

Karr-Wills Like Local Government

Editor's note: This is the fifth in a series of articles about township clerks and supervisors in the Cass City area.

By Mary Basing

Local government for local people is the cry often heard from township supervisors and clerks.

"When a man gets his tax roll

Anson Karr

Stanley Wills

back, he doesn't know whether it's right or not," Stanley Wills, supervisor of Greenleaf Township in Sanilac County, said.

"But that man can go to his nearby township supervisor and check his taxes.

"If you get government too far away from the people they lose their voice and they lose their interest."

Anson Karr, Greenleaf Township clerk for 14 years, agrees with Wills.

"The farther you get government away from home the more it will cost you," he said emphatically.

"We should settle local affairs with local people rather than outsiders."

Wills was surprised that the Republican candidates had such a majority in the recent Con-Con election.

"I thought that since the big city Democrats brought up the issue they would at least get out and vote.

"It just proves that in a local election, people will all be out to vote because they know who and what they're voting for but when the issue is away from home there's not so much interest."

"They're forgetting the rural people," Karr said. "Take that Con-Con: the modern legislature could have done the work that the Con-Con is trying to do -- and with less expense.

"I can't see why the legislature couldn't have settled the problems with amendments. They're just going to put in a new constitution and amend that."

Karr, a farmer "71 years young", likes being township clerk.

"Someone has to do it," he said.

He's responsible for opening and closing elections, providing ballots and bringing in the election results. As township clerk, Karr registers voters, takes care of township road business and keeps records of the township board meetings. His salary is $250 a year.

He said he has noticed a decrease in voters.

"Between 1950 and 1960 we've lost 50 voters. I know because I took the census myself," he said.

Greenleaf Township has the caucus system of voice nominations.

"We have one party, the Citizen's Party. In order to have a second party it would have to petition and have it in by the first of January," Karr said.

He is married and has two married children and five grandchildren.

Stanley Wills has been Greenleaf township supervisor for 20 years.

"I started in 1941-42 for $5 a day, now I get $15 a day plus 7c mileage while attending meetings," he said.

Spreading the tax roll and assessing are two of his big jobs. When he started, he said that he could turn in a tax roll only three or four cents off.

"Today I can't get it down as fine as I used to. One of the reasons is that the school districts have so many different schedules, such as Cass City which has three.

"You've just got to watch everything."

Wills farms most of the 200 acres he owns, sells a little insurance and does the supervising.

"Kind of keeps me busy," he said with energy.

The county of Sanilac assesses Greenleaf township at $841,428. The state equalization assesses it at $2,103,000.

The township board is composed of Wills, Karr, Ron Fox and William Smith, trustees, and Aletha Fox, treasurer.

"I've always had a good board to work with," Wills said. "I've always had good luck with it."

Wills, who will be 65 in November, has noticed many changes in the township since he became supervisor.

"In 1945 the whole tax roll for Greenleaf was $8,050. In 1960 it was close to $32,000 and the one this year will be even higher."

Another change has been the special-description property such as small lots.

"The property is getting broken up, city people are coming out and buying up lots along the river or somewhere," Wills said.

"It's becoming a suburbia."

Wills has four children, two sons and two daughters, all married.

Lee and Harold live near their parents, Arlene Love lives in Cass City and Dorothy Wessels lives near Bad Axe. The Willses have 11 grandchildren.

"They're a nice group," Wills said with a laugh, "we know it when we all get together."

WATCHING GRANDMA do the chores of cattle is just daily routine for Mrs. Fanny Hutchinson. Milking 23 head.

Cooks and Sews . . . Plows and Milks

All in A Day's Work for Mrs. Fanny Hutchinson on Farm

Mrs. Fanny Hutchinson is a farmer.

Her duties qualify her as one of the most unusual working women in the Cass City area and in the Thumb. For Mrs. Hutchinson is a working farmer, doing all the labor that continually needs to be done to make her 160-acre farm, about two miles northwest of Cass City, provide a living for her and her family.

In addition, Mrs. Hutchinson takes care of her home . . . bakes, cleans and prepares the meals.

The readjustment from farm wife to farmer came gradually after Mr. Hutchinson was killed nine years ago Nov. 12 while driving home on a tractor on M-81. Mrs. Hutchinson did not immediately become a farmer.

After the death, an auction was held and the personal property sold to settle the estate.

Then Donald Hutchinson, now 27, farmed the land for two years following his father's death before deciding that farming was not for him and took a job in Marlette.

Mrs. Hutchinson then turned to sharecropping for two years . . . "It was a complete flop," she said.

Finally, she decided to work the land herself and the decision proved to be a wise one.

Crops grown

This year, for instance, under cultivation are 15-20 acres of beets, 20-25 acres of corn, 25 acres of oats and 15 acres of wheat.

In addition to the crops, Mrs. Hutchinson has 40 cows of which 23 are milking.

Typical Day

A typical day for Mrs. Hutchinson is probably more than many men would care to tackle.

With the help of her son Dean, now a senior at Cass City High School, Mrs. Hutchinson's day starts at 6 a.m. when she feeds and milks the cows . . . a job that takes at least an hour and a half.

Then it's back to the house at 7:45 to make breakfast and get Dean off to school before returning to the barn to finish the chores.

Field work starts as soon as she leaves the barn. Mrs. Hutchinson does all the cultivating, much of the plowing and assists in planting by handling fertilizer and seed for the drill.

Dinner time is 12 noon and household chores take till 1:30 when Mrs. Hutchinson is back to work in the fields.

