Bees, Burglars Bug Bassetts

If a bees and burgher combination ever "bugged", anyone, it certainly caused some anxious moments for the Bob Bassett family, Cass City, late last week.

On Thursday, during a 10-minute interval when no one was in the Bassett Manufacturing shop, a thief walked off with seven payroll checks valued at $455.61.

Village Police Chief Carl Palmateer reported Saturday that Saginaw police arrested Leonard J. Petrick, 36, an Oregon parolee, trying to cash some of the checks at Shoppers Fair in Saginaw. He claimed he found the checks in a restaurant. He is being held on an uttering and publishing

The thief apparently entered the shop during a 10-minute period when it was unoccupied at noon, according to Mrs. Bassett. He took checks from a brief case made out to both Gagetown and Cass City personnel of the fac-

Friday, someone took a $5.00 check from Sandra Bassett's purse while she was in the shop talking to her father. She had left her purse in her car while she was in the shop. The check was made out to "cash."

Saturday, Mrs. Bassett discovered that someone had taken two expensive lawn chairs from the garage at their home.

Where do the bees come in? For the past month, a swarm of yellow jackets have been trying to make the front door of Bassett Manufacturing their home.

The Bassetts tried various insecticides, powders and sprays and even went so far as to cement up holes in the building. Finally, at the suggestion of County Extension Agent Alfred Ballweg. they applied a powder over the Latest report has it that the bees appear to be gone . . . now if only the burglars would return what they took.

Marching Band Practice to Begin Monday

Red Hawk band members are slated to begin their fall session with marching band practice Monday through Friday, Aug. 27-31, according to Director Richard Case. Classes will begin at 9:00 p.m. and end at noon.

The practice is in preparation for the Michigan State University Band Day, early this fall, and perhaps this year, the band will make it.

Last year, hopes of the band to attend the MSU program were smashed by the resignation of Donald Gillette, band director, because of administrative difficulties and salary cuts. He accepted a position at Mt. Morris. school would have to drop band at the beginning of October, 1961, and the class was allowed to run the rest of the year.

Students are instructed to meet at the band room for marching practice. Post cards have been sent to all students previously enrolled in band. However, Case has announced that those wishing to be in band who did not receive a post card should contact him immediately.

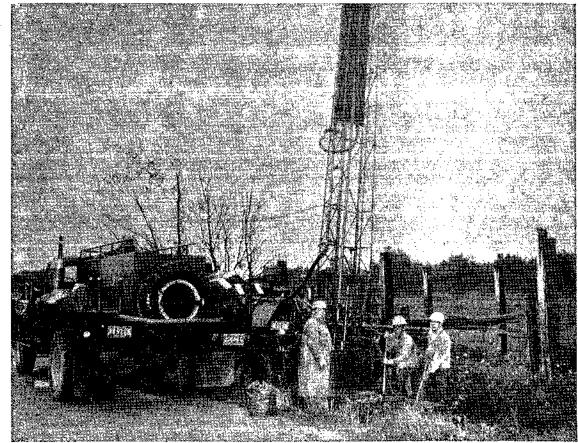

The marching band is under the direction of Drum Major Bill Dobbs, senior.

Republicans Name Delegates to State Convention

Eleven delegates and alternates to the State Republican convention at Cobo Hall in Detroit this week end were named at one of the biggest county conventions in recent years Thursday, Aug. 16, at the Caro Courthouse.

The party also gave its unanimous endorsement of Judge T. C. Quinn as a candidate for the Supreme Court.

From the Lditor's Corner

Cass City High School expects to lose its first practice football game this fall . . . and by a considerable margin.

Slated for a scrimmage Sept. 7 class A school, as everyone knows, was only the state champion last fall. Although they reportedly lost heavily by graduation, they still figure to give the locals a going over in the practice game, to replace the original contest that was cancelled out, have been fruitless and the Hawks will play only seven regular games this fall.

Wayne "Speed" Wilson hopes to card another cage game to replace the lost grid contest which is possible under the State rules of a maximum of 24 games of basketball and football during the school year.

We've always felt that it was nearly impossible for a local police officer to maintain the peace and not have citizens re-

It looks as if Carl Palmateer has done the job. The likeable chief has the town in order and most folks still feel that he is a "nice guy."

