

From the Editor's Corner

We did not learn how they happened to be in town, but a caravan of about a dozen Model A Fords were on the main stem last week.

Each of them was in "mint" condition and our guess is that the owners have more money invested in them than drivers do in new cars. But the cars also attracted more interest than would have been shown a fleet of the newest luxury models.

With tongue in cheek, Dave Kraft reported while writing the story in this issue about the mechanized cattle rustlers that the thieves will probably be either hanged or shot . . . depending on what TV show you favor.

One of the best free shows going these days is staged by the auto firms in preview showings for dealers. We attended the Chrysler dealer preview and were wined, dined and much impressed by the models and professional singing and dance acts . . . the cars looked good, too.

A remark by dynamic Lynn Townsend, Chrysler president, stuck with us as a good way to sum up the company's new attitude about styling. It's going to be evolutionary, not revolutionary, in the future, he said. As far as we could ascertain, dealer reaction to the new styling is good and the dealers believe the car will sell.

Probably the most revolutionary styling in any of the new cars will be presented by General Motors in its Corvette. Details are not available for publication until later this month . . . but believe me, the car is different.

Richville Site Of District Supervisors' Meet

An estimated 100 supervisors from six neighboring counties spent Tuesday discussing the State's proposed new constitution and civil defense at the Seventh District Supervisors meeting in Richville.

During the morning session, D. Hale Brake, chairman of the education committee of the State Supervisor's Association and Con-Con delegate, discussed the general aspects of the constitution. Joseph Childs, state police commissioner, addressed the group and explained workings of the program between the state police and local defense directors.

Supervisors from Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, St. Clair, Lapeer and Macomb attended the annual day-long session. The day was divided by a Richville-style chicken dinner at the Richville VFW Hall served to the supervisors and their wives.

The morning session was held at the Lutheran School Park, Richville.

Hospital Looks For More Help In Fund Drive

More campaign helpers are urgently needed immediately in the Cass City Hospital Building Fund Campaign, Almer Krueger, president of the Board of Trustees, stated today.

Speaking for the Board of Trustees he added, "We are confronted with a serious situation in two ways. First, we have a desperate need for the proposed new wing to meet State requirements. Second, we must have more campaign helpers immediately to be certain all those interested in giving are solicited.

"Only by calling on friends of the Cass City Hospital will it be possible to get enough three-year pledges to reach our minimum goal of $75,000. To do this we must enlist many more campaign helpers this week.

"A campaign helper solicits from 12 prospects anywhere in the area served by the Cass City Hospital. All prospects' cards are secured by campaign helpers at the campaign office. Also, all campaign helpers receive instruction in how to solicit.

"We realize that people are busy. However, the seriousness of the situation justifies taking the necessary time to help in soliciting.

"Those interested in the Founders' Campaign should either visit

Board Okays Hume Graders

Four elementary students from the Hume School District were given the go-ahead by Cass City Public School Board of Education Monday night to start school in the village, during a board meeting at the high school.

The Hume District is dissolving and the action was taken following the written request of two families in the district. The children include Jane, Virginia and Louise LaJoie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian LaJoie, and Gavin Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bennett.

Despite the board's action, if the district is set over later into the Caro district by the county board, the children will have to go to Caro.

Last spring Caro announced that it would no longer accept tuition students from outlying districts in an effort to bring districts into the Caro system.

At a meeting in the latter part of August, the Cass City Board set off a minor furor by voting to accept high school students from George and Hume school districts, two districts Caro sought.

Two Tuscola County Board of Education members attended the August meeting and the Caro Board charged that they had interfered by applying pressure which resulted in the Cass City Board's decision.

Dr. Delbert Rawson, Cass City dentist and member of the county board, told Cass City board members Monday night that the Caro board based its accusations on conversations with Cass City members. The local board denied this.

In other business, Superintendent Willis Campbell reported that it had not been necessary to borrow the $20,000 the board had approved at the last meeting.

A State Aid check for $29,750 and a Federal check for $3,000 were received before it was necessary to borrow the money. The Federal check was for the vocational departments.

He also reported that the Deford School paid in full $1,582 owed the Cass City Schools.

The board left bus transportation to games and other events at the discretion of the administration. The question of transportation arose after a request was presented for transportation of band members to a coming Caro football game and to the Michigan State University Band Day in October.

The board approved the new seven-hour class schedule. In reporting on the schedule, Principal Arthur Holmberg commended the teachers for the acceptance of the schedule. "I've been pleased with everyone, teachers and students, alike. All have responded and accepted the situation in a commendable manner," he announced.

