The 4-H club directed by Mrs. William Donnelly is selling Chronicle subscriptions to raise club funds. It's the second time the group has raised money with this campaign.

As far as we have been able to determine, the planning commission is no nearer recommending an inspection procedure and building code than they were when the subject was first suggested about a year ago.

There has been a sharp boost in building permit costs to help finance an inspection program when one is desired.

A code with adequate inspection will be heartily applauded by all established members of the building trade in Cass City and will protect the property owner, too.

The Chronicle received a scroll this week from the Michigan Legislature praising it for advertising Michigan. However, it's not too exclusive. It was dishied out wholesale to 285 newspapers in the State who cooperated in the campaign. Just the same, we tacked it to the picture bulletin board in our front window.

Prizes, Program to Highlight Gagetown Annual Field Day

Hoping to double the $300 they made last year, Gagetown firemen are offering more prizes and a bigger program during their third annual Field Day Celebration, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, July 20, 21, 22, according to Don Schwartz, president.

Three prizes will be given away, including a 10-transistor radio, a stereo record player and a pocket transistor radio.

Included in the program will be a firemen's water battle and a parade on Saturday; fireworks on Sunday and baseball games on Friday and Saturday.

Dances will be held each night with Lee Lyons, WKYO disc jockey, providing the music. A Teen Dance will also be held Sunday night. Also expected to draw crowds will be a number of concessions and pony rides.

Proceeds from the three-day celebration will be used to develop the village's community park.

Officers of the 20-member fire department are Schwartz, president; Vic Rocheleau, vice-president; Doug Comment, secretary, and Bill Lenhard, treasurer.

Church to Honor Stand-in Ministers

Eight area ordained and lay ministers and their wives are slated to be guests of honor at a Family Night, Sunday evening, July 8, at 8:00 at the Fraser Presbyterian Church, according to Lynn Spencer, Men's Club secretary.

The ministers presented services at the church during the nine month period that was without a minister. The Rev. John Osborn recently assumed his duties as full-time pastor of the church.

Scheduled to be honored are: Rev. John H. Fish, Rev. Melvin R. Vender and Arthur Holmberg, all of Cass City. Also to be honored are C. Leland Harris, Frank Dodge, James Bowen, Paul Soini and William K. Pietscher, all of Bad Axe.

A potluck dinner will be served.

Woman in a Man's World

Judith Huff Tops Engineering Class

A former Cass City woman added another distinction to an already long list of honors by being the second woman ever to receive a chemical engineering degree from the University of Florida College of Engineering.

Judith Ann Huff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Huff, Leesburg, Fla., was graduated recently from the University with a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering and academic honors at the top of her class.

A 1957 graduate of Cass City High School, Miss Huff has started working with the Savannah River plant of the DuPont Chemical Corp. at Aiken, S.C. She works in the technical department of the atomic energy division at the plant.

Miss Huff has an impressive list of honors. She recently became the first woman from the University to receive the Woman's Badge from Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society, and the first student from the University to receive national recognition for outstanding achievement by the Minneapolis Honeywell Co., an international manufacturing corporation. She was one of six students across the nation to receive the honor.

Judith was also recently elected to Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary society for bachelor of science students. She was president of the UF chapter of the Society of Women Engineers; a member of Sigma Tau, engineering honor society, and treasurer of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers on campus.

In an interview, she admitted that her chosen profession was unusual for a girl. "I enjoyed chemistry in high school more than any other subject. I couldn't see any reason for not taking it in college."

She attended the college under the Florida Industries Cooperative Plan, one in which engineering students attend school a semester and work a semester. She was the only woman enrolled under the plan at the university. She had already spent 15 months at DuPont under the plan.

Miss Huff came to Cass City with her parents from Mt. Clemens when she was seven years old. She moved to Leesburg with her parents after she graduated from Cass City.

Swinging Hawks Return

Popular Tom Jones and his "Swinging Hawks" will return Friday night to spark the free program sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Jones and his crew will take over right after the fourth free drawing for a bicycle has been concluded.

Last week's winner was Mrs. William McKinley. For the second straight week only one ticket was drawn to determine who would receive the free prize.

Coming Projects Discussed by Lions

Plans for coming Lions Club projects were discussed by the 13 Lions present at the club's regular meeting Monday night at Martin's Restaurant.

Lloyd Bryant, Lion Tamer, was appointed chairman of a Broom Sale, slated for sometime in September. Also discussed were a pig raffle and a wrestling match but no decision was reached on either matter.

George Jacoby, immediate past president, was presented with a gavel commemorating his past year of service as president of the club.

The 1961-62 treasurer's report was given by Al Freiburger. He also gave a breakdown on proceeds taken in on various projects throughout the year.

McIntyre Describes African Tour

Farms Will Suffer Under New Freedom

Africa, its problems and status as seen by a businessman were described to members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon by A. D. McIntyre, now of Saginaw and a former Cass City resident.

McIntyre spent 43 days in Africa, the country larger than the United States, Europe, China and India together.

He gave his opinions of Africa's agriculture and the effect of its new freedom of the people.

Agriculture McIntyre brought back an expert's view of the agricultural picture. One of the owners of Frutchey Bean Co., he has been running an eminently successful farm business for years.

He said that in many parts of Africa the land is very rich, although only about 10 per cent is under cultivation.

The land grows a myriad variety of crops. Among them are tea, oranges, bananas, sugar beets, sorghum, corn and wheat. The land also produces three crops a year, he said.

Most of the production is under the auspices of the English who brought modern farm methods to the country.

Take Over Now the natives of the land have taken over. "It's like turning a business over to a bunch of kids," McIntyre explained.

Not enough of them have the education to do the job, he said, although there are a few with excellent educations.

Tribes Vary There is a great variation among tribes in relationship to ability.

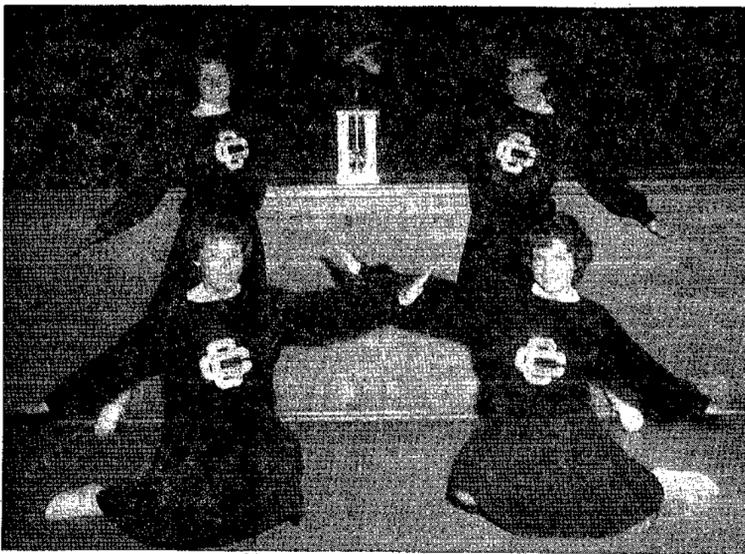

Some tribes are reasonably progressive, others are very primitive.

"For instance," he recalled, "our driver showed a steel plate in his head that had been placed there by modern surgery."

This plate was made necessary after the medicine men of a tribe cut open his head and rubbed it with a leg of an animal to cure a headache.

Asked why he allowed this, the driver replied that six other

Cheerleaders 3rd In Midwest Camp Preliminaries

Cass City's four pretty high school cheerleaders were slated to take part in the Camp All-American, Hartland, cheerleading grand champion finals yesterday (Wednesday), after taking third place in preliminary trials during the past week.

The girls, Sandra Copeland, Carol Fritz, Sherry Law and Suzanne Barnes, took third place honors during a five-day session held Sunday through Thursday, June 24-28, at the camp. First and second place awards went to Okemos and Alcona-Northville high schools, respectively.

An estimated 150 girls from 30 schools throughout the midwestern states attended the camp, which is run by Pauline Hess, Michigan State University cheerleading coach.

The girls were judged on performance in a skit and on two cheers taken from two different schools. They were also judged on all-around poise and personality.

