Charges against a 21-year-old Cass City man were dropped when he agreed to make restitution of $12.00 he reportedly took from the ST&H Sinclair Service Station, Cass City, Monday night, according to Police Chief Carl Palmateer.

Lee E. Cummins, Cass City, admitted the break-in when questioned Tuesday by Palmateer. Audley Kinnaird, station owner, agreed not to press charges against Cummins if he made restitution and promised to stay out of trouble.

Cummins reportedly broke into the station at 10:30 p.m. Monday night by removing a screen from the restroom window. The money was in cash and no merchandise was taken. The break-in was discovered Tuesday morning when the station opened.

Thursday, July 19, Cummins escaped injury when his car collided with the rear of another driven by Chester Hikukula, 42, Detroit, near Casewille on M-25.

Hikukula received cuts and bruises. Bad Axe State Police investigated.

On other fronts, investigation is under way on an attempt to gain entry into a vegetable cooler at Russ' Fruit Market Sunday night.

Entry was not made but the door of the cooler was slightly damaged when the culprit attempted to pry it open.

PLASTIC ARTIST—Mrs. Peter Heronemus, 72, Decker, is surrounded by a few of the many attractive and useful household items she has fashioned from discarded detergent bottles over the past year.

She is shown adjusting the cord on one of six sets of lamps she has made. Other items she has made are, left to right: another lamp, flower baskets, vases, a fruit bowl and candlestick holders. (Chronicle photo)

Transforms Plastic Bottles With Scissors, Ingenuity

Transforming a useless, ordinarily discarded, detergent bottle into an attractive, useful household item may seem a little far-fetched for some, but for Mrs. Peter Heronemus, 72, Decker, it is just one of a number of hobbies.

Using scissors and ingenuity, Mrs. Heronemus fashions functional lamps, vases, fruit bowls, flower baskets and candlesticks from empty plastic containers.

She began her unique hobby a little over a year ago.

"I just hated to throw the bottles away and decided to make something out of them," she explains.

She uses the same philosophy in her other hobbies which include painting, making things from shells and basket weaving.

At first, Mrs. Heronemus began her hobby by merely cutting the tops off the plastic containers and trimming them in paint and tinsel for vases.

"Why not make a horizontal vase by putting the ends of two bottles together?" she asked her husband one day. Between the two of them, they devised the flower baskets that are so popular.

By cutting the tops off two matching containers, inserting one into the other and cutting a hole in the center, they had a beginning. Next they used one of the tops for a base and added a little trim and some artificial flowers and they were done.

Baskets Popular

She has sold a number of items she has made, but the flower baskets are the most popular because they are attractive and easy to take care of, making them ideal for hospital patients.

All of the objects she has made have been done without benefit of a pattern. For the lamps, she inserted a tube and socket in a quart container, filled it with plaster of Paris for weight and added the cord. The fruit bowl is made from a gallon jug with the bottom of a bottle for a base.

Is it difficult? "It's not hard," answers Mrs. Heronemus. "Some of the baskets are tedious... it rests my nerves."

She gave a conservative estimate of 50 as the number of baskets she has made in the year since she started the project.

Paints Lake Scenes

She also paints "free hand" lake-side scenes on mirrors, leaving the mirror bare in place of painting the water. The result is startling depth and a "mirror-like" effect for the water.

She paints because she "just likes to paint." "I'd like to take painting lessons... I guess it isn't really, worthwhile at my age," she theorizes.

During a vacation trip to Florida, she brought back a number of sea shells. Rather than have a bunch of sea shells cluttering up the place, she got to work and made lamps, figurines, pins, pin cushions and other items.

While in Florida, she also picked up some long Australian pine needles and again without the aid of a pattern weaved them into a basket, complete with cover.

"You can make a lot of things, if you'll just think," she explains.

Mr. and Mrs. Heronemus have lived two and a half miles south of Shabbona for the past 43 years, in a house they built themselves. He has lived in the same section since he was 13.

Married 50 Years

The couple recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Their 160-acre farm is divided between their two sons, Norman and Floyd. Their three daughters are also married.

Her active life as a mother and housewife for 50 years is probably to blame for her desire to keep busy.

As she explains it, "I just like to be doing something... if I get tired of one hobby, I can do another."

She does have one problem. "I wish the plastic companies wouldn't put so much lettering on the containers... it spoils them for making things," she asserts.

Seeks $75,000 To Expand

A $75,000 building fund campaign for the Cass City Hospital was announced today by Almer Krueger, president of the Board of Trustees. The drive will start as soon as the organization is set up.

The purpose of the campaign is to get funds with which to construct and equip a new building. This new structure will be built as an addition to the present Cass City Hospital.

Krueger stated, "For some time we have recognized the need for more adequate facilities. We now must take action because of the requirements of the Michigan Department of Health. In addition, we wish to provide the best possible facilities for the thousands who depend on the Cass City Hospital for their hospital care."

"The plans which we have immediately provide for a completely new and modern maternity department. The plans also provide for future expansion when such a need arises."

"We have faith that many who have benefited by the services of the Cass City Hospital will help by making generous gifts."

A campaign office has been opened at the Cass City Hospital where fund raising experts are preparing preliminary drive material.

Started in 1926

Since 1926 a hospital has been operated on the present site of the Cass City Hospital. The original hospital was founded by the late Dr. F. L. Morris and was known as the Morris Hospital.

In July, 1948, the name was changed to the Cass City Hospital when Mrs. Bertha Hildinger became the owner.

On Dec. 1, 1956, a nonprofit corporation was formed with a board of trustees representing the area serviced by the hospital. At that time the local name of the hospital became the Cass City Hospital, Inc.

At present the Cass City Hospital has 18 beds. There are eight doctors on the medical staff.

Dead Horse Only Casualty in 4 Area Accidents

Tuscola county deputies investigated four accidents in and around Cass City during the past week, according to reports from the office of Sheriff Bill Tomlinson.

A car belonging to a Cass City man was damaged Monday when a Flint Salvation Army truck backed out of an alley behind the Cliff Ryan John Deere Sales and Service, striking it in the right front fender.

Driver of the car was Joseph A. Benkelman, Cass City, and the truck was driven by Joseph Kramer, Flint, according to a report filed by Deputy Bill Schram.

A horse was the only casualty in an accident Sunday, five miles west of Cass City on M-81, according to a report filed by Deputy Paul Berry.