Although Cass City's school situation is far from good after three tries for more money were refused with a resultant cut in corriculum, it doesn't seem to be as bad as Deford's.

Members of the Deford school board were unable to hire a principal at the school because there isn't enough money to pay an experienced man. Deford electors also turned down two requests for money.

Education is this area is slipping and will continue to fall behind until area residents make up their minds that proper education is expensive and that they are going to have to pay for it.

We hope that day is not too long in coming.

It's even money that we will get new sidewalks before we get new trash barrels.

Police Seek Driver In Village Accident

Investigation is under way by village police in a hit and run accident Friday afternoon on East Main Street.

According to a report filed by Police Chief Carl Palmateer, a car driven by Mrs. Steven Papp, 19, was parked at the curb and another car, driven by an unidentified woman, backed out of an adjacent parking spot, striking

The holes for the explosions, called "shot holes," are dug by two mobile units comprised of a drill truck and a water truck. While the holes are being drilled, the water truck flushes the hole clear of mud and debris.

The drill is made up of 15-foot steel extensions and a rock bit is used. Area holes are sunk to a depth of 40 feet.

The explosive, in this case, "Nitra-mon", in a pencil-shaped canister, is tamped into the hole with a long pole and set off by an electrical blasting cap.

The resulting tremor reveals on the seismograph whether or not the area has oil deposits.

The two units have been working the county for the past month and expect to leave the area sometime this week. Working out of Caro, the units came to the county after completing similar work in the Alpena area.

The units have all the equipment to analyze the seismograph charts. If substantial deposits are found, the company will probably negotiate to sink wells.

Prior to the testing, permission was obtained from farmers in the testing area for the rights to see if there were deposits in the dis-

It was the general consensus that concrete walks were better for Cass City than asphalt.

The grand finale to the Chamber of Commerce's 11-week giveaway program is scheduled for Friday night in a special ropedoff section of Seeger Street, just north of Main.

At this time a host of prizes will be given to area shoppers whose names will be drawn from a barrel. Authorities reminded shoppers that all of the tickets issued and deposited during the entire 11 weeks will be placed in the barrel so that everyone will have an opportunity to win.

There are 35 different gifts with a value of several hundreds of dollars to be given away. The gifts make an impressive array. They can be seen in the window of the former Patterson Meat Market building, between McConkey Jewelry and Cass City Floral.

New Teachers at Three Area Schools

Classes at Deford, Owen-Gage and Evergreen schools will begin Tuesday, Sept. 4, with halfday sessions, according to announcements from school offi-

All three schools will operate on the same class and bus schedules as last year. New teachers have been added to the staffs of all three schools.

Deford School

Deford will start the year without a principal, according to Gerald Hicks, treasurer. He announced that the school "simply cannot afford to hire an experienced principal." Each teacher will be responsible for his individual class. Mrs. Arleon Retherford, former third grade teacher, will take over the seventh and eighth grades, classes formerly taught by the principal.

Mrs. Rosalind Murdick has been hired to teach the third grade in Mrs. Retherford's place. Other returning teachers are (Chronicle photo) Mrs. Charlotte Lockwood, Mrs. Myles Coleman, Mrs. Dorothy Graubner, Mrs. Vera Hoadley and Mrs. Charlotte McComb.

Owendale-Gagetown Owen-Gage will begin the school year with a half-day session beginning at 8:45 a.m. Class registration will be held during the period.

Two new teachers have been added to the system for a total of 27 teachers, the same as last year. The new teachers are: James J. Husa, elementary principal, and Mrs. Burton Roth, second grade.

Grade school classes will continue at both Gagetown and Owendale school and high school will be held as usual at the Owendale School.

Evergreen School Evergreen School, Shabbona, will follow the same bus and class schedules as last year.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, wife of the Mizpah United Missionary Church pastor, will replace Mrs. Marilyn Windorf as third and fourth grade teacher. Mrs. Johnson was a substitute teacher last year.

SHOOTER'S SHOOTER-Mrs. Lenora Lemanski, attractive wife of head Cass City High School football coach, Oarie Lemanski, is one of the nation's crack small-bore rifle shots. She has been state and national champion several times and has won a number of regional and out-of-state matches. Because of her prowess with the .22 rifle, she has appeared on the cover of "American Weekly" and other national publications and on the New York television show, "To Tell the Truth."

