

Area Taxes in Upward Spiral

3 Vacation Days On Tap for Local Students

It's vacation time for students at Cass City School and most of the schools in the county Friday, the opening day of pheasant season.

The day off will be the first of three for area students. School will also be dismissed Thursday and Friday, Nov. 2-3, for the annual teachers' institute at Saginaw City Auditorium.

An estimated 3,000 teachers from Saginaw, Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and Gratiot counties are expected to attend the event sponsored by the Michigan Education Association.

In addition to two general sessions there will be group meetings slated at Arthur Hill High School.

Kroswek New Civil Defense Director

A new civil defense director for Tuscola county was appointed by supervisors last week. He is Frank Kroswek.

Kroswek replaces Sheriff William Tomlinson, who resigned. In other action, the supervisors allotted space in the courthouse for a civil defense office and instructed officials to purchase equipment and furniture from government surplus to man the offices.

It is likely that the new offices could be in the basement of the courthouse, recently vacated by the county soil conservation service.

The supervisors will also appoint a first, second and third vice-chairman of the board to be in charge in time of disaster. The chairman of the board is the top man in civil defense.

Area Nurse Injured In Car Mishap

Miss Genevieve Marie Trepkoski, 22, of Tyre escaped serious injury when her car overturned after leaving the roadway of Cumber Road Monday. The accident occurred at 2:50 p.m. as Miss Trepkoski was on the way to work at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

She was treated for abrasions of left hand and knee bruises. She lost control of her car while rolling down a window to throw away an apple core.

She was issued a summons for failing to have her car under control.

Anticipated tax revenues as determined by the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors will see total taxes in the county jump over $710,000 this year as the new state equalized valuation boosts revenues for governmental units and increases the bill to local taxpayers.

Total tax revenues will stretch to an all-time high in the county when $3,017,275.75 will be collected... an increase of over $1.1 million from the money collected two years ago.

The jump in taxes is a direct result of the change by the state in the valuation of property without a corresponding decrease in the mill rate. This year the county reduced its millage from 5.5 to 4.5, but the increase was quickly snapped up by the townships which received an added mill.

Schools receiving 8.5 mills again immediately places the tax rate at the 15-mill level. Despite the reduction in the mill rate, the county will have $111,101.52 more funds than the previous year. Total county taxes are now $609,819.91 as compared to $498,718.39 previously.

School operating taxes also took a healthy jump of over $370,000. Total amount paid will be $1,133,219.29.

One tax has been reduced. Special school voted taxes went down about $1,000 as several schools, including Cass City and Deford, turned down special funds for education.

Townships' Totals

Total taxes collected in Elkland Township were $169,283.46 as compared to $218,462.52 this year. This year's tax in Elmwood township totals $106,085.02 as compared to $78,875.48 previously. Novesta formerly paid a total of $47,993.06 and will pay $61,420.60 this year. Ellington's taxes jumped from $32,612.52 to $40,246.91.

Other Business

In other action, the supervisors went on record by a 21-2 margin as being against aid to dependent children for unemployed fathers and commended the ban of the sale of no-deposit beer bottles.

More for Welfare

The board listened to a report from Irl Baguley, director of social welfare, and the welfare board telling the progress of the department and explaining costs.

The county was asked to approve a budget that will jump from $140,000 this year to $155,000 in 1962.

Expenditures Okaved

The supervisors authorized the blacktopping of the parking lot next to the county jail at a cost of some $1,000. The work will be done by the county road commission.

Cass City Voodoos Vassar With 12-0 Victory Friday

It was Friday the 13th and it was an unlucky day for the Vassar Vulcans as the Red Hawks spoiled the homecoming festivities at Vassar with a 12-0 victory in a game played in 40-degree temperature.

The Friday voodoo was very much in evidence for the Vulcans as they fumbled five times and former on defense, saying to

Because of the opening of pheasant season Friday, the game scheduled with Marlette at Cass City Recreational Park will be played tonight (Thursday) a day early.

