Insulated Wire Workers Okay Steel Union

Employees at General Insulated Wire Works, Cass City, voted to be represented by the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, in an election of all hourly paid employees Tuesday. The vote was 73 yes and 55 no. The balloting was a reversal of the first vote in November that saw union representation turned down by a 57-32 margin.

Village Man Escapes Injury in Accident

A Cass City man who escaped serious injury when the car he was driving turned over Wednesday, Mar. 14, attributed his narrow escape to the car's safety belt.

According to a report filed by Sheriff's Deputies Pat Dillon and Larry Tomlinson, a General Telephone Company car driven by Bruce Thompson, Cass City, went out of control and rolled over when he attempted to miss two horses in the road.

Thompson, in the report, stated that he swerved to miss the horses and lost control of the car. The car rolled over and went through a fence two miles south of Kingston.

No injury was reported. The accident took place at about 11:00 a.m.

Bill Wood Accepts New Post

Bill Wood, Cass City chief of police for the past four years, has tendered his resignation and is scheduled to begin as chief of the Holly police force on Wednesday, March 28.

Wood handed in his resignation Friday, March 16. He and his family are scheduled to leave for Holly, Sunday, Mar. 25.

He reported that he had been trying to decide for the past two months whether or not to make the move.

"It took a lot of deciding to make the change," he stated. "I've met a lot of wonderful people here."

He listed the opportunity for advancement as the prime reason for leaving.

Holly has a population of approximately 4,000 persons and has a four-man police department. The department also has five police reservists and five radio operators for full 24-hour protection.

Wood was a patrolman in Holly for a two-year period in 1954-56. Before coming to Cass City in February, 1958, he was with the Marlette police department.

In a concluding statement, Wood expressed his thanks to the village residents for their help and assistance. He also offered a special thanks to local teenagers for their cooperation.

Past Masters Supper Tyler Lodge No. 317, Cass City, at Masonic hall, Saturday, March 24, at 6 p.m. 3-22-1

A small but interested group of teachers and parents took a penetrating look at Cass City High School mathematics at the third of a series of curriculum study meetings held Wednesday, March 14, at the High School.

Discussion centered around modern trends in the field, such as the attempt to provide greater continuity by introducing basic concepts of higher mathematics at lower levels. Other new trends are the emphasis on understanding and the inclusion of new terminology required by the science and technology of today's world.

It was pointed out, according to Principal Arthur Holmberg, that in communities such as Cass City, it is often difficult to interest students in advanced math study since neither they nor their parents adequately sense the need for it.

While the teachers felt Cass City was not ready to adopt the most radical methods, they expressed the desire to keep abreast of what was happening in mathematics and to introduce such new ideas that seem suitable.

Teachers representing the department were Mrs. Eleanor Dillman and Mrs. Pauline Milligan, both junior high teachers, and Don Mance and Frank Weatherhead, senior high teachers. Chairman of the Study Committee is Rev. John Fish. Holmberg acted as moderator.

One aspect of the school's teaching philosophy revealed was the system's "two-track" math curriculum, serving both practical and college preparatory needs.

One new innovation for the system will be introduced next year. For the first time in the history of the school, a fourth year of formal mathematics is planned.

The teachers and those present expressed the regret that more parents did not attend the meeting. Approximately six parents were present. There are more than 400 students enrolled in junior and senior high school mathematics courses.

Rain, Warm Spell May Cause Flood

Cass City area residents living on the low side of the Cass River may soon have to roll up their pant legs, get out the long-boats and seek drier places.

A high of 11 feet, four inches at noon Monday was reported by Bob Larson, hydraulic engineer, US Geological Survey, Grayling.

Larson took the reading from the gauge house just west of the bridge on S. Cemetery Road.

"It's a little early to tell," Larson stated. "It depends on the weather."

Local weather forecasters are predicting more rain. Larson stated that if it warms up fast or the area gets a large amount of rain it will probably flood.

In 1960, with a peak of 14 feet, river area residents were flooded.

Epskamp Sticks To New Gun Rule

Despite protests from members of gun clubs and other interested Tuscola county residents, the new county regulation restricting the use of concealed weapons will stick.

Prosecuting Attorney James Epskamp said that the decision of the three-man gun board will apply, but that there are a good many misapprehensions about the law.

The regulation now states that persons seeking a concealed gun permit must use it in the county or at other locations designated when the permit is applied for.

"It is possible," Epskamp told the Chronicle, "that a permit could be issued to be used in all of Michigan. We have one fellow that pistol shoots all the time at very many locations and a state wide permit was issued to HOME after a two-year tour of duty with the Nurse Corps at Walker AFB, Roswell, New Mexico, Anne Marie Lorentzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lorentzen, Cass City, displays a Mexican serape she bought on a short trip to Mexico. Miss Lorentzen is scheduled to resume her duties as a nurse at VA Hospital, Saginaw, on April 2.

Military, Civilian Hospitals Alike

Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, New Mexico, is 1,700 miles or 28 hours from Cass City. Not the type of jaunt one makes for a week end visit. Consequently, Anne Marie Lorentzen has seen very little of her parents during the past two years.