Sharp Gal is Sharpshooter

Coach's Wife State, Nation Rifle Champ

If you have taking ways and have any ideas about breaking into the Oarie Lemanski apartment, you'd better think twice. You're liable to wind up with more perforations than last year's internal revenue check.

If you don't take this advice and you meet Lemanski's pretty blond-haired wife, Lenora, with a rifle in her hands, start praying. Mrs. Lemanski is a state and national small-bore rifle champion and a member of the champion Women's International team. She has also won a number of matches and championships from other states.

She just recently returned from the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio where, although she did not take a championship, she won one of 12 matches in competition with 785

Mrs. Lemanski, a rifle enthusiast since she began shooting in 1955 as an Allen Park high school freshman, comes by her ability naturally. Her father was a top shooter in the '30s and '40s; her mother has been a Michigan and Ohio state champion and a national champion, and her sister, Marianne Jansen, an Allen Park senior, is currently providing some pretty stiff conpetition for Mrs. Lemanski at rifle meets.

Started as Hobby

She began shooting more or less as a hobby, she says. "It's quite a challenge and a lot of fun . . . you have an opportunity to meet people from all over the country," she explains.

Her ability with the rifle is the result of lots of practice to start with, although she never practices

"Once you develop coordination you don't lose it," she says. "I could probably quit and come back in five years and do as

The outdoor shooting matches begin in the middle of June and end in the middle of August and, according to Mrs. Lemanski, the six matches before the national match serve as practice.

Because of her prowess with the small-bore rifle, her picture and story have appeared in such national magazines as "American Weekly" (last fall, cover and inside story), "Sport Magazine," "Sports Illustrated" and "Gun Magazine."

She and her sister have both appeared on the television show, "To Tell the Truth," in New York as a part of six sister teams which baffled contestants. She counts this as one of her most memorable experiences.

Championships Many

Her list of championships is long and varied. She was Michigan State Junior Champion from 1957 to 1959; Michigan State Women's Champion from 1959 to 1962, and 1960 and 1962 Michigan State Opens Champion (for both men and women).

Others include: Regional Collegiate Champion for 1959 through 1961; National Collegiate Champion for 1959 and 1961, and National Women's Champion in 1959-60. In 1960, she was a member of the Men's International team for the top 20 shooters with

She is a six-year member of the Women's International team which has won all 10 years in competition against six English speaking countries. This year, the team, comprised of the 10 top women shooters in America, set the fantastic record of 3,984 shots out of 4,000 shots!

Expensive Hobby

. Is it expensive? "Very", says Mrs. Lemanski.

First is the rifle . . . she paid $125 for hers, but when it is shooting good, she values it at over $200. Other equipment, including sights, shooting and spotting scopes, shooting mats, jackets, gloves and slings, have cost her close to $300. Entry fees are about $15.00 on the state level and about $30.00 on the national level. Ammunition for state matches usually runs about $20.00 and $30.00 for the national meets. Coupled with travel, food, lodging and miscellaneous expenses, the bill runs quite high. Small bore shooters are the smallest group of rifle shooters and it is the most expensive, forming an "elite" group.

For the uninitiated, "smallbore" shooters use .22-caliber rifles, exclusively.

Popular Sport

The sport is steadily gaining in popularity. Shooters at the National range from eight-yearolds to 80-year-olds. To draw the older shooters, a senior championship for those 55 and over has been started.

While it is expensive, it also has its rewards. The Regional and National meets give silverware as prizes and Mrs. Lemanski has averaged close to $100 per meet for a total of $700 worth of silver service and dishes.

She has also won approximately 20 trophies, 50 medals and an undetermined sum in cash.

Mrs. Lemanski is a graduate of Central Michigan University. She married her husband last November. Mr. Lemanski will be the head football coach at Cass City High School this fall.

Has she addicted her husband

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS BY REALLY TRYING

We came across some sound philosophy a little while back that is bound to make a sure fire success of any business that applies it faithfully. The trouble is, as any businessman will tell you, good intentions somehow become forgotten and resolutions are more recited

If we often fall short of perfection, we hope you'll forgive us. But we did think you'd enjoy reading some of these pearls of good common sense. Though we don't always succeed, we're always trying to make them our rules of business. If you deal with us, then they're bound to affect you. And if not, perhaps you'll find them interesting anyway.

