Gremel Goes from Xylophone To Parts Manufacturing

By Sandra LeFatz
Take the most admired qualities of popular television families, add a liberal dose of industriousness and determination and you'll have a mighty close resemblance to the Nelson Gremel family of Cass City.

Hard work has paid off for this enterprising quartet.

Gremel, his wife and two teenage children make parts for two local industries and a Flint firm.

The Gremels build dies and tools and make small parts, stamps and assemblies. Their main jobs come from contract work for Anrod and Walbro in Cass City and the Wright Co. in Flint.

They make many thousands of kinds of screen cylinder parts for Anrod, some in a single operation, others require two or more.

Often Mr. Gremel has to make the die of the part needed and then the parts are stamped out on a press.

They usually do work in small quantities, although last winter they made a million choke flies for carburetors for Walbro.

Sometimes they make as many as 100,000 of one kind of part.

The building contains many pieces of valuable equipment such as the automatic-feed press, which stamps out parts untravelling without the watchful eye of an operator. A coil of steel is pulled through the machine which presses out the part and drops it in a collecting box.

Mr. Gremel has four presses, two 10-ton, one five-ton and one two-ton. There is a vertical mill which machines parts of dies or cuts slats for keyways and a surface grinder for sharpening a die or flattening a stock (a rough piece of metal).

There are also a band saw, drill press, filing machine for profiles or dies which have irregular shapes, two small bench lathes, a large 16 inch lathe, a metal cutting hacksaw, a small shaper and hand tools of all kinds.

Working Family
Mrs. Gremel, the former Verne Seeking, is more than a helping hand in this operation. She is a full-time partner, who spends her day doing press work, assembling parts and working on the lathe.

"That's just my hobby," she said, motioning to the house.

Their children, Dennis, 14, a ninth grader at Cass City High School, and Judy, who is an honor student at Michigan State University, assist in this family business.

Dennis has become an efficient machinist in his own right, although he's not sure he wants it as his life's work. At the age of six Dennis was learning to walk, after a long bout with polio.

Today he is a healthy, husky teenage boy, who skillfully makes parts for industry as well as youthful gadgets such as rockets and the go-kart he rode in the homecoming parade.

Nineteen-year-old Judy is a sophomore at MSU where she is making a fine academic record. She is majoring in the social sciences and plans to earn a teaching certificate. She graduated from Cass City High School in 1959, the valedictorian of her class. Judy has taken over the home front while home for the summer. But she, too, can handle herself in the shop.

The story of how the Gremels got into the part-making business is as interesting as the business itself.

Xylophone Player
Mrs. Gremel credits their start to her husband's skill as a xylophone player in a German band. One of the fellows in the band told Gremel that he had such good co-ordination that he would probably do well as a machinist. So in 1944 the business got off to a start in the Gremels' new home in East Detroit.

"It wasn't completed at the time," Mrs. Gremel said. "And where most people would be finishing off their bathrooms with tubs, we set up a lathe in ours," she laughed.

"Anyone using the bathroom at night had to wipe the chips off his feet before getting back into bed," she reminisced.

At this time Gremel was working in a shop while he was building up his own at home.

In 1947 the family moved to Cass City and set up shop in the basement of the 10-room house Gremel was building on Doerr Rd. It took 12 years to finish their attractive four bedroom home.

"During that time we had sheet rock on the ceilings and bare 2 x 4's all around us," Gremel said.

They also kept chickens in the long coop on the property. Seven years ago, the chickens were moved out and the shop was moved in.

Expansion Planned
Now, the Gremels are planning to build a new plant which will make the work area more convenient.

He pleaded guilty before Justice Reva M. Little in Cass City Monday and was ordered to pay a $100 fine and costs of $8.25 or spend 30 days in jail.

It was the second offense for Hunt who was driving while his operator's license had been revoked.

He was taken to the Tuscola County Jail.

From the Editor's Corner

Our sympathy goes to Janet McConkey, who was awarded a once-in-a-lifetime trip to California by the American Institute of Cooperation this month and did not go.

Plans for a tour of California and her three-day visit at the University of California were scuttled when Janet was hospitalized with an acute case of appendicitis.

You may find the rules at the Hills and Dales General Hospital a little strange until you become adjusted to the routine.

We felt kind of silly when we went to the hospital to take a picture of the mother and first baby and were required to don one of the white smocks that doctors wear when operating.

Oran Hudson, administrator, says that all of the hospital rules concerning visiting and procedure will be strictly adhered to. He asks the cooperation of all hospital visitors. The rules are designed for better patient care and for an efficiently run hospital, Hudson explained.

We may get an argument, but our nomination for the roughest road in town is Hill Street in front of the hospital.

We saw some boys tossing a football around this week and Coach Mike Yedinak issued his first call for physicals... where has the summer gone?

