

Friends Rally to Stricken Pastor

An illness, incurable at the present time, has forced the popular, dynamic Rev. Robert Searls to leave the pulpit at the Cass City Methodist Church.

A farewell to the Searlses and their three children will be held at an open house scheduled at the church Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 p.m. All of the members of the Methodist Church and friends of the Searlses are invited to attend.

The open house will be only a token to the family members of the two congregations where the Rev. Searls has served, the Methodist Conference and friends of the family are in the midst of a drive to raise funds for a much more concrete expression of help and good will.

The congregation of the Franklin Community Church is in the midst of a fund-raising drive of its members. The Cass City Methodists have already begun a letter campaign among members and persons in charge say that donations are already being received.

Others not contacted who might wish to help the fund along can do so by bringing or sending the money to Keith Murphy, treasurer of the church. Checks should be made to the Methodist Church and all money given is deductible for income tax purposes.

Authorities hope to raise enough money to make a substantial down payment on a house for the family and have enough left to help the family through the first months of readjustment when income stops and social security and pension money will not be available.

Seniors in Final Graduation Rites

"Remember that you are more powerful than the atom - you are taller than a mushroom." Thus did Dr. Gordon L. Thomas, of the Speech Department at Michigan State University, conclude his address to Cass City High School's 75 graduates Tuesday night. Using the nuclear bomb, with its mushroom cloud, as a symbol of the dangers and perils that life in today's world can present, he urged them not to be prophets of doom but rather to realize how fortunate is their lot compared to those born a century ago, or even the majority of those born today, in other parts of the world, and under far less favorable conditions.

Wayne Dillon, class president, introduced Heather Milligan, salutatorian, and Betty Spaulding, valedictorian. Honors and awards presented by Principal Arthur Holmberg included the Regents-Alumni scholarship to the University of Michigan to Tom Jones and a Michigan State University scholarship to Bruce Avery. The Rawson Foundation scholarship was awarded to Heather Milligan, while Wayne Dillon received a State Board of Education Grant, as well as the Thelma Hunt Memorial scholarship, for study at Central Michigan. Pamela Hurd was the recipient of an award by the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club and Beverly Behr earned a scholarship for business studies at Pontiac Business Institute. The Paul J. Smarks trophy, presented annually to an outstanding athlete, was given to Larry Robinson. Membership in Quill and Scroll, national honorary journalism society, was conferred on Nancy and Beverly Behr.

The graduating class had previously participated in baccalaureate services, at which the address was given by the Rev. Richard Canfield, minister of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Canfield used Daniel, of Old Testament history, as an example of what can be accomplished by a promising youth. He urged the young men and women to have courage to stand for the right and to be true to their convictions. A purposeful life, perseverance and communication with God through prayer were among other secrets of a successful life which the speaker presented.

When the 75 graduates left the stage Tuesday night after receiving their diplomas from Superintendent Willis Campbell, they marked the smallest graduating class in many years, and perhaps the last time that fewer than 100 will take part in commencement here. About 30 of the class have thus far made application for entrance to colleges and other schools. The class left a sum of money to be used for the purchase of a bulletin and announcement board for the second floor corridor of the high school.

Summer Band Courses to Begin

An estimated 40 students have enrolled for the summer band classes slated to begin Monday, June 18, according to Richard Case, Cass City High School band director.

The six-week, afternoon course will end Friday, July 27. The course is open to students from the outlying areas also, according to Case, with the idea that they become acquainted with the fundamentals of instrumental music and start in the school band program.

Case announced that there is still room for more students in the course.

MEET MRS. ZABINSKI—Victoria Zabinski, wife of John Zabinski, Cass City, arrived in Cass City Monday night, June 4, from Poland, following months-long delay caused by Communist paperwork. Ironically, although she has been trying to come to America since last fall, the trip from Poland to Detroit, by Jet, took just a matter of hours. She left Sunday morning and by 8:30 that night she was in Detroit. Tentative plans call for Mrs. Zabinski's daughter to join the family in the near future. The couple were married last fall during Mr. Zabinski's trip to Poland. (Chronicle photo)

Elect Koepfgen, Helwig to Board

435 Cast School Votes

Less than one-fourth of Cass City School District's estimated 1,800 registered voters turned out for the annual school board election Monday, according to a final tally of votes cast. A total of 435 ballots was cast.

Elected to the three-year term was Don Koepfgen with the four-year seat going to Elwyn Helwig. Koepfgen captured nearly half the total votes cast with a final count of 206 votes. Helwig topped the four-year list with 170 votes.

Defeated in their bid for the three-year seat were Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn, 176 votes, and Grant O. Glaspie, 56 votes.

Losers in the race for the four-year chair were Robert Heaver, 104 votes, Ray Vander, 101 votes, and Fred Knoblet, 58 votes.

With the election of the two new members, the board will now be directed by Horace Inden, William Rohl, Jack Bean, James Milligan, Donald Reid, Koepfgen and Helwig.

The board is to elect a new slate of officers for the coming year at the next regular board meeting, July 9.

Annual Meeting

In other school business, the lack of an auditor's report and a business agenda brought the annual school board meeting to a close less than half an hour after it began Monday night.

