

Vote for Union at Anrod

Another factory in Cass City has voted for union representation with a narrow 12-10 affirmative vote Tuesday at Anrod Screen Cylinder Co.

It was the second plant this year to favor representation. Earlier General Insulated Wire Works voted in favor of representation by the United Steel Workers.

From the Editor's Corner

Cass City property owners get a better break from the village than do land owners in St. Johns, at least in relation to the amount paid for sidewalks.

In St. Johns, the city pays just a sixth of the total cost while Cass City pays 50 per cent of the cost of the construction on village property.

Cass City is awaiting the arrival of a state inspector before proceeding with plans for sidewalks here.

In a feature last week, Harvey Kirchoff, ad salesman for the Lapeer County Press, described his sensations in his first parachute jump.

Enthralled, we called Dave Kraft, our newsman, over to look at the story. Dave took one look and promptly announced, "I quit".

The State Conservation Department announced that the prospects are bright for ruffed grouse and woodcock in northern Michigan in the season that opens Monday.

Also bright is the pheasant outlook in the Cass City area. Veteran nimrods who have been working dogs in the fields say that the pheasants tend to be located in "spots", but that there seems to be more this year than there were in 1961.

We won't say what the reason was but the regular village council meeting that usually stretches on to about 11 p.m. was over this week at 9:25. However, Tuesday was the night of the championship heavyweight fight that started at 9:30.

Tuesday afternoon the state inspector arrived and authorized curb for the village and said that the State would pay the cost of replacing all of the curb on M-81 (Main Street), but for no new construction. They want the project to stretch over more than one year.

Dollar Day Sale Attracts Shoppers

The annual dollar day sale was one of the most successful of the season, according to local merchants.

Shoppers who swelled the town made cash registers jingle as store owners reported either good or outstanding sales over the week end.

Area Drain Projects Nearing Completion

Two area drain improvement projects let early this summer are nearing completion. Freeland Sugden, county drain commissioner, has announced.

Branch No. 1 of the Reid Drain, northwest of Cass City, is expected to be completed within three weeks. Excavation on the job is half done.

The Banker Improvement Drain, north of Cass City, is done except for the leveling of excavated dirt. Two culverts are still to be cleaned out on the project, Sugden reported.

In other business, the Inter-County Drain Board met Tuesday. Continued on page three.

NEVER ONE to "blow her own horn," Sharon Satchell, pretty 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Satchell, Ellington, indicates, on a map of Europe, one of the countries she visited this summer as a member of the United States of America

High School Band. Sharon, of the six trombonists in the 92-piece band, was the only girl trombone player. On the table is a tea set she purchased in Italy. She was the featured speaker at the Tuscola County Firemen's Association meeting in Caro, Thursday, Sept. 20. (Chronicle photo)

Gondolas, DeGaulle, Good Will All Part of European Jaunt

When the United States of America High School Band toured Europe this summer, unlike the band of a popular song, it featured not 76, but six trombones.

She was Sharon Satchell, pretty 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Satchell, Ellington.

Sharon and the other 101 persons in the group toured Ireland, England, France, Austria and Switzerland during a three-week engagement in Europe.

Miss Satchell was one of three Michigan students along with 92 other students picked from across the nation to play in the band. The other two Michigan students were from Blissfield and Mt. Pleasant.

She is relatively modest about her selection to play in the band. "In each band it was different. In ours, tryouts were held and each student was given the same number. The best players from each section were nominated. The final selections were made in Mississippi. They needed a trombone player; I play trombone so I was picked."

The band member's names were submitted by their school directors, all of whom are members of the First Chair of America. The FCA was the sponsoring body of the band, the first of its kind ever to make such a tour.

The tour proved so popular that it will become an annual event. Next year the band will play at the International Convention in Miami, Fla., and then will tour the southern states and Mexico.

She was Sharon Satchell, pretty 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Satchell, Ellington.

The band left New York and flew via Pan-Am Airlines to Shannon, Ireland, and then on to Nice, France, for a five-day stay.

"We had our music set to us while in New York," Sharon tells, "and those five days were all we had for rehearsal."

On the fifth night, they gave their first concert in an outdoor garden in Nice.

"It was our best turnout," she says. "There were 4,500 in the garden and they told us there were 7,000 outside trying to get in." She remarked that part of the attendance was Lions Club members in Nice for the National Convention.

The Nice performance was the only paid admission and the proceeds were donated to an orphanage.

From Nice, they traveled by bus and train to Rome, then by bus to Florence and Venice.

In Venice, she, most naturally, took a gondola ride. "I'm just glad to be able to say I've done it," she relates. She wasn't too impressed with the canals... they were quite "smelly." She was told that in another 200 years, the canals will have disappeared.

The next stop was Innsbruck, Austria, where they were given a party. "There was yodeling, folk songs and dancing and they played some twist music for us," says Sharon.

Next came Lucerne, Switzerland, and Paris. In Paris, she visited the Louvre, Notre Dame and Napoleon's Tomb, but not the Eiffel Tower. She also saw DeGaulle and Adenauer in a parade.

From Paris, the group traveled to London and then straight home.

Although there was the only nationwide band, there were two other high school bands touring the Continent. One was the Mississippi All-State Band and the other was a Canadian Boys' Band that was traveling on a work-as-

Deadline Nears For Registration

Area voters have less than two weeks to register for the November 6 general state-county election, according to township clerks.

Deadline for registration is Monday, Oct. 8.