Time to Register

Students in the junior and senior high school at Cass City who will be enrolling for the first time, and others who were not registered in the spring, are reminded that Aug. 22-31 has been set aside for this purpose, Arthur Holmberg, principal, announced.

Office hours during this period will be 9-12 and 1-4 daily except Saturday.

It is during this period that students who wish to change spring enrollments should come to the principal's office.

Accept Low Bid For School Bonds

Six offers were received for the purchase of $125,000 worth of school bonds for the addition to the elementary school when bids were opened and read Thursday night at Cass City High School.

The low bid was by McDonald, Moore and Co. of Detroit and they will pay interest of 3.6549. Other bids ranged upward to 4.0784 by First of Michigan Corporation of Detroit.

Other bids were: Kenower, McArthur and Co., 3.65648; Barkus Kindred Co. of Chicago, 3.748; Stranahan-Harris and Co. of Toledo, 3.71566, and Friday and Co. of Detroit, 3.961768.

Construction Bids

Next step in the process that precedes building is the awarding of the contracts for construction. These bids will be opened at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25.

Four proposals are open. They are: general construction; heating, ventilating and plumbing; electrical, and a combined bid for all of the work.

Transfer Property

School boards from Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties unanimously approved the transfer of the Keith Klinkman property from the Greenleaf School District to Cass City, at a meeting Tuesday night in Sandusky.

The piece of property is in district 2 Greenleaf township in Sanilac County.

As a result of the action, a Klinkman youngster will be coming to Cass City for kindergarten this year, according to William A. Scott, county superintendent of schools.

Injuries Avoided In Two-car Crash

No injuries were reported when cars driven by Mervyn Roy Hagen, 71, of Lansing and Harold Dickerson, 63, of Cass City collided Friday at 1:10 p.m.

State Police reported that Hagen attempted to pass Dickerson on the right as Dickerson was attempting to make a right turn.

Carrites Injured In Crossing Crash

Paul Schriber, 12, and Mrs. Rosetta Giddings and one-month-old twin daughters, all of Caro, are in Cass City Hospital as the result of a two-car crash at a county intersection Sunday afternoon.

Schriber received fractured ribs when he was thrown out of the car in which he was riding. Mrs. Giddings has a broken nose.

One of the twins was thrown from the Giddings car and picked up in a nearby field. However, neither Mary Elizabeth or Margaret Ann, born July 17, are seriously injured.

The accident happened at the intersection of the Remington and Akron roads about five miles northeast of Caro.

Twenty-four-year-old Alfred Giddings of Route 3, Caro, who was going north on Remington, said he stopped for the Akron Road intersection and started up when he didn't see anyone coming.

He collided with a car coming from the west, driven by James Edward Schriber of Route 1, Caro.

Occupants in the Giddings car were Mrs. Giddings, the twins, Charles Giddings, Mary Ann Yew, Raymond Yew, Julia Yew, and baby Yew.

Schriber said he was going east on the Akron Road about 15 m.p.h. and that he slowed down for the intersection. He said the Giddings car did not stop at the intersection.

Riding with Schriber were Paul Schriber and Jim Butcher.

Erla's slaughter at least 150 hogs and 50 cattle weekly. Livestock is purchased from stockyards at Bad Axe, Caro, Marlette and Sandusky and from area farmers.

The concern processes all of its meat products. Erla's make their own sausage products and smoke and cure hams, bacon and similar products.

The Erlas credit the area acceptance of their prices and policies for their success in Cass City and the Thumb.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

◀ "That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lugging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

Feathered Friend or Foe?

With a piercing glare and hunched back, this osprey struck a rather ominous pose for Conservation Department photographer Robert Harrington. Despite its hostile appearance, the osprey is considered harmless. His call is surprisingly meek, similar to the peep of a small chicken. He is found throughout the state during the summer but apparently not in large numbers. Since his diet consists solely of fish, the osprey or fish hawk, as he is appropriately called in America, is never found far from water. Unlike other birds of prey, the osprey uses only his trap-like feet for catching his victim.

Slate Bean Cook-off

Some of the best Michigan bean recipes will be on display at the Michigan Bean Festival at Fairgrove this year on Labor Day. These recipes are the result of a contest called "Michigan Bean Cook-Off", which is an outgrowth of the annual bean smorgasbord and county urban-rural get-together put on by the Gratiot Farm Bureau. So much interest was created by the many unusual and tasty food creations made out of beans that it was decided to try to expand it and make a statewide search for new, and better methods of utilizing beans in our diet.

You will see beans used as one of the main ingredients in cakes, doughnuts, candies, cookies, breads, pies, soups, bean dips and salads, according to Fred Bach of Akron, chairman of the Michigan Bean State Cook-Off Committee. There will also be just old-fashioned and plain baked beans.