The absence of the annual auditor's report, usually read at the district meeting, was attributed to the fact that the annual meeting was called a month earlier this year.

A motion by Fred Pinney, one of the 17 persons who attended the session, to move the annual meeting back one month to the second Monday in July was passed. Pinney pointed out in presenting the motion that the move would give the auditor enough time to prepare a report.

As a substitute for the report, Superintendent Willis Campbell gave a brief recap on the recent millage allocation and on the school's general financial situation.

Campbell also told the group that a possible six parcels of property in the Thane district may be annexed to the Cass City district, pending approval of petitions by property owners before the Tri-County School Board.

Thane district, on the border of the Caro and Cass City districts, is being annexed to Caro. Some of the property owners near Cass City have asked to be set into the Cass City district.

A motion by Dan DeLong, Cass City school bus driver, to raise the pay of School Board members to at least $100 plus expenses was defeated by a nine to five vote.

The biggest opposition to the move came from the Board members who pointed out that the position was not a job, but a civic duty.

Uniform Rates Asked by County Funeral Directors

Formulation of uniform rates for ambulance service and indigent burials was ordered by Tuscola County Supervisors during a meeting held Thursday, June 7, in Caro.

The move came after a report from Tuscola County Funeral Directors' Association chairman, Harry Little, Cass City.

Little, in his report, asked the supervisors to set uniform rates for ambulance calls ordered by county personnel and for indigent burials.

The matter was referred to a committee comprised of members of the County Social Welfare Commission, the funeral association and the Supervisors' Welfare Committee. A report will be given at the next supervisors' session, Monday, July 9.

A salary increase for Probate Registrar Beatrice P. Berry was referred to the Salary Committee. The increase is being sought because of extra duties and responsibilities caused by the recent dismissal of Probate Judge Henderson Graham by the State Supreme Court.

During the morning session, according to County Clerk Archie Hicks, the supervisors were shown a movie by Burroughs Adding Machine Company on a tax rolls billing machine.

The machine would cost an estimated $23,000. No decision was made in the matter.

PAINTING TECHNIQUES, clearly illustrating the difference in age, are pointed out by Jeri Ann Ryan, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ryan, and Cecil U. Brown, 69, both of Cass City. Jeri, a vibrant teenager, uses long, flowing brush strokes while Mr. Brown uses a more disciplined, shorter brush stroke. The art careers date back to grade school, but it has only been in the past few years that either of the artists have been doing any serious painting. Paintings by the two were among a recent Michigan Week art display at Freiburger Hobby and Paint Shop. (Chronicle photos)

From the Editor's Corner

"Tain't so," say members of the village council when they hear complaints that the new curb and gutter under construction on South Seeger is crooked and also narrower than Seeger north of Main street.

The village fathers are also carrying out the recommendation of the village planner when they reduce the width of the street.

There are organizations for about everything these days. This week we received publicity from the Michigan Twins Association. The group plans a big two-day bus Saturday and Sunday at Kalamazoo.

There will be most identical, least identical contests and all twins can join.

The Twins is no fly-by-night organization either. This weekend's confab will be the 16th annual convention. We wonder if anyone from the area is a member?

Vacation promotions are gaining in vogue and local residents are gaining free vacations. Winners were announced recently in a popular Michigan Holiday contest held in Tuscola county. Now Bad Axe has come up with a vacation program that combines a town-wide sale with a vacation at a Caseville resort.

New Steps at St. Agatha Church

New steps are being installed at the front entrance of St. Agatha Church. The steps are of Indiana limestone and a new water-proof mortar is expected to minimize frost damage.

Six-inch risers with three-inch "kick-toe" will add to appearance and wear.

Rev. Frank McLaughlin is the pastor.

Free Programs, Drawing Friday

The first of the bikes to be given away this summer by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce will be raffled Friday at 9:15 p.m. at the lot between Cass City Oil & Gas and Elkland town hall.

After the drawing, music will be furnished and square and round dancing will be available free for area residents.

Authorities said that members of the Chamber wishing to give away tickets can secure them at Hunter's 5c to $1.00 Store.

Painting Personalities Depend on Age, Techniques

Art knows no boundaries when it comes to age and a good example of this are the paintings of Jeri Ann Ryan, 15, and Cecil U. Brown, 69, both of Cass City.

Both artists began serious painting within the last few years, and while they share the same general interest, the difference in age is shown in their individual styles and techniques.

Jeri, the vibrant, sandy-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ryan, began painting in oils three years ago. Her art career dates back to the fifth grade when she began taking lessons from Mrs. Julia Roecker, now curator of the Saginaw Museum.

Mr. Brown, in charge of the Marlette disposal plant, began his art career about five years ago. Never having had a lesson, he explains that he always had a "flair for drawing," even as a child in school.

The major differences between the two artists are their individual styles and brush strokes.

Jeri's work tends to be "primitive, like Grandma Moses" . . . not real fine work . . . not too detailed." Her dislike for detail is pointed out further by her brush strokes which is long and flowing.

