

From the Editor's Corner

If you have to be in service, probably one of the most interesting assignments you could draw has been allotted to John Spaid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orra Spaid. John is in the Navy and will be one of the men who help pick up the space capsule after its probable launching this week.

The Lapeer County Press prints this item, which should bring a chuckle to folks who know him, about a former resident, Verne Bothell, pharmacist at Wood's for several years. The paper says he was "involved in a bout of a baggage mixup flying from New York recently. After he left the Detroit Airport Verne opened his luggage and discovered it wasn't his... it belonged to a striptease dancer.

"The G strings were lovely and the pictures in a photo album were fetching. Try explaining that one to your wife."

Pert Kay Kendall, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kendall, came tripping into the Chronicle with her mother to thank us for the stories we wrote about her heart condition and later operation.

That the operation was eminently successful was apparent from Kay's sparkling eyes and youthful energy as she talked with us.

A relative from the frozen north (Bozette City) is visiting in Cass City this week. She noticed that we have snow tires and promptly informed us that in the north snow tires are about passe.

We all have our tires tractionized, she said. In case you are now as much in the dark as I was, we'll explain that tractionize means taking a machine and placing small checks in the tires (cost $2.00 a wheel).

The advantage of this method, they say, is that it works as well as snow tires on snow and is equally effective on ice. It does shorten the life of the tire slightly.

Gas wars have been prevalent in Michigan for several years, but none has affected local dealers as much as the one currently in progress.

Possibly because gas is being sold at deep discounts at Kingston, Deford and Caro, every local dealer has experienced a cut in volume.

In addition, gas has dropped from 34.2 cents per gallon to 31.9. Of this reduction, dealers have been forced to absorb varying percentages. One dealer reports that nearly all of the drop came from his "profits" while others say that much of the cut was taken by a decrease in factory prices.

We assume that the giant gas companies know what they are. Continued on page six.

No Tickets Issued In Minor Accident

James J. Phelps of Cass City scraped the side of a car owned by Charles Gilkey, according to the records of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Phelps hit the side of the parked car owned by Gilkey in front of a Caro restaurant.

A witness noted Phelps' license plate as he was driving away. He was questioned by Deputy Hugh Marr in Cass City and reported that the reason he failed to stop was that he didn't realize that he had scraped the other car. No tickets were issued.

New Ice Skating Rink Completed

Cass City ice skaters now have not one, but two ice skating rinks with the completion of a 100 by 60 foot rink behind the St. Pancratius Church, 4292 S. Seeger.

Started Wednesday, Jan. 17, by members of the fire department, the rink was completed Monday.

According to Rev. Fr. Arnold Messing, the ice is as "smooth as glass." He stated that the rink is open to the public.

Coupled with the ice rink built by the fire department on the tennis courts at the Recreation Park last month, the facilities offer plenty of opportunity for village skaters to be "gay blades."

Hawks Drop Pair

Bulletin: Cass City dropped a non-conference decision to a rammy Flushing quintet Tuesday night on the Big 8 Conference leaders' spacious new gym. The score was 80-53.

Coach Irv Claxeman, who has been toying with the idea of bringing a player up from the second team, said Monday that he would probably have Walter Hempton on the first squad when the team plays Sandusky Friday night.

Although his varsity squad has shown plenty of improvement since Christmas, Claxeman is still trying to get more scoring punch into his line-up.

To win their games, Cass City nearly always must hold their opponents under 55 points. In only one game this year has the club scored over 55. They hit 59 points in the Bad Axe game.

Cass City went down to its sixth defeat in eight starts Friday when they bowed to Marlette 67-49. In the game for the better part of three quarters, the team faded badly when Dick Creason and Casimir Lubaczewski were lost via the foul route.

When Lubaczewski left the game, Cass City was ahead by two points with just a minute left in the third quarter. By the end of the third stanza Marlette had forged into the front 50-44.

Both teams were hitting the hoop with regularity in the first quarter. Larry Robinson and Lubaczewski carried the load for Cass City, four and five points each, while Caister with six and Westover with eight helped the Red Raiders forge into a 17-13 lead at the end of the period.

Cass City notched one of its best periods of the year in the second canto. With everyone but Wayne Brown helping with the scoring, they burned the meshes for 21 points to move in front at the intermission 34-32.

Marlette forged into the lead with three quick buckets at the start of the second half. The Hawks rallied to tie it up and the lead changed hands several times until Cass City lost their rebounders and the roof fell in.

Besides the loss of board strength, the Hawks experienced a very cold shooting performance in the last half. They hit only 10 per cent of their shots in the last two quarters after a 44 per cent in the first.

Six Cass City Students Named To Honors Band

Six members of the Cass City High School band were awarded positions in the Tri-County Honors Band at a session held Saturday, Jan. 20, in Sandusky.

The students picked, their positions and instruments were: Betty Spaulding, first chair, cornet; Tom Jones, first chair, brass section; Charles Iseler, first chair, saxophone; Bonnie Spencer, fifth chair, bass section; Gary Miller, sixth chair, trombone; and Joyce DeLong, ninth chair, clarinet section.

