Set Dates for Open House at Training Center

Area residents will have the opportunity to see what their donations to the Tuscola County Association for Retarded Children are used for this week end.

For, on Saturday and Sunday, April 7-8, the Association is holding an open house at the training center for retarded children at the corner of Graf and Van Gieson Road in Caro. The hours are from 2 to 5 p.m.

An estimated 20 retarded children are now receiving instruction at the center under the direction of three teachers. Margaret Osgerby is the supervisor. She is assisted by Irene Bigsby and Dorothy Benaway.

The program conducted by the Association is separate from the special education classes now conducted at various schools and financed through a special three-quarter mill tax approved last year by the voters.

The center is for children that are not able to benefit from the special education classes. The work is financed through donations.

Fund Raising Begins For Gagetown Park

Gagetown residents are again promoting money-making projects to raise funds to continue improving their community park, according to reports from village club leaders.

The annual Style Show and Dessert is scheduled for Thursday, April 26. The annual Rummage Sale will be in May, with the date to be announced later, and scrap iron donated to the cause will again be collected at Commert's Garage.

As in the past, the money raised will go toward repairs and development of the village's park. The project was started three years ago by the Gagetown Woman's Study Club.

In conjunction with the project, Gagetown President Joe Mosack has proclaimed Saturday, April 28, as Arbor Day and shrubs will be planted and the park cleaned up for the coming season.

Improvements this year include a backdrop for the tennis courts. Some of the certificates sold in 1959 on a five-year plan will also be redeemed.

Cass City Hospital Also Has Isolette

Cutlines under a picture in last week's Chronicle stated that the new Isolette given to Hills and Dales General Hospital was the only one in the Thumb.

It has since been pointed out that Cass City Hospital has had an Isolette for the past two years.

The Cass City Hospital Isolette, manufactured by Armstrong Company, was purchased through gift donations.

Two other hospitals in the Thumb also have Isolettes.

The Isolette is used for premature babies and allows complete care, via plastic covered openings without exposing the baby to temperature changes.

Incubators differ in that the baby must be taken out for general care.

Take Four Out of 10 Places

Two Firsts Won At Forensic Meet

Cass City High School speech students swept the District Forensic Contest Tuesday, at Crosswell-Lexington, taking two first places and two second places out of a possible ten places. The next step for the winners, according to Marvin Hanck, speech director, will be the regional contest.

Sally Edzik took second place in original oration and Sharon Profit copped a second place in the declamation category.

There were five categories, each offering a first and second

Joseph W. Thompson, director of the school of hotel management at Michigan State University, East Lansing, will be the guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, Tuesday, April 10, at Cass City High School at 7:00 p. m.

He will give an enlightening and interesting talk on sales, motivation, and marketing.

An estimated 125 Cass City businessmen and their wives are expected to attend the annual affair to hear Mr. Thompson speak and to see the 1962-63 officers installed.

New officers are Richard Erla, president; Lloyd Bryant, vice-president; George Clara, secretary, and C. M. Wallace, treasurer. Wallace is the outgoing Chamber secretary and Clinton Law is the retiring vice-president.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from any Chamber of Commerce board member.

In other action by the Chamber, the Board of Directors decided to discontinue the annual Cass City Home-coming at a meeting Tuesday night, after tabulation of voting by local merchants showed that they were no longer in favor of the event.

According to Gerald Priesskorn, retiring president, the voting was close and the defeat was passed by only a slight margin.

In other Chamber business, five new members were named to the Board of Directors. They are Lucille Bauer, Cliff Ferguson, Bill Kritzman, Gib Albee and Bill Hunter.

Hunter was named to fill the two-year vacancy left when Bob Baur moved from Cass City. Going off the Board are Al Freiburger, Tom Jackson, Phil Retherford and Clinton Law.

Six Grass Fires Reported During Month of March

Bulletin: Fast action early Tuesday morning by Elkland township firemen kept a grass fire from destroying a barn and adjacent buildings at the August LaJoie farm, six miles south, two east and one and a quarter miles south of Cass City.

According to Fritz Neitzel, treasurer, the firemen spent two hours bringing the fire under control and cleaning up.

Four brush fires caused by burning rubbish were brought under control by Elkland township volunteer firemen during the past week, according to a report by Fritz Neitzel treasurer.

The latest fire reported took place Monday at approximately 3 p.m. in Deford, south of the Allen service station.

Two of the fires were called in on Thursday, March 29. The first, shortly after noon, was four miles east of Cass City on M-53 at the Bernard Clark residence.

The second, at about 5:30 p.m., was at the Fred Iseler residence, one mile east and a quarter north.

The third fire happened on Tuesday, March 27, at the Hoedley Gas Station three miles north on M-53.

The four fires brought the total to six grass fires for the month of March. Two house fires and one gas can fire were also reported during the month.

WINTER TIME JOB—Lester Evens, left, and Grant Hutchinson, right, area cash crop farmers, built a bean header for their combines three years ago. The implement was so popular with neighboring farmers that the men decided to go into commercial production and now average 38 headers per season. They work only during the winter months. Here they examine some welding just completed by Lee Moffet.

