From the Editor's Corner

Providing that his supporters do not run him on slips, B. A. "Curly" Calka will be through as a councilman following next Tuesday's council meeting.

The village will have lost the services of one of its most able and hardest working men. Attending the meetings is one of the easiest jobs the councilman has. The work in committees between meetings is the most important part of the job.

Curly ramrodded several projects. Unfortunately, his work was in areas that by their nature made ill feelings. At the polls the enmity was expressed for his outstanding work on the water department and the junkyard problem.

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce spends a considerable amount of money for Cass City's improvement in addition to its better known activities at Christmas and the Homecoming. A complete rundown of the work in 1961 will be presented by the Chamber within the next two weeks... we'll bet you'll be surprised at the organization's varied activities.

School kids are running a sort of clearance sale. For the past couple of weeks the community has been deluged by the youthful sales people selling chocolate at 50 cents a bar. And a raft of candy was sold. But now the market is saturated and most everyone has "helped out" by purchasing one or more bars. To get rid of the remaining supply, the students now offer the bars for 35 cents, but we suspect, will find that the lower price is not much of an inducement to sales.

Weather Causes Absenteeism Jump

Monday's dismissal of Cass City Public Schools because of inclement weather was the fourth such dismissal this year, according to Principal Arthur Holmberg.

While the school is not required to make up days lost because of weather or roads, the present school policy dictates that if lost days are excessive, an attempt to make them up will be made.

Holmberg stated, however, that he didn't think that point had been reached yet.

The weather has also affected absenteeism at the school. High school absenteeism has averaged 10-12 per cent and grade school absenteeism has averaged about 20 per cent.

During the past two weeks, about one-sixth of the 600 students in grades 7-12 have been absent, Holmberg reports.

Exchange Program Explained to WSC

Members of the Women's Study Club gave assurance that they would assist the Cass City High School Student Council's foreign student exchange program after hearing council representative Bill Eberline explain the program at their meeting Tuesday.

The club met at the home of Mrs. Harold Perry with President Concluded on page two.

Fire Department Tanker Quenches Fiery Thirst

Elkland township fire department's tanker was called on to quench the fiery thirst of approximately 60 head of cattle belonging to Maynard McConkey, northeast of Cass City, Friday, Feb. 16, when a water pump broke down.

Fire Chief Al Avery and Fritz Neitzel, treasurer, delivered the 1,200 gallons of water.

In such cases, the situation is termed an emergency, and the delivery is made without charge. While such activities have been at a minimum this year, in past years, a number of herds have been helped.

Bad Axe Voters Approve 5 Extra Mills for School

Bad Axe School district approved a special five-mill tax for three years in a special vote Monday when over 1,000 voters flocked to the polls to give the measure almost a two-to-one majority. The vote was 681 yes and 360 no.

The vote means an additional $36,000 yearly for the school.

The money will be used for folding bleachers, dividing door for the gym, library books and shelving, band uniforms, school desks, business machines and similar items for the school.

'62 Car License Deadline Near

James Champion, branch manager of the Secretary of State license bureau, Cass City, is advising car owners who haven't purchased their 1962 license plates that they have less than a week to do so. The local office is at Champion Advertising Company.

Sales end Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 5:00 p.m. To take care of those unable to come to the office during the week, the office will be open all day Saturday, Feb. 24.

License sales in general are comparable to last year, according to Champion. They were lagging for a while but have since caught up and no last minute rush is anticipated, he reports.

AMOR RICHARDSON, 27-year-old Filipino beauty, has formed some firm opinions about American customs and people in the four years she has been in

Amor Richardson Enjoys Customs, Country, Climate

From a twice-crowned beauty queen to a Cass City housewife and mother has been a long step up for Mrs. Lyle Richardson. It has been a step up, not measured in social status, but in miles from the Philippine Islands, below the equator, to a small town in the middle of Michigan.

Mrs. Richardson, the former Amor Alcantara, married Seaman Lyle Richardson six years ago while employed as a secretary at the Sang Le Point Naval Base, Manila.