The students were selected earlier to compete with other students from Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

They will practice Saturday, Jan. 27, in the second session before presenting a concert that evening at Sandusky High School at 8:00 p.m. Directing will be Mr. Falcone, Michigan State University band director.

Among the selections scheduled to be played by the 100-piece band are "First Swedish Rhapsody," "Yellowstone Suite," and "The New Colonial March."

Busy Week for Drain Commissioner

The Tuscola County Drain Commissioner has been busy with extra work connected with his job. Thursday, Friday and Saturday he attended the Michigan County Drain Commissioners Association Convention at Detroit where he attended a joint meeting of the Board of Directors of the Education Division of the State Association of Supervisors and the Board of the State Association of Supervisors.

At the Detroit meeting, panels in which he was a member discussed establishment of inland lake levels and drain assessments.

NEW ADMINISTRATOR—Dick Palm, Hills and Dales General Hospital's new administrator, officially began his duties Monday, replacing the ailing Oran Hudson. A Michigan State University graduate,

Dick's last position was as administrator at Bad Axe General Hospital. He and his wife, Donna, have moved to 4215 Maple Street, Cass City. (Chronicle photo)

New Administrator Advocates Progress

"It is definitely one of the finest, most outstanding hospitals in the Thumb and the state of Michigan," stated Hills and Dales General Hospital's new administrator, Dick Palm, midway through his first day in his new position. He replaced the ailing Oran Hudson as administrator Monday.

"I'm grateful for being accepted as administrator of the hospital... all effort will be made to progress as well as the community of Cass City has progressed," he remarked.

Palm, before joining the Hills and Dales staff, was administrator of the Bad Axe General Hospital. Before that, he was assistant administrator of the Lapeer County General Hospital and had spent a one-year residency at Caro State Hospital.

He is a graduate of Michigan State University, having received his B.A. in Institutional Management under the Kellogg Foundation. He minored in speech. Palm, born in Detroit, spent his high school years at Bad Axe.

Coming Auction

Saturday, Jan. 27—A farm auction to close the estate of Robert F. Boyne will be held at the place four and one-half miles north, one mile east and three-fourths mile north of Marlette at 10:00 a.m. Included in the sale are livestock, milking equipment, grain, feed and machinery.

Although Winter has gone through the ninth grade, he can scarcely read or write. When asked by Judge T. C. Quinn how to spell a simple word he asked, "Does that word start with a 'K' or a 'C'?"

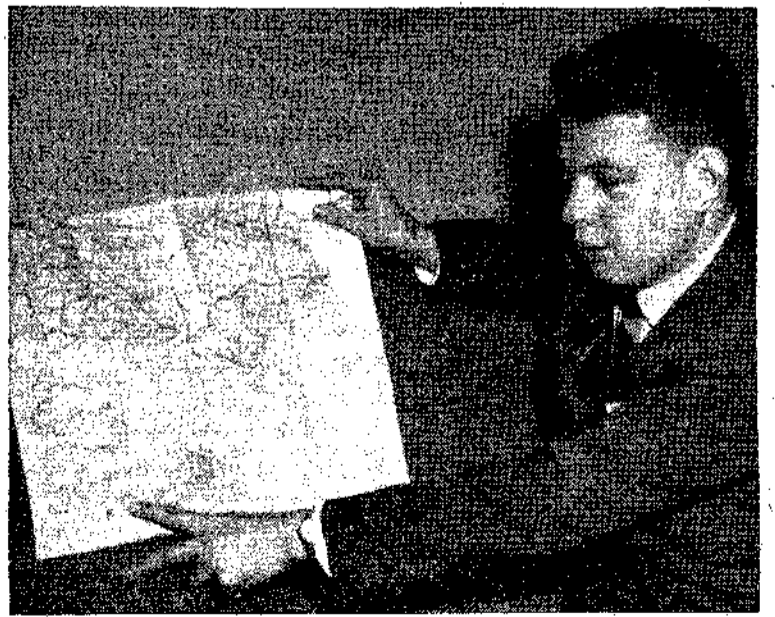

It was Winter's first criminal offense.

Sentence Forger to 2 Years' Probation

Richard J. Winter of Sebawaing was sentenced to two years' probation Wednesday, Jan. 17, in Tuscola County Circuit Court after he had pleaded guilty to forgery when arraigned Jan. 3. In addition, Winter was ordered to make restitution of $123.50 and pay court costs and a fine of $50 each. All payments are to be made in installments of $10 monthly.

Besides being a vacationer's dream and an economist's nightmare, John also found it a good jumping-off place to visit other European countries such as Germany, France, Denmark, England and Sweden.

Rota, located in southwestern Spain, on the Bay of Cadiz, is situated in the bottom of a bowl. The terrain around the city is flat, giving way to rolling hills. Finally, about 30 miles away, it runs into a small range of mountains that reach from Gibraltar on the south to Sevilla on the north.

BASE LOCATION—Using a tourist's map, John Perry, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perry, Cass City, points to Rota, Spain, where he spent 37 months of his four-year tour of duty with the U.S. Navy. Rota is a support base for the Sixth Fleet. John was an air controlman, who's department was in charge of all aircraft landing and take-off and all ground traffic. (Chronicle photo)

Study Club Elects 1962-63 Officers Tuesday

Heading the Cass City Women's Study Club in 1962-63 will be Mrs. Margaret Haire, who was re-elected president in an election of officers Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D. Turner.