Build Bean Headers For Winter Income

For most area farmers, winter means a period of relative inactivity and minimum income.

Two Cass City cash crop farmers, Lester Evens and Grant Hutchinson, have found a way to keep busy during the winter and bolster their incomes.

The pair are partners in a firm that specializes in building bean headers for all makes of combines. The finished product retails for $450.

What began as an improvement for their own machinery has developed into a December to April job of building headers for local dealers and individual farmers and dealers throughout the state.

The firm, called simply, Evens and Hutchinson, was actually started in 1949 by Evens. At that time, he specialized in re-converting threshing machines into pick-up beaners.

Hutchinson joined Evens in 1954, but it wasn't until 1959 that the men developed the bean header.

Local farmers saw how well the header worked and from then on, the business jumped to such proportions that the re-converting of threshers was forgotten.

The men have sold orders to local dealers and dealers in St. Louis, Edmore, Brant, Marlette and Reese.

The header looks like a miniature hay loader and works on much the same principle. Rotary tines lift the beans off the ground and pull them onto the header. Rake bars pull the beans into the combine.

Everything is made at the firm's Doerr Road location in a 40 x 40-foot workshop. The only items not made at the shop are bearings and pulleys.

The various parts are cut out with the aid of jigs and patterns, assembled, mostly through welding, and then painted. All machining is also done at the shop.

It takes the firm's four-man crew three days to complete a single header. Their average winter output has been 38 headers and the same amount is anticipated for this season.

Besides Evens and Hutchinson, two other men, Lee Moffet and Leslie Profit, both cash crop raisers, work at the shop during the winter months.

Evens rents and works 260 acres during the summer. His home is adjacent to the workshop. Hutchinson farms 320 acres north of Cass City, 160 of his own and another 160 that he rents.

Moffet has a 160-acre farm and Profit farms 200 acres. Profit differs from the others in that he has a small beef herd.

The men do not plan to enlarge the firm or go into the business full-time, according to Evens. "It's just a winter job," confirms Hutchinson.

Cass City Persons Hospitalized

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Willis and two children, Ruth Ann and James, were involved in an auto accident near Deckerville Wednesday night, March 21.

The Willis had been in the area due to the death of a brother-in-law, Harold Welbanks. As they were backing out of a driveway about 11 p.m., they were hit by Russell Wheeler of Carsonville, who was reportedly intoxicated. Wheeler also did not have his lights on.

Mrs. Willis and children were taken to the Deckerville hospital and were then transferred to Hills and Dales General Hospital. Mrs. Willis was discharged Monday and the two children were discharged Saturday. Mr. Willis was not hospitalized.

Their automobile was completely demolished.

Krause Violates Probation, Given Jail Sentence

An Essexville man, charged with probation violation, was given a 3-14 year sentence on a forgery charge and a 3-10 year sentence on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, in a Circuit Court session Wednesday, March 28.

The two sentences, given to Ferdinand Albert Joseph Krause by Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn, are to run concurrently at Jackson Prison.

Krause was put on probation earlier in the year after being found guilty of committing forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses on Jan. 13 in Vassar.

Krause broke his probation by committing bigamy. He was allegedly married Feb. 24 without obtaining a divorce from his first wife.

Lions Schedule "Review for '62"

"Review for '62", a talent and musical show sponsored by the Cass City Lions Club, is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, May 3-4, at 8:00 p. m. at the Cass Theatre.

The Review will take the place of the annual Minstrel Show and will feature talent from the area.

Prospects Again Bright for Thumb B Loop Crowns in Baseball and Track

Prospects are bright for the Cass City Red Hawks as practice swung into high gear for both baseball and track, as first contests are rapidly approaching.

After a seventh-place finish in basketball and a third-place finish in football, Hawk fans will welcome a chance for a pair of championships in spring sports.

The Cass City Red Hawks will be gunning for their eighth straight Thumb B Conference track crown this spring and 31 boys reported for opening practice as Coach Mike Yedinak started looking for replacements for departed stars.

The best have left. Last year's championship unit was headed by State Champion Paul Holmberg. Other speedsters who piled up points in every meet were Tim Anthes, Bob Wright and Marvin McCormick.

Despite the loss, the Hawks will be favored again to cop the championship. The team stacks up, in Yedinak's estimation, as strong in the distance events, 880-yard relay and the hurdles.

The dashes are a question mark and the field events weak. "We won the conference under-

From the Editor's Corner

Since the Cass City Chamber of Commerce voted to abandon the Home-coming, Cass City stands virtually alone in Thumb communities not offering this type event.

In Tuscola County, for instance, Fairgrove has the Bean Festival; Vassar, the Cork Pine Fair; Gagetown, the annual firemen's rally, and Caro, the Tuscola County Fair and the Home-coming -- to mention a few that we can recall offhand.

The decision to abandon (or continue) the Home-coming was an almost impossible one for the board to resolve. Members voting were about equally split in the voting to determine whether to continue or not.

There was no doubt that the event was popular with many area residents. An informal poll conducted by the Chronicle two or three years ago when the same question came up showed that all area residents queried were heartily in favor of the annual event.