The horse, owned by Jack Zellar, Cass City, was killed when it was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Ethel G. Cook, Cass City. Although damage to the car was heavy, no injuries were reported for Mrs. Cook.

No injuries were reported in an accident Wednesday, July 19, that took place when cars driven by Allen Merchant, 25, and Hazel Gallagher, both of Cass City, collided at the intersection of Koepfing and Milligan Roads.

Adeline Gallagher, Cass City, was an occupant in the Gallagher car at the time of the accident.

Elmwood Board Acts to Curb Dump Problems

Area residents who recall the struggle that faced Cass City and Elkland township in establishing a new dump and control of the old one will sympathize with the Elmwood Township Board which was forced to take action to control their township dump recently.

Several new regulations were adopted. "We were forced to it," says Harlan Hobart, clerk. Residents of Elkland, Ellington, Almer, Novesta and Columbia townships were pouring refuse into the dump in a steady stream.

The new rules for the dump were adopted so that adequate policing could be inaugurated.

The board decreed that the dump would be open only on the first and third Saturdays of each month from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and that all burnable material would be rejected.

The new regulations went into effect and trash haulers began dumping on the roadside when they found the township dump locked.

To curb this, the board has set a fine of $50 for anyone caught dumping along the road. The fine also applies to non-township, unauthorized persons using the dump proper.

Inside Story Revealed

Will Tuscola Lose a Senator?

The 20th senatorial district of Michigan has been ably served by a Tuscola county man, Senator Arthur Dehmel of Unionville, since 1954. What happens to his post if the state reapportions, as informed sources say is almost inevitable?

One thing is certain. The another district. Where it goes will be of prime importance to Dehmel and to all voters who would like him to return for a fifth term.

Experts are predicting that the 20th will go either to the 34th district (Lapeer-St. Clair) or to the 24th district (Bay-Midland-Isabella).

Insiders say that if it is to the Bay-Midland-Isabella district there is an excellent chance that Dehmel will be sent back as the Senator from the new district.

The district is currently served by Lynn O. Francis, Republican, who is about ready to retire and is said to look with favor on Dehmel as a GOP standard-bearer for the reapportioned district. The area has always sent a Republican to the Senate.

On the other hand, the situation is not so bright for Dehmel if the district heads south to Lapeer-St. Clair where Frank Beadle serves. Beadle has been the senator from the district since 1950 and is one of the leaders of the Republican party.

More Than Baby Sitting

Codirectors Tell Recreation Purpose

Do Cass City's children really learn anything from the Recreation and Playground programs or are the hours there just time spent?

Is interest in the program sustained or does it drop off towards the end? What are the most popular activities, outside of swimming?

These and other questions were asked of Cass City's two recreation codirectors, Mrs. Richard Case and Eli Holes, to see if they were satisfied with the programs.

Holes has been in the program since 1956 and Mrs. Case, although this is her first summer as a director in Cass City, has spent two summers with the Mott Foundation, Flint, in recreation work.

"You can probably count on your fingers the children over nine in Cass City that can't swim, which speaks for itself," answered Holes to the learning question. "The playground is a learning situation for the younger children, outside of that, it's mainly recreation," he continued.

Mrs. Case, playground director, replied, "I've tried to make it (learning) my goal. Instead of being a baby sitter, I've tried to stimulate them by crafts. It's been my biggest problem to introduce new things... too many times they want to do the same things as last year."

The Recreation Park actually supports three programs, the Playground, Recreation and Athletic programs. The three programs can almost be divided into time and age categories. Playground is held from 9:00 to 12:00 in the morning and draws mostly the younger children, from ages three to 15.

The Recreation program begins in the afternoon and appeals more to the older children.

Drawing both adults and the older children, the Athletic program functions in the evening. Because of the athletic program, the park is in use every night of the week except Saturday and Sunday. During the week, there are three Little League games, two Pony League games and three softball games with bloopers ball games sandwiched in between.

Is interest in the program sustained?

"The program was originally set up for the older children... it has to do with the economic situation," explained Holes. "When economic conditions are good, people take vacations, drawing from the program... when economy is down, there are more kids because there are fewer places to go."

Mrs. Case also blamed interference in the program on vacations, but in general felt that she "hadn't really seen a decline."

Average attendance for the playground is between 50-60 children with a drop to about 25 on swimming days. Recreation turnout averages 75-100.

"We try to tell them a week ahead of the activities planned," Mrs. Case remarked. "I think it helps. We've had large turnouts for all the special events we've announced," she says.

The Recreation Program officially gets under way with the opening of the playground sessions, this year June 25, immediately after Bible school.

Playground ends next Friday, Aug. 3, and softball will end some time near the middle of the month. Labor Day will be the last day for swimming, just prior to the beginning of school.

The two codirectors disagreed on the most popular activity, outside of swimming.

Mrs. Case, within her department, voted for indoor games, particularly carom, a mild variation of pool.

Holes agreed with her in that respect, but felt that the death-lion, currently in progress, was the most popular activity.

Both felt the program benefited the community.

"It's a good part of the community... because it serves a lot of people in the community," Holes stated.

From the Editor's Corner

Friends are needing Audley Rawson about the story in last week's Chronicle. Locally, they tell him that they remember Dave Kraft asking for ideas for features, but never had the nerve to write in and tell about themselves.

In Lansing they say that it's a standing gag around the capitol building that Audley was "never on a tractor in his life." A friend in politics was in and bought seven papers and said that he bets everyone he sends the story to will write Audley and ask how much he paid to have the story published to "convince" his friends.

Audley, himself, says it was a pretty good story considering what you had to work with.

Stories about incomes are always a bit confusing. One in this week's Chronicle gives an average. Concluded on page six.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, July 28—Duane LaBair will hold a cattle and machinery sale at 12:30 p.m. at the place two miles east, one and a half miles south and a quarter mile east of Mariette on Cotter Road.

Saturday, August 4—George Marshall will hold a machinery and household goods auction at the place six miles south and three miles east of Cass City at 1:00 p.m.

Carol Copeland

Sixth Bike Winner

For the fourth straight week the first draw produced the weekly winner of the bike given by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce every Friday night.

Last week's winner was Carol Sue Copeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Copeland. Despite threatening weather, the crowd jammed the drawing location again Friday. The rains forced postponement of the weekly dance program.

But John West and his records are slated to return tomorrow (Friday) with a wide selection of dance records popular with area shoppers.

