

At South Village Limits

Set Site for Village Dump

The Cass City Village Council voted to establish a new village dump just past the south village limits of Cass City in Elkland Township, in its regular monthly session Tuesday night at the Municipal Building.

The decision was by no means unanimous. It was passed on a roll call vote with a four to two majority.

From the Editor's Corner

Finding a spot for a new village dump has perplexed the village council for two years and has been under discussion for five years. Admittedly, it is a problem that defies a decision that will please everyone.

Despite this, we concur with the minority opinion of the council and suggest that waiting a month before final action would have been a smart move.

To quell the natural fears of residents about having a dump near their own backyard, it would have been wise to have a disinterested expert demonstrate the method which would be used to operate the dump and assure property owners in the area that there would not be a sudden depreciation of property that many have spent a lifetime accumulating.

Trustees who advocate the site say that there are no objectionable features to a dump that is properly managed and having the dump at the location set will eventually improve the property by filling the gravel pits.

If this is so, the council should demonstrate it before further steps are taken.

Willis Campbell says that a change in the annual school election date has resulted in a change in the last date for filing nominating petitions for the school board. They must be submitted by May 12. Complete details will appear next week.

To Organize Softball League

An organizational meeting for the Merchants' Softball League will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, April 28, at the New Gordon Hotel, Dean Hoag announced this week.

Persons wishing to enter a team in the league are asked to attend.

Two Farm Fires In Local Area

The Elkland Township Fire Department answered two fire alarms during the week.

Monday morning at 4 a. m. a bolt of lightning ignited a 30x60 foot barn on the Ray Ulfir farm in Evergreen township, east of Cass City.

The flames were out of control before the department arrived at the scene. A quantity of hay was also destroyed.

False Alarm
The department answered a call that proved to be a false alarm. Concluded on page twelve.

Judge Quinn Gives Directed Verdict Tuesday

Judge T. C. Quinn gave a directed verdict of no cause for action Tuesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court in an unusual damage suit.

The estate of William Warren Nicholas was seeking damages from the estate of Harold and Michael Malnar of Wyandotte and John P. Miller in the accident Oct. 25, 1959, which killed all of the persons named in the case.

Because there were no surviving witnesses to the accident, Judge Quinn gave a directed verdict.

Members of the jury who were not called on for a verdict in the case were: Norman Weiss, Mrs. Ray Putnam, Walter Witkovsky, Carson Leach, Mrs. Esther Allen, Mrs. Ed Golding, Carl Hoerlein, Mildred Parrott, Claud English, Albert Whitfield, Clara Lessman and Ray Larsen.

Judgment Awarded
A judgment was awarded to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. of Vassar against the Bron-Mar Products Co. of Vassar for $10,379.49 and costs of $32.34. The company is now in bankruptcy.

Convention Reports Highlight Meeting Of WSC Tuesday

Thirty-five members and guests attended a breakfast meeting of the Woman's Study Club Tuesday morning at Bush's Restaurant.

Highlight of the meeting was reports on the county and state convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. E. L. Schwaderer told of the county convention in Vassar. She said that there are about 400 women in 13 clubs in the county. She said that the reports of club presidents showed the many activities carried on by women.

Mrs. Margaret Haire told of the state convention at Alpena April 11-12-13. The importance of women on the national scene was pointed out when speakers showed that there are three million more women voters than men and 20 million women in civic organizations.

The theme of the state convention, she said, was "Horizons Unlimited". In the business meeting a letter from Cuban refugees was read thanking the club for its donation.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ada Wetters.

Russia Explained To Rotary Club

Rotarians were entertained and informed Tuesday noon by John Shiras of Charlotte who told little known facts about Russia gleaned in seven trips to the Soviet Union.

A professional lecturer who appeared at Cass City High School, he told Rotarians at the New Gordon Hotel what a Russian can buy, own and sell.

He can own a house, cow, two calves, two pigs and a bank account. No Russian can own a square inch of land, a retail store, a factory or make a profit on the labor of others.

The guest speaker also told the club that Cass City was one of the best run schools that he visited during his tours of the country. Continued on page six.

BABY NUMBER 2,000 was born at the Cass City Hospital Wednesday, April 19, and the lucky parents received free hospital service to celebrate the event.

The parents of seven-pound, 10-ounce Kelly Lynn are Mr. and Mrs. Harley Dorman. It is the fourth child for the couple. Waiting at home to greet the bouncing new girl were Tonya Joe, four, Tomara Jean, three, and Harley Dean, one.

Supervisors Set County Valuations

Tuscola county supervisors, have eliminated county assessments and are now following the assessments as established by the State. The total state equalization valuation is $135,515,533, it was revealed by the board Thursday at their regular session at the courthouse.