Possibly its biggest attraction to farm folk living in the area was the 4-H and FFA show which gave youngsters a chance to exhibit and learn in preparation for the bigger shows that follow.

Two Fined for Reckless Driving

Two out-of-town drivers were arrested and fined on charges of reckless driving in Cass City during the past week, according to a report from Village officer Ed Anthes.

Francis C. Champagne, 66, Kingston, paid a fine and costs of $30.35, Thursday, March 29, after pleading guilty in Justice Court to reckless driving charges.

A complaint filed by Nelson Gremel, Cass City Wednesday, March 28, charged Champagne with reckless driving on South Seeger Street.

James H. Heal, 41, Davison, was arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff William Schram and charged with reckless driving. Heal was lodged in the county jail and when arraigned Monday in Justice Court, pleaded guilty and was given a fine and costs of $31.68.

Elsewhere on the village traffic scene, a car owned by Eli Holes, Cass City, was totaled Tuesday morning when it was struck by another car driven by Mrs. Lila Heck, 43, Pigeon.

The force of the collision drove the Holes' vehicle into another owned by Jerry Shea, Cass City. The Shea car reportedly suffered slight damage.

According to Officer Anthes, Mrs. Heck reported that she lost control of her car when she turned her attention to her seven-year-old son who had just had a tooth pulled.

Damage to the Heck car was estimated at about $600.00.

Walbro Tells Changes in Key Company Posts

Floyd R. Stevenson of Chicago was elected a corporate Vice-President in charge of all marketing activities, at the meeting of the Walbro board of directors following the annual stockholders' meeting in March. He had previously been vice-president-sales of the recently acquired Walbro subsidiary, Dupree Products Corporation.

All other corporate officers were re-elected by the directors. All directors were retained in office by the stockholders.

"This is the obvious consequence of the completion, during 1961, of the major expansion and diversification program which was started some two years before," says President Walter E. Walpole. "The year of 1961 brought both Arjay Manufacturing Company, Vassar, and Dupree Products Company, formerly of Toledo, Ohio, into the Walbro family. Walbro's ability to serve industry is now much wider, and we have 'tailored' the sales organization to make it possible to give that service more effectively."

Area township meetings Saturday were marked by poor attendance and limited business, according to reports by the various township officials.

Just 20 persons attended the annual Elkland township meeting Saturday to okay a continuance of the township's road program and a donation to Cass City Hospital.

After considerable discussion, the voters authorized $1,000 to the Cass City Hospital for construction, by a 16-4 margin.

The annual donation of $400 for operation of the summer playground at Cass City Recreational Park was approved by voice vote.

The accelerated township road program started last year will be continued in 1962, if the township again receives two mills from the tax allocation board.

Last year around $10,000 was spent for roads for grading, draining and blacktopping. Voters authorized as much this year.

To be completed will be the hard surfacing of the remainder of the road a mile east of Cass City between Bay City-Forestville Road and M-81.

Preparation of the road a mile west of Cass City for one mile north of M-81 was also authorized, provided enough donations from adjacent landowners are received.

When roads are hard surfaced, maintenance costs shift from the township to the county.

Supervisor Ed Golding also explained that the township has started a sinking fund for a new fire truck. This year $7,000 was shifted to this fund.

Clerk Charles Patterson was unable to attend the meeting because of illness. It marked the first annual meeting in 33 years that he had not attended.

Elmwood Township Elmwood township residents voted unanimously to donate $250.00 to Cass City Hospital for construction, according to Supervisor Milton Hofmeister.

In other business, voters decided to continue the policy of setting aside money to purchase fire equipment and $1,700 was set aside. The same amount was set aside last year.

Novesta Township Four persons attended the Novesta township meeting and according to Supervisor Gail Parrott, aside from reviewing the financial statement, no business was conducted.

Evergreen Township Evergreen township Supervisor Arthur Craig reports that voters decided to continue road work repairs for the coming year. No blacktop will be laid, however, nor will any grading be done.

A new plat of the township cemetery was made and brought up to date and presented to the township board by Virginia and Clair Auslander.

Road signs painted by the Shabbona Extension Club were reported finished and put in place.

An estimated 20 persons attended the meeting.

Greenleaf Township The eight persons present at the Greenleaf township meeting approved the financial condition of the township and voted one mill for township purposes, according to Supervisor Stanley Wills.

Two-year-old Boy Drowns Tuesday In Dredge Cut

Kenneth Lee Turner, two-year-old son of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Turner, Bay Port, drowned early Tuesday afternoon after he fell from a three-foot sea wall into the Doerfner dredge cut at Bay Port.

According to a report by Haron county Chief Deputy Sheriff Henry Eppenbrock, the boy, who had wandered away from his home near-by, fell off the sea wall and into mush ice and drowned.

A report by investigating officers stated that the boy's father missed him about 1:00 p.m. but thought he was with his mother. After contacting his wife and finding that the child was not with her, he began searching for him.

He found the boy's body at about 2:15 p.m.