Holes Fails as Fight Predictor

Eli Holes, as vice-principal at Cass City High School, is almost without peer. As a predictor of championship fights, he leaves a little bit to be desired, according to Jim Gross, Gavel Club publicity chairman.

Holes, an ex-Marine boxer and an avid fight fan, told Gavel Club members Tuesday night at their meeting at Martin's Restaurant that Sonny Liston wouldn't have a chance against Champion Floyd Patterson when they met that same night.

He gave reasons why and outlined Patterson's strategy. He ended his talk with the question, "Whom has Liston ever fought?" Liston fought Patterson and took the crown in two minutes, six seconds of the first round. (Seems Patterson didn't hear Holes' talk.)

Holes made the prediction during a talk in which he gave the complete history of boxing.

Tell Curriculum Advantage if 3 Schools Merge

The proposed merger of Sebewaing, Unionville and Owengage schools took a step forward last week when superintendents of the schools discussed a curriculum that would serve a central high school if the districts merged.

Meeting with the superintendents were Dr. Ray Kehoe and Donald Fox of the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services.

Courses that could be available in the proposed 700-student school, not practical for smaller schools, include: developmental reading, dramatics, problems of democracy, psychology, personal typing, advanced shorthand, co-operative training, orchestra, expanded vocal music, advanced chemistry or biology, calculus or analytics, arts and crafts, integrated commercial art, improved library services, and improved physical education for boys and girls.

Dr. Kehoe said that the merger could, in his opinion, strengthen the college preparatory program, provide a program for the gifted child, provide a more adequate program in vocational areas and add to art, shop, music and physical education courses.

Jaycees Slate Safety Belt Sale

Cass City Jaycees are slated to conduct a two-day "Seat Belt Clinic" at Auten Motors Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26-27, according to Rodney Krueger, Jaycee official. Selling time on Friday will be from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. and from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday.

The belts will sell for $6.00 per person and installation will be free of charge. Buyers will have a choice of black, white, red, tan, blue, gray or green.

The 6,000-pound test nylon webbing belts reportedly exceed the State and Federal standards and the requirements of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Although they will be on sale the two days, belts may be purchased from any Jaycee member at any time, to avoid the rush.

Auto seat belts are catching on, spurred by public service drives, such as the Jaycees project, and corporate promotions.

About 4.5 million autos are equipped with safety belts, up from 2.5 million a year ago, estimates the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee.

Pumpkin Tossers Receive Fines

Pre-Halloween shenanigans by two area youths cost them $14.80 apiece when they appeared in Cass City Justice Court last week.

Lee Cummins, 21, Cass City, and Gordon Thomas, 18, Owendale, both pleaded guilty to charges of littering the highway.

According to a report by Bad Axe State Police, the two took a number of pumpkins from a Huron county farm and were throwing them on M-81 in the village from a car driven by Thomas.

The incident took place Monday, Sept. 17.

Council Debates Zone Laws; Liquor License

There were only three items of business in the regular Tuesday night monthly meeting of the Cass City Village Council but two of them resulted in lengthy debates and postponed action.

First item on the agenda was the request by Bassett Manufacturing Co. to move from its present location at 6614 East Main to the building formerly housing the H. O. Paul Co.

Speaking to the council about the proposed shift were James Bauer, chairman of the Planning Commission; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bassett, company owners, and John Haire, a resident affected by the transfer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bassett told how they have to move from their present location by June 1 and that they wanted to stay in Cass City.

Mr. Bauer explained that the proposed move was against the zoning laws of the village and that a temporary permit would only be authorized by his commission if the move was a hardship, did not create a nuisance and was agreeable to all.

Haire explained that he was against the move because his living quarters are only about 15 feet from the plant and the noise in the night hours was objectionable.

The area in question is zoned "business two" and the plant is classified light industrial. Mr. Bassett said that he owns land in the industrial section of the village. Discussion then centered around the possibility of the Industrial Development Association constructing a building on the Bassett property and leasing it to the manufacturer.

Bassett said that he would "much prefer" having a building on his property in southwest Cass City. The matter was tabled with the assurance from Village President C. R. Hunt that it was not dropped, but awaiting action on other solutions.

Liquor License

Erla Food Center has made an application for a liquor take-out license (SDD) for their store and the state asked for a resolution from the council approving or disapproving the license.

Among the four councilmen present, it appeared that the reaction was not favorable to the request, but no action was taken. The council will write to the Liquor Control Commission for 30 days more in which to consider the application.

Approve School

The council authorized Nelson Willy expenses to attend a sewage disposal school in Flint for two days.

School To Start Clean-up

Cass City's giant clean-up, fix-up, paint-up campaign (Oct. 8-12) will be kicked off Thursday, Oct. 4, when an educational program and parade will be held. General Chairman Mrs. James Bauer announced this week.

Under the direction of Supt. Willis Campbell, in charge of the educational phase of the clean-up project, a 2 p.m. meeting will be held at the high school auditorium with a host of dignitaries expected to be present.

Village President C. R. Hunt is expected to speak. Others to participate in the program include Robert Stickle, driver training teacher; Police Chief Carl Palmater and Dick Erla, who will be master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Bauer will tell how to improve and beautify Cass City in her talk to the students. Palmater is expected to talk to students in the grades about littering the street and safety.

Students will also compete for prizes in an essay contest under the title "What clean-up, fix-up, paint-up means to Cass City."

A camera will be given to the best work from among fourth, fifth and sixth graders while a watch is the award for the best in grades seven through 12.

