Demand Is Great

Library Offers Many Michigan Authors

One of the purposes of Michigan Week is to call attention to the state's literary heritage. Outstanding names in literature are interwoven in Michigan history and the works of many of these fine authors are available at the Cass City and Elkland Township Library, Mrs. Arthur Little, librarian, said this week.

Some of the more famous with Michigan backgrounds include Carl Sandburg, Ernest Hemingway, Arthur Miller, Ring Lardner, Edna Ferber and Clarence Budington Kelland.

The library has continually grown since started by the Woman's Study Club of Cass City and later turned over to the township and village.

New books are added regularly. About $400 a year is spent for books and some 25 magazine subscriptions.

These constant additions to the library have swelled the books available to over 7,000 and includes practically all of the best sellers in recent years, Mrs. Little said.

The variety offered is one reason the number of borrowers has grown to some 700 and the use of the library is increasing. March was the busiest month in history as 939 books were checked out.

Open Hours

The library is open 14 hours weekly. On Monday it is open from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday the hours are from 3 to 5 p.m. In addition, the facility is open from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Persons living in Elkland Township (including Cass City) use the facilities free. Persons in other townships pay a token fee of $1 a year.

Mrs. Little is the third registered librarian at the library.

Third Grade to Present Pageant

Third grade classes at Cass City School will present a pageant, "Our Michigan," today (Thursday) at 1:45 at the school. Parents have been invited.

The pageant will culminate the study of Michigan by the class and is held in conjunction with Michigan Week, May 21-27. The teachers who helped with this program are: Mrs. Howarth, Mrs. Profit, Mrs. Youngs, Mr. Parrish and Mrs. Esau.

Arrange Memorial Services

Plans have been completed for the annual Memorial Day observances in Cass City and in Grant township, according to announcements made this week by authorities in charge.

The Cass City ceremonies are under the direction of Elkland Supervisor Ed. Golding (representing the township) and Jerome Root Jr. (representing the village.)

As usual, the day will start Tuesday with a parade at 10:30 o'clock which will start at the corner of Main and West streets. Marching will be members of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies and the Cass City High School Band.

The marchers will be conducted to the Elkland Township Cemetery where memorial services will be held at about 11 a.m. The Rev. George Getchel will be the speaker this year.

Grant Township

Memorial services at the Grant township chapel in Grant cemetery will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Elder Olson McCallum, pastor of the RLDS Church of Owendale, will be the guest speaker.

The invocation will be by Rev. Leon Dayringer, pastor of the Grant Methodist Church, and the benediction by the Rev. R. J. Stanley, pastor of the Gagetown Nazarene Church.

Highlight of the event will include music by the Owengage band. Veterans and a color guard will march. Special music will be furnished by the EUB Church of Owendale.

2 Barns Burn, Home Saved In Area Fires

It was a busy week for the Elkland Township Fire Department which answered three alarms at area farms.

Tuesday afternoon a barn on the Martin Zawilinski farm, east of Cass City, burned to the ground. Destroyed were a quantity of hay and several pieces of farm machinery.

Mr. Zawilinski discovered the blaze as he was working in the field. By the time he was able to notify the department the fire was out of control. Walls were crumbling when the firefighters arrived.

Wednesday Blazes

Wednesday, May 17, another barn was lost. The department was called to the James Kish farm, five miles southeast of Cass City. Lost as the barn was razed were a brood sow, eight little pigs and a bull calf.

In a second fire Wednesday, firefighters were able to save the home of Mrs. Margaret Evans, east of Gagetown.

Promptly quelled was a blaze that had been discovered in the roof of the building.

Band Boosters To Fete Music Students Tonight

The Cass City Orchestra and Band Boosters will fete Cass City School instrumental music students at the annual awards dinner tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. Medals purchased by the Boosters will be awarded to students who received first or second division ratings in solo, ensemble and band festivals. Summer music scholarships will be awarded to deserving students. Director Donald Gillette has promised a few surprise awards, as well.

The new officers of the Boosters will be introduced and committee appointments announced. Gerald Stroupe is incoming president, succeeding Mrs. Audrey Horner. Cecil Barringer replaces Mr. Stroupe as vice-president and Mrs. B. H. Starmann will remain secretary-treasurer.

Feature of the evening will be a showing of a sound color film, "The MSU Band Presents the Rose Bowl Special." Mrs. Gilbert Albee is chairman of the dinner committee.

No Sports, Band, Art, Music at High School

Berrien Springs Beset With Problems, Kesterke Says

Cass City faces serious problems in administration of village affairs as rising costs keep councilmen searching for ways to make dollars do double duty, but the community's problems are few compared with those facing Mayor Edgar Kesterke and Berrien Springs.

