism, agricultural education, extension—to mention a few, said Ballweg. Appearing on the program will be vocational agriculture teachers, county superintendent of schools, school superintendents and Vern Freeh, coordinator of student programs, and Dr. Harold Ecker, of the Short Course staff at Michigan State University.

Warm Weather Brings Smelt Run

The warm weather over the week end has started the smelt running at Point Pelee in Windsor, David Mathews of Deford reported this week.

Mr. Mathews and three companions took 55 bushels of the silvery fish Sunday night. They fished from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. The run started about 9 p.m., Mr. Mathews reported.

Compare Tests in County Schools

Dr. E. P. Lockwood reported this week that all schools in Tuscola County that have been tested with the six Kraus-Weber tests for muscular fitness have been below the average of 57.9 per cent compiled by a control group in 1945.

Deford School's failure percentage was 82.7. Other county schools' failure percentage averages were: Caro high 73, Caro elementary 75.4, Sacred Heart 90, Akron-Fairgrove high 69.8, Akron-Fairgrove elementary 82 and Kingston 83.
