

From the Editor's Corner

Close observers have advanced several different theories about why the vote for additional millage was defeated... saying that it was too soon after the first defeat, a bad year for farmers, not enough school board participation and others.

In our opinion, the most important single reason for the defeat was the sweeping sentiment for voting against ANY request for funds.

School requests all over the Thumb and Michigan are being turned down, or approved by narrow margins as they were on the second try in Caro.

Some of the area's grim humorists look on the whole affair with a cynical eye. A Caro voter said the other day that his district has voted once in favor and once against and are about to have a third to "break the tie."

In our job as editor of the newspaper, we've had numerous clashes with Superintendent Willis Campbell over Cass City School. As we were in favor of more funds for the school, naturally, we were in accord for once.

We printed a few complimentary things about the administration last week which so surprised and overhauled our Superintendent (A Scotchman's Scotchman) that he bought our dinner at Rotary... surprising us as much as we did him.

An ad without a name still brought results for the New Gordon Hotel. The hotel ran an advertisement in the liner columns for fish and chips and it slipped by without any name being printed.

The Chronicle received five calls asking where the special could be picked up.

The word from the Michigan Department of Conservation is that pheasant production is down some 20 per cent in the Thumb this year.

If the trend of previous years is followed, the figure won't mean too much to area nuns. What will count most is what section you hunt in. Most hunters reported that birds seemed to be concentrated in certain areas while a few miles away there seemed to be none. If you hit it lucky, you'll get your share of birds regardless of whether there are less birds available than in 1960.

We'd hate to say how thick they would have to be before we'd bring one home. Since moving to the Thumb 10 years ago, we've gone out for at least part of each opening day and have yet to shoot a bird.

Best luck we've had was when we ran a feature story on the Alex Nugent pheasant farm, southeast of Cass City, and Mr. Nugent gave us two birds... all dressed, too.

Slate Blood Bank At Hills and Dales

The Northeastern Blood Bank will be at Hills and Dales General Hospital Tuesday, Sept. 5, to receive blood from donors.

Hospital authorities say that persons owing blood to the bank are expected to use the visit to pay it back.

Persons can also build up blood credit by giving blood in advance. After the blood credit is established it can be transferred for use to any hospital in the United States.

Council Considers Plan for Alleys

Plan Elaborate New Gateway For Village Park

A beautiful permanent sign and gateway to the Cass City Recreation Park may be constructed by the Cass City Gavel Club.

Gavelite George Clara appeared before the village council Tuesday night to see if the council would accept maintenance of the gateway after it is constructed.

The proposed structure will be big and beautiful. It will have a roof area of 20 by 60 feet and will be built with brick veneer. The sign on top will be lighted and there will be a spot for taking tickets to athletic events.

The council has not yet granted permission for the construction.

Members of Stone School Meet for Reunion at Park

The Stone School reunion was held at the Recreation Park Aug. 27 with 54 guests attending.

A potluck dinner served at 1 p.m. included a large chocolate cake, decorated especially for the reunion, brought by Mrs. Eleanor Parsons of Garden City.

The five former teachers present were: Mrs. Herb Lenzner, Mrs. Anson Karr, Mrs. Martin Thayer, Mrs. John Gordon, Mrs. Edith Schweigert and Lawrence Blackmer.

Ben Woytovich from Wayne came the longest distance. Gregg Woytovich, the youngest member present, celebrated his fourth birthday with a bunny birthday cake.

Oldest member present was Steve Decker.

The total attendance hit 64 when several persons came to visit during the afternoon.

After dinner President Bill Sowden called the meeting to order. He and Myrtle McColl, secretary, were elected officers for 1962.

Next year's reunion will be at the park the last Sunday in August.

TWELVE FEET HIGH AND THEY'RE NOT THROUGH YET! Overshadowed by two giant-size Sunflowers that sprouted from seed brought by birds, Frank Daniels claims the plants aren't through growing. Mr. Daniels estimates that the base of the stalk of the largest flower has a diameter of four inches. Among other rarities in his Maple street garden are pink flowers he brought from Poland last year.

SHE VOTED - and so did 730 other residents in the Cass City School District Monday in the special election for two more mills for operating for the school. Coming to the polls about noon was Mrs. Robert Hervey.

Deford Voters Tie Over 3-Mill Levy

Voted twice and tied twice: that was the result of the special vote called to approve the three-mill special levy for operating funds for Deford Community School District, Monday, Aug. 28.

Two votes were taken but the tie of 26 to 26 did not change. A special vote will be held again at the Deford Community School Sept. 7 at 8:30 p.m. to decide the issue.

The issue was changed from a three-mill special levy for three years to a three-mill levy for one year. If passed, voters of the district will be called upon again next year to approve the levy for another year.

The Deford Community School will open Tuesday, Sept. 5, for enrollment of all students, kindergarten through eighth, according to Principal Earl Moses. Students will go home the 5th at 10 a.m.

Classes will start on regular schedules Sept. 6. Kindergarten classes will be dismissed daily at 11:15 a.m. while the grades first through eighth will be dismissed at 3:15 p.m.

The school buses will run daily starting at 7:30 a.m. Mr. Moses said no students should arrive at the school before 8:25 a.m.

Hot lunches will be served daily starting Sept. 6.

Walbro Cops City Loop Title

Walbro added the play-off championship to their regular season crown Tuesday night when they rolled over Bach in the finals of the single elimination tournament at Cass City Recreation Park. The score was 6-1.

Elwyn Helwig was in good form as he allowed Bach just a single safety and one run in the seven innings.

The factorymen salted away the decision in the opening inning when they turned four walks and two hits into five runs. After that it was just a question of playing out the game.

