

Expect Record Home-Coming Crowd

Light Primary Vote in Tuscola Co. Forecast

A battle for the Republican nomination for the office of prosecuting attorney has been the highpoint in an otherwise drab campaign for nominations in the primary election Tuesday, Aug. 2.

James J. Epskamp, incumbent, and Douglas L. Williams, a former county prosecutor, have been waging vigorous campaigns for the office in all sections of the county.

Another battle on the Republican ticket pits Archie Hicks of Deford against Irvin A. Hughes of Fairgrove Township for county clerk. Mr. Hicks, who has served as chairman of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors and several other posts in government, has waged an active campaign for the office to be vacated by Fred Mathews, present clerk.

Mr. Hughes has done little except file his petitions.

The third contested position in the primary pits William Tomlinson, incumbent sheriff, against Francis J. "Rip" Gleason.

Tomlinson reigns as an almost prohibitive choice again to defeat Gleason.

Light Vote
It is doubtful whether these local contests and the scrap on the state level among Democrats for governor and representative for the seventh district will draw a large number to the polls.

Best guess is that less than 4,000 will vote Tuesday, about the same number that voted in the 1958 primary. There are an estimated 18,000 registered voters in the county.

The county Republican party is hoping to maintain or increase the four-to-one margin that it posted in the last primary. Democrats are hoping to maintain or increase the trend of recent elections that has shown them polling more votes in the county and cutting some of the GOP strength.

Erla A Candidate
Of local interest is the candidacy of Richard Erla of Cass City, who is without opposition for the Democratic nomination for state senator from the 20th district.

GOP Candidates
Besides the candidates discussed, GOP voters will also vote for candidates for the following offices.

Paul D. Bagwell, for governor; Edward Hutchinson and Clarence A. Reid, for lieutenant governor; Alvin M. Bentley and Donald S. Leonard, for United States Senator; Robert J. McIntosh, for representative - seventh district; Arthur A. Dehmel, state senator; R. Allison Green, state representative; Arthur M. Willis, county treasurer; William J. Profit, register of deeds; Freeland Sugden, drain commissioner, and J. Benson Colton and Melvin Weisenborn, coroner.

Democratic Candidates
Top interest on the Democratic ticket will be the race for governor. Edward Connor, James M. Hare and John B. Swinson are on the ballot seeking the nomination to replace Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Four persons are looking for the lieutenant governor's nomination. They are William J. Coughlin, George H. Dougherty, T. John Lesinski and Richard F. Vander Veen.

Another contest pits Henry J. Lesinski and James G. O'Hara, incumbent, for the nomination for representative in congress.

Unopposed Democratic primary candidates are: Patrick V. McNamara, for United States senator; Richard Erla, for state senator; Frank J. Balcer Sr., for state representative; Adam Deering, for sheriff; Ann Irish, for county clerk; Angus D. McEachin, for register of deeds, and Leon VanSteenhouse, for drain commissioner.

Howard Johnson Has Nothing On Cass City Ice Cream Man

By Sandra Legatz
"We have almost as many flavors as Howard Johnson," boasts J. William Parrott, who has made his family-run ice cream manufacturing business pay off despite competition from larger producers.

The yellow Parrott Farms Ice Cream truck keeps up its busy schedule of runs within a 50-mile radius of Cass City, supplying groceries, drug stores, bakeries and soda shops in 1959 with 80,000 gallons in 20 different flavors.

Parrott said that he and another manufacturer in Marlette are the only "little guys" in this area who have been able to stay in business.

Parrott attributes his survival to the fact that he has turned most of his manufacturing processes over to automation, thus eliminating the need for a lot of help.

"We're freezing more ice cream today with less help than we did five years ago," he said.

"We've also been fortunate to keep most of our accounts," he added. In fact, they have increased 10 per cent in the last year. Parrott said this was because the company gives quick service and because "the boss keeps personal contact with the accounts."

Skillful Blending
The process of making ice cream doesn't seem too complex even to a layman, but it does depend on the skillful blending of ingredients and the proper functioning of a chain of machines connected by narrow pipes.

Parrott's mix consists of condensed milk, 40 per cent cream, whole milk, best sugar, corn sugar and stabilizer. Parrott said he considers his a better ice cream than most because he uses his own whole Grade A milk.

"Some manufacturers use water, which is legal but not as good," Parrott said. All the state requires is 36 per cent total solids and 12 per cent butterfat. The ingredients of the mix are combined in two 200-gallon pasteurizers and are pasteurized at 160 degrees. This mixture is pumped through the Viscolizer or homogenizer at 2,500 pounds pressure and cooled through a plate cooler. It is then pumped into a storage tank.