The bean contest will be judged and scored on a basis of originality, eye appeal, texture and flavor. There will be four main classes. The class entitled "novelties" will be divided into three sub-classes. The contestants at Fairgrove will be winners of county elimination contests held in Saginaw, Gratiot, Bay and Tuscola. Each county is entitled to enter 13 dishes, three from each class and one at large. The winners to represent Tuscola county were picked at the Cass City Homecoming on August 4. Mrs. Foster Hickey and Mrs. Fred Black of Fairgrove conducted the Cass City Cook-Off, and are in charge of the Tuscola county entries and general display at the state contest.

The school of experience evidently sets up a new course every time it gives a diploma.

Attorney General's Office Watches Every Group Working for State

By Elmer E. White

The long arm of the Attorney General's office reaches out to put a finger on every single department, agency, board, commission, office or group working with or for the state.

Not even the Executive Office, which has general supervision over all state functions, has a greater hand in running Michigan.

It's because the Attorney General, and his battery of deputies and assistants, handles all legal matters for the myriad of activities in which the state involves itself.

Basically, there are 12 divisions in the Attorney General's department.

Some lawyers work exclusively with one agency or department which has litigation in state or federal courts regularly, or which engages in activities that require contracts or other legal documents to be drawn up all the time.

Examples of this would be the Highway Department, the Conservation Department and the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Other attorneys working for the state are on call to handle specific problems, make investigations, write opinions or handle legal research when the state becomes involved in legal problems.

The Attorney General is the chief law enforcement officer of the state.

He may also intervene in any lawsuit, civil or criminal, in which the people of the state are a party or interested. The Attorney General is also empowered to work with county prosecutors and may give them guidance or aid when necessary.

Law is the blueprint to guide all citizens and groups in building the future of the state.

The Attorney General is charged not only with enforcing and helping interpret existing law, but with helping make new laws that are workable and understandable.

He advises the Legislature and the Legislative Service Bureau in drawing up the prospective laws.

Though a part of the executive branch of government, the Attorney General's relationship with the legislative branch—and the judiciary—gives him a vested interest in every state activity.

His opinions, while not having the weight of a judicial decision, nevertheless guide the activities of groups and individuals alike.

And when he goes to court, the Attorney General might be representing the whole state of Michigan or just one of its citizens.

Even the age-old process of getting married is subject to change.

A new form of medical certificate for getting a marriage license went into effect last spring. The State Health Department has warned prospective brides and grooms to make sure they use the new form—or they might run into a hitch before they get to the altar.

The new form requires the name of the laboratory performing required blood tests, and the specific test that is used.

Unfortunately, a few doctors failed to make the change to the new form. And county clerks are forbidden to issue licenses until the name of the laboratory which performed the blood tests is checked against an eligibility list.

Frustrating delays or upsets could result from failing to make sure the proper form is used, the Health Department warns.

Forty-six short years ago, the last known Passenger Pigeon died in captivity.

Less than forty years before that, hundreds of men gained at least a part of their subsistence by trapping the wild and beautiful birds in Michigan and shipping them for eventual use as a table delicacy.

The birds were so numerous in the early days of Michigan history that Indians were said to have killed them with clubs, poles and oars when they were roosting in trees or flying low to the ground.

In 1876, the three largest breeding places of the Passenger Pigeon in Michigan were in Newaygo, Oceana and Grand Traverse counties.

Carloads of the birds, comprising billions of birds and thousands of tons, were shipped from the state.

Shortly, the beautiful "slate blue, chestnut, hazel, metallic gold and green, red, orange, black, white and bluish" birds were gone.

The lesson in conservation is obvious.

RADIATORS WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

One of the most frequent service problems in these hot summer months is overheating. The radiator is the usual cause and labor costs involved in flushing out a clogged radiator could have been avoided.

Our experience shows trouble starts when the motorist fails to get rid of last winter's anti-freeze, through neglect, or in thinking he is saving money by using it again.

Anti-freeze contains a variety of rust inhibitor chemicals, the most common being Borax. At the end of the winter season, all varieties lose most of their strength. Then layers of rust and corrosion pile up on the inside of the fine tubes through which the coolant circulates, reducing the flow, and thus its ability to cool the engine.

An engine subjected to high-speed driving on a blistering summer day needs maximum cooling, which it can't get from a clogged radiator. The remedy is to drain and flush the radiator, then fill with water to which fresh rust inhibitor has been added.

This labor cost and tie-up of the car could have been avoided by attending to this in your spring check-up, when it should have been done in the first place.

Wherever you are having your service work done now, have them drain and refill your radiator if they haven't already done it. It will have to be done in the fall anyway, and you could save yourself a service bill in the meantime.

CLEAN-UP!!!! The '60s, good as they are, must GO NOW to make room for the '61s in October. If you want the best transportation for the least cost, NOW is the time. Your used car will NEVER be worth as much again, and we're dealing HIGH.