The Cass City girls have been under the direction of Miss Carol Mannino for the past three years.

Girl Scout Camp Registration Ends July 9

Registration deadline for the county-wide Girl Scout Whispering Pines Day Camp, July 23 through 27, has been set for Monday, July 9, according to neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Pat Rabideau.

Originally set for early in June, the deadline was extended because of the limited number of girls registering for the five-day camp.

Approximately 23 Cass City Girl Scouts have registered for the camp so far, Mrs. Rabideau reports.

The camping sessions will be held at the Girl Scout Cabin (Whispering Pines) on Shabbona Road, southwest of Cass City, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and will include all Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Scouts in the same camping period.

Prior to the regular camp, a Day Camp Training Day will be held Wednesday, July 18, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at Whispering Pines.

Girls attending the session are asked to turn in health examinations made by their family physician within a week of the time of the camp. The examinations will be collected at the first day of the camp.

Mrs. Rabideau is also sending out a plea for more parents to act as leaders for the camp and for more drivers for the transportation pool.

For full details on the camp, contact Mrs. Rabideau.

One Call Sells For Jerry Decker

We only had one call, says Jerry Decker, but that was all it took to sell a side of beef with a Chronicle liner. Here is the way his action producer read:

FOR SALE—half of beef. Can be seen at Reed's Slaughterhouse, 45c lb. if you take all. Phone 8434-R.

Local Producer Pleased "No" to Controls

American turkey growers handed a resounding defeat to U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman by defeating his proposed turkey control plan during a recent national referendum, according to Don Smith, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program specialist, Lansing.

Smith, in an interview Tuesday, quoted from a recent Wall Street Journal that of the 8,000 producers eligible, 7,188 cast ballots. Of these, only 3,116 or 43.4 per cent voted in favor of the measure.

The proposed order, according to an earlier report by George Schian, Tuscola County ASC office manager, would have controlled marketing and production of turkeys.

A group of persons elected by the turkey growers would set the controls and would set up rules and regulations governing the order.

The plan, if passed, would have affected growers who marketed over 3,600 pounds of live turkey between Feb. 1, 1961, and Jan. 31, 1962.

Not affected by the measure and therefore ineligible to vote in the referendum, which was held between June 18 and 22, were those growers who marketed less than the 3,600 pounds during the period.

Smith reported that his office had received no official word from Washington. In any event, he commented, the issue will be dead unless the growers request a referendum.

Concluded on page two.

Coming Auction

Saturday, July 7—Basil Colton, administrator, will hold a household auction at 1:00 p.m. at the place located at 6432 Seventh Street, Cass City, to settle the estate of Mrs. Clarence (Lottie) Quick.

CORDUROY ROAD? Adam Deering, Gagetown maintenance supervisor, holds a portion of a log believed to be part of a corduroy road that once existed east of Gagetown, just inside the village limits. Pieces of the road, laid approximately a century ago, were unearthed Friday, June 22, when workmen dug a trench to lay the 46-foot, 18 inch drainage tube shown in the picture. The work is part of a road improvement project being carried on by the village and the county in the area. At the left are Dale Rabideau and Archie Ackerman Jr. (Chronicle photo)

In Tuscola County

Divorce Rate Below Average

In the nation, about one marriage in four ends in divorce. In Tuscola county the average for the first six months was one in five.

Through June there were 149 marriages and 80 divorces, according to the reports of the county clerk's office.

The Chronicle asked the Cass City Ministerial Association why the divorce rate was rising.

They answered through spokesman the Rev. John Fish that they felt it was the lack of communication. This includes sexual communication as well as the lack of communication between couples in the basic task of adjusting to a life together, Fish said.

Marriage Risk

In their marriage counseling, the pastors say that teenage marriages are more apt to have trouble than those of couples who marry later.

Be careful of short engagements, they caution, or trouble may well result.

Although there are many fine marriages of younger persons who have short engagements, more than the average of this type end on the rocks, Fish concluded.

In Michigan, divorce proceedings take six months when the couple has children. A childless couple may obtain a divorce in 60 days. Grounds for divorce in the state are extreme and repeated cruelty, desertion and non-support.

An Oakland county divorce analysis for three years showed that mental cruelty was cited as a cause for divorce 880 out of 1,638 times. It is the most popular "cause" in the state.

This same study showed that more marriages are apt to break up at any time. More hit the skids after six to 10 years than they do in any other period. There were 80 divorces after two years; 381 after two to five years; 422 after six to 10 years; 357 after 11 to 15 years, and 398 in the period following 15 years of marriage.

Hire New Deputy For Register of Deeds Office

William Profit, county register of deeds, announced this week that Clara Scriber of Caro has been hired to replace Muriel Sanford as deputy register of deeds for Tuscola county. Mrs. Sanford resigned.

Reflecting a trend of recent years, Profit pointed out that the work load in the office increased some 12 per cent over the same period in 1961.

Profit also reported that he was elected third vice-president of the Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds at a meeting held in Kalamazoo last week.

Firecracker More Powerful Than Youth Thought

An attempt to blast the water from a bathroom stool at Frank's Service Station with a "torpedo" firecracker backfired for a 16-year-old Cass City youth, Thursday, June 28.

According to Police Chief Carl Palmateer, the pressure from the exploding firecracker blew the stool to pieces.

The boy told Palmateer that he didn't think the firecracker would have enough power to cause so much damage.

Palmateer apprehended the boy after a thorough investigation and the youth promised to pay for the damages. Estimated total of the damages was set at $25.00.

Driver Education Successful Here

Required courses are generally taken grudgingly by students, but a class required for many Cass City High School freshmen and sophomores is one of the most popular.

Designed to cut down accidents and to teach young motorists responsibility, Driver's Education is also a favorite of parents.

"We stress skill and attitude," explains James Seals, guidance director and one of two teachers handling driver's education this summer. Also instructing the course is Robert Stickle, social sciences.

"Students with the proper attitude will acquire the skill," he continued.

He explained "attitude" as conscientiousness . . . wanting to do the right thing. "We get some students who are skilled but who are too irresponsible," he reported.

Driver's education began at Cass City in about 1956, according to Seals. Enrollment this year is approximately 114 students, down slightly from last year's 145 students.

He attributed the decrease to the size of the classes and not to a decline in interest.

All youngsters are required to take the course if they plan to obtain their operator's licenses before reaching their 18th birthday.

Students enrolling in the class must be 15 by the end of the course. Those between 15 and 16 are given a certificate and upon taking a written test, are issued a permit to drive while accompanied by a parent.

Does it cut accidents? "Definitely!" was Seals' emphatic reply. He estimated that of the several hundred who have taken the course since he had been teaching it, he knew of only a few who had accidents.

What about the student who completes the course and isn't ready to accept the responsibility of driving?

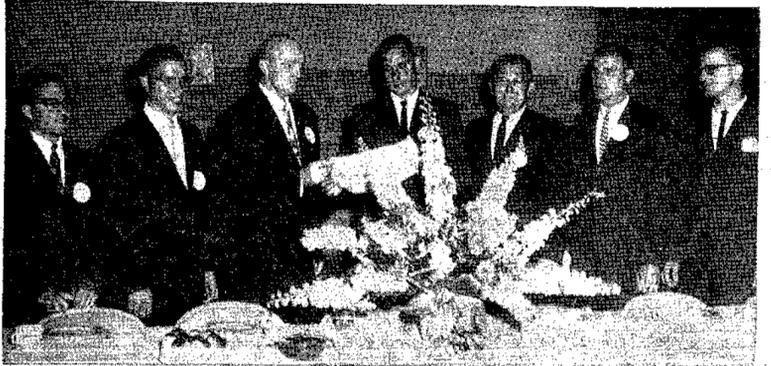

"It's our job to see they're ready," Seals stated. "Some will slip through, but less than under the old system where if you were 15 and could drive, you could get a license."

All students taking the course are eligible to get reduced insurance rates from some insurance companies, further proof of the accident cutting factor, according to Seals.

What are the drawbacks? The biggest problem, Seals says, is scheduling difficulty . . . trying to fit the farm students in so that they will still be of the most benefit at home. The entire program is during the summer and after school in the spring.