Bach settled down after the disastrous first inning and the game rocketed to its conclusion. Walbro picked up two hits but no runs in the fifth. Ken Nye smashed a circuit clout in the sixth to score Walbro's last run.

Fire Departments Unable to Save Barn

A barn owned by Leeland Trisch of Caro burned to the ground about 12:30 p.m. Aug. 29. The Elkland Township Fire Department and the Caro Fire Department were called to the Trisch farm, on Cleaver road, to put out the blaze.

Twenty hogs, two head of cattle and 100 tons of hay were destroyed in the fire. The cause of the blaze has not yet been determined, according to the Tuscola County Sheriff's office.

It's Yanks All the Way - Claseman

It's the Yankees all the way, says Irv Claseman, Cass City High School's athletic director and baseball coach. Speaking Tuesday noon to Rotarians at the New Gordon Hotel, Mr. Claseman gave a player-by-player run-down of the strength and weaknesses of the two teams.

According to his team estimate, the Yankees have more power, more experience, better fielding and better hitting.

In fact, at only two positions other than pitching do the Tigers measure up to the perennial world champs. Detroit's C and C boys (Cash at first and Colavito in right field) are rated above "Moose" Skowron and "Yogi" Berra.

The Tigers have the edge in pitching, Claseman said, but the edge is slight.

Now I hope I'm wrong, he continued, but it's my prediction that the Yanks will win the flag by four and a half to five games.

Emphatic 413-317 Vote

Deny School Added Funds

Cass City School District electors sealed the doom of any attempt by school authorities to carry out original plans for education of area youngsters when they turned down a request for two additional mills for operating expenses Monday.

The vote was an emphatic 413 no as compared to 317 yes. Persons against the additional mills won the battle despite an organized campaign by a "Save Our Schools" committee and support of most of the area's industry, businesses and this newspaper.

Although the loss in millage will present serious handicaps to the school's educational program, all of the adjustments have already been made by the school board.

Among the 14 cost cutting measures will be a reduction in junior high athletics, increase in fees for use of gym and purchase of elementary workbooks, reduction of capital expenditures, reduction of counseling service and reduction of area in which students can ride buses.

Despite these economies, it is likely that the school will run in the red this year.

Schedule First Church Census In Ten Years

With Sunday, Sept. 24, as the target date, the churches of Cass City are now in the final phases of the first religious census of the village in over a decade.

Involving all of the local churches, the census-takers will visit every residence in the village seeking to learn the religious affiliation or preference of all residents.

In addition to furnishing some interesting statistics, the census will also let each church know the people for whom it has spiritual responsibility.

The census is sponsored by the Cass City Ministerial Association. President Rev. Robert J. Searls is directing the project.

The first step was taken in June when the survey was voted by the local ministers. Acting as the preparatory committee is the membership commission of Cass City Methodist Church.

Chairman Mrs. Albert Gallagher and her commission have already spent hours doing the tedious but necessary detail work, Mr. Searls said.

Cards bearing every address in town are ready and in assignment envelopes at the present time and each church is recruiting the necessary census-takers. Over 25 teams of two persons will call on the more than 600 residences of the village Sept. 24-27.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Sept. 2—Roy A. Chambers and Son will sell at auction at the farm, one mile west of Uby, cattle, implements, and tools and household goods.

Saturday, Sept. 2—Stuart Merchant will sell cattle and machinery at the place, two and a half miles north of Cass City.

Saturday, Sept. 2—A. A. Spratt will hold a household auction on the premises at 4137 Vulcan St., Cass City.

Council Nixes Free Use of Athletic Field

An attempt by the Cass City School Board to cut over $800 from its costs by using the athletic field, owned by the village, rent free for one year has failed.

The village council Tuesday night, in its regular session, denied the use of the field for nothing and the same charge will continue. Under the present agreement the school pays $800 yearly rental plus the cost of replacing burned-out lights. Total cost is about $850.

Petition Received

A petition was received from 21 residents on Woodland, Pine and Houghton streets protesting the condition of an unoccupied house at 6742 Pine Street, at the corner of Woodland.

The petition claimed that it depreciated property and was a health problem. A copy of the petition will be sent to the owner of the house, Archie McLachlan.

Other Business

D. E. Rawson has applied for curb and gutter in front of his clinic. After discussion, the matter was referred to the street committee to see how much curb should be erected in this area and to see if it would be necessary to charge more than the customary $1.75 per foot.

Two bids for furnishing the concrete for the village's curb work were received. The bids of Tuckey Block Co. and Cass City Concrete Products were identical and the work will probably be split between the concerns.

Mac O'Dell appeared before the council to apply for the job of village assessor to fill the term of the late C. J. Striffler. His application is being considered.

May Up Charges For New Walks In Cass City

The charges for new sidewalks in Cass City may be changed. An informal discussion by the village council Tuesday night at the Municipal Building indicated dissatisfaction with the present regulations.

At the present time sidewalks are paid for half by the village and half by the owner.

The council would like to see all of the cost of a sidewalk paid by the property owner, if it is new construction. They are willing to continue the present method of sharing costs for replacing old sidewalks that have deteriorated through natural wear.

A plan is to be discussed at the next meeting.

FIRST UNIFORM was issued to Freshman Eddie Retherford Saturday by Coach Mike Yedinak. Football got under motion when all boys in the upper four grades received equipment and physicals to be ready for the opening day of practice.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see where one of them column writers says the 16th Amendment that give the Federal Government the right to levy income taxes come to only 31 words. That was in 1913, and in 48 years the laws covering the collection of these taxes now runs to 440,000 words. He claims a good tax lawyer can take them 440,000 words and do a marvelous job for his client.