Come in while stocks are complete. We think you'll be pleasantly surprised at how little it will cost you for a new Chevrolet or Oldsmobile.

Why there's no laundry like an ALL-ELECTRIC LAUNDRY gives you more time for the things you want to do

HOTTER WATER AND PLENTY OF IT. Only an electric water heater can regularly deliver 160° water without burning out. Really hot water goes farther and gets clothes cleaner. An electric water heater needs no fuel because there is no flame. That makes it the only water heater you can put any place you want. Next to your washer, for example, to eliminate a long, heat-wasting pipe run. Some electric water heaters fit under kitchen counters.

A WONDERFUL WORK-SAVING TEAM—YOUR WASHER AND DRYER. Make your automatic washer and dryer a matched pair—both electric. It takes an electric dryer to keep white clothes white; to preserve the sparkling new look in colored and patterned fabrics. Electric drying is so clean because there is no flame, no products of combustion.

ELECTRIC WATER HEATER, WASHER, DRYER—together these make a laundry center with no limitations. You're completely independent of weather and time when yours is an all-electric laundry.

Decker Couple Repeats Vows

Miss Doris Kathryn Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Matthews of Deford, and Gary Don Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones, also of Deford, repeated their marriage vows Saturday evening, August 6, in the Habbona Methodist church. Rev. Joseph Shaw officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of pure silk organza and Alencon lace fashioned with elbow length sleeves accented with tiny organza rosebuds. A portrait neckline outlined with Alencon lace and tiny seed pearls highlighted the fitted bodice. Lace appliques and Bianca type silk organza roses complimented her full floor-length skirt.

Her tiara of aurora borealis crystals secured a silk mist illusion fingertip veil and she carried an arrangement of white roses accented with ivy and lily-of-the-valley streamers.

Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., sister of the bride, served as matron of honor with bridesmaid, Miss Jean Martin, Cass City. They wore identical dresses of cotton blue nylon sheer featuring balloon sleeves, bateau necklines and full skirts. Matching picture hats and white gloves completed their attire and they carried cascading bouquets of white and blue baby mums, spider mums and ivy.

The bridegroom's cousins, Rosalie and Carolyn Jones, were flower girls. They wore dresses of white nylon organza over pale pink taffeta. Matching pink rosebud headpieces and short white gloves set off their outfits. They carried arrangements of pom pom mums with pink streamers.

Richard Jones, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. David Matthews Jr., twin brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Frederick Matthews, brother of the bride and Richard Wallace, Snover, seated guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Matthews chose a beige eyelet sheath with brown accessories. A corsage of bronze mums complemented her outfit. Mrs. Jones, mother of the bridegroom, wore a beige chiffon gown with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

The couple was honored at a reception at the Evergreen Township School auditorium where some 350 guests were entertained.

Before leaving for a northern honeymoon the bride changed to a navy embroidered linen sheath with white accessories.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Jones are residing at 6285 West Main St., Cass City.

Summer is the active season for snakes in Michigan and here are the ones you're most apt to see. If you shudder at the thought of meeting up with snakes, it may be your mind to know that Michigan has only one poisonous species—the Massasauga or swamp rattlesnake. And even this rattler, confined to the lower peninsula and Bois Blanc Island, is too small to inflict a fatal wound except, perhaps, to a small child. There is no authentic record of a person dying in this state from a bite of a native snake. Superstitions and myths have generated many false fears about snakes and clouded the generally beneficial role these reptiles play in the "balance of nature."

The Cass City school board voted Monday night to raise the salaries of Mr. C. E. Yedinak, director, and Mike Yedinak, coach, $300 a year.

Samuel Villarreal of Kingston lost control of his pickup truck Saturday afternoon and rammed into the Cass River bridge south of Cass City. He smashed into a girder on the right of the bridge, breaking it in three places. Mr. Villarreal was uninjured.

The wind storm Saturday night blew a portion of the roof off the Cass City Locker Plant and the rain swept in all day Sunday. Consequently the Erla family found a small skating rink in the locker plant when they arrived Monday morning.

Auten's won the regular season championship of the Caro Softball League Wednesday night by defeating the Cass City Lions 9-4.

High winds caused by hurricane Connie sank the 43-foot Cruiser, Anrod II, owned by Al Krueger.

Ten Years Ago

An estimated 4,000 persons attended the evening program of the Cass City Home-coming. First place in the amateur show went to Nancy DeLong, second to Barbara and Rochelle Bucktemkirch and third to Cecilia Brown.

Jack Gallagher's Aberdeen Angus steer won championship honors at the 4-H show at the home-coming.

Norwood Eastman has accepted the position of state director of the Junior Farm Bureau in Lansing.