"From a teaching standpoint, it's different . . . less formal. You get to know the student better," he pointed out.

"The most difficult techniques to teach are parallel parking and, strangely enough, proper procedure for turning corners," he says.

Hazel Park Man Given 5-15 Years On B & E Charge

A 21-year-old Hazel Park man was sentenced to Jackson Prison for five to 15 years on a breaking and entering charge when he appeared before Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn Wednesday, June 27.

Sentenced without recommendation was Thomas J. Sergeant, Hazel Park.

He pleaded guilty earlier in the month to breaking and entering Johnnie's Dairy Bar, Wisner township, on June 3, while an escapee from the Huron county Sheriff's Department.

In other court business, Jules F. Reynaert, 18, accused of taking a car without intent to steal, was given a two-year probationary sentence and ordered to pay a fine of $100.00, costs of $40.00 and restitution of $80.

Reynaert reportedly took a car belonging to James Kolb, Vassar, on June 11, in Arbelta township. He was ordered to pay his fines at the rate of $10.00 per month.

Tigers Ride High In Little League

It looks as if only the Yankees have a chance to derail the Tigers' championship express in the Cass City Little League.

The undefeated league leaders added another notch to their victory belt with a win over the Cubs. The second place Yankees remained a game behind with a decision over the Pirates. The Pirates finally got into the win column with a decision over the Giants.

Yankees-Pirates

It was the Yankees all the way Wednesday, June 27, as they won 17-3. Harold Douglas went the distance for the winners, whiffing eight and allowing two hits. One of the bingles was a home run by Miles Profit. Profit was the losing pitcher. He was relieved by Nichols in the fifth.

Tigers-Cubs

The Tigers had little trouble with the Cubs as they registered a 16-9 victory Friday night. Larry Hartwick was the winning pitcher. Pacing the Tigers' attack were Hartwick, Maharg, Ryan and Mark each with a single safety. Tom Dewey went the distance for the Cubs to take the loss. Rick Lorentzen rapped a homer for the losers.

Pirates-Giants

The Pirates moved up to a tie for the basement spot with their first victory of the year in a come-from-behind win over the Giants, 8-7, Monday.

Phil Nichols, who relieved Mike Murphy, was credited with the win. John Shagena was charged with the loss.

Phil Nichols was the big stick for the Pirates with a grand slam home run. Duncan Wallace picked up two for four for the Giants.

The standings:
Through Monday, July 2

Team	W	L	GB
Tigers	4	0	-
Yankees	3	1	1
Cubs	2	3	2½
Giants	1	3	3
Pirates	1	3	3

Tell Winners in Parade on Wheels

An estimated 137 children took part in the recreation program sponsored "Parade on Wheels," Thursday, June 28, according to Mrs. Richard Case, program director.

Tricycles, go-carts, wagons, floats and bicycles were entered by the children and prizes were awarded to the best in each category.

Best tricycle awards went to Janice Ayres and Donny Lowe with best wagon awards presented to Drew, Scott and Greg Guernsey.

Sharon Eberline and Karen Kilbourn took first in originality and largest float winners were Jan Gaspie, Mardi Auten, Debbie Paul, Yvonne Erla and Mary Jane Croft.

Dorothy Tracey copped the honors for the smallest vehicle in the parade and Sally Geiger and Linda Douglas took best girl's bicycle awards. Best boy's bicycle winner was Jeffery Profit.

In other recreation business, a pet show is slated for Friday morning. Categories are bird, fish and animal and prizes will be awarded in each category.

Future plans call for a decathlon during the last week of the program. Children may sign up now and until July 12. Events will be entered according to age.

Children between the ages of nine and 18 may have the opportunity to take tennis lessons through the recreation program provided enough interest is shown, according to Mrs. Case.

Bulen Motors has offered to purchase tennis equipment if enough children sign up for the course. Lessons will be given in the morning along with regular playground activities.

Those interested are asked to attend a special tennis meeting Monday, July 9, at 10:30 a.m. during the recreation period.

Plans are also being made to start a girls' softball team.

It is by trial and error that we make progress in this world—don't expect to follow a blueprint.

63 at 11th Annual Wenzloff Reunion

Sixty-three members of the Lewis Wenzloff family met at the Cass City Recreation Park Sunday, for the 11th annual Wenzloff Reunion.

A short business meeting was conducted by Ellwood Eastman, chairman, and Shirley Koehler, secretary-treasurer, during which new officers were elected. Elected were Mrs. John Curry, Troy, chairman, and Mrs. William Barrens, Pontiac, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Eastman was the oldest member present and Robert Sullivan Jr. was the youngest.

Relatives from Kingston, Frankemuth, Troy, Pontiac, Rochester, Royal Oak, Marysville, Fort Huron, East Lansing, Cheboygan and Omaha, Nebraska, attended.

During the afternoon, members played games, swam and visited.

$12 Million Spent In Thumb During 5-Year Program

Road contracts totaling $1,759,699 were awarded for modernization of 39.9 miles of highway and roads in Tuscola county, during the past five years, according to a report from the Michigan State Highway Department.

The money is part of an estimated $12 million spent by the Highway Department during its soon to be completed five-year program in four Thumb-area counties.

Counties included in the current program are Huron, Lapeer, Sanilac and Tuscola.

Work in Tuscola county was done on M-24, M-25, M-46, M-81 and other routes.

Sanilac county work included modernization of 96.9 miles of M-19, US-25, M-46, M-51, M-53 and other routes, with contracts totaling $3,569,551.

Huron county contracts totaling $2,993,013, were awarded for modernization of 57.9 miles of M-19, US-25, M-25, M-53 and M-142.

Contracts totaling $1,872,999 were awarded for modernization of 22.5 miles of M-24, M-38, M-53 and M-90 in Lapeer county.

During the five-year program which began July 1, 1957, and will end Saturday, June 30, 217.2 miles of state highways in the Thumb have been modernized.

Construction contracts totaling $10,198,000 were awarded for Thumb area projects and an estimated $2 million was spent for right-of-way and engineering, sending the total commitment of funds over the $12 million mark, according to John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner.

Handicraft Items Sought for Summer Program

Cass City Recreation officials sent out an "SOS" bulletin Monday to parents of children taking part in the current Recreation Program.

The "SOS" (Short On Supplies) explained that in an effort to improve playground activities, miscellaneous items are needed for the handicraft classes.

Items needed are scraps of cloth, paper bags, empty thread spools, egg cartons, light bulbs, empty coffee cans, empty shortening cans, empty bleach bottles, cardboard boxes, empty milk cartons, paper plates, yarn and wire.

Also needed are bottle caps, scraps of foil, wall paper, cottage cheese cartons, tile, shoe boxes, paper cups, straws, buttons, safety pins, thread and empty paper towel rolls.

Persons having such items may leave them at the Elementary School gymnasium between 9:00 a.m. and noon.

Erlas Win, Lose In Elkton League

There is no City softball league in Cass City this year. One team, Erla's Food Center, has entered an Elkton league.

After three games, the locals have won two and lost one.

Against Elkton Evangelical, the locals blasted out a 17-4 decision with Dean Hoag picking up five for five to pace the attack. Dan Erla pitched the victory, allowing seven hits.

Ty's Sportsmen measured the locals 6-2 in the second game as Billie Brown held Erla's to two hits. Dan Erla was the loser as he was nicked for 10 hits.

Andy Kozan, back from the Army, hurled Erla's to a 9-3 decision over Thumme's Insurance. He allowed three hits and was helped by Fred Milligan who rapped out three hits.

Tonight (Thursday) Erla's play the Evangelicals at 9 o'clock.

Damage Slight in Two-car Accident

Two cars suffered minor damages in an accident that took place Sunday, June 24, on South Seeger Street, according to a report filed by one of the drivers on Wednesday, June 27.

Involved in the accident were Douglas Van Allen, 31, and Arthur E. Anthes, 46, both of Cass City.

According to the report, Anthes was backing out of a driveway and stopped to allow the VanAllen vehicle to pass. VanAllen reportedly failed to clear the Anthes car and struck it in the bumper.

Occupants of the VanAllen car were his wife and five children. Anthes was alone. The accident took place at 12:15 p.m.