Holmberg also outlined a new senior high report card system which will do away with parent's signatures and speed up reporting in general. The new system is a series of carbonized sheets on a master card. Nothing has to be returned because each marking period is automatically carbonized on the master card.

Strength and Weaknesses Shown

Coach Sad, Glad After Scrimmage

Cass City should be a team to be reckoned with in Thumb B Conference competition this year. Coach Oarfe Lemanski's first look at the squad in game-like conditions last Friday revealed plenty of strength and several weaknesses.

"We looked strong up the middle and on defense for the passer against Handy," Lemanski said, "but our ends were woefully weak. Pass defense was shabby, too, and our offense non-existent."

Lemanski has 10 days to work on the weaknesses before the opening game Sept. 21 at Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port. A game originally scheduled against Lakeville was lost when the school dropped sports because of financial woes.

Lemanski was satisfied with the way the club ran pass patterns, but was concerned with the way the receivers dropped comparatively easy tosses. With one

Cal-Flynn Associates, Kalamazoo insurance appraisers, in a communication to Campbell, estimated appraisal costs on the main building at $275 for the building and $90.00 for the contents.

Appraisal of the whole system would cost $575 with an annual revision cost of $95.

The school is seeking an appraisal of the main building to be sure insurance coverage is adequate. An earlier appraisal estimate from another company was $800.

Rustlers Strike In Area

Modern day cattle rustlers, using trucks instead of horses, have been taking their toll in the area, according to reports from Bad Axe State Police and Huron County Sheriff's Department.

Archie McLachlan, Cass City, reported to state police that someone had made an unsuccessful attempt to steal 14 head of cattle from his farm on Huron Line Road, recently.

The thieves reportedly cut the fence wire and backed a truck into the area but were unable to herd any of the steers into the truck.

Rustlers were more successful in an attempt at the Walter Schuette farm, Elkton, late last month, according to a report from the office of Huron County Sheriff Dick McBride.

Eight head of beef cattle were taken from a herd of about 100 animals sometime in a two-week period from a field near Schuette's farm.

The thieves apparently backed a truck into the field in midday and drove the cattle into the vehicle.

Subsequent investigation by McBride and Undersheriff Bob Schwabacher has failed to turn up any trace of the cattle or the thieves.

Another reported theft to State Police proved to be false. Leonard Peyer, Harbor Beach, reported a Holstein heifer stolen but the animal was recovered later.

First Reports Indicate Bean Crop Good

The bean harvest in Cass City is under way and area farmers are reporting fair to good yields, according to reports of local elevator operators.

Most farmers are saying that their yields are between 25 and 35 bushels to the acre.

Harvesting was halted by rains early in the week and Wednesday only the smallest fraction of the crop had been brought to market.

POLITICAL TOUR—Al Bentley, candidate for congressman-at-large, toured the Thumb Friday and one of his stops was at Cass City. The veteran Republican campaigner toured Main street, shaking hands with all prospective voters within reach.

Other stops in the whirlwind tour included Vassar, Caro, Sebewaing, Bad Axe and Imlay City.

On hand were several local Republicans to greet him. From left: Frank Reid, Bentley, E. B. Schwaderer and E. L. Schwaderer.

Minor Accidents Plague Area

A rash of minor accidents involving Cass City and area persons were reported this week by local, county and state police. Two of the accidents resulted in tickets for two drivers.

Youth Ticketed
A Cass City youth was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way following a two-car collision Tuesday morning at the intersection of Church and Leach streets.

Drivers of the cars were Mrs. Sharon Erla, 18, Cass City, and Leslie Schram, 17, Cass City. According to a report filed by Police Chief Carl Palmateer, Mrs. Erla was traveling west on Church Street and Schram was going south on Leach. Schram was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Mrs. Erla's vehicle, owned by James Champion, Cass City, was damaged on the right front side and the Schram car, owned by Auten Motor Sales, suffered left front end damages.

Slightly Injured
A Cass City man was slightly injured Sunday in Owendale when he backed his car into the line of traffic and was struck by a Caseville driver.

James Seale, 48, Cass City, reportedly backed his car from an angle parking position and was struck by a car driven by Edith Bolinger, 57, Caseville. James Foote, 18, Argyle, was an occupant in the Seale car.

According to a report filed by Trooper Marvin Allgeyer, Bad

Drainage Big Business in Tuscola County

Drainage is big business in Tuscola county, Freeland Sugden, county drain commissioner, told Cass City Rotarians Tuesday noon at the club's regular meeting at the New Gordon Hotel.

For the 10-year period from 1950 to 1960, about a quarter of a million dollars has been spent annually for drains in Tuscola county, he explained.

That is a lot of money, but Sugden feels it is well spent. "I don't claim that a farm that has a new drainage ditch will automatically be prosperous," he said, "but it's a fact that there is a direct correlation between drainage and farm income."