At 4:45 it's back to the barn for the evening milking and chores. Supper is usually served between 7 and 8 p.m., although on busy days in the fields it has been as late as 11 p.m.

After supper (or when it rains) is when the laundry and the baking are done. Mrs. Hutchinson bakes all of her own bread and rolls . . . does all of the washing and ironing . . . just two more details in a normal day crowded with activities for one of Cass City's busiest women.

Although Bad Axe ran up an easy victory and 221 yards on the ground, the defense was not as ineffectual as the offense.

Because the offense was unable to start a concentrated drive, Bad Axe controlled the ball for 64 plays from scrimmage.

Scoreless Quarter

The game followed the pregame forecast in the scoreless first period. Cass City was unable to move the ball on offense but showed the Hatches a stubborn defense.

Neither team was able to muster a sustained drive in the opening quarter. The Hawks fumbled twice deep in their own territory in the opening stanza. The first time they lost the ball on their

50% of Families Belong to Three Village Churches

With approximately 40 follow-up calls yet to be made, a summary of the recent religious census was released this week. Church census-takers contacted 694 family units, seeking to discover their local church affiliation or preference.

Over half of that number (380) expressed preference for one of three local churches: Roman Catholic, 112; Presbyterian, 128; Methodist, 140. Baptists were next, 93, trailed by EUB, 82. All others were below the 50-family mark.

Sponsoring the census, which started on Sept. 24 and concluded on the 27th, was the Cass City Ministerial Association whose president, the Rev. Robert J. Searls, directed the census. With the exception of the Cass City Baptist Church, which withdrew from the project, all local churches provided census teams.

Preliminary preparations were handled by a commission headed by Mrs. Albert Gallagher and her assistant, Mrs. Delbert Rawson. Mrs. George Murray served as consultant.

"We are grateful to all the many people who worked in any phase of the project," Mr. Searls said, "especially the teams who got out and rang the doorbells."

The census in September climaxed detail work begun early in June and continued through the summer months.

Democrats Form New Club for Cass City Area

Officers were named at an organizational meeting of the Greater Cass City Democratic Club at the New Gordon Hotel Wednesday evening, Sept. 27.

President of the new group is Charles Newas. Mrs. Richard Erla was named vice-chairman and Mrs. Newas, secretary.

An estimated 50 persons were present, Mr. Newas reported.

Dedicate Gift Tree To Mrs. Walpole

A blue spruce was planted on the grounds of Hills and Dales Hospital last week by the Cass City Zonta Club.

The tree was placed in memory of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Walpole, the first president and a charter member of Zonta in Cass City.

Ex-Cass Cityans to Return for Visit

The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Allured of Lansing plan to visit in Cass City Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 9-10. The Rev. Allured is a former pastor of the Cass City Presbyterian Church, 1925-37 and is a charter member of the Cass City Rotary Club.

Mrs. Allured was a member of the Cass City Woman's Study Club and will visit the club at its next meeting Monday.

The Allureds are now retired but Mr. Allured has developed his showcard and hand-printing hobby into a business. They spend their summers at Bay View.

While in Cass City they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin R. Vender.

Title Bubble Bursts for Cass City in 27-0 Loss to Bad Axe

Cass City's dream of another title in Thumb B Conference football went up in a cloud of charging Bad Axe linemen and fleet running Hatchet backs Friday at Bad Axe.

The Hawks were soundly beaten by a team that Coach Mike Yedinak calls the best he's ever seen at Bad Axe. The score was 27-0.

Although Bad Axe ran up an easy victory and 221 yards on the ground, the defense was not as ineffectual as the offense.

Because the offense was unable to start a concentrated drive, Bad Axe controlled the ball for 64 plays from scrimmage.

Scoreless Quarter

The game followed the pregame forecast in the scoreless first period. Cass City was unable to move the ball on offense but showed the Hatches a stubborn defense.

Neither team was able to muster a sustained drive in the opening quarter. The Hawks fumbled twice deep in their own territory in the opening stanza. The first time they lost the ball on their own 38. They stopped the Hatchet surge on their own 18.

On the first play, Dick Creason fumbled and the Hatches took over on the Hawk 14. It took Bad Axe seven plays to blast into the end zone for the first score of the game early in the second quarter. The point was good and Cass City trailed 7-0.

Cass City continued to be very much in the game until late in the third quarter. Their defensive line had been tough when it counted and the Hatches were not gaining consistently on the ground.

Quarterback Mike DeChane then faded back and tossed a long pass to Dick Engle who was all by himself on the Cass City 10-yard line. He took the perfect heave and trotted in for the second Bad Axe touchdown. The kick was good.

Cass City tried desperately to get back into the game on the next series of plays only to have DeChane intercept a pass at mid-field and gallop the distance to score. He took the pass in the flat and outran the Hawk defense.

The play broke the back of Cass City's resistance and the Hatches began to tear big holes in the Hawk line. They romped for yardage almost at will.

Taking the ball on their own 29, they scored in seven plays most of the yardage coming on the ground. Al Hass picked up the marker from 10 yards out.

Walbro Buys New Plant

Dupree Products Corporation of Toledo, Ohio, has been acquired by Walbro Corporation Oct. 4 and will be operated as a wholly owned subsidiary, according to an announcement by Walter E. Walpole, president of the latter firm.

Samuel F. Dupree, founder and president of the Dupree Corporation, joins Walbro in charge of original equipment sales and product development for the subsidiary.

Walbro officials were unable to say how the new plant would affect employment in the Cass City area at this time.

This is the second acquisition by Walbro in the last six months and is another step of diversification to permit the company to serve the automotive and related markets better.

