

In Caro Address

Romney Hits Dems For "Self-interest"

Over 160 Tuscola county Republican leaders and party members heard their candidate for governor ask for "an end to self-interest in state government" and "the restoration of public administration to the State of Michigan," at a smorgasbord dinner for George Romney, Republican industrialist, in Caro Tuesday night at the Hotel Montague.

Romney gave a 20-minute talk before leaving for a meeting at the Bad Axe Fair. He had spent the afternoon in Vassar.

During his talk, he charged that the "present administration and its cronies are in a concentrated program to extend their powers." He cited the recent furor over the State Supreme Court decision on reapportionment as the result of "misinterpretation by the head of state."

He also defended the new constitution which has evolved out of the Constitutional Convention as "equal to any constitution in the land . . . and superior to many others, particularly in regard to reapportionment."

Romney gave a brief rundown on his political and industrial career and outlined his campaign program.

"The difference between success and failure in this election can be small or large," he told the group. "To succeed in the whole undertaking, we must have the support of the Independents and discerning Democrats."

Also present at the meeting was Charles Knill, Port Huron, Republican Representative candidate for the Seventh District.

Seek Men to Buy Caro Golf Course

A group of golf fans are attempting to purchase the Caro Golf Club in an attempt "in preserving and expanding the golfing facilities in Tuscola county."

To finance the sale, the men are seeking pledges of $500 from 150 persons.

If enough persons are interested, a corporation will be formed. Deadline date to get the project off the ground is December, 1962.

Brenda Surbrook Wins Free Bike In Friday's Draw

Crowds continue to flock to the weekly free bike drawing sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Again Friday a winner was selected on the first draw. This week petite Brenda Surbrook, five, was the winner. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Surbrook.

Friday's drawing was the eighth in the series which runs for 10 weeks.

The final program will include a drawing for a host of prizes given by the Chamber of Commerce.

From the Editor's Corner

Most teachers would like to receive the salary ($7,000) that Ralph Brown, new county diagnostician, will receive as his starting pay.

The reason for the hefty wage is that teachers with these special qualifications are very scarce. We were lucky to get him, said a member of the board, and the salary is actually cheap in comparison with what others in the field draw.

Although the voter turnout was good for a primary in a non-presidential year, it was far under the 1970 election when a presidential battle and a Sunday closing issue brought over 12,000 to the polls. Over 80 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots in the county.

The community will miss Howard "Baldy" Ellis on the business front. Until stricken, Baldy was one of those rare persons who could always be counted on to put his shoulder to the wheel for community events.

Always a pusher for Cass City, he worked actively in the Gavel Club, on the Chamber of Commerce, in local sports and in any other community project that came along.

In his 21 years in business, his work for a better Cass City never stopped. We join with his host of friends in hoping that his health will allow him to return to business soon.

Hospital Drive Volunteers Hold First Meeting

The first meeting for volunteer workers in the Cass City Hospital building fund drive was to have been held in the campaign office at the hospital on Aug. 8, at 7:30 p.m., Leonard Damm, a member of the Board of Trustees, announced today.

"In order to have a successful drive we must have many dedicated workers," Damm added. "We are encouraged by those who have indicated their willingness to help and we feel that many more who have a sense of appreciation for the services of the Cass City Hospital will join the ranks of dedicated volunteers."

"The purpose of the meeting for the volunteer workers is to outline the plans for the drive and to explain about the expansion program."

"We hope that those who are interested in helping but unable to attend the meeting, will phone the campaign office, Cass City 512, to let their interest be known."

Almer Krueger, president of the Board of Trustees, stated that a land survey had been made preparatory to getting a title to the land, on which the new building is to be built, in the name of the Cass City Hospital, Inc. He added, "We now have in progress the matter of getting ownership of the land upon which the new building will be constructed as well as land which will be used for parking. In a short time the necessary legal steps will have been taken and the work completed."

Earns BS Degree

Mrs. Erwin (Lois) Binder, Cass City, completed work toward her Bachelor of Science degree recently at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

Mrs. Erwin Binder

Mrs. Binder completed her high school education at Cass City High School and was graduated with the Class of 1955. Since then, she has taught in area rural schools and worked toward her BS degree.

She has been named to teach special education at Cass City this fall.

DISPLACED PERSON?—Not anymore Mrs. Hedy Kessler, 24, shows her two-year-old son, Peter, some of the places she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Klopp, visited on their trip from Austria to America in 1956. The three fled Yugoslavia just ahead of the Russians in 1944. They are all making their home in Cass City, where Hedy is a secretary at Walbro Corporation. (Chronicle photo)

Hedy's Memories: War, Work, Travel

Secretarial shorthand to most persons is nothing more than unassociated scribbles on a piece of paper and the idea of taping English dictation in German shorthand is ridiculous.

Not so for Mrs. Hedy Kessler, secretary at Walbro Corporation, who does just that. There is nothing really unusual about it, it is just one of a number of adjustments she has had to make since she and her parents were driven from Yugoslavia during World War II.

