Seek Information From Cass City Buck Hunters

Hunters killing buck deer near Cass City or elsewhere in southern Michigan are urged to phone the Conservation Department's district office in Caro.

The Cass City hunter can telephone his report collect to this office at Caro OS 3-2620. A game biologist will go to the hunter's residence or frozen food locker, determine the age of the deer by the amount of wear on the teeth, and measure its antlers and record the weight. Even if only the head remains he can still obtain the necessary information.

"We need to examine 500 southern Michigan buck deer this fall," states Harold Tubbs, district game supervisor. "We are now engaged in an intensive study to secure information vital to the management of the southern Michigan deer herd. With the high productivity of two fawns from each doe, the herd should be increasing at a faster rate. First of all we need to know how many bucks are being shot and how many bucks of each age class are being removed by the hunter. This will be followed around the year by a careful tally of all other causes of mortality including dogs, cars, fences, farm machinery, etc."

H. Schwaderer Recovering from Fall from Tree

Harold Schwaderer is recovering from a 25-foot fall suffered while he was trimming trees near Lake Orion recently. The accident occurred when a limb broke from dry rot.

Mr. Schwaderer's wrist was broken in three places and he was a patient at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for seven days.

A bone specialist from Detroit was required to set the bones. Schwaderer was in the hospital Tuesday for further X-rays to determine whether an operation would be necessary on the wrist.

The victim also suffered cuts and bruises in the fall. He works for the Midwest Forestry Company.

Retarded Children Association Formed

The Tuscola County Association for Retarded Children was formed at a meeting held at the courthouse in Caro. Mr. Robert Reich of Unionville was named temporary chairman and Mrs. Noama Winters, Akron, was made secretary of the newly organized group.

Wallace Gillingham, president, Huron County ARC, congratulated the Tuscola association and concluded on page eight.

Rebounding Problems Face Cass City Cagers This Year

Plenty of problems are facing Coach Irv Clasenman as he begins initial workouts for the 1960-61 season with 71 boys, including 35 freshmen, all trying to land one of the five coveted starting spots on the team.

The biggest task facing the team will be to try to find an adequate replacement for Roy Tuckey, the club's top rebounder last season, is expected to claim the post. Dick Creason and Tom Jones are also expected to see Fire destroyed a barn and a home in the Cass City area during the week. Oddly enough, it was the second fire in recent years for both parties.

Early Tuesday morning a large T-shaped barn and its contents were lost in an electrical storm at the Harvey Linderman farm, eight miles east of Cass City.

The fire consumed about 40 tons of hay and 10,000 board feet of lumber. Also lost were some 50 chickens.

Members of the Elkland Township Fire Department, who were called to quell the blaze, reported that the building seemed to explode into flames after it was struck by lightning.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Floener Fire

The Arsene Floener home, seven miles west of Cass City, was destroyed by fire Friday. Finishing touches on the new home were still under construction when it was destroyed.

Members of the Elkland Township Fire Department and a pumper and tank truck from Caro were called to the scene in an attempt to check the blaze.

The fire started near the furnace in the basement and was discovered by Mrs. Floener. Four years ago a large house at the same location was lost through fire.

Mrs. Susan Dyer Speaks to Zonta

Mrs. Susan Dyer of Midland, director of area one of Zonta, told members of the Cass City Zonta Club the meaning of Zonta, its origin and many services.

The director, who is a principal at State Street Elementary School, told members that the most valuable services are the ones Zontians make individually. She was speaking at the monthly dinner meeting of the club Tuesday night at the New Gordon Hotel.

The club was observing the 41st birthday of Zonta. Table decorations included a gold cake with two gold candles commemorating Zonta's start 41 years ago in Buffalo.

First Zonta clubs were called Confederation of Zonta Clubs. Later the name was changed to Zonta International.

Miniature safety emblem billboards were placed on the table, representing the billboard sponsored by the club for traffic safety, located on M-81 between the Caro State Hospital and Caro.

Detailed plans for the Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the Zontians, were discussed. It was announced that the club will sponsor a girl scout troop with Mrs. Esther McCullough and Mrs. James Ballard as chairmen of the project.

Guests of the club were Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Miss Beryl Koepfing of Midland, a native of Cass City.

The next meeting of the group will be Wednesday, Nov. 30.

CHRISTMAS DECORATION—Here's a close-up of Cass City's new Christmas decoration for Main Street. This is a pilot model. Production work for the more than 50 Santas needed was under way last week.

Work Nightly on New Santa Displays

Members of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce Board are working nightly in an attempt to complete the new Main Street Christmas displays under the direction of Lloyd Vyse.

Building the cheerful looking Santas is a big undertaking and is requiring a good many hours of extra work by the board.

Seven molds have been built that are the basis for the Santas. Each night seven of the heads can be completed providing the workers are willing to spend several hours on the project.

Cass City's Santas are made of sawdust and liquid rubber . . . several coats of each. The men are now working with a white rubber. The original sample was made with a black rubber which was more satisfactory because it dried more rapidly.

The heads are made by painting the liquid rubber on the plaster molds and sprinkling it with sawdust and allowing it to dry. The process is repeated three or more times to get Santa's "skin" to the desired thickness.