The Dupree products are a complete line of safety lights and reflector signals, turn signals and emergency light switches for commercial vehicles, and unlighted road and driveway reflector markers.

For the replacement market, Floyd R. Stevenson, Chicago marketing consultant, has been retained by Walbro to form a national sales organization and to set up and manage complete after-market distribution.

Mr. Dupree is a veteran of the automotive parts industry, having been general sales manager with Bendix Aviation Corporation, Ltd., Pacific Division, for six years and general manager of the parts division of the Dana Corporation, Spicer Division, for 20 years. He also operates a group of universal joint service depots in five cities.

Mr. Stevenson is a nationally known sales authority in the automotive after-market and has operated his own sales agency for 10 years in addition to market counseling.

All management, engineering, manufacturing and financial operations on Dupree products will be moved to Cass City as soon as feasible.

Walbro manufactures carburetors for small engines, Autopulse electric fuel pumps and fuel lifters and a wide variety of plastic products.

Retired Rev. Vender Still Keeps Busy

The Rev. Melvin R. Vender is retired but he keeps busy.

He assisted the Rev. Joseph Ryan, pastor of the Bad Axe Presbyterian Church, in giving communion as part of a worldwide communion service Sunday.

Mr. Vender became a communicant member of the Bad Axe church when 12 years old. His brother, the late William Vender, was an Elder in the Bad Axe Church for 44 years. When he retired he was voted an honorary life Eldership by the congregation.

Mr. Vender will be the guest preacher and conduct a communion service in the Presbyterian Church in Uby Sunday, Oct. 8.

Charters Feted By Family on Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Charter were married 50 years Sept. 27. A family dinner attended by 20 relatives at their farm home northwest of Cass City Sunday helped them to celebrate the event.

Mr. Charter and the former Grace Martin were married in the Methodist parsonage in Caro Sept. 27, 1911, and have made their home on the farm where Mr. Charter was born on Mar. 1, 1889.

Mrs. Charter was born in Grant Township, Aug. 14, 1890.

The couple has three children: George Wesley of Florida, Harland of Caro and Retta of Bay City school and Retta teaches in Detroit. They also have two granddaughters and two grandsons.

The Charters received many cards and gifts.

Begins Studies

Mrs. Norman Hoppe of Cass City announced this week that Melvin Hoppe is in Ontario where he plans to begin study for the priesthood.

He left Sunday, Sept. 24, to enter St. Jerome's College in Kitchener.

From the Editor's Corner

We received a letter from Sylvia M. Kelley about the school situation. It was one of two that used poetry to describe their sentiments.

Due to space limitations, the Chronicle has adopted a rule of no poetry. However, at the end of the "Ode to Cass City" is an epitaph that tells the tale. Here it is:

Here lies a town, if any one axes Died from fear of paying taxes.

Traditionally, for a player to make one of the all-state teams, he must be outstanding on a winning team and come to the attention of the persons making the selections.

We suspect that some of the outstanding players of Cass City glory days on the gridiron may have made the grade if they played this year.

For this season Coach Mike Yedinak is one of the writers on a Detroit paper's all-state grid panel and is in a position to bring players to the attention of the board that makes the decisions.

Yedinak has served on the panel previously, but this is the first time he has written the articles. This year he will probably serve as an impartial judge as Cass City has no outstanding stars and appears headed for a mediocre (for Cass City) season.

A word on highway safety. Good roads, good cars, able enforcement, educational programs for youth, efficient screening of applicants are important, says Gerald W. Shipman of the Michigan State Safety Commission.

But the crying need is a method of opening doors of individual driver's minds and let these corrective influences in.

A healthy 85 per cent of the traffic accidents are caused by the mental and physical reaction of the individual driver in a given situation.

The problem is that everyone knows that it's the other fellow that can't drive.

Hire New Band Director

Cass City has a new band instructor. He is Dick Case, now teaching at Shields, Supt. Willis Campbell announced this week.

Complete details about the new instructor were not available. Mr. Campbell said that he met band members last week.

His school credentials had not arrived at the school at press time.

Mr. Case was starting his second year at Shields when he resigned to accept the Cass City position.

He graduated from Central Michigan University and has earned his Masters degree. He taught a year in Detroit before going to Shields, Mr. Campbell said.

Meanwhile, efforts are being made to find a teacher to replace Fulton McLain who resigned to accept a position in industry.

Until his replacement is found Arthur Holmberg is filling in on the science courses and Supt. Willis Campbell has been taking a stint in the study hall.

Lions Look for Annual Sale to Bring Clean Sweep

The Cass City Lions Club will sell brooms to help the blind Saturday, Oct. 14. Local salesmen will be on Main Street and brooms will be available at several local stores.

Part of the funds will help the Lions program nationally and the remainder will be used to aid the sight program in the Cass City area. Local Lions are looking for a clean sweep of sales to boost the program.

Council Studies Village Standby Water Problem

What action will be necessary to provide standby water power for Cass City has not yet been decided by the village council. At the present time there is no emergency system available in the village in case of power failure.

Further investigation by trustees has revealed that the Poe Company had installed a gear box with a one-to-one ratio when a ratio of one-and-a-half to one is needed to operate the engine that works the pumps in an emergency.

The problem is further complicated because the gear ratio that is right for the present motor is obsolete for replacement motors.

Since the gear necessary for the pump has been quoted at $2,400, trustees are deliberating on whether it should be installed even though the Poe Company is responsible for a proper hookup.