Possibly hardest hit are the schools. Because of lack of operating funds, 15 teachers were laid off and all educational services with the exception of strict academic subjects have been discontinued. Berrien Springs High School has no band, no sports, no art and no music program.

No Tax Base

What makes the problem so hard for the community is that businesses and home owners pay all of the taxes... there is no industry.

Because of the competition of larger communities nearby, many of the stores have been forced out of business. There are now only two grocery stores in town and one of them is due to close, Mr. Kesterke said, and the other is moving just outside the city limits.

Owengage Seniors To Graduate Friday Night

Commencement exercises for the class of 1961 of the Owengage-Gagetown area schools will be Friday evening, May 26, at 8:00 o'clock.

Mr. Woodward C. Smith, vice-president of Public Services, Central Michigan University, will deliver the commencement address. The title of his address is "Last Chance."

Salutatorian for the class is Miss Mary Anne Kain and valedictorian is Miss Beverly Wiles. Reverend Frank L. McLaughlin of St. Agatha Church of Gagetown will give the invocation and benediction. The organist will be Mrs. Raymond Tooley of Gagetown.

The community has a budget of $146,000, considerably higher than that of Cass City.

Berrien Springs has solved its garbage disposal problem. It contracts the work to a concern that has a compactor and owns disposal grounds. It works well, he said, because the same concern handles the disposal for Niles, some five miles away.

While here, Cass City's achievements and problems were explained by a committee headed by Councilman B. A. Calka.

Mr. Calka, in charge of the exchange day, expressed appreciation to the individuals and civic groups who helped entertain the Kesterkes while in Cass City.

Gagetown Exchange

Gagetown's visitors, Mayor and Mrs. Robert O'Sullivan and Councilman and Mrs. Merle Streeter of Middleville, had a different story to tell. They said that they had a nicely balanced town and several small industries that helped to keep the tax load in balance.

Zontians Fete Mrs. Kesterke; Senior Citizens

Zontians capped a busy week Monday by sponsoring a tea in honor of Mrs. Edgar Kesterke, wife of the visiting mayor from Berrien Springs, at the home of Mrs. James Bauer.

The tea followed a senior citizens' party at the Bauer home Sunday.

Guests at the tea were presented an orchid and greeted by Zonta members.

Judy Muntz and Carol Fritz, home economics students, poured. Mrs. Katie Jackson, home economics teacher, assisted the Zonta members at the tea.

An estimated 50 persons were present to honor the visiting dignitary.

Senior Citizens

Thirty-five senior citizens attended the second party sponsored by Zontians. A Hawaiian motif featured the party and guests were greeted by Zontians in Hawaiian garb. Hawaiian background music added to the atmosphere of the party. Orchids flown from Hawaii were given to guests.

Highlight of the afternoon was two Hawaiian dances by Becky Champion amid a background of palms and flowers. She wore a hula grass skirt and costume brought from Hawaii.

Colored slides of Hawaii were shown and the table was decorated in keeping with the theme of the party. Hawaiian cookies, tea cakes and sandwiches were served at the tea. Mrs. Betty Bassett and Mrs. Mary Leeson poured. Zontians provided transportation for the guests.

Ask 3 Extra Mills for Operating

Local School Seeks Funds

Tuscola county's superintendents of schools were to have met Wednesday noon at the Hotel Montague in Caro to discuss plans to fight for a larger share of the tax money in the county.

Allotted 8½ mills by the county tax allocation board, the various school prexys plan to ask the state tax commission for 11½ mills for operating expenses.

Not even the most optimistic of the superintendents believe that they will receive that many mills.

Most observers believe that they would be satisfied if they received an additional mill for operating. The tax allocation board has allotted two mills for townships and 4½ mills for county operating expenses. Fifteen mills is all that can be spread under the tax limitation law. A mill equals a dollar for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Increased operating expenses that have plagued all schools in recent years have caught up with the Cass City School District.

The school has been operating on 8½ mills and has been steadily running behind and the day of reckoning is at hand. The school board has voted to ask for a three-mill special operating tax this year. The measure will be placed on a special ballot to be voted on June 12.

Coupled with an increase of about a third in state equalized valuation, the school would receive a healthy boost in operating funds. This year the school's operating tax revenues were $96,565.65. The extra three mills on the new valuation would boost that by some $45,000.

Snover Youth Hurt In Tractor Accident

Joseph Kipp, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kipp of Snover, suffered a fractured pelvis in a farm accident Saturday.

He fell off a tractor which was pulling a spreader and was run over by one wheel. He is a patient in Hills and Dales General Hospital where he was treated by Dr. H. T. Donahue.

WSC in Final Meeting of Season

The Woman's Study Club held its final meeting of the season Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Schwaderer in Cass City.