The top five counties in Michigan in agriculture revenue are Freeland Sugden also the top five in miles of drainage ditches, Sugden pointed out. Tuscola rates third in the number of miles of drainage.

New Techniques
In the past several decades there have been many changes in the building of drains. Primarily responsible for the change is the bulldozer which made drainage projects easier and less expensive.

Another is the web joist bridge. This bridge, for use with larger drains, was developed in Tuscola county with the help of engineers. Its advantages are that it is functional and yet cheap enough so that the property owners can afford the drain.

These changes have enabled the county to dig about 114 miles of drain in an average year, Sugden said.

Check Assessments
Sugden urged any property owner involved in an assessment for drainage to read the notice sent to him. "We've had very little trouble," the commissioner said, "but everyone may make mistakes."

If it's called to our attention within 10 days it can be corrected, but after it is on the tax rolls it cannot be altered unless fraud is proved, he explained.

Because of the amount of work in the office, Sugden said that he has a woman in the office and a deputy to help in the field. The deputy is Leslie Lounsbury of Cass City.

Mrs. Rabideau Fatally Injured

Fatal Crash East of Alma

Mrs. George Rabideau, 40, of Cass City suffered fatal injuries Monday in a two-car collision at the corner of Lincoln and State roads, three miles east of Alma.

Injured in the crash were George Rabideau, 70, of Cass City, Martin M. Grau, 51, and his daughter, Miss Deborah Grau, 18, both of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Rabideau suffered cuts and bruises and a possible concussion. The Graus suffered minor injuries.

All of the accident victims were taken to the Gratiot Community Hospital. Mrs. Rabideau died early Tuesday morning at the hospital. Her husband is expected to be hospitalized several days, but will recover. Mrs. Rabideau's death was from severe head and chest injuries, broken legs and shock.

The Graus were treated and released.

According to Trooper Lewis Orlich of the Ithaca State Police, Rabideau was traveling south on State Road and drove into the Lincoln road intersection where he struck the car driven by Miss Grau, travelling west.

The front of the Rabideau vehicle struck the right of the Grau car. Both were extensively damaged.

Rabideau was ticketed for failure to stop for the stop sign, Orlich said.

Ashers Nix Free Prize Trip to Sunny Spain

Harold and Stanley Asher believe that they are the only persons in Cass City who have ever turned down an all-expense paid trip to Spain.

The two chiefs at Thumb Appliance Center, Inc. this week revealed that they had each won the Spain trip in a contest sponsored by Norge.

Because they are the leading Norge dealer in the Thumb, winning the district contest was fairly easy. We sold over a truckload, the Ashers said, and for doing so Norge wanted to send us to Spain with all expenses paid, even including maid service.

The press of business and other commitments kept the Ashers from going and they sold their trip rights through the company.

Davy Expanding Local Trailer Park

George Davy announced this week that he was in the process of preparing a 350-foot by 150-foot lot for an expansion of Walnut Trailer Park.

The space is expected to add room for about 10 units, Davy said.

Tyre Father Of Seven Killed in Crash

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Little's Funeral Home for Max B. Laming, 37, Tyre, following his death early Saturday morning in a two-car head-on collision on M-53, southeast of Cass City.

Laming, father of seven, and John W. Thornton, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thornton of Marlette, were killed when their cars collided at 2:00 a.m. Saturday on M-53 near Argyle Road in Evergreen township.

According to a report filed by Sanilac Sheriff Quincy Hoffman, both cars were apparently crowding the center line when they met. There were no skid marks and both cars came to rest 27 feet apart in their respective lanes after the collision.

Coroner Eugene W. Carman, Deckerville, announced that both drivers died almost instantly of crushed chests, internal injuries and head injuries. Thornton, a senior at Central Michigan University, had to be removed from his car with the aid of long crow bars.

Assisting at the scene of the accident was Cass City Chief of Police Carl Palmateer.

Laming was born in Argyle township July 5, 1925, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Laming. He married Miss Lavara Morrish Nov. 23, 1946, in Tyre, where they made their home.

A US Navy veteran of World War II, he was employed by Mobile Homes, Marlette.

Swainson to Visit Village During Tour

Area Democrats will get a brief glimpse of their leader when Michigan's Gov. John B. Swainson stops in Cass City Thursday, Sept. 20, during a day-long tour of the Thumb.

Gov. Swainson is slated to give a brief talk in the General Insulated Wire Works parking lot at 3:30 p.m., according to Melvin Stewart, county chairman.

Next stop in the village will be the New Gordon Hotel at 3:45 p.m. where he will greet the public.