After the head is taken from the mold, it must be painted the several different colors that bring it to "life".

Besides building the Santas, the workers removed the former decorations from the background board and painted each of the discs a bright green.

A total of more than 50 Santa heads must be completed and placed on the boards so that they can be erected before Christmas.

Using liquid rubber to replace papier mache is expected to give the displays long life. They can be used for a couple of years, taken from the boards and stored and then be used again after a lapse of several years. Papier mache deteriorated rapidly and after a few years was no longer usable.

Albee, has decided not to come out for basketball this year. Albee was the sixth man on the team last year and won a varsity letter.

Other promising prospects for the club include Jerry Hillaker, Roy Powell, Wayne Kexin, Bob Morley, Wayne Brown, Eldred Kelley and Bob Bullock.

Biggest problem for the Hawks will be one that has plagued them for many years . . . a lack of height. Cass City will have the smallest team in the Thumb B Conference.

Another problem facing the squad will be a very tough schedule that includes Flushing and Mt. Pleasant in two of the first three games.

Dropped from the schedule was Chesaning so that the Hawks could add Pigeon-Elkton, the new member of the Thumb B League.

The schedule:

Dec. 2	Flushing
9	Frankenmuth
13	at Mt. Pleasant
16	at Pigeon-Elkton
23	Caro
Jan. 6	at Marlette
13	Vassar
20	Sandusky
27	at Frankenmuth
31	Pigeon-Elkton
Feb. 3	at Caro
10	at Bad Axe
14	Marlette
17	at Vassar
24	at Sandusky
Mar. 3	Bad Axe

From the Editor's Corner

Elkland and Novesta Townships Community Chest retained its enviable record this year when it went over its quota of $7,000.

With returns about 99 per cent in, Chairman Willis Campbell said that $7,188.48 has been collected. The amount is about the same as was donated last year.

Now that the post office has moved, will waver that a good many residents have gone to the former building by habit and predict that there will be many fruitless visits for at least the remainder of the year.

It is highly likely that there will be no more tearing down of goal posts by Frankenmuth after key football victories. The alumni were taken to task by the local paper, the Frankenmuth News. We reprint their editorial here.

Frankenmuth High's football team conducted themselves Friday like champions they proved themselves to be with their 41-13 victory over Cass City. We commend them, both for the fine playing all year and for accepting victory in the proper way.

It's regrettable that the same cannot be said for some members of the alumni. We echo the opinion of numerous citizens who feel that the enthusiasm created by any athletic contest does not justify the destruction of property.

Frankenmuth fans reportedly rushed onto the Cass City field, tore out one of the goal posts, dismantled it and carried it away along with some of the markers.

Cass Cityans did not treat their hosts in the same manner when their team, the Red Hawks, won the championship at Frankenmuth last year. The cheering crowd of 4,000 left the Frankenmuth field that time with mixed emotions but school property remained intact.

Although Frankenmuth High School students did not participate in the vandalism, the actions of the fans are a reflection on the school's honor. We're fortunate to have Superintendent Richard Ziehmer carry the ball for Frankenmuth. A letter of apology has been forwarded by him to Cass City High School along with the promise that as many markers as possible will be returned also.

First person to report success this year was Ray Surbrook. Hunting in Evergreen township, he bagged a six-point buck at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The deer was shot in back of the Leonard Copeland farm.

Probation for Johnson; Escapees Await Trial

Theodore Johnson was sentenced to four years probation for his part in the robbery of the Prime Brothers store in Unionville, Wednesday morning by Judge T. C. Quinn in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro.

In addition, he was ordered to pay a fine of $50, costs of $400 and make restitution of $31.80 at $10 monthly. Johnson had pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of larceny from a store. The original charge was breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Johnson was one of three persons held on the robbery. Two others facing the same breaking and entering charge, Leonard C. Johnson, 40, of Unionville and James Anglin, 32, of Highland Park, were captured Sunday in Detroit after they had escaped from the Tuscola County Jail Oct. 26.

Ted Johnson had refused to accompany the two men, both of whom are ex-convicts, in the jailbreak.

Anglin and Johnson escaped by battering a hole in the jail wall under a window with a piece of metal torn from a cell door.

They went through the small opening, dropped to the roof of the jail annex and jumped to the ground.

More Than 80% Of Local Legion Auxiliary at Polls

A poll taken by Mrs. Arthur Little at the regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening indicated that the group followed the local trend when more than 80 per cent of the eligible voters present went to the polls in the Nov. 8 election.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Philip Olsoy and 38 members attended. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. John Gunther and Mrs. Lawrence Gunther.

In the business meeting, the new American flag and unit colors were displayed by Mrs. William Donnelly. Also shown were 15 gifts for the veterans' hospital gift shop at Battle Creek, purchased for about $32.

The Auxiliary will sponsor troop No. 13 which includes some 20 Brownies. The leaders are Mrs. Mary Doyen and Mrs. Lois Auten. It was announced that proceeds from a bake sale were $43.56.