The meeting was highlighted by the annual reports of committee members and a review of the year's business.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Mary D'Arcy told of the rural-urban meeting she attended as a delegate of the club.

When the club reconvenes next fall it will be under the direction of Mrs. Otto Goertsen, new president. Mrs. Goertsen will serve for two years. Retiring president is Mrs. William Wetters who has completed a two-year term.

Passes in Cass City

Deford Defeats Annexation

Annexation of the Deford Community School District to the Cass City District was defeated Monday by Deford voters who turned down the measure by substantial majorities as Cass City voters were approving the annexation.

Little interest was shown by voters in either district. Only 286 went to the polls in Cass City and 155 in Deford.

The results were surprising enough in that the Deford district would have realized a tax savings with the annexation while the cost to Cass City taxpayers would have increased slightly.

In Deford, proposition one (should Deford annex to Cass City) was defeated 93-61. Proposition two (to approve a change in the tax limitation) went down 101-5 and proposition three (for Deford to assume its share of Cass City's debt) was defeated 85-56.

In the Cass City district, two propositions were placed before the voters. Number one, for the district to assume a pro rata share of the Deford debt, was approved 166 to 120. Proposition two, for the lifting of the tax limitations, was passed 154-114.

Dream Tour for Queen

Michigan Bean Queen Mary Ann Hobart of Gagetown is on a 10-day trip to California with stops in Arizona, Illinois and Tennessee where she is meeting notables and recording for several national television programs. She is one of four Michigan agricultural queens on the trip.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday she made her guest appearance on the TV shows that will be presented via tape over national networks.

Viewers will see Mary on "It Could Be You" (NBC-TV) Tuesday, May 30. May 31 she is slated to appear on "About Faces" (ABC-TV) and on June 1, "Queen for a Day" (ABC-TV) will show Miss Hobart and the other queens. Her final appearance will be on "Truth and Consequences" (NBC-TV) June 2.

Other highlights of the trip include recording for Grand Ole Opry, visiting with Governor Swainson and visiting western tourist attractions. The girls traveled by train on the trip.

The tour is part of an annual promotion to show Michigan's importance as a contributor to the nation's food supply.

Mary Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hobart.

Rotarians Told Scout Fair Success

Horace Bulen and Keith McConkey reported to Cass City Rotarians Tuesday noon that the annual Scout Fair at Saginaw was an outstanding success.

They said that some 30,000 persons crowded the exhibit buildings at the Saginaw Fairgrounds where Scouts had erected three buildings full of exhibits.

Cass City scouts participated by flying gas engines.

In other business, Dick Erla announced that there are ample tickets available for the annual excursion to the Detroit Race.

Concluded on page eight.

From the Editor's Corner

As a trout fisherman we can't help but be a little green-eyed over the success enjoyed by Grant (Whitey) Strickland while trout fishing this week.

He came home the early part of the week from his job in the north with a 17½-inch Brown trout caught in Klacking Creek.

The very next day he came back with two more caught in the Au Sable with flies. One was about 18 inches and the other was about 21 inches. All of these fish are larger than many avid trout fishermen, including this editor, have ever caught in Michigan.

Every so often a picture or story from Cass City is picked up by wire services and used in many dailies across the country. When this happens we almost invariably get a clipping from some Cass City area folks who have moved away. Latest was the picture and story about Mort Orr as the oldest fireman in Cass City. The item appeared in the Billings (Mont.) Gazette.

The first home grown produce we've received were radishes from Harry Little who came in clutching a big handful, proud of his green thumb. Probably have corn next week, Harry said, with a grin.

Did you know that each one of us have an uninvited guest at our dinner table every day? He is a hearty eater, too, for he adds 25 per cent to your food bill.

This uninvited guest is "Mr. Hidden Tax Man," according to Paul S. Willis, president of Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc. Mr. Willis says that out of every $5.00 you spend at the grocery store, hidden taxes take at least a dollar. In other words, you get $4.00 worth of grocery but pay $5.00 for them.

This extra dollar goes for a bewildering variety of taxes which are necessarily included in the net price you pay for your grocery items. These taxes have been paid out as costs by each of those people who cooperate in bringing food from farm to table: retailers, wholesalers, food manufacturers, can manufacturers, truckers, railroaders, farmers and all who furnish the industry with supplies and equipment.

Taxes are now the number one item in family expenses and the nation's tax bill has been mounting steadily. Traditionally, the largest item of family spending was for food, but in recent years it has been far outstripped by taxes.

Corn Silage Can
Up Dairy Profit

Tuscola county dairymen should consider replacing part of the hay in the ration of the milking cow with corn silage, remarks Don R. Kehler, county extension agent for Tuscola county.

The higher nutrient yields of corn silage mean less acres needed to provide feed for the herd and more efficient use of crop land.