Miss Florence Hillman will be graduated from Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing at Kalamazoo next week.

Barbara Howard plans to enroll at Michigan State College in September under a 4-H Club scholarship. Robert Mann has received the Regent's Alumni Scholarship for the University of Michigan and Roger Parrish will attend Kalamazoo College on a music scholarship.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Clark S. Bixby, the last G. A. R. veteran in Cass City and one of the youngest survivors of the Civil War in Michigan, celebrated his 85th birthday Aug. 13 as a dinner guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Striffler. Mr. Bixby stands over six feet tall and is unusually active for an octogenarian.

Among the features of the Cass City Home-coming planned for Aug. 29-30 are a free pavement dance, parade, races, horse pulling contest, baseball game and a wrestling match between Dr. H. T. Donahue, "Big Ten" champion for three years, and his brother, Jack Donahue, prominent member of Michigan State College wrestlers.

The Cass City Gun Club was recently organized with the following officers: president, Ed Baker; vice-president, A. N. Bigelow; and secretary-treasurer, Warren Wood.

From the standpoint of crop conditions as a whole, the Michigan outlook Aug. 1 this year was the best for that date since 1922.

Thirty-five Years Ago

The Cass City Oil and Gas Company has redecorated its service station in blue and white.

The livestock departments of the Cass City Fair, which opened Tuesday, show a remarkable increase in exhibits over previous fairs.

The Automobile Club of Northern Michigan and the board of county road commissioners of Tuscola have made an agreement whereby the county will purchase road signs for 40 points in the county, paying about $6 per sign, and the Automobile Club will erect and maintain the signs. The signs will tell the name of the next town and the distance.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Taylor and family escaped serious injury in an accident in Detroit Sunday when their car struck the rear of a large city bus. The car was only slightly damaged.

150 at Annual Field Crops Tour

The tenth annual Tuscola county field crops tour drew the interest of some 150 farmers and businessmen when they visited the various spots.

Wayne Adams, bean breeder from Michigan State University, pointed out some of the research work in bean breeding to meet the needs of growers now and in the years ahead. Efforts are under way to develop an improved strain of Michelite with more uniformity in ripening, etc. The tour group viewed possibly the largest single field (95 acres) of sugar beets in the county grown from monogerm seed.

Of considerable interest to the group are the research field experiments under way on the Henry and Stanley Lane farm of Fairgrove to show the effect of various rates of nitrogen application on beans.

Gathering at the Lane farm for lunch, furnished through the courtesy of the Tuscola county elevator companies, Dr. Ray Cook, head of the department of soil science at M.S.U., told of the need for constant effort on the part of farmers to build up and maintain soil residues. "This is one of the best tools a farmer has to conserve soil and maintain a healthy productive farm," said Dr. Cook.

Henry Lane told of how the farm had been in the family for 55 years and of his efforts to put into practice during those years improved methods of farming.

PERFORMANCE COUNTS

It's a proven fact that few people care what you think—it's what you accomplish that makes them sit up and take notice.

"Great" Lakes Fishing

Still-fishing for tasty yellow perch from a pier on Lake Michigan... tangling with scrappy smallmouth bass along rocky shores of northern Lake Michigan... stringing up a well-earned catch of walleyes from Saginaw Bay of Lake Huron. These are but a few of the many thrills annually enjoyed in Michigan's Great Lakes waters by thousands of sport fishermen. Figures from the Conservation Department's latest creel census show that since 1942 fishermen have caught more than twice as many fish per hour from these waters than from the state's inland lakes and streams. Residents of Michigan may fish in the Great Lakes and their connecting waters without a license.

FAMILY BUSINESS

venient. The building will either be put up on the present site if the chicken coop is moved away or built next to it. The new building will contain a large workroom and an office.

"Running this operation has been a family affair," said Gremel, which is true even though he's had some outside help. Any-one working for the Gremels doesn't feel like an outsider for long.

Twenty-one-year-old Don Smith of Cass City, who worked for them before going into the Navy in March, 1959, took part in their unusual coffee breaks, which always featured polka dancing.

"We don't do that any more since Don left," Mrs. Gremel said. "Somehow it wouldn't be as much fun." Don, who recently was married, is doing well in his study of electronics, the Gremels will proudly tell you.

Frank Englehart, now of Livonia, used to work for them, too. "In the winter, when we really get rushed, Lebeus Pomeroy, who farms near Cass City, helps us out," Gremel said.

The bookkeeping problems of their family business are also kept at home. Mr. Gremel does the ordering and gives the price quotations and Mrs. Gremel pays the bills.

"We had some hard times," Gremel admitted. "It takes a long while to get started." But it looks like all their efforts are beginning to pay off.

Truth eventually wins, but it is slow in asserting itself.

