Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kritzman of Phoenix, Arizona, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Kritzman, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Platt of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kritzman and children, Sharon, Lori and Kari of Saginaw and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kritzman spent the evening visiting the Hazen Kritzmans and their guests. Mr. and Mrs. James Lefler became the proud parents Saturday of a baby boy. The baby, named Michael James, and his mother are doing nicely at the Saginaw General Hospital and expect to come home this week. Several members of the RLDS Shabbona Branch attended the concluding services of the Church's annual Blue Water Reunion Sunday. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gregg and son Ron of Snover, Mr. and Mrs. Voyie Dorman, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dorman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loeding, Harley Dorman, James Groombridge and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith. Those from the Shabbona Branch who spent the entire week at the reunion, which is held north of Lexington, were Mrs. Maude Holcomb of Snover, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap and Miss Lillian Dunlap of Caro and Miss Marie Meredith. Ronald Warren left Monday on a business trip to Dayton, Ohio. Things are quiet at Shabbona this week - the Sanilac County 4-H Fair is in session at Sandusky and most folks are taking in the various activities.

Kritzman Reunion—The sixth annual Kritzman Family Reunion was held Sunday at the Bruce Kritzman home with approximately 130 persons attending. A potluck lunch was served at noon with ice cream and cake served later in the afternoon.

Gifts were presented to Merle Kritzman for coming the longest distance to attend; to Dean Kritzman for driving the farthest to attend church; to Bruce Kritzman for guessing the number of pennies in a jar, and to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kritzman for having the youngest baby: Tommy, who is six months old.

Officers elected for the following year are: Phillip Olsow, president; Keith Murphy, secretary-treasurer; Betty Ann Murphy, recreation director.

The next reunion will be held the second Sunday of next August at the Philip Olsow home in Cass City.

Members attended from Saginaw, Port Huron, Cass City, Argyle, Deford, Crosswell, Marlette, Sandusky, Snover, Deckerville, Warren, Detroit and Phoenix, Arizona.

Dear Sir:

Being a former resident of Cass City, and working in a lovely new wing of St. Elizabeth's Hospital here in Granite City, Ill., and receiving new and the latest equipment every day, the article you printed on the smallest resuscitator and the picture of the parakeet interested me very much. I clipped it out and brought it to work with me. This hospital is run by the "Sisters of the Divine Providence" and they work very hard. I gave this article to Sister Mary Thomas, administrator of Nurses, and she immediately put it on a bulletin board in the main hall, where it was read by many doctors and nurses. From there after a week or so it moved to our new O.B. floor where it favored its way to another bulletin board and is still there, being read by more doctors and nurses. The Sisters here are working on a new recovery room. The patients wake up to soft, soothing music. The room also has a machine that gives off sounds like a newborn chick, which can be heard outside the door as well as inside and the nurse at all times can tell the condition of the patient without standing over them, saving time and steps. I thought perhaps you would be interested in knowing that other people are interested in your lovely new hospital, even though there are a great many miles in between.

Sincerely,
Lucille Wilson Stafford

AVOID THE CROWDS
No sensible housewife would voluntarily do her shopping when the crowds and heat were at their peak and store clerks could give her only hurried attention. She'd try, naturally, to plan her buying trips so as to avoid the rush periods.

The same sensible attitude will pay off to motorists who arrange their car buying or service work for the time when the dealer's service and sales facilities are having a lull from normal activity.

That time is right now during the summer vacation months. The auto business is marking time waiting for the new models. A lot of folks are out of town and you'll get prompt attention in the service department from mechanics who will give you a less hurried, in some cases lower-priced job.

Anticipating the end of the annual model run, most dealers want to keep their inventories down. All cars - both new and used - reach their lowest net selling price. Averages over the last few years show that prices were even lower at this time of year than later in September.

This, then, is just about the best time of the year to buy a new car. If you are stuck in town with the rest of the unfortunates, it will at least make you less envious of your vacationing friends to sit behind the wheel of a brand new 1961 Chevrolet at a price that summer heat has wilted to an all-time yearly low.