A resuscitator from an area fire department and heart massage by Dr. C. S. Elliott, Pigeon, failed to revive the child and he was pronounced dead by Haron county coroner James Colgan, Elkton.

Rev. Turner is the Bay Port Methodist minister. The Turners have a daughter Cathy, five.

The child's body is at the Shetler Funeral Home, Pigeon. Funeral arrangements are pending.

"Men of Music" Concert May Be First in Series

The "Men of Music" Choral Concert, slated for Sunday, April 8, in the High School Auditorium at 3:30 p. m., if successful, may be the first in a series of fine music presentations in Cass City, according to Band Booster officials.

The 44-member chorus, originally the Dow Male Chorus, Midland, is nationally known, and is directed by Dr. Theodore Vosburgh, executive director of the newly enlarged Midland Music Foundation.

Money from such programs sponsored by the Cass City Band Boosters Club, is used by the club to send various band students to band camps at Michigan State University and at Interlochen, and for instruments, medals and other band items.

Ticket sales, as of Tuesday, were lagging and Booster officials are urging those expecting to attend to buy tickets early and avoid the last minute rush.

For other information, see the page ad in this issue of the Chronicle.

Landscape Clinic To Offer Valuable Better Lawn Tips

Everyone notices a well kept, pleasingly landscaped home and admires the "green thumb" ability of the owner.

The keys to an appealing yard are few and the know-how is not difficult to learn. In fact, reports Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture, a few tools, basic knowledge of desirable materials, and how to manage the lawn and shrubbery is about all that is needed.

During the April 5 Tuscola County Landscape Clinic, specialists from Michigan State University will demonstrate just how easy it is. They will talk about making a landscape plan, selecting landscape materials, how to plant, prune and care for these materials. They will explain the tools needed and how to use them. How to establish, maintain and care for the lawn will cover a range of ideas from lawn grass disease and desirable lawn turf mixtures to cultural practices. Also, the control of insects and diseases of landscape materials will not be overlooked.

The clinic will start at 1 p. m. in the Wilbur Memorial 4-H Building at the county fairgrounds in Caro. The clinic will adjourn at 5 p. m. An evening program is scheduled from 7 to 9 p. m.

Displays of landscape materials, tools for yard and grounds, lawn care materials and outdoor lighting will be shown.

Door prizes will be given throughout the day. The Tuscola County 4-H Council with the 4-H Mothers' Club are donating landscape materials for the planting demonstration.

The clinic is free to the public and everyone interested is welcome, remarks Kebler.

Early Fertilizing Increases Profits

Immediately after planting oats, a topdressing of nitrogen will increase yields of crude protein, cause little or no lodging and the practice is economically sound.

This holds true for wheat also, reports Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture, and the earlier the better.

Fertilizer trial results on wheat for the Saginaw Valley area showed that money spent for fertilizer could return four to five times its cost through increased wheat yields. These results indicated that wheat yields responded most to nitrogen applications in Gratiot and Huron counties. Phosphate was found to be most important in Saginaw and Tuscola counties; and in general the most profitable fertilizer combinations for the entire area were an application of 50 lbs. of nitrogen and 20 lbs. of phosphorus per acre. The return over fertilizer cost was $110 per acre.

Topdressing of alfalfa with a mixture of phosphorus and potassium at 250 to 300 lbs. per acre increased alfalfa yields to over 4½ tons per acre of top quality hay. Field studies of boron for alfalfa are being made at the Ronald Hampshire farm, Deford, and Ronald Opperman farm, Vassar. Indications are that alfalfa could be needing boron.

Kebler mentioned also that there are still many acres of soil in the county that need lime and the crops are not yielding as they could be expected to.

Magnesium is still not needed on most soils, according to a three-year Michigan State University study. We may be having deficiencies showing up in the future. Their findings show that magnesium caused little or no response in field crop yields. This nutrient did increase the uptake of other chemicals by crops—especially potatoes and cucumbers. Magnesium shortages are most often found in coarse textured acid soils, and sometimes where both calcium and magnesium are needed, dolomitic limestone meets the needs.

Kebler pointed out that specific crop fertilizer needs are best based on soil test results. Each field and each crop must be handled by itself. Tuscola County has available soil testing and sampling services to help determine crop fertilizer needs. Visit the County Extension Office and learn about this soil sampling and testing service.

"Compromise" Creates Criticism For Republican Con-Con Delegates

Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Republican delegates to the Constitutional Convention were sharply criticized recently when reports were published about a "secret trade" being made to assure agreement on several sections of the document being prepared.

There were charges that "principles are being compromised," by naive supporters of some of the delegates.

It is a well known and hard political fact that the basis for most legislative action is compromise, although this word can be given a negative connotation by people seeking political advantages who can find no better issue.

It now appears the only great "sin" involved in the compromise worked out by differing viewpoints within the Con-Con's GOP ranks was the "deal" was so openly made public.

At nearly the same time the Con-Con deal was made known, another "compromise" was being worked out between Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature. The single issue involved was not as important as the several constitutional provisions so it did not gain as much attention from the public or politicians.

A newspaper reporter who wrote that a "gentlemen's agreement" was being attempted, however, was severely criticized for putting the pending "deal" in print.