"We now have a capacity in our ice mix room of 1,600 gallons of mix in a 10-hour period of operation," Parrott said. "This operation could very easily be increased to 3,000 gallons," he added.

Flavors Added
The freezer operation has a capacity of 320 gallons of ice cream an hour or 3,200 in 10 hours (1,600 gallons of mix produces 3,200 gallons of ice cream).

The ice cream mix is pumped from the storage tank into the Univat where vanilla or other flavorings are added. This product is pumped through a Vogt continuous freezer where the ice cream is semi-frozen and packaged directly into pints, quarts, half-gallons, gallons and two and a half gallon packages.

These packages are sacked and placed into hardening rooms for hardening and storage.

The Parrotts also sell ice cream at their farm.

In addition to the plant Parrott owns a 120-acre dairy farm on which he raises hay, corn and oats. He has 70 head of cattle, 40 of which are milking cows. Parrott said that he bought his cream and condensed milk from outside suppliers but in turn was able to

Hopes High for High Yield Wheat Crop

Barring rain, the 1960 wheat harvest will be reaching its peak this week and as authorities predicted a better than average crop for the Cass City area.

The crop is expected to be bigger and better than last year's 35 to 40-bushel average yield that was damaged by weather.

Tests indicate that the grain is weighing up to 58-59 pounds and most yields are uniformly good.

Moisture content, a problem in heavy soil, is steadily coming down.

This year support price for wheat is $1.78 per bushel. It is unlikely that many farmers will store grain commercially unless the present market price for wheat drops.

Tuesday morning wheat was selling for $1.62 per bushel, about what the farmer receives net after some 16 cents per bushel is subtracted for storage costs. Farmers with home storage could profit from the wheat support price.

Long lines at elevators are certain during the peak of the harvest. Despite the addition of modern equipment at the elevators, big self-propelled combines harvest the crop so much faster than the five and six-foot models used to that the elevators are unable to avoid delays handling the accelerated harvest.

The amendment was made so that clinics can be built on this land that faces the hospital.

In the final action involving building permits, Cliff Croft's request for a clinic at the corner of Huron and Dale streets was denied on the recommendation of the council.

Road Work
President C. R. Hunt will investigate the possibility of hard-topping Hill street that leads to the hospital this fall.

The surfacing of North Seeger and Doerr Road is expected within a week if weather conditions permit.

Other Business
Warren Wood was appointed as a member of the planning commission for a three-year term.

Dean Toner was named foreman on the village crew and will receive an additional five cents per hour for his added responsibility.

John Mackie, State Highway Commissioner, informed the council by letter that the new census entitles Cass City to $10.97 more in weight and gas tax money for local and primary roads.

The council is writing to Cass City Oil and Gas asking that their request of July 1959 be complied with and that their property be removed from village property.

Free Events Spark Action Packed Day

Continuing the trend of recent years, the board of directors of the Cass City Chamber expects a record crowd at the 11th annual Cass City Home-coming Thursday, Aug. 4, for a full day of free entertainment.

President Tom Jackson said that everything is in readiness for the big day and that area residents again can have a full day of entertainment without spending a penny.

Traditionally, the annual event opens with the Junior Livestock Show which in the past has attracted some of the outstanding hogs, beef and dairy cattle and sheep in the area.

There will be prizes and ribbons galore awarded in the livestock show. There will be eight classes open for dairy cattle and beef breeding cattle. Classes have been arranged for Holstein, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Jersey and Red Dane dairy cattle and for Shorthorn, Angus and Hereford breeding cattle. Also to be judged will be steers in the latter three breeds.

Group awards and ribbons and individual placing ribbons will be presented in each class. "A" placings are worth $3.00, "B" placings $2.50 and "C" placings $2.00.

Sheep Competition
Awards for nine divisions of the sheep show will include group placings of $2.50 for "A", $2.00 for "B" and $1.50 for "C". Every breed is eligible to enter. Major classes are Southdown, Shropshire, Oxford, Cheviot and Corriedale. Any other breeds will be eligible under the All Other Breeds class.

President Tom Jackson said that the annual work night to prepare for the home-coming will be Wednesday, Aug. 3. He asks that all members of the organization report to the Cass City Recreation Park as soon after 6 p.m. as possible.

Children who are planning to enter the bike parade are asked to meet in front of the Cass City Oil and Gas station by 12 noon. Eli Holes and Mrs. Mike Yedinak are in charge.

Grand champions and reserve champions in each division will receive special ribbons. In addition, special awards will be donated by area firms. A rope halter will be given each champion by Bigelow Hardware. A trophy to the champion dairy animal is furnished by Farm Bureau Services.