Miss Lorentzen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lorentzen, Cass City, received her discharge from the Nurse Corps, Walker AFB, Saturday, March 10, and now she doesn't have to worry about making the long trip home. She is home.

Roswell, population 45,000, bears little resemblance to Cass City or the surrounding area, according to Anne. Climate in the summer is hot and dry. The surrounding country is desert and requires considerable irrigation.

During the winter, there is sometimes a day and night temperature variation of between 50 and 60 degrees. Very little snow falls during the winter. This winter, however, two storms hit the area. It was the worst winter in history.

Despite Roswell's size, Anne confided that there were more recreational facilities on the base than in the city. "It's like a small town, with clubs, swimming pools, tennis courts and stores."

Walker AFB Hospital is laid out and run the same as civilian hospitals. "Rank is left at the door," she stated, "both patient-wise and personnel-wise... a colonel receives the same treatment as a private."

As a member of the Nurse Corps, her duties were similar to that of a general nurse. She received her nurse's training at Saginaw General Hospital and was a nurse at the VA Hospital, Saginaw, for two years before enlisting.

One of the many new nursing techniques she learned with the Corps was "mass casualty treatment." This is a direct reversal of civilian nursing and first aid. Concluded on page two.

Reid and Branch On the Reid and Branch project, which involves just the cleaning out of the ditch, James Corbin, Pigeon, was awarded the contract on a low bid of $790.

Branch No. 1 The leveling and digging of the Branch No. 1 of the Reid and Branch project will be done by Elmer Erickson, Bay City, whose low bid was $3,553.01.

Lee Dillon, Unionville, was awarded the riprap contract on a low bid of $423.00.

The corrugated pipe contract was let to Shelby Culvert Company, Shelby, with a low bid of $1,433.20.

Board of Review Sugden announced Wednesday, April 11, as the date for the board of review meeting for all three drains. The session will be held from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. at the commissioner's office.

Heather Milligan CMU Honors Day Delegate

Heather Milligan will attend the fourth annual High School Honors Day Mar. 31 at Central Michigan University. Students who take part in the program are seniors who rank scholastically in the upper five per cent of their graduating class.

The program is designed for students who are high academic achievers, giving them an opportunity to explore many aspects of University life and academic programs.

The program includes panel discussions and talks by President Judson W. Foust, Student Body President Dennis Moore and Director of Admissions Austin J. Buchanan.

County Lumbering Is Big Business

Lumbering in Tuscola county is big business, according to a report from Allen Boelter, district forester. Standing timber in the county, based on figures from a 1956 survey, is worth an estimated $4,726,000.

According to the figures of the survey, the county, with a total land area of 522,200 acres, has 104,000 acres in forests and woodlots. This amounts to a surprising 20 per cent of the total land area.

This does not include the popular forestry project of Christmas tree farming which is experiencing a decrease in interest lately.

Boelter arrived at the $4 million-plus figure by multiplying the estimated total board feet in the county by the average stumpage figure of $20.00 per 1,000 board feet.

According to the 1956 survey, the county has a potential of 236,300,000 board feet.

The total worth of the county's timber may climb even higher. As labor is put into the harvesting and processing of the trees, Boelter explains, the timber value rises. This is explained in the fact that the bigger the harvested source, the more ready buyers are to concentrate on a certain area.

Boelter stresses heavily the need for good management of woodland areas and the need for reforestation many sandy areas. He is available for advice at the Saginaw County Agriculture Extension office.

As was previously mentioned, planting for Christmas tree production has decreased. This is primarily due to over-planting and the realization that quality trees require more work than anticipated, Boelter reports.

There is a need, however, for much more tree planting than has taken place. Many thousands of acres would be made more productive and valuable if planted to trees.

Native species are most suited to general reforestation. These are white, red and jack pine and white spruce. Each has a preferred site requirement; and it is important to plant the tree on the site where it will grow best.

With tree planting stock in large supply this spring, landowners are urged to reforest areas of land, odd corners and other non-productive parts of their farms.

Getting back to the lumbering aspect, Boelter pointed out the prime potential in the pulp wood field. While little has been done along these lines, a major paper company has plans for developing the field in the near future in the county.

Along general lumbering lines, the county has five permanent sawmill installations and another estimated five portable sawmills. In addition, there are private individuals who cut and haul bolts and logs to the various sawmills.

As the nation's lumber needs increase, local and major lumbering firms will become more and more interested in the small woodlot as a source of wood.

Tuscola county with its 104,000 acres of timber is certain to become a major lumbering area.

Announce Sale of Western Auto

Western Auto Associate Store, owned and operated for the past 16 years by R. M. Hunter, Cass City, has been sold to Charles H. Turner, former Chrysler Corporation official, according to Mr. Hunter.

The change-over will officially take place Thursday, April 5. Turner is purchasing the fixtures and stock from Hunter and has obtained the franchise from Western Auto Supply Company.