Slate Barley Tour In Area Counties

Tuscola county barley growers will have an opportunity to discuss barley production and view the fields of two county barley growers July 10, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Before coming to Tuscola county the tour group will visit two farms in Huron county and will arrive at the Kenneth Gilmore farm, one-half mile west and one and one-half miles north of Akron, on Ringle Road at 3 p.m. Mr. Gilmore has grown barley on his farm for approximately 40 years and this year has a 24-acre field of Trail barley. The other Tuscola county stop will be at the Bernard Hickey farm, on Garner Road, three miles north, one mile west and one-half mile north of Gilford.

From the Hickey farm the group will stop at the E. C. Korhals farm, on Garner Road, three miles east and one and a quarter miles south of Reese, where at 7 p.m. there will be a twilight meeting at the Michigan State University barley and oats variety plots, said Ballweg.

Tell Presbyterian

Cass City Presbyterian church members will hear four different ministers during the four-week period beginning Sunday, July 15, and ending Sunday, August 5, according to the Rev. John Fish, pastor.

During the four-week period, Mr. Fish is slated to be studying at Union Seminary, New York City, serving as counselor at a Michigan Synod senior high conference and vacationing for two weeks with his family.

Preaching while he is away will be: July 15-The Rev. Melvin Vender, former pastor of the church.

July 22-The Rev. Donald Gordon, chaplain and teacher at Sheldon Jackson High School and Junior College, Sitka, Alaska.

Summer Schedule

July 29-The Rev. Richard Wylie, pastor of the Sandusky Presbyterian Church.

August 5-The Rev. Jerry Gustin, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Kan., and former summer pastor of the Fraser and Ubyl Presbyterian Churches.

Mr. Fish also announced that summer worship service hours for July and August will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Sunday instead of the usual 11:00 a.m. service.

Church school for children up to the third grade will be held during the worship service.

dry and snap beans

Now there's a dependable way to control annual grasses and many broadleaf weeds in dry and snap beans: Mix EPTAM herbicide into your soil before planting.

EPTAM is a selective herbicide. It gives outstanding control of grasses and many broadleaf weeds before they become a problem. This lets you reduce the number of cultivations, reduce weed competition for water, nutrients and sunlight, and harvest a cleaner crop more easily.

This year, save money, time and work on cultivation. Use EPTAM for an easier-harvested, high-yield crop. See your dealer for information.

Cancer Drive Tops

Quota in County

The Tuscola County Unit of the American Cancer Society collected $7,266.13 in its 1962 drive, according to Mrs. Roy Schulte, crusade chairman.

Still remaining to report are three townships that are expected to add to the total.

George E. Elleson wrote a personal letter to the county chapter thanking members for their efforts in running the fund over its quota.

Michigan Mirror

Look for Light Vote in Primary

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

Candidates for the August primary are in. Are you? Persons interested in gaining state or Congressional offices all made their filing deadline. The next deadline will determine who will select Michigan's elected officials.

With many state legislators facing primary opposition for the first time, much of it from individuals who were elected to the Constitutional Convention, the importance of casting a ballot in the primary is sharply increased.

Michigan voters traditionally vote heavy in the November general election, but the primary count is usually low.

This year, with the only statewide primary being run in the race for the Lieutenant Governor nominations, State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery said he wouldn't be surprised if the tally in August is lower than usual.

The only way to have a voice in government is to insert your choice on the ballot.

In Michigan's primary you must choose either a Republican or Democratic ballot on which to vote, but this choice is not binding in any way on your choice in the general election.

This year's deadline for primary registrations is July 9.

The choice of candidates is great. The 1962 elections would be a good time to give a careful look at the candidates, their platforms, and their individual qualifications to serve you.

It is all but announced, and may be by the time this is printed, that the voters will not consider the proposed constitution until the April ballot next year.

Constitutional Convention President Stephen S. Nisbet filed suit which was taken to the Supreme Court to gain ballot placement in November. The Attorney General previously held that the Convention would have to complete its work earlier than it did if the proposed document were to come to a vote in November.

An August 1 final adjournment session set by the Convention still could produce changes in the document, although the consensus is that no changes will be made.

A single-day session in August would put the document just barely over the 90 days required by law for a question to be proposed before it can be voted upon.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

The Fourth's Not The Same Anymore

By Ilene Warren

Happy Fourth of July! Isn't it odd that this precious day has never been declared a national holiday? Nearly every state in the Union, however, has a statute setting the day aside as a legal holiday.

The Independence day of yesterday used to be celebrated with a bang - or, more correctly, several bangs. Almost every town of fair size had a whirling complete with speeches, band, merry-go-round, Ferris wheel... and firecrackers! Unhappily, nearly every 4th of July ended with someone badly burned - or killed. Finally and wisely, the slogan "a safe and sane 4th of July" along with the banning of the indiscriminate use of fireworks made the celebration of Independence Day a more quiet experience. Usually some drive-in theater or a park will advertise fireworks and for most folks this constitutes the extent of celebration.

Some people comment that the 4th of July doesn't seem the same anymore. No, it doesn't. Taking all things into consideration (even the missing of the carnival atmosphere of the "old" Independence Day), it's better today.

After last week's column (in which I referred to the possibility of an Indian perched in my family tree) I rediscovered some relatives - or they rediscovered me. Someone on the Dunlap side scoffed, "Whoever heard of a Scotch Indian?" If he meant a thrifty Indian or one on the rocks, such Indians do exist; however, if he meant nationality, that is another story. Anyway, the old Indian fighter to whom I referred was on the Parrott side of the family tree. Great-grandma Ake's mother was part Indian - at least it has been strongly suggested that she was. Frankly, I hope it's true for the Indian has a glorious past, his present is pretty good and the future looks even better!

Some religionists refer to the Indians as "Lamanites" believing they are the descendants of four brothers who migrated to this land (with their families) from Jerusalem just prior to the captivity of the Hebrews by the Babylonians. There are Indian legends that lend some truth to this belief. It all makes a most interesting study and I am fascinated by it. A few years ago I did some research on the Mayans, Incas, Aztecs and Toltecs with the State library as my source. I should like to do more study - and intend to "some day." Right now there just isn't time.

Advertising today is considered to be a key to the success of a business or product. It is, then, a chief source of income to the media. Even those magazines which for years (such as Reader's Digest) printed no advertising had to succumb to the competition and sprinkle their pages with advertising. The result of the admirable snow jobs being perpetrated in magazines, over the radio and on TV is: everyone must advertise. There are few non-conformists and only one has achieved significant success sans advertising; that one is the Hershey Chocolate Corporation. This company is the exception that proves the following rule: "The duck it never cackles about its million eggs or so; the hen is quite a different bird: One egg and hear her blow. The duck we spurn but crown the hen, which leaves me to surmise: Don't hide your light, just blow your horn: It pays to advertise!"

Of special note among the changes is the transfer of the city listing, indicating where a city can be found on the map proper, from the back of the sheet to the front. This facilitates use of the map in finding an unknown location.

The special city maps, detailing Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and other cities, are transferred to the back along with the Detroit street plan and enlargements of the various North-South and East-West freeway routes.

Freeway interchanges are obviously noted, for the first time, to provide another feature which will undoubtedly prove popular to the motorists unfamiliar to Michigan.

The 1962 map continues the practice started last year of listing the various state parks and the facilities available.

Anti-Litter Campaign Launched

GOV. JOHN B. SWAINSON (left) and State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs have urged Michigan citizens to join in an all-out anti-litter campaign this summer. Swainson and Childs, who is chairman of the Governor's Keep Michigan Beautiful Committee, are holding a poster which the Committee will be distributing throughout the State.

Cass City Men in Ferris Institute's Summer Program

Three Cass City men are among 2,000 students taking part in Ferris Institute's full-scale instructional program this summer.

They are: John Donahue, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Donahue; Robert McComb, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McComb, and William Ruhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruhl, all of Cass City.

Ruhl is a senior in the School of Pharmacy; McComb is a sophomore in architectural drafting in the Trade and Industrial Division and Donahue is a sophomore in auto service.