Two years later, they returned to Cass City where he is now employed as an orderly at Hills and Dales General Hospital and she is a General Insulated Wire Company employee. They have two daughters, Carol, five, and Kathy Jo, three.

Before she married her husband, Amor was twice crowned the queen of Quezon City, the official capital of the Philippines, once at the ripe old age of 14 and again at the age of 18.

FAMOUS TREE—Mrs. Louise LaGorce, Washington, D. C., and her nationally famous Christmas Cookie Tree will be in Cass City Friday through Sunday, Feb. 23-25. The general public is invited to attend the showings in the High School gym from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Students will be shown the tree Friday afternoon.

Mrs. LaGorce, sponsored by the Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary, will personally conduct the showings and explain her design and production processes. Her recipes and pattern books will be on sale, with the proceeds going to the Hospital Auxiliary.

The tree is the result of a family hobby, having grown from a family project to its present dimensions.

Displayed for the last seven years in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., the tree first gained national prominence in the National Geographic Magazine.

Since then, it has been shown in Corcoran Art Gallery and the U.S. Botanical Gardens and is scheduled to be shown at the Australian Embassy.

The cookie decorations feature Huckleberry Hound, Lucifer, Sylvester the cat, Arly, Orley, Michelle and Cassandra, four French poodles, and 800 other styles.

In the four years that the attractive 27-year-old brunette has been in America, she has formed some very firm opinions about the country, climate, customs and the people.

Two things she has had trouble adjusting to have been the preparing of American foods and shopping centers.

Her chief dislike among American dishes is sauerkraut. She confesses that she is just lately getting the hang of baking. She also misses popular seafoods like lobster, shrimp, oysters and clams.

There were no shopping centers as we know them when she left the islands and she was not familiar with frozen foods. She explained that most Filipinos think frozen foods are no good because all produce, fish and meats are fresh in the islands.

Even though she is a newcomer to the country, she is well aware of a common malady. "Everything you buy, you have to pay taxes on!" she exclaimed.

The Philippines are becoming more westernized, she reports, but still tend to be a little "old-fashioned."

Another thing she likes about American customs is the fact that the girls can pick their own husbands. Ordinarily, the Philippine mothers have the first and last word in regard to whom the girls will marry.

One popular custom she doesn't like is "divorce." According to Amor, divorce is virtually unheard of in the Philippines. She attributes this to custom and to the fact that religion is predominantly Catholic.

She enjoys the Michigan climate but misses the warmth of the islands. She finds the snow "beautiful."

Amor's two brothers and sister are still living in the Philippines. Her mother and older brother have an appliance store. Her other brother is in the Navy and her sister is married and a school teacher.

Her father, Emil Alcantara, was captured and killed by the Japanese during World War II. An uncle, who later escaped, saw her father killed and buried in a mass grave.

Despite this, she states, she harbors no hate for the Japanese. "I used to feel hate for them," she says, "but no more... I've outgrown it."

When asked if she had ever experienced any racial discrimination here in America, she smiled and remarked, "Americans are nice... some are less friendly than others, but most of them are nice. I have never been

269 Vote in Local Primary

For the second year in a row, Cass City voters flocked to the polls in Monday's primary election. A total of 269 votes was cast as compared to last year's 277 votes. Registration totaled 590.

Competition among five men for the three trustee positions sparked the turnout. A similar situation last year saw nine men seeking the three posts.

Topping the trustee race was Fred Auten with 196 votes. Close on his heels was Harold Guinther with 186 votes. Jim Seals took the third seat with 152 votes.

Incumbent B. A. Calka lost to Seals by seven votes after polling a total of 145 votes. Jim Shagena had 49 votes.

In the race for the Assessor's post, Mac O'Dell led with 158 votes. The only other candidate for the post, Charles Newas, polled 96 votes.

A. N. Bigelow, uncontested candidate for the village president post, polled 226 votes.

Mrs. Wilma Fry, seeking reelection to the clerk and treasurer posts, received 221 votes for the treasurer's seat and 233 for the clerk post.