"It's been an awfully short 16 years," Hunter remarked in summing up his business career in Cass City. When asked what he intends to do upon retirement, he stated quickly, "Fish!"

Present plans call for Hunter to assist the new owner until he is fully oriented and then to assist when needed. He also plans to help his son, Robert, co-owner of the new M & R Standard Service Station, when needed.

He and Mrs. Hunter plan to take a month-long vacation this summer to the New York Thousands Islands area, on the St. Lawrence River. Mr. Hunter was reared there.

Mrs. Hunter, a familiar face at the store, is a lifelong Cass City resident, except for a period when she and Mr. Hunter lived in Detroit. Her mother was born in Cass City in 1871.

Turner, of Fraser, was formerly with the Chrysler Corporation missile plant. He and his wife plan to live over the store.

The store will be closed for three days for inventory prior to his take-over date.

Damage Slight in Gas Can Explosion

The combination of a full gas can and a tractor battery called Elkland township firemen to the Sam Blades farm, two and a half miles north of Cass City, Wednesday, March 14.

According to Fire Chief Al Avery, Blades reported that he was draining gas from a tractor when the gas can touched a battery cable and a spark ignited the gasoline.

Damage was confined to the can. No injury was reported. The fire was reported at 12:02 p. m.

Governor to Speak At Vassar Dinner Honoring Farnum

Governor John B. Swainson is scheduled to be the guest speaker at a testimonial dinner honoring Auditor General and Mrs. Billie Farnum in Vassar on Tuesday, March 27.

Sponsored by the Tuscola County Democrats, the dinner will be held at the new Community Building on the Cork Pine Fairgrounds, at 6:30 p.m.

Democratic State Chairman John Collins is scheduled to present the Vassar Chapter with its charter. It will be the first charter issued in the county.

Music will be by Fred Clark's orchestra. All tickets will be sold in advance, with Saturday, March 24, as the deadline for buying tickets.

Survey Shows Employment Up

An industrial survey taken Monday shows that employment at Cass City's four leading factories is up for March, 1962, as compared to March, 1961.

Some show a climb of over 100 per cent while others have experienced a rise of only a few persons.

Three of the four anticipate a small climb in employment this spring or later in the year. The other reported that employment would remain steady.

Walbro Corporation Walbro Corporation reported a total of 166 employed at present. Last year's total for the same period was 135, for an increase of 31 employees.

According to Personnel Manager Jim Wallace, the firm had a peak employment of 201 for a ten-week period starting in January, 1962, and ending this month.

While the company doesn't anticipate much of an increase, Wallace stated that because of the company's new subsidiary, Dupree Products, more help would be retained than last year until the fall layoff. The firm had an average employment last year of 120 persons.

General Insulated Cass City's second largest employer, and perhaps the fastest growing, General Insulated Wire Works, Inc., reported a climb from 58 in March of last year to its present peak of 163 persons.

Paul Alfano, General Insulated personnel manager, reported that the firm might add a few more persons during the spring, but not many. He attributes the meteoric rise in help to the fact that the company, in March, 1961, was not very old in Cass City.

Anrod Screen Cylinder Co. A smaller but significant employer is Anrod Screen Cylinder Company. The company has had an employee increase of four persons, rising from 31 in March, 1961, to 35 at present. Cass City's industrial employment started when Al Krueger moved the plant here from Croswell.

At its peak last year, a total of 38 persons was employed.

Significant is the fact that the company's employment figures have not fluctuated more than a few persons, remaining steady during the past year.

According to George Dillman, Anrod official, no decline or rise in employment for this spring is anticipated.

Bassett Manufacturing Another small but growing industry is Bassett Manufacturing, makers of automotive parts. Presently employing nine persons, the firm had approximately the same employment level last year in March.

Owner Robert Bassett anticipates a pick up in employment late this coming summer, prior to the fall release of new cars. His firm sells to the Big Three (General Motors, Ford and Chrysler) and to American Motors.

Underbody parts, heaters and other items are manufactured by the company.

Not all is fair weather on the village and area industrial front, however. One firm, Tusco Products, closed its doors during the last year.

Another area firm, Evans Products, Gagetown, earlier this month reported a decrease in help. Jerald Stroupe, general manager, however, denied rumors that the firm would close its doors or move to another location.

Dollar Days Grand

Most Cass City merchants were pleased with the town-wide dollar day sale held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the village.

Sparked by the many dollar day values and the specials of merchants running store-wide promotions, area shoppers flooded the community and were in a buying mood.

Clothing was in top demand as Kritzmann's, Federated and Asher's reported very satisfactory sales.

Ben Franklin's grand opening made it a record three days at the new store and local drug stores also benefited from the increased traffic.

The three-day sale was one of several sponsored throughout the year under the auspices of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

From the Editor's Corner

Dave Kraft's column is popular with the girls, as well as most other folks. The other day Jim Wallace, personnel manager at Walbro, casually remarked that the girls working there have requested him to cut out Dave's weekly tirades about his wife and post them on the company's bulletin board. They are well read, too, Jim says.