This is Swainson's first visit to the village since he took over the governorship in 1960.

Before coming to Cass City, he will tour Sanilac and Huron counties, stopping at Marlette, Lexington, Harbor Beach, Elkton and Bad Axe. From here, he will go to Caro, for a 4:30 p.m. meeting at the Hotel Montague. The tour will climax with a dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Building in Vassar.

Agent's Corner Frances T. Clark County Home Demonstration Agent From the telephone conversations and private contacts I have had, many people are still being fooled by food supplement salesmen or ads. I know that the salesmen do not wear tall hats or drive crazy-looking horse drawn carts these days and they do not often claim to be doctors, but they are still practicing and many of us are just as gullible as we might have been in the old days of life-giving elixirs. We call these modern-day quacks "doorbell doctors." They try to sell us a number of things: miracle foods and capsules, never-fail reducing diets, everlasting youth and exuberant health. Unfortunately, these things just do not exist and no well-trained dietitian, physician or nutritionist would say they do. The quacks may also claim that our soil is depleted and, therefore, our food lacks the vitamins and minerals it needs. Or they may claim that all illnesses stem from poor diets. The facts are that there are many more causes for fatigue and aches and pains than a lack of vitamins and minerals. Research has shown that crops grown on depleted soils are as nutritious as those grown elsewhere. The total yield is much less. The only disease in man known to be connected with soil deficiency is simple goiter due to lack of iodine. This lack is corrected in the affected areas by the use of iodized salt. If you would like to know more about what responsible nutritionists have to say about food quackery, check with my office for the bulletin, "Believe It or Not." This bulletin also has a discussion on fallout and food, heart disease and the "super-fortified foods." A list of reliable books for further reading on this subject is also included. I will be starting the tailoring classes Sept. 21 (Friday) at 1:30 p.m. in the Courthouse. This is the preliminary meeting for all those homemakers that have completed the three years of training in the Extension's clothing construction classes. On Sept. 19 I will be in Sandusky teaching the Home Economics Extension women's project leaders of Sanilac County the lesson on "Credit For the Family." Then, for just a reminder, the meat exhibit that will be at the Fullmer's Stock Yard on the afternoon of Sept. 18. This will be a very worthwhile exhibit to see and I hope that you will take advantage of it. Oh yes, the next time you have a group at your home, why not keep the refreshments simple? Probably many of your guests are counting calories, or thinking that they should. So skip the gooey foods and turn to the fresh fruits displayed at your store. Here's my idea of a nice company salad: Cut a cantaloupe in rings and remove the rind, lay each ring on a bed of lettuce, fill the center of the cantaloupe ring with other fresh fruit, such as big, dark red sweet cherries, tiny green seedless grapes, strips of fresh peaches and watermelon balls. This salad looks prettier if some of the fruit spills over to the outside of the ring. Serve with a sweet fruit dressing. It is real good eating.

THE MORALITY OF MERCHANDISING

The United States government recently seized 5,400 jars of instant coffee from a nationally known food manufacturer for misleading the public on the labelling of its products.

Government officials claimed that the company was charging more for its "Giant Economy Size" per ounce than for its regular size - about 16 percent more. The company's advertising on the jar tended to mislead the buyer into thinking that the large size paid a bonus in economy when in fact the opposite was true.

What is unusual about this action is that it was taken against a nationally-known brand name product put out by a large and established corporation. In an indirect sense it is an indictment against questionable business practices in general that too often become our accepted method of doing things.

Advertising, for instance, that labels a car "one owner" when that owner was a taxicab company; or "low mileage" when the mileage is only low because it has been set back; "no money down" when the down payment is actually the customer's present car or a second loan is basically dishonest. It may legally skirt the area of indictable fraud but the intent is the same.

Misleading advertising has a way of coming back to haunt its perpetrators. A sale thus gained can mean lost confidence tomorrow and lost sales with it. Similarly, honest dealings gain confidence and build sales. This is the public's way of getting even and they always end up with last say.

Robert Kennedy of Marlette was best man. The attendants were Ronald Willis of Lansing, brother of the groom, William Boyne and James Gould of Marlette and Robert Chard of Snover.

Michael Kreger, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a miniature tuxedo, identical to the groom, and carried the ring on a satin and tulle pillow.

Barbara Parry, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in white nylon and carried a basket of white carnations.

Marvin Hollenbeck of Marlette

Pink gladioli, white mums and palms decorated the altar for the ceremony in which Mrs. Hazel Mitchell of Decker and Leverett Barnes of Cass City were married Sept. 8.

The vows were exchanged at 4 p.m. in the Mizpah United Missionary Church with the Rev. Fred Johnson officiating.