A trophy from Erla Food Center will go to the champion beef animal and the owner of the champion sheep will receive a trophy purchased by Frutchey Bean Co. The champion swine trophy is given by Gross and Maier's.

The showmanship winner will receive a $10 award from Parrott's Ice Cream Co. and all dairy champions will receive a Curtis select mating service from Don

Deford School Voters to Decide Three-Mill Levy

Electorals of the Deford Community school will be asked for three additional mills to operate the school this year in a special election Friday at 8 p.m. at the school.

If granted, the school will have 1 1/2 mills for operating expenses and a debt service of 6.4 mills. Total millage in the district will be 17.9.

The debt service is for bonds issued to pay for the new school building at Deford which the district is currently paying off ahead of schedule.

A mill is equivalent to $1 per thousand dollars valuation of property based on the state's equalized valuation.

Hunt for Dump Goes on by Village Council

Two questions that have been discussed at every council meeting recently... the village dump and the police department... were again aired Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the council at the Municipal Building.

The talk about the police department this month centered around a schedule from Chief Bill Wood of hours he intends to work and the day he would like to have off each week.

Trustees want Mr. Wood to work six days weekly for 10 hours a day.

The police committee will confer with the police chief and try to iron out difficulties.

Village Dump
President Hunt and Mr. Ryan reported on dumps inspected in Sandusky and Marlette. The council is now generally agreed that a trench type site is the best suited for the village. A hunt for a suitable site goes on.

Primary Election
Aug. 2, 1960, Greenleaf Township. For the purpose of nominating state and county officers, Anson Karr, clerk.

From the Editor's Corner

We welcome a new column to the Chronicle this week. Entitled "Wandering With Warren", it is written by Ilene Warren and starts on an inside page. Not only is Ilene an interesting writer, she's also an erudite one.

Even if you're like us and never heard of Jules Jussierand (quoted in the column) we think you'll enjoy this new feature as much as we did when we first read it.

Times change.
Some of the old timers tell us that in the not too ancient past there were four or five horseshoe courts on Main Street where the Dairy Mart now is located.

These courts were lighted, they say, and nearly always full in the evening.

Friday at 6:30 p.m. Recreation Director Mike Yedinak starts a horseshoe tourney at the park, next to the tennis court.

Mr. Yedinak reported that he had trouble getting enough persons interested to run the tourney and almost was forced to abandon the new feature of the recreation program.

Incidentally, the meet is still open for contestants, who can enter by reporting to the park Friday when the tourney opens.

We have received a small number of official Michigan State Highway maps for free distribution. It's first come first served until the supply is exhausted.

It's the first time in several years that the state has furnished the free (if you overlook taxes) maps.

It's a step in the wrong direction. We applauded when the maps were discontinued and still fail to see any valid reason for spending the taxpayers' money for an item available free at your neighborhood gas station... although we admit that the state maps are the finest printed.

An editorial in the Lapeer County Press points out that it cost the community some $2,500 for each job created when businessmen bought bonds worth $100,000 to establish a new factory in town.

At that rate, every job created, whether by a store, a farm or an office, is worth $2,500 to the community, the paper says.

The editorial continues "we should remember that price tag when we view other industries already here; it will help us appreciate the factories we have and remind us to make it attractive for them to stay here. It is cheaper to keep old factories than it is to bring in new ones." The editorial applies equally well in Cass City as it does in Lapeer.

With all the hubbub on television, the ads in newspapers (including ours), the radio broadcasts, the direct mail appeals and the speeches by local candidates about Tuesday's primary, we wonder how many of you will fail to vote?

In the last week a newspaper friend from Saginaw and an acquaintance in Caro said that they felt that Hills and Dales was a stinko name for our new hospital. But when we told them that Cass City Community Hospital had been outlawed by the Federal Security Commission, and asked for a better name they were stymied.

We admit when we first heard the name we weren't enthralled by it, but constant repetition has made it grow on us... we suggest that within a year, referring to the hospital by any other name would be unthinkable.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture says that Michigan, one of the nation's leading producers of bramble fruits, is completing a harvest of raspberries and dewberries of the highest quality in recent years.

Reason is that the mould count is the lowest in years due to the absence of high temperatures and excessive rainfall.

The tests by the department were made in the southwestern part of the state in the heart of the bramble fruit territory.

If the tests had been made in Cass City it is likely that the experts would have found that the berries are not quite as nice as last year's wonderful fruit.

Criminal Docket Sets New Record

Mary Salas on Long, Slow Road To Recovery

It has been a long slow road to recovery for Mary Salas, formerly of Deford, who narrowly averted death in an auto crash that claimed three lives April 16.

The popular Cass City High School student was in Mercy Hospital at Bay City for several months for injuries suffered in the accident. Most serious injury was a skull fracture that required surgery. She also received a fractured pelvis and broken ankle in the crash.