Mr. Brown, on the other hand, strives for detail in his attempt to capture what he calls his "realistic" style. To gain this detail, he uses a short, almost dot-like stroke.

The two painters agree on one type of subject. Both like landscapes. Jeri also enjoys doing animals and people.

Neither artist uses live subjects. A current favorite at Jeri's home is a set of pictures copied from another set in the Bay City Hospital (see picture).

Most of Mr. Brown's subjects are taken from colored slides he has taken previously. "I don't have time to go into nature," he explains. Because of the time element, he only produces two or three paintings a year.

Does either find painting hard? "No, I like it," tells Jeri. "I think it's easy . . . that's why I do it. It's fun to get the different effects." Later in the interview, she modified the statement. "It depends on what you paint and how you want to paint it," she concluded.

For Mr. Brown, the opposite is true. "I have to concentrate and work on it . . . once in awhile a picture seems to flow onto the canvas and for others, it's rub out and try over again."

What about abstract painting? Jeri's tried it and found that "It was fun doing" it. Some of it is really pretty," she relates, "but some of it is kind of cold."

Mr. Brown has never tried abstract.

Jeri is undecided about her painting future. "I've thought about it," she confided, "but since they don't have any art at Cass City, it's hard to decide."

"It's strictly a hobby . . . I do it merely for my own amusement," joked Mr. Brown in regard to his future in the art field.

The two painters have other hobbies. Mr. Brown also does some woodwork, but because of his tight work schedule, still doesn't have much time to do it. Jeri's spare time is wrapped up in riding, exercising and caring for her horse.

Ironically, the two painters live next door to each other. Even more ironic is the fact that neither person knew the other painted until they shared a Michigan Week display at Freiburger Hobby Shop.

H. L. Bridges New Clerk-Treasurer

Two village governmental positions, left vacant by the recent resignation of Mrs. Wilma Fry as clerk-treasurer, were filled Friday night during a special council meeting at the Municipal Building.

Appointed to fill the vacancy was H. L. "Bill" Bridges, 40, Cass City businessman. His term will run until the next village election sometime in February, 1963.

Bridges, owner of the Cass City Lanes bowling alley, is originally from Caro. Prior to moving to Cass City in 1959, he spent 10 years as head of an accounting department for a Detroit firm.

A 1941 graduate of Caro High School, he also attended Bay City Business College. He served with the Navy during World War II.

The Bridges have four children, Barbara, 15, Dennis, 14, Robert, 10, and Richard, seven.

Pool Opens Monday

With the warm weather getting under full swing, the scheduled opening of the Cass City swimming pool next Monday, June 18, will come not a moment too soon for Cass City youngsters.

Free swimming, according to Richard Carroll, pool supervisor, will be held from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday will be for ages 12 and over, and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday will be for ages five to 12.

The paid swimming schedule is as follows: 4:00-6:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 7:00-9:00 Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights and 2:00-5:00 p.m. Sundays.

As a safeguard for pool users, the following rules will be enforced: all swimmers are to take showers using soap and water before entering the pool; any persons with sores or bandages cannot enter the pool until completely healed, and no running or rough play will be allowed.

Re-elect Three Trustees

Nix Bid for Funds At Deford School

For the second year in a row, voters in the Deford Community School District turned down a request for extra operating funds.

Voting on two mills for three years at the annual meeting held Monday night at the school, voters turned down the request by a 54-31 margin.

In other business, three members of the board were re-elected. Arleon Retherford defeated Everett Field, 44-34, for a three-year term. John Harold Francis then defeated Mr. Field 41-35, also for a three-year term. Eugene LeValley was named to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Marjorie Pringle. The term will be for one year. Mr. LeValley had been appointed by the board to replace Mrs. Pringle when she quit the board.

Other board members are Glen Tousley and Gerald Hicks. In an organizational meeting following the election, the board re-elected all officers. Retherford is president; Hicks, secretary, and Tousley, treasurer.

The Editor
The Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan
Dear Sir:

In a recent editorial comment, you stated that half or more of the students entering the University of Michigan and Michigan State University drop out due to academic difficulties during the first year.

Since the great majority of our graduates going to either of these institutions do not have this problem, it might swell our ego a bit if this statement were true. Actually, it is false. While it is commonly believed that these schools are failing a higher percentage of their first year students than in the past, the opposite is really the case. As a matter of fact, in most colleges and universities the percentage of first year failures is lower today than ever before. This is true in spite of the fact that the level of achievement required has commonly been raised. The answer to this paradox is that admissions officers are doing a better job than ever before. In other words, it is harder to get in but, if you are accepted, it is very likely that, with the proper application, you will be able to stay.

I am enclosing letters from the admissions offices of the two schools in question which indicate that fewer than 10 per cent of the freshmen in both schools fail to return the second year.

We who work in the field of education are constantly faced (as I am sure are those in other fields) with misconceptions and inaccurate statements about schools and education. In the interest of fair play, I believe that, whenever possible, these misunderstandings should be corrected.

Sincerely,
Arthur Holmberg

Dear Sir:

I have certainly enjoyed reading "Pages From The Past" in your paper, they brought back many memories.