Mrs. Philip McComb won the top game prize and Carol Tracy, the door prize. Refreshments were served. Among the several guests attending were Miss Pat Donaldson of Port Huron, seventh district association president, and Mrs. John Hunt of Port Sanilac, past department of Michigan president. Miss Donaldson addressed the group.

WSC in Annual Thanksgiving Meet

A Thanksgiving program under the direction of Mrs. Audrey Kinnaird highlighted the regular meeting of the Cass City Woman's Study Club for 26 members and a guest Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Adolph Woelfle.

Miss Muriel Addison told the group that Thanksgiving in England is a harvest festival when thanks are given for the harvest, as well as the usual feasting.

Mrs. Kinnaird told of the first Thanksgiving and Mrs. Andrew Bigelow read a copy of the inscription on Plymouth Rock in Plymouth, Mass.

It states that the Pilgrims came to this world with three things: faith to worship as they wished, their Bible as a guide and a desire to build homes in the new world.

Mrs. Kinnaird ended the program by saying that persons should observe Thanksgiving in "Thanks Living" every day and that it is the simple things for which everyone can be truly thankful.

Members answered roll call by giving a thank offering and reading a short verse on Thanksgiving. The verses were in tiny hand painted China vases, a gift made for each member by Mrs. Woelfle.

The thank offering will be used for the club's CARE donation and other charities.

Mrs. Frank Meiser was received as a new member of the club. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. D. Turner. Mrs. Earl Douglas will speak about the United Nations.

Hospital Auxiliary to Show Cancer Film

"Time and Two Women," a film about cancer, will form the basis for an outstanding program sponsored by the Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary, authorities said this week. The film will be presented Monday evening, Nov. 28, by the Tuscola County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, at the meeting room at Hills and Dales General Hospital at 8 p.m.

Every woman in the community is urged to attend the meeting and see the film.

Rev. Searls to Speak at Annual Union Service

Wednesday night, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m., the annual Community Thanksgiving Service will be held at the First Presbyterian Church. This service is sponsored by the Cass City Council of Churches and is open to the public.

The Rev. Robert J. Searls, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preach the sermon. Participating will be the Rev. John Hall Fish, First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Samuel Wurtz of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, and the Rev. L. A. Wilson, of the Cass City Church of the Nazarene. Each church will furnish an usher for the occasion. Music will be presented by the choirs of First Presbyterian Church.

The offering from this annual event will be devoted, as usual, to the program of CROP, well-known agency for the distribution of rural relief products. This is one of several community interdenominational projects sponsored by the Council each year.

Clue Brings FBI To Village Tuesday

Investigators were at Foodtown IGA Tuesday. The bureau has traced the paper in which "bloody fingers" returned the money as coming from an IGA outlet.

Tuesday they checked out Cass City.

MOVE IN—The Cass City post office moved into its new quarters Tuesday evening. The change was made despite last minute work by builders who were working on the interior as the postal crew moved records and equipment to the new location at the corner of Church and Sherman streets.

There was no interruption of mail service during the switch. The move now will enable the department to be ready for the anticipated Christmas rush. (Chronicle photo)

How well the American appetite has been satisfied with turkey is reflected in the increased amount being consumed. The average per capita consumption of 2.5 pounds between 1935-1939 increased to 5.4 pounds in 1952.

The vast strides made by the turkey industry in research, breeding, feeding, processing and marketing account for the plump, meaty, full-flavored turkey of today. The popularity of turkey meat is largely responsible for the great variety of turkey styles; whole turkey in a range of weights from four to 24 pounds ready-to-cook weight and by-the-piece turkey in any class, amount and size.

By-the-piece and small turkey make it possible to enjoy it more often throughout the year. These answer the demand for meal-size units. Shorter cooking time, being able to buy only enough for one or two meals and the availability of favorite pieces also have helped to popularize turkey. Formerly, turkeys were largely restricted to roasting but today they may be cooked by all the basic methods of meat cookery. Aside from its downright good eating, turkey meat plays an important part in regular meals because of its outstanding nutritional values. Turkey contains thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and pantothenic acid.

The oven temperature to roast turkey is 325 degrees F. If you wrap your bird in aluminum foil, you will need a very hot oven, 450 degrees F. An eight to 10 pound bird, aluminum foil wrapped will take 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 hours; while an 18 to 20 pound bird will take 3 1/4 to 3 1/2 hours to roast.

After your turkey dinner, do not let your turkey sit out. The turkey must be put under refrigeration as soon as possible, to keep bacteria from growing. The turkey that is left after the Thanksgiving dinner can be used in such main dishes as escalloped, loaf, patties, pie, tetrazzini, etc. Turkey salad, sandwiches, hash, creole, stew and soup can also be made in attractive dishes.

BUY WHEN THE MARKET IS DOWN

Car buyers - especially used - could save themselves some money by copying the way the experts play the stock market. A stock market professional wouldn't be in business long if he deliberately waited until prices were at their peak before he bought - but that's exactly what a lot of car buyers do.

As an example, Spring and early Summer are the peak price periods for convertibles and sports cars, naturally enough, because that's when the desire is greatest to get the hood down and enjoy some of that welcome sunshine. But in late autumn and early winter these models are very slow movers.