Authorities said that they were afraid that many of the players would hunt all day and then come in to play football at night.

Six Area Churches Boy Scout Program To Help with UNICEF Drive In High Gear Here

'Halloween with a heart' is the challenge to be offered to Cass City residents on Halloween night. Through the cooperation of six local churches, youngsters will ring every doorbell in town and call "Trick or Treat for UNICEF!" They will carry milk-carton canisters with the official UNICEF hand of orange to identify themselves.

All money donated goes to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, an agency of the World Health Organization (WHO) which is the UN working in the health field. UNICEF has nearly wiped out yaws, a dread disease striking children in India and in similar climates. It also has provided immunization shots, accepted as normal here, but a rarity to most of the world's children.

Children helping with the solicitation will meet at the Scout rooms at 5:30 p.m. and will be taken to their assignments by adults, who will be assisted by youths. Following their 'tour of duty', the young canvassers will return to the Scout room for a treat of their own.

This annual event gives Cass City a chance to reach healing hands around the world to needy children.

Rotarians Hear of Big Future for Plastics in Building

You have to "dream a little bit" when you discuss plastic for building and plumbing, Art Korney Jr. of the B. F. Goodrich Co., told members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

The trouble with most persons and plastic is that the name is connected with a toy-type material. The future of plastic in the building industry is almost unbelievable, Korney claims.

At the present time, only about one per cent of the material in an ordinary building is plastic. Korney expects it to grow by leaps and bounds.

Plastic has the advantage of being lighter, permits color all the way through the material, is easily mass produced, as well as many other advantages for special uses.

From the Editor's Corner

If the plans under consideration now by the Citizens Committee for Better Schools are followed, more persons will know more about how their school is run than they ever have before. The committee plans to bombard them with facts in every conceivable way about curriculum, building, expenses, teachers and every other iota of information that concerns the school.

The theory is that an informed citizenry will realize the necessity for more funds for education and the district will get the money that the committee's research indicates is necessary.

It's one silver lining in a very black cloud.

The Chronicle's foreman, Jim Moore, is an excellent prophet... and he doesn't like it a bit. About two months ago we purchased a printing press from the Cadillac Evening News.

We thought that it would be ready for dismantling about Oct. 1. So that he can learn about the new equipment, Jim was slated to help the press expert dismantle and erect the press. At the time, Jim, an avid pheasant hunter, worriedly remarked, "I'll bet that this press will be coming in just about the time pheasant season opens."

Well, the season opens Friday and that's the day that our foreman will be in Cadillac working on the first stages of moving the press.

He has made arrangements to beat it back home for Saturday's shooting, philosophically saying that you can't start till 10 on opening day anyway.

Speaking of pheasant hunting, veteran nimrods aren't too happy about the prospects in the Cass City area. Most observers report seeing less birds than last year.

The overall picture is brighter across the state. The Michigan Conservation Department predicts that the kill will be approximately the same as it was last year.

The Vulcans had moved from their own 38 to the Hawks' 43 on a series of line plays when Cass City recovered the bobble.

It took Cass City just seven plays to score. Key play in the drive was a pitch from Creason to Hempton good for 31 yards and a first down on the Vassar 19.

The Hawks rambled over from there in three plays. Robinson picked up nine and Creason added

Citizens' Committee Learns Monday

Hard Work Key for Better Local School

Hard work, the assembling and distribution of information and a plan for action will keynote the work of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

That's what some 40 interested citizens learned at the organizational meeting of the group Monday evening at Cass City High School.

Already some of the work has been done. A great deal of information has been gathered and most of the details of the school's present financial plight and condition have been studied. The results of this preliminary work were disclosed Monday.

"The problem now," Chairman Vic Guernsey said, "is to organize so that concentrated action can be taken."

The group took the first step towards its goal of a better school in Cass City by electing a permanent chairman, secretary and five standing committee chairmen.

