Storm Lashes Area

The electrical storm that raged in the area the afternoon of August 5 caused considerable damage to some farms southwest of town and to the chimney on the Elementary School Building in Cass City.

There has been no estimate of the cost involved in repairing the chimney, according to Superintendent of Schools Willis Campbell.

"The adjusters can't estimate the damage on this yet because they don't know if the lining is damaged inside the chimney," Mr. Campbell said.

No serious damage was done to anything but the chimney. The lightning bolt, that hit the building, made a couple of holes in the roof and water leaked in through them.

As far as could be seen, no damage was done to the boiler room directly below the chimney. However, the electrical circuit have not yet been checked.

Mr. Campbell stressed that the building is fully covered by insurance.

Five different insurance companies cover the whole elementary building and they will share in the cost of repairing the damage, he said.

Lightning that accompanied the rainstorm did considerable damage on the McConnell farms southwest of town.

The barn on the late Mrs. Charles McConnell's farm was struck by lightning, knocking out a piece of the stone wall and doing other damage. At the house the entire wiring system was damaged.

On the farm of Vern McConnell the telephone went out of commission.

Due to the fine wheat-harvesting weather, crowds were slightly lower at this year's 12th annual Home-coming than in previous years, but many area residents reported that the free full day of activities, sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, was the finest they could recall.

Contests and competition, with many prizes and awards, including horse pulling contest, livestock show, parade, Scotch band, water ballet demonstration and the queen's crowning were a few of the features that drew well over a thousand persons to Cass City Aug. 8.

"We consider the Home-coming a success," said Chamber President Jerry Priesskorn.

Home-coming Queen
Out of 14 contestants, a Gagetown girl reigned at the Cass City Home-coming.

Miss Joanne Miljure, 16, was chosen by the four judges, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Monte, both of Caro, to wear this year's crown. Miss Miljure is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miljure of Gagetown.

Miss Donna Wildman, 18, of Gagetown and Miss Judy Harbec, 20, of Cass City completed Queen Joanne's court.

Display Wares of Four Local Plants

The world's the market place for several Cass City manufacturers.

Last week's local manufacturers' Home-coming booth illustrated the variation in the products Cass City offers the rest of the country.

General Insulated Wire Works, a Division of General Cable Corporation, ships its products all over, according to George Murray, demonstrator for the company at their Home-coming exhibit.

"We supply telephone companies, power companies and appliance companies," he said.

Behind him lay the products of Insulated Wire: cables and wire of different shapes, sizes and colors made for a wide range of uses.

Cable for submersible water pumps, different colored cords for telephones geared to match modern decorating schemes and cut to show the color-coded wires inside, heavy cables for electric ranges and other appliance cords were a few of the products exhibited by General Insulated Wire.

The plant, within six months, has the potential of supplying close to 1,000 companies, according to an employee.

Now the Cass City plant serves about 100 appliance and 25 other companies using cables. It has also made shipments to Canada.

Rod Krueger, an engineer at the Anrod Screen Cylinder Company, said that Anrod serves about 200 different companies in the United States.

"We make screens and strainers for aircraft, refrigerators and other appliances, paint sprayers and steam and automotive engines," he said.

Anrod's display at the Home-coming featured screens of all sizes.

One jar contained hundreds of "pill" screens, tiny automotive replacement parts placed inside capsules to keep them clean. There were heavy glass fruit jars with wire reinforcement screens around them planned to keep the jars from shattering.

Some screens are so fine they are called wire cloth.

Notice:
August 15, 1961 is the last day for collection of village taxes at 1 per cent fee. Wilma S. Fry, Treasurer.

"We go up to 320 wires an inch," Mr. Krueger said.

Anrod has been in Cass City about seven years and makes more than 1,000 parts.

Walbro Corporation makes 200 different models of carburetors, three variations of the Autopulse electric fuel pump and has a new fuel oil lift pump for heating-type oil.

C. Clark Boylan said the company serves all North America with 60 warehouses in the United States, six in Canada and an export division.

Walbro's exhibit had been from New York to Los Angeles in various trade shows, according to Mr. Boylan.

"So far it's been taken care of by our export division but since they're planning a trip to Hawaii, we hope the home office will send personnel with the exhibit," he said with a smile.

The fourth exhibitor at the manufacturers' booth was Tusco Products. The plant makes auto equipment. Exhibited at the booth were two large floor mats for automobiles.

From the Editor's Corner

Here's an interesting statistic. A check of the poll book revealed that there are about 90 teachers and spouses who were eligible to vote at the school election June 12. Of this group about 33 failed to vote.

How uninterested can you get?

Tim Knight and the Doerns have gotten a lot of mileage out of their "Flintstones" float. The clever take-off on the popular TV show was awarded the top prize in the kids' parade at the Home-coming Thursday. It also was a prize winner in the annual "On-Wheels" parade in the summer recreation program and at the Unionville Home-coming.