It appears inconsistent that all politicians freely admit, off the record, that they are willing to compromise for the public good, but they refuse to let the public know when they have reached a compromise. And it seems hypocritical for those who understand the value of compromise to rant against those who try to reconcile differences so that progress can result.

A substantial share of an $8 million Congressional appropriation for manpower training may be available to Michigan because of the state's high unemployment rate.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett reports the training program would be of special benefit to high school dropouts and graduates unable to find work.

"Both the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor have indicated that Michigan is in the top group of states in the nation with high unemployment and will eligible for a substantial share of the funds," Bartlett said. The Federal act authorized a $485 million appropriation over a three-year period to help train thousands of unemployed who lost their jobs or others unable to find work because of automation.

Enabling legislation to allow Michigan to accept funds provided under the Federal law has passed in the House and is under consideration by the Senate. The bill provides for administration of the funds through the State Board of Control for Vocational Education.

No state funds would be needed to administer the program, Bartlett said, although the Department of Public Instruction and the Michigan Employment Security Commission would participate in it also.

Under the programs, benefits also would be available to train unemployed adults and farm families with incomes of less than $1,200 a year.

Where does the money go? A study by the Michigan Citizens Research Council shows some $508 million of Michigan's money during the past eight fiscal years went to create and pay for 90 programs which did not exist prior to 1956.

Included were 27 new programs in the general field of education and 20 in general government operations. New programs were also added during the period in public health, mental hygiene, public welfare, safety and defense, regulatory services, conservation, recreation and agriculture.

An indication of how the addition of relatively small inexpensive programs add up is seen in the Council's fact sheet on the new state services.

In the education category, for example, a $900 appropriation was made in 1956 for state historical markers. The following two years saw the money spent on this government service triple before it dropped back and evened off at below $1,000 a year.

Over the period since 1956, however, more than $51,000 has been spent for historical markers.

The new services and agencies dramatize how changing conditions create new needs. The list includes watercraft registration, civil defense programs, driver education, a survey of air pollution, mental institutions, a board of veterinary examiners, race track improvements, and emergency highway patrols.

This capsule summary of some of the new programs which cost money to the Michigan taxpayer points up the problems facing the Legislature each year.

Who can say that emergency highway patrols were not needed when traffic fatalities were increasing annually between 1957 and 1959? What man could win an argument that a board of veterinary examiners was not needed when the vets themselves asked for a regulatory agency to police their own profession?

How much support could be gained for the contention that the increasing number of boats in use in Michigan did not warrant a registration system similar to motor vehicle registration?

The Council report indicates there was little support for keeping these and the other 80 plus programs out of the state budget. A need was evidenced for each of them. Few, however, have been dropped entirely even if the need no longer exists.

A SEASONAL AILMENT

Any tire expert has seen numerous cases of brand new tires worn completely bald of tread in fifty miles or less due to faulty alignment.

This is often the case after a front end collision at high speed has left the steering mechanism out of kilter. The tire is then in effect pushed sideways over the road, rubbing off the rubber much like a pencil eraser is rubbed on paper.

You don't have to hunt very far at this time of year to find a road with potholes. Or know why they acquired the "pothole" tag. Some of the worst ones are big enough to bury a pot in and they can cook up plenty of trouble for your front end alignment.

A tire striking a pothole at high speed is usually forced into another direction than the one it was traveling due to the contour of the hole. The tremendous weight of the car, measuring up to hundreds of foot-tons, continues to bear down upon the alignment mechanism. Something has to give and the tightened joints do just that.

The result is difficult steering and a tire worn out thousands of miles before its time. If the misalignment is bad enough, the resulting wear can destroy a tire before you even notice what is taking place.

If you've been driving through the past winter, the chances are your steering needs alignment now to prevent costly tire damage. If it doesn't, an inspection at our garage will cost nothing and give you peace of mind.

May I have this opportunity to express my feelings about your Hills and Dales Hospital. I spent a total of 85 days there. I have been in several different hospitals and received good care, but nothing compared to the care you receive at Hills and Dales. It's a place where everyone is so friendly, helpful, kind and considerate, so interested in helping to make you well again. It's a place where everyone employed there, right from your director, Mr. Palm, through every employee, has a smile, a cheery hello and how are you today. You know it takes more than just medicine to make a person well and Hills and Dales has an abundance of it. It isn't just a nice big building sitting on a hill, it's a place that gives from the heart every minute of the day. So you people in Cass City have something you can be mighty proud of, your new hospital and Dr. Donahue.

Cass City Chronicle,
Cass City, Mich.
Dear Editor,

Time again to have our address changed. Beginning with the first issue in April, send our paper to our Cass City, R-3 address. We do appreciate its pages during our stay here.

We are completing our ninth winter (?) in Florida. Some ask, "What do you do with your time?" Did you ever wish you had time to visit and entertain your friends and correspond with absent ones? This is the time and place.

We have called in 30 homes of friends and enjoyed the visits in our trailer of 82. Twelve of these were Cass City folks and 45 of them Michiganders.

Have corresponded with over 40 friends since Christmas.