I vaguely remember the Novesta post office and have a post card addressed to me at Novesta, Mich., sent by my uncle who was a minister in New York state.

An especially interesting article appearing several months ago was that of the Arthur Reifel family from Nigeria.

Mrs. Reifel's mother was a schoolmate of mine at the Crawford school and also I have very good friends who are now in Nigeria, the man is a carpenter and constructing missionary buildings.

I clipped the article from the Chronicle and sent it to his mother who lives in Sturgis, Mich.

I will be very pleased to receive a copy of the history of Cass City Community.

Thank you.

82 Diplomas Given at Annual Kindergarten Fete

Graduation diplomas were presented to 82 Cass City kindergarten students by Willis Campbell, superintendent, during the annual Kindergarten Graduation Party, Wednesday, June 6, at the Elementary School.

The graduates presented a short program of poems and songs for the 100 parents and visitors at the party. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Grace Quick and Mrs. Lucy Starman, kindergarten teachers.

Jeri Lynn Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Starr, Cass City, was awarded a perfect attendance certificate for being neither tardy nor absent during the school year.

Refreshments were served following the program and diploma presentation.

Deadline Nears for Wheat Allotments

Applications for 1963 "new farm" wheat acreage allotments must be filed before July 1. The ASCS County Office is accepting wheat allotment applications for certain farms. A producer who intends to seed wheat for 1963 on a farm, for which a 1962 wheat acreage allotment was not established and who desires to be considered for an allotment for the 1963 wheat crop year, must make application for an allotment, according to Mike Singer, Chairman of the Tuscola Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Application forms are available in the ASCS County Office for use in filing a request for an allotment.

Area Cows Rate High in Tests

A Cass City Holstein and an area Holstein dairy herd have received high ratings from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America during recent production and classification tests and inspections.

Nan Jan Dixie Four, a three-year-old Holstein owned by Clare, Vernon and Richard Carpenter, Cass City, produced 15,410 pounds of milk and 576 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, according to tests conducted by Michigan State University.

In other area dairy news, 30 head of Holstein dairy cows owned by Dolan Sweeney and Sons, Ubyly, received high ratings during a recent classification by an H-FAA official.

Of the 30 animals classified, 14 were "very good," 15 were "good-plus" and one was rated as "good."

120 Enroll in Vacation School

Registration for Cass City's Vacation Church School for the first day totaled 120 students, according to a report from Rev. John Fish, Presbyterian minister.

The two-week school, which began Monday, had 36 students in the junior high category, 37 in the primary section and 47 in the kindergarten.

Coupled with five infants in the nursery, attendance for the first day reached 125 persons. Approximately 20 teachers and helpers were on hand to take care of the registrations and classes.

Award Degrees to Area Graduates

Four area students were graduated during the past week from universities in Michigan and Indiana.

Arthur Severance, Decker, Jack Laurie and Ross Beach, both of Gagetown, were graduated Sunday from Michigan State University with degrees in agriculture.

Mrs. Ross Beach, the former Mary E. Leslie of Decker, was graduated Saturday, June 9, from Taylor University, Upland, Indiana.

Pictures and complete information will appear in next week's Chronicle.

Area Woman Among Northwood Grads

Janis Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Knight, Cass City, was graduated from Northwood Institute, Alma, on June 3, as an executive secretary.

Miss Knight has accepted a position at the Leonard Refinery, Alma.

Re-elect Directors At Hills and Dales

Three directors were re-elected to office at the annual meeting of the board of Hills and Dales General Hospital Tuesday night. Named to three-year terms were: Archie McLachlan, Mrs. Marjorie Rice and Alex Ross.

At the meeting the financial report of the hospital was presented. Administrator Dick Palm reported that the patient load at the facility had shown a steady increase during the year and that the hospital was well equipped to care for even capacity patient loads.

In the organizational meeting following the annual meeting James Bauer was elected president; Ralph Gauer, vice-president; M. E. Auten, treasurer, and Mrs. Rice, secretary.

PICK a Chevy PACK up the family & GO traveling

If variety is the spice of your life, see the choice selection of buys now at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center. One of those new Chevrolets, Chevy II's or Corvairs should suit you perfectly and spare your budget any strain!

We wouldn't presume to tell you which one to buy, but your Chevrolet dealer has more ways of helping you make up your mind. Like the Jet-smooth Chevrolet Impala, luxurious, extremely comfortable, undoubtedly the best riding car in its field; the Chevy II Nova, lively, lovely, and inexpensive, too; the Corvair Monza, a family car that rather thinly disguises its desire to be a sports car; and the Corvette, America's out-and-out sports car. As you see, your Chevrolet dealer has just the tonic for that "let's go traveling" look in your eye. And, what's nice about buying one, you won't have to juggle your life around to afford it. You know?

Four Sun 'n' Fun ways to get away (shown top to bottom) are the Corvette, Corvair Monza Coupe, Chevy II Nova Station Wagon and Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan.

Now, beautiful buying days at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's Golden Sales Jubilee!

LIVE AND LET LIVE

Every little kindness you do today makes the world a much better place to live tomorrow.

WATCH OUT FOR CHILDREN

Now that school is out once more and the streets are full of care-free children running around like playful puppies, it is best to ease up on the throttle.