Assessed valuations in the county were boosted 48 per cent by the state's assessors this year but the amount of raise for each township varies by the amount they were below the valuation figures of the state's assessors. Some township's increase will be relatively small while others will be large. Township figures are available at the clerk's office in the courthouse in Caro or from local supervisors.

The increase in valuation will make more money available for schools.

Insiders are looking for a good deal of discussion before the mill rates for county, township and schools are set for this year. The first meeting of the tax allocation board is set for Thursday.

The increase in valuation will make it easier for schools to pay off debts and may result in many districts dropping special voted operating taxes. Cass City, which had no special operating tax, will receive a boost in tax revenues under the new assessments.

Buy's Restaurant

Miss Anne Mitchell, who has been operating a restaurant in Dearborn for 14 years, has purchased the restaurant on M-53 and Bay City-Forestville roads.

The business is expected to open soon. Miss Mitchell is a former resident of Evergreen.

Village Violation Bureau Abolished

The village council abolished the predetermined fine system in force for several years and all traffic violators will now pay tickets at the office of the justice of peace.

The action was taken after mutual agreement by trustees and Justice Mrs. Reva Little. Fines will be paid in addition to fines on all tickets except parking violations. The standard $2 will be charged and the village and the justice will split the tickets. Costs for minor moving violations are $2 and for major violations, $4.30.

Wood Announces as Con-Con Candidate

Claude I. Wood, Brown City businessman, became the second person to announce that he would seek the Republican nomination as a delegate to the constitutional convention from the 20th senatorial district (Sanilac-Huron and Tuscola counties).

A. P. Decker of Deckerville last week was the first to announce his intentions to seek the $1,000 a month job as a delegate.

Mr. Wood is a former farmer and now operates a lumber company in Brown City. He is a strong exponent of local government and says that he will fight to protect the interest of the Thumb area if elected.

Mrs. MacRae New Prexy of Women's Club

Officers for the Tuscola County Federation of Women's Clubs were named at the 38th annual meeting of the group Thursday at the Methodist Church in Vassar.

The new president of the county group is Mrs. Calvin W. MacRae of Cass City. She succeeds Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr. of Gagetown. Mrs. MacRae is the first president to be elected from a Junior Women's Club in the county.

Besides Mrs. MacRae, other officers are: Mrs. George Foster, Fostoria, first vice-president; Mrs. Bertram Partio, Akron, second vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Beatenhead, Unionville, secretary, and Mrs. Warren Higby, Mayville, treasurer.

Among the highlights of the day-long program was a book report of Act I by Moss Hart by Mrs. Andrew Bigelow of Cass City.

Distinguished visitors included Mrs. Ward Atkins of Marlette, second vice-president of the East Central District, who reported on the state convention, and Mrs. John Proctor of East Tawas who told of the state convention at Alpena.

Mrs. A. J. Knapp of Cass City gave the club collect and was a member of the nominating committee.

Presiding with Mrs. Rice was Mrs. James Champion of Cass City.

Meetings Will Explain Proposed Annexation

Auxiliary Pays Balance of Second Pledge

At the monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Hills and Dales General Hospital Monday evening at the hospital, members voted to pay $800, the balance of a $2,000 pledge made to the hospital in April 1960.

Mrs. Almer Krueger, president, reminded members of the plan for an open house to be held May 11-12 from 1-4 at the hospital.

A number are planning to attend a workshop at McLaren Hospital in Flint May 10.

Mrs. Ford Boyne and Mrs. Cumper of Marlette were guests and Mrs. Boyne spoke briefly.

The meeting was adjourned after a lengthy discussion on whether or not it was desirable to have an accounting of the hours given by Auxiliary members as volunteer workers.

June Ayres to Head Junior Woman's Club

New officers were named at the April meeting of the Junior Woman's Club Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Alden Asher.

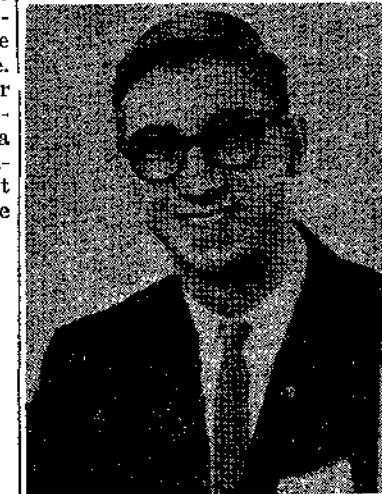

Mrs. June Ayres will serve as president. Other officers are: first vice-president, Colleen Krueger; second vice-president, Marilyn Alexander; recording secretary, Joann Charlton; corresponding secretary, Marlene Erla; and treasurer, Ferol Meiser.

The program was presented by Marvin Hauck, speech teacher, and five students. Mr. Hauck explained the five areas of forensics. Maleck Receives MSU Scholarship

George Maleck has been awarded a $300 entrance scholarship to Michigan State University. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maleck of Cass City. He has completed majors in science and mathematics and plans to enter some field of engineering. He is a member of the National Honor Society.