Trustee Lee Rabideau, who has studied the situation, says that it may be possible to get a new engine from Civil Defense for less than $100 that will run the pump with the present gear ratio. If so, it is probable that the present gear will not be replaced.

At this time no standby power for the second pump is planned. The council will probably wait until they have the recommendations from Hubble, Roth and Clark, consulting engineers, before making any other changes or additions to the water system.

Catholic Women in Monday Meeting

Fr. Arnold Messing explained the recent community church census to members of the St. Patrick's Altar Society Monday night and told of the church's building campaign. Construction is slated to start next April on the new church for the parish.

The annual canned food shower for the nuns, sponsored by the society, will be held Oct. 15. Members may bring their donations to the church.

Fr. Messing will say Mass at 11:00 a.m. to begin the annual retreat at the Sacred Heart Church in Caro, Saturday, Oct. 7. Fr. Mikulski, pastor at Sacred Heart Church, will give a series of talks at this retreat.

Members were extended an invitation to attend the annual fall open meeting of Catholic women in Ruth, Wednesday, Oct. 11, and also to attend the national convention.

Concluded on page twelve.

BOOK REVIEW

Too Long For Comfortable Reading

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

When I started reading "From The Terrace," the latest novel by one of America's most successful novelists and playwrights, I questioned whether he could keep my interest for nine hundred pages. He couldn't. But I read it all anyway. I have owned and reread his "Appointment In Samarra," a commentary on one phase of society in Gibbstown, Pa., in the post World War I period. I thought I saw two main points in that excellent novel: (1) a display of some four letter words that O'Hara knew and that his wife would not allow him to use around the house — coupled with an outsider's interest in what has come to be called "clinical sex"; (2) O'Hara's belief that in the long run life has no meaning. The 'hero' of "Samarra" ends the book in the seat of his car in a closed garage filling with carbon monoxide. In a sense (although I have not read all his books) every novel from his prolific pen has been an up-dating of the first. Short stories in "The New Yorker" do their bit to keep Julian English and Gibbstown always before us. This book is about the same social strata and approximately the same period. Alfred Eaton is born of wealthy parents, the second and less-favored son. In his youth he resents his father and early rejects his mother because of her infidelities and excessive drinking. At Knox Prep School and Princeton he learns about the worlds of finance and women. World War I he spends safely as a deck officer in the Navy. Between wars he is married, organizes a manufacturing firm which fails, becomes a partner in a Wall Street banking firm. engages in numerous 'affairs'. During World War II he becomes Assistant Secretary of Navy, changes wives, is beaten out of his Wall Street future, loses his Navy flier son. A massive hemorrhage almost causes his death and does cause his virtual retirement. One of O'Hara's abilities is to portray, in the early pages, character sketches of many people who stay important to the plot till the end. The same points I made above are evident again plus the definition of others just hinted at in "Samarra": (3) life travels in inescapable cycles over which we really have no control. (Alfred becomes as the father he hated.) (4) honesty and integrity in business (exemplified again in Eaton) really mean nothing more than does love, which is nothing. There are some very excellent things about seeing life from the terrace' with O'Hara but I found the book tedious with long pages of semi-philosophical monologue. One surprise (at least to me): In the conversations between Alfred and Natalie (especially) O'Hara shows an unexpected sense of humour — in repartee primarily. Some of this is extremely clever. As you can tell, my feelings about this book are mixed. However, I doubt (for what it's worth) that I will ever take time to read this book again as I did "Samarra." "From The Terrace" by John O'Hara, 1958, Random House, available from the Elkland Township Library.

Right Feed May Produce Extra Ton Of Milk Yearly

"Old Bossy" may be able to produce another ton of milk per year if given a chance, and if she is healthy, with good inherent milk producing ability, high profit feeding can give her this chance, reports Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture. The general feeding factors limiting milk production are inferior hay quality, excessively high moisture grass silage, and too little grain and protein in the ration. Some guide posts to extra milk production per cow are feed, along with hay, all the corn silage allowed by the farm silage supply. If high moisture direct-cut grass silage is fed at a heavy rate, feed an extra two pounds of grain for each 10 pounds of silage above 30 pounds a day. Balancing the ration to contain 12 per cent protein (total ration air-dry basis) may give results, and occasionally an extra pound fed per cow each day for three or four days may bring out some increases. Sometimes the normal grain ration may not contain sufficient phosphorus or trace minerals. A little more added in the ration may help. Good edible forage kept in front of the cow at all times may make a considerable difference. Feeding forages at least four times each day will do this; and try to follow a feeding grain schedule. Proper feeding before calving and after freshening should not be overlooked. Before calving feed about one to one and a half pounds of grain for each 100 pounds of body weight of the cow for at least two weeks prior to calving. Continue this for at least four days after calving. A longer pre-feeding period may be needed depending on the cow's condition. After freshening, continue feeding one pound of grain per 100 pounds of body weight for four days, then gradually increase the grain according to a good schedule or until the cow's production stops increasing, and feed at this level. When production starts to decrease, reduce the amount of grain fed approximately one pound daily for each three pounds decline in production. If cows decrease in production because of changes in roughage quality then increase the grain to make up the difference. If grain is fed in the milking parlor, feed extra grain in the feedlot bunk. Good cows will not have sufficient time to eat enough grain to maintain high milk production. Feed protein supplement in the milking parlor according to the following schedule. Dry cows and those milking up to 20 pounds per day—none. Add one pound of 44 per cent protein for each 10 pounds of milk produced over 20 pounds per day. One pound of 44 per cent protein is equal to 0.8 pound of 55 per cent; 0.9 pound of 50 per cent of 1.4 pounds of 32 per cent protein. Heavy corn silage rations can be supplemented by feeding 4 pounds of 44 per cent protein or equivalent per 100 pounds of silage fed. Grain rations should then contain 12 per cent to 13 per cent protein. No feeding program is complete unless a strong summer feeding program is followed. Dropping of milk production can be reduced by feeding extra hay, silage or grain regardless of the summer feed fed. Also follow a good dry cow and herd replacement feeding program. If proper feeding does not show increased milk production, then the cow may need to be culled. Good production records make the job of culling much easier and exacting, relates Kebler, and be sure the keep the herd healthy.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago Willis Campbell, superintendent at Cass City High School, traced the development of schools in the community Tuesday for Rotarians at their regular noonday meeting at the New Gordon Hotel. Front page headlines, Oct. 5, 1956: Cobo Greeted Tuscola Voters in Cass City; Mrs. Bigelow Named Grand Electra of OES; Mrs. Bauer To Speak in Saginaw; Smith To Describe Life With Eskimos; Hawks Rally To Nip Caro In 28-25 Thriller.