Mary was released from Mercy Hospital in mid-June and taken to her parents' home in Detroit where it was originally believed that she would require therapeutic treatment.

However, her progress has been better and Detroit physicians deemed the treatment unnecessary. According to her brother, Louis Salas, whom we talked with this week on the phone, she is steadily improving and is now learning how to walk again by herself.

Local Laundromat In Grand Opening

Jae Kitchen, co-owner of the Cass City Laundromat, this week announced that he will hold a grand opening of his newly remodeled store Saturday.

To introduce area residents to the many improvements that he has made in the laundromat since he assumed control recently, free washing, drying and hair drying are offered to everyone on the grand opening day.

"We want Cass City area folks to see our 10 new washers, two new dryers and our hair dryer that we have installed", Kitchen said.

The new owners have also redecorated the interior and added new lighting.

Mr. Winter was hospitalized for nervous shock at Pleasant Home Hospital and possible internal injuries. He was released Tuesday.

Lapeer County Deputy Sheriffs said Lubahn pulled from a roadside fruit stand onto M-21 in the path of the truck.

Inlay City firemen washed spilled gasoline from the highway.

Permit Granted for New Super Market Building

Council Resolves Zoning Problems

Questions involving the new zoning ordinance in Cass City highlighted the regular meeting of the Cass City village council Tuesday evening at the Municipal Building.

George Dillman, representing Mrs. Otto Nique, presented an $800 performance bond guaranteeing that a road would be constructed in the North Lane subdivision, at the east village limits of Cass City. The council then accepted the plat for the subdivision.

Super Market Site

John McCormick's request for a building permit to remodel the former skating rink into a super market was okayed by the council on the recommendation of the planning commission. The skating rink is in the light industry area, but was allowed under the zoning provision as a convenience

Included in the remodeling will be a blacktop parking area.

Grant Permit
The council granted a permit to Hollis Seelye to build a house on his lot at Oak and Third.

Plans as presented will not conform to the zoning ordinance as back yard space will be some 10 feet less than the required 35 feet of land space.

Trustees said that the ordinance is not realistic in older areas of the community, but would be rigidly observed in new developments.

Turn Down Clinic
Dr. K. I. MacRae's request for a clinic on land he owns in back of the Presbyterian Church in land classified residential was denied on the recommendation of the council.

A roll call vote was taken with Trustees Cliff Ryan, Jim King,

Lee Rabideau, Leo Ware and B. A. Calka voting to prohibit the building and Trustee Andrew Bigelow in favor of granting the request.

Amend Ordinance
The first amendment to the zoning ordinance was passed when a R-B district (two family) was changed to R-C (multiple family) district. The change involves nine lots on Hill street, south of Dale.

The amendment was made so that clinics can be built on this land that faces the hospital.

In the final action involving building permits, Cliff Croft's request for a clinic at the corner of Huron and Dale streets was denied on the recommendation of the council.

Road Work
President C. R. Hunt will investigate the possibility of hard-topping Hill street that leads to the hospital this fall.

The surfacing of North Seeger and Doerr Road is expected within a week if weather conditions permit.

Other Business
Warren Wood was appointed as a member of the planning commission for a three-year term.

Dean Toner was named foreman on the village crew and will receive an additional five cents per hour for his added responsibility.

John Mackie, State Highway Commissioner, informed the council by letter that the new census entitles Cass City to $10.97 more in weight and gas tax money for local and primary roads.

The council is writing to Cass City Oil and Gas asking that their request of July 1959 be complied with and that their property be removed from village property.

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right: takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

◀ "I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

Wandering With Warren

HOW TO SEPARATE
WHEAT FROM CHAFF

By Ilene Warren

With the fall elections looming on the horizon and everyone thinking and talking about the campaigns and the subsequent elections, this may be a poor time to begin a column. However, one time is likely as good as another to take the plunge into a new field. And the writing of this column is a new field for me.

But, the elections are with us this year and there's no use attempting to avoid the topic. I, too, am most thoroughly interested in the campaigns of the Democratic and Republican parties; like many others, I have a favored candidate; however an honest effort will be made to keep this column completely unbiased.

As a nation, we've become a bit wary of campaign promises. This has come from experience. Speaking of campaign promises, my older sister waged a campaign when we were girls that would put many a seasoned political campaigner to shame. Countless times she inveigled me into doing her chores, or helping her, by promising to tell me a story. And she had a way to avoid having to create a new story each time. Despite the fact that we rarely saw a movie (and I think she was too young to have seen "The Perils of Pauline"), she was adept at leaving the hero perched in some dire situation and calmly stating, "Now, it's continued until next time." Next time being the next time the doing of the dishes rolled around. Yes, she could stretch one story to some length!