Two other Cass City High School seniors were named as alternates for trustee scholarships at MSU. They are Marvin McCormick and Gary Bartle. Scholarships will be available to these boys if others on the list for grants do not choose to accept the scholarships.

Junior Band Set For State Festival

The Cass City Junior High School Band will participate in the State Band and Orchestra Festival at Grand Rapids Saturday, April 29. The band will play in concert at the Union High School at 1:55 p.m. for a panel of three adjudicators and then will play two numbers which they have not previously seen in a closed sight reading session. Bands and orchestras receive a numerical rating of one through five.

Only half of the state festival is at Grand Rapids. Ninety-eight high school bands played in Ann Arbor Saturday, April 22. One

The first of several special meetings to explain details of the proposed annexation of the Deford Community School District to the Cass City District was Monday night as part of the last Home and School Council meeting of the year at the school.

The school board and Supt. Willis Campbell presented a series of questions concerning the proposed annexation and gave their views on the subject. Covered were possible questions concerning affected students, tax rates and other data concerning the annexation.

The answers to these questions, and others, as viewed by the Cass City School Board, will be presented in a series of questions and answers now being prepared, and will be presented early in May.

Special Meetings
Firsthand information about the annexation will be available to interested persons in both districts at special meetings that have been scheduled.

Persons in the Deford district will meet Wednesday, May 10, at 8 p.m. at the school, Marjorie Fringle, secretary, announced. At that time, George Schutt from Michigan Department of Public Instruction will be present to explain the annexation and answer questions.

The next meeting in Cass City has been set for Monday, May 15, at the school. The entire annexation question will be aired and the school board will be present to answer questions. The meetings start at 8 p.m.

Other Business
At Monday's meeting of the council, some 60 visitors toured the new grade school addition and heard Dick Reava, speech correctionist, tell of the proposed special education and elected officers for the 1961-62 school year.

President will be Arleen Retherford. Others elected are: Mrs. Walker Matlack, vice-president and program chairman, and Mrs. Cecil Barringer, secretary-treasurer.

Retiring president is Mrs. K. I. MacRae.

Area Students To Visit High School Today

Approximately 50 eighth graders from schools in the Cass City High School service area will be guests of the local school today (Thursday). The largest groups are expected from the Deford and Evergreen Township schools.

The purpose of the annual eighth grade visitation day is to help the student plan for entrance into high school next fall. A portion of the day is spent visiting high school classes and becoming acquainted with the facilities of the school. Members of the student council serve as guides for the visitors. Two periods are set aside for the administration of standard tests which yield information helping to classify the student properly. A counseling session is also held, at which enrollment information is given out and questions answered. Actual enrollment, however, is deferred until August, when the students are invited to come in to complete their registration.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, April 29—Frank Choate will sell machinery and household goods at the farm, one and a half miles west and one mile south of Owendale.

Saturday, April 29—Harold Schmidt will sell implements and tools at the place, 10 miles east and five and a half miles north of Bad Axe.

Saturday, May 13—Mrs. Martha Landenberg will sell farm machinery on the premises located three miles west of Harbor Beach and two and a half miles north.

Refuse Building Permit

The Cass City Village Council Tuesday night denied Gerald Prieskorn, owner of the Ben Franklin Store in Cass City, the right to build an addition to his store that would extend to the alley.

The council acted on the advice of the Planning Commission on the grounds that there would not be enough space left for loading and unloading as provided for in the ordinance.

Mr. Prieskorn presented a drawing to the council and explained how the addition would not interfere with alley traffic anymore than the present unloading system. He said that because Freiburger Grocery has extended to the alley it is impossible for trucks to unload at his store without interfering with traffic.

"I know that the extension is technically against the ordinance," he said, "and I want no more or no less preferential treatment than has been given in other cases."

For the good of the community, he said, the zoning law has been broken in the cases of the clinics of Dr. H. T. Donahue and Dr. K. L. MacRae and for the erection of the Hollis Seeley home. An addition to his store would also benefit the community by improving the shopping area, he claimed.

Other Business
Tuesday's session was the busiest in recent months. A jammed docket was quickly disposed of by trustees.

At the suggestion of the Planning Commission, a committee was appointed to revise the village's building code. Appointed were Elwyn Helwig, Jerome Root Jr., Herbert Ludlow and Don MacLachlan.

Several members of the Planning Commission were reappointed. Serving again for three years are Willis Campbell and Jim Wallace. Serving for two years will be a new member of the board, John McCormick, and Cliff Ryan, who was reappointed. Representing the council will be B. A. Calka.

Mrs. Wilma Fry received $100 of the $400 allowed for assessing work in the village. The late C. J. Striffler had received $200 for starting the work and the remaining $100 was given to Mrs. Striffler. Mrs. Fry completed the work after Mr. Striffler's death.