The law recognizes the fact that children are not responsible for their acts in the broad sense that adults are. They dash out on a road without looking, despite the fact that their anxious parents have told them dozens of times to use caution. Caution and carefree youth have a difficult time of it together. That is why school zones have extra low speed limits usually rigidly enforced.

When school is out for the summer, the school zones are spread out everywhere that children care to roam. So if you see children playing on the road, slow up well in advance and give them a wide berth when you do pass.

The Travellers Insurance Company compiles an annual report on accident statistics of which they distribute 3,300,000 copies. That's a sizable printing job but it's little more than enough to top the number of killed and injured Americans for the year of 1961 it covers—3,094,600.

The most tragic of these accidents are those involving children who are killed or crippled before their life has hardly begun. To lose a little time on the chance of saving a little life are odds that any motorist would be foolish indeed to ignore.

He can be on the right end of the odds by just reducing speed, the number one cause of fatalities.

The fly-up, moving girls from Brownie status into Intermediate Scouting, makes them eligible to start working on their merit badges, states Mrs. Rabideau.

Look for Top Soil District

Tuscola Soil Conservation district has entered the 16th annual Goodyear competition to select the nation's top 52 conservation districts.

In the competition, the activities of the Tuscola district will be weighed against the performance of other districts in the state. A committee of the state's outstanding agricultural leaders will name the state winner. Activities during the period from May 1, 1962, through April 30, 1963, will be considered.

District Directors are Maynard McConkey, Cass City, R. L. Hill, Caro, Bruce Ruggles, Kingston, Albert Bauer, Reese, and Dayton Davis, Vassar. Mr. McConkey said the district's outstanding cooperators will be selected from among the 784 farm operators enrolled in the district program.

The award is an expense paid vacation-study trip to Arizona in December, 1963, for one member of the district governing body and the individual nominated as the outstanding cooperator in each winning district.

Klinkman Services Held in Marlette

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Marsh Funeral Home, Marlette, for Charles H. Klinkman, 38, Decker, following his death Thursday, June 7, from a self-inflicted shotgun wound.

Klinkman, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Orton Klinkman, was born March 23, 1924, in Decker. A bachelor, he spent his entire life at the family's farm residence in Lamotte township.

According to a report by investigating officers, Klinkman was despondent over the death of his mother last April. His father preceded him in death in September, 1961.

Surviving are: three sisters, Mrs. Roy (Louise) Agar, Marlette, Mrs. Vyron (Margaret) Beutler, Pontiac, and Mrs. Donald (Laura) Dale, Marlette, and a brother, Wilfred, Smiths Creek.

Officiating at the services were Rev. Lester Nelsen, Pilgrim Holiness Church, Kingston, and Rev. Joseph Shaw, Decker Methodist Church. Interment was in Elkland Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Kitchener Innes Jr., James Darling, Leland Wendorf, Donald Innes, Marvin Innes and Carl Geister.

Gagetown 4-H Elects Officers

The Carolan-Gagetown 4-H club met at the home of Patrick and Margaret Anne Toohy, Monday, June 4, to complete enrollments and elect officers with Mary Lou Ehrlich as acting chairman.

Officers elected were: president, Fred Ondrajka; vice president, Patrick Toohy; secretary, Sharada Hurd, and treasurer, Bill Ehrlich.

The following committees were appointed: recreation, Mary Lou Ehrlich, Bette Burdon and Fred Ondrajka, and news correspondent, Terri Armstead. Food Prep girls will act as the food committee.

Members voted to contribute $50 to the Gagetown Community Park project for a covered picnic table and grill and tickets were distributed for the coming 4-H barbecue.

The next meeting will be held June 19.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Little Leaguers in Baseball Opener

The Cass City Little League opened the new season Monday at their new field at Cass City Recreational Park when Village President C. R. Hunt tossed the first ball into play prior to the Yankee-Giant contest.

The game was played on a comparatively dry field in biting cold as the Yankees registered a 7-6 decision.

David Bliss went the distance for the Yankees to get the win and Bob Parmenter was charged with the loss. He was relieved by John Shagera in the first.

Yankee sluggers were Ken Hayes, David Bliss and Terry Hile, all with two hits in three tries.

Best platemen for the losers. Salvation is free — and that's why a great many people wonder if it is worthwhile.

Model husbands are sometimes side-tracked for working models. Be prepared—either you profit by knowing, or lose by guessing.

were B. Klinkman with two for three and Terry Brinkman with three hits in as many tries.

Pony League

Seeking Players

The Cass City Pony League is scheduled to open Monday when three teams are expected to vie for the league crown.

Already 31 boys have signed and league authorities say that more are needed. Boys over 12 and under 16 years old are eligible.

Handling the program will be several volunteer coaches. They include: Gerald Stroupe, Fred Knoblet, George Gallaway, Gordon Ware, Bill Bridges and Maynard Helwig.

The league operates on donated funds and money is still needed. Donations can be taken to the Cass City State Bank or to Mr. Bridges.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

There Used to Be A Tornado

By Dave Kraft

First of all, I'd like to extend my thanks to all those who offered suggestions on how to keep my goldfish from committing suicide.

