

Teachers Get $100 Raise

Pay Hike to Cost $5,200

Cass City High School's 47 teachers will cost the school district an additional $5,200, following a decision of the Board of Education to raise base pay $100 and to give an additional $100 to teachers with a Master's Degree. The move came at a special meeting Wednesday, Feb. 20, to discuss supplemental pay and teacher contracts for the 1963-64 school year.

Approximately 20 persons, teachers and parents, attended the session which saw seven teachers tell why they felt their supplemental pay should not be dropped from their contracts for the coming year.

The outcome of the teachers' report was the raising of one supplemental pay, the adding of another and the dropping of two others.

Raised was the supplemental pay of Band Director Richard Case from $200 to $300; added was a $100 supplement to the elementary librarian, and dropped were supplements for a junior high coach and an art teacher. The school has neither, but amounts of $400 for the coach and $100 for the teacher were listed on the supplemental pay schedule.

Teacher's Raise

The motion for the pay raise, made by Horace Bulen, carried a 2-1 vote in favor and read: "In addition to the regular increment, each teacher be raised $100 on base pay with an additional $100 for those with Master's Degrees." The two raises totaled $5,200 and combined with scheduled increments of $3,500 brought the total pay raise for next year to $8,700.

Voting in favor of the motion were William Ruhl, Elwyn Helwig and Bulen. Don Reid gave the Fire Destroys Boiler Room

Fire, caused by a faulty furnace, destroyed a boiler room and its contents Sunday at Ebert's Ford Tractor Sales. Firemen received the alarm exactly at noon.

Fire Chief Al Avery could not pinpoint exactly what started the blaze which took firemen 20 minutes to extinguish. Damage was confined to the boiler room.

A second alarm was sounded shortly after firemen returned to the fire hall when the Caro dispatcher misunderstood a request to check the fire hall radio and rang the alarm by mistake.

Gagetown Youths Take Top Honors At Owendale

Two Gagetown youths have been named to the top posts for the 1963 graduating class of Owendale-Gagetown High School, according to Charles Ellis, principal.

Valedictorian is Kenneth Hofmeister, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hofmeister, Gagetown, and Danny O'Rourke, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Rourke, also of Gagetown, is salutatorian.

Hofmeister has maintained a scholastic average of 3.94 and has been active in many class and extracurricular activities. He was president of both his freshman and sophomore classes and is senior class president. He was only negative vote and James Milligan and Don Koepfen abstained. Jack Esau, board president, would have voted only in case of a tie.

"Shock Treatment" An original motion by Bulen called for a "shock treatment" as the impetus for another millage push. The "shock treatment" in brief, would have included running the school in the red, another millage vote and the cutting and curtailment of some classes and activities if the vote failed.

Some encouragement for the plan came from some board members but others actively fought the move and the motion went without a second.

The motion was changed as read following a charge by a woman member of the audience that "a shock treatment affects the children the most. I don't agree with it... children are too emotional and they are the ones who will suffer."

Whether or not the system will try for another millage vote will be discussed at the next board meeting.

Supplemental Pay

The supplemental pay motion, oddly enough, came from Don Reid. Reid, at a previous session, pressed for the revamping of the supplemental pay schedule, contending that some teachers were receiving pay they weren't earning.

He specifically named the coaches. Neither coach attended the session. Both, however, were present at an informal teacher-board session Monday, Feb. 18, and presumably expressed their feelings.

Teachers seeking continuation of their supplemental pay present at the session, besides Case, included: Roger Parrish, vocal director; Jerry Shea, librarian; Dale Sherman, junior varsity coach, and Orion Cardew, junior class sponsor. Letters were read from Mrs. Thomas Jackson, home economics, and Frank Weatherhead, school annual.

Case's raise came after he told the group that the $200 supplemental pay he was receiving was not "adequate" for the time he was spending on school activities outside school hours.

Mrs. Jackson and Shea, both under fire at a previous meeting, informed the board that they would gladly forfeit the supplemental pay if changes could be made in their programs.

Shea reported that his supplemental pay was "not for work outside school, but during the day as study hall supervisor. I'd just as soon give up the $200 if we could dispense with study hall and have a decent library," he asserted.

Art Scheduled A full-term art class will await Cass City High School students when they return next fall, following a motion by Elwyn Helwig that the class be reinstated.

A new teacher will be hired and cost of re-equipping the room was estimated at $1,000. Principal Arthur Holmberg explained that most of the art equipment was "consumable items such as paint, paper and so forth."

The class, as before, will be offered to junior and senior high students with supervision for the elementary classes.