A displaced person is defined in part as "a person expelled or deported from his country of nationality or of habitual residence by one of the Nazi, Fascist or quisling regimes . . ."

Although Hedy and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Klopp, all of Cass City, were first driven from their homeland by the Russians in 1944 and then from their adopted home in Austria for economic reasons in 1955, they are about the most "undisplaced" persons in Cass City.

When the Klopps arrived in the area in 1956, they could speak no English and had no jobs. Concluded on page four.

BLESSING the cornerstone of the new St. Pancratius Catholic Church prior to its being set in place Sunday during cornerstone laying services is Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Sonefeld, vicar general of the Saginaw Diocese. A host of church dignitaries and members attended the ceremony which was the second of three to be held during the construction of the building. Assisting in the blessing, left to right, are: Rev. Joseph Schabel, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Frank Kaufmann, Rev. Isadore Mikulski, Rev. Arnold Messing, pastor, and Rev. Frank McLaughlin.

Lay Cornerstone Of Catholic Church

The laying of the cornerstone of the new St. Pancratius Church was the second of three distinct and significant ceremonies to be used during construction of the church, the Rev. Arnold Messing, pastor, announced this week.

At Sunday's ceremonies, attended by a host of church dignitaries, special prayers were invoked asking God's blessing that the work be successfully completed.

At the ceremony the place for the altar and the building foundations were blessed and the cornerstone was blessed and officially laid. Father Messing said the cornerstone ceremony symbolizes Christ, the cornerstone of the faith of Christianity.

The first ceremony was the ground breaking May 6 and the third will be the dedication after the church is completed.

The ceremonies have several meanings of special significance to members of the parish, Messing said.

Parishioners should realize that it is a house of prayer and sacrifice for the entire congregation; that it is a visible symbol of God's kingdom on earth, a gateway to heaven and the symbol of the individual Christian.

Announce Sale Of "Baldy's" Service Station

Howard "Baldy" Ellis, popular Cass City businessman for 21 years, this week announced that he had sold his service station to Andrew Kozan and Clare Melendorf.

In a closing statement, Ellis said that he was reluctant to quit business, but his health made it imperative that he did so.

The new owners will not be strangers to customers at the station or to Cass City area residents. They had been working for Ellis.

Kozan was born near Cass City and graduated from Cass City High School in 1957. Melendorf was born in Elkton and graduated from Owendale High School in 1955.

The name of the station has been changed from "Baldy's" to Clave and Andy's Sunoco Service.

Two Injured in Tractor-Car Crash

A rural Cass City man was ticketed by Sandusky State Police Monday night for excessive speed after his car slammed into the rear of a tractor driven by a 17-year-old youth southeast of Cass City on M-53.

Ticketed for violation of the basic speed law was Virgil Peters, 55, Cass City. The driver of the tractor was Brewster Shaw, 17, Cass City.

According to the report from the Sandusky State Police Post, Shaw was traveling north on M-53 at about 9:00 p.m. when Peters ran into the rear of the tractor.

Peters told investigating officers that he didn't see the tractor in time. The tractor reportedly had its taillights on.

Shaw was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital suffering from cuts on the head and abrasion of the left arm. Peters suffered facial cuts.

The tractor, totally demolished, rolled over after the collision but young Shaw was thrown clear.

On other fronts, three area persons reported thefts to Sandusky and Bad Axe State Police Sunday.

Dennis LaFave, 15, and Barry Ziehm, 15, both of Owendale, reported to Bad Axe State Police that two wrist watches and a billfold were taken from their clothes as they swam in a water-filled quarry at Gagetown and Canboro Roads near Owendale.

The watches were valued at $15.00 and $10.00 and the billfold contained $5.00.

Stanley VanVleet, Decker, told Sandusky State Police that someone took a motor scooter his son, Richard, 13, had left by the side of the road after it had developed motor trouble.

The boy reportedly left the scooter on Mushroom Road, a half mile east of M-53 at about 7:30 p.m. and when he and his father returned at 9:00 p.m., the scooter was gone.

The scooter was blue with license 355-35.

Nigg President Of Hills & Dales Medical Staff

Dr. Herbert L. Nigg, MD, Caro, was named president of the Hills and Dales General Hospital medical staff at a staff meeting at the hospital Wednesday night, August 1.

Also elected during the monthly meeting were Dr. Edward Miles, MD, Caro, vice-president; Dr. James Ballard, MD, Cass City, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. H. T. Donahue, MD, Cass City, chief of surgery.

Voters turned out in large numbers Tuesday in Tuscola county to nominate candidates for state offices and to name county party candidates.

Top interest centered around the races for sheriff, coroner, state senator and state representative and a total of 6,467 voters went to the polls . . . about 50 per cent more than the under 4,000 who voted in the last non-presidential primary in the county.

Of top interest was the race for the sheriff's post, left up for grabs by the resignation of incumbent William Tomlinson.