Agreement Sought On Drain with C&O

Drain Commissioner Freeland Sugden has filed a request with Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad officials to draw up an agreement on the crossing of its right-of-way and the Squaw Creek Inter-county Drain.

The drain is in section 33 Dayton township, half way between Mayville and Silverwood in this county.

Thursday Sugden and Walter Moeller of the State Department of Agriculture met with R. E. VanderKlepp, assistant division engineer of the C & O in Saginaw, to arrange the agreement. Not present because of a heart attack was Claude A. Stewart, commissioner of Lapeer County.

ANNEX TO REESE

The transaction involved some 42 Richville public school students which have been attending school in Frankenmuth, Reese and Vassar for the past year since the school was closed.

About 135 of Richville's school age children attend nearby parochial schools.

No Square Dances

There will be no regular square dances this season sponsored by the Cass City Square Dance Club, it was decided by the officers this week.

It was decided that one or two dances will be given by the club (Chuck Olsen's class) at a later date.

Face-fly New Pest For State's Cattle

The face-fly, a new animal pest in Michigan, is making many cattle miserable this summer. According to Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture, this relative of the common house fly works around the eyes, mouth and nostrils of cattle, and it is believed this fly carries the germs of pink eye in cattle.

It is similar in appearance though larger than the house fly. Males have a yellow abdomen with a black line down the center of the back. Females have a grayish-green abdomen.

Although shaded areas give some relief to both dairy and beef animals, chemical treatment does a better job.

Dairy cattle can be best treated when they come in for milking each day. At this time, brush or swab on the face a mixture of 6100 (.06) to 8100 (.08) per cent pyrethrin plus 1 per cent piperonyl butoxide and 410 (.4) per cent MKG repellent 326 in highly refined medicinal oil. Approved salves containing these same materials can be used.

Easiest treatment for beef cattle is the use of back-rubbers in shadeless areas of the pasture. Any one of the following materials placed on the back-rubbers every week will give control: 5 per cent DDT or 5 per cent toxaphene; or 5 per cent Methoxychlor plus 5 per cent Polypropylene glycol (crag fly repellent); or Tabatrex in accordance to manufacturer's directions.

No time limit is required before slaughter when Methoxychlor is used on beef. However, the use of DDT must be discontinued 30 days, and Toxaphene 28 days before slaughter.

Only back-rubbers can be used on beef animals, remarks Kebler, and none of the insecticides used on beef can be used on dairy cattle.

Deford-Kingston Cops League Title

Deford-Kingston annexed the regular season championship of the Cass City Church League with an undefeated 8-0 record to beat out second place Cass City Methodist, who were 6-1 for the season.

Monday's Games

Monday, Aug. 8, Grant Fraser hammered out an 18-7 decision over the Catholics while Church of Christ won easily from Decker, 12-2 in the nightcap.

Wednesday, Aug. 10, Grant Fraser won a forfeit from Cass City Presbyterians, who are winless for the season. The Methodists wrapped up second place in the league with a 9-8 decision over the Catholics.

Friday, the Cass City EUB nine had little trouble with basement dwelling Presbyterians as they recorded a 14-5 decision. Deford-Kingston took another close decision in the nightcap with an 8-6 nod over Argyle Union.

Saturday, Shabbona Methodists downed Gagetown in a slugfest, 15-12.

Sherman's Cop Regular Season League Crown

Mayville won only one game all season, but the victory decided the championship of the regular season Merchants' League. The tail-enders, 1-7 for the season, rose up to defeat Eria's 4-1.

Prior to the final games, Eria's and Sherman's were deadlocked for the championship with 6-2 records. When the restaurant nine topped Walbro, 6-1, they tucked away the title.

Tonight the league swings into play-off action. Walbro will meet Sherman's and Eria's again face Mayville. The games start at 7:30 p.m.

Slate First Bean Tour Since 1955

Tuscola county bean growers have a chance to get up-to-date on bean research at a field day scheduled for Thursday, August 25, near Saginaw.

Experimental plots on various phases of bean production will be open to visitors at the George Schemm farm on Wadsworth road, one mile east of U. S. 23 and one mile south of M-81.

Starting time is 1:15 p.m.

Research on both white (navy) beans and colored is included in the experimental plots. Tours are scheduled to show work on bean breeding and variety testing; bean diseases, weed control, levels of nitrogen fertilization, systemic insecticides and seed quality. The new Seaway bean will be one of the varieties in the plots.

Research workers from the Michigan State University departments of farm crops, botany and plant pathology, soil science and entomology will be on hand to discuss the research work.

This is the first bean field day since 1955, pointed out Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

As I am visiting the rural homes this month, I find most homemakers are busy freezing fresh produce for their families' winter use.

I would like to talk a bit about blanching of vegetables for freezing.

One pound of food to one gallon of boiling water is a general guide when you are blanching vegetables for the freezer. With these quantities, the water usually keeps boiling when the food is dipped, and timing can begin immediately.