It's nice to know one has friends when it really counts.

Suggestions ranged from lowering the water level in the bowl to putting a screen across the top of the bowl. Fritz Neitzel suggested that I put my old tennis racket over the top of the bowl.

Another fellow called up and suggested that as long as the fool fish was going to commit hari-kari, why not let him bring his pole over and give the fish a sporting chance.

Seems he had a new casting technique he wanted to try out. I explained to him that my wife was dead set against anyone clomping around the living room in waders.

I lowered the water level. It seems to be working. It doesn't give him as much room for a running start.

Now that I've got the effect licked, I'm trying to find the cause. I think I just may have it. Loneliness.

You see, there wasn't always just a Cyclone (that's his name). A few months back, there was a Tornado.

Tornado was a character. He had a black spot just over his mouth, giving him a Charlie Chaplin effect... a real happy-go-lucky guy.

He used to chase Cyclone around the bowl at break-neck speed. Cyclone, the quieter of the two, never seemed to mind it too much... it was companionship.

One morning I got up and was just getting ready to drop some fish food in the bowl when I noticed Tornado floating belly-up.

At first, I thought he was giving me his version of an overturned canoe.

I probed him with my finger and he bobbed stiffly away... deadlier than a mackerel.

It was a sad day at our house. Cyclone, ordinarily quiet, stayed at the bottom of the bowl all day long.

It was afternoon before I could face the task that lay ahead.

We bundled up the baby, put Cyclone and the fish bowl in the car, strapped Tornado's stiff little torso to a board and draped a miniature flag over him.

We drove out to the Cass River bridge.

It was a simple ceremony. I said a few words over the flag-draped figure and then, as I fired two volleys from my .22 rifle, my wife tipped the board and let the tiny remains slip with a splash into the river far below.

It was terrible. I was so broken up I couldn't drive home. Cyclone held up well under the ordeal, although when we tipped Tornado over the side, I noticed him turn his head away.

Well, anyhow, that's it. The solitude and the inactivity have probably become too much for Cyclone and his fishy little mind snapped momentarily.

With this in mind, I had a heart-to-heart talk with him the other day. I promised him that I would get him another buddy, but when I finished, I had the feeling that there can never be another Tornado for our Cyclone. I only know that if he succeeds in this move for self-destruction, there can never be another Cyclone for me.

Does anyone know where I can get a puppy cheap?

What I have in mind is something that will start out small and stay that way.

Preferably male. I don't want to wake up some morning and find that I'm the sole support of somebody else's indiscretion.

By cheap, I mean like free.

THE PATTERN

Bear in mind that children of all ages have one thing in common - they close their ears to advice and open their eyes to example.

Golding, Cass City; Frank Satchell, Caro; Werner List, Vassar; Clinton K. Blackmore, Vassar.

In the 65-pound-cow class a registered Holstein cow, No. 3, owned by Blaylock and Rupprecht of Vassar, leads the list of 145 cows in this class with a production of 124 pounds butterfat during the month of May. In second place in this class is a grade Holstein cow owned by John Graham of Caro with a production of 110 pounds fat.

Other dairymen having cows which produced over 90 pounds fat in this class are: V. J. and Clare Carpenter, Cass City; Orvil Hayes and Sons, Caro; Dr. H. T. Donahue, Cass City; Clayton Rohlf and Sons, Fairgrove; Clarence Merchant, Cass City; Dolan Sweeney, Uby; Dorwin Wilkins, Caro, and Lloyd Walz, Vassar.

In the 305-day records class a registered Holstein cow owned by George Foster of Fostoria produced 21,197 pounds milk and 640 pounds butterfat to lead the list of 28 cows in this class. In second place is a registered Holstein cow owned by Blaylock and Rupprecht of Vassar with a production of 632 pounds fat.

Other dairymen having cows which produced over 469 pounds in this class are: Ronald Opperman, Vassar; William Parrott, Cass City; George Foster, Fostoria; Dan Lukasavitz, Cass City; Quick Brothers, Caro; Clarence Merchant, Cass City; Foster Hickey, Fairgrove, and Clayton Rohlf and Sons, Fairgrove.

Kritzman Serving In West Pacific

Lance Cpl. Peter W. Kritzman, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Kritzman of Decker, is serving with the First Battalion of the Third Marine Regiment, a unit of the Third Marine Division, currently serving as a special landing force with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

The landing force will be at sea with ships and personnel of the Seventh Fleet for three months. While afloat, the landing force will conduct numerous practice amphibious landings and learn about Navy-Marine Corps coordination in such operations.

During the deployment, members of the battalion will have the opportunity to visit various Far Eastern ports.

Happiness is in sight for most people—attaining it seems to be the difficult part.

Sense of Humor
A Saving Grace

By Ilene Warren

A sense of humor is a saving grace. One doesn't have to be born with this sense of humor - it's a gift that can be acquired. If you don't yet possess this gift, work as diligently to acquire it as you would to rid yourself of some bad habit.