Heading the group will be Mr. Guernsey. The secretary is Chris Schneider. Responsible for examining the curriculum will be a committee headed by the Rev. John Fish. Eli Holes will serve as chairman of a building committee and Dr. W. A. Harr will be in charge of publicity.

Mrs. Joyce Harr will handle the get-out-the-vote committee and Mr. Schneider will be responsible for securing campaign materials.

The five chairmen will also form a steering committee to work with the chairman and secretary to plan a course of action for regular meetings of the group.

The Problem

Several speakers indicated that study has revealed that the problem is acute. Mr. Guernsey reported that the school would be $10,000 further in the red at the end of this year even if present cuts sought in the school's curriculum and operating expense are achieved. It's highly doubtful, he said, if $1,100 more a month can be cut from the school's day-to-day operating expense.

The problem is worse than it first appears, Dr. Harr said. A study of the last five years' school statements shows that costs have been rising at the rate of $32,900 yearly.

But every department has not risen the same. Maintenance, a spot where work can slide, has been steadily reduced, he said, while other non-reducible costs have declined.

Mr. Schneider and Mr. Guernsey also reiterated some of the services that have been abandoned because of lack of funds. They include full time counseling, art, third year French, girls' physical education, grade school French and others. Most teaching aids such as films, lectures and library books have been abandoned or curtailed, they said.

Mr. Schneider said that one of the principal duties of the committee will be to get the facts before the people. In crises of this kind, the experience of other areas has indicated that school electors will approve funds when they become aware of the problems and know the facts of the case.

Quell 3 Fires To Limit Losses

Three fires were quelled during the week by the Elkland Township Fire Department.

Wednesday, Oct. 11, an Edsel car owned by Jim Guisbert was gutted. Traveling with Marv Winter, they smelled the burning and stopped. The fire was smoldering in the trunk and when the trunk was opened, immediately burst into flames.

Chimney Fire The second chimney fire within a year at the Ed Brauer home, seven miles south of Cass City, was reported at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

The blaze was quickly quelled with minor damage. A similar fire at the home was reported in January.

Elevator Blaze What may have been a disastrous fire was averted Friday when the Elkland Township Fire Department extinguished a small blaze at the Pruthey Bean Co. at Deford.

Firemen ran a hose into a corn crib to quell the fire before it spread. Damage was slight.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Oct. 21—Laurence Fischer will sell cattle, milking equipment and swine at the farm, three miles east and one and three-quarters miles north of Marlette.

Saturday, Oct. 21—Jack Shafer has scheduled a household furniture auction at the home on Congress Street in Caro.

Saturday, Oct. 23—John Zabiniski will sell cattle and farm machinery at the farm, two miles south, three miles east and three-quarters of a mile south of Cass City.

Farm Bureau to Hold Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau will be held Thursday evening, Oct. 26, at the Caro High School cafeteria where a banquet will start the festivities at 7 p.m.

At the meeting, resolutions will be adopted, the "Farm Bureau Cooperator of the Year" will be introduced and directors elected.

Principal speaker will be Melvin Wohl of the public relations department of Michigan Farm Bureau.

Several district directors will also be named. They include District one (Elkland and Elmwood townships) where Alfred Goodall now serves and District seven (Ellington and Novesta townships) where Frank Satchell now is the director.

He was the 13th baby to arrive at the hospital in the month of October and was the 13th child born to his mother, Mrs. Strieter.

BOOK REVIEW
Rates High on the Non-Fiction List
 By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

For the first time since this column started, I am reviewing a book in my professional field. Moving up fast in the non-fiction list is "Dear Mr. Brown" by Harry Emerson Fosdick. This may well be the final book of this amazing clergyman who has already given us many volumes. Now in his middle eighties (age-not golf score), Dr. Fosdick was for many years pastor of famed Riverside Church in New York City. A Baptist, he is distinguished for his insistence on a Christian Faith soundly based on the Bible and within the bounds of intellectual honesty.