The two candidates to the Library Board were Mrs. Avis Benkelman, 216 votes, and Mrs. Esther McCullough, 229.

Those trustees left with one year to serve are Jerome Root Jr., Lee Rabideau and Leo Ware.

Criminal Cases Heavy on Circuit Court Docket

Duane C. Elliott, Elkton, called before Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn, on Wednesday, Feb. 14, to answer to probation violation charges, was sentenced to 1 1/2 to 15 years at Jackson Prison.

Elliott had been given a two-year probationary sentence in August, 1961, for breaking and entering a service station in Caro. He is presently serving a 1 1/2 to 15 year sentence at Ionia State Prison on the same charge in an incident that allegedly took place in October, 1961, in Cadillac, Mich.

Ferdinand Albert Joseph Krause, Mayville, charged with forgery and defrauding the Vassar State Bank, was put on three years probation and was ordered to pay a $100 fine and costs of $100. He was also ordered to make restitution of $508.31.

Krause allegedly forged a $150 check on a Bay City bank and defrauded the Vassar State Bank of $558.31.

A presentence investigation was ordered for Pamela Boss, Vassar, who pleaded guilty to the charge of forging a $50.00 check in Mayville last December. Sentencing will be on March 7.

Departments Tell Classroom Needs

Fourteen persons heard vocational agriculture instructor Lyle Clarke and industrial arts instructor Orion Cardew tell the purposes and aims of their respective classes at the second in a series of curriculum study meetings held at the high school, Wednesday night, Feb. 14. The next meeting will be Wednesday, March 14.

Principal Arthur Holmberg preceded the two main speakers and explained the meaning of a "comprehensive high school." He told the group that a comprehensive high school tries to offer various types of courses.

General education, according to Holmberg, offers learning that should be shared by all and embraces health, citizenship, aesthetic values and basic skills.

Special education is based on ability, interests and future goals and includes vocational skills for those who will receive no further formal education and academic preparation is for those who will go on to higher education after high school. Both vocational agriculture and industrial arts fall under this last category.

After explaining the various aims of his class and the different phases of farming techniques taught in his classes, Clarke gave a list of those things his department was lacking in.

Books and visual aids were foremost in that area. He also remarked that a partition was needed between the two departments for better heating and discipline.

Cardew explained that his department entailed unit shops, such as metal shop, woodworking shop and leather and ceramic shops. It also includes mechanical drawing.

He also cited a lack of reference material and stated that machines need to be replaced and the mechanical department needs to be expanded.

Following their descriptions, the two instructors took the group on a tour of the farm and industrial arts shops and explained the various projects the students were working on.

I will be at The Cass City State Bank Feb. 27 and at The Pinney State Bank Feb. 28 to collect Elkland township taxes. F. D. Profit, treasurer. 2-22-1

Croft Named to Local Committee On Development

Community Rural Area Development chairman were appointed by the RAD executive body at the county meeting Wednesday, Feb. 14, at the court-house. The move is designed to speed up the drafting of the county's "Overall Economic Development Plan."

Cass City's chairman is Cliff Croft. Area chairmen are Julius Goslin, Gagetown, Jack Wesch, Kingston, and Ralph Terry, Deford.

According to County Extension Agent Alfred Ballweg, the next move will be the contacting of key people by the chairmen in their respective communities. This will be done to determine what is needed to help existing industry or to organize new industries to provide jobs and reduce unemployment.

Service clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, PTA, farm organizations, and church groups are included in the list of groups that will be contacted.

The final step will be the reporting of the various needs at the next county meeting on Wednesday, March 14. At this meeting, a final report will be drawn up and will be sent on to the Michigan Department of Economic Development, Lansing.

In detail, the committee will report on basis for economic growth; problems and needed adjustments and goals, and the program needed for future action.