The bride wore a dark blue silk jersey dress in a paisley print with white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

Mrs. Don Kitchin, daughter-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a gray sheath suit-dress with black accessories and a yellow corsage. Don Kitchin, son of the bride, was groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Kitchin are from Lake Orion.

Bruce Adam, Marlette, was usher. He is the brother-in-law of the bride.

Organist was Mrs. Fred Johnson, who sang "O Perfect Love" and played the wedding march. At the conclusion of the ceremony, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The wedding dinner was held at the home of the bride, which was decorated with gladioli. About 50 guests were present.

After a trip to Lake Huron, Canada and several towns and cities in lower Michigan, the couple will reside at the home of the bride, five miles east and three and a fourth miles south of Cass City.

Mr. Barnes is a retired farmer.

Tips Are Tops for Area Island Crew

Can a little girl from Wapakoneta, Ohio, find happiness in a tea room on Mackinac Island?

Mary Walter, 20-year-old student journalist at the Chronicle, spent nearly three months this summer on the Island in the Fort Mackinac Tea Room, and while she did find happiness, she also managed to set aside quite a bit of what can't buy happiness...

Miss Walter, blond 5' 2" daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Walter Jr. of Wapakoneta, Ohio, is currently staying at the Gilbert Albee home in Cass City while with the Chronicle. She was one of an estimated 500 college and high school students from surrounding states earning money during the summer months at the Island.

Tips Help

During her two months at the tea room, she received $400 in tips alone, she reports. All was not tea and crumpets, however. To earn the tips, she had to work seven days with the eighth day off at the unbelievable salary of $1.00 per day.

Mary, a senior in journalism at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, has spent the past three summers on the Island. She started the year at Selma's Fudge Shop but switched after a week to the tea room where she worked last summer. She spent the other summer at the Ice House, an ice cream parlor.

The tea room is located in the Fort's former officer quarters and affords a view of the village's channel, harbor and the village itself.

Dignitaries

Although the salary wasn't overpowering, the job had other compensations. Gov. John B. Swainson's 14-year-old son, Stephen, worked in the Tea Room as a bus boy. On one occasion she met the governor.

Other dignitaries she met, saw or served included former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and family, Sen. Phillip Hart, Lt. Gov. John Lesinski and State Park Commissioner W. F. Doyle.

"I enjoy meeting people," tells Mary, "particularly people who know people you know, like the Albees, or who have lived near my home town or Bowling Green."

"I was really surprised at meeting so many people from other countries, especially Britain and Germany," she remarked.

Although the season on the Island begins June 1, Mary didn't start working until the middle of June. The actual season ends immediately after Labor Day. During her stay, she roomed with four other girls from Grosse Pointe, Detroit, Saginaw and East Lansing. The girls had quarters in the building that had formerly housed the village's paper, the "Town Crier."

Mary met Lynn Albee on the Island a year ago last July and he "pinned" her the following November. Lynn and his brother Dick both work on the Island as carriage drivers.

Recreation Limited

With only one theatre, recreation is rather limited. The over 500 college students compensate from time to time with beach parties and get-togethers.

Mary reports that Lynn, who started working the beginning of the season, had exactly two days off the whole time he was there. Mackinac Island, primarily noted for its old world charm and the fact that it has no motorized transportation aside from an ambulance and fire trucks, has a year-around population of 500 persons.

Record summer traffic for Fort Mackinac has hit almost 4,500 persons, Miss Walter says.

Mary's home town, Wapakoneta, population 6,500, is located in the northwestern corner of the state. Her father owns the Wapak Recreation, a bowling bar. She has four brothers and a sister.

Although she is majoring in journalism, she tentatively plans to enter the public relations field. She was slated to leave today (Thursday) for her home for a visit before returning to college later this month.

Tentative plans call for her to return to the Island next summer. Why?

"After almost 10 months on the Island where people are so warm and friendly and there is so much beauty and tradition, you feel more like a part of the Island than a tourist," she answered.

Ruhl Cops Trophy

In Singles Tourney

Rick Ruhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruhl, Cass City, won the singles tennis matches early this week, sponsored by the Cass City recreation department.

Ruhl took the top trophy by winning two straight sets, 6-2 and 6-3.

Doubles tournaments are now in progress, according to Recreation Coordinator Eli Holes.

Smack... Whack...

Splash... Splosh...

By Dave Kraft

Up. Down. Up. Down. Paddles flashing in the sun like swords, each stroke sending your craft down the stream like a driven arrow.

That your idea of a canoe trip? Mine too... unfortunately, the trip we took down the turbulent (not really) Au Sable near Grayling on Labor Day was nothing like the description above.