The park has had as many as 60 trailers in it most of the time. 31 were Michigan folks with 17 other states and provinces represented. If you like to meet folks and make friends, a trailer park is an excellent place.

Please have all the snowbanks removed by the 15th of April. We plan to leave the 5th, but will do some visiting on the way.

Richard Palm, Hills and Dales administrator, was guest speaker. He talked briefly about the hospital, telling about equipment and various departments.

His talk was followed by an hour-long question and answer period on general hospital procedures and on specific questions about drugs, room charges and visiting hours.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at the Methodist Church Tuesday, April 17, honoring Mrs. Zaio Schroeder, a Detroit attorney. She is well known through the state and general federation, and is a candidate for recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Guests are invited to attend the open meeting and tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Keith McConkey or Mrs. Margaret Haire.

Fly-Tying Season

Here's a good way for trout fishermen to while away the long wintry nights leading up to Michigan's April 28 opener. Needed in "tooling up" for fly tying are a vise, scissors, hackle pliers, hook, head cement, thread, colored yarn, brown or grizzly cock neck skin with feathers attached, a little chenille, and a chunk of deer hair. With this, you'll be ready to tie almost any fly needed to catch trout in Michigan. The patterns of flies shown above are perhaps best to start on for they fit in with the season-long scheme of fishing. Some help from a fly-tying buddy may ease the way over a rough spot or two. Come this spring, you'll get an extra thrill of catching those tricky trout with some of your own flies.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Slate Mass Meeting for Bean Growers

A mass meeting of Michigan bean growers to attack the problem of market development for dry edible beans will be held in Saginaw April 18 under the sponsorship of the Michigan Bean Shippers Association. Michigan leads the nation in the production of beans, growing about 36 per cent of the total U. S. annual output.

Faced on the one hand with the ability and desire of farmers to turn out big crops year after year and on the other hand by the restricting encroachment of government controls and regimentation of agriculture, there's a positive need in the Michigan bean industry for a dynamic program of market development to expand our outlets for Michigan beans, according to Maurice A. Doan, executive secretary of the Michigan Bean Shippers Association, Saginaw.

There is pressing need, Doan said, for unified action by the bean industry, both growers and shippers, to get this self-help program rolling and on other industry problems.

"Unless we take action as an industry to solve our own problems, we can expect the government to move in with controls, allotments, quotas and all of the supply-marketing management gimmicks they have tried with little success in other crops," Doan declared.

The Saginaw meeting will be held in the Saginaw Auditorium in downtown Saginaw starting at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 18. A complimentary luncheon will be served to all growers attending the meeting. Admission to the meeting will be by complimentary tickets which can be obtained from local member elevators of MBSA or from the county agricultural agents in the bean area counties.

The annual pay-to-play dessert luncheon for members and guests is scheduled Tuesday, May 15.

Memorial Dedication Service Scheduled At Grant Church

Grant Methodist Church will hold a Memorial and Dedication Worship Service Sunday, April 8, at 11:30 a.m., according to a news release from Rev. Frank J. Greer, pastor.

A large cross, given as a memorial to Catherine, Helen and Charles Britt, will be presented and a registry and stand, given as a memorial to Mrs. Pauline McCallum, will also be presented.

New carpeting, a gift of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will be dedicated during the service.

A basket dinner in the church basement will follow the Morning Worship Service. The public is invited to attend.

Artificial feeding "seems" like the easy out for hungry deer during Michigan's winters. But, what looks good in the "back yards" of hunting clubs and resorts, suddenly runs into big problems when applied to the sprawling winter range of whitetails in this state. First off, artificial feeding causes deer to "gang up" in feeding areas, promoting further overbrowsing on natural winter foods. Limited artificial feeding might be useful under some short-term emergencies, but on a large scale it could pyramid Michigan's deer-winter food problem unless surplus animals were harvested each fall. The only lasting solutions for a healthier herd are regular and limited special seasons coupled with commercial tree cuttings and other range improvement programs; they can bring deer numbers and the carrying capacity of their range into balance to hold food shortage problems to a minimum. Besides doing more harm than good to the herd's winter range, a large-scale feeding program would face staggering costs even with the help of a new federal law which will provide surplus grain for deer and other wildlife during emergencies.—Mich. Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where them stockpile officials in Washington has sold another 53,000 pounds of Chinese feathers. This feller J. G. Harlan that's in charge of stockpiling operations, told Senator Douglas they had a over abundance of Chinese feathers and was gradual gitting this item cut down. He said they took a $52,000 loss on this last sale but, very confidential, these Chinese feathers wasn't up to the latest Government specifications. This stockpiling situation come up at the country store Saturday night and some of the fellers said they was a little hazy on the details of this whole operation.

Ed Doolittle, fer instant, said he wasn't worried about the $52,000 loss, allowed as how nothing under a billion dollars was important to them Congressmen no more. But Ed said he couldn't git to sleep at night fer worrying about what kind of feathers them Chinese was selling us. Was we stockpiling goose feathers, chicken feathers, duck feathers, or was they some sort of rare feathers that we ain't got here at home? Ed figgered if they was just plain old chicken feathers the Government could buy a million pounds of 'em right here at home real cheap, and he was shore they would come up to the latest Government specifications.