Funny thing was, my gullibility didn't end with that experience. Later, as I began to think of myself as a story-teller, she used her system reversed: She'd "let" me tell her a story if I'd do something for her.

Eventually my credulity ended and her successful campaign came to an end. Apparently my psyche was not injured for my memories of these times are only of the thrilling stories and not of the work I had to do! So, perhaps there was value received out of my sister's campaign promises. Which isn't always true of the political campaigns.

It's difficult to know what the truth is when one says this and another says that. However, if the statements are carefully studied and we try to be as fair as possible, perhaps we'll be able to discern the glib, empty promises from the sincere purpose.

This I do believe: expressed in the words of Jules Jussierand, "Remember this, and also be persuaded of its truth... the future is not in the hands of fate, but in ourselves."

The man who does nothing but wait for his ship to come in has already missed the boat.

We'll have lots of character assassination this year-politicians start shooting from the lip.

It's Sneezin Season Peak
In Southern Michigan

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Some summer breezes will soon be loaded with sneezes for hay fever sufferers.

The southern half of the lower peninsula is considered to be almost totally a high pollen-count area. Ragweed pollen causes the discomfort, and for the several years that regular checks were made, the pollen count changed
very little.

This means that hay fever
tends to remain with us as communities grow.

Coldwater in Branch county was known as the hay fever capital of

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION
Notice of Hearing—Probate of Will—Determination of Heirs.
State of Michigan, The Probate Court
for the County of Tuscola.
In the Matter of the Estate of Elizabeth Holman, Deceased.
At a session of said Court, held on July 19th, 1960.

Present, Honorable Henderson Graham,
Judge of Probate.
Notice is hereby given, that the petition of Samuel R. Wurtz praying that the instrument he filed in said Court be admitted to probate as the Last Will and Testament of said deceased, that administration of said estate be granted to Samuel R. Wurtz or some other suitable person, and that the heirs of said deceased be determined, will be heard at the Probate Court on August 8th, 1960,
at ten a.m.
It is Ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three weeks consecutively previous to said day of hearing, in the Cass City Chronicle, and that the petitioner cause a copy of this notice to be served upon each known party in interest at his last known address by registered or certified mail, or by personal service, at least fourteen (14) days prior to such hearing.

the United States in 1958. It had a pollen count of 190—highest average registered anywhere.
But several other Michigan areas were not far behind and there is no indication that the pesky pollen from ragweed has let up any.

What the Michigan Health Department gaily calls the "sneezin season" reaches a peak between the middle of August and the middle of September. Some sufferers begin to feel the telltale
tickling in the nose about July,
however.

Of course pollen isn't the only villain in the picture, but it's by far the most active and the most prevalent.

Some 15 species of ragweed
produce most of the discomfort,
but tumbleweed, firebush, sage,
hemp and pigweed are also suspects. Then some people get the itchy eyes, runny nose and other discomforts from mayflies, caddis flies, mushroom flies, animal fur or feathers.

This year, as every year, the Health Department is making a plea to landowners to have municipal authorities to cut down as much ragweed as possible.

This year, as in other years,
people will suffer because the villains weeds can't all be disposed of.

For those who can, going north is still one of the best ways to avoid hay fever. Northern Michigan is practically pollen-free.
Shots or other remedial symptom
relievers are also available.

But for countless thousands,
the only outlook is suffering until fall frosts take the pollen out of the air.

And the sufferers in Southern Michigan can almost take a perverse pride in being real veterans of the hay fever wars.

Besides a raft of new names,
ballots used in the Nov. 8 general election in Michigan this year will have a slightly different appearance. But the voter will have to look closely to spot it.

The Republican party has anwill have a 50-star flag this year.

Democrats made no immediate changing the vignette to take in-

Hawaii and Alaska are now part of the United States.

The flag which forms the back-

the new look.

For the primary, the Democratic vignette has a picture of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gov.
G. Mennen Williams—backed by a 48-star flag. The party will probably change the vignette to include 60 stars before Sept. 20.

That's the deadline for setting
the wording of local propositions which will be on the ballot and if a change were in the hands of county clerks by that time, it could probably be made with little difficulty.

One-horse towns and one-teacher schools are a part of the Michigan scene which may never completely pass out of existence.

But the number of one-teacher
schools—defined by the Michigan Education Association as a public elementary school with only one teacher, located in a rural or urban area, including one or more rooms and comprising one or more grades—has been whittled down.

The MEA said there were 7,206
one-teacher schools in 1918, but only 1,291 by the 1958-59 school year.