Slate "Meet Your Candidate" Meeting

The Sanilac County Farm Bureau will sponsor a "Meet Your Candidate" meeting Monday, July 23, at the Farm Bureau building in Sandusky.

Spokesmen for the citizenship committee, which is handling the affair, say that both state and county candidates will be invited. The meeting is open to the public.

591 Pounds Fat for Area Holstein Herd

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new lactation average for the registered Holstein herd of Gilbert Davis, Sandusky. The herd has 35 completed production records averaging 15,235 pounds of milk and 591 pounds of butterfat. Lactation averages are calculated on the commonly-employed two-milking a day, 305 day, mature equivalent basis.

Michigan State University supervised the weighing and testing of production as part of the official herd testing programs of the national Holstein organization.

New Car Sales Climbing in Tuscola County

A Michigan Department of State survey shows that 881 new cars were sold in Tuscola county during the first four months of this year. During the same period, 132,218 new automobiles were sold by dealers throughout Michigan.

Secretary of State James M. Hare pointed out that sales of both new and used cars brought in $23,110,009 in sales and use tax revenue during the first third of the year.

"This," Hare said, "is over six million dollars more than the $17,065,589 collected during the same period in 1961. This 33 per cent increase points to an unusually high sales year, despite the disillusionment in Wall Street and the ups and downs in other sectors of our economy."

In some circles a would-be connoisseur exhibits his good taste by fault-finding.

Install Village Men In Caro Knights Of Columbus Council

Two Cass City men were installed as officers of the Caro Knights of Columbus Council 3224 during installation ceremonies Thursday, June 28, at the KC Hall, Caro.

Installed by District Deputy Wally Ball Sr. were the Rev. Father Arnold Messing, chaplain, and Forest Tyo, deputy grand knight, both of Cass City.

Also installed were: Harlon Bedore, Caro, grand knight; Frank LaPratt, Caro, chancellor; Rodney Gast, Caro, recorder; Wally Ball, Unionville, financial secretary; Jerry Parriatt, Caro, treasurer; and Floyd Avery, Reese, lecturer.

Others installed were: Don Ritzler, Gageton, advocate; Tom Lokken, Caro, warden; Leo Brandmire, Unionville, inside guard; Richard Ritzler, outside guard, and L. J. Dill, Gageton, and Mike Rajkovich and Dorney Edwards, both of Caro, trustees.

Services Held for Ellis Mallory, 74

Funeral services for Ellis Mallory, 74, retired Nestle's employee and lifelong resident of this area, were held Friday at 3:30 p.m. in the Douglas Funeral Home. The Rev. S. R. Wurtz officiated and burial was in Ellington cemetery.

Mr. Mallory was found dead in his home on West Main Street June 27 by a neighbor, Earl Moon.

Son of the late John and Lavinia Mallory, he was born in Elmwood township, Sept. 22, 1887. He never married. He served briefly in World War I.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Myrtle Schrader of Kingston, and a brother, Jem Mallory of Cass City.

The Want Ads Are Newsy Too.

Mr. Businessman:

Here are 9 solid facts you should consider in planning your advertising:

1. The newspaper is an advertising medium that is WANTED—it is sought after and paid for, and advertising in it is not an intruder in the home.
2. Nearly all of a newspaper's circulation is CONCENTRATED in its market area - without overextending into less promising markets.
3. The newspaper provides PENETRATION in the primary market by reaching virtually every family or customer in that market.
4. People read newspaper ads when they are ready to make a decision and to act - WHEN THEY'RE READY TO BUY.
5. The newspaper is convenient; it may be consulted at a time most CONVENIENT to every member of the family.
6. People LIKE TO READ NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS - surveys show 85 per cent of people want their newspapers to contain advertising.
7. Every issue of every newspaper contains INFORMATION AND FEATURES of interest to every member of the family.
8. Newspaper reading is a habit and a part of people's routine.
9. The newspaper is ideal for comparison—items in a newspaper may be easily compared with items in other newspaper ads.

The most effective and most economical way to promote business is through newspaper advertising.

Many a man and his good intentions go broke together.

COMMENTS BY KRAFT

Wait 'til You See

The White of the Ash!

By Dave Kraft

We purchased a small barbecue grill the other day. You men know what a barbecue grill is, don't you?

It's a small round gadget that pulls you away from the TV set while you coax and plead with it to burn a small mound of charcoal.

It's the little round idol that someone saw you on your knees in front of and now everyone is accusing you of being a Buddhist.

It's the little round fire-thrower that suddenly shoots up a wall of flame after an hour of coaxing and nearly burns the side of your house off.

We are now using ours quite regularly. For awhile it looked like we might never use it again after the first time.

I came home after work and my wife said, "Light the grill, will you?"

"Sure... what grill?"

"The one I just bought, stupid." Rather than start a big argument, I quietly rummaged around until I found where she had hidden the charcoal and proceeded to attempt to light the grill.

I very carefully crumpled some paper and laid it in the bottom of the grill. I then dumped in a pile of charcoal and without further ado put a match to it.

It flared up nicely and figuring I had everything done, I went back into the house to catch the last few minutes of the Bugs Bunny Show.

A short while later, my wife came storming into the living room. "If you want anything to eat, you'd better light that grill!"

"I did light the grill! Didn't I? Didn't I?"

Well, I figured I finally was about to get the best of her. "Okay, smarty. Let's take a look and see who's right."

Sure enough, the charcoal lay inertly in the bottom of the grill, colder than a well digger's knee.

"Did you read the instructions?"

"What for? I know how to start a fire."

"Certainly, that's why it isn't burning."

Boy, if there's anything I hate, it's a smarty-pants woman. Finally she said she'd read the instructions and I could do the procedure as she went along.

"Pour a small mound of charcoal into the bottom of the grill and pour on some charcoal lighter."

"Aha! We don't have any charcoal lighter," I yelled triumphantly. "Yes we do... I just bought some, stupid," she yelled back.

It was right about then that I decided that if she called me "stupid" again, I was going to see what a liberal dose of charcoal lighter would do for her.

SELF-CONFIDENCE

It's impossible to sell yourself to others until you have sold yourself to you.

COUNCIL MEETING

A regular meeting of the council of the Village of Cass City was held on June 26, 1962, with all members present.

Minutes of the May regular and one special meeting were read and approved as read.

Ken Eisinger representing the Chamber of Commerce presented four proposals for council consideration and was advised that his organization should form a committee to meet with the village street and sidewalk committee.

President Hunt appointed a committee to work on a comprehensive plan for Village employee salaries and wages.

Motion by Seals seconded by Guinther that Village write off bill of $58.00 to Charlie McCaslin for water line repair. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Guinther that when a Village employee is subpoenaed as a witness he will be paid the difference between the amount received and his regular wage. Yea-5 Nay-1. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Ware that we send one or two delegates to the Municipal League Annual meeting to be held in Detroit September 19th to 21st, 1962. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Auten that bills OK'd by finance committee be paid. Motion carried.

Motion by Auten seconded by Rabideau that meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Side Dress Corn With Nitrogen

Side dressing now with nitrogen may result in higher corn yields next fall.

It pays to use as much as 110-120 pounds of total nitrogen per acre on fields yielding 100 bushels of shelled corn per acre. But if yield goals are higher, more nitrogen will be needed, according to Don R. Keble, county extension agent in agriculture.

However, the phosphorous and potassium supply in the soil needs to be adequate for the yields. Many times a corn yield is reduced because there is a starvation from nitrogen while the phosphorous and potassium supply is adequate for a much higher yield.

Fields which have been manured heavily before plowing require less nitrogen. Each ton of manure supplies about four pounds of nitrogen. A legume plowed down can release as much as 70 pounds of nitrogen per acre the first year.

Research has shown that there is little difference between various types of nitrogen fertilizers. The solid, gas or liquid forms result in the same yields and there is no difference in grain or silage quality, Keble points out.

Placement of the dry forms of nitrogen such as urea, ammonium nitrate or ammonium sulfate is not particularly important. It can be placed close to the row, half way between the rows or on top of the soil. However, the low pressure nitrogen solution and anhydrous ammonia must be placed in the soil.