Hugh Marr of Caro won by the scant margin of 24 votes over Gordon Carter of Vassar. Evidently, Carter was well regarded in his home area. In Vassar city and township and Tuscola township, he piled up a majority of 927 votes to 49 votes for the other three candidates.

However, Marr's strength in the remainder of the county was enough to offset the huge majority in the Vassar area.

Marr totaled 2315 votes; Carter, 2291 votes; Pat Dillon, 1625 votes, and Francis Gleason, 138 votes.

In the race for coroner, Ben Collon led all Republican candidates with 2985 votes. Winning the second spot on the ballot was George Clark Jr. with 2304 votes. Clayton Atkins polled 1568 votes and Walter Harmon, 1625 votes.

Incumbent Wins

The county and district's incumbent state senator and representative had little trouble winning the GOP nomination over political novices making a first bid for office.

Senator Arthur Dehmelt posted an almost three to one majority over John Ney of Bad Axe with 11,042 votes to 3,987 votes.

By the counties the vote was: Sanilac - Dehmelt, 3783, and Ney, 1123; Huron - Dehmelt, 2996, and Ney, 1654; Tuscola, Dehmelt, 4263, and Ney, 1210.

In the representative's race, Allison Green of Kingston posted a margin of over two to one over Orville Hubbard, also of Kingston. The totals were: Green, 3916, and Hubbard, 1704.

The unexpected heavy vote caused Dayton and Kingston to have more ballots rushed out from the clerk's office.

Almer township was the first to report to the clerk's office when its poll book was returned at 10:35 p.m.

About 35 per cent of the county's registered voters cast ballots. Elkland township was slightly below the county average. About 31 per cent of the voters here went to the polls.

Republicans Gain

Reflecting the popularity of George Romney, the GOP made its best showing in recent years in the race for governor. Always heavily Republican, the county's GOP majority this year stretched to eight to one as Romney polled 5769 votes to 698 votes for Gov. John Swinson. The majority was undoubtedly large because of the contest on the GOP ticket on the local level. In the 1962 primary, the Republican margin over the Brown's home is in Rochester, N. Y. However, he received the majority of his training in Michigan. He graduated from Owosso College with a major in psychology and earned his MA from Michigan State in special education.

He is now interning in Shiawassee county as school diagnostician.

He is married and has four children.

Trio Sentenced To Jail Unless They Get Jobs

Three Saginaw men, convicted of illegal possession of marijuana, were given two-year probationary sentences with the first six months to be spent in the Tuscola County Jail unless they can find jobs.

The sentence was handed down to Gabina Dominguez, Andres M. Flores and John Arroyo, all of Saginaw, by Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn during a court session Wednesday, August 1.

The trio were arrested in July in Vassar after a routine check uncovered a large quantity of raw marijuana in the back seat of their car. Subsequent investigation led to the discovery of a large field of the narcotic.

Judge Quinn also ordered the men to pay fines of $100 and costs of $100 at the rate of $10.00 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Smith

Before an altar decorated with palms and baskets of white gladioli and spider mums, Miss Ann Churchill of Kingston became the bride of Gordon L. Smith, Muskegon, in a candlelight ceremony, Saturday, July 28, at the Deford Methodist Church. The Rev. Alan Weeks officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth Churchill of Deford. The groom is the son of Mrs. G. Herbert Becker of Mt. Clemens. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of nylon organza trimmed with pearls, sequins and Alencon lace. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline. The skirt, ending in a chapel train, was highlighted by a butterfly bow.

Her train, decorated with pearls and Aurora crystal beads, secured the fingertip veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Carol Churchill of Kingston served as her sister's maid of honor. Janice Caister of Saginaw was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of blue nylon organza over taffeta with bow and streamers highlighting the bell shaped skirts. Matching headpieces of imported bride and straw flowers secured their face veils. They carried bouquets of white Fuji mums edged in blue.

Charles Harmon of Parma and Albert Bane of Mt. Clemens attended the bridegroom. Ushers were Lyle Rood of Flint and Vernon Churchill of Midland.

Mrs. Churchill wore a dress of black and white nylon print over taffeta accented by white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of beige lace over taffeta with beige accessories. Mrs. Clarence Cox, aunt of the bride, wore a turquoise and white print with white accessories. They wore corsages of lavender orchids.

Miss Gloria Good of Bay City, organist, played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and "The Rosary".

A reception followed in the Deford School gymnasium with approximately 200 guests attending from Kansas, Indiana, Parma, Tekonsha, Mancelona, Charlotte, Spring Arbor, Roseville, Mt. Clemens, Pontiac, Midland, Bay City, Saginaw, Mayville, Marlette, Clifford, Cass City, Kingston and Deford.

To show results in the battle of life one must keep driving.