Because it costs about $3.00 a day to keep a used car in his inventory, a dealer with sports cars and convertibles on hand from summer trades is anxious to reduce this inventory item and usually drops the price accordingly. Despite the low prices though, the public still refuses to buy readily and prefers to wait for the spring sunshine and the high prices that go with it.

Prices start to go up on these models in early February and reach their peak in late spring. They remain there all summer before declining again in the fall.

At the moment, we have two fine convertibles in stock. They are a 1957 Oldsmobile 98 in Charcoal with New White Top and Red Leather Trim, Power Steering and Brakes, Hydra Matic Drive, Radio, etc. The Champions owned this car and it's nice. 1956 Chevrolet V8 in Red with Black Trim and White Top. With Radio, Power Glide, Whitewalls, etc. Very Nice.

They have been fully reconditioned and are priced 'way below "book" value. They are waiting for some smart buyer who will save himself some money and still have a beautiful car for spring.

If you've always wanted a Convertible, here are two very nice ones. Look them over. Drive them. Then, see how Little it will COST. You'll be pleasantly surprised.

Good Pasture Makes
Top Quality Beef
Show Excellent Gains
In Carolina Study
 Don't overlook the value of good pasture in producing high-quality beef. Research at North Carolina State College shows that under some conditions pasture can put weight on steers cheaper and faster than the dry lot.
 In fact, Dr. E. R. Barrick, animal nutritionist at the college, says that in a recent test pasture-fed steers gained 15 per cent faster than the dry-lot fed steers.
 Pasture steers were provided an acre of Ladino clover-grass each, plus a self-fed mixture of corn and fat. Lot-fed steers received ground corn, protein supplement and roughage.
 "Not only did the pasture-fed cattle gain faster," Dr. Barrick said, "but they made 100 pounds of gain on 360 pounds less grain and 85 pounds less protein supplement than the lot-fed steers."

In most sections of the country, good pasture can be utilized to produce high-quality beef.

"In addition, the pasture steers did not require any hay or roughage while the dry-lot steers required 250 pounds for each 100 pounds of gain."

Carcasses of the pasture-fed and dry-lot cattle graded about the same.
 For farms with limited grain, Dr. Barrick believes pasture can be best used in a cattle fattening program by (1) purchasing good and choice steers in the fall; (2) wintering them on pasture and roughage; adding enough concentrate to get a one pound of gain per day; (3) feeding grain on pasture during the spring and summer; and (4) marketing the cattle in the fall.

New Vaccine Protects
Against False Blackleg

Protection against another type of "false blackleg" in cattle and sheep is now available in combination with blackleg and malignant edema bacterin in one product. The 3-way vaccine is the result of a 4-year research project at Jensen-Salsbery Laboratories, Inc. and was recently approved by USDA.
 False blackleg, often called "pseudo blackleg," is known as "black disease" in sheep. In cattle, this infection and its symptoms are almost indistinguishable from true blackleg. In sheep, black disease accompanies or follows infection by liver flukes and a death loss of 100 per cent is not unusual. The causative microbe, a gas forming germ called Clostridium Novyi, exists in the soils of pasture and range land. It enters the body through surface wounds or through the digestive tract. In the animal's body, it is characterized by acute blood poisoning, high fever, gas in muscles and a high death rate. Novyi spore infection so closely resembles blackleg and malignant edema that laboratory tests are usually necessary to establish its true identity.
 The 3-way vaccine is available to livestock owners through local veterinarians.

Calves Do Poorly On All-Milk Diet

Magnesium Level Is Below Normal

USDA scientists determined recently how much magnesium growing calves need while on a diet of whole or synthetic milk or natural feedstuffs, and the incidence of calcification in the large arteries, muscles, and hearts of milk-fed calves. Feeding a milk diet to growing calves for a prolonged period causes below-normal magnesium levels in the blood, making some supplementation necessary. How much is necessary to prevent calcification has so far been uncertain.

Calves fed whole milk got only about 0.55 gram of magnesium per hundred pounds of calf weight and the magnesium in their blood decreased rapidly. On milk diets plus various amounts of a magnesium supplement, a daily magnesium intake of 1.1 grams per hundred-pound weight was enough to maintain normal magnesium levels in the blood for a few months. An intake of 1.4 grams was effective for a few months longer. But an intake of 2.1 grams on a milk diet, or 0.9 grams on a diet of natural feedstuffs exceptionally low in magnesium—timothy hay, corn, unweaned normal magnesium levels in the blood for the entire year-long tests. (Normal magnesium level is 2 milligrams per milliliter of blood.)

It is obviously impractical in most cases to raise calves on milk diets.

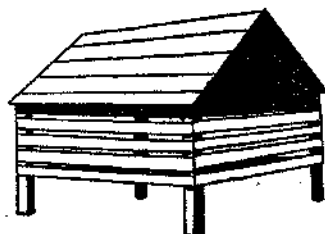

Tenant-Owner Setup Needs Some Revision

Some of our traditional leasing or renting arrangements may need to be revised a bit if they are to retain their status as a step to farm ownership. At the same time, attracting tenants with a better deal may mean a better deal for landlords as well.