The most rapid uptake of nitrogen by corn occurs about three weeks after application. This period occurs between the time the corn is knee high and pollination time.

"Now is the time to put the nitrogen on," reports Keble. "Don't put it off."

The fellow who acts now can run circles around the fellow who is too cautious to move.

Mary Ann Hobart Returns to 4-H

Miss Mary Ann Hobart begins her duties this week as Summer 4-H Agent. Miss Hobart will be a senior at Michigan State University next fall.

Due to the increase in 4-H activities during the summer months a summer agent has been employed by the board of supervisors for the past five years, to work with the extension staff in 4-H programs.

During this summer Miss Hobart will be working on demonstrations, judging and helping 4-H leaders to prepare 4-H members for the county fair and the State 4-H show in East Lansing.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, reported that things was really popping at his church these days. It all started, he al- lowed, when Hezekiah Adams got up at a meeting of the Ping-Pong Committee two weeks ago and said he had a important announcement.

Hezekiah announced that the church down the road was re- modeling their steeple. He told the Committee he couldn't re- collect when his church didn't have the highest steeple fer miles around, but now the word was out that this other church steeple was going to be about two foot higher'n any in the com- munity. 'They wasn't but one an- swer, allowed Hezekiah, and that was to build a new church.

Well sir, said the Parson, this piece of shocking news really threwed the Committee into a dither. He told the fellers he'd been trying to talk his congrega- tion into building a new church fer years, had told 'em how they needed more space to car- ry on the Lord's work. But not- thing he ever said, claimed the Parson, stirred up his folks like Hezekiah's announcement.

First off, reported the Parson, Katie Hightower, when she heard another church was gitting a steeple two foot higher'n hers, just keeled over in a faint. It was the first time, he said, he ever knowed sister Katie was so con- cerned about the church.

Well, by the time they'd brung Katie around, he reported, the Committee was in a all-out cam- paign to build a new church. They was banging their fists on the pews and allowing as how they'd show that other church a thing or two. The Parson told the fellers it was a thrill to see his folks taking to the Lord's work with such fire.

A meeting of the whole con- gregation was called fer the next night and things is now git- ting in high gear, he said. The wimmen folks is going to put on a chicken noodle supper twict a week. They decided on this on account of it not taking much chicken and they got plenty of well water. The men folks is going to raffle off a white-face heffer. The Parson said this might look a little bad at first, on account of the church being agin gambling, but it was de- cided that when the church steeple was at stake, the Lord would forgive 'em.

Well, that was about the size of it, allowed the Parson. He said his folks was really set on git- ting the new church with that high steeple. Who knows, he said, but what some of the mem- bers themselves might even make a contribution.

The good Parson excused his- self a little early, said he was chairman of the Measuring Com- mittee and they had to slip down the road and put the tape on that other steeple.

Dear Mister Editor:

It looks like July Fourth don't mean much no more to this space age generation of Americans. I can recollect when I was a boy folks would git together on July Fourth to hear some public of- fice holder read the Declaration of Independence and then cut loose with a brand of patriotic oratory that would singe the hair off'n a white face bull two mile down the road. He'd allow as how he was willing to die fer his coun- try, and a heap of the folks in the crowd was figgering it would be better if he'd die fer it in- stead of living off it. They wasn't much sincerity to it and maybe it's better like we got it now. To- day we measure the joy of July Fourth by the number that gets killed on the highways and ever year it gets more joyful.

I was reading a piece in the papers last week that is taking some of the joy out of Independ- ence Day fer me. The piece said a team of investigators fer the House Foreign Affairs Commit- tee was just back from a on-the- spot check of foreign aid in Korea and Turkey. Congressman Alexander of North Carolina was giving out the figgers and they was all very bad.

Fer instant, them investigators found they had $470,000 stored up in Korea since 1959 fer soy beans just in case they might want to bring in some more soy beans. But the warehouses in Korea was already overflowing with soy beans that was going to rot on account of no place to use 'em. And they found $10 million stored there that had been earmarked in 1958 fer a electric plant that has now been decided not to build.

In Turkey they found the mili- tary folks and the aid folks was trying to keep each other from knowing what they was doing, with the result they had dupli- cated $300,000 fer trucks and $1561 during the year although at the end of the calendar period the figure was down somewhat. The average for the year was an in- crease of 1,000 from 1960, Hig- gins said.

And while we are overloading warehouses in them foreign coun- tries scattered around the world, things is gitting higher and high- er here at home. I was reading yesterday, fer instant, where gro- ceries was expected to reach a all-time high by the first of No- vember. They is a old saying that fat folks don't live as long as skinny folks, but if food keeps going up, fat folks is going to live as long as they can afford to.

But I saw a style note in the Sunday paper where "There will be nothing new in corsets this fall." Come to think about it, Mister Editor, except fer price, has there ever been?

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Overhaul State Civil Service

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association

State government last year em- ployed nearly 31,000 persons, the State Civil Service Commission reports.

Of the 30,552 persons on the state payroll at year's end, more than two-thirds of them were in three general areas of service: mental health, highways, and health, welfare and employment security.

Mental health units around the state accounted for 10,100 em- ployees. Departments of health, welfare and employment security employed another 5,417 persons, and 4,646 were listed on the High- way Department payroll.

The year also marked what Commission Chairman George N. Higgins of Ferndale called "some of the most significant advances of any year since civil service was established by Constitutional amendment 21 years ago."

Agency personnel officers worked with the Commission staff to accomplish the first over- all revision of the Commission rules which affect all classified employees.

The state also entered its first contract to provide group life and health insurance for its em- ployees, similar to policies used in private business.

Automation made its way into the Civil Service Department sys- tem in 1961. A method of produc- ing employment lists and scoring written tests by machine was de- signed.

The Commission also in- stituted a partial tuition program to encourage employees to im- prove their abilities by training at accredited schools on their own time.

Seasonal changes in employ- ment boosted the average to 31- 561 during the year although at the end of the calendar period the figure was down somewhat. The average for the year was an in- crease of 1,000 from 1960, Hig- gins said.

Children entering school each fall have their problems. Most problems are small and resolve themselves as soon as the child gets used to his new surround- ings, but there are a number which take much longer.

Some of these, such as vision irregularities, often take some time to solve because they are not discovered immediately. The State Health Department has hopes of eliminating this problem which prevents many children from ad- justing to their new life in the classroom.

A vision screening device de- signed by department technicians is being used commercially for the first time this year to test the sight of large numbers of preschool children.

It is hoped that widespread use of the machine can be gained within a few years to catch sight problems before children reach the stage where they are causing a teacher difficulty which is not easily diagnosed.

Previously the limited ability of preschool children to com- municate, and the lack of an ef- fective vision testing device frustrated efforts to check the sight of youngsters.

The new screening device, de- signed for use with three-year- olds and older children, avoids the use of concepts such as up, down, right and left - which are often confusing to a child in these years.

Instead of these abstract terms, the youngsters are asked whether the letter "E" is pointing to a rabbit, flower, clouds or grass.

Another technique developed by the Department gives the child an opportunity to become familiar with the idea. A replica of the testing device is sent to parents of children to be tested. They are encouraged to teach their child the "game" on which they will be tested.

Experiments with the machine showed nearly six per cent of the youngsters screened were re- ferred to their eye doctor because of possible defects. Half of these failed the test and the others were referred because of symp- toms such as squinting or watery eyes.

Officials who developed the ma- chine said the three-year-old testing age was set because of the advantages of working with this group. They more readily need glasses or a patch to strengthen weak eyes than other age groups, either older or young- er.

The statewide screening pro- gram includes 12 counties this year: Antrim, Calhoun, Charle- voix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Ingham, Kalamazoo, Macomb, Marquette, Midland, Livingston and Wayne.

The Constitutional Convention will not officially be concluded until after its scheduled Aug. 1 session to approve the final printed version, but Secretary Fred I. Chase has compiled an in- teresting note on the proceedings during the bulk of the meetings.

Convention delegates worked a total of 70,344 man hours in for- mal sessions. This compilation did not include the thousands of hours in the early weeks last fall when only brief formal meetings were held but long hours were spent in committee rooms.