The format of the book is not new but I have never seen it put to better use. The sub-title calls it "Letters to a person perplexed about religion." As you begin to read his letters to Mr. Brown you will realize that you are Mr. Brown.

He answers questions that people have asked me for years; he faces doubts that have assailed us all. And he does not side-step the difficult-to-answer in any measure. All the wealth of this tremendous mind, all the warmth of this devout pastor's heart, all of the incisiveness of the master-writer are poured into these thoughtful answers.

Let me give a sample of a few chapter titles: "Is Christian Faith Credulity?"; "What About Modern Science and The Bible?"; "How Explain This World's Evil?"; "What About The Other Great Religions?"; "How Handle Tragedy?"

I recommend this especially for the reader who wants help in answering some of the perplexing questions in life. This will have value especially for those families whose college freshman student will come home asking searching questions.

I can recall many instances in the past when I wish I had had this book to loan to a friend. I predict that it will be among the top ten non-fiction sellers for the Christmas gift trade, crowding out other recent top ten favorites by Norman Vincent Peale, Billy Graham and Bishop Sheen.

"Dear Mr. Brown", by Harry Emerson Fosdick, is over and schools all over the country are open again—it's the beginning of another whispering campaign.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Tells 3 Responsibilities for Teachers

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Michigan's public and private school teachers, roughly 90,000 in number, recently got a warning from Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

Its message was: "Keep abreast of the times in which you live."

There are three duties for teachers in order that they may fulfill their role as instructors for children and leaders of the community, Bartlett said.

Teachers must keep themselves informed in areas of rapid change, he said. This applies to current political and economic events, technological and scientific advances and social change.

Another goal for the teacher is to keep his teaching methods and subject matter abreast of the changes that are taking place. Not only must students be told of the changes, but they must also be made aware of the implications for them, Bartlett said.

The third responsibility of teachers is to help bring information about the developments,

Harvest Delay Causes Corn Loss

The longer corn stands in the field after it is ready for harvest, the greater will be the harvest losses, says Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Tests in Michigan have shown that the harvest loss in a field of corn was eight per cent on Oct. 26, 19 per cent on Nov. 20 and 23 per cent on Dec. 7.

Corn should be harvested as soon as it can be safely stored. Ear corn which is to be stored without drying should be picked when the kernel moisture is about 22 to 23 per cent.

Shelled corn should be picked when the kernel moisture is down to 35 per cent. Otherwise there is less than a full yield because the plant is not mature and is still putting dry matter into the ear.

When driers are to be used before cribbing, harvest losses are lower when corn is harvested at 35 per cent moisture than when it is harvested at a lower level. Less harvest loss will help pay for the drying operation.

Harvest losses average about 10 per cent of the corn crop, said Ballweg. Losses in some fields may even run 20 per cent or higher. This loss rate on the state's one and a half million acres means that over nine million bushels of corn are left in the field.

More Than 2,700 families read The Chronicle every week.

problems and needs in education to members of the community whose only contact with schools may be casual ones through their children.

Bartlett even hinted that he believes education and educators have fallen down slightly, at least in some areas.

He cited particularly instruction in foreign languages, which is still handled with the same emphasis as years ago; and history, where teaching has in some cases failed to stay abreast of developments of various national and international feelings, and the emergence of entirely new countries.

The Public Instruction chief emphasized that teachers have a special role in Michigan society, and it is up to them to maintain it.

The agricultural picture in Michigan has a dark spot on it this year.

Grape production is expected to fall to about one-half the size of last year's crop. The problem involves a freeze that came along late in May, while grapes were in the critical formative stages. The vineyards never recovered.

While last year was a bumper crop compared to the 10-year average, the drop in production this year still means a blow to grape growers.

All the other eastern grape states in the country are expected to have grape yields as large or slightly larger than last year, except for Arkansas.

Michigan's commercial grape production is centered in Van Buren, Berrien and Kalamazoo counties with Allegan and Cass counties also contributing to the market yield.