IF 12-YEAR-OLD Ron Roberts had been two feet shorter or his "friend" two feet longer, it might have been a different story. As it was, it took the boy almost 30 minutes to pull the 33-inch, 15 and a half pound pike out of the Cass River, a mile south and a mile west of Cass City, Thursday, Aug. 2. He took the whopper on a June-bug spinner. (Chronicle Photo)

Harold Douglas went the distance to pick up the victory for the Yanks. Ken Hayes, H. Francis and David Bliss each blasted three hits and Bliss and Douglas had home runs for the winners.

The winners of the games will compete for the play-off championship next week.

Regular Season

The regular season ended Monday, July 30, when the Yankees topped the Cubs, 7-5. It was a heartbreaking loss for the Cubs. They had gone ahead 9-7 in the top half of the final inning when it started to rain. The game reverted to the end of the fifth and the Yanks walked off with the win.

BULEN TALKS CARS

THREE TIPS TO USED CAR BUYERS

A dealer I heard of recently took in two used cars of the same make and year but in different condition. One had 29,600 miles on its speedometer and was in rough condition. The second had 60,000 speedometer miles but had been meticulously kept in excellent shape.

The dealer decided because of its poor condition to wholesale the 29,000 mile model immediately but retained the 60,000 mile model to retail because of its excellent condition.

In due time, however, he was forced to wholesale this model also because of buyer resistance to its high speedometer reading.

Some months later the dealer chanced to be talking to a service customer regarding a minor fault in his steering. He didn't recognize the man but he did recognize his car as the same 60,000 mile vehicle he had reluctantly wholesaled earlier. A serial number check confirmed his suspicions.

The owner stated that his "regular" dealer had been unable to fix the ailment and he was pleased when mechanics promptly spotted the trouble. "I really didn't expect anything serious," he said, "since it has only 22,000 miles on it."

When he was informed of the true history of his car the customer was naturally dismayed. But he still admitted that the car had been very satisfactory regardless of its mileage.

Next time, it is to be hoped, he will look less closely at the speedometer, more closely at the condition and still more closely at the reputation of the dealer he buys from.

HEDY KESSLER

Within two weeks they were both employed. Since then, they have remodeled their home on Huron Street, learned to speak English and have become responsible members of the community.

Hedy, who could speak some English when she arrived with her parents, got a job in Detroit as a dental assistant. Eight months ago, she and her two-year-old son, Peter, moved to Cass City where they are living with her parents.

Defining a displaced person is one thing, but defining Hedy Kessler is another. Physically, she is a small, attractive, 34-year-old mother with brown hair and laughing brown eyes.

She has been a general office worker, a seamstress in a clothing factory, a bookkeeper-typist in a butcher shop, a dental assistant and a secretary.

Her emotional make-up is a curious mixture of memories of war, Christmas, travel, two days in Paris with her parents and unusual experiences.

During the war, she and her parents were Germans living in Panschowa, Yugoslavia. She and her mother were office workers with the German Air Force and by listening in on high command telephone calls, they knew that the tide had turned against the Germans.

Increased activity by Titoist guerrillas was a further warning that the German occupation was almost over.

Finally, one night they were told that they had a half hour to get ready to leave. Because of their military jobs, the Kloppts were allowed to leave on a boat with Air Force personnel... they were the only three civilians allowed to do so. An uncle who returned to the town to get his family was among the hundreds of German men who were forced into a city square and shot down.

The next two weeks were a nightmare of being strafed by Allied airplanes and a ride on a freight train that was in constant danger of being blown from the tracks by guerilla-placed landmines.

They arrived in Scharding, Austria, with only two suitcases of belongings apiece.

"Times in Austria were not very good for us," Hedy states. They lived there for 12 years before Mrs. Kloppt's sister in Bach sponsored their trip to the United States.

Four years ago, in a story for the Chronicle, Mr. and Mrs. Kloppt announced emphatically, "We'll never go back... we intend to stay forever!" Hedy echoed the remark but added that "we might go for a visit... I want my son to see the country." She intends to file for her citizenship in the near future.

What was their first impression of America?

"It was gorgeous... the people were so nice. The first and main impression was that everyone was so helpful," Hedy says.

Mrs. Kloppt remarked that "in the six years we've been in Cass City, nobody has laughed at us because of our language... they always try to help us."

They were amazed to see how people live in America and were particularly impressed to see that almost every home had washing machines and refrigerators.

Hedy, who has a high school education, took private courses in shorthand and bookkeeping. How does the English to German to English system work?

"I've only had one dictation, but it works," she says. "The other office girls laugh at me... they don't see how I can do it."

Her only problem, besides speed, is that some of the characters in German shorthand are the same as English shorthand, but mean different things. Hedy also speaks Serbian, Hungarian and French.

Their trip to America was one unusual experience after another.

They spent two days touring Paris on foot, visiting the usual tourist attractions such as the Champs Elysees, the Louvre and Notre Dame Cathedral.

They sailed from France to New York on the Queen Elizabeth liner. Before leaving, they were told that a sure cure of seasickness was cognac, so they took a bottle along.

