Elkland Township To Nominate by Primary System

Following a trend in Tuscola county, the Elkland Township Board adopted a resolution at its regular meeting placing the township on the primary system of nomination of township officers.

The primary will replace the caucus that has served for many years as the method of nomination.

Supervisor Edward Golding said that the new system calls for petitions to be submitted to the county clerk no later than Jan. 2, 1961, for the following spring election.

Stars Install New Officers Thursday

Mrs. Gilbert Albee, past matron of Echo chapter OES, presided over the opening ceremonies Thursday evening at a special meeting held to install a new corps of officers for the coming year.

Potted gold and purple chrysanthemums decorated the chapter room. Some 110 guests were registered.

The new worthy matron, Mrs. Basil Wotton, was escorted to the East by her grandson, Gary Tracy, between rows of Job's daughters and DeMolay boys and officers of Echo chapter. Officers presented her with a bouquet of yellow roses and her granddaughter, Teresa Tracy, presented her with a gavel, the gift of her family. Carol Tracy escorted Worthy Patron Basil Wotton to the East through the same formation and he later was presented by Rev. Robert Searls with a Bible from his family.

At the close of the ceremonies, the benediction was given by Rev. Searls and a poem written by Mrs. Stanley Morell was read by Mrs. Morell.

The table in the dining room was beautifully arranged with a centerpiece of yellow and purple chrysanthemums flanked by tall yellow tapers. Mrs. A. N. Bigelow and Mrs. Don Lorentzen poured when ice cream, assorted cakes, tea and coffee were served by Mrs. Willard Dobbs and her committee of Mrs. R. D. Keating, Mrs. Lester Evans, Mrs. Joseph Sommers, Mrs. LeB Pomeroy and Mrs. Almer Krueger.

More than 40 were served a dinner in the Methodist church preceding the installation.

Willis Campbell, chairman of the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest drive, said this week that only $2,500 of the goal of $7,000 has been collected this year.

A total of 29 of the 57 solicitors had turned in envelopes through Tuesday. "I believe that many of the volunteer solicitors are waiting to complete their canvass before reporting", Mr. Campbell said.

Solicitors are averaging about $80 each, not enough to reach the goal.

The Elkland-Novesta Chest has never failed to reach its goal in past years, Mr. Campbell said, but a concentrated effort is needed to put us over the top for 1960.

The drive chairman said that it may be necessary to revisit some donors in an attempt to increase the size of donations.

The quota for 1960 has not been increased and is the same as it was last year.

The drive chairman reminded residents that the Community Chest is one-drive-for-all and the gift goes to help all recognized charities that have been approved by the Community Chest.

Russians Like Americans Says A. D. McIntyre

"The Russian people like Americans", A. D. McIntyre of Saginaw, formerly of Cass City, told members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mr. McIntyre made this statement as he informally discussed life as he found it in the Soviet Union on a recent 23-day tour of the country.

It's the ambition of most of the Russians to visit America, he said, and they have a genuinely friendly feeling towards all Americans. They do not feel the same about other nationalities. German and English rank high on their list of disliked people.

Mr. McIntyre said that Russia is a nation of contrasts. Some of the planes were ultra new and others old and worn... the trains in the country fitted the same categories.

Farming is 25 years behind the United States... the Russians raised excellent wheat, but corn is short and stubby, the guest speaker said.

The Russians showed an intense interest in American clothes and customs. The McIntyres were besieged by questions about the clothes they were wearing and how much the clothing cost.

Clothing in Russia is expensive. Mr. McIntyre priced a cotton shirt with a fancy design on the front, thinking that perhaps he would take several home with him for friends. He found that they were priced at $35 each.

Thirty-five dollars is much more to a Russian than it is to a citizen of the United States. Average wage of a farmer is $40 a month; the manager of a large store receives about $80 a month.

There are two types of farms in Russia, the state-owned collective and the collective of individually owned farms.

Never a Profit

Farmers in the individually owned collective theoretically own their land. Mr. McIntyre said that one of these farmers told him that they were allowed to keep any profit from the farm, but that there had never been any. All of the produce of the farm is sold to the state, the only customer in Russia, which sets the prices the farmers receive.

Russia is taking giant strides in machinery production and education. Their theater is truly exceptional... and cheap to attend.

Most other types of manufactured items are purchased from other countries, Mr. McIntyre observed, and persons planning a trip to Russia would be well advised to take along a plumber and an electrician to keep utilities operating at even the best hotels, he concluded.