Ten Years Ago Mrs. Kenneth Russell and Mrs. James Tuckey were accepted as new members of the Elkland Extension Club at the meeting of the club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Wright. Two persons well-known to Cass City residents are responsible for making the Detroit House of Correction what is called by authorities the "Best run prison in the United States," according to a recent article in the Detroit Free Press. The two are Supt. A. Blake Gillies, formerly of Cass City, and Deputy Supt. Ed Gardner, who married the former Mary Striffler of Cass City.

weights Anna Barber proved very efficient and secured a pair of roller skates as a prize from the Kroger Grocery. Henry Tate, manager of the store, filled a window with coffee and received estimates from girls and boys as to the total weight. There were exactly 374 pounds of coffee in the window and Anna's estimate was 375. Shirley Suprenant was second with 400 and received a box of candy, and Maurice Fordyce received 50 cents in trade. A birthday dinner was enjoyed Sunday at the home of Mrs. Solomon Striffler when the birthdays of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Krapf, W. R. Kaiser and Mrs. Striffler were celebrated. Out of town guests were Mrs. Samuel Striffler of Battle Creek, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kaiser, son, Kenneth, and daughter, Ruth, of Detroit.

Thirty-five Years Ago Paint has changed the appearance of the front of the Bliss Millinery Store, the addition of white giving the building a more attractive appearance. Mrs. A. A. Schmidt received a letter Friday from her brother, L. W. Usher, at Blackshear, Ga., stating that he was in Miami, Florida, during the recent hurricane. He escaped without serious injuries, but stated that he thought at the time that everything in Miami had hit him. Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tesho and daughter, Laura, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lorentzen and children decided to help Mrs. John Lorentzen celebrate her birthday, so with well-filled baskets they arrived at the Lorentzen home for supper, much to the surprise of Mrs. Lorentzen.

Rites Held Friday for Richard Bayley, 84

Richard Bayley, 84, died Wednesday, Sept. 27, at his home in Cass City after an extended illness.

Born in Ontario, Canada, July 4, 1877, he came to this area with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bayley, when a child.

He married the former Mabel McBurney July 29, 1908, and they made their home on a farm in the area. In 1955 they retired to Cass City, where he lived until his death.

Mr. Bayley was Past Master of Tyler Lodge No. 317 of Cass City, Past Patron of the OES Echo Chapter No. 337, a member of the Royal Arch Masons of Caro and had been a member of the Cass City Presbyterian Church for 50 years.

Mr. Bayley became a Master Mason on Oct. 9, 1906. He started through offices in 1909 and was senior warden 1913-14. In 1915-16 he was Master of Tyler Lodge and he served as marshal for 40 years and received his 40-year life membership in 1946. Up until his recent illness, he was an active Mason.

Surviving, besides his wife, are: one daughter, Mrs. George (Alexia) Cook of Cass City; one son, John Bayley of Phoenix, Arizona; one granddaughter, Rose, of Cass City. One daughter, two brothers and five sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Friday, Sept. 29, at 2:00 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John H. Fish and Melvin R. Vender officiated. Committal services were under the auspices of Tyler Lodge No. 317.

Arrangements were by Little's Funeral Home and burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

SOMMERS' BAKERY

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS

Cass City, Michigan

Dear Madam:

It has ever been our most earnest desire to manufacture the finest loaf of bread and other baked goods possible for you. Now we have developed a new formula and a new service to offer you a NEW Loaf, superior in eating and keeping qualities and fresher than any bread sold in Cass City.

The plan is simple. There are no secrets. First, we are using the finest flour possible to obtain and have included in the formula liberal quantities of pure malt and milk solids. Doctors and dietitians everywhere recognize the value of pure malt as an energy food and milk minerals as a body builder. NEW KREAMO contains liberal quantities of both milk and malt and is, we believe, the most nutritious loaf with the finest eating qualities possible to produce.

We ask you to give NEW KREAMO a trial. Smell its delicious fresh aroma, taste its delicate flavor, notice how much you really enjoy eating it. Let the family be the judge.

NEW KREAMO comes to you fresher because it is baked in your home town, and under this new service, New Kreamo is baked in the early morning. We guarantee New Kreamo to be Extra Fresh.

Many people feel that they owe it to their community to buy hometown bread and we very much appreciate that loyalty, but we believe that you owe it to your community only to try New Kreamo Bread and if it is not as good or better than other breads you have tried, we cannot urge you to continue using it.