The Cass City Band was conspicuous by its absence in the parade at the Home-coming Thursday. It's the first time we can recall that it didn't participate.

Here's an article from the St. Johns Republican News that we think is well worth reprinting:

"A Fable?"
"A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development."

Wood said he was about the third person to arrive at the Wright home.

After he had been there about an hour, Wood attempted to talk to Wright.

"I hollered at him and asked if I could come in and talk," Wood said.

Wright told Wood that he could if he came unarmed.

"I was greeted with a rifle," Wood said.

When asked why he wanted to go in and talk to Wright, Wood said:

"There were 50 to 75 persons milling around and I was afraid someone would get hurt."

Wood said that he had known who Wright was before Monday's drama.

Wright was sitting on the top of the stairs, holding the rifle, and Wood said he stood at the bottom and talked to him for about 20 minutes alone until joined by State Police Cpl. James

Lutherans to Dedicate New Parsonage

Area Lutherans will add another chapter to their full history this Sunday, Aug. 13, with the dedication of their new parsonage at 4283 Maple street.

The dedication services are scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd on the corner of Maple street and Garfield avenue, followed by an open house in the new rectory and light refreshments in the church.

Started the fall of 1959, the Rev. Paul Heitmann moved into the rectory in April 1960 when the outside walls were not yet bricked. During the following summer and fall the walls were completed.

The parsonage has six large rooms, a bath, a full basement and garage.

Speaking at the dedication services will be the Rev. Otto Nuechterlein of Keystone, Iowa. By going from door to door and contacting the Lutheran families in the area, Rev. Nuechterlein built the first Lutheran congregation in Cass City.

He held his first service May 6, 1945.

Coming from his regular church in Caro every Sunday, Rev. Nuechterlein held services in Cass City Sunday afternoons and then, after six months, Sunday at 9 a.m., returning to his Caro church to preach at 11 a.m.

The congregation met in the town hall, then in the dining room of the old O'Rourke restaurant, then in the home of Mrs. Esther Willy and then in a room over the fire hall.

It was officially organized as a church Jan. 25, 1948. On April 11, 1948, with a congregation of 30 communicant members, besides 18 children enrolled in Sunday School, the congregation dedicated a new Lutheran church near the site of the present one.

This church building was 24 by 36 feet in size and complete with chancel which included an altar, pulpit and lectern in matching wood.

On Easter in 1956, services were held for the first time in the present basement church. This large basement is constructed so that a super structure can be built when money is available.

In the meantime the original white church, built in 1948, was used for storage and finally sold and moved about two blocks south this past spring.

Rev. Nuechterlein continued as pastor until he left his Caro church in 1957. Then Rev. E. J. Rossow of Fairgrove served the Cass City church until the present pastor, Rev. Heitmann, came in 1959 on a full-time basis.

The present congregation numbers about 70 families.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Aug. 12—Miles Henry will hold a farm auction at the place, one mile southwest of Caro on M-81, then two and a half miles west.

Saturday, Aug. 19—Chester Woods will hold a farm auction at the premises, one mile west and one mile south of Deford on Phillips Road.

Cass City Schools will try again to secure more money for operating funds in a second special election Monday, Aug. 28, when voters will be asked to approve a two-mill levy for three years to cover school expenses.

The vote was made mandatory when petitions were circulated in the district and the necessary signatures secured for another vote. The second election was not instigated by the school board, but by members of the school district.

In the election Monday, June 12, local voters turned down a request for three mills 226 to 167. Probably one reason for the new request for funds is the small number of voters who went to the polls in the first election. There are approximately 1,800 voters in the district.

The petitions were circulated following the announcement of a 14-point program by the school board of cuts in curriculum and capital expenditures at the school.

The school board says that the school is $45,000 short of funds necessary for operation of the school.

The two-mill levy will not raise enough money to meet the entire deficit, but the board is confident that they will receive another half mill from the State Tax Commission to make up the difference.

Fight Allocation

Many of the county schools have been fighting the tax allocation as set by the county tax allocation board. The schools presented their case to a two-man board from the Michigan Tax Commission at the courthouse in Caro Monday morning.

Present were most of the county's supervisors. The tax breakdown as allocated gave the schools 8 1/2 mills, the county 4 1/2 mills and the township two mills.

Schools represented at the meeting were Akron-Fairgrove, Caro, Cass City, Mayville and Vassar. Each of the schools was represented by lawyers, Roland Kern represented Caro and Akron-Fairgrove; Richard Lerman, Cass City; Gordon Ewing, Mayville, and John Thomas, Vassar.

Representing the tax allocation board was Charles Woodcock, chairman of the board.

The schools are basing their claims for another mill on the fact that townships originally asked for only one mill, later changing their demands to two mills.

Cass City is a special case and has another argument for an increase in millage. The district extends into three counties. At a meeting of the joint boards of the counties nine mills was okayed by a two-to-one vote. Cass City claims that the majority should rule and the nine mills allotted.