Since Dave asked for suggestions for unusual stories about area persons, we have had several good suggestions which the staff (Dave) will write and we'll print in the weeks ahead.

We're always happy to receive these story tips. If you have one, give us a ring.

Asel Collins, co-publisher at Pigeon, is having a chuckle at our expense. We brashly predicted that Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port wouldn't win a basketball game at Flint. All the Lakers did was win the tournament with three straight victories... the first time a Class B team from the Thumb has won in our 11 years in Cass City.

There have been plenty of changes in that 11 years.

In the business district alone, for instance, well over half of the stores have changed ownership or gone out of business.

Even more significant, we feel, is the change in the type of community. With farms constantly getting larger and less people producing more, Cass City has changed from a community wholly dependent on farm trade to one in which industry and farming have risen to about equal importance.

It is likely that the trend will continue in the next decade.

Set Kindergarten Enrollment Date

Mrs. Marie Murray, grade school principal, announced this week that fall enrollment for the 1962-63 kindergarten class will be held April 3 in the elementary cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Parents are reminded to bring birth certificates and immunization records. Children will not attend this meeting.

Greenleaf Township annual meeting will be held Saturday, Mar. 31. Anson Karr, clerk. 3-22-2

County Prosecutor Tells Rotarians to Have Wills Drawn

Tuscola County Prosecuting Attorney James Epskamp explained the laws governing estates of deceased persons Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

Speaking before the Cass City Rotary Club he said that he advises everyone with an estate to have a will. In only this way, he asserted, is a property owner sure that his property will be divided as he wishes it.

In case a will is not drawn the state has laws providing for the distribution of the property. These laws of descent and distribution are invoked in absence of a will.

Epskamp said that there is a common misapprehension among persons that if a will is drawn that the estate must not be probated. This is untrue. The primary purpose of a will is to divide an estate to the owner's wishes after death, the prosecutor emphasized.

Epskamp said that dividing an estate before death among relatives to avoid taxes often brings trouble. He cited one case where a parent gave property to a son and then received only $10 a week living expenses from him . . . contrary to their verbal agreement.

ANNE LORENTZEN

Theoretically, it advocates treatment of the less injured first and then treatment of the more severely injured, and is calculated to save more lives in case of nuclear war or a major catastrophe.

Anne joined the Corps mostly out of curiosity, she admits. As far as recommending it for others, she says, "It's a decision they'd have to make for themselves. I enjoyed it. It's a learning experience of many different aspects . . . learning to meet people, military life . . ."

Because of her previous training, Anne went into the Corps as an officer, a second lieutenant, and was discharged as a first lieutenant.

Miss Lorentzen entered the Corps on March 11, 1960, and received her orientation to military life at Gunter AFB, Montgomery, Ala. The rest of her service career has been at Walker AFB.

She joined the Corps under the two-year option. She could have joined for three years. Upon discharge, she could have resigned her commission and have been through with the Corps completely. She decided not to, however, and is now on inactive reserve duty. This means she can be called back in case of a national emergency.

Miss Lorentzen's father is a C. R. Hunt Construction Co. employee. She has two brothers, Donald, with the Illinois Highway Department, Elgin, Ill., and Richard, in grade school. She graduated from Cass City High School in 1954.

Future plans call for her to start back at the VA Hospital, Saginaw, on April 2.

As was previously mentioned, Anne went into the Corps as an officer and was discharged as an officer. While this had its good points, it also had its drawbacks.

Anne is 25 years old, attractive and, of course, single . . . nurses, as officers, are not allowed to fraternize with enlisted men . . .

Owen-Gage Student Recommended for State Farmer Honor

Robert Ashmore, Owendale-Gagetown High School Future Farmer Chapter member, will be recommended for the State Farmer degree at the 34th State Michigan Future Farmer Convention in progress at Michigan State University, East Lansing. The convention began Tuesday and is scheduled to end today (Thursday).

Bernard Pisarek, also from Owendale-Gagetown, was scheduled to take part in the band tryouts for the music and entertainment parts of the program or for a position on the National Future Farmers of America Band.

Delegates from the Owendale-Gagetown chapter attending the meeting are Fred Bardwell and Pisarek.

Saginaw Men Receive Fines In Court Session

Two Saginaw men, charged with breaking windows and shooting holes in a station wagon last December, were each ordered to pay $100 in costs and $50.00 in fines by Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn at a court session held Wednesday, March 14.

Richard Slavin and Ronald Martin, both of Saginaw, allegedly broke the windows out of a station wagon belonging to Elmer Weber, Vassar, on Dec. 29. The pair then went home, obtained some guns and shot holes in the vehicle.

Dale Pike, Caro, charged with the breaking and entering of the Caro Community School elementary building on December 27, entered a plea of not guilty. At a previous trial, he requested that the court appoint an attorney and arraignment was postponed until one could be appointed.

In other business, Judge Quinn gave Pamela Boss a two and a half year probationary sentence with the understanding that she live with an aunt and complete school. She allegedly forged a $50.00 check in Mayville on December 11.