Truly, a sense of humor can "save the day." Let me cite an example. Recently, on a Thursday when I was at home, I had a telephone conversation. A comment was made about how busy some housewives are - I remarked unwisely, "Bushwah! I'd like to be THAT busy." "Well, now," came the reply, "after all, you work on a schedule from nine to five. It's a little different with a housewife especially when she has to squeeze in church and community activities." The conversation was terminated shortly thereafter. Feeling quite sorry for myself, I sat down in the rocking chair in the living room.

"On a schedule am I?" I muttered. "I have housework to do, too. My column to prepare and write. Church work to do. Treasurer's work for the Extension club. Editing work to do on a project. (Sniffle.) Talks to prepare for women's groups. A workshop to plan. (Sniffle.) My husband's far away and my mother's dead - to whom can I go for sympathy? (Sniffle.)"

Just when I had about reached the bawling stage of my self pity project, an analysis of the situation began to creep in. I could see myself curled up in the rocker, hugging my misery to me like a favorite book. I asked myself, "What's the matter, Ilene?" and began to chuckle. Though the misery was still there like a little lump, the laughter and humor made a small sea of ease around it.

Each person, at times, sees himself as the busiest, the most workladen, the most put-upon - but if he can rationalize the situation and recognize that it's that way because he chooses to have it that way, his sense of humor smooths out the mountains and they become the molehills they more exactly are. Even those times when one has justification for feeling miserable can be eased and stabilized by a sense of humor. It is, indeed, a gift to be sought with diligence and perseverance.

Today, June 14, is Flag Day. Henry Holcomb Bennett wrote, "Hats off! Along the street there

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where Bobby Kennedy is claiming the Democrats is gaining in Vermont. It could be the game warden has caught a couple of them hiding in the brush up there. And I was reading a piece where 17 per cent of all the people born in Georgia moves out of the state afore they die. I reckon they git converted to the Republican party and has to run fer their lives.

They ain't nothing in this world that splits folks up like politics. When the other side puts it out it's always propaganda and when your side puts it out Moses bring it straight down from Mt. Sinai. When a tax collector takes a bribe he gits throwed in jail, but a public office holder calls it a campaign contribution and gits elected fer another term.

I was reading here a while back where some woman from South Carolina celebrated her 104th birthday. She told the newspaper folks she loved everybody, even Republicans. I know a heap of Democrats that would rather die at 64 as to love Republicans at 104—and viser verser.

I recollect about a feller we used to have living out here. He was a great Republican, didn't have much use fer anybody if they wasn't a Republican. He wouldn't even speak to a Democrat. He'd go to his funeral, didn't mind seeing him buried, but he didn't want nothing to do with him while he was living.

We was talking about these things at the country store Saturday night and the fellers was agreed that common sense in this country has gone in orbit and horse sense is disappearing with the horses. Ed Doolittle allowed as how his old lady was even talking orbit stuff these days. Ed says some mornings when she gits up she says she feels "go" and some mornings she complains she is feeling "stay."

Clem Webster said he was reading where some feller in Hollywood is fixing to manufacture wimmen's clothes out of cellophane. All the fellers was in favor of it, natural, and Zeke Grubb claimed it would fit in real good with the Age Of The Fig Leaf, that being the one in which we was living.

I don't know what the world is coming to no more. Sometimes I think the people in this country has growed tall but not up. How else can you figger it when rich folks will pay $100 fer a necktie, when the big print giveth and the small print taketh away, when ever magazine puts a girl on the cover and no cover on the girl, and when it's easier to git a divorce than to git married?

It's sad, Mister Editor. I've come down to the sunset of my days fer what? To see instant coffee, instant milk, instant biscuits and, if ole Khrushy has his way, instant cremation.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Fete Senior Girls At Zonta Tea

About 40 mothers and daughters attended the tea for Cass City senior girl graduates Sunday, June 3, at the home of Mrs. Keith McConkey. The affair is sponsored annually by the Cass City Zonta Club.

Mrs. Esther McCullough poured at the tea when sandwiches, cookies, petits fours and punch were served. A centerpiece of pink sweetheart roses centered the table.

The next regular meeting for Zonta members is June 19 at the Harry Little cabin near Steeper State Park. The cabin is located 5 cabins west of the park.

What will be the food prices and supplies for the next few months? The average direction of canned and frozen foods should be slightly upward until prices for each product comes under the influence of the outlook for the new pack. Fresh fruit prices should maintain present levels of slightly below 1961 until 1962 crops are offered. The crop damage in the South points toward higher prices than last season for fresh peaches.

The rate of hog marketing in June is expected to decline from the relatively heavy rate in late April and early May. This reduced marketing will likely bring higher pork prices.

Egg prices are expected to reach their seasonal low in the second quarter (ending in June). Prices will likely be several cents below the May prices.

Canned apple stocks are six per cent below a year ago, with No. 303's and 2 1/2's in the shortest supply. Most canners have announced price increases.

Fresh apples will continue to be available from storage in June. Nationally from C. A. storage, the main varieties are Winesaps, Delicious, McIntosh and Jonathans. There is a wide spread in prices depending on quality and condition of the apples. Apparently consumers have been educated to getting good apples and the outlets for poor quality fruit are becoming restricted, even at greatly reduced prices.