The Tax Commission is expected to give its decision in two weeks. Basically, the issue resolves itself. Concluded on page six.

Sanilac 4-H Fair To Start Tuesday

More than $5,000 in cash will be offered at the 30th Sanilac County 4-H Fair scheduled to run in Sandusky August 15 through 19.

FFA, FHA, 4-H and adult exhibits of dairy and beef cattle, sheep, swine, horses, poultry, crops, garden, clothing, crafts and flowers will vie for the cash money and ribbons.

The Dairy Princess Contest, wrestling, an evening horse show, a wild animal show and the fireworks display are a few of the 1961 fair features.

Arraign Gibbs In Circuit Court Monday

Billy R. Gibbs pleaded guilty of gross indecency on the opening day of the August term of Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday in the courthouse, Caro.

He was arrested on the indecency charge Aug. 3 at rural Cass City. Judge T. C. Quinn ordered a presentence investigation and will sentence Gibbs Aug. 30.

Two default judgments were also issued. Chaso Tool Co., Inc. was granted a judgment of $580.85 and costs of $29.35.

Frank Paskiewicz of Saginaw was granted a default judgment from Bessie Humpert of Reese for $1,740 and costs of $29.35.

The money was owed on a note issued by the Rev. Father Frank Kosak of Saginaw.

In a domestic case, Janice Hale was granted temporary alimony from James C. Hale of $10 per week. He was ordered to pay $100 attorney fees.

"Check My Profile"

Anyone familiar with the clowning antics of the other might think this one was "spoofing" his look-alike, the seal, when Conservation Department photographer Clyde Allison clicked the picture above (top). Mr. Otter was really tipping his head back to swallow a winter's lunch. The sleek-lined furbearer is not often seen, even by people who live in northern Michigan where he is most abundant. He lives in well-concealed holes along river banks and, being a restless sort, is continually on the go wandering up and down inland waterways. Dubbed the "playboy of lakes and streams," he likes nothing better than frolicking in the water, rolling, tumbling, chasing other otters, and sliding down steep slopes. Carefree as he is the otter is a fierce fighter. —Mich. Dept. of Conservation.

BOOK REVIEW

Adventure For Ordinary People

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

Again we turn to a book by Nevil Shute (see Chronicle review of "On the Beach", 7-13-61), "Trustee From The Toolroom."

If you like adventure stories you will like this. We don't expect to find high adventure in the lives of men like Keith Stewart. Keith and his wife are ordinary, fine people, living ordinary and orderly lives in London. Keith has given up factory employment to write for a specialty magazine about the miniature models he makes of engines, clocks, etc., and his wife Katie works as a store clerk to augment the family income. It might appear to be a humdrum sort of life, but they find it satisfying.

Then something happens! Keith's sister and her husband leave their daughter with the Stewarts while they sail all alone to British Columbia. Only Keith knows that their wealth is with them in a copper box, encased in cement and attached to the frame of the boat.

When word comes that the ship has been wrecked on an uninhabited Pacific island, Keith becomes trustee for the niece. Taking this job seriously involves, he feels, getting the copper box back to England so the girl will receive her proper inheritance. Katie agrees and they cheerfully devote what little money they have to what they know may well be a hopeless project.

Apparently adventure writers have agreed on 80 days as being the proper amount of time needed to get around the world and Keith does it in exactly that time. His writing has made many friends of whom he was not aware and this is the chief resource by which he makes the trip that is beyond his financial means. The account is exciting reading with suspense added by the fact that the box was taken illegally out of England and must be returned the same way, which means the real purpose of the trip must not be known.

The refreshing thing about this book is that it is about decent, kind people. Keith and Katie Stewart are more than willing to share their home and resources with the niece, and desire no inheritance for themselves. Most of the people who help Keith on his trip are wholesome, friendly people. Still, it's a cracking good adventure story.

Nevil Shute's recent death removed one of the too-few American novelists who can captivate the reader into reading 'one more chapter' before laying down the book, and do so without displaying a fund of four letter words and bedroom techniques. This book, like all of his that I have read, you will enjoy thoroughly without needing to apologize for it when friends drop in, and without needing to be afraid to have the children pick it up.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Down Memory Lane

Fraser Ladies Aid met Wednesday at the church for dinner and quilting. Chicken pot-pie was served to about 25 persons. The next meeting will be Aug. 16.

Mrs. Mary McCaughey of Shanty Bay, Ontario, was a guest of Miss Anna McLeod for two weeks. Her daughters, Catherine and Ann McCaughey of Toronto, called on Saturday and she returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Kar spent from Thursday till Saturday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hoadley in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Ann Krug of Florida is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McLachlan.

Miss Catherine MacGillivray and her cousins, Miss Mary McLeod and Miss Joan McLeod of Nezperce, Idaho, attended the Homecoming in Cass City Thursday and enjoyed a drive around Lake Huron one day last week.