The late and relatively light grape harvest will mean a handicap for jam and jelly makers, and wine producers; and probably a price increase for the consumer.

Medical men in Michigan face a new call to the service of their country.

The call for more doctors, dentists and veterinarians to handle the needs of the armed forces went nationwide. The Michigan headquarters of the Selective Service system says local draft boards will be asked to re-check the classifications and deferments of those with badly needed skills in the healing arts.

None of those called to fill the needs will be less than 28 years old, the Selective Service said.

A hitch in the service can put a hitch in the plans of someone who intends to become a doctor, dentist or veterinarian, and the resultant delay in training can be especially bothersome for physicians. Interns are permitted to finish their training before they are called up, but specialists who are taking resident training have trouble getting deferments unless they are in public health residency programs.

The Selective Service system expects many persons who were eligible for deferments before the need became critical to be subject to a call-up under new rules.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Strictly miscellaneous are these notes and comments about automobiles:

Don't be too positive when you guess at a passing car's speed. In an Air Force test, even though the participants knew in advance what they were to observe, they judged a car actually going 12 miles per hour at various speeds ranging from 10 to 50 mph. And the American Judicature Society says witnesses to auto accidents are even less likely to guess accurately. Body style, noise and color all influence estimates of a car's speed.

Who says we aren't making progress? Half a century ago, horse drawn vehicles in New York City's midtown traffic averaged 11.5 mph. Today, automobiles on these same streets, average six mph.

For one whole day during the Easter holiday, all the streets in Little Rock, Arkansas, were temporarily named "Easter." Before long, a car owner unable to locate his car, approached a policeman for help.

"What street did you leave it on?" asked the policeman.

Answered the motorist: "Easter."

Proof that the modern automobile is driven more than its predecessors of the past three decades is revealed in the fact that while average car life has doubled from seven to fourteen years during this time, average car lifetime mileage has quadrupled to 120,000.

A survey reveals that, while only 49 per cent of male motorists buy premium gasoline, 57 per cent of female motorists do. One quarter of all marriage proposals in the country are made in automobiles. And drivers who use credit cards spend 39 per cent more than those who pay cash.

Seurnyck-Adams

Rites at St. Agatha's

A silk mist tartaeta gown was the choice of Miss Lorraine Adams, daughter of Mrs. Leonard Adams and the late Mr. Adams, for her marriage Saturday to Alvin Seurnyck.

Their identical gowns of peau de soie featured a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, three-quarter sleeves, sheath skirt with bell shaped overskirts alternating emerald green and champagne. Their headpieces of roses had attached circular veils to match their gowns. They carried cascade arrangements of bronze shaggy mums. The honor maid's bouquet also had feathered mums.

Shelly Seurnyck, flower girl, wore a dress of white organza over emerald green and carried a white satin basket filled with rose petals. Duane Avery of Reese was ring bearer.

Do you have laundering problems? Are you planning to buy a new washer or dryer? Do you wish to bring your laundering methods up to date? If some of the above questions are answered yes, you might be interested in attending one of the Home Laundering Clinics in Home Engineering Laboratory, 108 Agricultural Engineering Hall, Michigan State University. You can attend yourself or get a carload of friends and drive down. The next clinic will be held Nov. 16 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Reservations will have to be made through my office, so the people holding the clinic will be able to plan on accommodating all who wish to attend.

Something new has been added to Cheddar cheese. Cheddar will be bearing the U.S. Grade A.A. shield. This is the same U.S. Department of Agriculture grade mark used for some 35 years on butter, and it carries the same meaning, the finest quality, stable and consistently uniform good flavor.