ONLY 9 '61 Chevys left, to last till the '62s "bow" September 29th. If you have waited expecting to take advantage of "Model End" prices, I'd suggest you act NOW. Don't expect to have them long.

August 15, 1961
To the Editor,
"How uninterested can you get?"

In response to your article of August 10, in which you stated that out of 90 teachers and spouses eligible to vote in the last school election 33 failed to vote; "How uninterested can you get?" I would like to answer this question, correct your facts and pose a question of my own.

Due to the fact that a number of our teachers are not residents of the school district, there are a total of 59 teachers and spouses who were eligible to vote in this election and not 90 as you stated in your article. A survey of these 59 eligible voters shows that over 64% of them cast ballots, an admirable record for any group in an election. I, too, would like to see 100 per cent of the people who are eligible to vote cast their ballots; however, I fear this can be true only in dreams and very small precincts.

You have implied that we (teachers and spouses) are uninterested in expressing our democratic right to vote, but you must remember that you, too, have a democratic right to uphold, that of freedom of the press which makes demands for an accurate publication of facts. To you I ask, "How uninterested can you get?"

Watch for Woodcock Nests

Popular as woodcock are during the small game season in northern Michigan, little is known about where, when, and how far these pint-sized, long-billed birds travel. As a result, Conservation Department game men are asking bird watchers, mushroom pickers, and others to report woodcock nests when they come across them this spring. Game men will then hand woodcock chicks to help keep track of the birds' paths of migration and particularly their movements in Michigan before hunting season. Most woodcock nests are made in mixed growths of aspen, birch, spruce, and fir near moist grounds where these "timber doodles" can find earthworms, their chief food item. Eggs are pinkish-brown with dark brown and purplish-gray spots. The banding project is also aimed at finding out what effect pesticide sprayings in Louisiana and Mississippi might have on woodcock survival. Most of the birds winter in these two states.--Mich. ## Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor: I see by the papers where got a New York surgeon on the carpet for using a stand-in for operating. The stand-in surgeon don't show up till the patient is asleep, then he is gone afore the patient comes to. The big name surgeon takes credit fer the operation, pads the bill extra heavy to take care of the stand-in. In basketball they've been calling it the "fix", and with them big electric companies the Government called it "rigging," but the medical profession will come up with a fancy name fer this stand-in business, maybe call it diospyrobozoar spelled backwards.

It's gitting so, Mister Editor, everything in this country is operated on the "fix" or "gap" system. We got the missile "gap," the import and export "gap" and a dozen other gaps, all of 'em bad. But at least we can understand that kind of language. It's a great pity them Government agencies and bureaus don't git down to some three-letter words. But ever now and then one of them agencies will show a little improvement. Fer instance, I was reading where a Alberta farmer shot down a crow that was wearing a leg band that said, "Wash. Biol. Surv." The farmer sent a letter to the Government: "Dear Sir, I shot one of your crows the other day and followed your instructions. I washed it, biled it and served it. It was terrible." He got a letter back saying the leg band was a abbreviation fer "Washington Biological Survey," and on account of the confusion, they was changing it to: "Notify Fish and Wild Life Service, Washington, D. C." Them Government folks has to learn the hard way.

Well I got to stop now, Mister Editor, and either put the "fix" on my old lady or do somepun about the "gap" between my lawnmower and them weeds she's complaining about in the back yard.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Bob Hunter Has Ancient Bagpipe

By Irene Warren

Last week was spent at our annual church reunion near Lexington . . . it was a vacation of sorts for me - yet a lot of work was involved, too.

As director of women for our district, I, together with the women's director for the Flint-Port Huron District was responsible for the various women's activities.

My husband and I were invited to stay at a cottage with my mother, my sister Lillian and two other ladies, Mrs. Maude Holcomb and Miss Marie Meredith. It was a large, comfortable cottage (house would be a more accurate word) with three bedrooms and two baths - although we had beach privileges, because of busy-ness and the rainy weather we were not able to enjoy swimming very often.

But, taken as a whole, it was a worthwhile week and I enjoyed it a great deal.