Myron Karr was a guest over the week end of Brewster Shaw at their lake cottage.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Hempton were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Elliott of Owendale.

William MacGillivray, while spending a week's vacation at his home here, entertained two friends from Chicago, Mr. Lyden and Lyden Orput. All three returned to Detroit Saturday.

The Ballagh family reunion was held at Marlette Sunday, but due to bad weather, the William Ballagh family returned to Greenleaf, with 19 members having dinner at Harold Ballagh's.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLellan and Jimmy called on friends near Sandusky Sunday afternoon.

Judy, Betty and Linda Ballagh were Sunday overnight guests of Marilou and Kathy Ballagh.

Callers Sunday at the Clayton Root home were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Root of Gagetown and Clare Root and Mrs. Grace Rice of Deford.

Dear Mister Editor:

Bug Hookum come by my house Sunday night to set for a spell and do a little lamenting. In all the years I've known Bug, they ain't nothing that has gone to suit him. He was claiming Sunday night that farm prices will get worse and worse and he figgers maybe he'd sell out and move to some big city and get himself a job in a factory.

I tried to cheer him up, told him things was about as good out here as they was anywhere. That in the end things break about even for all of us everywhere. Bug allowed as how he'd took note of that fact too. For instant, he said he'd observed that the rich and the pore git about the same amount of ice, the rich gitting it in the summertime and the pore in the winter.

When Bug gits to lamenting real good he's mighty hard to cheer up. I changed directions and told him he ought to set down and write his Congressman all about his problems. He said he'd tried that both under the Old Frontier and the New Frontier and gits about the same results. He claims Congressmen ain't got but two remedies for anything and both of them is bad. They either pass a law or appoint a committee, and if the law ain't bad, the committee is stacked. Anyhow, says Bug, he ain't had no reply to the last two letters he sent to Washington.

I wouldn't doubt it, Mister Editor. When a Congressman don't answer a letter from a rancher or a farmer it's on account of him never gitting the letter. I reckon a secretary sorts out the mail and none of them knows the difference between a hayrake and a silo. A farmer can git to be a Congressman, but the farm ain't never produced a Congressman's secretary. A heap of Congressmen brags about how they has walked behind a mule from sun-up to sunset, but you never heard that kind of talk from one of their secretaries.

It ain't knowed too much around the community, but Bug's real name is Thomas Jefferson Hookum, and I think the trouble started right there. Some parents give their kids distinguished names hoping it'll make 'em turn out right, but you'll note from time to time that we got a heap of George Washingtons and Thomas Jeffersons in the penitentiary. The first boy should be named for his Pa, the first girl for her Ma. Of course, when they git up to 12 or 14 kids like in the old days, the parents might have to branch out a bit, but I don't see no excuse for branching out all the way to Thomas Jefferson like they done with Bug. Incidental, Mister Editor, my middle name is Smith, which accounts for me turning out so good.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

FINANCIAL REPORT OF CASS CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

ORDER APPOINTING TIME

The Cass City school district attendance was increased from 1220 to 1238 the past year. We ended the year with 602 in the grades, 197 in the junior high, and 406 in the high school. We look for a slight increase in the Freshman class for the coming year.

The State Equalized Valuation has advanced to $15,073,464, from a value of $11,860,666, due to a reappraisal of the values in Tuscola County by the State Tax Commission.

During the past year we have completed an addition to the grade school; consisting of four classrooms, a library, and new toilet facilities. This completes the grade school unit.

One teacher has been added to the teaching staff because of an unusually large kindergarten going into the first grade. We will have four first grades next year.

Per capita cost which is the basis for determining tuition for non-resident students, has increased from $121.17 for K-6 and $132.59 for 7-12 for the school year 1959-1960 to $154.62 for K-6 and $187.20 for 7-12 for the school year 1960-1961.

If all bills were paid during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, the school district would be about $11,000 in the red.

Slate Crops Tour

The annual Tuscola county field crops tour will consist of two stops of special interest to farmers and both stops will be on the farm of Arnold Zwerck of Denmark township. A third stop had been planned but had to be cancelled out, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Field crop tours during past years have been held following the small grain harvest and just ahead of the bean harvest. It provides an opportunity for farmers, plant breeders and crop specialists to compare notes and take a "field look" at the results of their combined efforts.

Stop No. 1 - 10 a.m. Located one mile south and 3 1/2 miles east of Richville on Waterman Road. 1961 bean variety test plots. Shown will be Seaway, Sanilac and Michelite grown from seed imported from Idaho followed again by Seaway, Sanilac, 0181, Saginaw and Michelite 62 or 36 rows in all. The plots this year will offer a comparison of Michigan and Idaho grown seed. Stop No. 2. Sugar beet field located a half mile east and a half mile north of bean test plots. Field planted in part with regular seed and balance space planted with monogerm seed. Band application of 400 pounds fertilizer beneath seed. This is the first year of space planting for Mr. Zwerck.