Many of the work hours were accumulated during the final 16 days prior to the May 11 adjourn- ment. These sessions averaged more than 8 hours a day, Chase said.

HOW LONG SHOULD YOUR TIRES LAST?

Continuing competition among rayon and nylon tire cord makers to increase their share of the market is resulting in better tires for motorists.

Rayon today holds about 80 per cent of the tire market due mainly to lower price, though its lead has been challenged in recent years by the stronger nylon cords. The competition has caused rayon cord makers to bring out stronger threads that come close to matching nylon in strength.

Nylon tire makers are working hard to reduce prices, but their big advantages are still greater strength and adaptability to recapping.

Your tires can wear out in less than 10,000 miles or last for 40,000, depending on inflation and speed. Underinflation of 30 per cent, for instance, a fairly common occurrence, reduces tire life to 60 per cent of normal.

By creating high tire temperatures, especially on underinflated tires, high speed can cut tire life drastically. Taking "normal" speed at 50 MPH, a continuous speed of 80 MPH would increase tread wear fourfold. Reducing continuous speed to 40 MPH will produce a bonus of 41 per cent increase over normal.

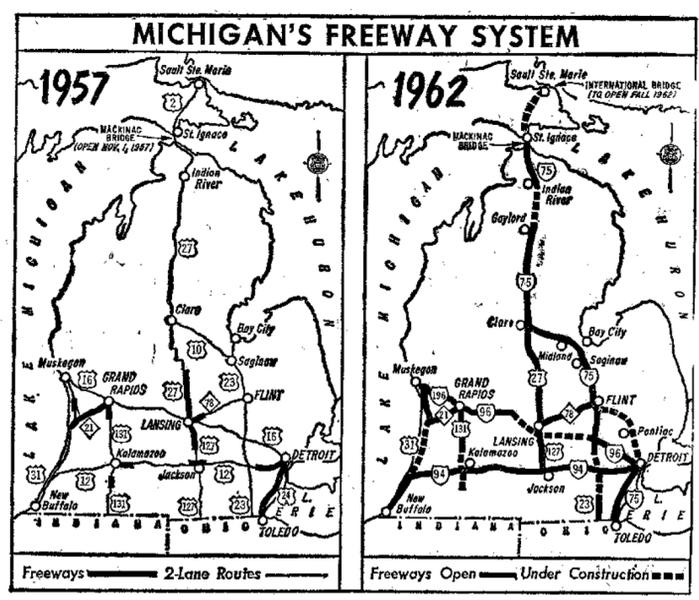

To protect your tire investment, check your inflation each 500 miles with the tires cold. It is a serious mistake made by many motorists to deflate their tires before or during a long trip when they will be driving at high speeds. A warm tire naturally registers greater inflation poundage due to heat expansion which dissipates as the tire cools.

Create Homes That Remain Timely, Architects Told

The trend of families towards choosing homes as they do cars, on the strength of appearance as well as quality, is prompting architects to create houses that will remain "timely" for an indefinite period.

Today the average family is looking for more than just adequate shelter, points out George Schuchman, architectural consultant to a major glass company. They want a house that is pleasant to look at and also suitable for the type of furnishings and decor they prefer.

"This has resulted in a noticeable swing away from the fixed

"period" home," he said. "Styling is currently following more neutral lines, with design features characteristic of two or even three different types of house, now often attractively combined under one roof.

This wide range of flexibility lets homemakers use practically any decorating scheme without having it appear out-of-place in the over-all design of the house."

Aside from integral styling, builders are also using new construction techniques to simplify the adaptability of a home.

One such device outlined by Schuchman is a detachable window muntin or "grid" for multi-paned windows. Unlike previous types where each division was a separate piece of glass, the popular idea now is to make the window a single large glass unit and create the pattern by means of a detachable grid which fits into the frame.

Because windows exert a strong influence in determining the "period" classification of a home, the grids themselves can be used to help create the particular type of architecture the homeowner wants, whether it is contemporary, Colonial, Spanish or traditional English.

Aside from their part in styling, the removable grids also offer time and money saving advantages, Schuchman said.

Since they are made for frames using standard sizes of insulating glass, homeowners can realize substantial savings in window installations throughout the house.

When the glass needs cleaning it is no longer necessary to scrub into dozens of hard-to-get-at corners. The grid comes out easily, leaving only one large glass area to polish. Painting also takes only a few minutes as there is no need to carefully "strip" the frame to avoid getting paint on the glass.

HIGHLIGHTING CONSTRUCTION in Cass City and the area is the building of the $143,000 St. Pancratius Catholic Church on South Seeger Street. Completion of the church is slated for November with occupancy plans still tentative. Laying of the corner-stone is scheduled Sunday, July 22.

Home Owners Using Sod for Quick, Beautiful Lawns

A good lawn is the ultimate goal of most home owners. It's become a kind of suburban status symbol. Both seeding and sodding can make a lawn which the neighbors will view with envy.

Seeding is a long term project requiring both patience and skill. However, sodding which is much like laying an outdoor wall-to-wall carpet, can transform a barren lot to a grassy mat in a matter of days.

Sod can be laid at any time during the growing season up to a month before growth stops in the fall, according to Dr. Donald P. Watson, horticulturist at Michigan State University. But, lawns should be seeded only in late summer or early fall.

With sod, growth is rapid and the roots are embedded in a good layer of top soil. "Professionally grown turf is usually a single type of grass, thickly matted, free from weeds and in a good healthy condition," says Watson.

Although usually more expensive than seeding, sod has become increasingly popular. Sod is popular for replacing small spots in a lawn which have been damaged by heavy traffic -- especially during the winter months.

Sod is grown on "sod farms" where experts specialize in growing hundreds of acres of this lawn material each year. The top layer of roots -- one-half to three-fourths of an inch in length -- are cut and rolled by machine. Each roll of sod usually measures 16 by 81 inches and weighs about 30 pounds.

When replacing poor turf, the old grass should be plowed or rototilled to add soil organic matter. The surface should then be prepared in the same way as for seeding. This means contouring to get the desired slope, cultivating to a depth of six to eight inches, fertilizing and raking. Only then can the sod be rolled into place, fitted, matched and packed by rolling and watering.

Be sure in buying sod that it has not been standing in a roll for any length of time, Watson cautions. This can cause the leaves of the grass to turn pale and become weak.

Bluegrass is the most widely used grass for sod. Recommended varieties include Kentucky, Merion and Newport. Both Merion and Newport are considered high-quality turfs which are slightly more expensive and require heavier applications of fertilizer.

Small talk sheds little light on any subject -- real power has to come from the high line.

Valuable Tips in Special Section

Printed on special green paper, the Chronicle's seventh annual builder's section is the largest in the seven years it has been presented. It features local stories about building conditions in Cass City. You'll find tips about the home and lawn as well as plans for your "dream home" in this section.

Equally as valuable are the many special building and home supply materials and services listed in the advertisements in the section.

All of the concerns advertising are from the area and residents using their services can be sure that materials will be as represented.

There is no need to worry about "whitewash" paint, inferior materials or shoddy workmanship when these area merchants are consulted. Each of them depends on your good will and future business to survive.

Why not keep this special section around the home for easy reference?

Used Home Market Good; New Construction Lags

Cass City's dynamic surge of new home construction in recent years has slowed to a trickle, but the slack in new construction has been counteracted by a flood of activity in the used home market. With new people coming to the community to staff factories, especially General Insulated Wire Works, the real estate industry has been sparked by the rapid change of homes.

Statistics were obtained from interviews from local real estate men and a check of the records at the village clerk's office.

For instance, the clerk's records show that building permits for only three new homes have been issued since July 1961 out of a total of 16 permits that were issued. The remaining 13 permits were for remodeling or commercial building.

From January to July 1961 alone, seven building permits were issued for new home construction.

The building of three new clinics and the post office in the last three years accounts for some of the surge in construction. At present, there are two new buildings under construction -- the Catholic Church and an IGA market which is outside the village limits.

According to local realtors, there are several reasons for this drop in new home construction. An increase in taxes, higher cost of living, higher cost of home building, and fewer people who can qualify for an FHA loan are the most important reasons.