Under the conventional 50-50 livestock share lease on some Wisconsin dairy farms, for example, a tenant's cost for contributions he has traditionally made—labor, machinery, and half the livestock—have increased more since 1940 than have the landlord's costs. A tenant may now furnish up to 60 per cent of the total, though his income share remains half. USDA and state farm economists, studying this predicament of some tenants in the area, find that modification of 50-50 leasing to expand the tenant's income base may be the answer.

The larger tenant capital required for leasing an economical farm on a 50-50 basis handicaps beginning farmers. In the Wisconsin study it was found that a tenant had to supply livestock and machinery worth $4,000 to $6,000 or more to lease a farm of adequate size. Leasing a smaller unit didn't return enough to build up investment capital without cutting into income or family living. Furthermore, young tenants often cannot qualify for credit to expand operations.

Outdoor Coop

This outdoor coop is elevated off ground and can be located in chicken yard where air can circulate about it. Legs are 4 x 4; sides and flooring 1 x 2 strips spaced approximately 1 inch apart. Good size is 6 ft. wide and 8 ft. long.

It's wonderful to feel cared for Retirement . . . and hands, maybe, that once guided a lathe now gently graft the tender shoots. These are serene years mostly. Oh, there's a little anxiety about some things. Health, for instance . . . and the cost of sudden illness. But those with Blue Cross-Blue Shield share a special feeling of security here, too. They know they have the most dependable hospital-medical care money can buy. For many retired group members under pension plans, coverage and rates can be the same as they were in the working years. Any wonder that Blue Cross-Blue Shield is one of a retired person's most valued possessions? Shouldn't you have it, too?

November 12th, 1960

To: Mr. John Haire
The Cass City Chronicle
Dear John:

Last week's Chronicle report that the Elmwood Fire Protection Proposition had been defeated 302 to 258, a margin of 44 votes, was correct, but the statement that Village President Joe Mosack had threatened to cut off service to the township if it did not carry was not factual.

Please allow me to present the Elmwood fire protection situation as I see it: While many townships have fire departments, Elmwood has none. (It is true that the township has paid for fire runs on a varying fee basis ... but the amounts have not come close to reimbursing the village. The standby protection is maintained whether the rural areas have any fires or not ... a very unrealistic way to meet the financial responsibility.) Gagetown already has fire protection; therefore, the village governing body, representing the Gagetown residents, has only been trying to cooperate with the rural section of the township in their need for protection.

A second fire engine would be for the protection of the rural area. An auxiliary water carrier would be for the rural area since the village has water hydrants. (A second fire engine is also necessary to allow the fire runs to be made beyond the village limits ... because of regulatory insurance rates ... and because the village residents should not be left without protection while runs are being made out into the country. Gagetown volunteer firemen, quick available and well trained, would be on duty for rural fire runs - this contribution by the people of Gagetown is actually the greatest in any appraisal of fire departments.)

What happened on last election day? Reports have been made that certain individuals did not support the proposition and that a few had actually knocked it. A change of only 23 votes would have carried the proposition. When one considers the need, the urgency for such protection of life, limb and property in these troubled times ... when serious disaster might strike one wonders about the callousness of anyone who would vote against it! Would you wish to be responsible for a life lost because of an irresponsible vote?

Previously, the people of Gagetown voted 99 per cent on a straw ballot in favor of cooperating with the rural area through a township financed Fire Department ... therefore, it would seem that the rural area in this last election may not have supported the proposition ... and if they did not it is my thought it was because of misinformation. They should know those who led them astray. I feel that the rural area has the most to gain by a Township Fire Department located in Gagetown. This kind of political subdivision financing is most equitable and democratic! (Possibly I should have taken the initiative and done some political spade-work before the election ... But I did not wish to seem to intrude on the township officials.)

Possibly the good Lord was with us in this last election ... since in the face of possible disasters of which we are not now aware, the 2 mills was not enough to do the job in time ... Therefore, I sincerely suggest that the township board arrange as quickly as possible for a special election and increase the amount to three (3) mills. Then let all those in charge in the Township and the Village stand up and be counted. This problem is too serious and urgent for political delays. Should this special election be held, I respectfully suggest that you get the facts before you vote! (Evidently approximately 38 citizens who did enter the polls this last election did not vote on the Fire Protection ballot ... this may be to their credit in view of the possibility they were ill-advised or uncertain about the need ... and would not gamble with such a serious matter. Let's have a special election soon!

Heat Lamp Will Warm Milk Parlors

If your milking parlor was cold to work in last winter, you may want to look at heat lamps, suggests Don R. Kehler, county extension agent in agriculture.

Infrared heat lamps provided the best comfort for milking parlor operators in Ingham county in a study by Michigan State University agricultural engineers.

Walls of most milking parlors are of concrete blocks and are not insulated, making heat loss a major problem. These walls are good conductors of heat to the outside and raising the temperature inside the milking parlor does not appreciably raise the temperature of the inside wall surface.