Attending the tour stops will be sugar beet company officials and representatives of Michigan State University farm crops department and U. S. Department of Agriculture bean breeding folks, said Ballweg.

This is a good opportunity for farmers to see for themselves and to have questions answered. Remember the date, Thursday, August 17, at 10 a.m. at the Arnold Zwerck farm in Denmark township.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE GOOD NEW DAYS

Like the song says about the "old gray mare", the family buggy ain't what she used to be. Fact of the matter is, the modern family automobile is just about twice as good a car as the one dad drove some 25 years ago.

Here is a comparison of some features and quality then and now: Tires average double their life today compared with a 1935 car, despite much higher speeds and punishment meted out to them; Horsepower is better than double 25 years ago, while gas consumption is almost 50 per cent better; New acrylic finishes resist fading, rusting and dulling and far better than old lacquers.

Many features can't be compared because they simply didn't exist. I refer to those driver blessings we all take for granted: automatic transmissions, power brakes, steering and windows. Seat adjustments that can be made with the tip of a woman's finger. Tinted glass was unknown 25 years ago as were sealed-beam headlights.

Brakes today last twice as long as they used to then despite higher speeds and more frequent stops. Modern cars are heavier, more stable, more maneuverable and the ride is just not comparable at all. Visibility is double and triple what it used to be. Cars like the 1961 (dealer model) are made so much better their life expectancy is double that of 1935.

Yes, the family transportation "ain't what it used to be." It is so much better that servicing costs are just about half of the average comparable figure of 25 years ago in a machine many times as complex.

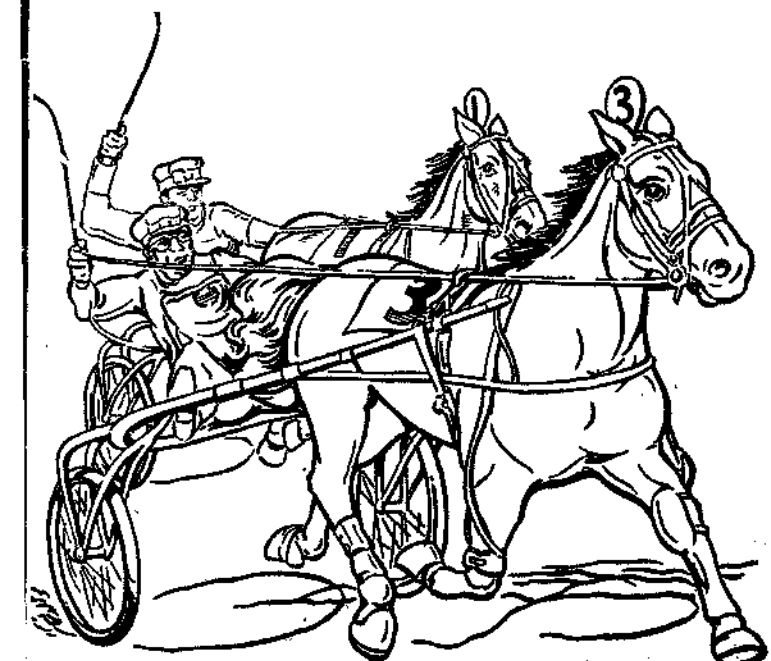

CURRENT & CHOICE:

Driver Training Car. A Biscayne 6 with Standard Transmission, Arbor Green with Whitewall Tires. Like new with only seven thousand miles on it, and all SLOW. A "61" for little more than a "60".

2 Bel Air 4 Door V-8s with Overdrive. One Brown and White. These were leased cars. Titled in our name, serviced here. Good tires and very nice. Both have Radios, Windshield Washers, etc.

Plan Now For Next Year's Parade

By Ilene Warren

George M. Cohan wrote, "The folks expect a street parade and uniforms so grand."

Well, last Thursday, Cass City gave the folks a street parade and there were uniforms so grand. Four military uniforms and the gay, colorful tarten uniforms of the Cloverettes Scotch Band — especially striking in his black shaker and kilts was Scotty Wynn, the leader of the band.

A native of Edinburgh, Scotty Wynn came to this country eleven years ago and has resided in Bay County for seven of those years. The band, whose members are also active in 4-H work, so Mr. Wynn told me, has been in existence for six years and at the present time has forty-one members.

I enjoyed the band — and the lassies who danced.  When I was a child my mother told me about a hoop snake. This was a rather unusual snake, in that it could, when desirous of making a quick getaway, put its tail in its mouth and roll swiftly away like a hoop. As I grew older I came to place this story on a special shelf along with other favorite myths — now, however, I'm made to wonder by Bill Parrott if I didn't misfile this yarn. Bill told me about an experience he had when he was a boy.

On a hot summer day, Bill was hoeing in a cornfield. The wind was fiery and fitful making every now and then miniature dust storms that would scud down the rows. Bill saw a motion in front of him in the row where he was working — at first, he thought it was one of those little dust cyclones, then he saw that it was a hoop snake rolling rapidly toward him.