Under economic growth, the report will deal with the availability of mining and quarrying, agriculture, forestry and recreation facilities and on industry and commercial buildings and sites. The report will also contain information on the number of unemployed and underemployed, skills and retraining needed, markets, transportation, water, fuel, schools and hospitals.

The problem and needs category of the report will contain data on the lack of venture capital, unsatisfactory sites or lack. Concluded on page two.

Saturday, March 3, will be the last day I will collect taxes for Greenleaf township. Aletha Fox, treasurer. 2-22-2

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

All the fellers at the country store Saturday night announced they were getting their pencils whittled for the annual hassle with the Great White Father in Washington. Farmers and ranchers has to get their income tax report in on February 15, two months afore everybody else. Ed Doolittle claims this is on account of it taking them Revenue folks a heap longer to separate the figners from the facts in a farmer's report.

Bug Hookum was lamenting that back when he was a boy country folks didn't have nothing to worry about in February but the ground hog. All crops was governed for the next 40 days on the ground hog situation. And some note that Abe Lincoln and George Washington was born in February.

But in 1962, claims Bug, the ground hog is afraid to make any move on account of the fall-out and you don't hear much no more about Abe and George.

I reckon, Mister Editor, Bug is about right. For the farmers nowadays, February means it's time to subtract Item 3 From Item 5 and Enter On Line 14 On Page One.

The fellers was all agreed that the world is moving along. Ed Doolittle allowed as how folks has never went faster without knowing where. He says civilized man has about give up all important business except getting prepared to shoot at each other.

Zeke Grubb claims the whole thinking machinery of Americans has been overhauled for the worse in the last 25 years. Per instant, he says everybody is now a expert on international affairs and folks that can't tell you their county tax rate can tell you down to the penny how much foreign aid we sent to Cambodia in 1961. It's that big thinking, allows Zeke, that has rung on a heap of our woes.

Clem Webster claims our colleges is to blame for this sharp trend to fancy thinking. He says we got colleges all over the country teaching agriculture when anybody knows that book farming ain't no good unless it's hitched to a plow.

Ed Doolittle agreed with Clem, said he was reading a piece in the papers the other day where some college was giving a course in the "Science of Matrimony." Ed allowed as how this was trying to teach the unteachable, that Solomon himself, with all his wives, couldn't teach matrimony.

But everybody was agreed, Mister Editor, that America is still a great country. It was made great by country boys moving to town and town boys buying farms to git tax reductions.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

City League Ends Regular Schedule

Most of the interest in the final games in the City Basketball League is centered around the battle for second place. League Champion Tuckey's had clinched the title several weeks earlier.

Both of the teams vying for the runner-up slot won Thursday in games played at Cass City High School. Mac and Leo out-gunned Walbro, 68-55, and Sherman's blasted Snover, 66-44. Eria's handed Tuckey's their second loss of the season, 45-40, but it had no effect on the final standings.

Eria's-Tuckey's
Eria's rallied in the last half to post the decision over Tuckey's. The league leaders were in front at the intermission, 27-20, but faded in the final two periods. The winners posted a 7-3 advantage in the third period and an 18-10 margin in the final period for the victory. Eria's scoring was scattered among eight players, none reaching double figures. Bob Tuckey with 15 points and Roy Tuckey with 14 points kept the losers in the game.

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.

CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.

CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvair Monza's for you.

Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence.

But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless.

So size 'em up—then save it up—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

THE HIGH COST OF POOR SERVICE

A good mechanic, like a good doctor, must primarily be an expert at diagnosis. Once he has pinpointed the exact cause of trouble, the remedy is usually routine.

Not only does trial and error guesswork delay the repair of a customer's car, causing him unnecessary inconvenience, but it is also hard on his pocketbook, since he is essentially paying for an incompetent mechanic's education.

How expensive this can be was realized recently by the owner of an expensive, luxury model car we came across. Only 18 months old, the car was burning oil after 38,000 miles, a quart every 150 to 200 miles.