Many Michigan farmers are able to produce yields of 100 bushels of silage per acre or 18 to 20 tons of silage per acre.

It takes a hay yield of six tons to be equal in feeding value to eighteen tons of corn silage, says Kehler. Not many Michigan farmers are getting this kind of hay yield.

The use of corn silage instead of hay moves part of the harvest into the fall. And, with less hay to harvest in early June, the farmer has a better chance to make top quality hay.

Farmers don't have to depend on the weather for harvesting corn silage and can work around the clock at filling time if necessary.

By using field choppers, blowers, silo unloaders and automatic feeders, the growing, harvesting and feeding of corn silage can be entirely mechanized. Hay handling as yet has not reached this stage of mechanization.

Corn silage serves as both a roughage and a grain. The grain in the silage can replace about one-half of the total grain milking cows need. With good yields of corn silage, the added value of the roughage will almost pay for the supplement which needs to be fed with corn silage.

Farmers need to add about four per cent protein in the form of a 44 per cent supplement when feeding corn silage to cows. This is 80 pounds of supplement for each ton of silage. Good quality hay should be fed daily to each cow when feeding high levels of corn silage. Corn silage is deficient in vitamin A or carotene. By feeding five to ten pounds of hay daily, the vitamin A requirements of the cow are easily met.

Earlyweed control with Premerge costs less than cultivation!

Applied to bean, field pea, corn and potato crops at planting time or before crop emerges, Premerge® controls weed and grass seedlings when a wet spring delays or makes cultivation impossible. You can eliminate several expensive early cultivations . . . give young crops a head start toward bigger yields. Premerge may actually cost less than tillage, and up to 70% less than other products . . . and since it kills weeds by contact, you can use it on or near many crops susceptible to 2,4-D.

Esteron 99 — kills weeds that other weed killers find too hard to handle
... yet costs as little as 25¢ an acre

It's not what a 2,4-D costs—but what it controls that counts. More farmers buy and rely on Esteron 99® for they find it's too costly to experiment with less-known brands. Tests show it's extra effective and easy to apply . . . doesn't foam . . . mixes easily in hard water, and sprays evenly. A single gallon covers many acres—an extra bushel an acre more than pays the cost. Order your supply of America's leading brand of weed killer today.

Early Hay Has Top Feed Value

Tuscola county dairymen can increase milk production by harvesting hay at an early date, says Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Cows in a milk-production trial at Michigan State University produced 85 pounds more milk from each ton of hay harvested in the pre-bud stage than from hay cut at three-quarters bloom. The cows received no grain during this trial.

An average Holstein cow will eat about four and one-half tons of hay during a 240-day barn-feeding season. On this basis, the additional return of $10 to $17 for a ton of early-cut hay results in $45 to $75 worth of additional milk from each cow.

Hay harvested in the bud stage is usually more digestible, higher in protein and more palatable.

Dairymen should plan to start hay harvesting when the stand reaches one-tenth bloom, says Ballweg. This is usually during the last week of May or early June in East Lansing. Harvesting should be finished before the hay reaches the half-bloom stage. Rain which usually falls in early June can increase the yield of the second cutting if the first cutting is harvested early.

There is a chance some years of harvesting a third cutting if the first cutting is removed early.

Early cut hay is often difficult to dry without a drier because of the possibility of frequent rains. Farmers are cautioned against cutting hay before it reaches the bud stage. Cutting before this time can lower the yield and damage a stand on poorly drained soils.

Wet Weather Causes Sick Grain

Slow growing, poor colored, sick looking wheat has been quite noticeable this spring. This condition can be caused by the weather, remarks Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture.

Upon observation of many fields, it has been noticed the wheat and other small grains show symptoms of one or more nutrient deficiencies. But upon closer study it was found that in many cases there were enough nutrients applied to the crop so that under normal growing conditions these deficiencies were not likely to have occurred. In some cases the deficiencies were present because sufficient nutrients had not been used.

To better define the situation, let's take a good look at the general run of this spring's weather conditions up to now. This winter was, relatively speaking, a dry winter, and when the last of the snow was off very little moisture had accumulated in our soils. After a prolonged period of little rain and much cold weather, there was a siege of wet, cold weather. All this time the soil really never warmed up much. As a result the growing plants were remaining relatively dormant, the plant food nutrients in the quantity needed.

Soil bacterial action was at a slowed up rate and therefore less nutrients were made available for the plants.

In general, cold, wet weather and soils cause the retardation of the availability and the uptake of nutrients by plants; and if the nutrients are in the soil in the quantities needed for normal growth, they will do the job intended when the soil conditions improve.