Mrs. Haire will begin her second term in the first fall meeting. Helping her will be the following officers: Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, first vice-president; Mrs. Walter Schell, second vice-president; Mrs. Frank Meiser, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Bigelow, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Perry, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Sadie Rolison, publicity chairman.

Also named were delegates. They are: state delegate, Mrs. Benkelman, and alternate, Mrs. Rolison; district delegate, Mrs. Sam Blades, and alternate, Mrs. William Wetters, and county delegate, Mrs. Will D'Arcy, and alternate, Mrs. Schell.

In other business, the club voted to send a $5 registration fee to enroll 1962-63 club officers for the University of Michigan Adult Education Institute, sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Another highlight of the meeting was the observance of Mrs. A. J. Knapp's birthday. An imitation birthday cake, a gift and an original poem by Mrs. Wetters helped fete Mrs. Knapp.

Mrs. Melvin Vender reviewed a new book by Dr. Robert's, "Existentialism and Religious Belief."

School Board Tells Residents

Three Mills Vital For Proper Education

"You get what you pay for... if we want a good education for our children, we have to pay for it," was the closing remark made by Lester Ross, Board of Education president, at the public meeting held Monday night in the elementary gymnasium. Approximately 70 persons heard Ross and other members of the Board tell why the proposed three mills for operation are so urgently needed. The election is Saturday, Feb. 10.

After opening remarks and explanations by Ross and Superintendent Willis Campbell, a question and answer period followed in the relatively quiet meeting.

Ross, after welcoming the assembly, began the meeting by clearing up some rumors and misconceptions being voiced about the proposal and about the Board.

"In regard to rumors that the Board was not united in its push for the millage," he asserted, "I should like to clarify that the Board is 100 per cent behind the proposal."

Another point cleared up by Ross is the fact that, according to state law, it is not necessary to be a taxpayer to vote in the election.

Ag Shop Students Learn to Cut Costs

An estimated 45 farm students are finding ways to cut farm costs through practical experience and while doing so, in past years have constructed prize-winning farm wagons and other farm equipment. Vocational Agriculture Director Lyle Clarke said this week.

The farm shop is one of the few courses that the drastic curtailment of money for Cass City Schools hasn't hurt too much, Clarke said. While it has definitely halted any expansion plans and the purchase of tools, the program hasn't been affected too much because the students supply materials and pay a shop fee.

The major hardship has taken place in the lack of books and materials in the agriculture department.

Projects this year have ranged from a tractor overhaul to the building of a weed sprayer and from wagon building to a feed cart project.

The most popular project of this and past years has been the building of farm wagons and trailers. At present, three wagons are under construction. Wagon building hit its peak last year when a total of nine was built from the ground up by students.

Other projects built or being built this year are a gateway cattle guard, a loading chute and silage carts.

A farm mechanics award is given each year within the chapter for the best projects. Those wishing to may also enter in state competition. State winners go on to the national competition.

Larry Merchant won national honors and $100.00 in 1960 on a wagon building project.

Because the students don't start their projects until the middle of the semester, Clarke felt it was too early to make any predictions on outstanding projects for this year.

In building these projects, the students learn a wide range of skills, including welding, metal cutting, woodworking, carpentry, motor mechanics, lathe work, tool dressing and painting.

When a student has trouble setting."

Climate is such that no central heating unit is needed and bottled gas and small space heaters provide enough heat to keep the chill off.

Spanish apparel is slowly but surely becoming westernized, John states. For the men, the suit jacket is shorter but still double-breasted. Some of the more style-conscious men have changed to the continental-style so popular in America. A Spanish, tailor-made suit costs about two-thirds as much as its American counterpart.

Spanish women, like women the world over, are more clothes-conscious than their men and wear popular trends such as the shorter skirt and the stiletto heels. Only on festive occasions do the people revert back to the costumes of their forefathers.

All Spanish food is cooked in olive oil, a national by-product. This gives everything an oily taste, John explains, and it is difficult to eat until one gets used to the cooking. Different restaurants cook different foods. They are, however, rapidly changing to American-style restaurants.

John was particularly impressed by the country's religious festivals. A four-day Christmas is celebrated there, beginning with the celebration of. Concluded on page six.

Four from Area Among CMU Winter Grads

Two Cass City men, and two area persons were among the 234 students to receive degrees and certificates at Central Michigan University's midyear commencement exercises, Sunday, Jan. 21. Five county persons were also listed.

Dr. Arthur Knoblauch, president of Western Illinois University, delivered the commencement address. The exercises were held in the University's Health and Physical Education building.

Ross also pointed out that salaries paid at Cass City compare favorably with area schools. Mrs. Grant Glaspie asked if the three mills would allow the school to bring back those things previously cut out, such as art and girls' physical education. She was assured it would.

In explaining what the three mills would cost each taxpayer, Secretary James Gross stated that the cost would be about $4.00 on each $1,000. As an example, he used a four-member family with a tax evaluation of $5,000. The three mills would cost such a family approximately 12 cents per person per week.