There will be numbers, but no names, on each paper to insure impartial judging. Judges are Dave Kraft and Mrs. George Murray.

On Friday a parade featuring the band, school children, boy scouts, etc., will be held and a clean-up queen and court will be selected. Prizes will be awarded for best costumes. Parade judges are Mrs. Richard Case and Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn.

Litter bags made by the Home Economics class will be sold by the Zonta and Business and Professional Women's clubs of Cass City.

John Lesinski to Preside Friday at Local Breakfast

Lieut. Gov. John Lesinski will be in Cass City Friday morning as part of a political tour through the Thumb, according to an announcement made this week by Dick Erla, Cass City.

The lieutenant governor will preside at a breakfast meeting at the New Gordon Hotel at 9:30 a.m.

The breakfast will be free, Erla said.

Swainson has Light Turn Out in Village

Gov. John B. Swainson stopped briefly in Cass City Thursday, Sept. 20, at the New Gordon Hotel where he greeted residents during a day-long tour of the Thumb.

During a 15-minute coffee break in the hotel banquet room, he climaxed a short talk before 26 persons with the remark, "We propose to offer and make an investment in education."

Earlier in his talk, he pointed out the importance of education by stating that between 1950 and 1960, Michigan had experienced a 28 per cent growth among its young people and that one-third of the population had been born since World War II.

Accompanying Swainson on the three-county tour were Sanford Brown, state treasurer, and Melvin Stewart, Tuscola Democratic chairman.

The tour took the governor's group to Marlette, Harbor Beach, Lexington, Elkton, Caro and was climaxed with a dinner in Vassar.

Swainson began his Vassar talk before an audience of 350 persons by complimenting Stewart on the success of the tour.

He then went on to accuse Romney and the Republican party of using the "cosmetic approach to government . . . put on a new face and maybe the people will be fooled."

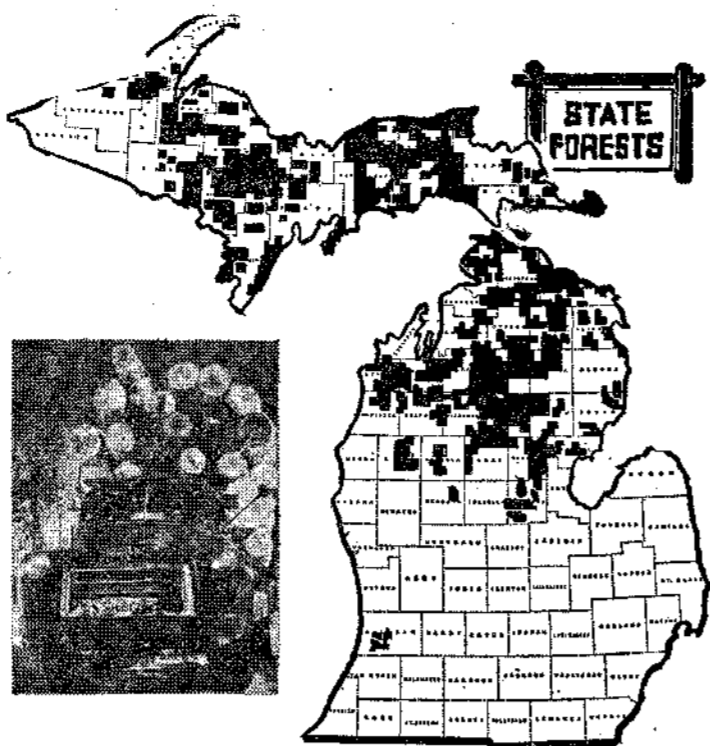

He challenged earlier Romney remarks about social security, Harry Truman and communism in the Democratic party.

In regard to Michigan's unemployment, he asked, "What has happened in the last 18 months? Michigan went from 11.8 per cent unemployment to 6.3 per cent unemployment under the Kennedy administration."

He also said in that same time, industrial development has been good in Michigan. Industries have expanded and 60 new plants have come into the state.

About the election in general, he said, "It's going to take a lot of hard work . . . only one thing wins elections . . . votes," he concluded.

The Want Ads Are Newsy Too.

Shown here by the dark areas on this map is one of the greatest assets owned by the people of Michigan—their state forest system. Managed by the Conservation Department for recreation, wildlife and industry, it covers some 3.8 million acres, about 10 percent of the state's land area. Within your state forests are about 530 miles of inland lake frontage, 6,000 miles of streams, nearly 150 miles of Great Lakes shoreline. Added to these natural features are 100 public campgrounds where outdoor lodging is free. State forests annually draw an estimated 215,000 deer hunters and 42,000 small game nimrods. An estimated 160,000 anglers fish waters in state forests each year. These lands are also important to wood-using industries; the volume of their timber sales has climbed to about 150 million board feet annually. This is equal to 12,000 railroad carloads of wood, or a train some 100 miles long. Where feasible, special uses are allowed on state forest lands to boost the economy and provide facilities.

Wilmer Fritz Dies In Farm Accident

Funeral services were held Sunday in Marlette for Wilmer G. Fritz, 42-year-old father of four, following his death in a farm accident near North Branch, Thursday, Sept. 20.

Fritz reportedly died from loss of blood when his arm became caught in a corn chopper while working alone on the farm of Frank Gomyory.

He was apparently caught and pulled forward into the machine while trying to unplug it, according to a report by investigating officers.