Life Sentence For McDonald

Glen McDonald, 34, Caro was sentenced "to the rest of his natural life" at Jackson Prison by Judge Timothy Quinn during a Circuit Court session Wednesday morning in Caro.

McDonald, convicted earlier this month of second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of Richard English, Caro, outside a Reese bar last December, showed little emotion as the sentence was read.

An observer stated that McDonald "gaped" as the sentence was completed. He was sentenced at 9:40 a.m.

Under a life-sentence, McDonald will be eligible for parole but when will depend on parole board officials, according to Judge Quinn. Immediate plans called for McDonald's removal to Jackson sometime today (Thursday). In other court action, a 17-year-old Deford youth, Gerry A.

From the Editor's Corner

At the risk of bringing down the wrath of fox hunters in the area, we'd like to call your attention to the Michigan Conservation Department's campaign to have the bounty removed from all animals in Michigan.

It's been conclusively proved that the bounty does no good in controlling the number of foxes and other animals it was designed to control and is costing the state thousands of dollars urgently needed to strengthen the department's varied conservation programs. Why not drop Sen. Art Dehmel of Unionville or Rep. Allison Green of Kingston a card in support of killing the useless bounty?

Tournament basketball play is always especially welcome for clubs with records like Cass City. With a dismal season behind them, they can always look to the district for a big upset and a chance to surprise the teams that have tormented them all season.

With no outstanding teams in the league this year, the chances for an underdog to win are not remote next week.

Our prediction? We'll take Sandusky. Don't ask us to bet on it, though.

Crash Claims Cass City Man, Hurts Village Woman Sunday

Funeral services were to have been held Wednesday at Little's Funeral Home for a Cass City man who became the county's first 1963 traffic fatality in a two-car crash Sunday on M-81 near Colwood Road.

Fatally injured in the head-on crash was Steve Harbec Jr., 53, Cass City. He died in the Hills, and Dales General Hospital emergency room shortly after being taken to the hospital.

Attending physician Dr. Earl Nelson listed cause of death as "intra-cranial pressure and a crushed chest."

Mrs. Ruth Schember, 43, also of Cass City, the driver of the other car, is in Saginaw General Hospital with a possible pelvic fracture, severe cuts and facial bone fractures.

A witness told Tuscola County Deputy Larry Tomlinson that Mrs. Schember's car left the edge of the pavement, came back on to the highway and hit an icy spot. The car then skidded across the center line in front of Harbec's vehicle. Assisting Tomlinson was

Virus Blamed for Absenteeism Peak

Absenteeism at Cass City Public Schools, reported at a peak earlier this week, is being attributed to a "flu-like" virus by school officials.

Eli Holes, assistant principal, reported that 70 high school students and 58 elementary students, out of a total of 1,233 students, were absent Tuesday. Teacher absenteeism has been held to a minimum so far.

Although absenteeism is at most triple over a corresponding period for last year, it is still far below the near-epidemic flu attack which closed Caro Schools last week.

A check with Dr. Earl Nelson, Donahue Clinic, revealed that several cases with "flu-like" symptoms have been reported in the past week or so but without extensive tests, just what type of flu was involved couldn't be stated.

Symptoms of the virus, which hits both adults and children, included stomach cramps, diarrhea and muscular pains.

Mrs. Tennant Buys Home Restaurant

Mrs. Charles Tennant has announced the purchase of Ann's Home Restaurant from Ann Lenda, effective March 1. The sale of the restaurant brings to an end a 12-year business career in Cass City for Miss Lenda.

Miss Lenda purchased the restaurant in 1951 and has managed it since then. She is also co-owner of Ed and Ann's tavern, Caro, and for the past three years has been active in both businesses.

Mrs. Tennant has also announced that beginning Monday, March 4, the restaurant will open at 6:00 a.m.

NARROW ESCAPE—Leonard G. Weston, Vassar, narrowly escaped injury in what might have been a serious accident except for quick action on his part, Monday afternoon across from Little's Funeral Home. Weston's brakes failed when a car (taillight visible in foreground) blocked the street while attempting to back into a parking space. Weston, traveling at about 20 miles an hour, swerved but was unable to avoid the tree. (Chronicle photo)

Deputy George Baird. Services for Harbec were to have been held Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. Rosary devotions were held Tuesday evening.

Win Over Raiders Stops Hawks' Losing Streak

Cass City scored its first victory in eight games Tuesday night at Cass City High School as they edged Marlette 74-62 to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Red Raiders.