To Build Gate
Permission was granted Bill Ruhl to build a walk gate in the fence at the end of Seed street at the park at his own expense. The gate will be locked during athletic events.

Buy Signs
The council will purchase 10 yield right-of-way signs for village streets. To be erected first will be signs on West street at the corner of Church and on Leach street at the corner of Church. Signs will be erected at the corner of Oak and Church, but trustees have not decided on which street they should be placed.

Trustees granted permission for Hills and Dales General Hospital to rent the village lawn mower this summer.

Earl Harris was present to explain the village's liability insurance coverage.

Clean-up Week Starts Monday

The village council has set the week of May 1-6 as clean-up, fix-up, paint-up time in the village. Cass City Village residents will have free pick up of trash during this time.

Authorities said that all debris must be placed in containers at the alleys by Wednesday, May 3, to insure pick up by the village sometime during the week.

Cass City Second in Annual Invitational

Six new meet records were set at the annual Gavel Club Invitational Saturday at the Cass City Recreation Park. The marks were set despite miserable weather conditions that saw athletes and spectators drenched by a rain that started in the morning and continued until late in the afternoon.

Flint Beecher broke Flint Kearsley's stranglehold on the team championship in the meet when they walked off with the title with 50 1/10 points. For the second time in three years Cass City finished second, scoring 31 points.

Ten members of the North Elmwood Extension Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Ashmore.

For those who have asked or wondered about the source of this quotation, it's from a poem titled "Beautiful Snow" by James W. Watson. One of the anthologies in which it can be found is Hazel Felleman's "The Best Loved Poems of the American People."

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pisarek visited her mother, Mrs. Anna Darmofal in Detroit Saturday.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Good Advice For Amateurs Like Me

By Ilene Warren

This week's column was written while I was in Independence, Missouri. I drove to Independence, accompanied by three women who rode down with me, to attend the World-wide Women's Institute of our church which was in session April 17-20.

One of the classes I took while at the Institute was "Writing With A Purpose" with the emphasis on writing for newspapers. The speaker on Wednesday was Sue Gentry of the Independence Examiner. It was interesting to learn that Miss Gentry's biggest thrill in reporting was when she covered President Truman's news conference following the surrender of Japan — and then typing her story on the President's typewriter. Miss Gentry had many other interesting experiences to relate — plus some good advice for amateurs like me.

A few weeks ago, the following excerpt from a poem was quoted in this column:

Oh! The snow, the beautiful snow, Filling the sky and the earth below;

Over the housetops, over the street, Over the heads of the people you meet.

And it continues — "dancing, flitting, skimming along." For those who have asked or wondered about the source of this quotation, it's from a poem titled "Beautiful Snow" by James W. Watson. One of the anthologies in which it can be found is Hazel Felleman's "The Best Loved Poems of the American People."

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pisarek visited her mother, Mrs. Anna Darmofal in Detroit Saturday.

The circumstances that alter cases are usually 98 per cent financial.

In my many references to our feathered friends, I have often mentioned the cardinal — while in Missouri I was enchanted by the number of them we both heard and saw. If they are as plentiful elsewhere in the state as they are in Independence, no wonder the St. Louis baseball team was named "The Cardinals."

Dr. Margaret Applegarth, author of "Moment By Moment, Men As Trees Walking", and other books, spoke at the women's Institute on Wednesday evening — she related a rather humorous incident involving her Quaker grandmother. Dr. Applegarth's grandmother made it a practice to open her Bible every morning and blindly pointing with a finger would choose the verse to be memorized that day. Her son-in-law (and Dr. Applegarth's father) finally told her he didn't think that was a very good idea.

"What," he asked, "if you land on a bad verse?"

"There's no bad verse in the Bible," replied the Quaker grandmother.

"Well," questioned the son-in-law, who was a Baptist minister, "What if the verse were 'And Judas went out and hanged himself?'"

"Oh, well," said Grandmother with a toss of her head, "Then I would choose another verse."

The son-in-law still had the final words — he asked her, "What if the next verse was: 'Go thou and do likewise?'"

It frequently happens in human affairs that necessity is the mother of excuses.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

In one of them Government pamphlets I got the other day it said the clocks in the U. S. National Bureau of Standards was varying up to a 50th of a second every 24 hours. The way the item was wrote, it sounded sorter like a complaint. And I can understand how, in Government circles in Washington, a 50th of a second every 24 hours is very important. I'm expecting any day to see where the Congress has appropriated $150,000 to get them clocks fixed.

But this appropriation, of course, won't come till they've had a investigating committee fix responsibility for the disaster. I bring up this item at the country store Saturday night and most of the fellers was agreed the country would be better off if they'd throw away them clocks in Washington and get some bells.