From the Editor's Corner

We can't vouch for its authenticity, but the story is going around that the Frankenthumb football team has been girding for next week's game.

The way we hear it is that they have a calendar with so many days left until they play Cass City and have had it since the first of the football season. Each day the number of days changes to remind the players that the big game is drawing nearer. They should be ready.

For the first time that we can recall, a major labor figure will speak in the Thumb. Walter Reuther will speak at the Harbor Beach Community Theater Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 p.m.

His appearance, open to the public, is a sign of the times and reflects the increasing industrialization of the entire Thumb area.

Frankenthumb is a very unusual town. Besides chicken dinners and good football teams they have several unusual businesses. There is a meat market that features all types of sausages, not readily found everywhere, a home grown (Geyer) beer manufacturer and Bronner Advertising Co.

All of these businesses draw much of their business from outside of their own community.

We visited Bronner's last Saturday and were impressed with their display of items for Christmas. A brief chat with the owner, Wally Bronner, revealed that he has as complete a display of Christmas items as can be found anywhere and for this reason draws business from many different towns in the Midwest, including Cass City.

We have just received a complimentary copy of Farmer's Almanac which has now been published for the 169th continuous year.

At 35c a copy, we wonder how they ever sell it.

Rash of Minor Accidents in Area

Several area persons were involved in minor accidents during the week.

Wednesday, Oct. 19, Mrs. Alice F. Donahue of Cass City made a left turn and collided with an oncoming car driven by Beatrice Soper of Bad Axe. The accident occurred at the corner of Huron avenue and Scott street in Bad Axe.

After the initial impact, the Soper vehicle veered into a parked car near the scene of the accident.

Mrs. A. Krueger, 50, and Mrs. Oran Hudson, 40, suffered minor cuts and bruises. Damage to the truck driven by Mrs. Donahue was set at about $300 and to the Soper car at $350.

Ewald Accident

State Police of Bad Axe said that failure to signal a left turn caused an accident Friday on M-81. A truck driven by Leland G. Ewald, 34, of Cass City turned left onto Cass City road as a car driven by Richard F. Lynch, 23, of Bad Axe attempted to pass. Neither driver was injured.

Loose Control

Mrs. Donald M. Ritzler, 26, of Gagetown, driving on Hobart road, four miles west of Gagetown at 3 a.m. Sunday, lost control of her car in the mud and crashed into a utility pole, snapping it off at the ground.

Her husband, a passenger in the car, was treated for injuries.

Both Ticketed

Both drivers were ticketed in a two-car accident Thursday. A car driven by James H. Blaylock, 23, of Gagetown was crashed in the rear by a car driven by Florence J. Stanton, 34, of Inkster. The crash occurred 200 yards south of the Deckerville road and M-53 intersection.

Mr. Blaylock was backing his car to the Deckerville road intersection when the crash occurred. He was charged with reckless driving and the Inkster driver was ticketed for a speed law violation.

Tyo Accident

Mrs. Forest Tyo lost control of her car Wednesday, Oct. 19, while on her way to work at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

She lost control of her car on South Seeger Street as she tried to miss hitting a dog. The car went over an embankment near Dearing's store. Mrs. Tyo sustained a badly injured right ankle and was admitted at the hospital as a patient instead of an employee. The ankle is in a cast.

Waite Accident

Jerry Waite of Cass City escaped injury when he lost control of his car on Warner road, a mile west of Cass City, Saturday. The car was badly damaged as it slipped into a roadside ditch and rolled over.

Jack Gallagher Loses Hand in Corn Picker

Jack Gallagher of Cass City lost his left hand Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock when it was mangled in a corn picker as he was working on his farm, a mile west and a mile and a half north of Cass City.

Mr. Gallagher was working about 40 rods from his home when the accident occurred. He hollered and was heard by his wife at the house who assisted him to the hospital.

The hand was amputated Tuesday night by Dr. H. T. Donahue at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Wednesday morning he was reported to be in good spirits and recovering from the accident.

Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallagher of Cass City.

O'Hara in Tuscola County Tour, Speech

Congressman James G. O'Hara made a political tour through Tuscola County Saturday with a caravan of county Democrats.

Karrs Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Karr celebrated their golden wedding at their home Wednesday, Oct. 19, with a dinner served by their daughter, Mrs. Harold Huffman.