Infrared lamps radiate a large part of the heat at wave lengths best absorbed by human tissue. Also, infrared radiation at these wave lengths passes through air without heating it. An installation of heat lamps in the milking parlor, so arranged that the operator receives radiation from the lamps as he works, will radiate heat to him faster than he loses it to the cold walls.

May Crack Down on Distributors of Obscene Literature to Youngsters

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Michigan lawmakers may be asked next year to pass a bill to help police crack down on distributors of obscene literature—especially to youngsters.

The Legislature, and its bill-drafting agency, the Legislative Service Bureau, may find they have a job on their hands in trying to write a bill that will control smut and still not infringe on the rights of newsstand vendors or offend the literary world and those anxious to guard rights of expression.

A committee of the Michigan House studying circulation of the obscene literature found it was more widespread than had been thought.

Postal officials told the committee, whose chairman is Rep. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek), more than 70,000 complaints on smut were received by the Post Office department in the last year.

Groups from various communities told the committee, which has been holding a series of hearings, of problems in their areas. One well-meaning police officer suggested that the Legislature pass a bill requiring that all newsstand operators be licensed by the state. This, he reasoned, would give law enforcement officials something to hold over the heads of recalcitrant dealers in smut—namely, loss of their license to operate.

The trouble with approaching the problem from this angle is this: Where do you draw the line between regulating undesirable practices of some operators and interfering with the legitimate circulation of the news and comment to which people are entitled?

Since the distribution point of obscene materials is obviously the easiest place to check it, lawmakers have a ticklish situation in trying to walk the narrow line between necessary regulation and unwarranted interference.

A system which aided the ancient Romans and was familiar to the American pioneers has come to modern Michigan.

Mile posts are being placed on super-highways which are part of the interstate system. The Highway Department says the posts help travelers estimate their progress.

They also serve as reference points in case of emergency, the Department says.

The mile numbers, which have already been placed on green and white posts on one highway (the Detroit to Toledo freeway, 1-75) from the Ohio line to the Monroe-Wayne county line, are the same on both sides of the highway.

This means the numbers will get smaller if a person is traveling south or east, and larger if the traveler is going west or north, the Department says.

Civil defense agencies to protect citizens and help get the state back on an even keel in the event of enemy attack or natural disaster are modernizing in an effort to keep up with the times and be ready in case they are needed.

The state Office of Civil Defense Mobilization (OCDM) will be reorganized next Jan. 1 under a plan approved by the federal government.

Essentially, the changes bring Michigan into line with recent federal innovations in OCDM programs and procedures.

Four state agencies, the Office of Civil Defense, the Health Department, the Highway Department and the Department of Administration were slated to receive an additional $101,510 in federal funds to help modernize their programs under the new plans.

The State Civil Defense Advisory Council recently approved measures to help state and local units institute their changeover.

County, township and city Civil Defense agencies are faced with more radical changes in some cases to qualify for federal aid and to receive federal approval for their programs.

The advisory council approved a measure requiring state approval before local units could receive federal surplus property or matching funds.

One requirement making it difficult for some local units is that workers in a Civil Defense program must be under a merit employment system to qualify under certain parts of the federal program.

Mrs. Laurie Hostess to Elmwood Group

Mrs. Grover Laurie was hostess to the Elmwood Extension group when they met Tuesday, Nov. 8.

After the reading of the Michigan Extension Women's Creed, members answered roll call by giving "Grandmother's Favorite Recipe." The lesson on "Safe-guarding Our Foods and New Foods" was given by Mrs. Fred Straus and Mrs. Leroy Evans.

A planned cooperative lunch was served at noon.

The group made plans to attend the Christmas tea at Gifford Hall Nov. 18.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party for members and their families Dec. 13. Mrs. Inez Beach, Mrs. Vivian Straus and Mrs. Gladys Laurie are on the committee to plan the party.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:
I see by the papers where some feller has writ his Congressman asking fer Thanksgiving to be changed from Thursday to Friday. He says this would give the working man three days off in a row, while now he gits off Thursday and has to come back to work Friday.

From a practical standpoint, the idea ain't bad. I reckon we could change a heap of dates and make it a easier world. Fer instant, we could change Income Tax Day from April 15 to February 29 and save three years of misery. But as a matter of principle, I'm agin monkeying with tradition. I hope the Congress just leaves Thanksgiving where we got it.

Well, Mister Editor, I'm mighty thankful this Thanksgiving fer a heap of things. First off, I'm thankful I ain't as hard to please as Ed Doolittle. He said he didn't vote fer either Nixon or Kennedy, said he didn't like the farm program of either one of them. Ed allows as how he's waiting fer a candidate to come along that'll offer control of the weather.

Coming right after a national election, I'm special thankful that we not only got free speech in this country but that we ain't got no law making us listen to some of it.

I'm thankful, not only fer all the new wonder drugs we got to prolong human life, but I'm thankful fer the progress we've made in other fields of science. My pore old Grandpa, fer instant, never knowed what hit him when he come down with tired blood, Grandma never knowed the thrill of shaving the fuzz off'n a peach with a electric razor, and neither of 'em ever had a chanct to count the A's and B's coming through the stomach valves.