Clem Webster said he wasn't wasting no sleep worrying over the kind of feathers, but the thing that had him setting up at night was what the Defense Department was doing with them feathers. Was they using 'em fer pillows, fer mattresses, or was they just making swivel-chair cushions out of 'em fer the stockpiling officials to set on?

It was voted, Mister Editor, fer you to git a letter off to our Congressman and see if he can clear up these little details. But the fellers don't want you to git nasty with him about the matter. Zeke Grubb pointed out that some improvements is being made already in this situation. Zeke said he was reading a piece in the papers where we had enough strategic materials stockpiled in 1950 to fight four wars, and now we got it down to three wars. Zeke allows as how this is real progress and you should give our Congressman a pat on the back fer this accomplishment. But one thing, Zeke said, was worrying him and he wished you'd ask our Congressman about it. Back in 1950 when we was stockpiled fer four wars, the storage on these items was costing us only $18 million a year, and now, when we're down to three wars, it's running $14 million.

As soon as you git a reply back, Mister Editor, let us hear from you.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Daffodils Were A Pleasant Surprise

By Ilene Warren

"I wandered lonely as a cloud that floats on high o'er vales and hills, when all at once I saw a crowd, a host, of golden daffodils." Although my solitary wandering was through one of those enchanted places - the five and dime - and the host of daffodils was discovered at one of the counters, still "my heart with pleasure" filled.

While daffodils are much lovelier in their natural setting, it is still a pleasant surprise suddenly to come upon them in a dime store display. Their bright golden beauty convinces one that spring is truly here.

And spring IS here. Last Thursday was much too beautiful a day to spend inside writing my column - since I'd much rather live a column than write one, I sauntered outside to do a little wandering. The weather was really balmy with the sun shining off and on.

The birds "out our way" have been practicing every morning for the Summer Choral - and last week even the frogs began tuning up their instruments.

Home can be, for me, any where that I hang my habushka - but living in the country is really my cup of tea.

An anonymous author once wrote, "A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men."

Some days I wander home from work feeling a little gloomy, a bit weary and rather warped by self-pity. I creek into the house . . . and there comes a little girl to greet me with a big smile of welcome on her pretty little face. As we rollick together while she tries to talk my language and I garble hers, some of the gloom disappears. Later as I recite - with appropriate (?) gestures - some nonsensical ditties, the rest of the gloom disappears and I realize that a little nonsense now and then is to be relished - even if you aren't very wise!

In closing this week's column, I should like to share a pithy quotation credited to James Bryant Conant: "Behold the turtle: He makes progress only when he sticks his neck out."

A Hunting Trek Through Cass River Wilderness

Two excerpts from the diary of O. H. Perry, who made a hunting trek through the unsettled wilderness of the Cass River in 1852, have been published in "Pages." One of them related Mr. Perry's successful attempt to shoot an elk. This week's excerpt tells how he and his companion, Fred Deming, "jerked" the meat to preserve it for later use.

"Sept. 29th. After making breakfast on elk meat, we went out and brought in the elk skin, it requiring both of us to carry it. Our elk meat is rather strong scented but it is tender and juicy. We made ourselves wooden plates, taking two large chips and scooping them out with our tomahawks. Roasting our elk meat on a stick without any application of salt until done, we find makes it more juicy and palatable.

"Sept. 30th I went during the forenoon and fetched to our camp the elk horns. Fred made a trough to jerk our elk meat in, after which he brought into camp a hind quarter of elk which we cut up and filled the trough with, making a brine in our cups with a portion of the salt we had left. This day was clear and pleasant.

the only pleasant day we have had since leaving our camp on Elk Creek. Taking the meat out of the trough, we hung it up to jerk before the fire, and then filled the trough with large portions of meat again. We ate very hearty of meat today.

"Oct. 1st. Got up a little after 7 this morning and after eating a hearty breakfast of elk meat, we took out of the trough the elk meat we had salted and hung it up on poles before the fire to jerk, after which I tied up with bark the skull of the elk and spent an hour or two in rubbing the rust off my gun. This night was clear, warm and pleasant.

"The wolves howled around us considerably.

"Oct. 2nd. Packed up the elk skin this afternoon and put it on a scaffold supported by stakes and a tree. Also put the elk horns on a scaffold and made a roof over them of bark to shed rain. Made preparations for a start tomorrow and cooked meat for tomorrow's dinner.

"Sunday, Oct. 3rd. On awakening this morning we found it raining gently, but notwithstanding we determined on a start. Our hard bread amounting to about two whole pieces, we divided equally, relying on our jerked meat entirely for sustenance."

Picture Depicts Early Area Train Crash

This week's picture shows what happened one stormy winter night early in this twentieth century, when the railroad snow-plow collided with another train which was already stuck in the snowbank. We do not have the exact date, but the location was near the station and within the village limits. Service was interrupted until heavier equipment could be brought here to put the locomotives back onto the track and repair the other damage.