Attorney Gerald Danin, Reese, was granted permission to withdraw as attorney for Charles Curtis. Curtis was sentenced to jail earlier in the year and fined $50.00 for driving while his operator's license was revoked.

Zonta Committee to Nominate Officers

A Cass City Zonta Club nominating committee was elected at the club's regular March dinner meeting held at the New Gordon Hotel, Tuesday, March 13.

Committee members are Mary Leeson, Dorothy Ballard and Bette Bassett. They are scheduled to make their report at the next meeting.

Mrs. Leeson gave a report on international relations. Other reports were given by Mrs. Bassett, on status of women, Marie Roch, membership, and Mildred McConkey, a report on service for the year.

On Thursday, March 15, Edith Little and Marie Krueger represented the club at the Bay City Zonta Club luncheon held at the Durand Hotel. Port Huron members also attended. Plans were formulated for the Zonta Fall Conference to be held in Flint on September 28, 29, 30.

The Zonta Rummage Sale, held Friday and Saturday, was a huge success, according to the club's financial report. The money received will be placed in the fund to be used to sponsor a Cass City student nurse through training. The success of the sale was attributed to the team work of the club members and to the generosity of those who purchased items.

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE GROWING CASE FOR SEAT BELTS

Every car manufactured in North America during the current model year will have holes drilled in the floor - and not for air conditioning. The manufacturers, if not the public, are at last responding to the avalanche of recorded evidence that seat belts are saving lives.

The factory-installed anchor holes will further reduce the already nominal cost of installation and mass produced quality belts are now selling for less than ever.

As always, the public is the last to respond to a safety appeal. But evidence is growing that the case for seat belts is getting across to the average motorist. Drivers who have adopted the seat belt habit now say it has become just that - automatic to buckle and adjust the belt before driving - like a habit.

Seat belts, as their constant users are anxious to advise, hold you firmly to the seat. You ride more comfortably, side sway from turning corners is almost eliminated, they don't muss your clothes and they can be released by a flip of your hand in the event of an emergency.

Research has shown that belts reduce fatal injuries by 35 per cent in accidents of all speeds by holding the victim in the car. Women's organizations, medical associations and government bureaus concerned with safety all endorse them.

All except the motoring public of whom little better than 2 per cent consistently use them. Among this loyal percentage are drivers who owe their lives to belts and those injured because they lacked them.

A local man owes his health to Seat Belts. In a bad accident last week, the car rolled several times and was badly damaged. Seat Belts protected the driver from injury. He won't have to be sold on their value.

This is not the time that one would normally think of Christmas, but the women on the 1962 Christmas Workshop and Tea Committee have been looking into the future and have made their plans for next winter. They chose the theme of "Christmas Around the World." Each group will be working on ideas from different countries during the summer and fall. Such countries as Mexico, Spain, Norway, Russia, China, Japan, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, etc., have been listed. The committee that has been working on this project is: Mrs. Clarence Keinath, Chairman, North Almer group; Mrs. Ralph Bublitz, Northwest Fairgrove group; Mrs. Lyle Sylvester, Van Buren group; Mrs. Walter Jackson, Watrousville group, and Mrs. Walter Moe-rrow, Reese group.

Mrs. Timothy Quinn called to notify the extension groups about two art exhibits that they could attend. One will be held at the De Waters Art Center at Flint Junior College, Flint, from March 22 to April 22. The other one will be in Saginaw at the Furniture Market at 4303 East Genesee. This exhibit will be held from March 9 through March 31. The Saginaw Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring this exhibit.

One food that originated in the United States and has contributed to good eating the world over is beans, green and wax. The American origin is fixed by references at finding them at many scattered points over the Americas about 1500. Also, they were one of the treasures Christopher Columbus took back to the Old World.

As the merits of green and wax beans become known, their popularity soared. Virtually from the time of their discovery these beans, then called string beans, were consumed regularly. It was only a hundred years ago, though, that a better strain was developed. This was the truly stringless, nearly fiberless bean we know today.

Canned green and wax beans are another notable achievement. When you want to include these vegetables on the menu, you have them, ready - sorted, snipped and cooked, just ready to heat.

Ten Talented Boys

Explain All-Star Basketball Picks

Cass City's Larry Robinson placed on the Thumb B all-conference cage squad, announced last week by league coaches.

For Robinson, the selection was an old story. He was also named to the all-star squad in football. Robinson was the play-maker for the Hawks and also one of the team's leading scorers.

Three boys named were hold-over selections from last year's squad. They were Bert Bieke, Frankmuth; Jim Caister, Marlette, and Ron Schulz, Lakera.

Bieke was considered by many observers of Thumb B action as the best all around player in the league. Caister was undoubtedly the best of the guards and Schulz the key man in a great Laker squad.

Other selections to the team would make any coach happy.

Club met Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Reva Silver. High prizes were won by Mrs. Ernest Willis and Harold Bal-lagh. Low prizes were won by Mrs. Bryce Hagen and Tony Cieslinski. The next party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cieslinski on March 31. A potluck lunch was served.