Dick Eria, Chamber president, and members of the retail committee said that plans are now well along for the giant give-away at the end of the 10-week program.

Members already are announcing what prizes they will give to make the final night a gala affair. Complete details will be revealed at a later date.

Set Field Day Proceeds at $500

Proceeds from the last week end's three-day Gagetown Firemen's Field Day topped last year's $300.00 by an estimated $200.00, according to Don Schwartz, chairman.

Estimated revenue for the three days has been set at $500.00. The money will be used to develop the village's community park.

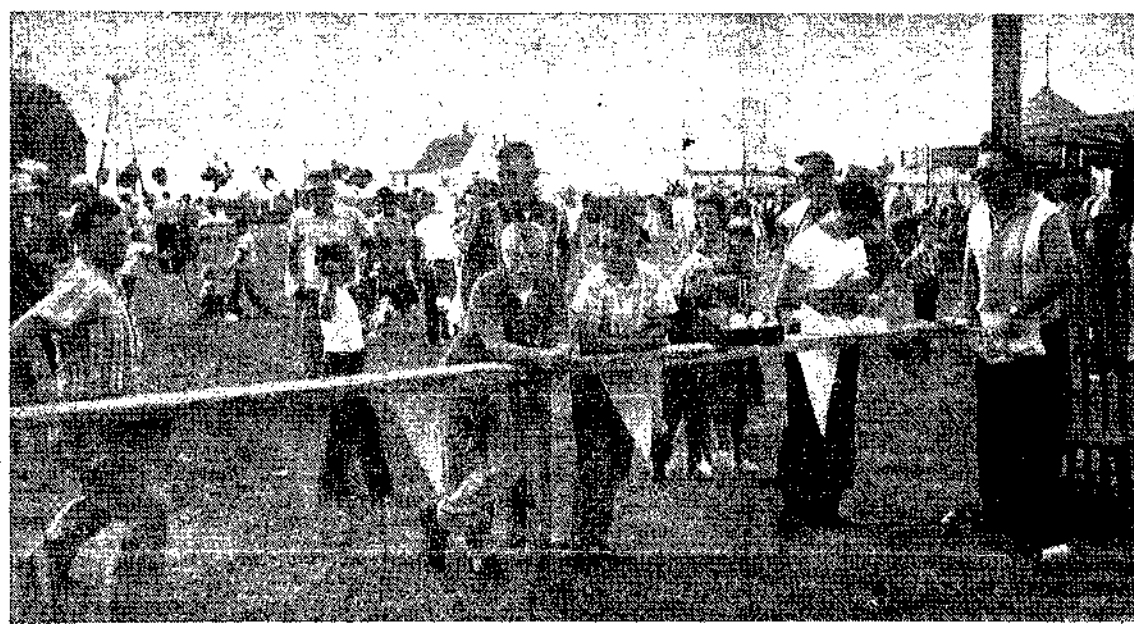

Winners of the three prizes offered were: Raymond Tate, Pigeon, first prize; Norman Kennedy, Saginaw, second prize, and Art Cooley Jr., Gagetown, third prize. Tate, a Pigeon truck driver, received a 10-transistor radio; Kennedy was awarded a stereo record player, and Cooley took home a pocket transistor radio.

Although no figure has been set, Field Day officials reported that attendance was up over last year. Schwartz stated that the firemen were "well pleased" with the turn out, despite inclement weather.

The Gagetown firemen didn't need any rain on Saturday when they proved to be the underdogs in a water battle with the Owendale fire department.

Other highlights included a pair of softball games, a Little League game, dancing all three nights, a midway and rides and a giant fireworks display.

Notice of Primary Election
The primary election for the election of state, legislative, congressional and county officers will be held at Greenleaf Township Hall, Tuesday, Aug. 7. Polls open from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Anson Karr, Township Clerk.

RECORD CROWDS swarmed into Gagetown last week end for the annual Firemen's Field Day. During a lull in the formal entertainment, visitors swarmed on to the midway to enjoy the various rides and games. Throwing a ball at a target to dunk a man in a barrel proved to be one of the most popular.

Final Services For Rev. William Starr

Funeral services were held recently at the Oregon EUB Church, Lapeer county, for Rev. William Lloyd Starr, 70, Lapeer. Mr. Starr, the brother of Mrs. Leo Ware, Cass City, died Thursday, July 12, at Lapeer General Hospital.

Rev. S. P. Kim officiated over the services and interment was in Oregon Township Cemetery. Surviving, besides Mrs. Ware, are: his wife, Marguerite; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Solomonson, Detroit, and Mrs. Marguerite Schmitzer, Pigeon, and four sons, Rev. Ronald, Columbus, Kansas, William Jr., Lapeer, Rev. Newell, Boston, Mass., and James, Mayville.

Also surviving are three brothers, Rev. Roland, Jackson; Leigh, Phoenix, Ariz., and Arthur, Lansing; another sister, Miss Marion Starr, St. Clair Shores, and 11 grandchildren.

ENGAGED

Teresa Maria Konwalski

Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Konwalski, Cass City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Teresa Maria, to S/Sgt. James E. Tutwiler, Port Austin AFB, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Biloxi, Miss.

Wedding plans are indefinite.

Carpenter Holstein Completes Record

An eight-year-old registered Holstein cow owned by Vernon J. Clare J. and Richard Carpenter, Cass City, has completed an official 305-day record of 16,720 pounds of milk and 561 pounds of butterfat.

In announcing the new record, a spokesman for the national Holstein organization said that it compared to the average cow's annual output of 7,211 pounds of milk containing 270 pounds of butterfat.

Letters to Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. In most instances letters will be printed in full. However, the paper reserves the right to edit letters to fit space requirements. All letters must be signed.

Dear Editor,
You reported that a grass fire at the home of J. M. Wallace was doused by the Fire Department. Altho' their interest and enthusiasm were appreciated, their arrival was a bit tardy. Mr. and Mrs. Herb Ludlow, Mrs. Robert Ryland, Mr. Pat Kendall and I did the honors. Let's give credit where credit is due!

Mr. John Haire
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan
Dear John:

I thought I'd better forward you our new address although I've established a talking acquaintance with our postman over postage due on this and other publications. Any port in a storm, you know. It's good to be able to talk to anyone when you move into a new community.