The great trouble, Mister Editor, is that us pore folks can't afford to hire a tax lawyer. I see, for instance, where the lawyers fer a Hollywood movie actor is trying to get a $32,000 refund on his income taxes on account of what he spent taking glamor gals to night clubs. His lawyers is claimin' it's part of his business to make these social contacts. And the chances are that he'll get the refund.

I don't care how much refund he gets, but it just goes to show you how complicated them 31 words has got in 48 years. I reckon that feller got a few hand-squeezes and some Sears & Roebuck kisses from them glamor gals, but if he gets $32,000 out of the deal he's doing pritty good. Back in my day, afore we got them 440,000 words, if you took a gal to the county fair and bought her a red lemonade, the only reward you got was to take her home, set under the shade of a tree and squeeze the lemonade out of her—the gal, not the tree. I doubt if the national debt was more'n $32,000 at that time.

It seems to me that we got a nation-wide conspiracy going on in this country to crush the pore man with high-faluting words and complicated red tape. Take, for instance, the liability insurance policy I carry on that old beat up car of mine. I never drive more'n 25 mile a hour on account of knowing what kind of forms I'll have to fill out if I have a accident.

Well, Zeke Grubb's preacher came by the store for a few minutes again Saturday night. Said he couldn't stay long on account of being on his way to perform a wedding ceremony. But he stayed long enough to give the fellers a few tips on matrimony. He allowed as how wedding rings was now gittin' so small it took a magnifying glass to see 'em. He claims a preacher has to wear his bifocals at the ceremony to tell when the ring is put on. They ain't meant to last more'n a few years, he says, on account of folks changing wives and husbands so often. Back in the old days they made 'em thick and heavy because they was meant to last a lifetime. What we need today, he claims, is a old style wedding ring, a heavy one that keeps the wimmen folks steady and weighed down in the home. He talks mighty brave, Mister Editor, fer a feller that's got a small house and a big wife.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Dear Mister Editor:

Several serious items was took up by the fellers at the country store Saturday night. First off, Ed Doolittle announced he has discovered accidental a important weakness in our form of Government.

Ed said he's been reading the bank ads in them big Sunday papers and he ain't saw a single one that didn't list four or five vice presidents. Everybody knows says Ed, that all banks is making money, paying dividends and ain't never been knowed to operate in the red. It's on account of them vice president, claims Ed. If a bank needs four or five vice presidents to operate real good, Ed allows as how the Government will never git the budget balanced with just one.

Then Clem Webster shook up the meeting with the news that this feller James Patton, head of the National Farmers Union, is asking the Congress to make it unlawful to farm without a license. He claims that farmers can't practice law or medicine and doctors to be raising their own vegetables.

All the fellers was in favor of this license business and Zeke Grubb said he was going to write his Congressman right away. A rancher can't run a extension cord to his barn on account of him not having a electric license, and I don't see how come them electric fellers has any right to be raising their own peas and corn without a farm license. In some states a farmer ain't allowed to unstop his kitchen sink without calling a plumber, and a plumber ain't got no right to be hurting the price of beef by raising himself a steer.

They ought to be certain requirements afore you city fellers can git a license to lift a hoe. I'd say offhand that you ought to have at least two hogs, a silo, two hound dogs, a cow, 40 hens and a rooster that crows fer 20 minutes at daylight. On top of that you ought to have to fill out them rotating and estimating forms and read all them pamphlets they send out from the farm agencies.

I'm in favor of making doctors, lawyers, plumbers, barbers and all them other professions that protects their business with licenses stay out of the farm business. It ought to be a $10 fine fer a doctor to even raise a blue-top turnip. Us farmers need some protection in this business.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Desert Michigan's Kitchens in Summer

By Ilene Warren

In last week's column, I commented on the rumor that outdoor cooking is on its way out (it was Inez Robb, whose column appears in the Detroit Free Press, who wrote about the waning popularity of this activity).

Shortly after writing last week's column, I picked up a copy of the Free Press to read Kay Savage's column (she's the featured food writer for the Detroit Free Press). Miss Savage took exception to Inez Robb's report and wrote, "Michigan kitchens are still deserted on summer nights and cooking under Michigan skies continues unabated... we'll continue to look on outdoor cooking as a way of life that is here to stay."

I agree with Kay Savage. Our outdoor cooking and eating is on a small scale because we don't have an outdoor fireplace yet, but we often have picnic lunches on the river bank and enjoy weenie roasts, corn roasts and blackened marshmallows!

There's an old saying "Great minds travel the same channel" - well, I've doubts as to the greatness of my mind and I don't know Mary Basing well enough to judge hers, but we were certainly traveling the same channel last week: the subject of tinting or dyeing hair.

Someone told me that a car was seen parked north of "our" bridge and that the driver disappeared in the brush and woods on our forty. My informant didn't know who the fellow was but suspected that he was going berry picking.

We have about one good patch on our forty acres and that is near an old apple tree. Last Thursday I decided to check this spot to see if I could gather some berries and to find out, too, if someone else had discovered our private patch.

Taking Pride, one of our Collies, with me, I set off despite the imminent threat of rain. The river was too high to cross so we had to go over the bridge. Long before I neared the apple tree patch my legs were wet from the damp brush and grass. Everthing is so lush and overgrown that I recognized no familiar signpost that could tell me when to turn to make the cut back to the tree. Deciding that I must be beyond the apple tree, I began to head through the brush toward the river and, I hoped, the apple tree.

Well, no apple tree, but I did come into a small clearing where tall ferns were almost shoulder high. They were massed together so closely that they completely hid the snaggy sharp little berry brambles that were thick beneath the sheltering fronds of the ferns. Tall, arching briars, laden with red and black berries, curved above the ferns.