Here they are: "Reputation will continue to be made by many acts and lost by one . . .

Performance will continue to outsell promise . . . Business will continue to go where invited and remain where appreciated . . .

Go-givers will become the best go-getters . . .

People will go right on preferring to do business with friends . . . Know-how will surpass guess-how . . .

Trust, not tricks, will keep customers loyal . . .

Black and White Show Successful

Tuscola county's registered Holstein breeders set an all-time record at the Black and White Show, Saturday. Twenty-five exquality registered Holsteins, reports Don Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture. This was not only a record show but the third biggest single county Black and White Show so far this year.

At noon the 4-H and FFA junior and senior judging contests started the show and two Millington 4-H members, Lana Koch and Patty Keene, won the two respective trophies.

Championship awards in the open class division went to Blaylock and Rupprecht's, of Vassar, grand champion three-year-old cow, reserve champion aged cow and Clayton Rohlfs and Sons' grand champion aged bull.

Other winners in the individual bull classes were Robert Carpenter's, Cass City, junior bull calf and Clayton Rohlfs and Sons' senior bull calf, senior yearling bull and aged bull.

Heifer class winners were Kathryn Goodchild's, of Caro, junior heifer calf; Blaylock and Rupprecht's senior heifer calf; Audrey Foster's, of Fairgrove, junior yearling heifer, and Clayton Rohlfs and Sons' senior vearling heifer. Audrey Foster's heifer was selected junior champion.

Cow class winners were Foster Hickey's, of Fairgrove, two-yearold cow; Blaylock and Rupprecht's three and four-year-old cows, and aged cow, and Clayton Rohlfs and Sons' best udder cow.

Herd group winners were Clayton Rohlfs and Sons' junior and senior get of sire and three best females bred by exhibitor and Blaylock and Rupprecht's produce Trophy winners in the 4-H and FFA classes were Duane Hickey's champion female and Kathryn Goodchild's junior champion female. Kathryn Goodchild also won the junior 4-H and FFA fitting and showing contest—and Grant Merchant, Cass City, won the senior 4-H and FFA fitting and showing contest trophy.

Blankets were presented to the grand champion cow and bull exhibitors by Russ Miller, fieldman for the National Registered Holstein-Friesian Association.

Officiating in the show were Mr. O. F. Foster, judge, Earl Koch, director, David Greenleaf, clerk, and members of the Tuscola County Connerative Extension Service office.

Designed and Engineered By

The Bureau For Advanced Housing

Ready to love And live in!

When you buy this home, you buy a whole new way of living. Scientifically equipped and engineered to provide an almost carefree, trouble-free existence, this home is not only air conditioned, but humidity controlled and virtually dust free.

There is almost no need for repainting or refinishing in an entire lifetime. Housework is greatly reduced. And every major labor-saving appliance is included in your monthly payments.

Your title is insured at no cost to you. Even life, fire and windstorm insurance is prepaid for five . years in 47 states where permitted.

This new concept in home ownership gives you now what other people have waited ten and twenty years to get.

The old-fashioned way of buying a home . . . saving for years for a down payment, searching for mortgage financing, then loading yourself to your credit's capacity to buy kitchen appliances, furniture, vacuum cleaner and all the other miscellaneous items the home needs ... meant a couple went into debt far over their means . . . struggling to meet monthly payments to half a dozen or more finance companies with their high interest rates. These money worries are eliminated with the 90 per cent financing available for your Gold Bond Home and all its appliances and equipment. (100% financing is available if you own your own let!)

In addition, this house includes more than a dozen special features that are always "extras" in other custom-built homes. In fact, the Gold Bond Home . . . brought to you exclusively through National Gypsum Company's dealers . . . is by far the easiest home in America for the housewife to live in. It almost takes care of itself.

Not only is this a lifetime value (unlike most homes, there is little or no depreciation as the years roll on); but, for beautiful, healthful, gracious, easier living, it has no equal Chances are you'll pay less than rent while investing in the future.