Ask for New Kreamo for at least one trial, and if it doesn't suit you, won't you please tell us why? Thanks. After all you must be satisfied. New Kreamo is on sale today. Ask for it by name.

SOMMERS' BAKERY

J. D. Sommers

P.S.—If you like Homemade bread try Home Style, the extra large loaf unsliced, in the brown transparent wrapper. It has the real homemade flavor. J.D.S.

1961

We are again introducing New Kreamo so long absent from our production.

We are proud to back up every word of our original 1937 statement and to add that we believe you will find this the tastiest 'fresh baked' loaf you have ever eaten.

More modern methods of production, and enrichment with added vitamins and minerals insure you a loaf excelled by none in freshness; baked every morning - "The day you buy it," in flavor; homemade goodness that lasts, enrichment, toasting qualities and packaging.

Take advantage of our offer below as we proudly offer New Kreamo once again.

BULEN TALKS Cars

COWBOY DRIVERS

The way an automobile is cared for and driven by its owner can increase its worth as much as several hundred dollars when it is traded on a new car.

Automatic transmissions, for instance, while practically fool-proof in the precision with which they are turned out these days by the factory, can require a costly major overhaul after as little as 10,000 miles of rough handling.

While high speed in itself is not necessarily hard on a car, constant rapid acceleration and braking is. It strains the transmission, wears out the brakes and tires and soon creates body looseness. If a road is rough and potholed - slow down. Bumpy railroad tracks, for instance, will do a lot less damage to your car's suspension and body tightness if driven over at 25 miles per hour than at 75 mph.

Does "cowboy" driving save time? To find out, two engineers recently sent two cars over the same route through a city, one driven carefully and the other by a driver "in a hurry."

The easy driver got 60 per cent more miles to a gallon of gas - 19.2 miles per gallon compared with 12 - and lost almost nothing in speed for the economy. His average speed was 2 per cent less and his time on the road 2 per cent more. While the cowboy driver took 30 minutes to make the trip, the careful driver took 30.6 minutes.

Careful drivers are poor service customers, but they are a pleasure to deal with when trade-in time comes around.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor: It's gitting so I know more folks in the funeral columns of your paper than I do in the wedding announcements. I ain't concealing the fact that I've past the three-score milepost. I ain't like the wimmen this feller was writing about the other day. He said wimmen would go to "greater lengths to conceal their age than anything else." On account of

GAGETOWN

St. Agatha Altar Society meeting was held Wednesday evening with 55 members attending. Mrs. Peter Leiterman opened the meeting and asked Father McLaughlin to lead in prayer. Plans for the Hunters dinner, scheduled for the first day of hunting season, were made and some committees were appointed. Father McLaughlin gave a talk on Civil Defense, radiation fallout and the Soviet Union. Division No. 5 co-captains, Mrs. Harlan Hobart and Mrs. Lee Dillon, served refreshments. The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harding and Jill Marie and Mrs. Cleam Harding of Pontiac spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Thiel.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mackay, Janice and Diane of Detroit were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mackay.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thiel and son Robert and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lapak and family of Detroit, Paul Thiel of Royal Oak, Mrs. Fred Stewart and Carroll Thiel of Pontiac, Leo Thiel of Bad Axe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schwartz and family of Cass City and Robert Ulrich of Sebawaing were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Thiel. They celebrated Adolph Thiel's 88rd birthday.

Mrs. C. P. Hunter went to Detroit Saturday to spend the next three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Delos Wood in Toledo, Ohio.

Dr. Henry J. Shannon of Detroit spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Gingrich of Bad Axe called on Mrs. J. C. Armitage Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Salgat and Frank recently spent a week end in Ann Arbor with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clague. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Salgat and Douglas took Frank to Detroit where he will be a student at the IBM school. Frank has previously had two years of college at MGU at Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Patnaude, Mrs. Aura Beadon, Mrs. Violet Merchison, Mrs. Norman Pine, Mrs. Edward Proulx and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bolzer and Mrs. Herman Kuhne and Jean of Unionville attended the Proulx-Kolb wedding and reception in Wyandotte Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beardsley of Cedar Run were recent Sunday guests of Mrs. Mose Karr.

this not being a very concealing generation for wimmen, I'm pleased to note they got a little modesty in this direction.

But what I started out to say was I been in this troubled world a long time, including two world wars, two panics and several of their first and second cousins known today as depressions and recessions. Even a feller like me gets a little wisdom with the years and I figger, if you dig down to the grass roots of the situation in the world today, you got to come up with just one answer. People living under Communism ain't got nothing to fight for and we have. That has got to be the difference between us wimmen and them losing.

Per instant, I'm reading in the papers where Americans has kept piling up savings in Government bonds even during the unemployment. This report from the Treasury Department last week showed that at the end of June this year the holdings of these bonds was at a new high of $44 billions. Sales of these bonds for the first half of 1961 was 5 per cent ahead of last year and cashing in was the lowest in 6 years.

Us Americans has not only got freedom of religion, speech, assembly, the ballot, and all them other freedoms, but we own the Government and the country, got plenty to eat and wear, and has got $44 billion stored away for a rainy day. People living under Communism ain't got nothing, and secretly they know it, and when the chips git down people ain't going to hang together and fight very long or very hard fer somepun under which they ain't got no rights and in which they ain't got no stock.

If we git into a nuclear war with Russia a heap of the world is going to be destroyed and you and me, Mister Editor, might not be here, but what's left of this world is going to belong to free Americans and our allies in the cause fer freedom. I'm as positive of that as I am that there'll be crabgrass in my patches next spring—atomic fallout or no atomic fallout.