Mr. Robert Hunter told me, after the Cloverettes Scotch Band had marched by in the parade at this year's Cass City Home-coming, that he has a bagpipe that was picked up on the battlefield after the Battle of Waterloo. I asked him if he could play it . . . he says not, since some of the reeds are missing and the bag is no longer in good condition. Whether or not it's in good condition, it's quite a souvenir to have . . . makes one wonder about the proud piper who lost his pipes . . . to say nothing of his life.

My sister Lillian attended the Shakespearean Festival at Stratford, Ontario, this summer - she said the Sunday she was there a piper strode up and down the edge of the Avon River - dressed in a colorful tartan, he gaily played the pipes.

I'd like to be able to play the bagpipe - but waintin' and doin' are two different things!

I suppose a lot of people have been crying, "Rain, rain go away; come again another day!" Or some such remark. But then, as Aesop wrote, "After the rain cometh the fair weather." All we ask is: When?

With August more than half gone and school soon to start, we look at the calendar and wonder where the summer has flown. August is one of my favorite months - probably because my birthday falls in this month (I'm one of Leo's children).

Usually, I think of August as a slow lazy month - long sultry days with the indolent drone of insects and the muted songs of the birds lulling one into a languorous drowsiness.

Actually, the days are getting shorter and there's always as much to do in August - often more so, with canning and so forth - as other months but whether or not I'm able to enjoy the luxury of pleasant lassitude on an August's summer day, I still think of them that way!

which can control this power. Lawmakers frequently complain that they have no real power over day-to-day operations of state government, except through their function of budgeting. There is some merit to this statement, and those who would argue that...

The 3 per cent sales tax, for example, was set by public vote and had to be changed the same way. Earmarking of funds by constitutional action leaves legislators' hands tied. The Civil Service Commission, also voted into the Constitution, permits a group of commissioners to raise pay of state employees with no regard for legislative approval. The Legislature can, however, refuse to allocate additional money, a situation which forces each state department to cut the number of employees or make ends meet in some other fashion.

Some power loss results from legislative action. When boards and commissions are created by their action to govern certain aspects of state government, authority goes with it. There are oodles of these commissions, controlled for the most part by commission members appointed by the Governor with approval of the Senate. Included among the most important are Conservation, Economic Development, Fair Employment Practices, and commissions dealing with various segments of health such as nursing, optometrics, etc.

Other power loss results from "earmarking" of funds. When a law says that money from a certain source shall be spent for a certain purpose, it can be spent in no other way. If conditions change so that this money is needed for some other purpose, the Legislature is hamstrung.

Absence of some powers is certainly desirable. The Constitution should prevent abuse of legislative power, as well as abuse from...

Sweet corn arrives on the produce counters early in the spring, thanks to modern methods of production and transportation. But nothing, I mean nothing, equals the taste and flavor of our own home-grown corn.

"Fifteen minutes from garden to kettle" is an old saying about sweet corn, but it is just as true today. Unfortunately, not all of us have a garden and cannot apply this adage.

Sweet corn is at its best as fresh as possible so the sugars have not turned to starch. Low temperatures help retard this change. Many producers pick corn in the cool early morning to retain the night's coolness. Hydro-cooling is also used to keep corn at top quality. After picking, the corn is treated with ice water to remove the field heat and then kept refrigerated while being transported to the market. It should also be kept refrigerated in the retail market. And, of course, it should be refrigerated in the home in the husks until time to cook it.

For the best, sweetest tasting corn, select it with: (1) Fresh dark green husks, a sign of freshness, (2) Fresh green color on stem break, indicates freshness, (3) Dark brown silks, a sign of well-filled kernels, (4) Well-formed ears filled with milky tender kernels. (Don't pull back husk to examine kernels, if you must, separate husk with thumb nails in center of the ear. This will make it possible for the husks to spring back shut to protect kernels after your inspection. And make your selection when ever possible from a refrigerated or iced display or buy directly from the producer.

Corn on the cob is as American as apple pie or ice cream. For the best results: Bring pan of salted water to brisk boil. Drop in corn, cover and cook 5 to 10 minutes. Cook only until done. To test for doneness: when a kernel will slip from hull by being pricked with a fork.