With Walt Hampton, Roger Karr and Ron Randall showing the way, the Hawks raced to a 22-14 first quarter lead. They were helped by hot foul shooting as the team converted 10 of 11 charity heaves in the opening canto.

The Hawks held on to their lead in the next period as Karr sunk four field goals to lead the squad to 14 points while the visitors were netting 13. At the half Cass City was in front, 36-27.

It looked like more of the same old story in the third period. The Hawks promptly blew their lead as they scored just 11 points while Marlette racked up 21 to take a one-point lead going into the final canto.

But Tuesday Cass City was not to be denied. With the aid of a full court press, they quickly charged back into the lead with 11 quick points and then coasted in for the victory. They outscored the Raiders 26-12 in the final quarter.

Karr netted 21 points and Ed Retherford pitched in 18 to lead the Hawk scorers. S. Patrick netted 20 for Marlette.

Friday the Hawks end the regular season with a game against Frankenmuth at Cass City.

Caro's "Big O" Oscar Carlson, proved to be virtually unstoppable Friday night as the Caro Tigers turned the tables on the Hawks to register a 51-47 decision on their home court. In the first game between the two schools, Cass City won 58-47.

Carlson rammed home 26 points by hitting 10 field goals and six of eight charity tosses to account for more than half of Caro's points.

Carlson started slowly, hitting only three points in the first quarter as the Tigers and the Hawks played on even terms, scoring just nine points each.

Other Accidents

Three minor accidents involving area persons were investigated by Cass City policemen during the past week. Saturday, Feb. 23, Cars driven by Kenneth Crawford, 17, Deford, and Marlene Creason, 27, Cass City, collided on Main Street.

Investigating officer William Schram reported that the Creason vehicle had just backed from the curb and was traveling west when it was struck in the rear by the Crawford car. Crawford reported that he did not see the Creason car.

A car driven by Harold J. Francis, 45, Deford, backed into the alley between Main and Pine streets Friday, Feb. 22, and struck a car driven by Warren P. Mize, 45, Cass City. Both cars suffered minor damage.

On Wednesday, Feb. 20, a car parked in front of Riley's Shoe Store by Mrs. Alice Moffat, 44, rural Cass City, rolled over the sidewalk and struck the store. Damage to both the store and the vehicle was slight.

A car driven by Mrs. Iva Smith, 61, Unionville, collided with a Fuelgas Company truck Wednesday, Feb. 20, on Colwood Road, one-fourth mile south of Cass City Road. Lawrence Guinther, 30, Cass City, was the driver of the truck.

Blinding snow was blamed for the accident. Occupants of the Smith vehicle were Mrs. Joe Maleck, 30, Marjorie Mallory, 34, and Mrs. Tom Maleck, 20, all of Cass City.

New Assessing Plan Given Green Light

Cass City and Elkland township moved a little closer to a general overhaul of their assessing system Tuesday night as the village council and the township board edged toward an agreement for special reassessing of the entire area.

The action was taken Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council at the Municipal Building.

Meeting with the council were Elkland Supervisor Ed Golding and Trustee John Marshall. They reported that the township board had tentatively agreed to authorize half of the work done this summer and the remainder the following year if it proves to be of benefit to the area.

Go Together The council has authorized the work for Mac O'Dell, village assessor, and voted $500 for the project. Present plans are for O'Dell and Golding to reassess each home in the village together.

The work, as planned, will include a card file of every home so that complete information about

Budget Climbs To New Peak

The cost of operating the Village of Cass City will continue to climb in 1963, if the tentative budget set by trustees at their regular session Tuesday night at the Municipal Building is followed.

The council approved a record-high $143,200 budget for the village. The increased expenditures follow a trend: In 1961 the village spent $118,569.60, last year the figure rose to $128,632 and this year the jump takes it to the record high of $143,200.

Ten years ago (1953) the village budget was $70,800. Although the budget has been upped some $15,000 over actual expenditures in 1962, no added revenues from local taxes are anticipated.

Taxes jumped some $5000 over the budgeted figure last year and the council anticipates an equal amount of revenue in 1963. The extra tax money allowed a carry-over of $18,742 to start the year. An increase of about $5,000 in anticipated water revenue - from $31,000 to $36,000 - also will help to carry the larger budget. Tax revenue for the village will remain at about $55,000.

Special Items

Several items are set in this year's budget that did not appear last year. Storm sewer work will jump from $1,285 to $8,000 as the council plans to tackle Garfield, east of Seeger, this year.