And speaking of fallout and such things, I was reading in the papers the other day where this science feller from Yale claims a hole has developed in the Milky Way. I'm mighty glad to learn about it. A little ventilation in the world right now, special around Moscow, ain't going to hurt nobody.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Frost Tinted Leaves Paint the Countryside

By Irene Warren

Hail, October! One of my favorite months.

The poets who wrote "day by day the dead leaves fall," "yellow mellow ripened days" and "season of mists and mellow fruitfulness" must have had in mind "October's bright blue weather," Helen Hunt Jackson surely loved October, too, for she wrote:

"O suns and skies and clouds of June,
And flowers of June together,
Ye cannot rival for one hour
October's bright blue weather."

This is the month when frost tinted leaves will paint the countryside with bright colors, fall fires will lend a pleasantly acrid aroma to the air and football games will catch our interest. It's a time, too, for long hikes into the country. It's a pleasant hiatus between summer and winter. It's October.

A couple of weeks ago I complained in this column about high water in the springtime when the Cass River floods its banks. Well, after last week, I've conceded that high water can come just about any time it rains too much!

I awoke Tuesday morning to find Old Lady River full to the brim and overflowing — the water was roily and restless. That evening, after returning home from work, I was able to reach the main bank where I surveyed some of the debris stranded by the receding water: some apples, sticks, little bunches of leaves and grass tangled together. As I looked about I observed two tall stalks of goldenrod whose golden heads had been above high water — perched on each of these neighboring flowers was a fuzzy caterpillar. Poor little beasties... since I had observed the goldenrods nodding above the rushing water, I know how close these caterpillars came to drowning. They still were marooned by the muddy water but their danger was past if they could hang on for a few more hours. Much as I dislike crawling things, I would never have considered cruelly flicking them off into the water... rather, I gave to them personalities and was glad they had outwitted the wily old river this time.

Louis Brandeis, former Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, was a man both beloved and admired. An interesting story is told concerning the advice he gave to fledgling lawyers fresh out of law school. Many came to Justice Brandeis seeking his counsel as to where they might begin their careers; full of enthusiasm, eager to do something about the ills of the world, they were ready to go to work.

To each one Justice Brandeis gave the same answer, "Go to your hinterland." They were to go back to Michigan — to Oregon — to Kansas — to their homes. That's where they were to start.

This is a lesson that each of us would do well to learn. We can't all run to Lansing, to Washington, to the United Nations. But each one can do something right where he is to improve world conditions.

Because, after all, where is the world? Is it Berlin - China - India - Thailand? Yes, it is... but it's also Cass City - Shabbona - Detroit - et al. And so, we start to work right where we are.

Each one of us can compile a list of things that we can and should do. But, let's not be merely listmakers - let's put our ideas and ideals into action.

There's an old saying "Rome wasn't built in a day." True. Neither, however, was it built by procrastination.

Best thing for a cold shoulder is milk.

Court Decision Could Increase Taxes

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Michigan's highest court often walks the fine line between usurpation of legislative power and judicial interpretation of Constitutional or statutory law.

A recent Supreme Court decision which seems to nullify an age old doctrine of governmental immunity is a case in point. The idea that governments should not be sued by individuals is said to date back to days when "the king could do no wrong." Others say that the concept developed from the way things used to be when the local government units performed only a few, necessary services and had no sizable resources.

In its decision, which upsets these ideas, the Court pointed out that the legislature could restore governmental immunity any time it chose to do so.

As it stands now anyone who feels he was wronged or damaged by a government in Michigan is free to start suit. Previously it was necessary to seek and obtain permission from the government about to be sued before action could take place.

There are few who would argue today that an individual should not have the right to seek just restitution for damages suffered because of failings of a government unit to properly discharge its responsibilities. There are also those who are concerned that juries in such cases may follow the path of those which set damages for accidents involving insurance companies. There has been a detectable attitude in some cases: "soak the insurance company, it has lots of money." This has resulted in increased insurance premiums. A "soak the city" attitude on the part of juries could easily result in the same thing: an increase of cost to the public.

Government immunity was a doctrine of Michigan since the state came into being until the recent Supreme Court decision overthrew it. Alarmists among those with an interest in the subject would do well to allow at least some brief period to see the effect of the new concept and how it will work.

It is always possible, according to the Court, for the legislature to bring the former doctrine back into existence.

Vision is needed to make any kind of worthwhile attempt to predict either urban growth or transportation needs of the future.

The state Highway Department hopes it has this vision in attempting to work out routes and access points for expressways of the future which will be situated in Michigan cities.

One problem, becoming more acute as the federal and state governments move more and more into the urban renewal field, is whether these planned roads will conflict with slum clearance and other civic betterment projects also on the drawing boards.

Michigan's highway chief, John C. Mackie, says his department already does more urban planning work than any other agency of state government.

Highway planners are now branching out more into the field of federal programs of urban renewal and planning. In fact, a top-level meeting recently was held between Mackie, other high state officials and William L. Slayton, the Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner.

Aim of this meeting, and in fact, the aim of all the cooperative efforts of planners from both fields, is to promote comprehensive transportation and construction blueprints for the future.

Michigan grew faster in population during the last decade than it did between 1940 and 1950 and it has continued to grow at a higher rate than the country as a whole, according to figures recently released by the U. S. Census Bureau.

Between 1950 and 1960 Michigan added 1,424,015 to its population as compared to a growth of 1,116,000 between 1940 and 1950. So it added 27 per cent more people during this last decade than it did during the previous decade.