His body was found by a son, David, 20, at about 4:00 p.m.

Mr. Fritz, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fritz, was born October 22, 1919, in Kilmanagh. He moved to Kingston at the age of 16.

He and the former Natalie Bearss were married in Caro December 20, 1941. The couple lived in Cass City until 1950 and then moved to their present home in Clifford.

Mr. Fritz was a farmer and a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Mayville.

Dinner Honors

50th Anniversary

The couple traveled to Pontiac and Flint by bus and train for short visits with friends and relatives.

The couple are currently working and dairying on the same farm Mr. Webster was born on 70 years ago. He was, for a time, a veterinarian and was township treasurer for 13 years.

The cake for the celebration was a two-layer trimmed in blue, white and gold with the figure "50" surrounded by gold and white bells and white ribbon. It was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Williamson.

Special Care Taken Here

You Can't Replace Blood with Money

Mention a blood bank to the average uninitiated layman . . . especially the layman who is scheduled to give blood soon. . . then prepare for this reaction: First comes a frown, then a shiver, then a doleful grimace followed by . . . oops, he almost fainted.

But, take a cue from those who know: Giving blood is actually painless -- and easy! In fact, there are professional blood donors who actually make a living by always being on call to give blood (usually a rare type) for an emergency, says Jack Smith, Hills and Dales lab technician.

Smith told the Chronicle this week that an average of 180 units of blood are used locally every year. It must come from somewhere -- and it does: neighbors, friends, relatives. The lifesaving blood bank depends on individual donors for its supply.

Blood donors fall into one of three categories. Besides professionals, the most familiar are the general donors who may either donate the blood for general use or have it reserved for themselves for future use.

Other donors are those who have received a transfusion in the past and must either pay for it, replace it, or get another person to donate it for them. By having the blood replaced, the person who has received the transfusion can get his money back.

The biggest problem in the Cass City area as far as the last category is concerned is that most persons would rather pay for the transfusion than replace it. As Jack Smith said, "People don't realize that you just can't use money in place of blood."

Very special care is always taken for a safe donation procedure. Precautionary measures are used -- chances are never taken.

An area resident told the Chronicle just how it felt when he walked into the clinic for the first time (with knees shaking a little) to donate blood.

He reports, "They gave me a physical to detect disease, normal blood pressure, etc. I passed it, so they rolled up my sleeves and I relaxed on a bed.

Then they put the needle in a vein in my arm and connected the tube to a vacuum bottle which drew the blood out."

When asked how it felt, he said, "I didn't feel anything. Sometimes if you get on your feet too fast you feel dizzy." He has given blood seven times.

A person may donate blood only every eight weeks and only five times a year.

Who uses all that blood?

The answer is easy -- it could be anybody. As Hills and Dales is the only hospital in the county with a blood bank, and it has an operating room, it's not hard to see where the 180 units of blood go every year. Remember, too, that there are accidents, injuries, blood diseases -- many kinds of emergencies in which a blood transfusion could help save the life of a friend or neighbor.

The Hills and Dales blood bank is operated in cooperation with the Northeastern Blood Bank in Bay City. It receives a blood supply every week from Bay City. Also a mobile unit comes to Cass City every two months to give people a chance to repay the blood bank. Usually about 25 persons participate, so the donor response is not a big problem.

Blood donated is called "whole blood" and is good for only 21 days. After that it is made into blood plasma which is also used in emergencies including burns, crash injuries and some types of shock.

Actually the whole blood bank system is similar to a regular banking system. When you deposit blood, it is there when you need it.

Strangely enough, more blood donors are male than female. Just why hospital authorities can't (or won't) say.

Be an individualist--don't allow others to influence your thinking.

When opportunity looks you over and then overlooks you, only you can be blamed.

Fire Damages 4-H Barn in Sandusky

Sandusky State Police are investigating a fire of undetermined origin that destroyed a portion of a new saddle horse barn at the Sanilac County 4-H Fairgrounds in Sandusky Thursday, Sept. 20.

The fire, reported by a neighboring resident, was discovered about 5:00 p.m. but had apparently burned for quite awhile, according to Keith Sowerby, 4-H fair secretary and county extension director.

The blaze reportedly started in the hay storage section of the barn and destroyed about one ton of hay. The hay was dry and not sufficient to cause spontaneous combustion.

"It sure made an old barn out of our new barn in a hurry," Sowerby remarked Monday in an interview. The barn was built just last spring. Damage was estimated at $3,000 by the fire department. It was insured.

Some rafters in the remaining half of the barn, housing saddle horse stalls, will have to be replaced.

The barn is located at the extreme northwest end of the fairgrounds.

BULEN TALKS Cars

WHAT GAS IS RIGHT FOR YOUR CAR?

If modern automobile engines are a wonder of efficiency compactness and power we can give a hefty share of the thanks to equally modern gasoline that is almost twice as good as it used to be.

Compared with 1930 when one ton of car weight was moved about 33 miles per gallon, present-day fuel will move a ton about 50 miles under the same conditions. The improvement is largely accomplished in higher octane ratings that have crept up to the point where most gasolines today are higher-rated than fighter aircraft fuel of World War II.

What fuel rating is right for your car? About 30 percent of all cars on the road today require premium fuel and their owners would sacrifice performance without a corresponding saving in miles-per-gallon by failing to use it.

Generally speaking, if the compression ratio of your engine is 8.7 or less, standard grades are sufficient. Upwards of that ratio you are saving nothing with standard gas and you could do real harm to your engine.