We're adjusting fine; at least we can now wade through our house with a fifty-fifty chance of finding something we're looking for. Alpena is a nice community, and I'm sure we're going to enjoy our stay here. We'll miss Cass City, certainly, we left so many wonderful friends and neighbors there. This is a new challenge for us, though, and the future looks bright. We're meeting new friends and gradually getting acquainted. The children are enjoying our location tremendously - 6 blocks from Lake Huron and 4 blocks from the Thunder River. They all love the outdoors and fit in wonderfully well with all the activities offered around here.

We enjoy the Chronicle and read it hungrily as soon as it arrives. Glad to see Bob Seals is back again after a few days off. We missed his articles during his absence. You'll notice I refer to him as Bob due to the uncertainty of whether to call him Rev. or Mr. after your recent controversy. I know Bob will know we think the world of him no matter how we address him. He's a wonderful man. I'll have to include Dave Kraft. Don't dump Dave. We enjoy his wit, he's a real tonic. Of course, we enjoy the entire Chronicle, so keep on sending it, but use the above address and I'll find a new friend to replace the mailman asking for postage due.

Sincerely,
Lillian and Mike Yedinak

Mr. John Haire, editor,
Cass City Chronicle,
Cass City, Mich.
Dear Mr. Haire:

I wonder if it has not occurred to the gentleman whose letter appeared in last week's issue that a minister might PREFER to do without the ungrammatical "Rev." in front of his name? Generally, men of the cloth, whether priest, rabbi, pastor or minister, are highly educated men and therefore know the difference between good and bad grammar. If a minister prefers the proper mode of address (few of them would frown on such a personal question and most would be flattered by your interest), why should we advise our young people, or anyone for that matter, to deliberately continue to use a grammatical error which sometimes has a pronounced tendency to grate on the nerves?

It is altogether possible that he might feel it more encouraging for his young people to show their "love and respect" for him by offering to pitch into the mounds of church work that always present themselves.

Respectfully,
A Minister's Wife

100 at Open House For New Minister

Approximately 100 persons attended the open house Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church for the Rev. and Mrs. James Braid, recently appointed Methodist pastor.

Those attending were received by Mr. and Mrs. Braid and Lay-chairman Jack Marshall and Mrs. Marshall.

Mrs. Sadie Rolison, Mrs. Keith McConkey and Mrs. Ben Kirton poured during the session. Beverages, cake and sandwiches were served.

Marriage Licenses

The following persons applied for marriage licenses at the county clerk's office, Caro, during the past week.

William K. Evans, 23, Caro, and Janice M. Esckelson, 18, Caro.

Kenneth J. Bouchard, 19, Caro, and Linda Lee Starkey, 19, Caro. Joseph W. Smith, 32, Birch Run, and Nancy J. Kibby, 18, Milington.

ENGAGED

Linda Kay Price

The Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Price of Hutchinson, Kansas, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Mark Jason Surbrook, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis L. Surbrook, former pastor of the local area United Missionary Churches and now residing in Marquette.

The couple are both 1962 graduates of the Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute, Van Cleve, Ky.

Miss Price will enter Bethany Hospital School of Nursing, Kansas City, Kansas, this fall and Mr. Surbrook will attend Marion College, Marion, Ind.

No definite wedding plans have been made.

Active Track Career Earns Letter for Walpole

A Cass City man was among 79 members of Princeton University's varsity, and freshman track teams to receive playing and managerial awards for the 1962 season.

Forrest T. Walpole, son of W. E. Walpole, Cass City, received his varsity letter in track.

Walpole, a senior, has been active in track throughout his first three years at Princeton. During his freshman year, he was a member of the freshman football and winter and spring track teams.

In his sophomore year, as a member of the varsity mile relay team, he helped establish the University indoor and outdoor mile relay record. The relay team also won the ICAAAA mile relay championship in Madison Square Garden.

Last year, as a junior, he ran the 440 and mile relay. A history major, Walpole plans to attend law school after graduation next June.

Man Rescued After Six Hour Ordeal in Car

A 23-year-old Detroit man was slated to undergo surgery Wednesday morning at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, for a fractured left leg sustained when his car rolled over early Tuesday morning near Owendale.

Trapped in his car for six hours after his car rolled over and came to rest against a tree was William M. Fahl, 23, Detroit. Fahl had been visiting his wife at the home of Clayton Carr, near Owendale.

He was found about 6:00 a.m. by Raymond Parker, Gagetown. The accident reportedly happened at 12:15 a.m.

Fahl was on his way to Rose Island when fog obscured his vision and he lost control of his car on the gravel. Bad Axe State Police investigated.

Mr. and Mrs. James Foote

Vases of white gladioli, palms and silver candelabra set the scene for the marriage of Julia Anna Seale, Cass City, to James H. Foote, Argyle, Saturday, July 14, at the EUB Church, Cass City, with the Rev. S. R. Wurtz, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Seale, Cass City, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Foote, Argyle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta with Chantilly lace on the bodice and skirt. The dress featured long sleeves, a Sabrina neckline highlighted with sequins and a bouffant skirt.

A jabot train provided fashionable back interest and open soft pleats and French roses completed the bouffant skirt. Her fingertip imported French silk illusion veil was held in place by a diamond point crown. The bride carried a crescent bouquet of pale pink roses and fringed carnations, centered with a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Dorothy Anthes of Lansing and bridesmaids were Judy Foote, Argyle, sister of the groom, Lydeth Hardy, Deckerville, and Bonnie Copeland, Cass City.

Their buxiering gowns were coral silk organza over taffeta with round necklines and sweetheart sleeves. The dresses featured loose back panels caught with taffeta French roses.

Their crowns of coral imported Swiss braid featured sets of pearl drops and circular veils.

The maid of honor carried a Chantilly lace fan bouquet styled in coral and white fringed carnations with white streamers. The bridesmaids' bouquets were Chantilly lace fans styled in coral and white fringed carnations and coral streamers.

Harold McAlpine, Argyle, was best man and groomsmen were Larry Seale, Cass City, brother of the bride, Fred Palace, Argyle, and Fred Krizman, Argyle, the groom's cousin.

Tommy Foote, Argyle, brother of the groom, and Don O'Connor, Argyle, served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a blue nylon lace over taffeta gown and a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. A blue nylon lace over taffeta gown and a corsage of white carnations and pink roses were worn by the groom's mother.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the Dom Polski Hall, Caro, at 8:30 p.m.