Bill stepped aside and lifting the hoe attempted to strike the snake. Well, he managed to kill the snake but before he could the hoop snake bit the hoe handle. "You know," concluded Bill, "that hoe handle swelled up so big we were able to use it for a fence post!"

 Making no claim of being a parade expert, I still wonder if it wouldn't have been a better parade last Thursday to have had the long stream of machinery and vehicles inter-spaced with items having more human interest. I was surprised by the absence of floats — had expected that Champion Advertising would have one and possibly one or two of the industries would sponsor one.

The other evening I attended a very nice meeting. The North Almer home economics extension group celebrated their 25th anniversary. It was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Witkovsky. One of the highlights of the evening was the reading of the history of the extension group and how home economics has helped every home within this area. Congratulations to the North Almer home economics extension group.

We now have Michigan grown cultivated blueberries on our markets. Although our markets have been offering blueberries for some time, we know they have traveled from other growing areas. The whole season lasts from six to seven weeks. Michigan ranks second in cultivated blueberry acreage. Fifty per cent of the Michigan crop is marketed fresh and the other half goes to processors, mainly for freezing.

The Michigan Blueberry Growers' Association has established grades and standards which all growers must meet in order to market through their association. "Great Lakes" and "Lake States" are the labels used. The Great Lakes contain a count of 145 or less per pint while the Lake States allow 145 berries or more per pint. Most of the processors prefer the smaller berry.

Blueberries should be plump, fresh in appearance, clean, dry and free from leaves and trash, fairly uniform in size and a deep, full color throughout the lot. Ripeness is determined by the color which may be light blue to dark blue, depending somewhat on variety. The names "blueberry" and "huckleberry" are often used interchangeably. However, the huckleberry has 10 rather large, bony seeds, while the blueberry has a large number of very small seeds.

Blueberries can be stored longer than other fresh berries. Studies show that you can keep blueberries in the boxes in which they come, for two to three days at room temperature, or four days on crushed ice, or for 10 to 12 days in the refrigerator. Wash the berries just before you use them. Do not let them stand in water, or much of the juice will be lost. If you are going to make a blueberry pie, you will need about 1 1/4 pints for an eight-inch pie. One pint of fresh blueberries yields six one-third cup servings. One pint of fresh blueberries and a 1-pound and 4-ounce can will give you almost the same amount of blueberries.

If you freeze blueberries, they may be simply washed, drained and packed loosely in freezing containers, or they may be covered with 40 per cent syrup. If you are freezing blueberries for pies, pack dry without sugar or mix one cup sugar with five cups fruit. The wild blueberry is said to be more tender if they are scalded 20 to 30 seconds in boiling water before freezing.

Blueberries are delicious no matter how you serve them. Fresh and uncooked, you can eat them by the handful and that way the calorie value is as low as 30 calories for a half cup. Blueberries are excellent over cereal, beautiful mixed with other fresh fruits in a salad. Stir them into muffins, cakes, crisps, coffee cake or top them with a sour cream sauce. Or best of all, serve them over ice cream.

Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent

I want to remind you of the dedication of the Gilford Extension Hall on August 16 from 2 to 5 p.m. A tea will follow the dedication and all friends of County Extension and the Gilford home economics extension group will be welcome.

Another honor came to one of our Tuscola county home economics extension women. Mrs. Clinton Manwell of the Watertown-Duncan home economics extension group was one of three women in Michigan winning a state essay contest during Home-makers' Conference. Her essay will be entered in the international organization for competition for honors. Mrs. Manwell is also a poetess, having had poems published.

Blueberries can be stored longer than other fresh berries. Studies show that you can keep blueberries in the boxes in which they come, for two to three days at room temperature, or four days on crushed ice, or for 10 to 12 days in the refrigerator. Wash the berries just before you use them. Do not let them stand in water, or much of the juice will be lost. If you are going to make a blueberry pie, you will need about 1 1/4 pints for an eight-inch pie. One pint of fresh blueberries yields six one-third cup servings. One pint of fresh blueberries and a 1-pound and 4-ounce can will give you almost the same amount of blueberries.

If you freeze blueberries, they may be simply washed, drained and packed loosely in freezing containers, or they may be covered with 40 per cent syrup. If you are freezing blueberries for pies, pack dry without sugar or mix one cup sugar with five cups fruit. The wild blueberry is said to be more tender if they are scalded 20 to 30 seconds in boiling water before freezing.