Nationally nearly 400,000 children attended one-teacher schools last year. This is about 1.1 per cent of all children enrolled in public schools and 1.6 per cent of all public school children in grades one through eight.

By comparison, about a quarter of all school children attended a one-teacher school in 1918.
More than 84 per cent of the teachers in the one-teacher schools said they would choose the same working conditions again if given a choice. About 88 per cent of them had less than four years of college.

The average salary for a Michigan teacher in a one-teacher school was $3,649 a year in 1958-59, compared with $5,504, which is the average salary for all Michigan public school teachers in the same period, the MEA said.

The thirty-third annual Homemakers Conference was well attended this year. There were over 1,200 women at the Conference.
The program was well balanced between educational and recreational type program. The remarkable I heard so often from the women was, "what a wonderful, inexpensive vacation with no dishwashing, marketing or menu
planning."

One of the joys of July is the produce counter at your favorite grocery. Such a profusion of "shipped in" and "homegrown"
fruits and vegetables could be found only in our time, and only in our land.

Most of our favorite fresh fruits and vegetables could have been grown in quantity in some form 50 years ago but they could not have been distributed.

It is our enormous, high speed
transportation and communications network, covering every part of our country that is the life blood of modern produce marketing. Fresh fruits and vegetables need to be held under carefully controlled temperatures and humidity conditions as they are moved to market as rapidly as possible.

It still takes about seven days for a carload of fresh produce to move from coast to coast. Speedy transactions by telephone, telegraph and teletype prevent delays as some of the 1,500,000 cars
of produce move for short distances and others long distances.

Besides the special care during transportation, marketing a fresh fruit or vegetable may involve a dozen or two different operations. To give produce a longer "top quality" life, it is cooled after harvest. Then it is cleaned, sorted, graded, trimmed, packed, stored, loaded and may be unloaded and stored again at a terminal warehouse, for delivery
to your retailers' stores.

When the produce reaches the store, it may need to be "prepared" some more. For instance, outer leaves of cabbage, lettuce and corn removed. Or, the produce may need to be repackaged into the smaller packages the homemakers prefer.

Produce handling has improved
in many ways in recent years. Also we can browse among counters heaped with delightful, colorful
"top quality" produce.

During the later part of July,
Michigan blueberries are coming to the market in volume. Also, dark sweet cherries from Traverse City area and Michigan
gooseberries and red and black raspberries are plentiful.

The word "homegrown" is a word that means "within easy trucking distance" and that may mean from a growing area just over the border of a neighboring state as well as from growing areas in Michigan.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:
I been noting where some of them column writers for the big dailies uses the dot system ever onct in a while. It looks like they got a heap of things on their mind but don't know how to put em together. So they just add a few dots and move on to somepung else.

I got a few items on my mind
this week, ain't too shore I can put 'em together, so I'll just stick a few dots here and there and keep plovling... After all,
them big column writers ain't got no copyright on dots...

I see by the papers where the Army is going to discharge 10, 000 "incompetent soldiers." I reckon they're running the Army different now. When I was in it back during World War I they didn't discharge 'em, just promoted 'em to second lieutenants.

These political candidates is all running their campaign on what you might call the "one-
two-three-period" plan. "No. 1—
There ain't no truth to what my opponent, the distinguished gentleman, says. No. 2—He ain't distinguished and he ain't no gentleman. No. 3—He didn't say nothing in the first place. Period."...

I reckon, after all, we got the best Government in the world.
They take it away from big business and give it to the little fellow, then big business takes it away from the little fellow and the Government takes it back again. That way they keep it going round and round in circulation and when they run short they raise the public debt...

In the last two years I've looked at 827 horse-tail hairdos

these teenagers is wearing and have decided that a horse-tail looks better on a horse... If I had my life to live over I'd think up somepun that costs a dime to make, sells for a dollar and is habit-forming...

The year 1960 will go down in history as the year the word
"soap" disappeared from our language. By the end of this year, TV commercials willing,
janitors and livery stable help
will speak only of the "detergent." On account of being such a good speller myself and not needing one, I ain't got no dictionary, but I went over to my neighbors house and looked up the word. It means, the book says, somepun that "clears away foul matter." I hope they'll use a little of it on them TV commercials in 1960...

Them Brass Hats in Washington now admits that Russia is
"a little above us" in the production of space weapons. That could prove fatal, Mister Editor.
I've knowed of many a feller that was drowned in water that was just "a little above his head."

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

PREPARING—This is only a part of the equipment used in the manufacture of Parrott Farms ice cream. Last year 80,000 gallons of ice cream passed through these machines and on to consumers in a 50-mile radius of Cass City. (Chronicle photo)

ship some of his own milk to the Detroit market.

The farm also boasts a large shed, a barn with attached milking parlor, the creamery, two big silos and the Parrott home with office room attached.