They left the bottle sitting on a dresser in their room. As the trip progressed, they noticed that although they hadn't used any of the cognac, it kept getting lower in the bottle.

It wasn't until most of the cognac was gone that they discovered that everytime they left the room the steward found it necessary to drop in and straighten things up, including the bottle of cognac.

The symbol of America to all immigrants is, of course, the Statue of Liberty, just before entering New York Harbor. What did Hedy think of it?

"I'm embarrassed to say it, but I didn't see it," she recalls. "I'd waited for it for so long and when I stood at the rail waiting to see it, I wondered why it was taking so long"... it was on the other side of the boat.

Cass City Scouts on Wild Goose Chase

Four Cass City Explorer Scouts and their advisors were among 31 Explorer Scouts from Saginaw, Kawkawlin, Pinconning and Cass City to take part in a real wild goose chase at Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge, Shiawassee county.

The boys and their leaders took part in an organized wild goose drive during which wild geese and ducks in the reserve were driven into a trap and banded.

Attending from Cass City were advisors Charles and Carl Reed and Explorer Scouts Bill Hutchinson, Garry Randall, John McIntosh and Jim Merchant.

Before the drive, the boys heard a short talk on the expansion and improvements of the refuge, given by John Ellis, refuge official, formerly of Cass City.

Ellis showed the group slides of animals protected by the reserve, which is a major resting and feeding area in that portion of the Mississippi flyway.

Following the banding, the Scouts took a ride on an airboat. The ride and the banding were photographed by Dick Black of Mort Neff's Michigan Outdoors television show and are slated to be shown in the near future.

Voelker Reunion Held in Caseville

Oldest members present were Mrs. John Voelker and Mrs. Peggy Webber, both of Pigeon.

Members attended from Detroit, Saginaw, Port Austin, Harbor Beach, Port Hope, Elkton, Pigeon, Sebawaing, Owendale, Cass City and Hawaii.

Cass Valley Group Meets at Caseville

Fourteen members, two guests and a number of children were present Monday when the Cass Valley Farm Bureau group met with Mrs. Verneta Stilson at Caseville.

Following a potluck dinner topped off with ice cream and cake, Mrs. Mack Little called the meeting to order, with prayer by Rinerd Knoblet. Mrs. Harold Little read the July meeting minutes and communications from several members.

Package Reporter Harold Little presented short articles on "Lights on Super Highways", "Wheat Referendum" and various other topics. Minuteman Gail Parrott gave his report and Mr. Knoblet was in charge of the discussion, "Disturbing Court Decisions and Courts Threaten the Voter's Rights."

The next meeting will be Sept. 10 at the Mack Little home.

Class of '52 Holds Reunion at School

A total of 126 were present Saturday evening at Cass City High School when the first reunion of the class of 1952 was held. In the group were 67 class members, their husbands or wives, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmberg and Supt. Willis Campbell and former teachers Otto Ross and Arthur Paddy and their wives.

The committee who worked on plans for the reunion and largely responsible for the success of the affair were Richard Wallace, chairman, Mrs. Dale Damm, Mrs. Richard Hampshire, Mrs. James Turner, Gerald Whittaker, Archie A. McLachlan, Frank Creason and Jim McDonald.

Dick Wallace served as master of ceremonies for the program and Tom Schwaderer of Grand Rapids read the class prophecy. As each name was mentioned in the reading of the prophecy, the individual introduced his or her spouse and told briefly of their family. Pictures were taken and plans were made for another reunion to be held in 1967.

A turkey dinner was served by women of the Lutheran Church.

ST&H Purchases

Gagetown Lot

The ST&H Oil Company of Bad Axe has purchased a lot adjoining their Gagetown station from Joe Mosack, village president. Mosack purchased the property from the late Miss Elizabeth Quinn. Around the turn of the century, the lot was the site of Ryan's General Store, owned by Michael Ryan.

I'm A Real Mean Table Top Tapper

By Dave Kraft

Mrs. Stan Guntner, Chronicle proofreader, par excellence, remarked the other day that both she and her husband were frustrated piano players and that their two children were going to play the piano, even if they had to break their little fingers to get them to do it.

It got me thinking... my daughter Sally is going on 10 months old and all she plays with is her toes. Time's a wastin'.

Not that she comes from a musical family. I'm a pretty mean table top tapper and my wife spins a pretty wicked record. Both of us are adept at turning a radio knob.

I've tried to become a musician at various times throughout my life.

Once my father bought me a violin but we just never got around to taking lessons. I also took Hawaiian guitar lessons for six months... I quit when I had to do a recital in a grass skirt.

Another time a neighbor tried to sell my father a saxophone. To demonstrate how easy it was to learn to play the thing, he taught me "All the Girls in France..." and that ended that.

When I was in college, I tried to take piano lessons but I got in a class with a bunch of music majors and by the time I got the first four notes off, they were through the whole number.

I did the only logical thing... I quit. Besides, I look lousy by candlelight.