It was also asked of the Board why the levy was only for three years. Ross explained that a time limit was required by law. He also pointed out that because of the Constitutional Convention now in progress, many changes in State school finances may be made. It was explained, too, that the school does not have to take the three mills for three years if unforeseen developments make it undesirable to do so.

A significant question was asked by Mrs. Gerald Priesskorn. The question, addressed to those present, asked if anyone thought the school didn't need the extra money. No one answered.

In transmitting the awards, issued in the name of the President and the national director of Selective Service, Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, State director, declared, "With this certificate goes my sincere appreciation for your devotion to duty, your integrity and leadership and your demonstrated spirit of volunteer public service."

HAVE YOU SEEN MY COAT BUTTON?

By Dave Kraft

Snow is wonderful stuff. It provides enjoyment for children, sport for adults and beauty for everyone. It provides nothing but pain, bad feelings, embarrassment and nausea for me.

Here's an example. Sunday and Monday, Jan. 14-15, we had snow. Lots of snow. We don't own a shovel, so it has to be cleaned off the walk and the car with a broom. I made my wife a sporting offer and we flipped a coin to see who would be the lucky one. I lost. I'm a poor loser, so I didn't speak to her the rest of the morning.

Nothing else happened until I left Gamble's, after trying to get an ad. I slammed the door behind me and timed it perfectly to be under the edge of the awning just as a pile of wet snow fell off.

It was a terrible shock. It ran down the side of my head, over my ear and gently dripped onto my neck. I thought at first someone was playing a joke but then I realized what had happened.

I looked cautiously around. Oh, no! Someone saw me. I smiled. I even managed a laugh. "Ha-ha!" I was sick.

An hour later I headed for Gamble's again thinking perhaps Lloyd Bryant saw what happened and felt sorry for me. Perhaps I can get a full page ad as compensation.

I made it as far as Riley's Foot Comfort store. The sidewalk there has a slight grade and my shoes have very little traction, probably because I didn't buy them from Mr. Riley.

I landed with my right leg at a 90 degree angle under me and my chapstick twirling crazily on the sidewalk next to my clipboard.

What I said is not for publication. Jumping quickly to my feet, I looked around. No one on the street, but perhaps one of the merchants on the other side of the street saw me. I smile. I laugh. "Ha-ha!" I can just barely walk.

Lloyd is not sympathetic. As a matter of fact, he thinks it's funny, so I leave. This time, I make it as far as the Cass City State Bank before my feet become uncontrollable and spill me to the sidewalk. This time I sprawl. My gloves are soaked and my clipboard and paper are covered with snow. To add insult to injury, I have popped a button off my coat.

I crawl to the side of the bank and pull myself to my feet. I look around. I smile. I laugh. "Ha-ha." I cry.

Snow is wonderful stuff. It shows a man just how much he can take before he breaks.

Cass City may have given us a cold winter but its reception to my wife Diana, my baby Sally and myself has been the warmest we have ever received. I have lived in a number of small towns

BULEN TALKS Cars
A MID-WINTER CHECK-UP

If your car is going to give you trouble this is usually the time of year it picks to do it - when driving conditions are at their winter worst.

A weak battery and an untuned engine usually show up with the first really cold spell. Plugged by carbon and weakened by a run-down battery, an engine is unable to spark itself to life.

Any automobile will start reliably all through the lowest temperatures winter can throw at you if you keep the ignition mechanism in top condition.

An exhaust system that is about to go usually picks this time of year. A faulty exhaust system is hard on gas, cuts performance and can endanger your life. Have it checked if it is beginning to sound louder than usual.

Proper headlight aiming is doubly important now when reaction times to avoid accidents are more than cut in half due to poor driving conditions.

Analysis of stopping distances on snow and ice show that it takes better than from two to three times the distance to stop on snow and ice than on dry pavement. Snow tires reduce the difference 28 per cent, tire chains 60 per cent and reinforced chains are almost on par with dry pavement in effectiveness.

There was never a better time than now, with the new year just getting under way, to get service work done. Our service shop is in a traditionally slack period and un rushed mechanics will give your car prompt attention.

Memo to our January 1, 1962 Guests:

Thanks for not maliciously wrecking the place. The File which you pried open and ruined, was not locked, and is an expensive piece of equipment. In future (I hope not) follow directions on front of cabinet to gain access. Note - Nothing of value kept there.

Hawks Stand 7-7 On Debate Schedule

Tuckey's Widen Lead in City Basketball Action

It's all over but the shouting in the City Cage League as Tuckey's clinched the regular season title this week when they blasted Mac & Leo 61-53 to remain undefeated while the remainder of the closest contenders was upset. Sherman's topped Walbro 43-38 and Snover copped its first victory of the year with a 41-35 upset over Erla's.

Snover-Erla's
A big second quarter rally sparked Snover to its victory. The winners pushed in 18 points in the period, almost half of their total point production.

The Snover five were in front 23-20 at the half and stayed in front the rest of the way. Scoring for Erla's was evenly divided among five players. G. Dorman picked up 14 and K. Dorman had 10 for the winners.