It was a jungle. Pride tried to forge ahead beneath the ferns but the tangle of hidden briars caught his fur. Parting the ferns with my hands, I peered down and attempted to avoid most of the prickly bramble and we finally stumbled down into the valley behind the river bank.

By this time I had but one thought in mind: To get out of there and head for home. This we did, stumbling and scratching our way out of the brush until we reached the clearing near the bridge.

Well, I didn't find the apple tree patch - maybe someone else did. If he went through all that to get a few berries he must have been pretty desperate!

"Equal Time" Is Dangerous

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
"Equal Time" for political candidates on radio and television is a deceptively simple and dangerous concept.

In the fall campaign of 1960, the requirement that broadcast media give "equal time" to all candidates for a given office was suspended for the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates only.

Specifically, the "equal time" provision in section 315 of the Communications Act, and was suspended last year by Congress, which passed the act in the first place.

The danger in this whole situation is this:
As indicated in the campaign

last year, the wording of section 315 is somewhat vague and this leads to problems over just where it applies. Because minor party candidates could have equal time with Republicans and Democrats under an interpretation of 315 by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), a tremendous hardship threatened the broadcast industry in the 1960 election.

That's why Congress suspended the operation of 315 for the top two races.

Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, in a speech to members of the professional journalism society, Sigma Delta Chi, advocated permanent repeal of the "equal time" law.

consideration, was that rule 315 cannot be construed as anything but a limitation on the free flow of information, and as such not only is an infringement on the rights of broadcasters, but constitutes a threat to freedom of the press.

Indirectly, restrictions of this sort reach to the basic freedoms guaranteed in the Constitution to all United States citizens.

Perhaps the original intent of section 315 was good, or at least not bad. It was probably designed to prevent anyone from using the airwaves, apparently well established as public property, to overexpose one candidate in a political campaign and thereby

ARE CARS GETTING MORE EXPENSIVE?

A disgruntled motorist complained to me recently that "cars are getting so expensive these days that people soon won't be able to afford them." It just shows that as we get used to something our expectations always keep ahead of us.

It is true of course, that over the last twenty years the price of the average automobile has increased. In actual fact, about 150 per cent. This has led to one of the most tenaciously held of modern myths - that cars are getting costlier year after year in relation to our income.

In reality, the opposite is true. Income averages over the last twenty years compared with the costs of the average car show a steady and significant decline in the REAL cost of cars.

In 1940, when the average annual wage was $1,050, compared with a standard 2-door sedan at $1,002, it took 95.7 per cent of average annual earnings to buy a car. This percentage dropped to 79.6 in 1950 and to 74.52 in 1960. And most present Federal and local taxes were unknown in 1940!

Coupled with this, today's car is at least twice as good as one twenty years ago: twice as durable; twice as powerful; twice as comfortable; and with dozens of accessories unknown then.

Now as then, however, automobiles are still machines that are bound to have faults. They need the care and service with which a reputable dealer backs up his product, if the motorist who buys it is going to get the satisfaction he has a right to expect.

CLOSEOUT BARGAINS. If you've waited till the end of the year to get a '61 at Cleanup Price, NOW IS THE TIME. Yes, we want to move them, but, we have only 5 left (Chevrolets) plus one new Pickup, and one Oldsmobile.

It will pay you to come in NOW. Drive them. See for yourself why CHEVROLET is again America's most popular car. Why Oldsmobile is leading its class.

Sharrards Open New Nursing Home

The proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharrard, of the new modern fireproof nursing home at Ortonville are happy, due to the many calls of interest in this area, to announce the home is now open and the nursing will be completely supervised by Mrs. Sharrard herself. Your visits will be welcome. Adv.

Your opinion of yourself counts for nothing—the world expects you to prove it.

About 12 members of the Junior Woman's Club met last Thursday night for their first meeting of the fall. Due to rain, picnic plans were canceled and the group met in the scout rooms over the fire hall. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Robert Schuckert, secretary of the SOS Committee. Further plans for the group's community calendar were made.

The death rate is up today—it starts at about 85 miles an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Greenwood

Miss Kaye Donna McCarthy, daughter of Mrs. Hazel E. McCarthy of Caro and graduate of Cass City High School, married Kenneth William Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenwood of Anaheim, Calif., Aug. 12 at 7 p.m. in the Caro Methodist Church.

The Rev. Ralph D. Churchill performed the ceremony with the altar decorated with candelabra, palms and flowers.

The Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches were played by Mrs. Bernard Fitzstephens and Miss Donna Brown was soloist, singing "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Everett Field, the bride wore a floor-length gown with a train and a scoop neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls.

The bride's gown had fingertip sleeves. She wore a sequin and pearl trimmed crown with a fingertip veil. Her flowers were stephanotis and gardenias.

ballerina-length dress of taffeta with three-quarter sleeves, a full skirt, scoop neckline and a rose cummerbund. The bridesmaids, Miss Marcia Prillaman and Mrs. Eunice Greenwood, wore ice pink taffeta dresses styled like that of the matron of honor. All had pink mums and white carnations.

Roy Greenwood of Saginaw, the bridegroom's brother, served him as best man. His other attendants were Dale Brock of Anaheim and James Gustin of Saginaw, the bridegroom's uncle and cousin respectively.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McCarthy wore a beige and brown Irish linen dress with a matching jacket, triple tiered beige linen hat and bone and brown spectator pumps. Mrs. Greenwood wore a blue dress and a white feather hat. Both mothers had yellow roses and white carnations.