CONTEMPORARY—This more modern version has the same floor plan, but is definitely contemporary and functional,

FOR THOSE WHO WANT NEW FURNITURE, TOO.

SPECIAL Furnishings Package — $4,200 WORTH — ONLY $2,275

.... and a special low cost three-year finance plan where you only pay 6 per cent simple interest on the unpaid balance. Less than one-half the cost of automobile financing.

TRADITIONAL A warm-hearted approach to today's living is embodied in the traditional home basically furnished in the Colonial manner. Mellow maple and documentary fabrics give a stamp of authenticity to each designer-selected piece of furniture, to the fixtures and lamps, to the pictures and accessories. They're a tribute to our Colonial craftsmen.

But today's craftsmen make their contributions too, in special nylon yarns in the performance-tested upholstery, and soilresistance treatments on bedspreads and draperies. Skillful blending of old and new live together in color and design co-ordinated interiors adding the expert's touch to every Gold Bond house.

CONTEMPORARY From floor coverings to furniture to draperies to accessories; each item in the contemporary house has been designer-selected to fit each room's living demands and to present a harmonious color scheme throughout. All of them meet the tests of wearability and ease of maintenance. You'll find contemporary furniture sturdily built and in a warm walnut finish. Table tops are mar-proof, skillfully matching the walnut finish. Bedspreads and luxurious draw draperies are treated for soil resistance, and the draperies are lined with milium to add insulation and prevent fading Light fixtures, lamps, pictures and accessories provide just the right grace notes. You'll be proud to entertain in this home furnished by famous decorators.

NOTE UNIQUE FEATURES

Children can enter bathroom frem outdoors, master's room has access to rear garden area and kitchen has door to covered terrace. Family room converts to private dining room with folding wall; and all interior surfaces are 'wash and wear" and almost indestructible. A few fect of glass wall can make an extra room of the breezeway, in this remarkable new kind of home.

It's Agin Ma

-KOMMENTS BY KRAFT-

If It's Faux Pas By Dave Kraft

I have committed what we in the trade call a "faux pas."

By the trade I mean marriage and that's pronounced "fo pa" and naturally if it's "fo pa" it's "agin ma."

I should have known better. After a year and a half of mar-Ried bliss (perhaps that should be "blisters") you learn that cerain little, insignificant things can turn your little filly into a regular war horse.

She has this stuff in a little tube . . . it's for covering up skin blemishes and if the truth were known, probably costs about $27.38 an ounce.

I can get some stuff down at Leeson's for covering up blemishes and it isn't near as expensive . . . shellac.

This stuff of my wife's is applied in long streaks and is pink. It smells like an old overcoat.

She put some on the other night and came into the living goom where I was watching TV. That's where I made my "faux pas."

All I said was "Where you raiding tonight?" * * * * *

Women's cosmetics have been a source of embarrassment and anguish to me ever since I found out girls were good for something besides chucking rocks at. For example, the first time I came home with lipstick on my ace, my mother fainted. Actually, it wasn't from shock

. . it was from relief. I was going on 26 at the time. Always was a slow starter. * * * * 4

I heard a good joke on a rerun of the old Danny Thomas Show. "Did you hear about the motorcycle cop that ran over himself? He came home one evening and asked his wife to go to the store said no, so he ran over himself.'

I don't know what to do with that daughter of mine. I set her on the floor next to the couch and turned away to adjust the television set.

By the time I turned back, she was contentedly munching on a mouth full of cigarette butts and

I lunged across the room and tripped over the coffee table. skinning the heck out of my trailing arbutus.

I jumped to my feet and grabbed the baby around the neck. Jabbing a finger into her mouth, I started pulling soggy cigarette stubs out.

I got all the butts out and was trying to swab out her mouth when she clamped her chompers together on my finger. Tears streamed to my eyes.

I tried to pry her mouth open with my free hand but my finger slipped in and before I realized it, I was stuck like Uncle Remus' Br'er Rabbit and the Tar Baby.

"Sweetie . . . Honey . . . Babymine, let go of daddy's little finger. No sweetie, you're biting harder. Diana! Please sugar, daddy's getting mad. Diana! For gosh sakes, come and get this kid off my fingers."