The couple honeymooned at Niagara Falls for one week and will make their home at Argyle. For her going away outfit, the bride wore a suit of tangerine silk and dacron with beige accessories.

The groom is a farmer and the bride is employed by Die-Form Company of Deckerville.

Talent Show to Highlight Final Recreation Week

A talent show Thursday, Aug. 2, is tentatively scheduled as the final major event for the last week of the village's six-week Recreation Program, according to Mrs. Richard Case, program director.

This week's highlight will be the Water Carnival tonight (Thursday), at 8:00 p.m.

The talent show will be held only if enough children participate. All acts are welcome and an open house will be held at the same time.

Last week's main event, the Cowboy-Indian Roundup picnic, Thursday, July 19, was well attended, despite threatening skies and a few raindrops. Approximately 60 children, dressed in cowboy and Indian costumes, ate hot dogs and sandwiches and downed three large watermelons.

During the program, the children acted out Indian dances with the aid of instruction records of original Indian dances. The program climaxed a week of Indian craft projects including head-dresses, drums, beadwork, lacing and pictures.

Friday morning, the program received a final display when Boy Scout Bill Hutchinson gave the children a sample of authentic Indian dances.

On other recreation fronts, persons under 18 interested in signing up for the tennis tournament should contact Eli Holes by Friday, July 27.

The week-long tournament is slated to begin Monday, July 30, and end Friday, August 3.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY
To Whom It May Concern:

A petition has been submitted to the County Board of Education of Tuscola County to set the following described property from the Owendale-Gagetown School District No. 16 to Cass City Public Schools No. 5:

ELMWOOD TOWNSHIP: Section 24, SW 1/4 of NE 1/4 S 25 A of E 1/4 of NE 1/4

The County Board has authority to make the transfer but desires to give your district a chance to protest if you so desire.

A joint meeting of the Boards of Education of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties will be held at the office of the County Superintendent of Huron County, East Ave. Michigan, Thursday, August 2, at 8:00 p.m.

If you so desire the Board will gladly hear your protest at this meeting.
Yours truly,
Dale W. Abke, Deputy
County Supt. of Tuscola County

Services Held for John Warrington, 72

Funeral services for John Warrington, 72, were held Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the Douglas Funeral Home. The Rev. George Getchel of the Novesta Church of Christ officiated and burial was in Elkland cemetery. Mr. Warrington died July 17 at the James Gross cottage at Oak Beach where he had been painting.

He was born in Detroit, July 17, 1890. He married Mildred McPhail April 16, 1945. She died Sept. 18, 1957.

Surviving are: a sister, Mrs. Mary Domine of Detroit, and a brother, William Warrington of New York City, nieces and nephews.

Widely known, liked and respected, he was held in especially high esteem by the youth of the community who paid last respects to their friend by taking a collection which resulted in two large baskets of flowers for the funeral.

Hospital Slates Prenatal Classes

A series of four prenatal classes for expectant parents is being scheduled at Hills and Dales General Hospital, according to Mrs. Lois Pringle, R.N., director of nurses at the hospital.

The first in the series will be held August 1 in the meeting room at the hospital at 7:30 p.m. The classes will be taught by Mrs. Billie Proper, R.N., and husbands are welcome to attend the classes. There is no charge for the course.

Other dates in the series are August 8, 15 and 22.

Righteous living sets an example for the good of others.

Average Family Earns $5,000 Here

With the final figures now in, it appears that Tuscola county was a stronger market than most in the past year.

Despite the fact that the year was somewhat less than a record-breaker in the United States as a whole, the local area was able to turn in a good performance.

Personal incomes per family and gross business volume in the county's retail stores were at a high level.

The fact and figures are revealed in a new, copyrighted "Survey of Buying Power," compiled by Sales Management, Inc.

94th Huron County Fair Schedules Six Action-packed Days

Six action-packed days full of harness racing, wrestling, exhibits and exciting acts have been planned for the 94th annual Huron County Fair August 6-11, according to fair officials.

Monday, August 6, is set up and entry day with championship horse-pulling as the main attraction. Highlighting Tuesday will be professional wrestling in the evening.

Wednesday is Children's Day, complete with reduced rates for most of the day. The main attraction for Thursday, Farmer's Day, will be a huge grand stand show.

The crowning of the 1962 Huron County Bean Queen will top off Friday's Merchant's Day and the fair will end Saturday with a spectacular Thrill Show featuring Dan Fleenor's Hurricane Hell Drivers.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Wolfe

The altar of the Cass City Methodist Church was decorated with arrangements of gladioli and was banked with palms for the candlelight ceremony Saturday, July 14, which united in marriage Miss Janis Knight and Aaron Wolfe.

Miss Knight is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Knight, Gagetown, and Aaron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Wolfe of Alma. The Rev. Ernest Robinson of Bancroft officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride chose a silk organza over mist taffeta gown with sculptured Alencon lace and Cameo collar. Fitted wristpoint sleeves molded the bodice and the bouffant floor-length skirt ended with lace appliques and taffeta bows at the back with Watteau panels. The pearl Cornish crown held an English mist veil and she carried an arrangement of white stephanotis blossoms and English ivy centered with a white orchid on a Bible, a gift of the groom.

Miss Knight's three attendants were gowned in hyacinth silk organza sheath frocks with wedding ring necklines, brief sleeves and Empire bodices with tapered floating overskirts secured at the waistline by a French bow. Matching bandeaux with circular face veils and short white gloves completed their attire. The maid of honor carried a Colonial arrangement of pink and white carnations with English ivy. The other two attendants carried a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations with English ivy.

Miss Karen Wolfe, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marcia Johnson, Detroit, and Kathy Bartle, Cass City.

Carl Braamse, Flushing, was the best man. Ed Knight, brother of the bride, and Bill Keller, Alma, also attended the groom. Ross Wolfe, Jackson, brother of the groom, and Joe Harris, Ashtabula, Ohio, brother-in-law of the groom, seated the guests.

Kent Wolfe, Jackson, and Steve Harris, Ashtabula, Ohio, nephews of the groom, served as ring-bearers. The organist was Mrs. Stanley Kirm of Cass City.

Mrs. Knight selected for her daughter's wedding a gown of turquoise chiffon and Mrs. Wolfe selected a light rose lace. Both mothers wore corsages of Cymbidium orchids.

A church reception followed the wedding. Hostesses were Marilyn Ringel, Center Line, Judy Mansfield, St. Charles, Clare Leonard, Detroit, and Jo Immel, Ann Arbor.