After the warming up period over the week-end of Mothers' Day, Kebler noticed the small grains are starting to improve in appearance; and if the warming trend continues, properly fertilized crops on well-managed soils will come along normally.

Hawks Cop Thumb B Track Toga

Cass City's thincads continued their domination of Thumb B track Wednesday, May 17, when they walked off with an easy victory at Caro by piling up 71½ points to 53½ for second place Frankenmuth.

It marked the seventh straight year that the Hawks have copped the Thumb B meet. Not since 1954, when Marlette won the meet at Crosswell in the early days of the Thumb B Conference, have the Hawks failed to win. That year they finished fourth.

Cass City's record-breaking speedster, Paul Holmberg, paced Cass City to victory. He coasted to victories in the 100, 220, and broad jump and then anchored the 880 relay team for the Hawks.

Other schools in the meet finished in the following order: Vassar, 89 2/5; Elkton-Pigeon Bay Port, 24; Sandusky, 28½; Marlette, 22 7/10; Caro, 20 7/10; and Bad Axe, 19.

Dedication Held At Legion Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Glen McClorey, Mr. and Mrs. Vern McConnell and Mrs. Arthur Little went to Mt. Clemens Sunday to attend a meeting of the Seventh district association of American Legion Posts and Auxiliaries. Dedication of the new Post building was made with the Department of Michigan Legion commander officiating. Preceding separate meetings for the women and the men, a joint memorial service was held. Mrs. McClorey, chairman for the Cass City Auxiliary, placed three red carnations in memory of three deceased members, Mrs. Louise McConnell, Mrs. Anna Patterson and Mrs. Sylvia Hall. The Cass City American Legion lost one member during the past year, Earl W. Douglas.

Sixty-two members from 16 Auxiliary Units in the district were present. The president, Miss Patricia Donaldson of Port Huron, presided in a Dutch cap and wooden shoes in honor of the Department of Michigan president, Mrs. Edna Schuitema of Holland, who, along with Neta Cornelisse of Detroit, Department of Michigan secretary-treasurer, were guests.

Reports from the chairman of the Billet board showed that 81 children are now being cared for at the Billet at Otter Lake and there is a waiting list.

The Seventh district voted a $25.00 contribution for entertainment of the veterans who are patients in the Saginaw county hospital.

The next Seventh district meeting will be the annual meeting at Otter Lake June 11.

After the meeting Cass Cityites visited the Leigh McConnell home at Mt. Clemens, the Don McConnell home at Utica and the William Cellner home near Rochester.

Cass City Bows in Baseball; Finishes Second in League

A loss to Vassar in a game at Cass City Recreational Park Friday cost Cass City a share in the Thumb B Conference title. In a sloppily played game the Hawks bowed to the Vulcans, 12-10.

The defeat became a major importance after the Hawks defeated Bad Axe Monday, 7-2, to tie for second. A win against the Vulcans would have tied them for the championship.

Cass City's pitching, good all spring, fell apart against Vassar. Marvin McCormick started; was chased in the second. Wayne Brown came to the mound and was cuffed hard before Sophomore Norm Sawicki took over.

Cass City's defense was as poor as its pitching. The Hawks committed seven errors to help Vassar score 12 runs on 13 hits.

Vassar jumped off to a commanding early lead, but Cass City rallied to tie the game only to see the Vulcans come back with a pair of tallies to take the game.

Vassar picked up two in the second on a pair of singles, a walk, two stolen bases and a wild pitch. They made it 4-0 in the top of the third on three hits, a hit batter and a stolen base. The game was decided in the seventh as Vassar rapped out four hits, with an error and a stolen base for the winning two to tie the game.

The line score:

V	12	420	2
CC	10	520	0

Bad Axe Game
The pitching returned to normal against Bad Axe and the Hawks topped the Hatchets, 7-2, runs. Brown was charged with Wayne Brown gained his fifth victory of the year and lost his shutout in the last inning after the Hawks had salted the game away.

Cass City scored in the first. With two out, Robinson singled and Retherford tripled. In the second, a walk to Hillaker, Morley's sacrifice and Karr's single to center scored a run. When the centerfielder let the ball get by him, Karr romped home with the second run.

Neither team scored after the second until the sixth when the Hawks iced the game with four markers.

Retherford made a leg hit and took second on a poor throw. Brown singled him home. Hillaker bunted safely and Karr rapped a triple to send two runners across. He scored on a single by Anthes.

The line score:

BA	2	000	0
CC	7	120	004

Final Game
The final game of the season is slated tonight (Thursday) under the lights at Mayville.