Larry Silver spent Sunday with Gary and Tim Willis.

My Wife's Husband Is Very Misunderstood

By Dave Kraft

NOTE: The comments in the following article are not necessarily the opinion of the regular writer of this column. As a matter of fact, any resemblance to the regular writer of this column and the person herein described is purely coincidental. Besides, nobody likes a smarty-pants old woman!

At last! After weeks of abuse and caustic remarks by my other half, I am to be given the opportunity to strike back. I'd like to set a few things straight.

My husband is not the fair-haired boy he'd have everyone believe he is. True, he is kind to dumb animals and small children, but he is not without fault.

For one example, he sleeps too heavily. He is virtually in a trance upon waking up in the morning. He is also grouchy.

Without the slightest provocation he can turn into a reasonable facsimile of a bear coming out of hibernation. I usually serve him his breakfast on the end of a long stick.

He is not particularly quick witted upon waking up, either. Our bathroom door and basement door are right beside each other. On one occasion, he used the wrong door and I found him seconds later on the landing on his hands and knees, screaming that he couldn't find the light switch.

He has a normal husband's aversion to doing things around the house. I don't ask him to do much, just clean the gold fish water, take out the garbage and other minor jobs. I might as well ask him to move the house.

He is a great one for hanging up his clothes, too. The moment he hits the front door, he starts shedding things... his rubbers by the door, his coat on the nearest chair, his tie on the television set and his shoes wherever he happens to kick them.

Then comes the remark, "Boy, this place is a mess!" (The urge to kill.)

He gives compliments as if they were his life's blood and he were anemic. It does me little good to try to look nice when he comes home from work. Instead of telling me I look halfway decent, he usually asks, "Where ya goin'?"

Television is his downfall. Nothing, but nothing, is done around the house as long as the television is on, except during commercials. I imagine if the house were on fire, he'd make the firemen wait until there was a commercial before he'd let them put out the fire.

As a babysitter, he is a miserable failure. Particularly when it comes to changing diapers. If he were to change our baby, put her in a room with nine other babies that looked just like her, she'd be easy to recognize. She'd be the one with all her clothes on backwards.

These are just a few of his little peculiarities. I could go further, but I don't want to hurt his feelings. Besides, he does have some good features. He gives me his paycheck every week without cashing it.

ANOTHER NOTE: There is a very good reason why I bring my check home every week without cashing it. She has some phony arrangement with the bank and she has to co-sign all my checks. I'm checking with my lawyer to see if this is legal, and until I receive some word, I'll just have to keep on doing it.

Hybrid Test Results Available In New Free Folder

Performances of the 14 corn hybrids tested in Michigan in 1961 are compared by Michigan State University farm crops specialists in a revised bulletin now available to farmers, reports Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

The revised edition of Extension Folder F-67 compares each hybrid with other hybrids under equal soil and climate conditions. Average moisture content at harvest time, average yield in bushels per acre of shelled corn, and average percentage of stalk lodging are reported for each hybrid tested.

Tables give 2-year and 3-year averages for all hybrids. With three exceptions, hybrids in the trials were harvested with a picker-sheller. Moisture contents were determined from sheller grain samples.

In addition to its comparison of hybrids, the bulletin makes suggestions which will help farmers choose the best hybrid for their farms. Detailed recommendations for quackgrass control in corn are also included, said Ballweg.

Farmers can obtain the new folder from the county extension office, Courthouse, Caro, or by writing to the MSU Bulletin Office, East Lansing.

What follows is fact—not fiction—and no names have been changed to protect anybody.

Chapter I starts with style. It asks who is the only compact ever to receive the Society of Illustrators' award for design excellence. Answer: The Valiant Signet 200—America's lowest-priced hardtop with bucket seats—that's who! Read on...

Chapter II talks about performance. The Valiant can, and has, run circles around every competitively priced compact, including the Falcon, Corvair and Lark.

All of which leads many to suspect they know the plot—Valiant is priced with the so-called "super-compacts." Not so, reveals the surprise ending in Chapter III. Valiant is priced competitively, model for model, with Falcon, Corvair, Rambler and Lark.

Why not drive one this week? Could be you'll want to join those 347,000 folks for whom Valiant's a kind of love story that is continued every month. The title of our story: NOBODY BEATS VALIANT FOR VALUE!

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Ol' George Is Getting Smarter

By Ilene Warren

Last week, the river that meanders past our front yard was flooding its banks. Thursday morning, a roaming beagle and his nondescript companion wandered through our yard. George, one of our cats, was down by the river looking at the black water and trying, in his catlike way, to figure out why the river should interfere with his morning hunting jaunt. As the dogs ambled by, the beagle with his nose close to the ground, George - throwing discretion to the winds by not looking before he leaped - jumped for the nearest tree where he scrambled up to the safety of a limb. What he had failed to take into consideration was that the tree was surrounded by water, with about four feet between him and what was left of the second bank between our house and the river.