Mr. Karr and Maude E. Ottaway were married Oct. 19, 1910, by the Rev. W. Weaver of the Cass City Methodist Church. They were attended by the late Roy Ottaway, brother of Mrs. Karr, and his wife, the former Belle Rogers, now Mrs. Clint Bordin of Azalia, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Karr have one daughter, Mrs. Huffman of North Branch, and three grandchildren, Carol, Phyllis and Gayle.

The Karrs have spent the greater part of their married life on the farm of Mr. Karr's father where they now live.

Fire Razes Barn And Contents Near Gagetown

A barn and contents near Gagetown were completely destroyed by fire Thursday. The farm is owned by Arthur Freeman and is farmed by Earl Rayl. Lost were a hay baler, elevator and a quantity of beans, oats and hay.

The Gagetown Fire Department kept the fire from spreading, but was unable to save the building as the fire was fanned by a strong wind.

The loss was partially covered by insurance. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

In Town Bus Pick-up OK

School buses will again pick up students living within the village limits who live about a mile or more from the school, it was decided Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Village Council at the Municipal Building.

The action was taken on the request of Dr. D. E. Rawson and Bill Ruhl, school board members, who appeared before the council.

The board members were asking for the approval after they were besieged by some 50 parents at their last regular meeting asking for the service.

The council told the representatives of the board that they wanted to be sure that the buses would not be making indiscriminate stops throughout the village and create a traffic hazard.

Dr. Rawson and Mr. Ruhl agreed to these requests and the ordinance when adopted will designate these locations for pick up of students: corner of Brooker and Pine; West and Sixth; Maple, just off Garfield, and Pine and Woodland.

The sites were selected to have service in all four corners of the village and yet be off high volume traffic roads such as Main, Seeger and Garfield.

Before the service can begin, four signs posted at the entrances to the village telling of the bus service must be erected.

The entire procedure was made necessary to comply with the law and have the insurance carried by the school cover the students picked up.

Buy Police Car

The council okayed the purchase of a new village police car. Following the rotation system used by the village, a Ford was purchased at a cost of $1650 plus the old police car. The new car is equipped with several optional features and is tax exempt.

Deny Plat

The final plat of Smith's subdivision between Sherman and Ale and Third, south to the village limits, was denied until roads, drainage and sewer arrangements have been completed.

Other Business

The council aired a complaint of persons living just outside of the village on North Seeger about lack of water pressure. No action was taken.

President C. R. Hunt and Village Engineer William Schram will check with authorities to see if a warning system can be attached to the system at the Hills and Dales General Hospital to notify the village when the water pressure is going down.

It is hoped that an arrangement of this kind will enable the village to spot trouble with the water supply before it runs dry.

The council also decided to ask for work on the sewage waste from Eria's Packing Co. and will discuss water and sewer rates with bulk water users such as Wesley Creamery and Tusco Products.

Presbyterian Men To Meet in Village

Jesse Bacalis of Detroit, president of Michigan Presbyterian Men, will speak. His topic will be "Our Faith - How We Share It." An estimated 100 men are expected at the meeting.

Ralph Gauer Speaks

"You, Your School and Taxes" was the topic for the lesson presented by Mrs. Ralph Gauer and Mrs. Otto Goertzen at the regular meeting of the Cass City Home Demonstration Group Monday at Bush's Restaurant.

Guest speaker for the evening was Ralph Gauer who discussed the lesson topic of the day.

In the business meeting, plans were completed to attend a Christmas open house at Gilford Hall, Nov. 18.

Mrs. Robert Searls was a guest.

Angle Parking Stays

Angle parking will remain on Main Street and the streets will be painted this fall, it was decided by members of the Village Council, Tuesday evening at the Municipal Building.

Parking will remain at the same angle as it was the last time the street was painted.

One change has been authorized by trustees. When the street is painted double lines forming a walkway of some 30 inches between spaces will be made.

The new system will not take any additional parking space and the size of the parking stall and the number of cars parked will remain exactly the same as it previously was.

The new system of marking the stalls is to prevent cars from driving too close to each side of the yellow line and making it difficult to get in and out of cars.

Enforce Parking

The council also will move for more strict enforcement of the hour parking limit as soon as the street is marked.

FELLOW CITIZEN

PLEASE CONSIDER THESE TWO POINTS

1. Proposal No. 2 (permits the legislature to raise the sales tax to 4 per cent). This money is needed to retire the deficit and cover the costs of the increasing population and enrollment in our schools, colleges and state institutions.