By "we" I mean Dr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson, my wife and myself... all in one canoe. The trip was the culmination of a four-day stay at my father's-in-law cabin for my wife and myself and a two-day stay for the Nelsons.

The trip was my wife's idea. "We'll take a canoe trip on the last day, get all rested up and have a jolly good time."

I had such a "jolly good" time on the same trip last year that I had to take a week, off from work to recuperate. No one would listen to me.

It is only six miles from Grayling to the cabin, but in that stretch the river travels a circuitous 22 miles! By the time we finished the trip we had traveled at least 50.

The first leg of the journey wasn't so bad. I was on the front paddle and my wife, as befits her position, was on the rear paddle. One thing I'll say for her, she knows how to steer a canoe... as a matter of fact, she cut her teeth on a paddle... back when they used to call her "Beaver."

About half way through the trip, we decided to stop and roast some wieners for lunch. Besides, after two hours in a canoe, other things had to be taken care of.

When we started up again there was a slight change in personnel. Doc Nelson was on the front oar and yours truly brought up the rear. From then on, any resemblance to four people canoeing down the Au Sable River was purely coincidental.

It went something like this: Up. Down. Up. Down. Smack. Whack. Splish. Splosh. Paddles splashing in the sun, each stroke sending your craft wavering down the stream like a drunken sailor.

We had a couple of anxious moments, I can tell you. Once, for a period of about 58 seconds, Doc Nelson and I had the canoe fairly flying down the stream by paddling in unison.

Faster and faster went the canoe. Still faster... I started to have flashbacks of a recent airplane trip.

Then suddenly, a submerged log poked its moss covered head above the water a short way in front of us.

"Rudder," yelled Doc Nelson. "Rudder," screamed his wife.

"Stick your paddle in the water on the right side, stupid!" (That was my wife.)

So I did.

"Rudder," yelled Doc Nelson. "Rudder," screamed his wife.

"Not that side, stupid! The other side." (That was my wife again.)

So I did.

We hit the log dead center. I grabbed a seat cushion and was just getting ready to jump over the side when the canoe slid back off the log into the water.

The next time we saw a log, everyone tried a little reverse psychology on me. "Hit that log!" they screamed. So I did.

Another time we came to a bend in the river. On one side was a canoe camp and on the other, nothing but undergrowth. As we approached it, I said with all sincerity, "If we run aground, for gosh sakes, make it look like we intended to beach her."

It was no use. As we approached the curve everyone went to pieces. There were yells and screams of "Rudder!" accentuated by a sharp "Stupid!" now and then.

We crashed into the center of a clump of bushes in a muddy mud bank.

There was dead silence... except for my muffled laughter in the rear of the boat.

Doc Nelson stood up in the front of the canoe, looked around, perplexity written on every line of his sunburned face. "What are you doing?" asked his wife.

He looked around for a minute, scratched his head and answered, "I'm just trying to figure out how we got here."

I wasn't sure whether he meant in the mud bank or on the canoe trip. My wife sat in the middle of the boat, shaking her head. I can't explain why I was laughing... probably a nervous reaction.

There were other incidents. Once, a canoe with a man, his wife and two children pulled off the shore in front of us and we passed them the hard way... sideways.

All in all, it was a fine trip. The Nelsons are just barely speaking to me... I think for some unexplained reason, they think everything was my fault. Perhaps I shouldn't have said, "I told you so."

On the way to Grayling, we stopped in Pinconning and got some cheese. One kind was aged brick cheese, informally known as "beer" cheese.

It's the kind of stuff you eat when you want to be alone... after you eat some, no one will have anything to do with you. It smells like it was called for and when it got there, they wouldn't take it.

They call it beer cheese because it helps if you're drunk when you eat it.

This is from an "Old Philosopher" record I heard recently. "Show me an antique stringed instrument that's been stored in the attic and I'll show you a dirty lyre!"
Forgive me.

Jack Zellar, rural Cass City, found a bottle of medicine between the walls of a house he was working on the other day. The prescription, dated February 24, 1908, was ordered by a Dr. Harp and was filled by E. Ryan, Druggist.

Zellar wondered if I'd care to sample some... he didn't say whether it would be in the interest of medicine or of journalism.

One sure way to deceive yourself is to get the idea you are smarter than the other fellow.

Machine Voting Helps Bring Quick State Election Returns

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association

Michigan voters enjoy a position unequaled in most states. They are able to hear the results of their polling in a matter of hours after the ballots are cast because of the extensive use of voting machines.

Secretary of State James M. Hare reports the use of automatic voting machines has increased steadily through the years.

This November, only about 635,000 registered voters will use paper ballots, while the other 3,075,000 voters will have machines at their precincts.