My wife came in and gave me heck for teasing the baby. I'd have let her eat the darn things, but she is very susceptible to habit-forming items. Look what happened when we brought her home and fed her once.

I am beginning to get calls on what is the best way to freeze vegetables at home and why so much spoilage in canned tomatoes

First, I would like to review the freezing of vegetables at home.

If you want good flavor, color and texture in the vegetables you freeze at home, proper blanching is a must. If the vegetables are not blanched and cooled, they might end up tasting like an old

Blanching simply means dipping the vegetables into a bath of boiling water for one to four minutes, depending on the vegetable you are freezing. Blanch enough vegetables for just one package in one gallon of water and cool immediately in cold picked this action simply makes the vegetables lose flavor and color and eventually spoil. And if the vegetables are not heated enough, the enzymes continue to be active

The heating also wilts or soft-

Now a little about tomatoes and why they spoil after canning.

Many beautiful whole ripe tomatoes were heavily loaded with bacteria last year and a lot of spoilage occurred after homemakers canned them. Now for some tips for canning them this year. Do not cut the cooking time, because tomatoes need that cooking time

I recommend the hot pack method of canning. This means you bring the tomatoes to a boil first,

then pack them into glass jars,

close the jar and process another

10 minutes in a boiling water

If you prefer the raw pack method, it means a longer cooking time in the hot water bath. Allow 45 minutes for quart jars.

The tomatoes will shrink in the jars and leave air spaces. This method does have the advantage of keeping the tomatoes whole

In the pack method, most of the shrinkage occurs during the first boiling and you can get more tomatoes into a jar,

I used to use the open kettle method for canning tomatoes, but have decided that I do not like to have some of my tomatoes spoil.

Some years I did not have any spoilage; then other years (like last year) I had many a can to throw out. Open kettle has proved pretty much of a gamble, partly

Personal News from Shabbona Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where the Democrats is claiming this has been a .mighty successful. session of the Congress. In the same papers I see where the Republicans has a few doubts about the matter. I reckon the facts is somewhere betwixt what the Democrats is claiming and the Republicans is doubting. And you git about the same report on the patient from them Washington column writers. When I was a boy we had what my Grandpa called "noddin' politicians." A feller running fer office would set on the stage while some local big shot would deliver a oration praising the candidate's platform. The candidate would nod real big when the crowd was pleased with a item, but he'd set straight like a fence post when the big shot failed to make his point too good with the mob. A heap of them Washington column writers is of the noddin' variety. They nod or set still, depending on how their bosses stands on the issues.

But noddin' or setting, one of 'em was giving out some important figgers last week on this session of the Congress. Fer intant, he said 54 per cent of the members could speak at least one foreign language. He didn't say if this was good or bad but I'd have to say it was bad. About 75 per cent of the Congress spends their vacations traveling in foreign countries at the taxpayer's expense. It would look from the figgers that a big per cent was a little slow in picking up the language.

And according to this Washington column writer, the work load has been light and the pay pritty good fer this session of the Congress. He says they averaged about 5 hours a day fer five days a week and got $125 a day fer their labors. This comes to $25 a hour, which is what I would call pretty good pay.

Actual, claims this column writer, a heap of the Congressmen wasn't working them five days. He says they got a system of voting on bills without calling the roll a heap of times. This fixes it up so's a Congressman can be back home mending his political fences without gitting marked absent. But to be fair about the matter, I reckon a Congressman back home mending his fences and gitting ready fer the November election is working harder than if he was in Washington.

1962 Legislative Session Sets Record For Length But Not Achievement

During the 102-day session, extremely long for an election year, nearly 1,250 bills were introduced to set a new record. Of these 251 passed. This was also well up among the record-setting sessions for the number of measures approved.

Gov. John B. Swainson vetoed 10 of the measures presented for his approval. Last year he turned down 17 bills. Perhaps most notable of the session was the perennial tax squabble which resulted in the enactment of a $77 million package of nuisance taxes.

Other laws enacted of note included the complicated "Sunday closing" regulations affecting the entire retail industry; a rider to create a state conservation camp for teenagers; a new commercial code covering all commercial transactions and paper, and a boating control measure to provide uniform regulations over lake uses.

Research is and will be a "basic industry" in Michigan, according to a Michigan State University spokesman.