Forty Years Forward in Conservation

PAST

"Michigan Marching Forward," is this year's theme of Michigan Week to be held May 21-27. It would also make a fitting title for the story of conservation in this state during the past 40 years. Although there have been setbacks and tough sledding since the Conservation Department and Commission were formed in 1921, the net result of these four decades has been marked progress in the management and enjoyment of Michigan's natural resources. Progress has come in many forms through many different avenues. Advances have been made by changing approaches in some areas. The old practice of collecting and rearing huge numbers of small bluegills and perch "to improve fishing" has been scrapped in favor of such measures as seining and treatment of lakes to weed out undesirable fish. Far-sighted forestry practices and giant strides in forest fire control have led millions of burned-over, cut-over acres back to growing, productive forests. Pheasants reared at the Department's Mason state game farm and released in the wild during the early years "hatched" a sport which yields more than 1,000,000 ringnecks to hunters each fall. The pictures above provide, of course, but a glimpse of conservation's forward march during the last 40 years.

Legislature's Tight Money Policies Could Both Help and Hurt Michigan

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
If it comes off, and only time will tell, the 1961 Michigan Legislature may find that its greatest accomplishment was in that intangible and controversial realm known as "national image."

Tight budgets and no new taxes, concrete actions of this year's session, could well lead to a reversal of the national picture of Michigan as a perennial problem state.

Scars from the "Cash Crisis" of 1959 and the tax squabble of 1960 will remain, but the wounds might at least be allowed to heal.

True, Michigan will still be beset by problems of unemployment, automation, labor disputes, rural-urban bickering and controversy between the two major political parties, but the sorrowful and oftentimes needless damage wrought by stalemate and blunder and faulty financial management may be on the way to repair.

If so, both parties can claim part of the credit despite a Republican Legislature and a Democratic governor. While education, mental health and other vital areas of state government will have to get along on less money than they had hoped to have available for fiscal 1961-62, it is hoped they can get through one more year of austerity.

It was, after all, only something of a political misfortune that at least token increases in the tight operating budgets recommended by Legislative appropriating committees for the crucial areas of government weren't increased.

The willingness to add was there, but disagreements over the means and who would get the credit prevented any increases. Republican lawmakers frankly say they are happy with the budget as it was passed. In fact, they are anxious to claim credit for what they hope is a return to fiscal responsibility for Michigan.

Gov. John B. Swainson wants it clearly understood that any cutbacks in state services, educational or otherwise, are the fault of the GOP.

But privately, many Democratic senators and representatives are not too displeased with the $462.6 million operating budget, which is, of course, a record high for Michigan.

The reasoning is that if it takes a year of belt-tightening to prevent future unfavorable publicity such as the recent Saturday Evening Post article on "Michigan, the Problem State," then the price may not be too high.

Important part of the price involves the risk to the quality of higher education. Despite the record budget, educators are faced with providing facilities and education for a still more startling record number of students.

As salary increases are eliminated or reduced; as facilities like libraries and classrooms become more outmoded and overcrowded, staff people lose enthusiasm for their work. The most talented instructors find it easier to accept offers from other institutions where they are paid more, have better conditions. The mediocre get fewer offers and tend to stay. At the same time, it becomes more difficult to interest first-rate instructors to join the Michigan faculties. The result becomes an average or less teaching staff.

It is not increased work loads these college people object to, it is lack of tools and lack of what they consider appreciation or respect for education.

The people of Michigan must decide soon if they want to support higher education at a level which will grind out students after mediocre training period or at a level which will permit true university training.

"You have less money per student than previously," the Legislature tells education administrators, "but you had better not limit your enrollment so that qualified students cannot get in or you'll reckon with us." The only thing that can give the quality of the education or tuition fees which were increased $24 per year only last year.

The key to the 1961 Michigan Legislature rating in the historical record book may be found in the national economic picture overall.

If there is recovery in the durable goods market, it is almost sure to be reflected in a rosier fiscal picture for Michigan.

Budgets are based on frankly pessimistic revenue estimates. Swainson actually formulated his recommendations on revenue estimates some $15 million higher than those used by lawmakers.

There could be a surplus of revenue, which might be applied to the state deficit, estimated at $62 million by June 30.

While governmental theorists can argue endlessly about the desirability of operating in the black, there can be no doubt that it looks good on paper, and that is where a great many of Michigan's fiscal troubles have been, on paper.

One more bright spot in terms of national prestige is in the offing for the state.

THE FEVER

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where officials at Harvard are discussing the idea of reducing enrollment. This could be a topic that might be taken up by the Congress and maybe call for a Senate investigation.

The Republicans has been complaining since January that the country is suffering from an over-supply of Harvard men, that a heap of our troubles is coming from that source. They'll claim that Harvard has took this step to protect the national interests. The Democrats will claim it was pressure from the Republican money boys. This could be the first time in history one of our big colleges has got caught in a squeeze between Wall Street and Pennsylvania Avenue. I'm watching for developments in this thing very carefully, Mister Editor.