Of the 5,199 precincts in the state, 284 per cent or 1,477 units, are "paper precincts" while 3,722 are "machine precincts," Hare said.

"Despite the widespread use of machines, only four of Michigan's 83 counties are completely mechanized," Hare said. These are Bay, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Ottawa counties.

"There are a number of counties, however, where less than 10 per cent of the electorate use paper ballots," said the Secretary of State.

The State Corrections Department operates basically six institutions which annually house upwards of 9,000 persons convicted of a crime.

Included under the department's jurisdiction are the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, the House of Correction and Branch Prison at Marquette, the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia, Cassidy Lake Technical School near Chelsea, a medium security institution at Ionia, and the Detroit House of Correction.

In addition several prison camps and a 100-man probationary recovery camp for youthful probationers near Traverse City are operated.

A 1953 Legislative Act charges the department with the responsibility for carrying out the state's adult prison, probation and parole systems at the order of a commission appointed by the Governor and under the administration of a director named by the commission.

Female inmates are confined at the Detroit House of Correction. A few male inmates also are placed in this institution to assist in general maintenance and operational requirements.

In addition to those incarcerated under state law, the department is responsible for supervising probation services. This involves better than 5,000 persons in an average year, department officials said.

In 1960, even before former Gov. G. Mennen Williams announced he would not seek a seventh unprecedented term, members of his top staff started leaving the executive office for private industry and self-employment.

After the announcement was made formally, the staff vacancies increased sharply.

The tenor of concern over the forthcoming November gubernatorial election may be seen in a similar occurrence in the present administration. State Controller Ira Polley was the first to resign.

Polley, a native of Alaska, became head of the Department of Administration in 1956 when he was appointed by Williams.

He was reappointed when Gov. John B. Swainson took over in the executive office and was confirmed by the State Senate as required by law.

Polley, with a long background in educational circles, now is leaving State Government to take over the full-time job as executive director of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents.

The controller denied that his acceptance of the Council post had any connection with the political future of the incumbent Democratic governor. "This did not have the slightest effect on my decision," Polley said.

Polley described the new post as "a challenging assignment which promises to be less of a multi-purpose job than my present one."

The executive director's post for the Council was created a little more than a year ago when the members, presidents of the nine state-supported institutions of higher education, decided they needed to present more of a united front.

Polley's present post involves many varied responsibilities and is viewed as a position of power. It is his office which draws up the Governor's budget recommendations for the Legislature.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I reckon we had what them Congressmen would call a filibuster at the country store Saturday night. Ed Donlittle took the floor and it was harder to get him to set down than it is to get Senator Morse to shut up.

First off, Ed was upset over reading in the papers where Senator Gruening of Alaska got up in the Senate the other day and give a commercial for his new state. He announced that men was outnumbering women in Alaska by 22,567 as of now and advised women to hurry to Alaska afore the gap closed.

Clem Webster allowed as how they used the Senate for everthing else and he didn't see nothing wrong with Senator Gruening trying to get rid of the bachelors in Alaska. He recollected onct when Senator Byrd of Virginia got up in the Senate and give a recipe for apple pie, advising that nothing but Virginia apples was fitten for the best pies. Furthermore, claimed Clem,

Senator Byrd even had the recipe printed in the Congressional Record. Anyhow, allowed Clem, bachelors ain't noted for raising large families and we got to keep large families coming along to meet the tax load. Come to think about it, said Clem, it was a mighty patriotic thing for Senator Gruening to get up in the Senate and advertise the shortage of wimmen in Alaska.

Bug Hookum was lamenting it was a great pity them Senators didn't spend more time on items like the shortage of wimmen in Alaska and apple pie in Virginia and less time on stockpiling and foreign aid. Bug said it would save the taxpayers billions.

Zeke Grubb, who is a authority on wimmen, put the lid on this subject by claiming it was a dead issue by now anyhow. Zeke reckoned that 24 hours after the Senator's announcement, Alaska was stamped with wimmen.

Another item Ed claimed upset him a bit was that piece in our latest pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture announcing some college was gitting watermelon vines that would grow six or eight melons to the vine like tomato vines. Ed claimed the country was already overstocked with watermelons and afore we knew it the taxpayers would be paying millions for storing the surplus.

All the fellers was agreed that folks would have more peace of mind if the Department of Agriculture would quit putting out any more pamphlets till we git the New Frontier better explored. Fer instant, Ed claimed he was reading a piece about a Cannibal Chief in Laos setting alongside a pot where he was gitting a victim ready for dinner. Ed allowed as how the piece said the Chief was reading a U. S. Department of Agriculture pamphlet titled, "100 Ways to Serve Mankind."