I probably never would have gotten on the piano kick if I hadn't been told so many times that with such slender fingers I should be a piano player.

I might have succeeded but one day, in a fit of artistic zeal, I threw back the cover with such force that it fell back down. Unfortunately, I had my hands on the keyboard and the cover gave me some joints where I didn't have any knuckles.

Boy, did that smart! My 10 little wiggles looked like 10 overstuffed wieners.

Since then, I've confined all my keyboard capers to the letters on my typewriter. I suppose that one day I'll get my little digits all fouled up in the backlash of the carriage and end up in the hospital. I guess it's the price you pay if you want to live dangerously.

My wife actually plays a musical instrument... the clarinet. As a matter of fact, the first time I ever saw her was at a concert by the Vassar City Band.

One of the numbers was Sousa's "Semper Fidelis," in which my wife gave an outstanding performance.

What was so outstanding was that while the rest of the band labored over "Semper Fidelis," my wife blithely tooted. "I Left My Heart in the Highlands Behind the Old Oak Tree But I Still Get Heartburn When I Think Of You."

It was terrific... I think she wrote it herself.

I spent a considerable amount of time chasing two riderless horses up and down Cass City streets Saturday afternoon. They were pastured in back of E. B. Schwaderer's bungalow and somehow or other, they got out.

We followed the tracks, very carefully managing to stay about 15 minutes behind them.

The chase led from the Hills and Dales subdivision to Doerr Road, down past Anrod, through a field to where Lloyd Bryant keeps his horses, across to Seeger and down past Thelma's Grocery.

It was here that the stump jumpers turned around and headed back up town via Seeger Street. Two boys and a girl finally caught them near Dr. Donahue's farm... about three blocks from where they got loose.

Just like hunting rabbits.

Book Review

The "Heros" Are Connected with Royalty

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

In a warm and friendly style, Anya Seton has written a warm, knowledgeable book of royalty and hard times. The novel, DEVIL WATER, was four years in the writing. Anya Seton, herself, claims some of the people about whom she writes as her own forebears and the complete classification would have to be "historical novel".

The "heroes" are connected to royalty by allegiance but to Northumberland in northern England by nature. Here, in 525 pages, she tells of a royal family's trials through three generations. I feel that the jacket of the book is right when it says, "The themes of this book are loyalty and courage..." Like all of Anya Seton's books, it combines thoroughly documented history with superb story telling. "The reader may know from the first that the Jacobite cause is doomed, but sometimes he hopes, and always he cares."

"He cares." From time to time I put the book down (to rest my weary arms; 500 pages) then took it up again immediately because I had gotten interested in some character and wondered how he escaped - and usually he had not been able to.

Ah, but I note I have not spoken of Jenny yet and I must, for Jenny is the central picture in the book. The daughter of Charles Radcliffe, Jenny is not really royalty in a biographical sense but she is the only true royalty we see.

If I go further, I need... (I adopt the language all to readily, methinks) (yes, editor, you saw right. It is "methinks"; "me stinks" is personal and therefore unusable.) To get it correct, I need to go into the family tree of English royalty and there is where we get confused. Nor is it central to the story.

Cass City sneaks in by the back door, unexpectedly, in the character of one Viscount Kinnaird. (I warned his wife about him, too.)

If you intend to try to keep all the relationships in this story straight in your mind, please leave the book to be read by someone more discriminating. All the characters do fit in and are true-to-life (the life of the period, I mean), but if you are the type of reader who devours a good novel at one sitting, prepare to pay the price.

This is not a great book but it is definitely a good one.

Be on Guard for Bang's Disease

An outbreak of brucellosis in cattle can occur at any time and place unless farmers keep their guard up, says, Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Director.

An outbreak in several herds in one Michigan county points up the fact that brucellosis can occur when least expected, he stresses. Ballweg lists eight precautions that need to be taken by the farmer to guard against the disease. These include:

1. Use of the milk ring test at least three times a year to check if any milking herds have brucellosis. Blood test all suspicious herds.

2. Blood test all non-milk producing herds at least every three years. Slaughter all positive reactors to the brucellosis blood test.

3. Vaccinate all heifer calves.

4. Don't purchase replacement stock through auction yards.

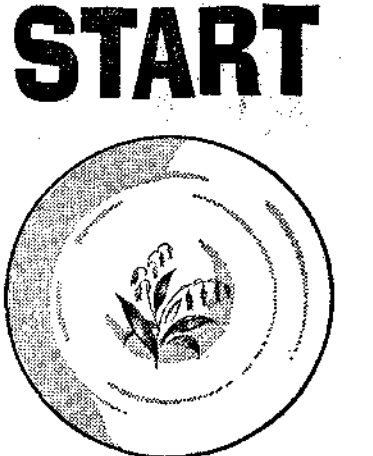

5. Clean and disinfect all trucks and railroad cars used for transporting livestock after each trip.

6. Purchase cattle only from disease-free herds.

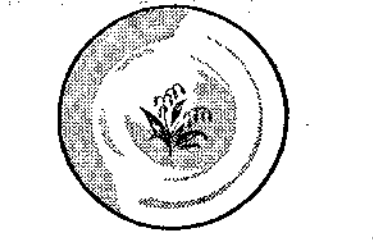

7. Eliminate brucellosis found in swine.

8. Clean and disinfect areas once a week where cattle are concentrated or accumulate for short periods of time.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that brucellosis now costs the livestock industry about $25 million a year, compared with $100 million in 1954. Further savings are possible through sound management programs, Ballweg concludes.