With all this mess going on in Africa, they was another item in the papers the other day that didn't get the proper attention. A Government official from one of them new African states got too far into the brush and was eat up by his cannibal constituents. If them African natives consider politicians a choice morsel, we could send 'em several of ours. I'll let you have first pick, Mister Editor.

Speaking of politicians, I see where some feller at the convention of the American Science Institute said last week that it was now possible to tell what a chicken was saying when it cackled. I'm hoping that at their next annual convention they'll announce an invention for telling what a politician is saying when he cackles. That would be the first major breakthrough we've had in Washington since Abe Lincoln announced Government was of the people, for the people, and by the people.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was viewing with alarm this new trend for everybody in Government to hold a press conference about ever other day. Ed Doolittle allowed as how he couldn't get nothing on his radio and TV no more but some feller meeting the press. Everybody was agreed it's good for people to know what's going on, but some of the fellers said it would also be nice if our public servants would spend a little time on the job.

Zeke Grubb brung up the idea that maybe farmers and ranchers ought to hold a press conference about once a year. A heap of times, claimed Zeke, things has happened years afore the politicians can git it announced at a press conference. For instance, when Roosevelt called a press conference in 1932 to announce that farms was washing away and that he was starting a soil erosion program, Zeke said he'd already had four farms washed away.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Physically Afflicted Also Need Help

The education of all children is important. The education of a physically handicapped child is especially so, for it may mean the success or failure of the whole rehabilitation process and life adjustment. It is not necessary that all physically handicapped children remain at home or be sent off to special schools. They can attend school here in your county and we can provide for their special needs with an adequate program of special education.

An orthopedically handicapped child, (commonly called physically handicapped) is one who is defective in bone, joint, or muscle to the extent that regular classroom attendance in school is impractical or impossible. Such a child may be handicapped by polio, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, heart condition, or some other crippling cause.

Most of these children are delicate. Their physical handicap is such that they have difficulty in getting about, thus becoming easily fatigued. The program and the physical facilities of the school must be adjusted for these children. The subject matter taught is essentially the same as for other children, but the teaching methods are geared to the requirements of children with physical limitation.

Many of these children must have daily physical or occupational therapy. Consequently each program for these children should provide the regular services of a specially trained physical therapist. In giving treatment, the therapist follows the directions of the child's physician.

Special classrooms and treatment rooms for physically handicapped are usually established in regular elementary and junior high schools. Equipment and furniture are specially constructed and modified to accommodate the needs of individual children.

All teachers of physically handicapped children must be specially qualified and approved by the Department of Public Instruction.

They are trained to understand the physical conditions of each child, and are able to design a course of instruction suited to the child's physical condition and ability to accomplish the work assigned. Classes are small, with ten to fifteen children per teacher. Many children attending these rooms leave their sheltered classrooms to take part in as many regular school activities as they are physically able.

Education of Homebound Child
Some children are physically handicapped or ill to the extent they cannot attend school, even though a special room is available. In some of these cases, the condition might be permanent. In others it might be of a rather temporary nature. In either case, such children are usually taught in the home.

They are visited a minimum of two times per week by a teacher who is specially trained and certified for the task. Insofar as practical, the home teacher provides the same type of work which the child would be getting if he were attending classes in his neighborhood school.

If the child is on the homebound program temporarily, the special teacher keeps a close contact with the child's regular teacher. In this way, the student works on material similar to that of his classmates, and finds it relatively easy to rejoin his class. If the child is homebound permanently, the teacher adjusts the program to meet his special needs.

If experience is a good teacher may have a liberal education.

Richard Erla, one of the owners of the Erla Food Center, announced that the grand opening of the enlarged store would be held this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson McIntosh of Snover will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday, June 3, with an open house. The former Ethel Newkirk married Emerson McIntosh June 6, 1906, and they have made their home in this vicinity all of their married life. John Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Douglas, was one of six persons in the United States to be awarded a David Sarnoff Fellowship. Mr. Douglas was called to New York for an interview concerning the fellowship two weeks ago. Last week he received a telegram saying he had been selected for the grant.

Residents of Deerfield arranged a full day activities for Cass City Village President James Bauer as he was guest mayor Monday during the annual mayor's exchange, a highlight of Michigan Week. A similar program was arranged for Mayor Francis Cain of Deerfield in Cass City.

Various hobbies are creating much public interest of late. Mrs. F. E. Werdeman of R.F.D. 2, Cass City, a teacher in the Gagetown schools, and her daughter, Theresa Ann, an eighth grade pupil, are the owners of an interesting collection of dolls. At present they have a doll over fifty years old, some from foreign countries, many story-book dolls, and others, numbering about thirty-five in all.