Whatever the compression rating of your engine, your ignition timing must be set correctly for best performance and economy. Oil company researchers making spot checks report an average 86 percent of cars have their ignition timing set imperfectly. Ninety percent of these had advanced timing and the balance retarded.

You'd be wise to bring your car in for a timing check and then evaluate it for the right gas octane in case your compression is borderline.

Hospital Passes $50,000 in Drive

With $50,118.00 pledged in the Cass City Hospital building fund campaign, two-thirds of the goal has been reached.

In making this report for the campaign executive committee, William Patch stated, "Our excellent progress demonstrates that many realize the great importance of having the proposed new wing.

Sugar Beet Harvest Slated to Start Monday

The sugar beet harvest for growers supplying the Caro plant of the Michigan Sugar Co. will start Monday when beets will be received from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., according to Gilbert Smith, field manager.

Early delivery will be controlled by tickets issued by fieldmen. The 1962 crop is estimated at about 16 1/2 to 17 tons per acre, slightly over last year's average of about 16 tons.

Delivery will be limited to the slicing capacity of the factory which is 300 loads per day. When weather permits storing the beets for further processing, the restrictions will be lifted.

Our excellent progress, however, can lead to overconfidence. There is a great danger in overconfidence. We can only be sure when all of the necessary funds are raised. Therefore, we must continue to get sacrificial three-year pledges from many more to assure reaching our minimum goal of $75,000.

"We still have a big job ahead of us, for we have only about two weeks left in which to raise the remaining one-third of our goal.

"Our biggest problem is contacting prospects. To do this, more campaign helpers are needed. Anyone interested in helping in the drive should contact the campaign office immediately.

"Those who give in this founders' campaign will have their names on plaques in the new building. There will be a memorial founders' plaque, a sponsor founders' plaque and a loyalty founders' plaque. Through these plaques people will be remembered for their generosity."

EUROPEAN TRIP

The major purpose of the tour was to promote good will and to show Europeans what high school bands can do. There are no high school bands in Europe.

Sharon's portion of the trip was financed by Caro and area clubs and organizations. The groups contributed $975, which paid for her fare, food and lodging. Miscellaneous items she had to pay for herself.

Sharon lives with her parents on a 300-acre farm located right at Ellington, on M-81. Besides Sharon, there are four other children at home: Kathy, 14, Tom, 13, Chrissy, nine, and Herb, seven. Her two older brothers, Mike, 19, and Bill, 18, left for Michigan State University Saturday.

The farm received some unwanted attention in August when a $25,000 fire destroyed farm buildings, livestock and equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Satchell attended the group's last concert in New York City and then brought Sharon home.

Sharon reviewed her trip before 160 county firemen and their wives at a dinner meeting Thursday, Sept. 20, in Caro. The firemen contributed to her travel fund.

Guilty Plea Entered in Forgery Case

A plea of guilty was entered for a 23-year-old Fairgrove man following his appearance to answer a forgery charge Thursday, Sept. 20, in Circuit Court, Caro.
Judge Timothy Quinn ordered a presentencing investigation report for Wednesday, Oct. 3, for Andrew Gutierrez, Fairgrove, after he pleaded guilty to the charge.
Gutierrez reportedly forged a $65.00 check August 7, in Caro. The check, written on the Fairgrove Branch of the State Savings Bank of Caro, was made out to a Jim Lopes and signed Alex, Sharko. In an earlier appearance, the case was postponed until the court could appoint an attorney. David Andreychuk, Vassar, was appointed.
In other court news, Mrs. Rachael K. Hohman, Cass City, was granted a pro-con divorce from her husband, William Hohman, Vassar, on a charge of extremes and repeated cruelty.
Hohman was ordered to pay $25.00 per week support and custody of their one-year-old son was awarded to Mrs. Hohman. A property settlement was also approved.
The couple were married September 2, 1960, in Cass City.

Band to Play at First Home Game

The Cass City High School Band will begin a relatively heavy program schedule when it makes its appearance at the first home football game Friday.
"Step Along with Sousa" is the title of the program which will pay tribute to the master of marches, John Philip Sousa. The program will include march music and precision marching routines.
The following week, Oct. 5, the Hawks will meet Bad Axe here at the annual Cass City home-coming game. The theme for this program has not been decided yet, according to Band Director Richard Case. Tentative plans call for a home-coming program by the Bad Axe Band.
On Oct. 6, the band will take part in the Michigan State University Band Day program in East Lansing.
At the final home game, Oct. 19, between Cass City and Vassar, the band will present "Trick-N-Treat", a Halloween-type show.
The band will end the football season with an appearance at the Hawk-Tiger game in Caro Nov. 2.
The last major activity for the band this semester will be the Christmas Concert, sometime in December.

Tuscola County's Allison Green Battling for Vacant Speaker's Post

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
A heavy turnover in the State Legislature next year nearly precludes prediction of the men who will hold the leadership posts in at least one chamber.

In the House of Representatives, a battle is quickly shaping up over the member who will fill the Speaker's chair vacated when Don R. Pears, Buchanan Republican, stepped out. Pears made an unsuccessful bid for the GOP nomination in the 4th Congressional District.

At least two other Republicans have loudly voiced interest in replacing Pears on the rostrum. These are Rep. Robert E. Waldron of Grosse Pointe and current Majority Leader Allison Green of Kingston.