The Lake to Lake Dairy Cooperative of Manitowac and Kiel, Wisconsin, is the first plant to qualify to use the U.S. Grade A.A. mark on consumer packages of cheese. This cheese is being marketed under both the Lake to Lake brand and under the label of a distributor, Land O' Lakes Creameries of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

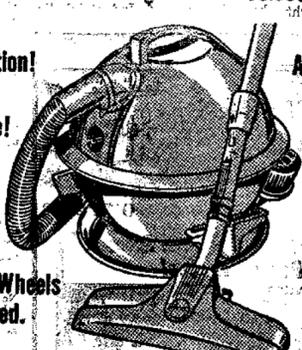

U.S.D.A. has approved use of the official grade mark on these brand labels for three different curing categories - milk, yellow-aged and sharp. What this means to you as a consumer is that whichever of these flavors you like, you can be sure that you will get the same fine flavor next time you buy it. Each vat of cheese marketed with the U.S. Grade A.A. shield, of course, been graded by a federal dairy products grader to make sure that it measures up to the highest U.S.D.A. standards for flavor, body and texture, finish and appearance, and color.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where them Englishmen is complaining pritty loud over this new "austerity" program their government has arranged for everybody except the Royal family. I reckon "austerity" is a $10 word meaning the folks has got to tighten their belts.

England has been gitting in a bad way ever since right after World War II when they started that Socialism business and put the railroads, electric power, health and all such things under Government control.

Ed Doolittle's grandson was stationed over there in the Air Force last year and he sent Ed a batch of their Government pamphlets. On account of me being a authority on Government pamphlets, Ed give 'em to me. I got 'em down off the shelf this morning and I discovered right off why things is so bad in England. It's hard to believe, Mister Editor, but people has to pay for them pearls of wisdom over there.

I ain't shore but I think Thomas Jefferson put it in the Declaration of Independence that we was to git these masterpieces free in this country. I note here where one of the pamphlets Ed's grandson sent him is entitled, "Calf Rearing" and is put out by the Ministry of Agriculture and costs 55 cents. It says that "Research on the physiology of the calf shows it can be reared on diets previously considered unsuitable."

And here's one that ought to be agin the law and might be the one that's causing a heap of their troubles. It's entitled "Women, Wife and Worker" and sells for 35 cent. It is put out by the Ministry of Industrial Research and starts out, "Married women's employment is often cited as the cause of separation, divorce and juvenile delinquency." How do you like that fer 35 cents?

A note on the front of each pamphlet says they is printed by "Her Majesty's Stationery Office." It also says people in the United States can git 'em for the proper fees from the British Government Publications offices at Rockefeller Plaza in New York. No country can prosper where they ain't got free pamphlets from the Government. I estimate that about half our prosperity is due to them free pamphlets we git ever day from the various agencies.

Prime Minister Macmillan, in discussing the situation, says four out of ever five people in England gambles, but he says it ain't hurting nothing. I can understand how four out of five over there gambles, but I can't understand why the fifth feller don't join 'em. After all, in a country where folks is charged 55 cents for a Government pamphlet on "Calf Rearing," what has he got to lose?

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

The state's 750,000 cows gave over 5.5 million pounds of milk last year.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Birds Are Flocking - - Winter Is Coming

By Hene Warren

It was late afternoon last Thursday before I was able to settle down at the desk to write this week's column. At four o'clock I was just getting started when my efforts were distracted by a cacophonous chorus from the nearby woods. Going outside, I noticed several blackbirds perched in the top of a tall elm down and across the river.

Taking the dogs with me (two collies: Pride and Lass), I walked down the river bank until I reached the site of the rather scranrel songsters. I don't know whether they were blackbirds or starlings - but because of the rather harsh quality of their chattering I assume they were starlings. There were many birds on both sides of the river (in the topmost branches of an elm across the river I counted twenty) but I couldn't see clearly enough to identify them.

Thank goodness they didn't stay long. While they were far enough from the house that their twittering and gabbling wasn't too annoying, still I was glad when they moved on!

This flocking together of birds seems to be another sign of winter's approach. Robins have been holding conclaves, too... right in our front yard. I was unaware that robins are clannish (usually seeing them in pairs) but this is the second year that I've seen them in large groups of about 15 to 20 birds. Someone told me robins don't migrate to the south—they go deep into woods and forests for the winter season.