The owner took his problems to two garages that told him his engine would require replacement of rings and valves. Fortunately, he decided to check with an ignition expert, who quickly put his finger on a faulty fuel pump vacuum that had been sucking oil into his carburetor. He thereby avoided a needless repair bill of two or three hundred dollars.

While most cases of inaccurate automobile failure diagnosis are not so obvious, examples of unnecessary work performed and wasted time and money are commonplace.

The best place to look for properly trained mechanics is the service department of a franchised dealer. At Bulen Motors, all service work, except in unusual circumstances, is flat-rated at factory minimums for a Grade A mechanic. And our licensed experts take periodic factory refresher courses with the most advanced equipment. Their experience, a collective total of 25 years, is your assurance of quality service work.

February 19, 1962

Editor
Cass City Chronicle
Dear Editor:

I feel that in your February 8th article about the statement by the Council of Churches concerning our public schools it was unfortunate that you did not publish the entire statement.

Perhaps the most significant part of this statement was a paragraph that was omitted from your article.

"We maintain that intelligent understanding can come only when those in the church and community are willing to take time to become better informed as to the nature, philosophy, and objectives of the educational process as well as the particular needs of our schools at this time."

This will always be true no matter how elections turn out. May those who voted "no" and those who voted "yes" begin now to take time to become informed about public education in general and our schools in particular.

There have been two public Curriculum Seminars so far.

Seven citizens met with the English Department and eleven citizens met with the Agricultural and Industrial Arts Departments. On March 14th everyone in the community is invited to meet with the Math Department. In mid-April the meeting will be with the Physical Education Department. Much could be gained if the community showed itself in number at these meetings and demonstrated a positive interest in public education in Cass City. If the community is not interested in finding out more about our curriculum then let's not worry about what we have in our schools.

Sincerely yours,
John Fish

Pancake Suppers...

Food for Thought?

By Dave Kraft

I took my wife and daughter to the Rotary pancake supper last week. It was our first pancake supper as a unit. I was a little disappointed.

I rushed home from work, bathed, shaved, got dressed and then sat around for two hours until my wife got ready. I really don't mind the waiting so much. It's always good for a little high level TV watching like The Three Stooges (I can't stand Mr. Magic) or the third rerun of Wyatt Earp.

We finally arrived and ticket-taker Cliff Croft marked 140-141 on our tickets. We walked over to the bleachers set aside for the "next-in-liners."

A little later, above the roar of smacking lips and clanking silverware, I heard a small thin voice yell, "16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21." I looked at our tickets... 140 and 141.

At this rate, they'd have to help me to the table and force feed me. I started to feel faint. I asked my wife if I could hold the baby and when no one was looking, I swiped a slug or two out of her bottle.

Shortly after that, just as I was finishing off the last of the milk, over the protests of my daughter, the small thin voice rang out with "140, 141 and so forth."

Dropping my wife in the baby's arms, I charged across the floor and was finishing off the second platter of hotcakes when she arrived. All in all, the meal was first rate. I did have a little trouble after I finished eating. I had milk, syrup and sausage grease on my hands and it wasn't until I started to put my coat on that I realized my fork was still stuck to my hand.

One thing that really impressed me was the serving girls... a little masculine but very effective. I'm just sorry I couldn't stick around to see them do the floor show.

We received an interesting card in the mail the other day. It read: "Peoples of the world had better spend less time fighting."

one another and pay more attention to fighting the forces of nature such as insects, water shortages and diminishing resources... things that have the final say about how we live."

Sound thought, but what was so interesting was that while the signer's address was Los Angeles, California, the card had apparently traveled all that way without being postmarked.

In a bulletin on vaccination requirements received from the High School, "pertussis" was listed. I asked around the shop and no one seemed to know what pertussis was.

I checked with Noah Webster and he informs me that "pertussis" is the scientific definition of "whooping cough."

Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent

On February 27 the project leaders from the home economics extension group Section II will learn how to make mats from a farm by-product. They will take baled twine that their husbands cut from baled hay or straw and learn to knot them into an outside door-mat. This lesson will be held in Gilford Extension Hall from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m.