It would be a better world if all of us would be more thankful fer the things we've got and less bitter over the things we ain't got. We need more of the spirit of that ole lady that got up at a church revival meeting and said, "I ain't got but two teeth, but thank the Lord they lit!"

It's a great world we're living in and I'm thankful fer ever bit of it. I'm even thankful fer how well all my neighbors seems to get along despite the fact they disregard all my good advice.

I'm thankful fer a million things, among them my personal freedom to say and write what I think and to worship as I please. In short, Mister Editor, on this Thanksgiving Day of 1960 I'm thankful fer all the blessings God has bestowed on you and on me and on all us feller Americans.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Do We Practice
What We Preach?

By Ilene Warren

About 339 years ago, a small group of people decided to have a Thanksgiving celebration. They had come through a very severe winter, during which nearly half their number had died, and they had harvested a successful corn crop. Their harvest home celebration was in gratitude for the blessings they recognized. Our Thanksgiving celebration has evolved into one day called Thanksgiving on which we concern ourselves mostly with all the food we're going to eat (and be sorry later!). That first New England Thanksgiving so many years ago was more than a merry feast; it lasted nearly three days and there were songs, prayers, sermons and shared testimonies. Above all else, they remembered to be thankful for blessings, both tangible and intangible. Do we?

This month of November has seldom fared well in the hands of the poets. Bryant wrote, "The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year." Stoddard called this month "The wild November." Hood's indictment was, "No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees, no fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds, November!" And there are many other critics; however, Thoreau, who appreciated nature in all her moods, wrote more kindly: "As fruits and leaves and the day itself acquire a bright tint just before they fall, so the year near its setting, October is its sunset sky; November the later twilight."

The bittersweet vines on our property have been barren ever since the time five or six years ago when my friends and I stripped the vines of the colorful fruit. This year, one of the vines finally bore fruit again. I was a little more conservative in my picking this time! I hope that eventually the vines will reestablish themselves and become as beautiful as they were before.

Mark and Billie, two of our grandnephews, were playing in our house with balloons. Billie was quite proud of the size of his long, rather unwieldy balloon which had been blown up just about to its limit. He was flaunting it around and we had just cautioned him against hitting it against something that might break it when he turned around and the end of his long balloon caressed a small cactus. Big were his eyes and down dropped his chin as he tried to figure out why his balloon broke!

Just this easily are some of our "balloons" broken... especially when we are ballooning our own importance!

Do we always practice what we preach? A well-known movie star appeared on television to admonish viewers to drive more carefully. "Observe the traffic rules," he cautioned. "Yield the right-of-way and always be courteous." The next day newspapers reported that immediately following the safety appeal, the actor got into an accident. "He failed to observe traffic rules," was the arresting officer's accusation. "He was speeding and reckless." Of what value are words of advice or kindly counsel if there are no good examples? They are as empty vessels and "sounding brass" if the counselors are not endeavoring to "practice what they preach."

In a speech at a political rally Stevenson made reference to Cicero and Demosthenes as a comparison between himself and Kennedy: "When Cicero had finished speaking, the people said 'How well he spoke'—but when Demosthenes had finished speaking, the people said, 'Let us march!' Can this same comparison be applied to Nixon and Kennedy?"

Pilgrims Ate Tame Turkeys

We can thank the Pilgrim Fathers for the delicious turkey on Thanksgiving Day, says Warren W. Chase, chairman of the Department of Wildlife Management at The University of Michigan.

"Domestic turkeys were brought to this country by the Pilgrims," he says. "Most of us have always assumed that the Thanksgiving food of the Plymouth Rock Colony was the wild turkey, but it's been well documented that the people who came over on the Mayflower, as well as other groups arriving in the early 1600's, brought domestic turkeys with them.

"Just the same, these were American birds originally," says Chase. "Domesticated first by the Aztecs of Mexico, the turkeys were taken to Europe by the Spaniards after the conquest of Mexico which was completed in 1621."

Chase explains that at the time of the Spanish conquest, the Aztec Indians had reached a high degree of culture and large flocks of domesticated turkeys were found in their possession. Meanwhile, the American Indians, still savage, had not domesticated the turkey.

"From Spain the domestic turkey rapidly spread over continental Europe and the British Isles. The turkey first appeared in England about 1524. Domestic turkeys were probably brought to France before 1543, into Germany about 1530, and into Italy in 1557.

"The domestic turkey brought here by the Pilgrims by the circuitous Mexican-European route, had a marked effect upon the North American stock due to hybridization. It is well known that the domestic form has interbred with all races of the wild turkey."

"As early as 1760, settlers noted that the wild turkey was becoming less abundant. It was rare in New England by 1843. The last wild turkey was killed in Michigan in 1897. However, efforts in stocking are bringing the wild turkey back in selected areas," Chase points out.

The Telephone is still your biggest bargain

Since 1940, the cost of almost everything has gone sky-high. Food is up 161%... clothing 95%... housing 64%. All told, the national average has risen 110%.