After the dogs had gone, leaving George perched high and dry in the tree, George discovered that it was easier to leap from dry land into the tree than it was going to be to jump back to the ground. I stood in the house watching and wondered if there was to be another "Warren to the Rescue" project (recalling a similar incident a few years ago) but George is getting to be a wise old cat and he figured he'd better get out of that tree before the water rose any higher. After a few hesitations he made the jump -- and didn't get too wet. Actually it paid off for him - he was permitted to enter the utility room to dry off!

A day in the life of a small child is just one long day's journey into night.

Spring hath sprung. The voice of the turtle is heard in the land. Crocuses and daffodils soon will be dotting the landscape with pastel blossoms. Last week, I anxiously awaited the complete melting of the snow to see if any of my posies were poking through the earth. But -- at the writing of this column, anyway -- the snow remains too much with us!

On Thursdays, my niece Evelyn, who lives with us, goes to Caro to do some work for my sister Lillian. Last Thursday was no exception. While Evelyn was gone, I spent about an hour looking for a mislaid letter. The reason the search took so long was that I kept finding other interesting items, each of which took a few minutes of my time. I didn't look too hard for the letter - just in the most probable places - which is likely why it wasn't found.

When Evelyn came home I commented, "I didn't find that letter despite my rather cursory search." "Well, shame on you," expostulated Evelyn. "That's probably why you didn't find it: You know you're not s'posed to swear!"

Weight Protection a Weighty Problem For Too Few (40) State Inspectors

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association
Consumer protection is a primary responsibility of the weights and measures division of the State Department of Agriculture.

The past calendar year was a busy one for the state unit when a number of short-weight outbreaks were noted in concentrated inspections of grocery stores.

In all, the department reported only 646 convictions for law violations. Some 248, or 38 per cent of these violations of weights and standards laws, were for short weight or short measure.

The number of convictions, however, do not clearly depict the department inspection activities. In reweighing or checking quantity, 171,020 packages were checked during the year and 39,740 were found to contain less than the quantity listed.

Many of these short-weight disclosures were corrected by the 805 seizures of the items, the department said.

Additionally, a total of 1,336 seizures or "stop sales" orders were placed on more than 10 million pounds of commodities which did not conform to the law.

Gov. John B. Swainson called for legislation this year to bone up the laws relating to weights and standards but ran head-long into a problem: enforcement.

Department officials pointed out that present laws could stand tightening, but even currently the major problem is the difficulty of using 40 inspectors and seven supervisors to check the estimated 75,000 establishments which come under the laws.

The Governor then called for legislation to help make every shopper an inspector, a bill which would require retail meat stores to provide a scale for the consumer to check weight. A first attempt to pass the measure failed in the Senate, but Sen. Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit, hoped to gain support for the proposal later in the session.

Trouble on the highways across the nation fails to lend itself to the uniform S.O.S. distress signal used on lakes and waterways. A uniform distress signal has been adopted, however, for use on freeways where getting out of a car to signal for help could cause additional trouble.

Weather permitting, the American Association of State Highway Officials advises motorists who need help on the freeway system to raise their car hoods and tie a white cloth to the door handle closer to passing traffic.

Under no circumstances should a motorist walk on a freeway. This makes him vulnerable to accidents or might cause a driver to swerve suddenly, the Association reports.

If the trouble occurs at night, motorists should have their tail lights and interior lights on in addition to raising the car hood. A turn light should also be left on so passing drivers won't mistake the vehicle location for the through traffic lane.

If a disabled vehicle blocks any part of a traffic lane, other warning devices, flares, flashing lights, lanterns or reflectors, should also be used to warn oncoming traffic.

Parental pressure on youth preparing for college can be deterrent to success in full utilization of the youth's own aims, the Michigan Education Association says.

Theoretically, there may be one perfect college for each child, but the Association warns that parents who emphasize the importance of gaining entrance to "the school" can cause unintended problems.

"While your child is waiting for acceptance by a college, help him realize that his success does not depend upon admission to any one college," the professional organization advises. "No matter where he goes, he's likely to find more books than he can read in four years, more equipment than he can master, and teachers who will be wiser than he is even when he is a senior."

The association advises parents to remember that regardless of enrollment pressures at a given institution, "somewhere in the nation there is still space in an accredited college for every high school graduate."

How healthy are you? The answer may surprise you, according to the State Health Department.

A recent sampling of Michigan's population told the department that nearly two of every five persons in the state between the ages of 21 and 70 need to see their doctor. In a testing of some 639 persons, the department measured height, weight and blood pressure and tested the blood and urine. Some 249 of the persons showed some abnormality and 134 were referred to their physician.

The results showed little difference between the sexes. About 40 per cent of the men and 39 per cent of the women exhibited some irregularity.

Most prevalent abnormality was disproportionate height-weight measurements. Abnormal blood pressure of high levels of sugar in the blood or urine were also found in many of the persons who considered themselves in perfect health.