All House members vote in the Speaker election although the majority party caucus usually determines who its "favorite son" will be. If the present 56-54 division of the House is maintained after the November election, Democratic votes on the Speaker will be very important.

Waldron, who chaired the Labor Committee, was less than popular among Democratic members. His committee recommended the many unemployment compensation law changes strongly opposed by Democrats and buried bills introduced by the minority party.

Green, as floor leader, was less than liked by the Democrats but could well emerge as the most favorable of the three likely candidates for Speaker.

A dark horse candidate among the Republicans might well also be brought out of any lengthy caucus as the party favorite.

Barring a GOP sweep of the election, Democrats maintain hope of gaining control of the House, which has been nearly evenly divided during the last four years.

In 1959 when a 55-55 split occurred Minority Leader Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit and his assistant, Albert R. Horrigan of Flint, were the nominees for the Speaker and Speaker Pro-Tem.

All indications are that the same two would be the Democratic choices for the top leadership again.

In the Senate, of course, the presiding officer will be the Lieutenant Governor elected in November.

The President Pro-Tem, however, is elected from the majority party ranks. Sen. Perry W. Greene, Grand Rapids Republican, holds this spot until his retirement at the end of the current session.

A likely shakeup in the GOP ranks of the upper chamber presents a strong possibility that the so-called "moderates" will be in the majority.

Because of the traditional strong majority held by Republicans the party caucus nominee will be elected. Sen. John W. Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge or former Majority Leader Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair appear likely nominees for the post.

An old trail believed to have been carved out by herds of buffalo in migration across Michigan's Lower Peninsula formed the basis for one of the state's main east-west traffic arteries.

The present U.S. 12 highway from Detroit through Coldwater and Niles and to the southwest corner of the state is probably the oldest travel route in Michigan. Until recently it was known as U. S. 112.

Lewis Cass, Michigan's governor during territorial days, became the first American to cover the distance from Chicago to Detroit on the trail which later became the highway.

Cass led a party of explorers into northern Minnesota in 1820. On their eastward return many returned to Detroit via the Great Lakes.

Cass went south to visit Chicago. An overland horseback trip brought Cass back to Detroit on the southern Michigan route once traveled by buffalos and Indians.

Just four years after his trip, Cass had the route surveyed and put on the map. It has been there ever since.

Dry cleaning machines if improperly operating or used can be deadly weapons, according to State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis.

"We have had several incidents reported, and similar reports have been made across the nation, of children being overcome by fumes from the dry cleaning solvent," Heustis said.

Heavy articles particularly have a tendency to retain the odor of the dry cleaning fluid used in the machines, especially if the machine is not working properly.

Heustis said machines with defects, which tend to complete the cycle before clothes are completely dry, should be reported to the operator of the establishment.

"If no one is available to give assistance, caution should be used in handling the articles," he said. "Articles that are still damp or retain the odor of the solvent should be hung outside to dry, and under no circumstances should they be placed in a closed auto or small room."

In planning a career, pick work you like and have ability for.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

I'll Have to Share The Mixing Spoon

By Dave Kraft

I don't know whether you realize it or not, but Sally will be one year old the middle of next month. Can you imagine that? One year old!

She hasn't changed much since that day we bought her from a street vendor in Saginaw and brought her home, almost a year ago.

It wasn't until we got her home that we found out she was a lemon. Couldn't walk or talk, had to be fed and dressed and she had other peculiarities reminiscent of a leaky faucet.

Still, she is getting bigger and has improved somewhat. She still has to be dressed and fed and the plumber hasn't been around, but she talks (nothing understandable) and walks (not very far).

I almost hate to see her get much bigger. Not because I don't want her to lose her infancy. As a matter of fact, we expect to have her married off by the time she's three.

It's just that sooner or later I'll have to start sharing the cake mixing spoon with her and things like that.

And television! If she's anything like her mother, just as sure as I want to watch Mr. Magic, she'll want to see Beanie and Cecil.

Her mother will take her side . . . she already does.

For example, the other day Sally and I were arm wrestling and I had just beaten her two out of three times (I slipped on the second one). The little sneak started crying.

My wife stomped into the room. "What did you do to the baby?" (She always asks that . . . half the time I didn't do anything.)

"Nothing! I beat her fair and square."

"Wagh!"
"Shut up, you little tattletale."
"Don't tell her to shut up, you jerk. Do you want to suppress her little desires? You'll give her a complex."

"I'll suppress more than her little desires. And as far as complexes go, the only one around here with a complex is me."

"Yeah, you've got a 'stupid' complex."
Whereupon, my wife picked the baby up and went back into the kitchen. "That's alright, mommy loves you." I swear she's trying to turn that child against me.

The Rev. Melvin Vender came into the office the other day. Seems some joker had made an improper turn at the light and almost ran him down.

He made a spot check and 11 out of 16 cars turning the corner made improper turns that would have endangered the life of a pedestrian, had one been crossing the street.

A few minutes after leaving the office, he called back to say that he'd almost hit the dust again.

He was getting ready to cross one of the alleys when he noticed a car coming and decided to wait. The driver zoomed up to the corner and stopped well out into the street.

Had he decided to keep walking, he would probably have been somewhere in the vicinity of the car's rear axle by the time the driver halted.

Now, I'm not worried about Rev. Vender . . . he's got an in with the Man upstairs. I'm more concerned about guys like me who have just a nodding acquaintance with you know Who.

Ashmore Serving In the Caribbean

The six ships involved in the exercise will be carrying nearly 3,500 Navy men and Marines. The units comprise Amphibious Squadron Eight, based in Norfolk, Va.