Michigan Mirror Laud Community Colleges

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Community or junior colleges have been sharply increasing in number throughout the country, but Michigan Education Association officials report many people do not know the purpose or function of the institutions.

Generally the junior colleges, interchangeably called community colleges, are operated by municipalities, school districts, special junior college districts or as off-campus branches of four-year colleges or universities.

The offering at such an institution is a post high school education, usually in a two-year program of a terminal nature, or as preparation for further study at a four-year college or university.

Students at a typical junior college will include high school graduates who want two, rather than four, years of education; those eventually bound for a four-year college; housewives interested in homemaking, child care, general education, or preparation for re-employment.

Others will be workers who want to improve their skills, prepare for advancement, gain a vocational experience, or expand their general education. Also studying at such institutions will be young adults who did not graduate from high school or study part time to earn a college diploma; or senior citizens seeking new interests.

Advantages of a junior college, both from the standpoint of location and curriculum, are many, according to George F. Hancin, public relations director for the Michigan Education Association.

These include allowing a transition from secondary school to college, eliminating the emotional strain of leaving family and friends; lower costs of education, and good choice of courses for persons who want to enter one of the technical occupations.

Junior colleges also are attractive institutions for "late bloomers," Hancin said. These students with college-level abilities but low high school grades can prove themselves by doing well in a junior college and thereby win acceptance to a senior college.

Hancin said counseling facilities are usually more adequate than in senior colleges also. This is generally true because faculty members at junior colleges usually are more readily available for counsel and advice.

"Let the buyer beware." This rule of old was never more true than in the modern world, according to Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

A division of Kelley's office, the Consumer Protection Division, was formed about two years ago to warn consumers about irregular or fraudulent business practices being perpetrated in Michigan.

One of the most recent practices brought to the division's attention involves what officials have termed "the shell game" as applied to houses.

"Nothing down, nothing to pay until October," marks an oft-used sales gimmick in many fields today. To the Consumer Protection Division, this sales pitch is a warning in itself.

In the housing sales field, the tactic is particularly widespread when dealing with purchases of shell homes. The shell homes generally have a finished exterior but unfinished or semi-finished interior.

"Many buyers of this increasingly popular type of home have found that the last, or 'sudden death' payment, suddenly goes sky-high," Kelley warned.

One contract noted by the Consumer Protection Division called for a $5,300 contract to be financed by payments of $39. The final payment, however, came to $3,900, and brought the entire contract cost to $8,470, with $3,170 of it in interest charges.

Highway safety is a full-time job for many people in the state. Police officers, state and local safety officials and others spend the better part of their lives trying to encourage public awareness of the need for safety.

Every year Secretary of State James M. Hare conducts a series of regional traffic safety conferences on behalf of the Governor to emphasize the need for citizen support of safety measures.

The current year's death toll on Michigan's highways is down somewhat from the 1961 fatality count, but the number of auto accidents and injuries has increased.

"There is little doubt in my mind that one of the major reasons for our declining fatality toll is our rapidly growing freeway system which avoids head-on and cross-traffic crashes," Hare said.

This year's regional conferences, scheduled in Grand Haven, Paw Paw, Iron Mountain, Cheboygan, Mount Pleasant and Birmingham, will emphasize the effect of modern highways on traffic accidents.

"The highways of tomorrow can be even better and safer if we determine to make it so with an across-the-board action program," Hare said.

Living a double life won't help you make the most of everything.

The platform of life must be built on a solid foundation, or it will be dangerous to stand on.

Get even with your enemies—pull up on your end of the hitch.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where our officials in Washington has approved the sale of 14 more items from the nation's stockpile. I was plum astounded to note that one of the items was 156 million pounds of castor oil.

For nigh on to 70 years, man and boy, I've had a close personal relationship with castor oil but this is the first time I've saw it quoted in pounds instead of bottles or ounces. And I can understand how it might be wise to have a few bottles of it put back for a emergency, but 156 million pounds of it would take care of the situation from the beginning of time till eternity. They can't be but one answer, Mister Editor. Some feller with a heap of influence in the proper places, maybe a feller like Billie Sol Estes, has had the market cornered on castor beans and has been greasing the Government for a good profit. I aim to write my Congressman immediate and urge a investigation.