At the May 10 meeting of the Auxiliary to the Tuscola County Medical Society at Murray Hall, Caro State Hospital, the following new officers were elected: President, Mrs. F. L. Morris, Cass City; vice-president, Mrs. H. L. Nigg, Caro; secretary, Mrs. R. R. Howlett, Caro, and treasurer, Mrs. James Ballard, Cass City.

The herd of thirty registered Holstein cows owned by Dr. H. T. Donahue of Cass City emerged with top honors in the Tuscola County dairy herd improvement association report for April. The Donahue herd averaged 1204 pounds of milk and 51.6 pounds of butterfat per cow last month.

How so few... Feed so many

All of us are understandably proud of the achievements of American industry. Yet how many of us realize that in the eyes of the rest of the world our agricultural achievements are perhaps even more impressive.

Why? Because ours is the only country in the world where so few feed so many.
Take Russia, for example: 45% of the population must work the land in order to grow barely enough food for the country's needs. In other countries, as high as 90% of the population works the land; yet famine is an ever present threat. Our population is only 9% farmers, yet they provide abundant food for all of us. What's more, this small minority produces more, buys more, sells more, creates more jobs than any other industry.

How is it possible?
Efficiency is the answer. Our farmers have increased their efficiency more in the last 20 years than in the preceding 120 years. They now produce 71% more food per acre, 300% more food per man hour than was possible even thirty years ago.

What does this mean to you and me?
Abundant food—important as that is to all of us—is only part of the answer. For as farm efficiency increases, our food bill takes less and less of our income. Thirty years ago, for example, food took 42% of the average income; today it takes only 21%. Thirty years ago the average wage earner worked 15 minutes to buy a quart of milk; today he works only 7 minutes.

Farmers, indeed, are few in number. Yet their contribution is great—to our economy and to our prestige in the eyes of the world.

Stand Still A Moment and Listen

By Rene Warren

How I found time last week to get my column written is a conundrum to me!

First of all, our extension group at Shabbona was busily engaged in rehearsals and plans for the variety show we presented last Friday night and, second, I was trying to plan a short talk that I made last Thursday evening in Caseville. Then, sadly, we received news of the death of a friend's mother and my sister and I were requested to sing at the funeral... so, for many reasons, last week was just jammed full.

Did you ever stand still for a moment and listen? All the activities go on, the birds continue to sing, the clouds continue to sail along in the blue sky overhead and you suddenly realize how very mortal you are? I think it's good for us to do this every once in awhile; for me, it helps me to keep my values on an even keel - helps me to try to be more kind and less impatient - helps me to remember to try to "keep my house in order." Not that I believe in the proverb "Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we die"... au contraire: I believe in living as though I were to live forever. But, I try not to put off the good things I should say or do; I try (believe it or not) to keep from saying harsh and unkind words. I should like to "so live, that when my summons comes to join the innumerable caravan which moves to that mysterious realm, where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death, I go not, like the quarry slave at night, scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach my grave." I don't think William Cullen Bryant will mind my paraphrasing a portion of his "Thanatopsis."

Morbid? I don't think so. After all, as Haliburton wrote, "Death and taxes are inevitable." ***
A week ago, my sister and I went to a nearby swale to search for wildflowers. The hepaticas and adder tongues were past blooming but we found trilliums, cowslips, violets and several others. I dug up a white violet, brought it home and planted it on the north side of the house. It's still growing and the flowers are continuing to bloom. I've been told that the trillium is protected by law... perhaps someone can tell me if this law pertains to those growing on one's own property. I'd like to know. Not that I want to pick them (they're not an especially desirable cut flower!) but I'd like to transplant some to my yard.

My beatnik friend Ike says, "Man who flips lid, spills beans." How true. We say in the heat of anger those things which are much, much better left unsaid. I worked with a girl once who was a chain smoker; somehow, holding the cigarette 'tween her fingers as she searched for things on her desk, she managed to dribble ashes over everything. I found this rather untidy and it annoyed me - however, it was her desk so I kept my mouth closed. Then one day we were mildly squabbling about a mis-filed letter. She had filed it under the initial of the company name and I insisted it should have been filed under the surname. One thing led to another and I remember saying irately, "At least I don't dribble ashes all over everything. Your desk is always a mess."

Of course we solved our problem and were friends again... but every now and then, as she would pick up a letter and shake ashes off it, she'd say something rather apologetically about the ashes... and each time she did I felt ashamed.

So: Best not to flip lid... then no danger of spilling beans. ***
I'd like to put in a little plug for the effort being put forth at this time in Tuscola County for the establishment of a school for retarded children. We are becoming increasingly aware of the needs of these children... this is good. If you wish to help in this cause please contact Joe Riley.

There are substitutes in some lines, but none for practice.