An amphibious landing exercise will be held during the training period off the coast of Vieques, Puerto Rico.

The squadron is scheduled to return to Norfolk in early November.

Phetteplace Services Held Wednesday

Funeral services were to be held Wednesday at Little's Funeral Home for Earl Phetteplace, 69, lifelong area resident, following his sudden death at his home in Evergreen township Sunday, Sept. 23.

Born in Evergreen township January 1, 1893, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Phetteplace. He married Miss Mary Elizabeth Cullen October 16, 1918, in Sheridan township. She preceded him in death November 2, 1959.

He was a member of the Shabbona School Board and on the Evergreen township board for a number of years.

Surviving are: a son, Edward of Decker, and four daughters, Mrs. William (Jane) Huggard of Oscoda, Mrs. Adam (Vivian) Gerres of Detroit, Mrs. Merrill (Eunice) Kreger of Snover and Mrs. John (Helen) Parry of Garden City.

Also surviving are a brother, Oakley of Ypsilanti, and 17 grandchildren.

Rev. Joseph Shaw, Shabbona Methodist Church pastor, was to officiate, with interment in Elkland Cemetery.

Presenting: the Crisp, New, Custom Look of CHRYSLER '63

Raise your eyes and take another long look at this beautiful '63 Chrysler.

How would you describe it? America's most prominent fashion leaders, style-setters, and designers said this about the '63 Chrysler: "A stunning concept in restrained elegance!" "Has the custom look of a town car!" "Beautiful simplicity in line and form!"

Inside you'll find a style revolution in the making: gorgeous patterns; loop-pile carpeting that would grace any living room; wide, comfortable deep-cushioned seats.

Again in '63 you'll find no small-size Chryslers, no jr. editions, to undercut your big-car investment, penalize your pride or reduce your resale value.

All '63 Chryslers are big, beautiful and V-8 powered. All are pleasant price surprises, too. Take a good look at the custom-looking '63 Chrysler... then take a big, beautiful step ahead in style.

Now! 5-year/50,000-mile warranty!
Another First for Chrysler! The very highest standards of engineering leadership have resulted in an extended warranty* on the power-train of 1963 Chryslers.

*Your authorized Chrysler Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case, and internal parts, excluding manual clutch; torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Chrysler Certified Car Care schedule. Factory-approved recommended parts may be used for replacement.

No Church Bells Rang When Eichmann Died

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

I was in seminary when the Revised Standard Version of the Bible was published just the New Testament, with a wait of several years before the newer translation of the Old Testament.

This translation corrected a few sections, made the English more nearly to say what the Greek and Hebrew were saying and used the speech of our day in the final version. Almost immediately, it became the Bible for many of us, although there are many other translations in everyday English - so we can understand what we read.

It was published by Thomas Nelson and Sons, exclusively, under a special agreement in which that firm provided much needed research cash and superintended a large group of translators. Owner of the copyright is the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA. When the copyright expires on the 30th day of this month, it is not being renewed but is being allowed the right of eminent domain and six publishers have announced that they will print editions, most of them with added 'helps.'

These editions will be available at more reasonable costs, making it easier for you to do your Christmas shopping for the whole family. I have a Greek New Testament which I use for special reference, but have almost ceased using that for the much more adequate RSV (1 use I Corinthians 13 as the test), and also have copies of most other translations published since my birth. The RSV is by all means best for the people who learned the English language in the United States. Any local minister will help you select the best version for your Christmas shopping.

Or, so it seems to me.

The decision of the Supreme Court relative to reading the Bible daily in public schools is hotly debated in every State of the land.

We like the sarcastic humor of a Roman Catholic Archbishop who suggests a new version of an old prayer: "Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray the State my soul to keep. If I should die before I wake, I hope the Court made no mistake."

It Seems To Me

I note wide dissatisfaction across the world with the outcome of the Eichmann trial. (Soblen apparently chose death to a fair trial.) If any man is guilty of plotting and doing mass murder, Eichmann probably is guilty. However, I also noticed that no church bells rang in victorious pealing when the verdict was announced, perhaps because the trial seemed to challenge us all.

In THE SATURDAY REVIEW OF LITERATURE (July 7), John Ciardi wonders in print whether it was right or beneficial to mankind to hang Eichmann. Admittedly, "He is dead and unwept." Mr. Ciardi would have preferred a life sentence so that Eichmann could have been studied and kept 'one of a kind.'

I wonder how much propaganda and conditioning it takes to turn an Adolph Eichmann into a man responsible for killing six million people only because they were Jews. With Ciardi, we hope that "... history (may) never again have such a tale to tell."

THE SOMEBODY GOOFED DEPARTMENT: The Navy recently announced that the name William Penn was under consideration for a new atomic submarine.

Penn was a Quaker and a pacifist, which has led to a protest to the Defense Department by 12 Quaker leaders.

Sign in the store of the Universal News Stand and Book Co. (according to the New Yorker for September 15) in Washington, D. C., reads, "We cannot tolerate excessive reading."

By the time you've finished this column, you probably have a right to second the motion. Or, so it seems to me.

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau and Home Economics Extension women are cosponsoring an open meeting on the Con-Con issue. Dr. Charles Press, political science professor at Michigan State University, will be the speaker. The meeting will be held at the Caro Community School at 8 p.m. Tuscola county's Con-Con delegate, Shurford Kirk, will also be participating in the Wednesday, Oct. 3, meeting.