Envious critics are always ready to tear down the person who has made a go of life.

Weeding a garden in mid-summer heat is probably what is meant by "growing pains."

All nations want peace, but some want it on their own terms.

Signs of The Times for State Forests

Hundreds of new, rustic signs like those above have been added in Michigan's state forests this year to give visitors a better, broader idea of multiple use management at work on these public lands. Through its expanding efforts to help state forest users enjoy and appreciate what they see, the Conservation Department has posted signs marking Kirtland's warbler, prairie chicken, and blueberry management areas, various types of timber cuttings, wildlife floodings, campgrounds, and hunting and fishing access sites, and a host of other projects and wild land points of interest. Small panels are included under signs for projects such as forest plantations and managed openings to tell what type of work has been done and when. Some of the signs are along campground foot forest lands.--Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Muscling in A Muskie

It was a four-fisted fight all the way, but these two fishermen won their battle royal with a mighty muskie. King-sized, indeed, are the thrills of muskellunge fishing in Michigan. Lake St. Clair is the state's hot spot for this sport, yielding several thousand of these big fish each year. Muskellunge are also found in tempting numbers in the Torch Lake chain and the Indian - Cheboygan river system. They are occasionally landed in more than 20 other waters, including western Michigan lakes directly connected to Lake Michigan and a few inland lakes. Most of these fish are caught in early summer when they are concentrated in weedy, stub-filled bays of lakes and along edges of river channels. Trolling brings best returns with large muskie lures, bucktails, and spinner combinations and common baits such as flatfish, pikie minnows, and dare-devils. Mich. Dept. of Conservation

City League In Second Play-off Round

General Cable was to have met Bach Tuesday night in the second round of the post season play-offs in the City Softball League.

The winner of Tuesday's go will be pitted against Walbro, regular season titlist, for the tournament championship.

Both Cable and Walbro moved into the second round with victories Thursday night. Walbro measured Erla's 5-2 and General Cable edged Deford 4-3. Walbro moved into the finals by drawing a second round bye.

Erla's generated its entire offense against Walbro and Elwyn Helwig when they picked up two runs and as many hits in the first inning. Brown reached first on an error. Hillaker singled and both runners were driven across by Veteran Carl Kolb with a single.

Walbro got one of the runs back in the third without a hit as Maynard Helwig walked and came home on a past ball and infield outs. They went ahead to stay in the fourth when a walk and a home run by Jack Hool chased in two runs. A hit by Chris Schneider combined with an error accounted for the last run in the fifth.

General Cable touched Rock for a pair of hits, and two walks good for three runs in the first inning. Key blow was a triple by Bill Andrus.

Deford bounced back with a run in the fourth and two in the sixth to tie the game. The sixth inning rally was paced by successive home runs by Harry Hartwick and J. Kilbourn.

But Cable was not to be denied and salted away the victory when Kloc slammed a triple and scored a moment later to end the game.

"We started checking with people around town and found that Mark and Schember had been in town the night of the break in," Wood said.

"We had let it be known that we were looking for these two boys and about 5:30 p.m. Aug. 12 someone called and said that I could find them at Hugh's Drive-In."

Wood said he picked the boys up at the drive-in. They had been sleeping near the bridge two miles east of Cass City with the blankets and going to the drive-in to eat.

"I had no trouble from the boys," Wood said. "I took them to the Bad Axe State Police post and we questioned them until about 8 p.m."

"We brought them back to Cass City to look for Riner's shoes and pants but they could not be located."

The youths told the police that they had also entered Cass City Auto Parts the same night. They had changed their clothes at Kritzmans' and taken about $45 from the Auto Parts.

However, Al Avery, owner of Cass City Auto Parts, said that about $65.80 was missing from a fishing tackle box and about $3 in change from the cash register.

The $65.80 belonged to the Otters, Cass City's Diving Club. It was the funds from the Coke they sold at their Home-coming booth.

The youths were taken to the Tuscola County jail in Caro. They waived examination before Ruth Tennant, justice of the peace, and were each placed on $1,000 bond. According to Wood, their trial is set for August 23 in Circuit Court.