Mac and Leo-Tuckey's
Undefeated Tuckey's continued to roll with a 61-53 nod over Mac and Leo. The league champions rushed to an early lead in the first half and coasted to victory. They posted a 17-11 decision in the first quarter and were comfortably ahead 39-20 at the intermission.

The Tuckey brothers, Bill and Bob, paced the winners with 22 and 23 points, respectively. Don Simmons led the losers with 18. Clare Comment chipped in 15.

Walbro-Sherman's
Sherman's evened their record at 3-3 with a decision over Walbro. An oddity of the game was that in the second quarter only eight points were scored. Walbro got just one field goal and Sherman's a scant six points.

Sherman's trailed at the half 15-16 but rallied in the final two stanzas for the victory.

Mike Hnatuk led all scorers with 17 points. Leading the losers were Don Cummings with 12 points, Paul O'Harris, 11, and Bill Wood, 10 points.

The standings:

Team	W	L	GB
Tuckey's	6	0	-
Erla's	3	3	3
Sherman's	3	3	3
Mac & Leo	3	3	3
Walbro	2	4	4
Snover	1	5	5

In the third period, Cass City scored just 10 points and in the final quarter their only markers were a pair of buckets by Robinson and a charity toss by Roger Karr.

The Hawks' scoring was evenly divided with Lubaczewski, Morley and Robinson all hitting in double figures and Creason adding eight points. Caister with 25 and Westover with 20 led Marlette.

It was a dismal night all around for Hawk supporters. In the nip and tuck preliminary contest the Marlette JV squad edged the Junior Hawks 46-44. It was the third loss of the season for the squad.

The Hawks will begin the second round of competition Friday night when they meet Sandusky at Cass City. In the first meeting between the two clubs, the Redskins pulled out a 68-55 decision.

Select Tuscola County for Buying Habits Survey

Tuscola county has been chosen as one of the areas of the United States to be studied in a nationwide survey to find out what people buy and how much they spend, it was announced today by C. J. Borum, State agricultural statistician. His office is operated cooperatively with the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Approximately 30 families in the county, chosen at random, will be asked to cooperate with the Federal Government by reporting on things they have bought during the past year.

The survey is being conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Department of Labor. The information will be used as a new basis for calculating the consumer price index, a number published each month by the Department of Labor to show changes in the cost of living.

It has been 20 years since purchases by families living on farms and in towns of less than 2,500 people were surveyed for this purpose.

Tuscola county is one of 126 counties chosen from the nation's 3,000 counties for the survey. Within the county, a random sample of families has been chosen for interviews. Each family, according to Mr. Borum, will represent approximately 3,000 families living in similar locations throughout the nation.

The interviews will be conducted by local people selected and trained by the State agricultural statistician. Interviewers who will conduct the survey in Tuscola county are Mrs. Florence F. Carpenter, Cass City; Mrs. Virginia Kirk, Fairgrove, and Mr. Russell L. Hill, Applegate.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Sometimes I Just Can't Remember

By Ilene Warren

There are various types of wanderings - this week's column will be concerned with a rather peculiar sort of noctivagation.

Have you ever been in a deep, almost senseless sleep when something happened in which you played an unknowing part? If you have, then you comprehend my mixed emotions when contemplating my lack of memory as to what happened in such instances.

This situation has, fortunately, seldom happened in my adult life. One night, while living in Royal Oak, I awoke from bed - after being prompted by my husband - went into the guestroom to awaken my mother from a nightmare; I asked her if she was certain she'd be all right and if there was anything I could get her. Returning to bed I assured my husband that mother was fine. The next morning as they discussed the nighttime activity I could remember nothing about it. However, from what others tell me, this type of wandering occurred more often in my childhood.

One night I fell asleep on the davenport. My mother awoke me (she thought) and told me to go upstairs to bed. I walked across the floor, stood in front of the upstairs door and slowly raised first one foot and then the other as though I were going upstairs. After my older sisters had enjoyed their chuckles, one of them kindly carried me upstairs and tucked me into bed. Another time wasn't quite so humorous - yet had a touch of whimsical bathos.

My sister Lillian and I liked to crawl into our parents' feather bed - so when we went upstairs at bedtime, we often snuggled into their bed to nap a bit until we heard our father coming up the stairs; then we scrambled out and ran to our bed in the other room. I should imagine I was about five years old and Lillian eleven. This particular night I must have been more tired than usual - at any rate, I was soon sound asleep in one of those deep sleeps mentioned above, and what ensued was a secret as far as I was concerned until I was shown the proof the next morning via the full-length mirror in the downstairs bedroom where the red marks on my posterior were revealed to me!

It seems that my father found me sleeping in his bed - a forbidden pleasure, that's why we always scooted when we heard him coming up the stairs! He told me to skeddaddie. I stepped on the floor and told me to go to my own bed. I crawled back into the soft, feathery warmth. Again he put me out of the bed, hit me a spat and told me to "Git!" With what must have seemed stubbornness to him, I started to climb back into the bed. I suppose he thought I was being more docile than usual (the older siblings insist I got away with murder); at any rate, he paddled me and ordered me to my bed. Then, as I calmly persisted in crawling into his bed, he became angry and really administered the laying on of hands. Mother, bless her gentle heart, was to the rescue by this time and carried me to my own bed and tucked me in where I contentedly snored on, oblivious to all that had happened. Father wasn't a cruel man - so, when he realized the situation, felt a little foolish but still quite put-out with my stupidity. The next morning, my sister Lillian, after I refused to believe her when she told me I'd had a spanking the night before, took me before the mirror and, sure enough, there remained slight traces for evidence!