The machinery for the collection of this tax is already set up. It will not require the hiring of one additional employee nor the spending of one additional dollar to collect this tax.
Let me urge you to vote YES on No. 2.

2. The Republican Convention nominated James R. Breakey as our candidate for the Supreme Court. This name will appear on the non-partisan ballot. Good Republicans and other thoughtful citizens should remember the name Breakey and return the Supreme Court to the people.

The Corvair 95 panel (Corvan) offers 191 cu. ft. of the most accessible load space you ever saw. Think of up to 1,900 pounds of whatever you haul riding on a highly maneuverable, light handling 95-inch wheel-base. That'll give you an idea of Corvair 95 efficiency. This is a beauty. Has 4-wheel independent suspension. An integral body-frame build. Exceptional comfort and visibility. And a thrifty air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or antifreeze or radiator repairs. You've never seen trucks like these before!

Publications Fill Great Need For Communities They Serve

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Special weeks are a dime a dozen so it comes as no surprise that Michigan newspapers don't tout very hard during National Newspaper Week, which started this year October 15. And newspaper people would be surprised to see much new evidence this week (or any other) of appreciation for the important part a newspaper plays in a community or for the increasingly difficult economic problems faced by those who work with newspapers.

Michigan Press Association lists 352 members, virtually all the newspapers of the state. It includes all 56 dailies and 297 weeklies. There are perhaps 20 additional weeklies in Michigan which are not members.

Combined circulation of MPA members as computed last October when official figures must be filed with the post office was 3,202,125. Of this total, 2,384,862 are published by dailies; 817,263 by the state's weeklies.

A new daily will be born in the state Oct. 31. It will be called the Huron Shore News-Press and will be published in East Tawas by K. Berkeley and J. Berkeley Smith, a father and son combination. The elder Smith started a weekly in East Tawas in 1940 and bought the Oscoda Press in 1946. The daily will combine the two.

Newest weekly on MPA records is the Portage Herald near Kalamazoo. Len Colby, publisher, is a former radio-TV man who started the newspaper about two years ago. It is now a going concern with a circulation just above 6,500.

A newspaper's value to a community is seldom realized until it becomes unavailable. Anyone who has been through a newspaper strike or in a community where the newspaper ceases publication can understand this. The "you never miss the water 'til the well runs dry" aspect of newspapers is a source for concern to publishers.

Since a newspaper acts as a nucleus for a community, merchants believe it important to have one in their area, though they do not always support it as they should by using its advertising columns. Readers are both producers and consumers of newspapers. Without them to make the news, there would be no need to produce a newspaper. And people tend to "look at the hole instead of the doughnut."

when considering their home town newspaper by comparing it with a publication from a much bigger city.

Next time you look at a newspaper, be it little or big, keep in mind that publications like this fill a great need in the nation; that few voters could react intelligently without them; that the community, national and commercial information they bring to you is important!

Michigan can continue to guarantee the loans floated by school districts—a system which schoolmen say has worked out well so far—if voters adopt the constitutional amendment which will be proposal number one on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Present provisions similar to the proposition up for approval are due to run out in 1962.

It enough voters say "yes" on election day, the state could stand behind the school districts in their borrowing for another 10 years. Some changes, most of them relatively minor, in the state's role in this phase of borrowing would also be made.

As the law and constitution stand now, the state can borrow up to $100 million to help school districts in trouble make payments on bond issues, according to Harold R. Brown, of the Department of Public Instruction.

This limitation would be removed under the proposed new setup, he said.

The Legislature, as under the present system, would have the power to prescribe the conditions of the loans made by the state, subject to constitutional limitations on the lawmakers.

Brown said the main purpose of the proposal on the ballot was to have the state guarantee the loans.

But the school districts might get a slightly better interest rate from the fact that the state is behind the bond issues. Brown said some school people think present bond issues should have been able to get a better interest rate anyway.

The proposed law would also allow school districts to float bond issues for shorter periods than required under existing rules.

Only 25 to 30 year bonds can be guaranteed by the state under existing conditions, but bond issues to be paid off in 15 or 20 years or even shorter periods would be eligible for the state backing under the proposal on the ballot.

Michigan's Driver Education program received a double honor recently from the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Seven other states received the annual achievement award along with Michigan. But a special award for providing driver education in the state's public schools for non-public school students went uniquely to Michigan.

The other states which won the achievement award were Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, North Carolina and Utah.