I bring this matter up at the country store. Saturday night and Ed Donittle said I might be gitting a little hasty in writing my Congressman. Ed allowed as how, now that the Government has fell out with DuPont, General Motors, Standard Oil and them big fellers, it could be that we was aiming to use castor oil for lubricating the war machine in case trouble started. But most of the fellers didn't agree. Clem Webster said he had noted ever since the war with Spain in 1898 that it had been a fixed policy of the Government to git mad with them big boys in time of peace and then call on 'em right quick to git out of a jam when war come.

But war or no war, Mister Editor, Standard Oil or Jimmy Hoffa, I'm agin stockpiling 156 million pounds of castor oil and I aim to let that letter go through to my Congressman. I might send it air mail.

And if you think we got castor oil trouble along the Potomac, wait till you see that piece the Department of Agriculture has sent to the tomato growers. I want to give a little of it to you in what them lawyers call "ver-batt 'em" style. "If a tomato is dropped on a hard surface, it will be damaged more than if it is dropped on foam rubber." Furthermore, states the Department of Agriculture, "a tomato dropped two or more times was found to be more damaged than if dropped only once. And a tomato dropped too often becomes inedible." I wonder, Mister Editor, how much of the taxpayers' money it cost to make them important experiments.

About the only good news I saw all week was where some feller has invented a power pole that won't snap when hit by a car going 90 miles a hour. And that ain't perfect. Why not invent a pole that'll git out of the way?

DID YOU KNOW

THAT 40% OF ALL JOBS IN AMERICA ARE CREATED BY AGRICULTURE?

It's a fact. Agriculture creates more jobs than any other single industry. Does that surprise you? Think of the millions employed in processing farm products—foods and fibre. Think of the millions employed in supplying farmers with their needs—machinery, fertilizers, chemicals. Adds up fast, doesn't it?

Maybe your job is included—or your neighbor's.

With so many paychecks at stake, it's easy to understand why "farm problems" are not altogether farmers' problems.

Makes us realize that a sound and stable farm economy is important to everyone—including you and me.

County Home Demonstration Agent

The Home Economics Extension women are planning two tours for August. On Aug. 27-28 a train tour is being offered. Since the train between Bay City and Mackinaw City will be discontinued on September 4, the Extension women will have the last chance to ride this train on the above dates.

They can board the train at Millington, Vassar, Saginaw or Bay City. The train arrives in Mackinaw City around 4:30 p.m. and then will cross "The Bridge" and stay in St. Ignace all night. The next day, we will get the early train back south. Mrs. Alfred Brink, Akron, is the chairman of this tour and if anyone wants to know more about it, they can contact Mrs. Brink or my office.

Then, on August 29, the Extension women are cooperating with the Tuscola County Soil Conservation office in sponsoring an air tour of the county. This tour will be open to anyone interested in viewing Tuscola county from the air. Each plane load will have a half-hour tour.

Mrs. Wallace Bierlein, Reese, is the chairman of this tour. If you are interested in this tour you can contact Mrs. Bierlein, Wilbur Kellogg or my office.

On August 12 through August 15, the National Home Demonstration Council will be holding their annual National Conference on the campus of the University of Kentucky in Lexington. Tuscola county will be represented by four Home Economics Extension women besides myself. Mrs. William Tonkin, Moreland group; Mrs. Alfred Brink, Wisner group; and Mrs. Loren Ewald and Mrs. Elmer Roller, South Unionville group, will be leaving by bus on August 12.

The food consumption patterns in this country have certainly changed considerably over the last 15 to 20 years. In general the trend has been away from the starchy, high calorie foods and towards low calorie, high protein and high vitamin content foods.

We Americans are eating less potatoes, cereals and certain fresh fruits and vegetables. We are eating more dairy, meat and poultry products and considerably more processed fruits and vegetables. We also are eating more fresh fruits and vegetables such as lettuce, grapefruit and sweet corn.

Right now is the fresh corn season. We have been seeing sweet corn in the market for several months, but it has come from other producing areas, principally Florida.

The increased consumption of fresh sweet corn is a good illustration of the improved marketing methods, which have been developed over the past few years.

Sweet corn, in order to be good, must be kept cooled. If corn is allowed to stand and become hot, its good flavor is lost because the sugar turns to starch. It is necessary, therefore, to remove the "field heat" as soon as possible after the corn is picked.

Commercially, the heat is removed from the corn by hydro-cooling. That is, it is immersed in an ice water bath or sprayed with ice water to reduce the temperature.

Then it is very essential to keep the corn refrigerated while it is being transported to the market. The store also must keep the corn cool while it is in their vegetable counters. Then, I hope each one of you will see that you keep the corn you purchase cool up to the time you put it in the kettle to cook.

When choosing your corn, look for the ears that have fresh, dark green husks because those are the signs of freshness. The fresh green color on the stem break also is a sign of freshness. When the silk is dark brown it indicates the ear has well filled kernels.

Just plain corn on the cob with plenty of Michigan butter is mighty good eating.