An additional $7,000 has been placed in the budget for new sidewalks in the business district on Main Street. The Municipal building will be enlarged and $2,000 has been allotted for this expansion.

Some $8,500 of money received from the State for "major" streets in the village has been set aside for work in future years. The work on the road (probably Church street) will be delayed until the roadway is properly drained.

May Be Higher

The official budget when printed may show a figure $75,000 higher than the one hammered out by the trustees Tuesday night.

The Federal government makes a requirement of showing in the official budget the village's share of proposed work with participating funds.

Since Cass City has asked for $75,000 on a matching basis, they will show that figure in the budget. Actually, the figure is meaningless unless a grant is given.

Even if approved, the expenditures would be paid for by general obligation bonds (under the present plan) and paid for over a period of years.

The anticipated revenues are: Cash on hand $18,600 Village Taxes 54,500 Sales tax 13,000 Motor vehicle fund 17,500 Intangible tax 2,300 Liquor license 500 Athletic field rent 800 Traffic fines 1,000 Water and sewer 36,000

Hospital Plans Ready for Viewing

Plans for the addition to the Cass City Hospital will be available for inspection at the hospital Monday, Mar. 4, according to Morris Jones, a member of the board.

Bids for the addition will be opened at 7 p.m. Mar. 21 at the elementary gym.

Drive for Funds Snagged

Cass City's request for $75,000 in Federal funds for a revamping of the village's water system is being held up for information, it was revealed Tuesday at the regular meeting of the village council at the Municipal Building.

Federal authorities have communicated with the village and asked for a detailed breakdown of construction costs. The village is attempting to comply with the request.

Despite the fact that the village has had communications from the department, most observers feel that if Cass City does receive Federal funds under the program, it will not be in the immediate future.

Request Meeting

At a previous council meeting, the council had written the Michigan Public Utilities Commission asking that the signal light at the M-81 railroad crossing be repaired to become more effective.

The commission replied that it could force the signal changed, but only after a meeting of the persons responsible for the highway (State of Michigan) and railroad officials. The council instructed Clerk Bill Bridges to write and ask for the meeting.

Delay Again

The new regulations covering special situations for the use of water and sewer were to have been adopted to complete the revamping of the water and sewer charges in the village Tuesday.

However, the wording about drainage of water into the sewer system has forced the ordinance back into the hands of village Attorney Al Stevens and it will be another month before the work is finally completed. Before the complete program is in effect, the council will have spent six months on the project.

Central School Survey Underway By Area Districts

Superintendents from Sebewaing, Owengene and Unionville schools spent Monday at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, making arrangements with the U-M Bureau of School Services to conduct a central school site survey.

The three schools voted in favor of the survey at a special joint meeting Feb. 14 in Owendale.

Present at Monday's meeting with Dr. Ray Kehoe, U-M, were Louis Balmes, Sebewaing, Charles Mayer, Owendale, and D. A. Crawford, Unionville.

The Bureau of School Services will recommend a location of a central school site based upon their findings in regard to population distribution, geographical location of the villages, transportation of pupils, and adequacy of a site in regard to building construction, water and drainage.

It is expected that a report from the Bureau will be ready in about six weeks. Preliminary work on topographical maps, distribution of pupils and transportation is already in progress.

Thought For Lent

This is the first of seven Lenten features from the pens of seven local clergymen. In giving space for these devotional expressions, the editor does not necessarily imply agreement or disagreement with the article or its author.

The first column is written by the Rev. Paul Heitmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Cass City, a post he has held for more than two years.

THE CALL OF LENT

One of the most frequently quoted statements of Christ is His well-known invitation: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

The rest which Christ offers in these words is, of course, not the immediate freedom from all the cares and trials of life.

Ours is a difficult world, and on our way through it we shall meet many trying and painful experiences. It is not a rest from trial which Christ offers but a rest in trial.

It is the rest and peace which come from the certain knowledge of sins forgiven; that deeper rest and peace which come from knowing that we are God's children, forgiven through the life and death of Christ.

The man who has found pardon for his sins through faith in Christ has found a peace and rest which are beyond the grasp of those who lack this faith. There is nothing in life that can harm him. Sickness, loss of wealth, calamity—none of these can take away from him that perfect rest which comes from the sure conviction, "I am at peace with God."

Many people today who are at their wit's end, who are leading lives of futility and frustration, who are on the verge of despair and nervous collapse, are in need of just this assurance of the Christian Gospel.