Yet, in the same space of time, the amount you pay for telephone service has risen only a few percentage points. And the telephone remains the only household appliance that is guaranteed for life at no cost to you.

In addition, your telephone company employs local people and provides tax money for community growth. The telephone is your biggest bargain in more ways than one. And we intend to do everything we can to keep it that way.

Why pay more for a "compromise compact" when a full-size Ford costs less?

Does it make sense to pay a big-car price for one of the new-name compacts? They lack compact economy—they lack big-car comfort. You can actually save money by driving a 1961 Ford Fairlane instead!

Believe it or not, this full-size Ford Fairlane actually costs less to buy than some "compromise compacts"... up to $84.48 less.* Yet it offers more passenger room, more luggage room, a longer, steadier-going wheelbase, more weight, more beef, more brawn. More of everything, and in addition, you get a car that saves you many dollars in operating costs. Because like all '61 Fords, this Fairlane is beautifully built to take care of itself. Come in for the whole savings story today.

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices for similar models with similar equipment.
Based on 18 minutes' service at today's national average labor costs

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Cleans its own oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.

Guards its own muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish. New Diamond Luster Finish never needs wax.

Quibro Farm of Caro, Jay Postoria; Carl Bauer, Reese, and Ronald Opperman, Vassar.

In the 305-day records class, three registered Holstein owners had cows producing more than 600 pounds fat. They are Ronald Opperman, owner of the first place cow in this class, with 661 pounds fat; Lavern Engelhard, Unionville, second place cow with 616 pounds fat, and third place, George Foster, owner of a cow producing 613 pounds fat. There were 20 500-pound cows, including the following which produced 526 pounds fat or more: Clayton Rohlfis and Sons, Fairgrove, 590 and 586 pounds fat; Blaylock and Rupprecht, Vassar, 584 pounds fat; Dolan Sweeney, Uby, 582 pounds fat (in 299 days); Jay Marr, Mayville, 563 pounds fat;

John Graham, Caro, 558 pounds fat (in 308 days); Lloyd Walz, Vassar, 538 pounds fat; Charles Cook, Deford, 536 pounds fat; Roy Brown, Postoria, 533 pounds fat, and Charles Crittenden, Kingston, 526 pounds fat. There were an additional 42 cows which produced 400 pounds or more fat in this class.

Other dairymen whose cows produced over 100 pounds fat in this class were Dolan Sweeney, Uby; Clarence Merchant, Cass City; Werner List, Vassar. Dairymen whose cows produced 90 pounds fat or more are: Alvin Frahm, Frankenmuth; Earl Koch, Millington; Carl Bauer, Reese; Werner List, Vassar; George Foster, Postoria; Dolan Sweeney, Uby; Ronald Opperman, Vassar; Jay Marr, Mayville, and Blaylock and Rupprecht, Vassar.

Use Farm Shops For Office, Too

More machines on Michigan farms means more interest by farmers in doing their own maintenance and repair work, says Don R. Kebler, county extension agent for Tuscola County. Larger shops are justified by larger investments in machines and in buildings to house them.

Every farmer either has a farm shop of sorts or at least some of the basic tools at hand to do minor repair work. Many farmers now are going all the way to a "farm operations center" centered around a well-organized and well-equipped shop.

Kebler has several recommendations on farm shops. The increasing business activity of growing farms requires some sort of office set-up, according to agricultural engineers. One good idea for many farmers to consider is to expand their service center to provide a place for work assignments, telephone calls, letter writing, records and end-of-day cleanup with shower and toilet facilities in the farm shop.

How large such a center should be depends on the use the farmer will make of it.

Studies in Tennessee show that for each $100 invested in buildings the average farmer spends $4 a year for repairs, and for each $100 invested in machinery he spends $8 for repairs.

Another study shows that the average annual expense for farm machinery and tractor repairs on a selected group of Minnesota farms is $677. Half of this amount spent over a 10-year period would build a good shop.

The average Michigan farmer probably can justify a shop at least 24 x 28 feet in size if he uses it effectively.

At the very least, each farmer should have one place for the tools he has and uses and should keep them handy and organized.

Good tools and proper equipment can make shop work interesting and safe.

why there's no water heater like an ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

YOU CAN PUT IT ANYWHERE—even in an airtight closet. Because there's no flame, an electric water heater doesn't need air flow to support combustion, or a vent to carry off fumes. There's even a table-top model you can put under the counter in the kitchen or utility room. Here's the only heater you can always place close to point of greatest hot water use.

HOTTER HOT WATER WHENEVER YOU NEED IT. Some laundering requires very hot water to get clothes really clean. Dishwashers, too, need water that's very hot. Remember, an electric water heater can keep on and on, delivering the extra hot water needed without burning out.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER ROUND THE CLOCK. For dishes, laundry, baths, there's always plenty of hot water available. Electric water heaters have two heating units: one for normal use, the other for those special occasions when there's an extra demand for hot water.

OPERATING COSTS ARE AMAZINGLY LOW. The popular 50-gallon heater will meet the needs of 8 out of 10 families. Using estimated operating costs for this size unit, a plentiful supply of hot water for all family needs should cost you less than 15¢ a day!