Ed Doolittle recollected that his Grandpa never had a timepiece on the place. They'd go to work at sunup and quit at sundown, and when dinner came his Grandpa would ring a big bell mounted on high polls out in the barnyard. Dinner always came, said Ed, when the sun was straight up-and-down. Ed allowed as how the sunup to sundown and bell system would be a big improvement in Washington, especial if their clocks is off a 50th of a second every day.

Clem Webster figured the big dome they put on the Capitol building was probably put there in the first place for a bell to call them Congressmen into session. He allowed as how the dome had to be put there for some purpose and it had to be for a bell. Clem is a great feller fer having a purpose fer everything. Fer instant, you never catch Clem just whittling to be whittling. He's always whittling a gate latch, a gun rack, a jug-stopper or somepun he aims to use. But they is a lot of difference between Clem and them politicians in Washington. Between you and me, Mister Editor, I don't think we'll ever get them Congressmen on the sunup to sundown and bell system. The sooner they appropriate the money and git that 50th of a second corrected, the sooner they'll git on with the business at hand.

Zeke Grubb said the Congress would never vote $150,000 fer fixing clocks or anything else. Zeke says the Congress don't deal in nothing but even numbers. If a million dollars ain't quite enough fer somepun, they make it two million. Zeke claims Congress got this idea from doctors. You never see them fellers, says Ed, splitting a dollar. He predicts that it'll cost either $100,000 or $200,000 to git them clocks fixed.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

your comfort is custom-made in an ALL-ELECTRIC HOME with flameless electric heat

Why has the number of electrically heated homes in the United States tripled in the past three years? Why will even more families choose them in the future? Because built-in electric heat gives each room its own heating system—with individual control. Because it lets you keep every room at the exact temperature you want. Because electric heat saves space, and is as clean and safe as electric light. But most of all because electric heat is so comfortable. Whether the heating units are in ceilings, walls, baseboards or floors, you enjoy even heat from head to feet. Premium features like these make electric heat worth the extra cost. And that cost can be leveled out over the year on Edison's Budget Billing Plan.

This most modern of all heating systems is available in All-Electric Homes—the homes that will still be modern when your children grow up. Every All-Electric Home offers... ■ Total electric kitchen with built-in electric oven and range. ■ Flameless electric water heater—the silent, trouble-free heater that supplies lots of hot water over a long life. ■ At least two other big work-saving appliances such as food waste disposer, dishwasher, refrigerator, freezer, washer, dryer. ■ Light for Living, with path-of-light switching and fixtures picked for eye comfort, good looks and safety. ■ Certified Wiring with plenty of circuits and outlets for operation of today's work-savers, plus extra capacity for tomorrow's. Includes circuit for electric clothes dryer.

An All-Electric Home is a better investment, too. It will bring a higher resale price than a similar home without a built-in electrical future.

Experts Feel Mentally Ill Not Receiving Proper Care

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Mentally ill men in Michigan prisons need help they are not getting.

A program is underway that would shift some of the people in mental institutions to the Howell Tuberculosis Sanatorium. The mental patients would be shifted in such a way as to make room at the Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for dangerous psychotics from the prisons.

But what the corrections experts would really like to see is a separate unit for psychiatric care.

They would prefer to have this diagnostic and treatment center, which would take care of chronically ill as well as mentally and emotionally disturbed inmates, in the Detroit or Ann Arbor area. There are several reasons why this location is preferred. It would be close to the research facilities of state universities. It would be near the metropolitan areas of southeast Michigan where many offenders are apprehended. It would be centrally located to most of the prisons and mental institutions of the state. Ideally, the diagnostic and treatment facility would serve as a reception center for screening of all convicted felons.

While Michigan's corrections system has many urgent needs, the lack of adequate facilities and staff to care for mental cases seems to be the most critical.

Warden William H. Bannan, of State Prison of Southern Michigan, recently warned legislators during budget hearings that the discipline situation at the Jackson institution is currently more explosive than it was just before the infamous 1952 riots. The supervisory staff is better able to deal with problem situations now, but mentally ill persons at large in the general prison population constitute a tremendous hazard.

Getting state money for a diagnostic treatment center is just one of the problems for the Corrections Department. It would cost more than $18 million.

Until such a facility is provided, the department faces a tough job in keeping professionally competent people staffing existing diagnosis and treatment units within the prisons.

"The state Corrections Department believes that proper treatment of the psychotic, the borderline psychotic, the emotionally unbalanced and the chronically ill would be an investment that would pay off in a reduction of the number of returns to the state's prison system," a recent report on the situation said.

Non-stop driving, especially on superhighways, increases the chance of an accident, the state Highway Department believes.

In fact, monotony is increased by the very ease of driving on the four-lane freeways that are part of the interstate highway system in Michigan.

One weapon in the fight against fatigue is the so-called "rest area" being included in contracts for new freeways.

These parking areas alongside rural sections of the interstate system, where motorists can stretch their legs and otherwise make themselves alert for more hours of driving, cost from $60,000 to $80,000 each.