For going away the bride selected a royal blue suit with white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Northwood Institute, is employed at Leonard's Refineries in Alma. The groom is a student at Northwood Institute.

After a week's honeymoon in southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe will reside at 510 Wright Ave., Alma, Mich.

Village Man's Ship In Mediterranean

Harland J. Wilson, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilson of Cass City, departed the area around Corfu, Greece, and Taranto, Italy, on June 26, aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Independence.

The Independence spent a week anchored in the area while crewmembers visited both ports. Taranto is the home of the Italian Navy and Corfu is one of Greece's main tourist attractions.

The Independence is operating in the Mediterranean as a unit of the Sixth Fleet, the Navy's major operational force in the Middle East.

The carrier is scheduled to return to Norfolk, Va., in the early fall.

MOTIVE POWER

The ability to deliver the goods out-classes other kinds of pull in the long run.

"LITTLE OLD LADY" CARS

How important is mileage in judging a used car's value? Not so important as condition, visible wear and dealer reputation.

Despite the fact that most folks shopping for a used car still let the speedometer influence them mightily, recorded mileage can be very misleading in assessing a car's worth.

This is especially so today when manufacturer's advertising claims for reduced service on current models causes a tendency by drivers to regard their cars as mechanical wonders not requiring regular service as formerly.

Excessive engine wear causing oil burning in two-and-three year old cars is fairly common. The reason is that short trip driving, if not accompanied by frequent oil changes, causes rapid sludge and varnish build up. It is this chemical change in oil that causes most extensive wear.

Roughly one gallon of water is produced by a car's combustion system for every gallon of gas consumed. In a cold engine, instead of going out the exhaust pipe, this water condenses and runs into the crankcase, setting up sludge deposits. Sludge plugs engine oil passages in the rings, causing oil burning and ultimately varnish.

If your car gets a lot of this "little old lady" type of driving (frequent trips of less than eight miles) you will be well repaid by longer engine life and ultimately greater resale value to have your oil changed every thirty to sixty days even though your mileage is below maximum recommendations.

EDITOR'S CORNER

annual income figure per household of over $5,000. What makes the figure as high as it is, is the number of households with more than one person working. The figure does not represent the average annual wage per individual worker in the county.

The campaign for funds for the Rev. Robert Searls has been successful. Already paid on the family's new house has been $6,000. Before the drive is over authorities say that they are nearly sure that the total will be $7,000 and may reach $7,500. Money collected to date includes $1,900 from Cass City, $400 from Dundee, $2,090 from Franklin and $2,000 from Mr. Searls' father.

Enthusiasm sets the pace for the man who is going places.

SUMMER FUN included a course at the Smith Walbridge Twirling Camp at Syracuse, Ind., for two Cass City High School girls, Sharon Profit (left) and Beryl Copeland. The girls spent a week at the camp attending classes in dance, fire baton, flag baton and strutting. Other activities included cheer leading, drum major and band.

Erla's Cop Close Exhibition Tilt

The Cass City Pony League was the real winner in a game that pitted Erla Food Center against the Christian Reform Church softball team Wednesday, July 18.

A surprisingly large crowd saw a surprisingly good game and donated $23 for the use of the Pony League for equipment when the hat was passed midway during the contest.

Behind the one-hit shutout pitching of Dan Erla, the locals registered a 1-9 decision in 11 innings. Al Bosch of Inlay City, the losing hurler, was very effective as he whiffed 23 and allowed just five hits.

The winning rally came when Dean Hong slammed a double and was sacrificed to third on a perfect infie'd bunt single by Creason.

Gene Kloe then laid down a perfect squeeze bunt to score Hong from third for the game-winning counter.

Since the first exhibition was so successful, Erla's will attempt to schedule other exhibitions with outstanding teams from Michigan.

Tigers Cinch Little League Title Monday

The Tigers have cinched the regular season Cass City Little League title with a decision over second place Yankees in the feature attraction of two games played during the week.

The game was played Monday as the Yankees lost 8-4 to the Tigers who were defeated only once during the year.

John Maharg was the winning pitcher. He struck out 11 and allowed six hits, one a home run by Jim Tukey with a mate aboard. Harold Douglas was the losing pitcher. He allowed six hits. Home runs by Joe Mark and M. LaValley cost him the victory. Fred Ryan also helped the Tigers to victory with a pair of hits.

Douglas slammed out a pair for the Yankees.

Tigers-Cubs
Wednesday, July 18, the Tigers won a come-from-behind thriller from the Cubs, 11-10.

After the Cubs had taken a 10-8 lead, the Tigers rallied for three runs in the sixth and then held off the Cubs to win.

Larry Hartwick was the winning pitcher. He relieved Fred Ryan in the first and allowed only five hits the rest of the way. John Maharg continued his tremendous slugging with a pair of homers and a single in as many times at bat.

For the Cubs, Frank Holes had three for four and Ricky Lorenzen had a home run and a double. Tom Dewey was charged with the loss. He allowed 10 hits and whiffed six.

The standings:
Through Monday, July 23

500 Pages Need More Real Drama

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

SHIP OF FOOLS by Katherine Anne Porter is, I am sure, the effort of an expert to write "The Great American Novel."

Katherine Anne Porter has limited herself previously to more serious titles, and SHIP OF FOOLS is her first major novel. She selected a format which, I think, seemed simple but became more difficult as the writing progressed. She has taken a heterogeneous collection of people and put them aboard a ship which ultimately docks in a tremendous, pre-World War II German port. Her characterizations are beautiful and complete, and for this reason some reviewers have praised the book.

However, it is my feeling that in 500 pages more real drama might have aided the plot (or rather, collection of plots). By and large, the plot is - or at least could be - good. As, for instance, when the near-drowning of a steamer passenger who throws himself into the ocean to save the dog of another passenger occurs and becomes an important point of discussion.

All through the novel incidents present themselves as commitments that have to be made. Typical of such passages is this one:

"My God," Denny says to Jenny in sudden anger, "Is there nothing you won't try to take part in? What on earth have you got to cry for now?" Thus, this is not the easiest book to read, and as serious novels go, this one goes into the realm of the confused. I sometimes wondered if Miss Porter actually expects one to read all of this novel, but I did - right to the bitter end! This book will last an entire vacation, which will save packing - or sneaking away to buy a 25c crime tale which is more exciting.