Most vegetables, such as green beans, lima beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, sweet corn, peas and greens should be blanched before they are frozen. I find that some homemakers like to skip this step, but they pay with lower quality products.

Blanching inactivates enzymes which cause changes in color, flavor and texture during storage. Laboratory tests show that frozen, unblanched vegetables can change in flavor within two weeks.

Time for blanching varies with different foods. It takes one and a half minutes to blanch peas, and eight to ten minutes to blanch corn on the cob. Small lima beans need only two minutes in the boiling water dip, but large lima beans require four minutes.

Quick blanching should be followed by quick cooling. Use ice water or cold running water to cool the food as fast as it was scalded. If you are not sure when the food is cold, bite into a piece.

I highly recommend that you handle small quantities of the vegetables at a time so that scalding, cooling, packaging and freezing can be done quickly and with little loss of food quality.

Consider Summer Alfalfa Seeding

Alfalfa seedings made this summer after wheat is cut can be very successful, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Farmers might be wise to consider such a move. Alfalfa acreage is below normal in Michigan because of heavy winter-killing last year and because of a small planting in oats this spring due to the wet weather, states Leyton Nelson, Michigan State University crops specialist.

Alfalfa can be seeded as soon as wheat is cut, the straw removed and the ground worked up with enough moisture available.

Summer seeding gives good weed control, no time is lost and consistently better yields result than from spring seedings.

For farmers planning an August seeding, Ballweg recommends good tillage for weed control. Farmers should have their soil tested and plan to use about 8 pounds of alfalfa per acre.

For long-term stands Vernal is the best variety due to its wilt resistance and winter-hardiness.

Two to four pounds of bromegrass should be included in the planting. The mixture should be hand-seeded and the ground cultivated both before and after seeding as a firm seed bed is very important in summer seeding.

About one bushel per acre of oats can be mixed in. Oats will protect the alfalfa from wind damage, Ballweg points out, and it may be possible to pasture the oats yet this fall.

Since summer seeding is increasing in the state, farmers who plan to use it this year should tell their seed dealers now so they will have an ample supply of seed on hand.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The session at the country store Saturday night was what the "crowning event" of the season. Zeke Grubb got things off on a high level when he brought up a item he saw in the papers about the experts in Washington now claiming installment buying was getting out of hand.

According to Zeke, the piece said as soon as the Congress got back in session they were going to advocate putting curbs on credit buying. Clem Webster figured this would make it as hard to get in debt as to get out, sorter even things up. The fellers was all agreed that when you can't go forwards and you can't go backwards you're holding your own and that this was pretty good for times like these.

Ed Doolittle allowed as how, with them Congressmen all at home, it was a mighty good time to size up the situation in the country. Ed says you can't size up nothing with them fellers all in Washington yapping at the same time.

But one feller said that afore you can size up the situation in the country you've got to figure it from two angles. First, you've got to see how things is going in Georgia, and then the rest of the country. He claims that in Georgia judges is shooting lawyers and the present administration is accusing the last one of selling liquor and stealing the brass door knobs off'n the Capitol privy. In short, things is bad in Georgia but gitting better.

Bug Hookum was lamenting that the rest of the country is at the cross-roads, with its back to the wall and its neck in the noose, the missile bomb hanging over our head and the tide is running out. Bug is a strong believer in calamity, Mister Editor.

But taking the country as a whole, the fellers was all pretty optimistic about the future. Most of us got that bulletin last week from the U. S. Department of Agriculture showing how a couple with four school children could have good, nourishing meals for $38 a week. It didn't say nothing about clothes, medical care, taxes and things like that, but I reckon they wouldn't cost more'n another $50. If we can get the $38 a week we can hold body and soul together for a spell longer. Incidentally, Mister Editor, if I was you I'd write the U. S. Department of Agriculture and get that bulletin and also get on their regular mailing list. They cover everthing from elephants to the family budget, for free.

The session adjourned on the happy note that them Russians may be a little ahead of us in the missile race but they ain't learned yet how to put out that pritty red and white striped toothpaste.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Dear Mister Editor:

I ain't got much work done the last few weeks on account of keeping up with them political conventions. With everybody living off'n the Government these days, figuring out who's going to run it for the next four years and figuring out where your next meal is coming from is gitting to be about one and the same.

The boys at the country store was divided on the results of both conventions. Some thought they picked 'em right and some said they got the wrong man. Bug Hookum was lamenting that both choices was bad but, like I told you once before, Bug is a great feller to lament about everthing. He ain't never voted in his life and sets around all day smoking nickel cigars and lets his old lady do all the work while he cusses the Government and low-rates his kinkfoks. My old lady says the only difference between me and Bug is that I vote.