About 100 rest areas are now planned for the state's freeway system. They will be about 35 to 50 miles apart.

Federal law prohibits commercial service facilities within the highway right-of-way on interstate routes, but the rest areas are expected to keep drivers more alert and less likely to have an accident.

Indications are that the common "gas station" may be one of the most risky businesses in Michigan.

While motoring miles continue to increase, and multitudes of super-service stations thrive by selling gasoline, oil, other products and service to customers, the bankruptcy rate for this most familiar of business ventures is appalling.

Homer V. Lundberg, Dowagiac, who operates Small Business United, Inc., says all firms of this type need to thrive is a chance to get going on their own.

In an appearance recently before the state Senate Taxation Committee, which was studying property taxes, Lundberg mentioned the plight of the gas stations.

He said there was a 37 per cent bankruptcy rate among service stations last year.

The roughly 200,000 small businesses, employing an average of two workers each, should be considered as a vital part of the overall picture when the talk turns to business taxes, Lundberg said. And lawmakers would do well to think twice about the 9,600 or so gas stations in Michigan, he said.

Imaginative cooks turn to herbs for flavor when doctors recommend diets low in table salt or sodium. Also, homemakers with an active imagination use herbs for their regular cooking.

I find that some flavors are "natural" together. Basil blends well with tomato soup and tomato aspic salad. Dill seed can be used with egg or cheese dishes, while tarragon is good with any fish or shellfish; and rosemary is very good with chicken fricassee or soup.

The above combinations are only suggestions, since most herbs can be used with many foods. Thyme and Marjoram are two of the most versatile herbs and can be used to season almost any dish.

The blending of herbs is an art and often the cooks' secret. The knowing of the herbs characteristic flavor is important when blending and here is the grouping for easy reference.

Under group one, I have included sage, winter savory, oregano and rosemary. All of these herbs are very pungent. Under group two, I placed sweet marjoram, thyme, tarragon, sweet basil, dill and mint. These herbs are not as pungent as those in group one, but still are strong enough for accent. Under group three, I have placed chives, summer savory and parsley, which are all good for blending.

I would suggest using one herb from group one and two for the main accent in a blend. Then select a few herbs from the second and third group to be used in smaller amounts. Too much of any one flavor is objectionable. When blending is well done, the combination of the herb flavors will keep experts guessing.

MICHIGAN'S NAMESAKE

Michigan is called the "Wolverine State," but no one is sure if its namesake ever lived here. Back in the early days when trapping flourished, Detroit traders bought wolverine furs taken from forests north of the state and that's probably how Michigan came by its nickname. The wolverine's absence in Michigan is a puzzle to wildlife biologists. He's as tough and smart as animals come. He can usually outfight wolves twice his size and has been known to travel long distances without rest (40 miles on one recorded sojourn). Cold weather doesn't seem to bother him. As for food, he prefers meat, but will eat anything he can get with his big, powerful paws. Early trappers were all too familiar with his cunningness (they called it cussedness). Many a time they found their traps raided of game and bait by wolverines.

He said that despite Sputniks and men in space, he feels that the industrial capacity of the United States still makes it the strongest nation in the world.

Urges Project
In the business meeting, Al DeGraw, Rotarian from Pigeon, urged that the Cass City club accept an exchange student for the summer months from a foreign country.

He said that it was one of the finest ways of improving international relations because the majority of exchange students work in government when they return to their homes.

He estimated the cost at about $190 for bringing a student to the community.

Miss Barbara Lou Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gross of Cass City, became the bride of Dr. Kenneth S. Kube of Flint, Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City. He is the son of Mrs. Frederick Kube Sr. of Clinton, Iowa.

The Rev. John Hall Fish officiated at the 8 p.m. ceremony at an altar banked with palms, candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and pink champagne roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Chantilly lace gown underlaid with tulle over chiffon taffeta. The gown featured a scalloped square neckline and long tapering sleeves. The voluminous lace skirt carried out the scalloped detail and fell in a chapel train. Her veil of bouffant silk illusion was held in place with a pearlized cluster of flowers. She carried a crescent bouquet of white butterfly roses centered with a giant pink champagne rose.

Miss Carolyn Gross, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Gross, the bride's sister, and Miss Adele Kube of Clinton, Iowa, sister of the groom.

The attendants' gowns were white silk organza with fitted bodices with scoop neckline and embroidered pink roses. The bell shaped ballerina skirt caught in a bustle-effect back and embroidered pink roses circled the skirt. They carried colonial nosegays of pink and white roses.

Barbara Auten was flower girl. She carried a miniature colonial nosegay and her headband was tiny pink and white roses. Barbara is the daughter of the Charles Autens.