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

It Seems To Me Nonviolent Resistance Is Still Effective

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

It is amazing how the Negroes of the South have adopted the method called nonviolent resistance. This method was utilized some years ago by Mahatma Gandhi and is credited with making India a free nation; now it is being used with effectiveness by the Rev. Martin Luther King. It finds its roots in the life and teachings of Jesus and we have commented on it before in this column. It was used recently in Atlanta where white and Negro ministers poured in upon the town.

Do you prize our nation and our democracy to the point where you would let someone cut up your face? Could you face the bare blade of a switchblade? Many Southerners do today, just to get their children into public school.

This nonviolent resistance appears to be just as effective today as it was 2,000 years ago. Or so it seems to me.

At the start of another school year, we parents and indeed the entire community owe many votes of thanks to the teachers and others who have a sacred custodianship over our children (and the neighbors) for the major part of the day. The attitudes built up now will reflect in the lives of the students through their entire adult life. Indeed, their attitudes toward civic government and their role in it may be a major factor in governmental procedures in a few years. Just watch and see who runs for mayor in a few years.

Or so it seems to me.

With the Seattle World's Fair not yet over, New York has announced one for 1964 and potential exhibitors are rushed because it takes time to build a display. There once was an agreement that such fairs would be held not oftener than every twenty years. The New York Fair of the year 1938, marking "A Century of Progress," cleared the area now known as the United Nations. What do you suppose will come of the 1964 fair?

Credit goes to the CHRISTIAN CENTURY, a nonprofit Protestant magazine, for pointing out that a movement is underway to get discounts for Clergymen's tickets on the airways. Asks the magazine: Is this "Fly now, pray later?"

Seeing Herbert Hoover and Dwight Eisenhower on the news the same week left a good feeling in the mind of this writer who was too young to vote for Hoover and who voted against, then for "Ike" in his two terms as President. Harry Truman was also in the news last week, but I forget just who it was he was against this time. (The danger in always sounding off has this against it—like the little boy who called "wolf," repeated warnings dull the message.)

I can remember when we had no living ex-Presidents, and while none of these men are starving, I wonder if it isn't time to start on a pension for ex-Presidents. When we can see no personal problems for the present crop is the time to sow the seed.

Or so it seems to me.

Mr. Archie Storton of Cass City came in and paid a call the other day. He proposed, and I tentatively accepted, that we coauthor a book. I shall "pick his brains," being responsible only for the writing. The fascinating thing about this rural thinker is that he never went above eighth grade in school.

I am looking forward to working with him, come next December. Will it get published? Who knows? But we will at least have organized our thoughts in a form that will make others think. And if it doesn't sell, somebody may want the manuscript to start a fire. How can we lose?

Or so it seems to us.

I had not realized how popular Labor Secretary Goldberg had become, until the President appointed him to the Supreme Court. He replaces retiring Justice Felix Frankfurter, who was a controversial figure during the Roosevelt administration. We trust that Goldberg's term will run as long as his predecessor's and that the ultimate winner of court battles (where his vote is a key one) will be the American people.

Our congratulations to Southern school leaders—especially the Boards, which answer to the people. While much of the South has yet to integrate the public schools, most of the key systems have at least taken integration. The amazing thing is that where this American solution (with pressure from the Supreme Court) has not cost a single Board member his seat, as far as we can recall, bold Americans, daring to obey an order of a bold Court, are bringing to America the very things our forefathers dared to leave the comforts of their homes to establish. Congratulations!

What do you think of modern novelists? They have their problems: how to be truthful in writing about life and yet make their story interesting.

For example, sex. This is one of the "facts of life." When a sex episode appears in print, a great hue and cry results, yet life itself has many problems rooted in sex attitudes and practice. Let us hear your views, addressed to me in care of the Chronicle. It will be helpful and interesting to know how you feel about this. Or so it seems to me.

Expose the faults of other people only after you count—ten of your own.

Sept. 15 Is Wheat Fly-Free Date

The fly-free date for 1962 wheat planting for Tuscola county is September 15, reports Alfred Ballweg, county extension director. Farmers are advised not to jump the gun on this date because whether it was realized or not, there was more injury from Hessian fly in wheat fields this past year than most farmers realized.

Wheat infested with Hessian fly lodges and has light-colored heads with shrunk grain. A small maggot feeds between the stalk and leaf sheath near the ground. The adult female fly lays eggs in newly planted wheat, from which the maggot develops. Just prior to harvest, the pupa (like a flax seed) may be found by pulling back the lower sheath. This is the common method of distinguishing Hessian fly damage in wheat abnormally developed at harvest times, said Ballweg.