The Gal Friday of the Parrott Ice Cream business is the former Cora Westerby of Caro. Since they were married Mrs. Parrott has worked along with her husband in developing the business. The Parrotts have four children, Sharon, 16; David, 14; Janet, 10, and Rebecca, 7.

You'd think that with such an unending supply and variety of ice cream around, the Parrott family would soon tire of their own product. But Mrs. Parrott said, "I can safely say there isn't a day that goes by that we don't eat ice cream."

Started in 1928

The Parrott Ice Cream Company originated in Cass City in 1928 and at that time consisted of a butter manufacturing room and an ice cream parlor in the front of a store. It was owned and operated by W. A. Parrott, Mr. Parrott's father.

In 1932 the senior Mr. Parrott built the present plant on his North Dodge Road farm.

The retail store in Cass City was operated under the same management until 1946 when it was sold. We no longer have any connection with it," Parrott said.

"People seemed to have a nickel for an ice cream cone during the depression and this helped my parents through those trying times," he recalled.

The wholesale business began in 1930. Small country store operators came to us to see if they could sell our ice cream through their stores," Parrott said. "This type of operation developed rapidly from 1934 to 1941. During these years, ice cream cabinets were purchased and placed in these outlets and a refrigerated truck was built for the delivery of ice cream to the stores," he said.

"From 1943 to 1947 I managed my father's farm and from 1947 to 1955 I was plant manager. January 1, 1955, I purchased the ice cream business."

For two years Parrott and his wife were the entire labor force. He delivered the accounts two days a week and the remainder of the week they made the mix and froze the ice cream.

When the business was purchased the gallonage was 16,000 a year. At the end of 1957 they had increased it to 32,000. It is now reaching upward toward 100,000 gallons a year.

Leaders Win to Stay on Top in Merchants Loop

The front runners in the Merchants' Softball League remained tied for the top spot in the league Thursday when they both posted narrow victories in two well played games.

Erla's defeated a reorganized Mayville team in a pitchers' battle 1-0, while Sherman's measured Walbro 3-0.

Dan Erla limited Mayville to four hits and Nelson "Moose" Willy allowed just five safeties for the losers. Dan Erla and veteran Carl Kolb each banded out a pair of hits for Erla's while Jerry Hillaker led Mayville with two hits.

Jimmy Brown out-hurled Jack Hool in the nightcap as Walbro bowed to Sherman's.

Cubs Cop Regular Season Toga

The Cubs won the regular season championship of the Cass City Little League despite a loss in play during the week. The Giants nosed out the Pirates for second place in the league.

With the regular season concluded the teams swung into the play-offs with the Giants and Yankees playing Monday. Wednesday, the winner of this game was to have played the Champion Cubs.

In the lower bracket, the Pirates and Tigers will meet Friday and the winners play for the play-off championship Monday evening.

Wednesday, the play-off champion will play the Cubs for the overall title. If the Cubs win the play-offs this game will be unnecessary.

Pirates-Yankees

Monday, July 18, the Pirates continued their skid and lost a 12-11 slugfest to the Yankees. Mike Root was the losing pitcher and Gary Holik the winner.

Leading hitters for the Yanks were John Mulrath, Gary Holik and Ken Hayes. Rick Ruhl had two for three for the losers.

Yankees-Tigers

The Tigers had little trouble with the Yanks as they picked up their second win of the season with a 14-4 decision Wednesday, July 20. Ricky Hartwick, Larry Hartwick and Dennis Longski each collected two doubles for the Tigers. Ed Gruber and Ken Hayes led the Yanks.

Giants-Tigers

The Giants came roaring from behind to post their second victory of the week Thursday with a 11-10 decision over the Tigers.

Bob Rabideau sparked the rally in the fifth when he opened the inning with a circuit blast. His teammates followed suit and the Giants batted around for seven runs in the inning.

Morris Brown was the winning pitcher and Wayne Copeland the loser. Rabideau added a single to his home run, while Tom Frankowski and Jim Ballard also collected a pair.

Giants-Cubs

The league leading Cubs lost a 15-3 decision to the Giants Friday. Bob Rabideau was the winner and Ricky Turner the loser. Les Nicholas hit three for four and Jim Ballard three for five for the Giants. The Cubs' hits were all singles by Maharg, Murphy, Shagena and Kolb.

The Little Majors all-star teams that will play at the Home-coming Thursday, Aug. 4, were selected by coaches of the teams. Each coach was barred from voting for members of his team.

Coaches of one team are Harry Paul, Dr. William Selby and Ken Maharg. Managing the other team will be Fred Leeson, Elmer Kehoe and Jim Mark.