Speaking of what is told to me: I was mildly chided for my comment in this column a couple of weeks ago about frost painting the countryside with color. This censure for propagating such propaganda carried with it the implication to set the record straight! And so the truth of the matter is that the deciduous trees will color their leaves and drop them whether or not Jack Frost comes along! Actually, the fall of the leaf is necessary to conserve water - one of nature's built-in miracles takes care of this yearly transpiration.

And so, while I enjoy the fantasy of a whimsical Bert Lahr-ish pixie named Jack Frost who darts about with a many-colored paint brush, the true story has its imagery, too: each little leaf knowing when to batten down the hatch, turn off the tap, and start changing color!

Hail and farewell! The POST (Saturday Evening, that is) has a new face. Frankly, I'm betwixt and between as to whether or not I'm completely sold on the new format.

There is, however, much that I do like: the illustrations for the stories are intriguing, there are a couple of new features that are interesting, and some of the articles are completed without being continued on page so-and-so (COSMOPOLITAN has been doing this for years).

Recognizing that the change was instituted to meet some pretty stiff competition and since the Post has been one of my favorite magazines, I've no doubt I shall grow to love the new as well as the old... but for the first couple of issues I began to be fearful that I was developing into a reactionary!

One of Shakespeare's characters said, "What's done can't be undone." Truer words ne'er were spoken. What a pity we do not recognize the truth of them before we act and say some of the things we do.

However, no one heeds the Voices of Experience until he adds his own voice to the chorus. Until we grow up enough to recognize that we can learn and profit by the experiences of others, we'll continue to make the same mistakes day after day, year after year, generation after generation.

PLASTIC USES

Concluded from page one. It is in the field of plumbing (plastic will eliminate most costly installation charges, Korney says) and mass producing of homes that plastic will really come into its own in future years, Korney believes.

Because plastic pipe is light it can be placed in the walls of homes and buildings being prefabricated, the way that most homes will be built in future years, if the predictions of the guest speaker are correct.

Lack of field tests have held the infant industry back, but field tests continually under construction are rapidly overcoming this obstacle.

Korney illustrated his talk with samples of some of the myriad items available in plastic.

He showed an example of plastic roofing and plastic drain pipe that can be bound together without costly fittings and cut easily to the correct size. Special molding of the drain is also eliminated, he said.

Plastic shutters, claimed to be lighter, more color proof and more durable than competing units, were displayed. Plastic pipe for both hot and cold water was shown.

Amidst the many other items was an electric panel of plastic which features a socket that can be moved up to any desired location in the room for use.

4-H Crop Show Smallest in Years

Fifty-five 4-H Club members took part in the annual 4-H Crop Show in Caro last Friday and Saturday, according to Ed Schrader, County Extension Agent in 4-H Club work.

The show, sponsored by the Michigan Bean Company, was one of the smallest shows in recent years. Entries were down in wheat, oats and barley, with beans and corn holding steady.

Even though the numbers were down, the quality remained high throughout the show.

Merchants of Caro provided premium money for the first three places in each division. John Fischer of Gagetown won a watch. Jack Heckroth and Ray Ruppert received the award trip to Chicago for their overall crop program.

Fr. McLaughlin Tells Zontians of Civil Defense

The Rev. Fr. Frank McLaughlin of Gagetown was guest speaker Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, at the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Cass City Zonta Club. Rev. McLaughlin talked on Civil Defense and fall-out shelters. He recently attended a seminar in Battle Creek on Civil Defense.

He said every community should be interested in Civil Defense because some towns will be enlarged five times their population with evacuees in case of nuclear bombs. They will need means of providing shelter, food, housing and care of the population. There would also be problems of rehabilitation, census of evacuees and a complete check on parents of children.

Mrs. Marie Roch and Mrs. Marie Krueger reported on the Zonta International convention held in Cleveland the first week of October.