Perhaps I missed the point of the book, for usually I like Miss Porter's writing, and I hope she tries again so I can read one more good tale from her pen; one in which her characters don't run away from her. My suggestion? Cut the number of characters in the book and let us know one or two of them well, rather than inundate us with multiple partial characterizations. When I completed reading the book and then reread the cast of characters listed in the front, I again marveled at the number of persons used for a few pages and then abandoned. I am not at all sure friend reader will appreciate the choices. Perhaps he may say in his own mind, "Let the dog drown - and his owners, too." But then, in 1931 there were things better left unsaid. Maybe Miss Porter will eventually take us further into their post-war lives and, who knows, maybe it will take us into Hiroshima, and beyond that to —?

Gibberish: Another Milestone for Sally

By Dave Kraft

Sally reached another milestone in her short but outstanding career as my daughter. She has just entered her ninth month in this capacity and already she is speaking a foreign language.

Gibberish. That's like Swedish, only you don't think so.

She does quite well, I suppose, but it's been so long since I've spoken any gibberish that I've forgotten how and I'm no judge.

She usually begins by blurtting out a single word and then, in lesser volume, rambles on for as long as two or three minutes.

Our favorites are: "mum mum mum mum" and "da da da da." These are obviously gibberish for mommy and daddy.

The fact that she is usually looking at the refrigerator or the basement door when she says "da da da da" and at me when she says "mum mum mum mum" might not bear this out, however.

We carry on almost intelligent conversations at times. She'll be sitting in her high chair and suddenly scream "Da!" to which I answer "What?"

She in turn says something like "Goo baa eee (spitter) daaa (more spitter) ahh" and accentuates it by smashing one of her toys to the floor.

To which I answer, if she hasn't hit me with the toy, "You don't say so?" which seems to satisfy her so I don't carry it any further. If she hits me with the toy, I just don't talk to her at all.

Since she started talking, my wife has developed an annoying "soundslike" habit. The baby will blurt something and my wife will immediately remark, "sounds like she said so and so."

The other night the baby was in a particularly talkative mood and I decided to have some fun with my wife. The baby had just said something brilliant and my wife had just come up with a "soundslike."

The baby rambled on for another 10 or 12 words and I suddenly said, "You know, I think you're right. That last bit sounded just like the first four lines of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address."

To which my wife answered, "Don't be silly. How would she know where Lincoln lived in Gettysburg?"

To which I didn't say anything. No sense starting a big argument. Besides, maybe he did live in Gettysburg.

It looked for a while like some of the Cass City area wheat crop would have to go unharvested, at least by those farmers served by Farm Produce Company.

It seems that outgoing shipments of wheat ground to a stop last Thursday when a swarm of bees took up residence in one of the boxcars.

Manager Barney Hoffman didn't say whether they were domestic or wild bees... at a time like that, social status is pretty unimportant. Besides.

Litterbugs Cost State Nearly $1,000 Daily Cleaning Roads

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Litterbugs are a costly segment of Michigan's society, according to State Highway Department maintenance officials.

Department records showed it cost nearly $1,000 a day to keep state highways relatively litter-free last year.

The litter problem and a proposal to ban throwaway beer bottles prompted the Governor's appointment earlier this year of a committee to study the problems and recommend ways to keep Michigan beautiful.

A "public persuasion campaign" is now being waged by the committee, which named itself the Keep Michigan Beautiful Committee, in an attempt to arouse an awareness of the effects of litter-strewn highways, beaches and parks.

John Murray, Highway Department information officer, was named head of the publicity subcommittee of the group.

"The various subcommittees are working with their respective 'audiences' throughout the state," Murray said. Committee chairman Joseph A. Childs, State Police Commissioner, has set a meeting this fall to make recommendations to the Governor.

"We have no spectacular plans," Murray said. "We are just doing what we can with limited and willing hands to make known the value of keeping parks, roads and lakes as clean as possible."

One likely recommendation to be made is that some form of year-round financing, either governmental or private, be sought to keep one person employed "as a prodder, a nudger, to communities to keep an anti-litter program going," Murray predicts.

"Unless somebody pays constant attention to this problem, things get away from us all except when a major spurt occurs," he said.

The "audiences" being approached by subcommittees include industry, chambers of commerce, radio and television and newspapers.

A major portion of the campaign, for example, is aimed at Michigan motorists. Attempts are being made to have gas filling stations distribute litter bags and keep receptacles handy for motorists. "The filling station is the one place every motorist has to stop no matter where or how he drives," Murray said.

"A major solution would be accomplished if the motorist had some place to get rid of accumulating litter when he drives, and the gas station now appears to be the logical place."

For the first time in 50 years Michigan will elect a Congressman-at-large whose constituency will be the entire state.

Few of the voting age today voted for the last Congressman-at-large elected in 1912, but it's a safe bet that a majority of the electorate going to the polls on November 6, 1962, will miss the "bargain" of electing two Congressmen of their choice at one election.

By voting for two Congressmen, the voters will have the chance of voting for one representing their Congressional district, and the other to represent them as part of the entire state of Michigan.

There might be some confusion among voters in thinking that their present Congressman has opposition. But efforts are being made in the campaign camps to be sure that the public will be aware of the situation.

It is expected that the newspapers will take a major role, as they have in previous elections, in bringing this new office to full public attention.

There was an attempt in Federal court by two Henry Ford Community college professors to make all Congressmen run at large.

Al Bentley, Owosso, one of the Congressmen-at-large candidates, was put in a paradoxical position of opposing the court maneuver, saying that it would put asunder an orderly procedure to redistrict the state. Bentley, a Republican, was in effect, opposing Congressmen-at-large because, as he said, "it would deprive the people of representation by district as provided in the Constitution of the United States."

This is the second campaign for Bentley on a statewide basis. He lost his first try in 1960 by less than a two per cent margin against Senator McNamara.

This year he opposes Neil Staebler, Democratic national committee member who has been active in party politics since 1950. Staebler lost his only try for public office back in 1937 in a local race in Ann Arbor.

Opportunities that knock where a man has everything to gain and nothing to lose sometimes rob the shirt off his back.

It takes 50 railroad cars to transport the New York City telephone directories from Chicago which prints the major volume of the nation's telephone directories.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

It's Difficult to Leave Old Friends

By Ilene Warren

According to the Editor's Corner in last week's CHRONICLE, my "brief gaudy hour" as a columnist is about to end. It had occurred to me that I might continue my "Wandering" out to California - however, perhaps there are so many who have made the trip that it would not be of interest.