I will be starting the advanced clothing workshop on February 28. This workshop will be held in the Vassar area. On March 2, Section I of the home economics extension groups will learn something about credit. I will attempt to help them become better informed about credit facilities, costs and services. It is also hoped that I can clarify points of view about the place of credit in family finances and in the total economy.

The women will have an opportunity to become aware of principles and issues involved in credit management in the family situation.

When you think about credit, do you also stop to figure out what the service costs take out of the family dollar? Service costs do take a big slice out of the family dollar, and that slice is likely to grow bigger.

In 1959, out of each dollar spent for family living, 39 cents was used for services. In 1961, this figure was 42 cents. Services include such items as medical care, rent, laundry, babysitting and beauty and barber services.

The spending for services has risen, not only because of increases in prices, but also because we expect to use more services and have better quality of services.

In fact, service costs have become such a big part of the family budget that there may be a trend toward easing off service expenditures.

There may be a greater use of medical insurance of all kinds and of coin operated dry cleaning machines and laundromats (instead of dry cleaners and laundries) as various means of cutting the family's service costs.

Report High Schools Now Growing at Double the Rate of Elementary Classes

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association

School enrollment in Michigan elementary and secondary systems this year rose about 50,000 over the previous year, to 1,726,000, but the hike was not evenly distributed among grades.

The Michigan Education Association reported high school enrollments are growing at a rate more than double that in the elementary schools as post-war population increases move through the secondary grades.

High school enrollment this year reached 1,260,000, for an increase of 4.8 per cent over the 1960-61 totals, while a 2.2 per cent gain in elementary schools brought the student numbers to 26 million.

The MEA research division said the current year brought the number of teachers in Michigan public schools to 66,000. This represents a gain of some 3,000 over the 1960-61 total.

Teachers' salaries also increased during the past year, according to statistics compiled by the MEA and the State Department of Public Instruction.

State Superintendent Lynn M. Bartlett reported the current year wages of all Michigan teachers gave them an average of $6,162, as compared to $5,898 a year ago.

The apparently high average for all Michigan teachers could be deceiving at first glance, Bartlett warned. One group of about 25,000 teachers in the state had average earnings of $4,372; another smaller group taken separately showed an average of $3,960, and one group of primary teachers received as little as $2,700.

Salaries in the larger cities brought the averages up.

Complete figures for the current school year were not broken down to areas, but during the 1960-61 period, an average salary of $7,275 was reported for Detroit teachers.

Next in line were Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Dearborn with an average of $6,804; followed by Ann Arbor, Bay City, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Saginaw, Lincoln Park, Livonia and Roseville with a $6,408 average.

Eighteen cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population rank also helped bring the average up, with salaries set about $6,479.

Senior citizens, of the age 65 and older, have come to the attention of government agencies and the public increasingly in recent years.

Some years ago, under the administration of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a Michigan Commission on Aging was created to encourage activities and services to meet the needs of the state's senior citizens.

Now, for the first time, the commission has prepared its first direct contact with the generation of citizens it was created to help.

"Most of the work of the commission deals with the people who are serving our senior citizens, rather than with the senior citizens themselves," said Manfred Lilliefors, director of the commission.

A booklet on services recently published by the commission, however, gives the specific information needed by the senior citizen or relatives and friends who may be trying to help.

It includes information about using free time, seeking employment, getting medical care, money and suitable housing.

In addition to general information on services available throughout the state, the commission booklet gives a county-by-county breakdown on the location of agencies such as the department of social welfare, bureau of social aid, social security, Michigan employment security commission and county and district health departments.

Tooth decay affects 50 per cent of all Michigan children before they reach the age of two, according to Dr. Fred Wertheimer, director of the State Health Department's dentistry division.

In view of this, and the fact that by the time Michigan children reach the age of 10 they may have seven or more decayed, missing or filled teeth, emphasis is being placed by the dental profession on the importance of "baby teeth."