Cantaloupe supplies will be coming from Texas and California. The summer grapefruit from Southern California is just starting. Oranges are now being marketed from southern California where sizes are smaller than from central California.

We are getting some fresh vegetables in our markets. Asparagus from Illinois and Washington will be available to supplement Michigan's supply in June. Spring snap beans are now being shipped from southeastern states with prices advancing as a result of light supplies.

Beets are being harvested in moderate amounts from South Carolina and Texas. The total supplies are ample for current market demands. Cabbage is coming in from North Carolina and old Mississippi and the quality is reported to be good.

The spring carrots are being shipped in from central California and Arizona. The prices are somewhat higher.

Florida is shipping in sweet corn, while Texas will be starting northern shipments soon. Texas has a larger early sweet corn crop this year than usual and ample supplies will be available through June.

The marketing of lettuce has begun for the Salinas - Watsonville district of California. (This area ships 80 per cent of the nation's lettuce from May through October.) Supplies now of lettuce will be light and prices high until the Salinas' marketings get heavy. Texas is shipping tomatoes in volume now, having recovered from earlier setbacks. The Ohio greenhouse tomatoes are coming in also. Michigan greenhouse tomatoes will be available this June and shipments will be the heaviest in late June and in July. I hope that you remember that the greenhouse or hothouse tomatoes are grown under glass or plastic and are usually picked at the pink stage, when more than half of the surface is colored and before they are fully colored. This longer time on the vine helps develop more flavor than if the tomatoes were picked green.

Civil Defense a Matter Of Individual Choice

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Civil Defense is a field of concern in which every individual must make a judgement.

Much of Civil Defense preparation depends on one big "if" — if a nuclear attack occurred near you.

For example, State Health Department officials say if a medium range nuclear weapon were exploded in the center of a city the size of Lansing, an estimated 40,000 people would be killed outright, 33,000 would be wounded seriously enough to require medical attention, and 52,000 would survive the explosion without serious injury.

The individual's choice is whether he is located where a fallout shelter would be of value or whether he wants to take his chances on existing facilities in the hope the "if" never occurs.

Communities, however, have little choice, according to health authorities.

The problems which would confront a community at or near a nuclear blast are of a magnitude rarely realized by individuals.

Statistics are available, however, to show what facilities, equipment, supplies and personnel would be required for the care of mass casualties.

In the event of a blast at a city like Lansing, State Health Commissioner Albert S. Heustis said two-thirds of the victims who survived the initial explosion would be suffering from burns alone, or in combination with lacerations and broken bones.

This would not include cases of radiation sickness, which would not be detectable until later symptoms developed.

Of the burn victims, half would be able to "go to work" after treatment; and 40 per cent would be critical with survival dependent upon treatment. The other 10 per cent would suffer fatal burns, with chances for survival remote under even ideal conditions.

Community planning to care for casualties would require at least 300 physicians surviving, and around 2,000 hospital beds, including emergency facilities.

This would allow only one bed for every 10 injured but might be sufficient if proper pre-planning was carried out, Heustis said.

Effective use of every survivor of such an attack would depend greatly on widespread knowledge of first aid and medical self-help techniques, Heustis said.

Michigan's conservation program could get a boost under a legislative proposal which is gaining strength.

The House of Representatives recommended Senate approval this year of a measure which has been under consideration for six years by legislators interested in lessening the problem of delinquency among youth.

Representatives Harry DeMaso, Battle Creek Republican, and E. D. O'Brien, Detroit Democrat, headed the move to gain acceptance of a part of a program proposed by a legislative interim committee they led.

Of five proposals, the House accepted two almost without opposition.

The main proposal which was approved by the House would allow the creation of a camp facility, similar to the CCC camps operation during the depression.

Youths referred to the State Social Welfare Department by courts, police, or other agencies, could be put to work in the camp unit. It initially would include 60 persons.

The Conservation Department and Department of Public Instruction would cooperate in the project.

The Conservation Department would provide work for the youths to do at state forests and park lands. Teachers for an educational program at the camp would be provided by the Department of Public Instruction.

Minnesota and several other states have similar programs in operation, DeMaso said. Success of these programs led to the camp recommendation by the Michigan legislative committee.

Strong bi-partisan support of the recommendation to provide a facility of the CCC-type gave impetus to the committee proposal. Gov. John B. Swainson made a recommendation of this type in a message to the Legislature on youth.

Six years ago, a study of the probate code started the committee on the road to this year's proposal.

By putting delinquent youth to work helping improve the state's conservation and recreation lands, DeMaso said the Legislature would be "taking a realistic step toward building the defenses which the state must have in order to have an effective and adequate defense to the ever-occurring juvenile problems."

Heilig Receives Naval Promotion

Joseph M. Heilig, electronics technician third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus J. Heilig of 3795 North Cemetery Rd., Cass City, was advanced officially to the above rate on May 16, while serving aboard the tactical command ship USS Northampton operating out of Norfolk, Va.

Promotions for Navy enlisted personnel are the result of semi-annual fleet-wide competitive examinations.