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony. The rooms were decorated with white bells and pink crepe paper and featured a three tiered wedding cake.

The wedding trip took the couple to Middletown, R. I., for five days. The bride's going-away costume was a green and white spaghetti strap dress. They will make their home in Orange, Calif.

Out of town guests came from Freeland, Cass City, Bay City, Flint, Detroit, Saginaw, Deford, Deckerville, Caro, Atlas, Flushing, Dexter, Clare, Unionville, Farmington and Anaheim, Calif.

Pre-nuptial events included a linen shower given by Clara Peterhans, aunt of the bride, and a miscellaneous shower with Mrs. Eunice Greenwood of Saginaw as hostess.

The bride is a graduate of Cass City High School and the Comptometer School in Saginaw. She is employed by the Pacific Bell Telephone Co. in Orange, Calif. The bridegroom graduated from Anaheim Union High School and is attending Fullerton College and working in a dairy.

THE RUSTY REAR OF OLD NUMBER 11 intrigues Randy Hoffman, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Hoffman. This school bus or one like it will bring Randy to kindergarten this fall from his home northeast of Cass City. Lack of funds will keep the school from replacing two buses for the coming school year.

Higher Learning Calls 1961 Grads

Today, because more jobs require a college education or some form of advanced learning and training, the percentage of young people who go to college after high school has risen sharply.

The number of graduates going to school this fall is 45 per cent of the 1961 class, according to Arthur Holmberg, principal of the Cass City High School.

Numbering 95, this class has 43 persons planning to enter a college, university or special institute to receive more advanced training than high school can give.

Principal Holmberg said he felt that pressure is on young people to do more than graduate from high school and use this diploma as a ceiling to hold down their ambitions.

"That 45 per cent is the highest number of students we have ever had going to school after they have their high school diplomas," he said.

Students planning to attend school this fall from the class of 1961, according to the records in the principal's office are:

Alma College at Alma: Richard Albee, James Ross; Elkhart University at Elkhart, Ind.: Sally Profit; Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant: Jane Bringardner, David Binder, Sally Hobart, William Britt; Michigan State University at East Lansing: Anthony Aleksink, Tim Anthes, Gary Bartle, James Freye, Gordon Goodall, Ann Krueger, Marvin McCormick, George Maleck; University of Michigan at Ann Arbor: Dorothy Ballard, Paul Holmberg, James Reid, Susan Shaw; Ferris Institute at Big Rapids: Frances Hunter, Carl McIntosh, Jim Walmsley (in January).

Hillsdale College at Hillsdale: Sandra Bassett; Delta College at Bay City: Beverly Irner; St. Paul Seminary at Saginaw: Larry Maharg; Huntington College at Huntington, Ind.: Eloise Smith.

Saginaw Business Institute at Saginaw: Janis Seeley; Eastern School of Commerce at Port Huron: Ed Paladi; Detroit Business Institute at Detroit: Mary Lou Crawford; Humboldt Institute, an airlines services school, at Minneapolis, Minn.: Virginia Leifer, Carol Morell.

Saginaw General Hospital at Saginaw: Beverly Hurd; Henry Ford Hospital at Detroit: Bette Bond; and Bay City Mercy Hospital at Bay City: Ramona Maytoreno, Janet Klinkman.

Ray Fox to Take Orientation Flight

Raymond M. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fox of Cass City, is preparing to take off on an orientation flight in an Air Force T-33 aircraft.

Cadet Fox, who completed his junior year in advanced Air Force ROTC at Michigan State University, is attending four weeks of summer training at Lockbourne Air Force Base, O., as part of his officer training.

After graduating from MSU, he will be eligible for appointment as a second lieutenant in the Air Force and for entry into flight training to win the coveted silver wings of an Air Force navigator.

Maintenance Never Ceases

Maintaining a school is a year round, full time job. The five janitors at Cass City Public Schools sweep, scrub, polish and tend the fires to keep it in running order.

Louis Wright, head custodian, Delos Neal and Nicholas Decker work in the high school building. Jerome Root Sr., and Veron Gingrich have charge of the elementary building.

During the summer the school was maintained regularly by four men. Recently the fifth was put back on the staff.

"They've been cleaning floors and windows and washing, polishing and varnishing all the furniture," Secretary Loraine O'Dell said.

Few rooms have been refinished this summer compared to those done during vacation in the past, she said. Last summer, for instance, the art room was redecorated.

During Christmas vacation, the school buildings are again cleaned thoroughly, Mrs. O'Dell said.

Not only the janitors but the rest of the school staff is busy getting ready for school to start.

Assistant Secretary Marlene Ricketts came into the superintendent's office with a hand full of keys. She had been all over the high school building trying keys in the doors to see if the tag number matched the room.

"I'm finding that they don't," she said.

The past, though covered with dust, is still around at the high school. In the fan room on the second floor there is a large pile of old style, clamp-on roller skates left over from the time when students skated on the gym floor during lunch hour.

"We've tried to get rid of them for years," Mrs. O'Dell said.

Nick Decker and Del Neal were washing the lockers and windows on the gym door on the first floor.

"Students don't make too much difference in our work," Mr. Neal said. "We sweep out the rooms every day and clean them up after the students leave, but that's about the only difference."