"A child's first teeth are just as important as the permanent ones which will eventually take their place," Wertheimer said.

One of the uses of baby teeth, in addition to their use for chewing food, talking, and facial expression, is to keep space in the jaw for the permanent teeth.

When a tooth is lost too early, adjoining teeth tend to "drift" into the vacant space and there may be an eventual shifting of all the teeth, said Wertheimer.

Health department officials are strong advocates of fluoridated water. "Children drinking fluoridated water have a tremendous advantage over those who do not have this benefit," said Wertheimer.

"The fluoride in the water offers built-in protection against tooth decay and has been proved to reduce tooth decay as much as 65 per cent.

Hope is an asset only when it is backed by plenty of hustle.

Pages From The Past

NUMBER 15

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN

FEB. 22, 1962

First Council Meet Held in 1883

In 1883, the village of Cass City incorporated. The first council meeting was held May 3, 1883. The officers were: Henry Butler, president; S. C. Armstrong, clerk; T. H. Fritz, treasurer; James L. Hitchcock, James W. Adamson and Henry Wickware, trustees for two-year terms; J. D. Crosby, P. R. Weh-demeyer and Robert G. Orr, trustees for one-year terms. No doubt they were as proud of their modern, expanding village as the village officers of today are—and no doubt they faced as many problems. They succeeded—and one particular lesson we learn from the pages of the past is that we can succeed, too.

What Part Did Cass City Play

In Civil War?

We are in the midst of the Civil War centennial years. It would be interesting to recall the part Cass City played in this conflict. It has already been mentioned in these Pages that Dr. Deming took part in Sherman's march to the sea. Are there others from this town who played a role in that tragic war?

It is a matter of history that Michigan contributed thirty regiments of infantry, eleven regiments of cavalry, one of artillery, one of engineers and one of sharpshooters—making a total of more than 90,000 men. Were there men from Cass City numbered among them? Michigan regiments fought in all the major battles and monuments erected to their memory stand on every battlefield.

One of the most famous feats accomplished by Michigan troops was the capture of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, by the Fourth Michigan Cavalry under the leadership of Col. Benjamin D. Pritchard. Of course, the best-known officer from Michigan was the colorful George A. Custer—a brigadier general at the age of twenty-three.

We'd like to hear from anyone who can shed light on Cass City's participation in the War of Secession.

F. Klump Founded Chronicle in 1899

In 1899, Frederick J. Klump founded the Cass City Chronicle. (Mr. Klump, born in Wurtemberg, Germany, came to this country in 1868.) At this time, the town's only other newspaper was The Cass City Enterprise.

At least as early as the 1880's, The Cass City Enterprise was published by R. S. Toland. In 1890 it was purchased by M. M. Wickware and J. D. Brooker—a year later, Mr. Wickware purchased Mr. Brooker's interest. In 1893, A. A. P. McDowell came into the business as a partner and the following year McDowell purchased Wickware's interest. Thus, Mr. McDowell was publisher of the Cass City Enterprise at the time that Mr. Klump founded the Cass City Chronicle. In 1904, Herbert F. Lenzner purchased the Chronicle and two years later he purchased the Cass City Enterprise—he consolidated the two papers under the name "The Chronicle."

Six years later, in 1912, a new plant was built at the corner of Main and Oak where the present Chronicle plant is housed.

Sponsored by the Pinney State Bank in observance of its 75th Anniversary Year

Spring Flood Made Riding Train Dangerous

It took courage some spring-tides to take the train to or from Cass City—as exemplified by the brave fellow in this week's photograph, walking across a temporary footbridge slung above the Cass River after its swollen waters had washed out the railroad bridge.

Nearly every spring that the river was especially rampageous, the railroad bridge would be washed out. It was necessary, then, for the train passengers to walk across the "suspension bridge" to catch the train on the other side!

Whether this botation was of more nuisance to the railroad company or the passengers is not known—however, a better and stronger bridge was finally built and it is the one that remains south of town, a sturdy bridge that yearly defies the spring-flooded Cass.