Llewellyn Kube of Clinton, Iowa, was the best man for his brother. Ushers were Dr. William Paris and Dr. Edward Clark, both of Flint.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gross chose a green silk dress with beige accessories. Mrs. Kube wore a blue crepe with lace trim dress and blue accessories. Both mothers' corsages were double cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

Frederick Kube Jr. of Clinton, Iowa, was soloist and was accompanied by Roger Parrish

Great Trout Rivers
Every Angler Should Know

MICHIGAN TROUT STAMP
DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Here are 12 of Michigan's greatest trout-producing river systems. Well known to the Indians, and even better known to present-day anglers, these rivers represent the backbone of a trout fishery which over the years has become legendary throughout the nation. All told, Michigan boasts some 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, and in many of them rainbows, brooks, and browns challenge the sportsman's best fishing tricks. An estimated 185,000 fishermen will invade these waters during the state's April 29-September 10 season this year to enjoy their pangs of "trout fever". --Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Explain Special Program

There is a growing awareness today of disturbed children throughout our country. Recently an hour long TV program was devoted to the urgent need to help these children. Our newspapers and magazines continually point to the seriousness of the problem. Child Guidance Agencies have long waiting lists. Our hospitals are crowded with those we have failed.

Can anything be done?

The visiting teacher program is a part of special education available to our schools. It is concerned with those pupils who are having difficulty in personal and social adjustment in school and at home. It offers assistance to the child, the school staff, and parents with those pupils who present problems in social and emotional growth in school and community adjustment.

The service should be made available to all the children enrolled in public schools in rural and urban areas in Michigan. The visiting teacher program is one of the special services which a school system may provide. Its emphasis is on preventive measures and it is designed as one of the schools services in its mental health program.

The visiting teacher works co-operatively with school personnel in studying and planning for the pupil's growth toward a more satisfactory adjustment. Those pupils who require intensive and continuing study may be referred to the visiting teacher program by principals, teachers, counselors, by parents, and by community agencies.

The visiting teacher's primary concern is a strong identifying relationship with the child who is having difficulties in home, school, and community adjustment. He works with the child at regularly scheduled intervals to help him to understand his problem, help him to want to do something about it so he may be able to achieve a more effective adjustment. Children who need a visiting teacher often reveal their difficulties through overly aggressive behavior expressing their unhappiness toward adults or by taking it out on other children; by withdrawing behavior expressed in timed, fearful reactions; and in failure to function up to their level of ability in the school program. Such children may behave toward others in these and other negative ways to a more extreme degree than other children; or they may react suddenly in a different way than has been usual for the specific child. A large proportion of the visiting teacher program time is spent with individual children.

An optimist looks on the bright side of life even though he's thoroughly convinced there is no such thing.

Free Fruit Spray Bulletin Available

Home fruit growers can get some tips on controlling insects and diseases in a revised folder, published by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and now available in the Tuscola County extension office. The number of this folder is F-17.

Within recent years, several excellent pest control chemicals have been developed. Those suggested in the folder are among the safest and most effective discovered to date.

In addition to giving good results on both tree and small fruits, these chemical mixtures have given protection to many vegetable and ornamental plants. Details on using the chemicals are given in the folder for only a few trees or for small home orchard.

A spray schedule for all backyard fruits is included as well as sections on good cultural practices and special insect and disease problems.

There's always plenty of room at the top, but the average man seems to forget that the elevator service is poor.

Tell Which Farmers Will Gain in New Grain Program

During the next few weeks, farmers in Tuscola County will be receiving application forms to sign up for the new feed grains program.

Under terms of the new farm bill, farmers will receive payments for reducing 1961 planting of corn below their 1959-60 levels. No general rule-of-thumb can advise farmers whether to enroll for the new plan, says Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Director.

He points out, however, that there are some guides that the farmer can use in figuring benefits from compliance before making a decision.

Nearly all farmers who sell more than half their corn crop will gain from participating in the program, at least at the minimum level which calls for a 20 per cent cut in acreage, say agricultural economists at Michigan State University.

They contend that this will hold true for both the cash-crop and livestock farmer. These benefits are virtually assured if the farm price of corn falls much below $1 a bushel on the open market. The national average support price is $1.20.

On the other hand, the economists say that farmers who can grow consistently high yields at low costs might not benefit. The same would hold for producers who can easily shift to profitable alternatives such as sugar beets, soybeans or navy beans.

The farmer who feeds all his grain to livestock, or who needs a lot of corn silage or who believes he can grow yields well over his assigned "normal" yield will probably have little if anything to gain by complying with the volunteer program.

The state ASC has announced that the form for each farmer will include information to assist him in making up his mind.

The form will include his assigned base acreage of corn, his minimum and maximum acreage eligible for diversion payments and the payment rate per acre.

Payment rates for the first 20 per cent reduction in acreage are based on one-half the "normal" yield times the county support rate of approximately $1.22.

For cutting acreage more than 20 per cent — up to 40 per cent maximum — the payment rate is boosted to 60 per cent of the normal yield.