Michigan's population now is 7,795,781 as compared with 6,371,766 in 1950. In 1950 Michigan's population represented 3.2 per cent of the population of the United States. In 1960 it constituted an even greater part: 4.3 per cent.

Michigan as a consumer's market continues to grow rapidly, even more rapidly than it did during the decade from 1940 to 1950. Predictions by expert demographers state that Michigan will have over 10,000,000 people 10 years from now. If so, the increase in the next 10 years will total over 2,000,000, half again as much as during the last decade.

Michigan had 9,891 industrial plants in 1947; 12,711 in 1954 and 13,238 in 1958. During the past period from 1954 to 1958 Michigan gained 527, just exceeded by Illinois with 531 but way ahead of Ohio's 407.

I think most of us know what the word "Sanforized" on a fabric label means. For those who don't know, "Sanforized" on the label means that a fabric will not shrink out of fit. Very soon now you will see a companion trademark called "Sanforized-plus" which describes a performance standard for wash and wear fabrics. The "plus" indicates the fabric has met rigid tests for smoothness after washing, crease resistance, tensile strength and tear strength, as well as for shrinkage. A patented electronic instrument is used to evaluate smoothness.

This "plus" label made its debut several months ago and can be found in the fall twills, chinos, cords, poplins and gabardines of medium and heavyweight cottons. These fabrics are featured in sports, casual and work garments. Next spring, the label will be extended to lightweight fabrics of cotton, cotton blends, synthetics and linen.

Fabric producers and finishing plants are being licensed to use the Sanforized-Plus label on wash and wear goods for both the wholesale and retail trade.

I decided to see if I could find out the answer and here is one version of the basic story. Tailored garments had their origin in England. Clothing was designed originally for convenience and comfort. But chivalry and horsemanship had their influence, too. A man riding on a horse could not be hampered or restricted by his clothes at a crucial moment when he might need to pull a swift sabre or a pistol from his holster. To facilitate a fast draw with the right hand from a scabbard at the left, men's coats were designed to button from left to right.

The modest women of those early days wore skirts designed to cover the ankle, almost. Because of their long, heavy skirts, ladies found it more comfortable to ride a horse side-saddle. Stirrups were on the left flank of the horse. To protect the lovely ladies from cold and disheveling winds, clothing designers made women's coats so that they buttoned from right to left. Consequently, the winds could not separate the two side-fronts of the coat.

While these reasons seem of no importance today, we are the victims of convention. Men's and women's coat designs have been handed down from one generation to another. It would be a venture some designer who would violate this time-honored rule. And if a designer did violate this time-honored rule, would men and women accept a change? I wonder.

ELECTRIC HEAT WHEN YOU'RE ADDING ROOM

ADD MORE ROOM WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR PRESENT HEATING SYSTEM. Planning to enclose a porch or breezeway? Add a bedroom or family room? Then be sure of comfort by installing electric heat! It's easy to do because electric heat is installed and operates independently of existing heating system.

CLEAN HEAT. Electric heat is heat by wire instead of fire—it never creates smoke or soot. Walls and furniture, draperies, carpeting and rugs stay cleaner longer.

INSTANT HEAT. Electric home heating is fast because the heat source is right there, in the room. And independent operation makes it ideal in spring and fall when one or two rooms need heating while others are warmed by the sun. Individual thermostats keep rooms at different temperatures automatically.

MATCH THE HEATING UNITS TO MEET YOUR NEEDS

Electric baseboard units heat by both radiation and convection.
Radiant electric heating cable is usually embedded in ceilings.
Heat pumps, for one room or the entire home, heat and air condition, too.

In the walls, you can install either radiant panels or forced air units.

Mrs. Keegan was a guest at the meeting.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION

Sale or Mortgage of Real Estate State of Michigan, The Probate Court for the County of Tuscola.

In the Matter of the Estate of Clarence Campbell, Mentally Incompetent.

At a session of said Court, held on October 2nd, 1961.

Present, Honorable Henderson Graham, Judge of Probate.

Notice is hereby given, That all persons interested in said estate are directed to appear before said Probate Court on November 2nd, 1961, at ten a.m., to show cause why a license should not be granted to Lawrence Campbell, guardian of said estate, to sell or mortgage the interest of said estate in certain real estate described in his petition, for the purpose of caring for ward.

It is ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three weeks consecutively previous to said day of hearing, in the Cass City Chronicle, and that the petitioner cause a copy of this notice to be served upon each known party in interest at his last known address by registered, certified or ordinary mail (with proof of mailing), or by personal service at least 14 days prior to such day of hearing, as directed by the Court.

Henderson Graham, Judge of Probate. A true copy. Destrice P. Berry, Register of Probate. James J. Euskamp, Attorney Caro, Michigan 10-5-3

Hawk Grigger Has Knee Operation

John Crawford is in Saginaw General Hospital for surgery on a knee injured while playing football. A Cass City High School student, he was a patient at Hills and Dales General Hospital for two weeks.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crawford.

Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem and hath received as his reward, the White Stone with the new name written thereon.

And Whereas, the All-wise and merciful Master of the universe has called from labor to refreshments our beloved and respected Brother, and

He having been a true and faithful member of our Beloved Order, therefore be it

Resolved, that Tyler Lodge, No. 817 F. & A. M. of Cass City, Mich., in testimony of her loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that we tender to the family of our deceased Brother our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
"There is only a curtain between us."

Between the beyond and the here, They whom we call dead have not left us, Nay, they were never so near."

In memory of Brother Richard Bayley who died Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1961.