Cass City Loses to Sebawaing in Babe Ruth Loop

Cass City's chances of winning another Babe Ruth League title went glimmering Thursday when Sebawaing backed excellent pitching by Joe Ballard with lusty hitting and fine fielding to clobber Cass City 12-2.

Eight costly errors were fatal for Cass City and allowed nine of the 12 Sebawaing runs to score. Norm Sawicki was the only bright spot for Cass City as he pitched well and got the only local hit, driving in two runs.

Today (Thursday) Cass City plays at Bad Axe.

Call for Study of Care for Aged

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

"Good care does as much for the spirit as it does for health," said Michigan Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis recently as he called for study programs on possible improvements in care for the aged.

"If you think about your own old age, you know you don't want to end up in a cramped room, with indifferent care, tasteless meals and few visitors," he said.

Fortunately, most of the older folks in Michigan nursing homes or homes for the aged get good care.

Four years ago, the Legislature authorized the Health Department to license homes which met high standards prescribed by the department. The "do's" and "don'ts" are long and detailed, but the burden of the rules is that patients are to have "personalized attention and meticulous care."

"As more people live longer, nursing homes become increasingly important," Heustis said.

"Young people might remember that when they look into the face of an older person, they look into a mirror of sorts," he said. "Most of us will live to a ripe old age and our final years may be spent in a nursing home."

Heustis made a plea for increased family and community support to make lives of the oldsters more interesting.

"Most nursing homes and homes for the aged are doing their best to improve and have made a great deal of progress," Heustis said. "But they need much more family and community support to make old houses into new homes for older people."

More than 16,000 patients are in 568 licensed homes in Michigan, the department said.

Some of them are senile. Others are paralyzed and bedfast. Some are blind. Still others hobble about on crutches or use canes to help them make their painful way.

But others are full of life and vigor despite their advanced age. All, no matter what their physical condition, need someone to show an interest in them. Not only do they need interest from family and community, but they need financial help in many cases.

"Bargain basement rates won't support high quality nursing services," Heustis said.

"Patients come to these homes with varied backgrounds, health problems, tastes, habits and expectations, but all need good care in a home-like atmosphere," he said.

What many of them need most is somebody—anybody—to care.

Fatigue may be second to carelessness as a cause of accidents. Michigan had a relatively low fatality count—14 dead in a three-day period over the long Independence Day week end—but a pattern to the deaths might indicate tiredness as a villain in many of the cases.

Secretary of State James M. Hare analyzed the figures this way:

On the first evening of the week end (Friday), when drivers were fresh and on the way to a holiday destination, only one person was killed. On July 2 (Saturday), two died on highways.

The next day, the third day of the holiday week end, four persons were killed in auto accidents.

But on July 4, (Monday) the final day of the week end, when the stream of exhausted weekenders was heading home, seven persons died in seven fatal accidents on Michigan roads.

Part of the pay for a Michigan motel owner must be in the satisfaction of his job.

A Michigan State University survey showed the average earnings for a motel to range between $3,000 for a 10-unit operation to about $5,800 for a 20-unit motel.

Robert McIntosh, tourist and resort specialist who conducted the survey, said most of the state's 2,700 motel operators don't stay in business solely for the money.

The dollar which the motel owner gets for his facilities goes largely for expenses, McIntosh said.

About 40 cents of the average dollar goes for operating expenses—laundry, fuel and water, maintenance and supplies. Another 30 cents of the dollar is eaten up by fixed costs—depreciation, insurance, taxes and the like.

The motel owner gets about 30 cents of the dollar for his profit, then. But most of them like their job enough to stick with it, and many times additional income comes from sideline operations.

Most of the people who think they have nothing but trouble don't know what real trouble is.

July 21, 1960

Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan

Dear John:

My letter to you (not intended for the column) was to correct your error in giving the figure 410 for Gageton's old population count instead of the figure I had given to you, viz: 401.

This weeks issue carries a letter from Mrs. Florence Carpenter stating she feels she must defend herself because of the difference in her U. S. count and the Gageton private count. At no time nor in any letter or communication, have we questioned Mrs. Carpenter's work. We thought she did a good job.

There is no question that the Gageton census found more people . . . people who possibly should not have been counted by the U. S. Census, but should be tabulated by the Village of Gageton for the purpose of tax funds distributed by the state. (After all, many other larger towns and cities are taking their own census, and we feel we did justice to our office in the village).

The Congress which set up the conditions for the U. S. Census did not in my opinion see the whole picture. I do not think the Federal count did justice to the distribution of tax monies. The U. S. Census will, about September, adjust their census upward. In the meantime, we had to know where we actually stood in the count.

Sincerely,
Joe Mosack
Village President, Gageton