Leonard Kyle, MSU farm management specialist, has compared advantages of the program under a wide range of assumptions.

He concludes that while most cash-crop farmers will stand to gain under a minimum reduction of 20 per cent, it appears there will be little additional gain from reducing acreage above the minimum level unless variable costs are high or farm storage is not available.

Kyle notes that the livestock man faces a somewhat different situation. Since the stockman must have corn to feed, he stands to benefit from compliance principally from a low, free-market corn price.

He could place his own crop under support and buy corn on the market at a reduced price. This is just good business unless handling costs offset the price difference.

Although the law provides that farmers may take payment for diverted acres "in-kind," there have been no rulings to date that a farmer can receive his own corn in exchange for his certificates.

Once the livestock man reduces his acreage by the minimum to be eligible for price supports, there appear to be few cases where there will be much, if any benefit from greater reduction, especially if he does not have enough corn left for silage.

In arriving at decision however, Ballweg adds that some non-monetary considerations may also play a part.

Lower labor requirements, establishment of sod crops, weed control and land retirement might also be possible under provisions of the program.

Or, taking another point of view, "If it doesn't cost you anything, here's a good chance to help Secretary Freeman make the program work."

Kozan Tops at Ordnance School

Specialist Fourth Class Andrew L. Kozan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kozan of Cass City, has graduated as an honor student in the Fuel and Electrical System Repair course at the U. S. Army Ordnance School. He had the highest academic grade of 13 students in the class, according to Col. H. A. Snyder, commandant.

The commandant said, "specialist Kozan's accomplishments are outstanding and will make him a better soldier in service to his country. His conscientious application to duty as a student and his ability as a soldier are in keeping with the best traditions of the service."

Herd Averages 507 Pounds Butterfat

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new lactation average for the registered Holstein herd of Clare Carpenter and sons, Cass City, have 16 completed production records averaging 14,034 pounds of milk and 507 pounds of butterfat.

Those people who shoot at random seldom hit the target.

Community Conservation

Conservation Department officials are sounding the call for a new pilot program—free of higher taxes—to boost business in Michigan communities and improve local fishing, wildlife, land projects, recreation, and public understanding of outdoor problems. Their plan for progress is a joint effort between the Department and communities, sportsmen's clubs, and any other groups that want to help conservation and themselves by pitching in with time, money, equipment, know-how, and muscle. The idea of Community Conservation is not new, but more scope and output are needed. Most Department programs have slipped into low gear because they have run short of money. Development of public fishing sites, brushpile construction for game (top photo), state park cleanup work and expansion of roads (bottom photo), construction of campgrounds and picnic areas, waterfowl floodings, and other projects need to be carried forward. "Community Conservation," a pamphlet outlining what can be done locally, is now available at Box 3, Publications Room, State Conservation Department, Lansing 26.

Schoberts Feted on Golden Wedding

An estimated 150 friends and relatives attended a surprise open house for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schobert Sunday at their home.

The event was planned by the children of the couple in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schobert were born in Yugoslavia. Mr. Schobert married the former Barbara Trischler at St. Peters Church in Cleveland, Ohio, April 24, 1911.

Mr. Schobert worked for 10 years as a tool and die maker before coming to Gagetown to farm in 1917.

They lived in the Kingston area for 15 years and came to Cass City six years ago. He is now retired.

The couple are members of the St. Pancratius Church.

A buffet style ham dinner was served to guests. The Schoberts received many gifts and a sum of money.

The children of the Schoberts include: four daughters, Mrs. Joseph Steinetz (Mary) of Detroit, Mrs. William Grubb (Barbara) of Detroit, Mrs. Joseph Delmonica (Evelyn) of Reading, Pa., and Miss Ann Schobert of Reading, and four sons, Arthur of Columbus, Ohio, Walter of Caro, Frank Jr. of Kingston and Harold of Rochester.

The want ads are newsy, too.

Hawks Shut Out By Non-League Millington Nine

Cass City's baseball team was soundly beaten Thursday by the Millington Cardinals as Jerry Kalaja held the Hawks completely in check and registered a two-hit 7-0 shutout at Cass City Recreational Park.

Jerry Hillaker and Tim Anthes picked up the only Cass City hits. The Cardinals had little trouble solving the slants of Wayne Brown and Norm Sawicki. They rapped out 12 hits, 10 in the final three innings.

For five innings it was a tight pitchers' battle. The visitors scored two unearned runs in the second on a pair of walks and two errors.

Millington made it three to nothing in the sixth as they picked up a counter on three hits.

In the seventh they turned the game into a rout as they scored four runs on five hits . . . all after two men were out.

Judging by exhibition games this spring the biggest worry facing Coach Irv. Clasenman is: when are his charges going to start hitting? In two games the Hawks have picked up five hits in 48 times at bat for a puny .104 average.