Considering the decline in importance of the railroad industry in our present-day economy, it is increasingly difficult to realize just what it did mean to the country, and to our community in particular, when the railroads were first being built in rural Michigan. The following is a brief account, taken from an old atlas of Tuscola County, of that event in Cass City's past:

"Responding to the inducement of a $6,000 bonus and a right of way contributed by public-spirited citizens of the town, the Pontiac, Oxford & Port Austin Railroad came to Cass City.

"November 18, 1882 was the eventful day. About nine o'clock in the morning, the engine appeared in sight around the bend to the northwest of the village, with the track laying going on in advance of it. An hour later, the locomotive crossed Main Street.

"According to previous well-laid plans, the construction crew were invited to a noon dinner. A procession was formed and, headed by the band, marched to the town hall where a bountiful repast awaited them. When the railroad men had satisfied their appetites, they formed a line in front of the town hall and gave three cheers for "the ladies of Cass City", three cheers for "the prosperity of Cass City", and three cheers more for "the band."

This railroad later became known as the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad - more affectionately as "Polly Ann". Advertisements in the early Cass City papers carry this information - "All trains daily except Sunday". A letter from Mrs. Bertha A. Brady (the former Bertha Wilkinson from the Novesta area) tells us why: the trains were used for excursions on Sundays.

Well Built ... But

What A Dog!

By Dave Kraft

I went to a Michigan Press Photographers Short Course offered Friday and Saturday at Kellogg Center, East Lansing. The powers-that-be sent me, expenses paid, for which I'm grateful.

I visualized two days of goofing off. Luncheons, gawking at photographer's models, parties, models, parties, luncheons, and so on.

Being the good and trustful husband I am, I told my wife the news and asked her to come along, knowing full well that she'd say no.

She said, "Yes." Just like that ... "Yes."

I quickly rephrased the question ... "Yes." I explained about all the dull work and long hours. "Yes."

Finally, I flat out told her she didn't want to go and she flat out told me that if I thought I was getting past the village limits without her, I was one brick short of a load.

We arrived at the Center without incident. We registered and then began a disappointing round of classes, discussions and technical explanations about paper, film, lenses and developing processes that I know nothing about.

At the Chronicle I take pictures with a fine Speed Graphic camera. It does all the work.

I know that if I point it at a subject, add a flash bulb, pull the slide from the film holder and push a certain red button, I most likely will get a printable picture.

I know nothing about shutting the camera down one stop, "f. 8", exposures, shutter speeds, etiol developers and all that jazz.

There was a model ... not exactly the type I had envisioned, but still a model. My idea of a model is something well built, with beauty of line and face and like that.

This one was a real dog. Literally. Seems they were stressing animal photography.

She was well built, with beauty of line and face and like that. I suppose if I'd been a boy cocker spaniel, I'd really have flipped.

There was also a party. Boy, what a party! Exotic foods, a delightful array of beverages and no time limit.

I know all about the party. The fellow sitting next to me in class the next day told me all about it.

I was bowling at the time. Me, who hates bowling.

Seems the joker having the party announced it publicly at one of the classes. He shouldn't have, not with my wife in the crowd.

She leaned over to the woman next to her and whispered something and settled back with a satisfied look. I should have known something was up.

After class, the other woman announced to her husband that my wife suggested bowling instead of a dull old party. All night long he kept trying to drop his bowling ball on my foot. What a sorehead.

Things are expensive in East Lansing. After we finished bowling, I offered to pay the bill, hoping to smooth some ruffled feathers.

I asked the cashier how much ... he told me ... I explained that I didn't want to buy the place, just pay the bill ... he explained: four people, five lines apiece, 20 lines, 50 cents a line, $10.00 ... I fainted. Not really, but I had to be helped from the place.

I don't know what I'll do next year. I'll either decline the offer or not tell my wife until the last minute. On second thought, maybe I'll send her and stay home and see what goes on in Cass City when I'm away.

HOW TO RAISE PULLETS
FOR 25c
CASH
FEED COST

Do you know that you can raise pullets all the way from 5 weeks old to laying age for around 25c per bird out-of-pocket feed cost - when you feed a Purina Check-R-Mix growing ration on the Purina Plan?
You bring us grain from your own bin. We will grind and mix it with Purina Concentrate.
Since you supply most of the ration, your cost for Concentrate and grinding and mixing service is very low usually - less than 25c per bird clear up to laying age. Yet, Purina

Check-R-Mix rations develop good pullets.
Bring in your grain and let us mix up a low-cost pullet growing ration. Prove to yourself . . . Purina Check-R-Mix feeding costs you less.

WHAT PROTEIN LEVEL FOR MILKING RATIONS?

Good dairymen know the proper amount of protein in a grain ration is vital to the performance of their milking cows. But the question narrows down to this: What's the "proper" level of protein?
Long-time work at the Purina Research Farm has shown that a good 16 per cent grain ration will do the job efficiently, regardless of the kind of roughage quality. In other words, only the amount should vary, rather than the protein content . . . more grain with poor quality roughage, less grain with good quality roughage.

CUT CRD LOSSES

You can help stop CRD and several other costly poultry diseases with