As a matter of fact, Mister Editor, me and Bug differs in several ways. I smoke three-fer-a-nickel cigars and do all my low-rating on my wife's kinkfoks. She traces her ancestor clear back to Adam and Moses so that gives me a pritty good range to work on.

Gitting back to the conventions, I was doing pritty good at sizing up the results until I got to listening to them high priced commentators that explains everthing. Now I ain't shore about nothing. I think the system they had when I was a boy was much better'n the one they got now.

In them days Grandpa brug home the news from town and Grandma diagnosed it fer the whole family. And she usually figured it out about right. Now we got "commentaters" and when they git through we don't know from nothing.

For instant, both platforms has the regular plank about balancing the budget, but one of them commentaters explained that the Secretary of the Treasury always considers this plank in the "abstract only." I reckon that means he ain't much concerned with paying as we go. Well, I always figger that when money matters is concerned, a pore man ought to sorter take his cue from the rich, so who am I to say the Secretary of the Treasury is wrong? Them that I owe please take note.

And to wind up the political situation for this week, I see a piece in the papers saying that one out of ever 9 Government employees is injured each year. I'll bet half of 'em gits sprained ankles from letting their foot slip off the desk while they're sleeping.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Wandering With Warren

All We Want Are The Facts Ma'am

By Ilene Warren

John Greenleaf Whittier wrote, "We search the world for truth." It is likely that each one of us has been taught from childhood the naughtiness and risk of lying, or fibbing, and the safety and honor of telling the truth. But this is not the Truth about which I'm writing this week.

Do you read the letters to the editors in magazines and newspapers? I enjoy reading them very much - but did one ever find more contradictory ideas so often expressed? For instance: One letter states that John Kennedy will make a fine president because he is comparatively young and gives cogent reasons - the next letter says that John Kennedy is too young and elucidates as to why this makes him a poor presidential candidate. And so on in all other aspects. So how does one find the truth?

Perhaps I should use Joe Friday's expression: "All we want are the facts, Ma'am." Facts are concrete truths. There are those elusive truths that cannot be circumscribed by facts (wasn't it Keats who wrote "Beauty is truth, truth beauty, that is all... ye need to know"?). However, right now I'm thinking about factual truths. Particularly at this time with the presidential campaigns under way. We shall hear so many conflicting statements in the next weeks. Surely beneath the rubble of rumor and rhetoric we shall be able to find Truth. And this is important. The matter of this presidential election is not to be taken lightly. Much depends upon future decisions. We live in an uneasy world and we need, as Whittier wrote, "to search... for truth."

Summer is swiftly passing. The annual fairs are with us again. It has been a long time since we attended a fair. I think the last one was the State Fair in about '51 or '52. However, my memories of past fairs are warm ones. Perhaps each one can recall a special happening at some fair. Come to think of it, it was fifteen years ago this month that I met my future husband at the Sanilac County 4-H Fair... thanks to my cousin Jim.

Have you ever wondered where jokes originate? Sometimes I believe they come from actual happenings. For instance, this story was told to me quite a few years ago about one of my friends. It happened when she was a little girl. The preaching hour in the church came first so that the Sunday school session ended just prior to noon. The teacher of the

NEW TRACTORS

COMING!

Yes, the rumors are true that John Deere will soon be announcing a new line of tractors. We'll be previewing them at "Deere Day in Dallas" August 30. What's more, we've been told that these new tractors represent an amazing leap forward in power farming—an advance so progressive that it sets an all-new high in tractor performance, ease of handling, and operator comfort. Watch for our announcement date when we return from Dallas. We are looking forward to showing you firsthand what these tractors are going to mean to you in greater production, lower labor costs, and more leisure time.

THIS CERTIFICATE
Assurance
Quality

Next time you're in town, ask us to show you our Check-R-Mix Certificate of Accuracy.

It means a lot to us but it also means a lot to you, because that certificate is your assurance that the Check-R-Mix rations we make for you from your grain and Purina Concentrates are mixed RIGHT.

Proper mixing assures you of correct blending of Concentrate and grain, providing the RIGHT amount of each ingredient in every bite or beakful your animals or birds eat. This helps you get uniform growth and avoid waste.

Accurate mixing also helps us follow the research-backed Check-R-Mixing formulas Purina provides... making it possible for us to build efficient, low-cost livestock and poultry rations from your grain.

We couldn't buy our Certificate of Accuracy. Purina checked the work we do in their own laboratories... then awarded us our certificate on a basis of what they found.

We're glad we passed the test, for now we know we can provide the kind of rations which will help you feed your grain efficiently, getting the kind of results from your livestock and poultry that help you make good profits.

BRING IN YOUR GRAIN

Our Purina-approved Check-R-Mix equipment is designed to handle your grinding and mixing needs speedily and well. Ask us about the many grain handling services we can perform.