What brought all this to remembrance? Well, last week I experienced my second adult nocturnal wandering. I "awoke" from a restless dream, climbed out of bed, padded out to the utility room, padded back to the bedroom and returned to bed. My husband asked, "What's the matter?" "I had to check the wringer," I replied. "You what?" he queried sharply. "I had to check the wringer," I repeated. "Are you awake?" he asked suspiciously. And by then I was, I chuckled, "Oh, I had a dream that the wringer on the washing machine hadn't been released and I had to check it!"

Any psychologists among the readers of this column?

Cass City Cow Has High Production

Betheldale Regal Prilly Lassie, a 10-year-old Holstein cow owned by Vernon, Clare and Richard Carpenter, Cass City, produced 15,950 pounds of milk and 509 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, according to a report from Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Another area cow with an outstanding production record was Clayacres Star Pobes Pansy, a seven-year-old cow owned by Gilbert Davis, Sandusky. The cow produced 17,821 pounds of milk and 768 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. Michigan State University supervised the testing.

In contrast, the annual production average of a U. S. dairy cow is estimated at 7,000 pounds of milk and 265 pounds of butterfat.

1962 Promises to Produce Unusual Legislative Action in Election Year

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Election year in Michigan usually brings forth an unproductive, non-controversial legislative session, but there are several indications that 1962 will be an exception.

Pressure to finance expanding government operations with revenue income grows harder continuously. Attempts to remove the $71.5 million-plus deficit also are being sought.

Gov. John B. Swainson has indicated to the Republican-controlled legislature he is ready for a fight over ways to increase revenue to meet the needs. The Republicans, however, now appear ready to approve, and perhaps even promote, some new sources of revenue.

The fight in the legislature this year could well center over who will take credit during the fall campaign for whatever is done.

George Romney, a delegate to the Constitutional Convention and very likely 1962 Republican candidate for Governor, has spent considerable time in recent weeks hammering at Swainson's administration.

The Governor has said he was "too busy" to comment on Romney's charges of labor domination and general irresponsibility. Swainson says he is waiting for the campaign.

It would appear the 36-year-old Governor is playing a waiting game, but it is far from a quiet one. He is concentrating his efforts on legislative proposals which have some measure of bipartisan support—for which he hopes to take credit.

While Swainson says he is waiting for the campaign to start, his lieutenants are spending considerable time building up for the race. The Governor, of course, is directing the activity by his subordinates.

The Governor recently gave two prize plums to members of his administrative board when former Auditor General Otis M. Smith and former Attorney General Paul L. Adams were named to the State Supreme Court.

Both Smith and Adams undoubtedly were well qualified for the bench positions, but ulterior motives, geared to the 1962 election, were seen behind the two appointments.

Appointment of Smith, first Negro elected to a state-wide office or named to sit on the high court, was an obvious and probably successful move to keep the favor of the Negro voter in Michigan.

Adams had patiently been waiting for a judgeship at any level, and reportedly was ready to blow the whistle on his cooperation with Swainson's team when he was named.

The appointments gave Swainson the chance to bring in new party faithfuls from other areas to elective posts. Frank J. Kelley of Alpena replaced Adams and Billis S. Farnum, long-time party worker from Lansing, took Smith's position.

Several other changes in Swainson's organization since he took office gave him the beginnings of a strong machine for the November election.

Romney's entry into the election picture raised bristles of fear on the backs of Democrats. Many thought he never would run and indications are they have strong doubts that Swainson or any other candidate they might have could beat him.

The American Motors Corporation president's position as a delegate to the Con-Con might give him a strong edge for the fall campaign.

It will be his aim in the coming months to take credit for the document presented to the people, while his party seeks to take credit for any legislative action which will relieve some of the state's lingering problems.

Michigan motorists now drive on 801 miles of freeway linking 12 of the state's largest cities. This is among the reasons that the state highway department ranks among the top in the nation.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads reports Michigan opened a record amount of new freeway in 1961 and maintained its lead for the second consecutive year in all types of road-building and contract-letting.

Major freeway links completed during 1961 gave motorists continuous divided four-lane highways between Flint and Lansing, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, Lansing and Grand Rapids, and Flint, Saginaw, Bay City and Midland.

By the end of this year the department plans to complete construction enabling motorists to drive non-stop from Detroit to a point near the Indiana line at New Buffalo, from Detroit to Muskegon and from the Michigan-Ohio line to St. Ignace.

Soil Tests Best In Growing Season

Soil tests and tissue tests may be more helpful if taken at a critical period during the growing season.

This was discovered, reports Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture, by the Michigan State University's soils department. According to their research, daily nitrogen requirements of corn vary widely from one stage of growth to another, and the rate of nitrogen release from organic matter in the soil also varies as the season progresses. The amount of soluble nitrate nitrogen in the soil fluctuates from week to week.