The Con-Con is an issue that will be affecting not only you but also your children and maybe your grandchildren. So it should be very vital to you to know something about the Con-Con and to be able to vote intelligently on the subject at the coming election.

I think that all of us eat bread once a day or more. Since the dawn of time, "your daily bread" has been a most important part of the food we eat. Ancient records show the Swiss Lake Dwellers of 8,000 years ago baking a flour and water dough on heated rocks. It was a flat, hard-on-the-outside type of bread and soft inside. Raised bread came into being 3,000 B. C. when, in an Egyptian household, the dough for bread was forgotten and it fermented. It was not until the 17th century that it was learned, from examining yeast cells under a microscope, just what made the dough "raise."

The first oven was used 4,000 years ago. Public bakeries came into being 300 B. C. The history of the baking industry is most interesting. Bread played an important part in the settling of America.

Today's loaf of bread is a precision product. Quality control is strictly exercised in its production. The last recorded count shows 27 states with laws which require bread be enriched. In today's accelerated pace in family living habits 96 per cent of the urban families and 85 per cent of the farm families purchase their bread and rolls instead of baking it themselves. And the most popular use for these products is, of course, the making of sandwiches.

For sandwiches represent the quickest, easiest and most versatile way to combine wheat and numerous other products of our agricultural abundance. This, too, is indicated by the increasing use of hot dog, hamburger and other bread rolls in a great variety of ways.

Leroy Copeland Top Harness Jockey at Eastern Track

A former Cass City youth, too small for football and basketball at Cass City High School a few years back, has gained national racing attention as a top harness racing driver at the Rockingham Park race track, Salem, N. H., during the opening of New England's fall racing season.

Rockingham's new "wonder boy" is Leroy Copeland, a Cass City native, with quite a bit more fondness for horses than books. He used to spend his summers away from high school in New England, helping his father with his racing stable.

When Rockingham Park inaugurated New England's fall season of harness racing, a few of the sideline critics, who know their horses and drivers said, "look out for those young drivers."

But when no less than 18 different driving champions, from all sections of the country and Canada, appeared on the firing line before the meet was hardly on its way, the over-all verdict was "they won't have a chance."

But differences of opinions are what make horse racing, and with the first full week of racing in the books, the first of the new driving champs at the Rock was the 22-year-old reinsman.

At that age, in harness racing circles, a teamster is practically in his swaddling clothes.

Copeland liked the East so well that the past year he decided, when he branched out on his own as a trainer and driver of a public stable, to make it his home. The former Michigander is now a Bay Stater, with home ties at Starbridge.

Maybe it was because he won his first horse race at Foxboro's Bay State Raceway, back in 1958, that gave young Leroy his fondness for New England. But certainly after his driving feat at Rockingham the past Thursday night, a hard job it will be to drag him out of the East.

All 22-year-old Copeland did was to take on all the veteran driving artists at the Rock, get up behind three horses, and in quick one, two, three order, proceed to knock off three victories.

Getting triples on any nine-race harness card is not something that just pops out of the hat. It's a feat that in the 10 night meets at Rockingham since 1958, only a mere handful of drivers have ever pulled off.

Copeland's triple was scored behind Missile, a 2 to 1 choice; Imaway, a 5 to 1 winner, and Sentinel Grattan, a $11.00 winner who was posting his eighth victory of the season.

The woman who boasts she can read her husband like a book forgets the unwritten chapters.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeko Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, said it felt mighty good to set and rest for a spell. He told the fellers everybody in his congregation has had a summer vacation but him and he was as wore out as a peg-leg man working in a swamp.

He said a heap of his members figured he didn't work but a couple hours ever Sunday and didn't need no vacation. And he reported he had took the matter up with three of his Deacons and they claimed the Devil worked seven days a week and he ought to do the same.

He allowed as how he didn't mind going day and night as long as it was doing some good, but about half his going, he claimed, wasn't serving the Lord none and could be helping the Devil a little bit. For instant, he pointed out, he had to call ever day to see how Katie Hightower was getting along from having a in-grown toe nail removed, and they had a meeting set up Monday night for the Kitchen Committee to decide on what color to paint the new garbage cans. He explained he had to attend all Committee meetings on account of him having to open 'em with prayer.

The good Parson said he never figured when he was going through the preaching Seminary that part of his time would be took up with in-grown toe nails and garbage cans. Fact is, he said, he wondered sometimes why they ever studied the Good Book in schools for preachers. His main job, he reported, was raising money, and gitting more members. He said ever Sunday right after the service Rufe Under rushes up and says, "How many did we have today?" And afore he can give Rufe the official count, Hezekiah Adams is waiting fer the report on the collection plate.

Actual, he told the fellers, he would've made a better preacher if he had took salesmanship instead of the Bible at the Seminary. He claimed that the main thing folks wants now in a preacher is personality. He says a preacher has got to bubble over like alkey seltzer to be a big success. He told about one woman in his congregation telling him onct about the best preacher they ever had at her church. She said this preacher helped her husband unload a wagon full of manure the very first time he ever come calling. The good Parson said he reckoned as long as a preacher is handy with fertilizer it don't make no difference how handy he is with theology.

He told the fellers he shore needed a little vacation to git back to normal, said he would like to take a trip to Africa to visit a Missionary friend of his. It would be mighty interesting, he allowed, to see if the work load with preachers was as steady in Africa as it was at home.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim.