HAVE YOU HEARD . . .
Down in Arizona the highways have a straight line down the center as everywhere else, but it becomes a wavy white line as it approaches traffic signs or dangerous intersections.

Traffic researchers have found that self-preservation is a greater force in causing motorists to obey certain regulations, and this idea is directed at that instinct. Year-old tests prove it's effective. I wouldn't be surprised if the idea spreads.

They must have got that song title "Poor People of Paris" from the traffic congestion there. In 1900 there were 45,000 cars and trucks operating on Paris' 600 miles of streets. Today there are 2,000,000 vehicles, but still only 600 miles of streets. On top of that, only 486,000 cars have parking spaces in garages and on lots. The rest have to park on the streets. And we're complaining?

A few car dealers who gave our industry a bad name for wild advertising aren't the only ones. A deep freeze manufacturer sent out direct mail ads in which he stated that food savings would pay for the appliances he was selling. A West Coast housewife wrote back as follows: I'm sorry we can't accept your offer at present as we are now paying for our washing machine on what we're saving on laundry bills; we're paying for our car on what we're saving on bus fares; and we're paying for our TV on what we're saving on movies. We just can't afford to save any more at the moment."

"Fruits" of Forests in Michigan

Pictured above are but a few of the more than 5,000 articles turned out from forests in Michigan which will be spotlighted October 16-22 during National Forest Products Week. Behind Michigan's forest products is a vast industry employing some 65,000 men and women full time with a payroll totaling over $309,000,000. Michigan leads the Lake states in pulpwood production and ranks seventh nation-wide in paper and paperboard output. It is the largest producer of wood for chemicals, their allied products, and charcoal among the Lake states (lower left). It has placed sixth or better since 1940 in maple syrup and sugar production.

Ask Yourself
These Questions

IF YOU ARE approached by an unknown company offering a "bargain" on a new roof for your home, or an insulation, siding, painting or repair job, ask yourself these important questions.

1. Do I know anything about the salesman or his company?
2. Have I asked the salesman or his company for references?
3. Have I reason to believe that the company will be in existence and financially able to fulfill its guarantees five or ten years from now?
4. Have I obtained a price on this job on exactly the same specifications from my own dealer?
5. Does the company provide liability and compensation insurance to protect me in case of an accident?
6. Do I know the brand and grade or quality of material I am getting?
7. In the event I pay for the job on an installment basis, do I know what finance company will have my note?

If the answer to any of these questions is "no"—be careful. Watch out for misrepresentation and watch out for "tricky" contracts. Play safe. Before you purchase material or enter into a contract with an unknown firm, consult your Lumber and Building Material Dealer who is Reliable and Responsible. Your Purina Mill is Within FRESH-FEED distance

Here's YOUR Purina mill at Bloomington, Ill., only a few hours from your farm.

One of the reasons we handle Purina Chows and Concentrates is the modern Purina mill pictured above. It's within "fresh feed distance"... something that's more important than a lot of folks realize.

Feeds are perishable. Not only are fresh feeds more palatable to birds and livestock... they're more nutritious. Many nutrients included at point of manufacture often lose strength in storage.

Our shipping mill is only a few hours from us... and from you. That means we can deliver your Purina Chows while they're fresh and good. When we mix Check-R-Mix rations from your grain, the Purina Concentrates we use are at proper strength... and this helps you produce meat, milk and eggs at peak efficiency and lowest cost.

Treat your poultry and livestock to fresh feeds and they'll thank you with better production.

BRING IN YOUR GRAIN

Our Purina-approved Check-R-Mix equipment is designed to handle your grinding and mixing needs speedily and well. Ask us about the many grain handling services we can perform.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I've saw several items in the papers here lately that's got me worried and mighty uneasy. A feller named Joseph Campobasso that's a member of the State Board for licensing barbers in Massachusetts has warned the folks in that state that it's $100 fine or 90 days in jail for a mother to cut her kid's hair on re-count of her not having a license.

Then a feller in Washington that had spent $600 on his new car in the first 90 days painted a big lemon on the car. The dealer went to court and the Judge made the feller take it off.

In Georgia the Attorney General has ruled that a feller don't have to have a fishing license to fish in his own pond, but the piece said it was expected that the Georgia Supreme Court would overrule the Attorney General in the matter.