Blueberries are delicious no matter how you serve them. Fresh and uncooked, you can eat them by the handful and that way the calorie value is as low as 30 calories for a half cup. Blueberries are excellent over cereal, beautiful mixed with other fresh fruits in a salad. Stir them into muffins, cakes, crisps, coffee cake or top them with a sour cream sauce. Or best of all, serve them over ice cream.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

When I was a child my mother told me about a hoop snake. This was a rather unusual snake, in that it could, when desirous of making a quick getaway, put its tail in its mouth and roll swiftly away like a hoop. As I grew older I came to place this story on a special shelf along with other favorite myths — now, however, I'm made to wonder by Bill Parrott if I didn't misfile this yarn. Bill told me about an experience he had when he was a boy.

On a hot summer day, Bill was hoeing in a cornfield. The wind was fiery and fitful making every now and then miniature dust storms that would scud down the rows. Bill saw a motion in front of him in the row where he was working — at first, he thought it was one of those little dust cyclones, then he saw that it was a hoop snake rolling rapidly toward him.

Bill stepped aside and lifting the hoe attempted to strike the snake. Well, he managed to kill the snake but before he could the hoop snake bit the hoe handle. "You know," concluded Bill, "that hoe handle swelled up so big we were able to use it for a fence post!"

 Making no claim of being a parade expert, I still wonder if it wouldn't have been a better parade last Thursday to have had the long stream of machinery and vehicles inter-spaced with items having more human interest. I was surprised by the absence of floats — had expected that Champion Advertising would have one and possibly one or two of the industries would sponsor one.

The other evening I attended a very nice meeting. The North Almer home economics extension group celebrated their 25th anniversary. It was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Witkovsky. One of the highlights of the evening was the reading of the history of the extension group and how home economics has helped every home within this area. Congratulations to the North Almer home economics extension group.

We now have Michigan grown cultivated blueberries on our markets. Although our markets have been offering blueberries for some time, we know they have traveled from other growing areas. The whole season lasts from six to seven weeks. Michigan ranks second in cultivated blueberry acreage. Fifty per cent of the Michigan crop is marketed fresh and the other half goes to processors, mainly for freezing.

The Michigan Blueberry Growers' Association has established grades and standards which all growers must meet in order to market through their association. "Great Lakes" and "Lake States" are the labels used. The Great Lakes contain a count of 145 or less per pint while the Lake States allow 145 berries or more per pint. Most of the processors prefer the smaller berry.

Blueberries should be plump, fresh in appearance, clean, dry and free from leaves and trash, fairly uniform in size and a deep, full color throughout the lot. Ripeness is determined by the color which may be light blue to dark blue, depending somewhat on variety. The names "blueberry" and "huckleberry" are often used interchangeably. However, the huckleberry has 10 rather large, bony seeds, while the blueberry has a large number of very small seeds.

The Chronicle got two requests for old printing material recently. A letter came from that home of a Bolivian mummy, the Michigan State University museum, asking for any old wood type or hand press that we might have stored in a basement corner.

Then a man came in the other day and also asked for a hand press. He wanted to buy up old style printers' aids for an exhibit. The boss said our apparatus isn't old enough to exhibit nor young enough to print well.

* I dragged poor Tom Jackson out of the candy company three times to take his picture with one of the Welcome-To-Cass City signs. It was the camera, though, not Tom, that made the picture go bad twice.

* The old Studebaker boiled up with me the other day, again. I backed the new Haire station wagon into a cable and dented the door about $16 worth.

Jim Moore says the Chronicle is going to initiate drivers' training for all summer help. Last year my soulmate, summer reporter Sandy Legatz, parked the company car on a hill, got out and went reporting while the car coasted downhill.

Eventually, it hit a tree. Anyway, I'm not the only one that ran down Don Shagena's mailbox. He reported that two other persons in cars have backed into it recently.

DETERMINATION Turning over a new leaf is seldom worthwhile unless you plan to use a little more mucilage.

"He attended public school, rode the free school bus and participated in the free lunch program."

"He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his national service life insurance. He then enrolled in the state university under the GI bill, working part time for the state to supplement his GI check."

"Upon graduation he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan, then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the Government."

"Later he put part of his land in the Soil Bank and the payments helped pay off his debts. His parents lived very comfortably on the ranch with Social Security and old-age assistance checks.

"The County Agent showed him how to terrace it, then the Government paid part of the cost of a pond and stocked it with fish. The Government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products."

"He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new federal building, and went to Washington with a group to ask Congress to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get cheap electricity."

"Then, one day, he wrote his congressman a letter of protest: 'I wish to protest excessive Government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends.'"

The Joe Grubers were forced to cancel an open house last week in honor of their Golden Wedding when Mr. Gruber went to Hills and Dales Hospital. Hospital attendants reported that the event was observed in the hospital with a special party, complete with cake.

DOMINATING THE ANNUAL horse-pulling contest at the Home-coming was Harry Raehl of Smiths Creek. Mr. Raehl entered two teams in the event and finished first and second. A record weight of 7,450 pounds was hauled. This team was given second place in the event. Neither of Mr. Raehl's teams were eliminated, but since all other teams had failed to haul the weight one team was given first and the other second place.

$5.93, the lowest in the state for the type of facility operated.