The biggest demand in the village is for the purchase of older homes. B. A. Calka, realtor, explained that villagers and new families moving into the community seem to prefer older homes because the trees and lawns are planted and growing.

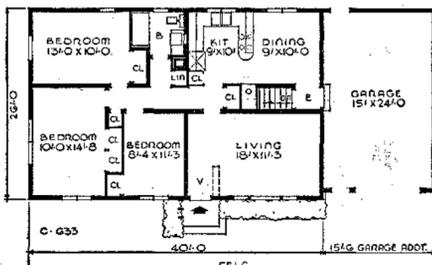

Home building is definitely down from recent years. John V. McCormick, real estate broker, said, "It seems to be the general trend throughout the country. Home building is down."

The Cass City building trend is not on the upgrade. The last building permit for new home construction was issued in May. Although several persons have discussed the chance of building new homes outside the city limits, there seems to be no building boom evident in the near future.

The Want Ads Are Newsy Too.

Why there's no heat like flameless ELECTRIC HEAT FOR HOME REMODELING

ELECTRIC HEAT SIMPLIFIES THE CONVERSION OF ATTIC INTO ADDED ROOM

When finishing off an attic would strain a home's heating system, built-in electric heat is the solution. Electric forced air wall units, for instance, can be installed without large-scale cutting into floors or substructure. Electric heat is completely automatic--and it operates independently of the main heating system. Efficiency, flexibility and ease of installation make it your best buy when modernizing.

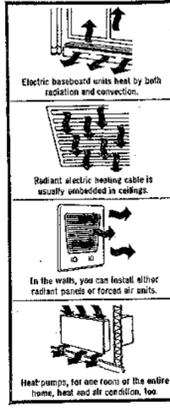

THE BASEMENT BECOMES A SNUG FAMILY FUN ROOM

A good example of supplementary heating is this use of radiant electric wall panels. They can be mounted wherever extra heat's needed in a family room. Then just dial the warmth you want--clean, quiet electric heat starts working right away.

ELECTRIC HEAT HELPS TURN SUMMER PORCH INTO YEAR-ROUND ROOM

It's simple to install electric heating units on exterior porch walls where heat is needed most. Electric baseboard, for example. It will provide a curtain of warm air over glass surfaces and make an enclosed porch completely comfortable.

This sign, developed by qualified electric heating contractors, assures you of dependable installation.

Shrubs Beautify Any Size Home

From the street-side, a home should present a pleasing picture that will provide neighbors and yourself with a pleasant feeling of family stability and beautiful living, says the American Association of Nurserymen. Such an appearance can be provided by sound plantings of trees and shrubs that help fit the house into the surrounding landscape, instead of having it look stark and naked, or overgrown.

are standing to the corners of your house. Any large trees should be planted outside of such lines, so your home will present an unbroken view of lawn.

Small homes as well as large can easily be planted to present a most pleasing appearance. Natural beauty by the use of trees and shrubs has no limitations—rich or poor can achieve it. You can plant it yourself or have it done by an experienced landscape nurseryman.

Along the foundation in curved beds plant a variety of low-growing plants, with just slightly higher plants beside the doorway and grouped at the house corners. Avoid a straight-line row of plants along the front of the house. This is poor practice.

Vary the plants so that you have evergreens and some flowering plants. In planting trees have at least one flowering tree to bring springtime beauty. Depending on the neighborhood and custom, you may wish a low, or high hedge along the street.

Stand on the sidewalk at a point opposite your front door and look directly at the house. Draw imaginary lines from where you

Your main objective is to plant a pleasing picture. Take care in the planting, standing off at a distance and observing it to get the effects you wish.

Tips for Best Interior Decorating

1. Do use wall-to-wall carpeting to make a room look larger.
2. Do use plants and greens as decorative accessories.
3. Do start a collection of some category of objects, such as pitchers, paper weights, miniatures, or whatever appeals to you, and show them off.
4. Do mix old and new, antique and modern.
5. Do use color! Step-up your next paint job with more definite shades.
6. Don't use more than one figured material to a room.
7. Don't scatter pictures all around your walls. Group them!
8. Don't neglect comfort and convenience. Have enough tables with ashtrays, matches and coasters near all chairs.
9. Don't consult all your friends before making a purchase; you will only become confused.

The growing of vegetables under glass is getting very popular. Let us talk a bit about what is happening over in the western part of Michigan. Near Grand Rapids, Holland and Zeeland we have lots of garden produce growing under glass. The two most important crops are bibb lettuce and hothouse tomatoes.

Tomatoes are one of the favorite vegetables. It is surpassed in the rate of consumption only by potatoes and onions. There tomatoes can be purchased any day of the year; of course, there are seasons when they are less expensive than other seasons.

Right now we are in the season for Michigan hothouse tomatoes. This season extends from late May until August when the field grown ripened tomatoes begin to come on the market. These Michigan hothouse tomatoes can be positively identified in the market by the calyx or green stem which is attached to each tomato. The calyx is left on the tomato purposely for identification and also because it helps to retain the vitamins and freshness of the tomato.

Hothouse tomatoes are picked vine-ripe, but not fully ripe for eating. During this time the tomatoes should not be subject to temperatures below 50°. So, if the tomatoes in the market are not as ripe as you wish, keep them at room temperature for further ripening. Then you will have a tomato which has the finest eating qualities, full of vitamins C and A, wonderful flavor, but very low in calories.

Home Ownership High in Cass City

Home owners outnumber renters by a considerable margin in Cass City. Some 502 local families, approximately 78.4 per cent of the total, now own the houses in which they live, setting an all-time record in the city.

Also, according to government findings, the houses are in better condition today and contain more of the comforts of modern living than they have in the past. Facts and figures detailing these and other aspects of local housing are brought out by the Census Bureau in a series of reports, just issued, based on its 1960 Census of Housing. The 78.4 per cent home ownership record chalked up in Cass City compares favorably with the ratio shown for the United States, 61.9 per cent. In the East North Central States it is 66.7 per cent. Out of a total of 641 housing units locally that are occupied, 503 are owned by their occupants.

In most parts of the nation, the Census Bureau states, there has been a surge of home buying in the last ten years. More than 9,200,000 families bought homes in that period. According to the Federal Housing Administration, it reflects the reduced cost of money for mortgage loans as well as the fact that a growing number of people have been acquiring the wherewithal to become home owners.

Those who have been in their own homes for some time have been spending large sums on additions, repairs and improvements to their properties. The average owner-occupant of a one-family house in the United States spent $283 in 1960 for such purposes.

The total outlay in the one year, for the nation as a whole, amounted to more than $13 billion. It was only $5 billion below the amount spent for new housing construction, $18 billion. Expenditures of this kind, made by property owners in Cass City during recent years, have raised the general quality of local housing.

As a result of better maintenance and of new construction, the proportion of dwellings found to be "sound" and equipped with all plumbing facilities was high. Some 583 housing units out of a total of 672 -- 86.7 per cent -- were so rated. It compares with 73.0 per cent in the United States and 76.1 per cent in the East North Central States.

To be a wheel man must remember it takes a lot of thought and thinking to make a mind.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lenhard of Caro were Sunday dinner guests of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Walsh. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Fox of Detroit, who brought Thomas and Debra Walsh, grandchildren of the Martin Walshes, to visit them for a week.

Miss Cheri Comment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Comment, underwent an appendectomy in Cass City Hospital early Sunday morning and is recovering.

Mrs. William Stanton of Arlington, Va., came Saturday to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy LaFave, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thetford, Jane and Mark of Belleville spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Rice Jr.

Receives Driver Training Assignment

Private Dale E. Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atkinson of Cass City, has been assigned to Company A, 17th Battalion, 4th Training Regiment at Fort Jackson, S. C., for specialist training as a light vehicle driver.

His assignment to this particular course of instruction was the result of a battery of aptitude tests, taken upon entry into the U. S. Army, which indicated a high potential in operation of vehicles.

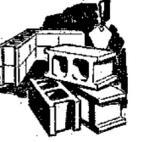

During the eight week course of instruction, he will receive training in the operation and maintenance of military vehicles, of both the tactical and commercial type. Included in the course are classes in map reading, road, cross-country, night and convoy driving.