It looks like to me, Mister Editor, that in a few more years a feller won't have no personal liberty in this country. It's agin the idea of modern Government for a man to do anything anymore without some sort of tax on it. The next step is to make a feller git a license to dig fish bait, to catch fish in his own pond, and I predict he'll finally have to git a license to cook his own fish in his own skillet.

We was talking about this matter at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle allowed as how the only way a feller could keep from running afoul of all the rules, regulations and taxes was to stay in bed all day. And Zeke Grubb said if he kept this up long enough they'll put a tax on sleeping more'n six hours.

It's gitting a heap later than we think in this business of perfecting our personal freedom. For instant, I'll bet ole Thomas Jefferson and George Washington never had a haircut except at home, and I was 16 year old afore I ever saw inside a barber shop.

I blame a heap of this stuff on the legal profession. About three-fourths of all our lawmakers is lawyers and they go in strong fer more laws and the more complicated they make 'em the better they like 'em. I was reading not long ago where a jury setting on a case in Boston, after hearing the lawyers argue fer four hours, and after being in deliberation six hours, sent out and asked the Judge who the defendant in the case was. The first time you can git around to it, Mister Editor, I think it would be a public service fer you to write a editorial on the subject.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

A man may hold the key to the situation but he sometimes lacks the ambition to see it through.

Law Enforcement Aides for Deer Seasons

Conservation Department fisheries and game men, foresters, and parks rangers will join ranks with conservation officers early in November to bolster game law enforcement in northern Michigan before and during this year's deer hunting seasons. These "plain clothes deputies" will accompany officers on patrol and generally assist them in communications, checking "any deer" permittees and their kill (above, center), and other duties. Cooks, maintenance men, and others will ease the officers' normal work load and help to step up actual law enforcement by registering hunters at field offices, searching for lost hunters, delivering messages, and recovering illegal kill. Next month's shift in manpower will double the Department's regular conservation officer forces.

Ca-Boom---Pheasant Season Opens at 9:30?

By Ilene Warren

Opening day of pheasant season really started with a bang last Thursday morning. In error, I had assumed starting time was to be 10 o'clock - this error was discovered when the shooting began about nine-thirty. Ca-boom! to the north. Ca-boom! to the west. On second thought, since the shooting began in earnest about ten o'clock, perhaps this was the correct starting time and those premature shots were made by those early worms out to get the birds.

This column may evolve into a bird lovers' corner! The few paragraphs about birds have resulted in quite a bit of interest expressed by readers. Some, happening to be in the office, talk about the birds; Mrs. John West loaned, and recommended, a couple of books, and Mrs. Laura Murdock wrote me an interesting note. She confirmed my identification of the white crowned sparrows: "I am very glad to learn that the white crowned sparrows have arrived again from Alaska. They are delightful birds." I should also like to share her concluding words: "I left wonderful people there (Cass City) yet I found the same wonderful people here in Chelsea Methodist Home. Best regards to all."

At least one United Nations delegate made no bones about his reaction to Khrushchev's discourtesy and crudity - Sekou Toure, President of Guinea, watched the shoe-waving and shoe-pounding performance of Khrushchev on the TV set in his hotel room. Sekou Toure immediately cancelled his plans to leave the United States and telephoned the U.N. requesting permission to speak. In his speech he appealed to the Communists to recognize that the ideal of the United Nations is "freedom, the right of every people to self-determination," and he suggested that they, the Communists, cease "trying to feed the fires of discontent and disturbance in this place and that." He also reminded them that "the General Assembly is located near a statue, the Statue of Liberty," a statue which stands for "not American liberty alone, but liberty for all peoples and all men."

Perhaps this speech by Toure as well as the one that followed by Nepal's Rishikesh Shaha had something to do with effecting the sober attitude of Khrushchev as he made his farewell: "Goodbye. I crave your indulgence for occasionally (we can question this qualification) speaking out of turn. I offended the delegate from the Philippines. He offended me. He is an old parliamentarian and I am a young one. Nepal, too, gave us good lessons in parliamentarianism. By the way, is there a Parliament in Nepal? I will have to look it up in my geography book when I get home. But this is not relevant. Goodbye. Thank you." And thus, quietly and a bit apologetically, departed the noisy, rude, blatant and powerful man who had succeeded in creating the "most disorderly session in United Nations history." Perhaps an Irish diplomat summed it up fairly well, "I imagine it must be a trying experience for him to appear in this kind of a parliamentary body. He is used to making speeches to unanimous audiences which give him nothing but applause."