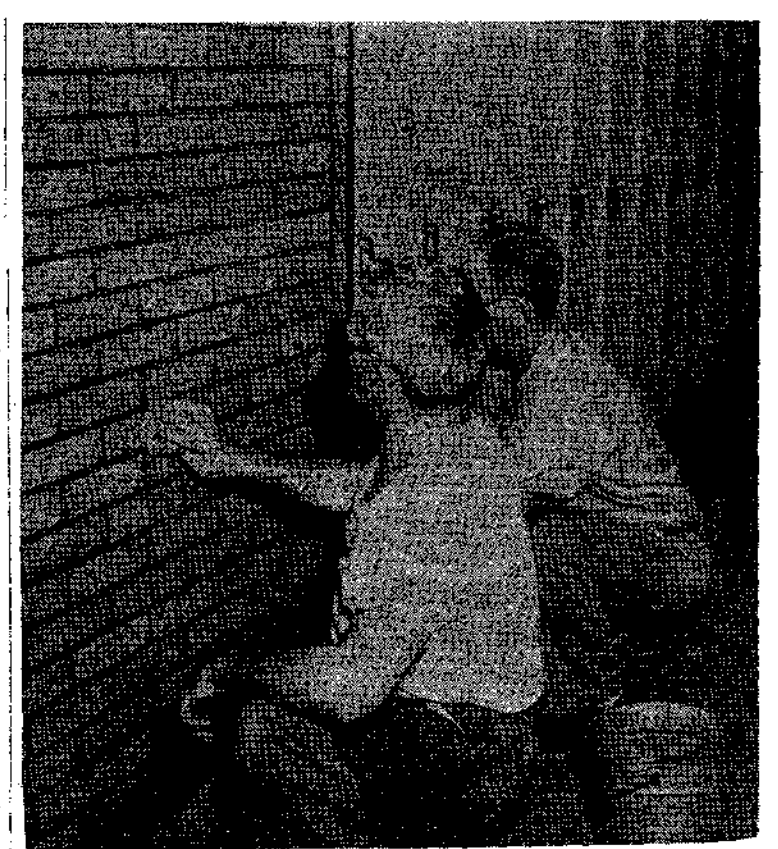

When asked if he likes having the students around, Mr. Neal said:

"Sure I like the students, I wouldn't have worked here four years if I didn't."

Mr. Decker said he didn't know if the students would bother his work or not.

"This is my first year as a janitor. I drove bus for two years and liked the students then; I don't know about this," he said.

The University of Michigan Bureau of School Services made 150 accreditation visits to Michigan schools last year.

STUDENTS DON'T MAKE A GREAT DEAL OF DIFFERENCE in the work of high school janitors, according to Del Neal, left, Nick Decker and Mr. Neal, while intently scrubbing down the first floor walls, said they still have a full week's work before the school will be ready for the onslaught of students.

Poor Year for Summer Jobs For "Vacationing" Teachers

Unlike most people who spend the year working with a couple of weeks' vacation in the summer, teachers, like students, find themselves free for a good two and a half months of the year. While some may envy the teacher's freedom during warm weather, the Chronicle in interviews with 11 teachers found that many work during the summer or at least try to find work. However, jobs were not so plentiful this summer. For some teachers with families, who usually do work to supplement their teachers' salaries, employment only for the summer was hard to find.

It was a poor summer economically, according to Irving Clasen, civics teacher and coach. "I sure did have trouble finding work," he said emphatically. "In past years, I have sprayed insects but there was little work this summer, either because of bad weather or low business." Biology and junior high science teacher R. Dale Strickland said that economically his family is having more trouble this year than ever before. "When I was in school, my wife worked and her income was greater than my teacher's salary is now," Mr. Strickland, who completed his first year as a teacher last spring, said. "I guess it's because living expenses are a little higher here than in Colorado." It was a bit difficult to find a job this summer, according to Mr. Strickland. "But I hit it lucky and got in with a builder working as a carpenter," he said.

James Seals, English teacher and counselor, worked until Aug. 4 as an instructor of drivers' education.

"I looked for a job after the 4th but I couldn't find anything," he said. "So I'm spending the rest of the summer working around the house. Now I have more to do here than I have time for."

Robert Stickle, sociology, government, civics and refresher math teacher, also taught drivers' education during the summer. He said that he did not look for work after Aug. 4. Coach Michael Yedinak, father of seven and history and health teacher, said he did have trouble finding employment this summer. "Originally I was set to work as director of the recreational program but the village ran out of money and that fell through," he said.

"So after school had been out three weeks I started painting houses." Mrs. Donald Mance, wife of a math teacher, said that her husband had not been too interested in working this summer. "But I know jobs were difficult around here especially for teachers. There aren't many opportunities in a small town for just summer employment," she said.

Richard Carroll, commerce teacher, works 11 weeks at the swimming pool each summer. "That's all I have time for," he said.

Frank Weatherhead, math, English, business training and geography teacher didn't work a lot during this summer outside his home.

"I repaired things around the house," he said. Orion Cardew, industrial arts teacher, didn't work this summer but spent his time traveling and working for the school on boys' projects.

Don Gillette, band and instrumental instructor, spent the first five weeks of his summer at Michigan State University in East Lansing going to summer school. He then did two weeks of active duty with the Naval Reserve. Now Mr. Gillette is working for the band, preparing it for the fall season.

Mrs. Leone Shaw, Spanish and French teacher, tutored a little this summer. "Mostly, I worked on the house trying to get things done that can't be done during the school year," she said.

Mrs. Kathleen Jackson, home economics teacher, said she spent the summer loafing.

Degree Recipients Complete Credits

Edward Lawrence Freeman, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freeman of Cass City, has completed credit requirements at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant and has received a bachelor of science in geography and physical education. He and two other Tuscola county persons, Robert L. Good of Gagetown and Phyllis Dee Crosby of Vassar, were three of the 231 students at CMU to receive degrees at the close of the summer session July 28.

Good has a B. S. degree in elementary education and geography and Phyllis Crosby has an A. B. in elementary education and social sciences.