Stubbornness is more of a sign of weakness than strength.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:
I was reading this piece yesterday by one of them Washington column writers where he was wondering about the proper way to eat corn on the cob if he was invited to the White House. He don't know if he ought to hold his head still and move the ear of corn, or move his head and hold the corn still. This proves a couple things about Washington column writers. They have run out of somepun to write about and they ain't had much experience with eating corn on the cob. I ain't shore what is proper at the White House, but this feller will find that moving the head in one direction and the corn in the other at the same time is the best fer greatest speed and efficiency. It is also very proper at my house.

Incidental, it seems to me the human race is paying more attention to this eating business than ever before in my life time. About half the stuff you read in the papers and magazines these days, especial the sections fer wimmen, in the big dailies, is about eating.

For instant, I see in the paper today where a child expert says if you have company and ain't got room fer everybody to eat at once, to feed the younguns afore the adults eat. That's a heap different from the way I was raised. When we had company to eat, which was about all the time, the younguns had to wait till the grown-ups got their fill afore we got a mouthful. That's why I was 16 years old afore I knowed a chicken had anything but neck and feet.

And I was reading a magazine piece the other day where them science fellers with the National Institute of Health has come up with a food made out of coal, air and water that is so concentrated a small factory can produce enough of it to feed millions of people. They claim it contains everthing the human body needs to keep healthy.

I got a hunch it don't taste none too good and ain't liable to put the farmer and rancher out of business, but I was thinking we might use it to put them Communists out of business. The people with empty stomachs is the ones most apt to swallow the doctrine of Communism. We could set up these factories in countries where folks is starving to death and feed all the hungry at a small cost. It would be a hard blow to Communism in countries like China, fer instant.

But on account of me not going to Harvard, I ain't on the President's board of advisers and it would be a heap better fer my Congressman—and he didn't go to Harvard neither—to write Bobby Kennedy a letter. Well, Mister Editor, I got to quit now and go see what my old lady is cooking fer supper.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

John Zinnecker Area Swamps Were Dismal Repairs Shoes

This week's photograph depicts a scene in the shoe repairing shop of John Zinnecker. The picture, taken about 1920, is of the shop located in the basement of the Crosby Building where both Mr. Zinnecker and Mr. Peter Webber were employed. Business was usually slack in summer months, for in those days of "barefoot boys" there were fewer repair jobs at that time of year. Mr. Zinnecker started work as a shoe repairman for J. D. Crosby in 1882 when Crosby's store was located on the corner where Bigelow Hardware now is. Mr. Zinnecker continued in the shoe repair business until his death in the early twenties, when this business was located in the shop illustrated here.

(Photograph contributed by Mrs. Anna Thiel, daughter, who now resides in Gary, Indiana.)

The following are excerpts from the diary kept by O. H. Perry of Cleveland who made a hunting expedition through this area in 1852, accompanied by Fred Deming:

"Sept. 25th. Our camp was by the side of a swale filled with water and the woods which were very dense were mostly hemlock. I lost my pencil this night; was fearful that I should not be able to make any further record of our expedition but Fred soon relieved me on the score by handing me a black lead pencil.

"Sept. 26th. Left our camp of last night ten minutes past six this morning and very shortly came to a... thick cedar swamp... this swamp was of considerable extent. Fred in climbing over the tops of some slimy logs slipped off and sprained his knee. After forcing through this swamp, which was some three miles wide, we then came to a large, dark, dismal looking tamarack swamp which we dreaded to enter but, our course lying through it, we plunged into it and found it very wet, mucky and miry, we frequently sinking in above our knees and compelled much of the way to jump from the roots of one tree to those of another, and often stepping on what we supposed to be a hillock we would break through and we would go in to our middle. At last we came to a thick black alder swamp of great width which we used up that I proposed to Fred to climb a tree and see if he could discover an opening

Cass City Fair Draws Big Crowd

In 1904, the Cass City Fair was held the first week in October. An item in the Shabbona News for the October 14th issue of the Tri-County Chronicle reads as follows: "Our town seemed almost uninhabited last week as nearly all attended the Cass City fair."

The same issue of the Tri-County Chronicle declared the fair a huge success. The following excerpt from this issue indicates that it was certainly interesting: "On Wednesday afternoon the trotting ostrich, 'Black Diamond,' gave two exhibitions of his speed which attracted a larger crowd than ever gathered on Wednesday in other years. On Thursday the other attractions proved to be better than advertised. Chicot, the monkey, gave a little performance of his own not on the program by getting away after looping the loop and making for a nearby fence. The chain on his neck caught in the fence just as he was going over and held him captive or he probably would have been at large yet."

anywhere. Fred mounted a tree and took a survey but he could see nothing but a dense alder swamp. Going higher up the tree he saw an opening which crooked around through the swamp and pointing in the direction of it, I took the point of the compass and when he came down we headed for it and soon reached a little creek, some three feet wide, which we knew was one of the heads of the Cass River."

Mr. Perry continued following the Cass River, eventually reaching Saginaw on October 14th. Other excerpts from Mr. Perry's diary will be printed later.