We enjoyed ourselves at the Republican Bar-B-Que and Rally in Bad Axe last October 12. We weren't able to stay for the speeches (our midweek worship service was that same evening) - however, we did gather outside, after enjoying tasty barbecued chicken, to help make a crowd around the barbecue pits and around the candidates, Bagwell and company, so that the Time magazine photographer could take pictures. "Come on, gather 'round," someone kept calling, "make a crowd." Apparently we couldn't make a big enough crowd because the pictures didn't make print!

Con-Con Vital Issue in State Election

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

The pros and cons of Con-Con could fill a library.

The issue of calling a Constitutional Convention to revise Michigan's 52-year-old basic law is the kind of a question that can make Republicans stand shoulder-to-shoulder with Democrats, or turn brother against brother--all for perfectly valid reasons.

Whether you're for it or against it, one thing that has to be remembered is that proposal three on the Nov. 8 ballot will not result in an immediate Con-Con if it is approved, and it does not mean the Constitution can't be revised if it is turned down.

What the ballot proposal would do is this:

It would put the question, "shall a Constitutional Convention be called?" before voters for their approval or disapproval at the 1961 spring election. Under existing provisions of the Constitution, the question, which was turned down in 1958, would not go before voters again until 1974 -- unless the Legislature voted to put it on the ballot again, or, as they did this year, citizen groups circulated petitions to force the question on the ballot.

It would change the vote required to approve a Con-Con from a majority voting in the election to a majority voting on the question. Courts have interpreted the existing Constitution to mean a majority voting in the election must approve Con-Con to call one. The 1958 vote would have resulted in a Con-Con if a simple majority of those voting on the question were all that was needed.

The ballot proposal would change the method of selecting delegates from three for each state senatorial district to one for each state senator and one for each state representative.

It would order a special election 120 days after voter approval of a Con-Con became official in order to select the delegates to the convention.

These four changes would have to be made in the present Constitution to enable the Con-Con proposal as it stands now to go before the people. That's why these amendments to the Constitution are up for voter approval Nov. 8.

The lineups for and against proposal "three" show an impressive "team" on both sides.

Powerful groups worked actively to put the question on the ballot by popular referendum.

Distinguished spokesmen and leaders have taken positive and active stands on the ballot proposal, and on Con-Con itself--some of them for and some against.

Both political parties are divided on the issue.

The liberal wing of the Republican party, led by Governor Candidate Paul D. Bagwell, and certain segments of the Democratic party, led by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, say that immediate Constitutional revision is needed, and the proposal on the ballot is the quickest way to get it.

The labor wing of the Democratic party, led by Governor Candidate John B. Swainson, and the conservative wing of the Republican party, whose chief spokesmen are in the Michigan Senate, say that Con-Con may or may not be needed, but the ballot proposal is not the way to go about it at any rate.

The chief reason behind the party opposition to the ballot proposal is that neither Republicans nor Democrats would be assured of a clear majority of delegates under its selection method.

Other opposition to proposal three ranges from doubts about the cost of a Con-Con (estimated at from $2 million to $3 million) to fear that special Constitutional protection would be lost.

There is also the predictable inclination in some quarters to cling to the status quo.

The only safe assumption at this point is that win or lose, proposal number three on the Nov. 8 ballot is only the first round in the battle over Constitutional revision by the Convention method.

Proposal number two on the Nov. 8 ballot would amend the Constitution to permit the Legislature to raise the sales tax in Michigan from 3 per cent to 4 per cent.

The 1959 cash crisis and trends in state government indicate that more money is needed to operate existing and proposed programs. Democratic leaders say that a sales tax increase would hit too many groups. They say an income tax on ability to pay--would be heavily at low and limited income --or as some call it "a tax based more equitable."

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

WHY A FLAMELESS ELECTRIC DRYER IS BETTER FOR YOUR WASHABLES.

Whites stay white, colors stay bright. There's never any sun fading or fume yellowing. Since it's electric, there are no products of combustion. Freshly washed clothes stay clean all the way through. There are models which have a temperature for every fabric, from delicate synthetics and wools to the heaviest work clothes. Detergent cycles make ironing unnecessary for much of today's laundry.

TRULY A WORK-SAVING TEAM--AN ELECTRIC DRYER AND AN AUTOMATIC WASHER.

Pre-selected washing cycles and drying temperatures take all of the guesswork out of laundering. Gentle agitating and tumbling help fabrics to last longer.