Soil samples were taken for three years during the growing season in Michigan corn fields on a number of different types of soils. Samples were taken between corn rows to avoid band-placed nitrogen applied at planting time or later in side dressings.

It was found that soil nitrate levels are generally low at planting time due to leaching losses which occur during the winter and spring. As the soil warms up, nitrate is released rapidly and accumulates. The release of nitrate from soil sources is more rapid than removal from the soil by the young corn crop. This is true even in soils under depleitive management.

By the time corn reaches four to six weeks of age, 40 to 100 pounds of nitrate nitrogen may accumulate in soil where nitrogen levels are high or where 80 to 100 pounds of nitrogen have been plowed down the previous fall or spring.

Just before tasseling, nitrogen use by the corn begins to exceed the release of nitrogen by the soil, and soil nitrate levels drop sharply.

Nitrogen removal by the corn may reach levels of three to four pounds per acre daily. This is the time when nitrogen deficiency symptoms begin to appear in corn planted in fields where inadequate nitrogen had been applied.

In the research at MSU, nitrogen deficiency symptoms appeared whenever nitrate nitrogen in the soil fell below 20 pounds per acre for a period of one to three weeks.

The earlier these low levels were reached, the greater the reduction in yield. Maximum yields were obtained where these nitrates were maintained above 40 pounds per acre through pollination.

Plowing down alfalfa or manure helped to maintain adequate levels of soil nitrate during the critical stages of growth. Band-placed side dressings of nitrogen on knee-high corn was also effective.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:
I was mighty upset to git your note from that school teacher complaining about my spelling. I have always took a heap of pride in the fact that I am right broadminded about this spelling business. I figger a feller that can't spell a word but one way is, not only pritty ignorant but he ain't got much imagination. I recollect when I was a boy our teacher told us about this feller Sir Walter Raleigh that come over from England and discovered North Carolina. He never signed his name the same way twict in a row. Sometimes he spelled it Raleigh, then he would spell it Rawley, and he signed his last will and testament "Walter Rolly."

Now there, Mister Editor, was a feller with imagination. One of the great troubles with education today is that we git in a rut and stay there, like spelling a word the same way all the time. Back in my time we didn't have nothing but one-room, one-teacher schools. The parents brung wood to the school yard in wagon lengths and us boys had to split it up and put it in a pot-bellied stove. But they was one thing we did have and that was imagination, especial in spelling. I'm mighty sorry this school teacher can't git a little more flexible in this field. And speaking of imagination, it's beginning to look like the White House was a little short in this department. When the new lady Treasurer of the U.S. got in office, she favored printing our paper money in different colors. Fer instanc, a five printed in red would not be mistook fer a ten printed in yellow. The White House turned it down, and now I see by the papers where mail on the subject is running four to one fer the change. I was discussing this item with my old lady and she is strong fer this new color scheme. She allowed as how they'd never git any colors fer money that would clash with the outfit she was wearing. That's just like a woman, Mister Editor. They say wimmen control three-fourths of all the money in the United States, and I reckon this is the only country in the world where men git their picture on the money and the wimmen git their hands on it. The fellers at the country store Saturday night was talking about these items and Ed Doolittle allowed as how all wimmen was unreasonable in money matters. He said if a husband and wife had a joint checking account, it was never overdrawed by the wife, just underdeposited by the husband. I didn't say nothing on account of not knowing nothing about wimmen, nothing fer shore, that is.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent
Homes, meats, appliances, arts, crafts and fashions all play a prominent role in the homemakers' program during the 47th annual Farmers' Week at Michigan State University Jan. 29 through Feb. 2. Women's events are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the big week. On Tuesday, homemakers will have an opportunity to explore meat from the standpoint of getting the most for their money. On Wednesday the women can actually witness a meat cutting demonstration. Talks and demonstrations on designs in crafts and the color and texture in weaving will be presented on Tuesday and Wednesday in a joint "Home Economics - Town and Country Arts" program. The women can also view rug hooking, mosaics, weaving and stitching done by MSU students and staff members. "Houses for Human Beings" and "Top News in Appliances" are topics to be presented Thursday by Dr. Gertrude Nygren, MSU housing authority, and Virginia Van Nostrand, manager of Whirlpool Corporation's home service department. Thursday is also "Girls' Day" and a panel of four Michigan queens will offer teens tips on health and personality. They will also discuss the importance of education and competence. "Fashion Symphony", a style revue narrated by Joan Jewett of the Jewett Finishing School and Model Agency, climaxes the homemakers' schedule Thursday afternoon. Staff members of the Kresge Art Center are sponsoring the "Town and Country Arts"; a demonstration, "Clay Forms from the Potters' Wheel" by Frederick Shepherd of the Art Department, is set for Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. There will also be conducted tours of the art gallery plus displays of works of students and paintings and prints from community art clubs throughout Michigan. Are you just waiting for that sale that you could not afford before Christmas? If you think you will just take your dollars to town with the intention of picking up anything in sight that looks good - don't. You can't always get a bargain at a sale. If you are just as thoughtful about shopping for sale items as you are for regular-priced items, however, you may come out ahead. You must remember that not all advertised "sales" are really sales. A true sale is an offering of goods at reduced prices. Some stores may call a price a sale price, but unless it is a reduced price it is not a sale. You are a wise shopper if you know what the regular price of an item is before you buy it as a sale item. There are many, many types of sales and some are more dependable than others. A few of the more reliable varieties that hit us this time of the year include seasonal or end-of-the-month sales which help the retailer get rid of slightly soiled goods and items that move slowly or are not selling at all. Stimulation sales are those that encourage customers to buy at slack times and inventory sales are sales which help the retailer to clear his shelves so that he can make room for new stock. A January white sale is a type of stimulation sale that encourages buying during the slow season after the holidays. It can provide a good opportunity for a homemaker to stock up on sheets, pillow cases, table linen and towels. To get the most for your dollar at a sale, I would like to suggest that you shop at the beginning of a sale to get the best selection of merchandise. Have a definite item in mind to avoid aimless bargain hunting or yielding to the temptation of buying something that you do not need. Also examine any article carefully before you buy it so that you will know exactly what you are getting. Remember that sale items are not returnable. Know the regular price of an article and compare the selling price with the cost at other stores. Inspect "seconds" or "irregulars" carefully. They may be good buys, if their flaws do not affect the serviceability of the merchandise.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN

An Early Edition of A Cass City Newspaper

James Reagh brought in a miniature newspaper, 1 sheet printed on both sides, 4x6 inches in size; the following is a reproduction of one entire side thereof (including the original spelling).

CASS CITY TIMES

THE TIMES - Is published weekly at our office on Main St. Subscription rate 20 cts. per year in Advance.

"DECORATION DAY,"

As observed by the G. A. R. and Citizens of Cass City.

The morning dawned wet and rainy and every body "wondered whether there would be any decoration day, at all or not," but about 11.00 o'clock A.M. the sky cleared, and it was soon dry enough to march.

THE SCHOOL,

headed by the Martial Band marched from the school house, to the Town Hall and the,

DECORATION SERVICES

began. Mr. Henry Butler, the speaker of the day, delivered a very eloquent and fitting address, to a crowded house; lasting fully thirty minutes.

THE PROCESSION,

was headed by the Cornet Band, School, I.O.O.F., Martial Bank, G.A.R. and the citizens followed in the order named. At the Cemetery the customary services were held, and the Soldiers graves decorated. The number being six; the G.A.R. formed in a hollow square and gave three cheers for the Bands, the Citizens, and the ladies of Cass City, for the interest taken in the occasion, they then broke ranks.

The Street Was Crowded With Teams, and Vehicles nearly all of which attended the march to the Cemetery. In the procession they were 42 vetrans, and the entire procession numbered over three-hundred persons.

The other side carried the following newspaper heading:

Novesta Corners

Is Now Only A Memory

At the corners where Sections 30 and 31 of Evergreen Township and Sections 25 and 36 of Novesta Township meet (at the corner of Deckerville and Lam-ton roads-one mile west of M-58), a crossroads village grew in the early days of the settlement of this area. Most of the village, including the saw mill, Baptist Church, the blacksmith shop, as well as some of the stores and houses, was on the Novesta side of the street.

In 1888 Wallace Brooks had a store in Section 31. In 1887 William Allen owned a store which was acquired by Minard Mills the following year. A post office was established here - later a Star Route was sent into Shabbona before this latter village had its own post office. Also, a brick Gleaner Hall was constructed.

Two disasters struck this country crossroads village: The boiler in the sawmill exploded about 1897 causing the deaths of two men and in 1905 a cyclone went through the vicinity.

The year after the cyclone, John McCaugha built a new store veneered with cement blocks. This store continued to operate until about 1918.

Today Novesta Corners is a ghost town. Not even a gas pump is found to serve the public. There are a few homes around the four corners - one of which is the Gleaner Hall remodeled into a personage. Only the church has survived and still functions.

Novesta Corners - a country crossroads village. Only a memory. A victim of the Gas Age when it became too easy to go to the larger towns. To some, the name brings back memories - but with the passing of a few more years, Novesta Corners will be almost entirely forgotten.

(Information from Jason Kitchen's pamphlet.)

First Town Whistle Installed At Grist Mill

In an early issue of "Pages from the Past", mention was made of a town whistle installed on the power plant. Mr. Morton Orr has called our attention to the fact that there was an earlier whistle: installed on the grist mill, it tooted the fire alarm.

Do You Know Anything About Cheese Factory?

There once was a cheese factory located on Schwieger Road - where the Robert Vargo farm is now located. We have done some preliminary investigation but the only information gleaned so far is the suggestion that the name of the owner was Wilkinson. If anyone has any additional information it will be appreciated.

Material for the history may be mailed to "Pages From The Past", Box 400, Cass City, or may be left at the bank. All items will be carefully handled, and returned if you wish them.

Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan
Gentlemen:

I am enclosing a check in the amount of $5.00 for which I would like to have a subscription sent to my mother. Her name and address are as follows: Mrs. Elsie Kolb Bruggeman, 31 South Elm Avenue, Aldan, Delaware County, Pennsylvania.

I understand the newspaper is published weekly, but I have no idea of the cost of a subscription. Will you please be good enough

To advise me as to the cost and if the $5.00 is enough to cover the first subscription.