Dr. Milton E. Muelder, vicepresident for research and development, predicts that in 10 years the expansion of research will be as great or greater than in the past decade.

During the past 10 years, he said, investments in research have tripled nationally, from $5 billion in 1953 to an estimated $16 billion this year.

Michigan and most of the Midwest "stood idly by" during the last decade while areas on the East and West coasts deliberately attracted most of the funds spent on research, Muelder noted.

"These areas have succeeded, not because they have railroads or raw materials, but because they have had reservoirs of ideas," he said.

Muelder contends the universities in a state provide much of the attraction for research. Uni-

"Efforts of chambers of commerce, realtors and special promotional agencies are also needed." Muelder said. "These groups must provide favorable industrial sites near our universities and make them available to interested concerns."

Another requirement for attracting research work to Michigan is a high quality of faculty members at institutions of higher education, he said.

"It has been observed many times that the more qualified and distinguished the faculty, the more extensive and available are research programs supported by off-campus agencies," he said.

"Dollars invested in distinguished faculty and researchers unquestionably represent one of the finest investments a state can

Book Review

Light and Enjoyable, It's A Vacation Book

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

Here is a book you can take on your vacation (or read during the time you wish you were on a vacation). It's light, enjoyable and pointed. Yes, WHATEVER YOU DO, DON'T PANIC, by Jean Mercier is fun reading. It is also humorously supplemented by cartoons at the beginnings of the chapters, drawn, quite effectively, by John Heuhnergarth. I found this book to be on a par with two other volumes which I read and reread when I occasionally discover that I am taking my ministry too seriously stories you, too, may recall with pleasure: ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN and PAPA WAS A PREACHER.

The Merciers' decision to buy a home in the suburbs, the decision reached like most of those city people who 'go suburbia' that it would be 'good for the kids' to get 'close to the soil', ends a beautiful friendship with New York City where the little tribe had lived very happily and starts a frantic, frustrating, fun-filled

The author's sensitively humorous approach to her motherhood fills the contents of her book and adorns her basic instinctive wis-

"I was saved from making the decision as the phone rang, and the girls were upon me instantly: if you can't find your children, and get tired of calling them, pick up the phone. No matter if your children are at the movies, in school, visiting their grandmether, or upon a field trip 'in some distant city, they will be upon you magically within seconds after you pick up the phone.

Any parent who is alert learns this lesson without the book, but unfortunately most of us lack Jean Mercier's facility of expres-

One gem that I particularly enjoyed has to do with a trip to the supermarket which was frustrating to the extreme but hilarious under the author's pen. After leaking most of the sugar from a ten-pound sack which was punctured, she returns to the sugar section only to discover that alt of the sacks are punctured. (I can associate myself with her supermarket frustrations because in one phase of my life I worked as the manager of a supermarket.)

Her concern for supermarket efficiency strikes the author to become an inventor:

"I have invented a small order-customer separator which. I am thinking of having patented, and which supermarkets would be glad to install. It is a little, but effective guillotine which automatical-Iy will chop off the hands of anyone who puts as much as a box of toothpicks on the check-out counter before the departure of the preceding customer. Also I am working on an electrical attachment for the front of supermarket carts."

To which I can add the war cry of weary store managers: "Boy. Carry-out boy!"

Another priceless description is one about her experience of taking merchandise back to a store and trying to get it replaced or her money back, a situation with which most of us can associate.

I have shared with you only the kernel of the fun that is in this book. Take time to read it yourself. And ladies, I would suggest that you get this book for the husband who cannot see where there's a full day's energy spent (and then some) in housework. For fun shared by every member of the family, for an alltoo-honest image of yourself, seen as in a mirror, obtain this volume - and keep it where you can grasp it for "first aid for the sagging wife" at the end of a hard day.

WHATEVER YOU DO, DON'T PANIC by Jean Mercier, Doubleday. Available from Elkland Township Library.

Don't exaggerate your troubles in this life-you'll eventually believe them yourself, and then the real trouble begins.

Don't put too much confidence in the fellow who boasts he is level-headed—wait until you find out at what level he leveled off.

BRIGHT FUTURE An optimist lives on the theory that the less he has, the more there is to get.

PROGRESS

Man's most valuable possession lies in his ability to do creative thinking.