Medical Care

Mr. Baguley also spoke briefly of Michigan's Assistance to the Aged program. He was critical of the wide open provisions of the law that allow residents from other states to use Michigan's money for medical care and then move back home. He said that he favored care for limited income individuals, but felt that the law should have more built-in safeguards.

Direct Relief

The director spoke of the direct relief program in the state, saying that some of the costs had been cut by having able-bodied men work for their $10 per day. We built a $12,000 garage for about $8,000 using this system, he concluded.

TOP QUALITY—that's this Grand Champion Corriedale ewe shown by Wilbert Goodall. At the Home-coming 4-H Livestock Show, Wilbert swept the Corriedale class, picking up four A ratings, and exhibited the Grand Champion of the sheep division. He also won a showmanship award.

Black and White
Show to Feature
Quality Holsteins

Some of the best registered Holstein cattle in Michigan will be seen in the Tuscola County Black and White Show on August 19.

Breeders of registered Holstein cattle in Tuscola county will be showing their animals and competing for the trophies at the Caro Fairgrounds. Alton Reavey, president of the Holstein Breeders' Association, expects to have a show of top quality animals similar to the past shows, and in the past, Tuscola County Black and White Shows have been among the best in the state, reports Reavey.

Mr. Herb A. Miller, a well known dairyman from Williamston, will judge the show this year. Judging will begin at 11 a. m. sharp, and except for a noon lunch break, the show will last until about 4 p. m.

Trophies and their sponsors this year are: champion female, Caro Farmers' Cooperative Elevator; best udder cow, Floyd Duckert, Surge dealer of Mayville; 4-H and FFA reserve champion female, Clayton Rohlfis and Sons, Fairgrove; 4-H and FFA champion female, Clarence Merchant and Sons, Cass City; 4-H and FFA judging, Foster Hickey and Son, Fairgrove, and FFA fitting and showing, Farm Bureau Services, Inc., Cass City.

Only registered Holsteins, not under quarantine, from Tuscola county will be entered. Each exhibitor will supply a bale of straw for each head exhibited, and proof of registration must accompany each entry. The show is open to all 4-H and FFA exhibitors with registered Holsteins.

Reavey extends an open invitation to all dairymen in the county to visit the show and see what the association is doing to improve the Holstein breed.

Also present at the show will be Russ Miller, national fieldman of the Holstein Friesian Association.

Walbro won the regular season championship of the City League with a 1-0 victory over Erla's in as fine a softball game as fans are likely to witness in many years.

The game was the first of the two games played Tuesday night at Cass City Recreation Park. Walbro broke up a tense pitching duel between Elwyn Helwig of Walbro and Dan Erla of Erla's.

Ron Geiger reached first on an error and went to second as Jack Hool reached first on an error by the second baseman.

The misplays set the stage for a dramatic game-winning drive by Cummings. He lashed a double to left to drive in the winning run.

Although they made only two hits, Erla's threatened to win the game in their half of the seventh. Frank Creason reached first on an error with one away. Hillaker placed a perfect bunt and with his great speed legged it for a hit. Carl Kolb was thrown out trying for a bunt hit. With men on second and third, Don Erla whiffed and Erla's best chance to win went glimmering. Helwig struck out 14 and allowed just two hits in the seven innings. One a bunt single and the other a fly to center that fell for a double when it was misjudged.

Dan Erla was nearly as good as he allowed just four hits. Neither hurler walked a man.

General Cable vs. Bach

Although anti-climatic General Cable and Bach were involved in a tight game in the nightcap, the barnes almost beat Cable although they played with just eight men.

The game went 10 innings before Hal Roveda broke it up with a three-run circuit blast to spark Cable to a 5-2 win.

Stoutenburg was on the mound for Bach and Bill Andrus hurled for Cable.

Final standings:

Walbro	9	3	-

Angels Lead
In Pony League

With just two games left in the Pony League, the Blue Angels have clinched at least a tie for the title.

The Angels have a seven-win, two-loss record and the second place Yellow Jackets have won five and lost four. In the cellar are the Red Devils with only a single victory in eight starts.

The Angels clinched a share of the title with two victories during the week. Wednesday, Aug. 2, they won a rain shortened game from the Red Devils 5-0 and Monday topped the Yellow Jackets 12-4.

In Wednesday's game, called after four innings, Dean Frakes, limited the Red Devils to a lone hit by David Schembers. Schembers was on the mound for the losers and allowed just two hits, but sloppy fielding cost him the victory.

In Monday's victory Frakes was again on the mound. His teammates rapped out eight hits for their 12 runs to make his job easy. Jerry Knoblet was charged with the loss. Chuck Roveda, Dick Stroupe and John Herhalt each collected a pair of hits for the winners.

After the next two games are played the season will be over for the Pony Leaguers. There will be no play-off.

Cass City will receive a trophy as league champion at the Babe Ruth League banquet in Bad Axe this fall.