I am glad to see the "It Seems to Me" column back in the CHRONICLE and will enjoy perusing it in the months to come as well as chortling at Dave's kraitiness.

Concerning the move to California, it is one that I face with mixed emotions. It's seldom easy to leave one's family and the associations developed in an area. We've lived here for over nine years (and, of course, I was born and reared in the neighborhood). It will be rather difficult to leave Bolen Motors, too, after being employed there for nearly nine years. When you work that long at one place, attachments are formed - even, at times, a sense of proprietorship!

Nevertheless, looking to the other side of the coin, I anticipate a closer relationship with the "other" Warrens, Don and Jean, and look forward to new friends, new associations. Don is my husband's brother and his only close relative. He and Jean live in San Bernardino and that's where we shall be living, too. We visited there in 1947 and I fell in love with the place - so it will not be altogether strange to me.

Also on the other side of the coin: What's it going to be like this coming winter not having drifts of snow to shovel?

We have a pet hummingbird - at least we consider him a pet albeit an untamed one. He visits us nearly every day, attracted by the flowers around the house - especially the petunias and hollyhocks. I watched him last Thursday in the brick garden he visited every petunia almost methodically, two or three times flitting back to probe into a blossom for a second time. The hollyhocks are right outside the kitchen window so we have a close view of our little iridescent-feathered friend when he's sipping hollyhock nectar. It's most fascinating to watch the hummingbird execute his flight maneuvers!

My dog Pride and I have taken quite an interest lately in taking little jaunts around our green valley and down the little-used road that leads to the old Sandfly school. We appraise everything with fresh eyes as though storing memories for the months ahead. But - even as I lounge comfortably on the shady bank of the Cass River and am lulled into a pleasant, nostalgic drowsiness by its persistent flow - I feel no sadness for, like MacArthur, "I shall return."

The baby trees that Ron and I planted and coaxed and wheeled into growing will probably amaze us when we do return. Things seem to grow slowly when they are observed day by day - but when one goes away to return later, everything seems to have grown so much bigger in the absence.

And so it's hail and farewell! Thanks for the letters some of you have taken the time to write - thanks for the encouraging comments . . . and thanks, too, for criticisms! I've loved writing this column - and that is, actually, the only reason it has continued to be written for as long a time as it has . . . that, and the endurance of the editor! I shan't say "good-bye" - just, "Till we meet again!"

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, told the fellers things shore was in a mess at his church these days. He said he hoped the Lord didn't have as much trouble planning the world as they was having planning their little church with the high steeple.

He reported the only thing the members has agreed on so far is to make the steeple 3 foot higher than any in the community. Hezekiah Adams wants a one story building and Rufe Zinder wants a two story job. Ellie Sanders, that does the solo singing for the choir, wants a modern church and Rufe's wife wants a old timey one. Katie Hightower says the church has got to be built out of wood and Rufe's wife swears it has got to be brick. The men says it's got to be painted white and the wimmen is holding out for baby blue. The young folks thinks it should be pokey-dot.

The good Parson said he has negotiated all these items at the summit and has come up with a compromise. He is suggesting they build a split level church and have one side two stories for some members and the other side one story for the rest of the members. He told the congregation he thought the church would be real pritty if one side was wood and the other brick. He advised the members that the colors wouldn't be no trouble, they'd paint the outside white, the inside baby blue and the floors pokey-dot.

All these things, he said, was took up in order at the regular Wednesday night prayer meeting service. He told the fellers they never got round to no prayers on account of somebody always bringing up new business. For instant, Hezekiah brung up the subject of a new church lawn and told how it ought to be done. When he got through, the Parson said he asked if anybody had any suggestions or questions and nobody said a word. Everything was fine till the members got out the front door, then things got to popping. He heard one woman tell her husband they needed a new lawn like they needed a hole in the head. Rufe's wife was telling Essie Plumber she wasn't agin a new lawn but she didn't like the way they railroaded the thing through without the members having no say so.

But the good Parson took his departure on a happy note. He told the fellers his ulcers was holding their own and he has already got a nice compromise worked out in his mind for the church lawn.

The fellers was all agreed, Mister Editor, that President Kennedy picked the wrong diplomat for Secretary of State.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

As I read reports from other countries about their food shortages, the more I appreciate our country's food production. Food production in the United States is a very specialized industry. There is none other like it in the world. In much of the world, 75 per cent of the population is engaged in food production and still masses of people go hungry. In the U. S. less than 10 per cent of the population produces enough food for themselves and the other 90 per cent of the population. And, there is an overabundance of food. The U. S. farmers have learned to produce an abundance of food and to keep costs decreasing. We are now spending about 20 per cent of our income after taxes on food. Out of that 20 per cent, we spend about 32 per cent for meat, poultry and fish. Of the amount we spend for meats, we have a decided preference for beef. In recent years we have been demanding leaner beef. We like the eating characteristics of U. S. Prime and Choice grades of beef. But, actually most of us select beef upon the basis of leanness, rather than characteristics which indicate higher quality.

These factors are the reasons for a new system of grading beef, called Dual grading, which started July 1. The program is starting on a trial and optional basis and is designed to encourage the production of more lean type beef.

Research has shown that cattle of the same weight and quality, size, grade may vary in value to the meat retailer considerably. Under the Dual grading system, beef quality, or palatability, will be judged as it always has been. Marbling, color, texture and firmness of the lean meat, in relation to the age of the animal, are the factors which will continue to be used.

Cut ability, or the percentage of saleable cuts, will be determined by the thickness of the fat over the rib eye, the size of the rib eye muscle, the amount of kidney and pelvic fat and the carcass weight. In Dual grading, conformation (structure, shape) will be used as one of the factors to determine cut ability, just as it has been one of the factors to determine beef quality grades.

The other grading in Dual grading will be the yield grade. This grade will be determined by the percentage of saleable meat the carcass will provide. Yield grades will be indicated by numbers from one to six. One indicates the highest yield and six the lowest.

In Dual grading the quality grade will be stamped and shown on the retail cuts. The yield grade will only be stamped on each quarter of the carcass.

The Dual grading program is designed to help the beef producer get a fair price for his lean type beef, the kind we prefer, and the packer, retailer and consumer to buy according to the desired quality.
