> Hospital purchasing today is one of the new hospital skills, Mr. Hudson said, a rapidly developing branch of the newly mature science of hospital administration. It is a service never seen by the patient which guards his comfort and safety and helps assure him the best possible care at the lowest possible cost, according to Mr. Hudson.

For example, authorities say, at what point does a disposable syringe, that costs more, but saves time, become cheaper than a less expensive glass syringe that requires more time for care and cleaning?

Or, how many of a routine item, such as rubber gloves in all their range of sizes, can be purchased to get the quantity discount prices without creating a storage problem or running the risk of deterioration? How can stocks be maintained to meet the rare but vital hospital need?

It is for the answer to questions like these that the new hospital has hired Mr. Maxam as purchasing agent, Mr. Hudson

A SAFETY LESSON FROM THE AIR FORCE

Most of us, I'm afraid, are eternal optimists. As motorists, we refuse to face the fact that we may someday have a serious accident. In 1950, one manufacturer bravely decided to offer seat belts as standard equipment. The item was quickly withdrawn when people concluded that the car must be dangerous.

Seat belts are a good idea, but a friend of mine has come up with an alternative. If people don't want to wear safety belts, he says. face all the passenger seats in a car the other way round.

And with the seats facing backwards, he says, put backs on them high enough so a sudden stop won't snap off your wife's neck.

High, backward-facing seats would not only save a passenger's neck from the jolt of a fast stop, they would also prevent passengers from crashing into the dashboard and windshield. Sound fantastic? Well, the U.S. Military Air Transport Service and the Royal Air Force have decided that all their transports from now on will nave machward-racing seats. In a plane that crashed in Africa, 25 passengers were facing the rear. They all lived. The crew of six were facing the front. Five of them died. But so much for dreams. The easiest way is still a safety belt.

In buying a used car, safety is a factor a customer looks for, really without thinking about it, when he tests the brakes and sounds out the engine for performance. Safety is THE factor we think of when we examine every car on our lot before it goes out for sale. It's put through its paces so you won't have to worry about it.

CORVAIR. The same CORVAIR which averaged 27 plus miles per gallon in the Mobilgas Economy Run, climbed Pikes Peak through ice and snow the next week. The earliest this climb has ever been made by any car. Don't buy a Compact without driving CORVAIR. Costs nothing to try it.

IN LOVING memory of our dear daughter and sister, Phyllis Helena Sattelberg, who was killed 4 years ago on May 11, 1956. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled. Friends may think we have forgotten. When at times they see us smile. Little do they know the heartache, That our smiles hold all the while. We mourn for her in silence, No eyes can see us weep. But many silent tears are shed While others are asleep. Sadly missed by mother, dad, sisters and 4-21-4* brother.

EVERY ROOM HAS ITS OWN THERMOSTAT TO HOLD ITS OWN BEST TEMPERATURE. The ideal temperature will vary according to personal taste, the use of a room and its exposure to wind or sun. Dial that temperature, and electric heat keeps you perfectly comfortable. Here's uniform heat—warmth that seldom varies more than two or three degrees in any part of the room, even between floor and ceiling. And should conditions change, you can quickly warm up one room without overheating others. Built-in electric heat may cost more but it's worth every penny in solid comfort. And when you heat your home electrically, Edison's Budget Billing Plan equalizes heating costs over the year.

CHOOSE FROM SEVERAL TYPES TO MATCH YOUR NEEDS PRECISELY. Built-in electric heat systems may be baseboards; forced air units or radiant panels set in walls; cable embedded in ceilings. When you build, buy, add new living space or modernize, choose modern electric heat.

Democratic candidates include Richard F. Vander Veen, Grand Rapids lawyer and 1958 Democratic candidate for congress from the 5th district; Rep. T. John Lesinski (D-Detroit); William Coughlin, Wayne County assistant prosecutor; George H. Doherty, Flint labor leader, and Flint Mayor Robert J. Egan.

Proper Buildings Increase Efficiency

Proper building and storage arrangements can increase operation efficiency, reduce labor and increase income. Dairymen and livestock operators find building arrangement planning quite easy, reports Don R. Kebler. county extension agent in agriculture when following this plan. First, design the proper capacity units which will meet the long-range program. Draw a sketch of the farmstead area and existing buildings to scale. Next scale and cut out new proposed structures, then move them around on the sketch until the best placement is found.

Keep material handling in mind, points out Kebler. Do not put feed storages far from where the feed will be used, and keep the over-all system simple. Use mechanical aids when possible and be sure surface water drains away from all structures and not into them. Lastly, do not build yourself into a corner so that future expansion is impossible without costly building moving or construction expenses.

After a plan is completed a long or short range building program can be met with each new unit fitting into correct position with the others. Do a good job now and reduce future problems and cost, states Kebler.

It's the unlooked for things that are apt to cause trouble for those who watchfully wait.