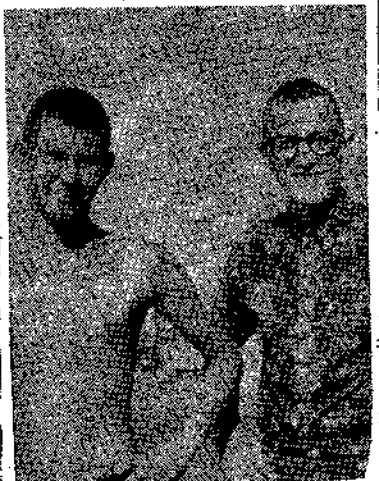

Children Facing New School Term With Mixed Emotions-Survey Shows

It's back to school next week for Cass City's more than 1,200 students.

To sound out the sentiments of students headed for another nine months of involuntary education, the Chronicle interviewed a few picked at random.

After a summer of warm weather and freedom, we found that many children and youths interviewed are ready and willing to go back to school, whether it's because they like to study, want to see their friends or merely want something to do.

On the other hand, some pupils face education with less enthusiasm than their colleagues and with energy are making the most of their few vacation days left.

G. Bigham - B. Hutchinson

With lighthearted fervor, Bob Hutchinson, 15, announced that he is looking forward to school because: "I can see all my country girl friends."

Bob, a sophomore this fall, has been working all summer at Wood's Drug store and intends to continue there part time during the school year. He said his favorite subject is biology.

Gordon Bigham, 14, is looking forward to school but only in a way.

"It's something to do." Another sophomore, Gordon has been working during the summer on his father's milk route. When asked his favorite school subject, Gordon looked a little taken aback.

"I forgot what I'm taking. Shop, I guess, is my favorite."

Rosemary Deering - Shirley Root

Rosemary Deering, 14, and Shirley Root, 13 1/2, were riding their bikes near the Recreation Park and were apprehensive about having their pictures taken.

A freshman in high school, Rosemary said she has been riding her horse all summer. Shirley, another ninth grader, said she and Chris Murphy, 5, both start spent the summer swimming.

kindergarten this fall, apparently with light hearts and happy expectations.

Cara said she thought it would be "good" to go to school although she didn't know what she would do. Her only guess was: "Oh, I'll make new friends."

To Chris, school means one thing: "We'll play stuff."

When asked if they thought they would like getting up and heading for school in the morning they said in quick, precise union:

"We're going in the afternoon."

That answered that. Rosemary Rutkowski, 14, starts the ninth grade this fall. She said she is not looking forward to school.

"This was really a short vacation this year. It seemed like it rained all the time," she complained.

Tom McComb

Tom McComb, 7, thinks it's going to be fun to see all his new friends at school.

A second grader, Tom has been playing all summer in Cass City. "I like to study and read," he said.

"I'm going to college and be a carpenter."

Pat Herhalt

If Pat Herhalt, 13, had a choice between vacation and school he'd take vacation.

Both agreed after consultation that choir is their favorite subject.

"You have to go to school but I'll miss this vacation," Shirley said.

"Oh, it's going to be fun to go back to school," Rosemary said.

Gil Wood - Eddie Ackerman

Robert Donahue

Eddie Ackerman, Robert Donahue and Gil Wood, all 12 years old and all starting the seventh grade, Eddie in Cass City, Robert at Cranbrook and Gil in Chicago, face school happily, considering it a cure-all for their main ill: boredom.

They didn't seem to be doing anything but giggling when we approached them for pictures and interviews.

As Eddie said he was looking forward for school to start Sept. 6, Robert and Gil turned to each other and shook hands energetically.

"We're waiting for the 18th before we go back," they said.

When asked what they have been doing this summer, Gil said:

"Going to camp."

Robert said: "Riding horse-back."

Eddie said: "Fooling around and asking the same old question over and over again." Then candidly in union the boys posed their problem: "What can we do?"

Pat Herhalt

If Pat Herhalt, 13, had a choice between vacation and school he'd take vacation.

"I've spent the summer swimming and loafing," the freshman said.

Surrounded by well-meaning hecklers, Pat didn't seem thoroughly convinced that even his favorite subject, history, will make school this fall enjoyable.

Visitor's Viewpoint

By Mary Basing

A truck pulled up in front of the Chronicle window with a big rack-type box on top of it. I glanced out in time to see the man in the box slide up high in the sky.

No one paid any attention. I got a little excited.

The man did something to the streetlight, then flicked a switch and with bravado rode down in the box to the top of the truck, making motions for me to get back to work.

Working on this week's back to school supplement reminded me that in less than a month I'll be back at the books at Michigan State.

Starting my last year means pushing for the highest grades I can get. This means late nights and stale coffee.

Which means a susceptibility to colds, mononucleosis and whatever else is carried on the wind. But it will be good to go back.

Not too long ago Bunny Zawilinski bought a large black purse. She easily got a new dress and pair of shoes into this oversized lipstick carrier.

All last week she was telling about something that happened to her and that purse.

"I was sitting in church last Sunday," she would say. "When I reached for my purse to get money for the collection, Larry Czapiewski, sitting next to me, said:

"Is that Samsonite?" Whereupon Bunny would collapse on the floor or nearest table, laughing.

Upon arriving in the football team's locker room in the basement of the high school, I realized that Cass City's colors, maroon and gray, are the same as my home town's.

A vivid pinkish maroon decorates the locker room walls about half the way up. The rest is gray.

No wonder the boys play so hard on the field. Who'd want to go back and stare at those walls, while sucking lemon.

During my excursion through the high school, while I was counting rooms (there are about 40), I discovered old roller skates in the second floor fan room. I have a fascinating image of about 50 students, girls in bloomers and long, black socks and boys in knickerbockers, speeding around the gym floor to the tune of A Bicycle Built for Two.

Though Mrs. Loraine O'Dell almost immediately answered my query about my mother's family, I have heard nothing about the creative community center mentioned in this column a few weeks ago.

I can't decide whether it's because no one in this town feels creative or because no one wants to offer a third floor for a studio.

The Tuscola County home economics council members will be the first council's officers to have their officers' training. They will meet in the Court House, Supervisors' room, at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, August 31.

It is Michigan peach time. Below is the Benton Harbor fruit market approximate timetable for the different varieties to begin to appear on the market: Redhaven, August 15; Fairhaven, August 22; Halehaven, August 25, and the Elberta and Redskin, September 10-12.

The peach crop is later than usual this year due to the cold, wet spring weather. The volume of the crop this year is good. So you will have plenty to eat fresh, can, freeze or what have you. The best guide for quality selection is not the red color, but the yellow or golden background color. If the background color is green, it is an indication the peach was picked before maturity. Usually these peaches will spoil before they can be ripened sufficiently to use.

Have you ever tasted fresh corn cooked in an open fire? It is delicious if cooked right. You should remove one or two of the dry outer leaves and then soak the ears in cold water for at least half an hour. Snip off the corn silk and place the corn in red hot coals for about 15 minutes. Then to avoid the confusion of knives for everybody, put out a bowl of melted butter with a pastry brush so everyone can coat their ears of corn. Then watch the happy faces as they start in eating this wonderful vegetable.

Loose conduct is lethal—it gets many people in a tight spot.

Well-adjusted people are those who keep their balance—personally and financially.

Forge-Pistro Vows

Miss Patricia A. Pistro became the bride of AF1st Robert L. Forge Saturday at 11 a.m. at St. Agatha's Church in Gagetown. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank McLaughlin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pistro of Gagetown and Mr. Forge, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Forge of Bay Port.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza gown with fitted bodice featuring a square neckline of pearls and lace. The front-tiered, billowy floor-length skirt ended in a chapel train. A crown of pearls held her scalloped, pearl dotted veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and poinsettias centered with an orchid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell of Melvindale, wore an orchid organza street-length sheath dress with overskirt. Her headpiece, to which was attached a circular veil, matched her gown.

The bridesmaids, Sharon O'Connell, Sharon Kretschmer, Mrs. Roger Deering and Barbara Minacsi of Unionville wore violet sheath gowns with overskirts. Their headpieces, matching their gowns, had circular veils attached. They carried gardenias and carnations.

The flower girl was Rita Minacsi of Unionville, who wore an orchid dress with circular skirt and matching headpiece. She carried a lace basket of carnations. The ring bearer was Kenneth Mitchell of Melvindale.

The groomsmen were William Forge, brother of the groom, and seating guests were James Stall of Bay Port, James Nemeth of Detroit, James Pistro and Charles Pistro Jr.

Mrs. Pistro, mother of the bride, wore a chiffon gown of aqua blue and Mrs. Forge was dressed in pale blue. Both wore corsages and white accessories.

Spoken in Gagetown

A reception was held in the evening at the VFW Hall in Pigeon and was attended by over 400 guests. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom and figurines representing the wedding attendants.

Mr. Forge is stationed with the Air Force near Wichita, Kansas, where they will live for the present. He expects to be sent to Greenland in the near future.

White Pine--Tree of Legend

This is Michigan's official state tree, the white pine. It has long stood as a symbol of the state's forest heritage. It was the backbone of the lumber industry for a quarter of a century prior to 1900 when Michigan led the nation in lumber output. It helped to build the Midwest and played a big hand in Michigan's early development. While white pine will never again reach its former heights in the lumbering world, it will continue to be a valuable part of Michigan's forests. Today, white pine is found mostly in the upper peninsula and the north half of the lower peninsula where it figures prominently in reforestation work. Two small stands of virgin pine are preserved at Interlochen and Hartwick Pines state parks. At maturity, the tree attains a height of 80 to 120 feet with a diameter of from three to four feet. The bark of young white pine is smooth and dark greenish-brown; on older trees it is gray and deeply grooved. The needles occur in clusters of five. They are pale blue-green, fine and soft. Mature cones occur in drooping clusters near the tops of the trees. They are narrow and tapering with rather loose flexible scales.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation practically guarantee his election. The consequences of requiring equal time, for example, for a score of candidates for a local office apparently was not foreseen.

Also missed in the zeal for regulation was the necessity for a better definition of how "equal time" should work. The FCC later said section 315 applied to news-casts, interview programs or anything else that constituted an appearance. This is really where the trouble lies.

Obviously, few broadcasters would object to making "equal time" available to those who would pay for it.

But the necessity to time each appearance of each candidate on news programs and other shows so all other candidates could be given equal treatment is an intolerable burden.

Even if radio and television stations would put up with the restrictions of section 315, however, the threat of expanding the "equal time" concept should frighten all citizens.

As Stanton eloquently put it in his speech to Sigma Delta Chi:

"A free society cannot say of one medium that it shall have less freedom than another, because it has more impact or more immediacy or a greater audience."

"If the freedom of any medium is restricted, the foundation for the freedom of all media is gone, and freedom eventually becomes a government handout."

"Nor can a free society give governmental agencies the power to roam around the substance of publications or of broadcasts, choosing what matter shall be free and what subject to government restraints or reprisals, except in the case of clearly and publicly defined security matters."

Stanton went on to say: "It is in the nature of a free society that only the people make choices about what they shall read or see or hear, and not their government."