Peace, quiet, confidence—these are to be found in the full acceptance of the message of the Lenten season which we are now entering. It is a solemn period in which we especially remember Christ's death on the Cross for the sins of the world. It is a period of hope and joy as the Cross reassures us that through Christ's sacrifice our sins have been forgiven, "Come unto Me," says Christ, "... and I will give you rest."

SCRAMBLE—These junior high girls get set to begin a basketball game during a physical education class at Cass City High School. The class, reinstated on a limited basis last fall after a one-year absence, is reportedly one of the favorites among the junior high girls.

Partial Physical Education For Girls at Cass City High

Physical education for girls returned to Cass City High School this year on a limited basis after a one-year absence, according to Arthur Holmberg, principal.

Holmberg reports that the program, dropped last year because of a lack of funds, has been offered for junior high girls, only, since last fall.

Mrs. Ruth Seals, class instructor, has reported that the program has met with favor among the girls who, for the most part, show interest and enthusiasm in the class.

The class is held two days a week, alternating with three days of physical education for boys.

Holmberg stated that every attempt is made to make the activities both purposeful and interesting. Class membership varies from 35 to 40 students and games are played in which large groups can participate.

During the fall, outdoor games such as soccer are played. Winter activities include basketball and volleyball. Scheduled for the rest of the year are some gymnastics and tumbling, with outdoor sports again when the weather permits. Holmberg pointed out the girls' interest in the class by stating that they provide their own gym suits and have been instrumental in setting up class activities.

A self-made man is just an average run-of-the-mill type with a built-in publicity agent.

"Secrets of Success" are probably so-called because everybody wants to write a book telling everybody else their success stories.

THE CUSTOMER IS (ALMOST) ALWAYS RIGHT

At the risk of sounding like 'Cheerful Gus', I'd like to say that 99.9 per cent of people are a real pleasure to do business with. They are straightforward, considerate and responsible in all their dealings.

But everyone who deals with the public (and that's all of us imperfect humans, actually) knows there is an exception to a rule. Which includes car dealers too, naturally.

When auto men get together they discuss their woes like elderly ladies are supposed to do with their operations (which backs their claim to being human too). One beef that comes up occasionally in off moments is how to satisfy an unsatisfiable customer.

That's really what the problem is, too. Even the most conscientious businessman, employee or professional person has had one experience with this type of customer or acquaintance.

The egos of us humans are easily hurt and it does make them feel better to stretch the facts for our side a little to a sympathetic ear. We've all felt guilty at one time or another about an unpaid bill or an unjust claim we later realized was unreasonable. Meanwhile, in self defense, we might have 'made a monkey out of ourselves by carrying a tale' as the old philosopher is supposed to have said.

Anyway, things aren't nearly so bad as one irate dealer I met recently felt. He was down on all humans. He told a story about a school boy struggling with his grammar who finally announced: "Now I've got it! Hens set and lay but people sit and lie."

WILL YOU FORGIVE US IF WE BRAG A LITTLE?

Don't be too good-natured—a certain type of people will write you down as one of their assets.

Opportunity may open the door for you, but only hard work will keep you on the inside.

IT SEEMS TO ME Did You Tell Him How to Vote?

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

Next June the law to pass the draft is up for a new life. Until World War II this was foreign to our thinking—but now the danger is that we will take it for granted. There are many things that could be said about it, but right now I have been made aware of its unfairness to rural areas and to youth who are not college students. Have you written to one of our US Senators to let him know of how you would like for him to vote when this matter comes before the Senate next June? It is not early to write right now!

The American Medical Association and The National Research Council issued a joint statement on narcotic addiction this week. Included are five conclusions on which they agree after meetings on this subject held since 1958. These two organizations support (1) after complete withdrawal, follow-up treatment for addicts; (2) measures designed to permit the compulsory civil commitment of drug addicts for treatment in a drug-free environment; (3) the advancement of methods and measures toward the rehabilitation of the addict under continuing civil

Quinn Grants Area Divorces

Two pro-con divorces, involving area persons, were granted by Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn during a court session Wednesday, Feb. 20, in Caro. A support payment was also ordered in another divorce action.

A pro-con divorce was granted to Frances and Cornelius Coykendall, both of Cass City, and a property settlement was approved. Hersey also charged extreme cruelty in his suit. The couple were married October 29, 1955, in Marlette and have no children.

Melbourne Kienstra, Cass City, was ordered to pay $25.00 per week and support and attorney fees in a divorce complaint filed against him by his wife Edna Marie. The couple were married Sept. 4, 1958, in Caro and have two children.

Hence, we pass this information along to you. Personally, we are going to try to remember to take the keys from the ignition.

HONOR STUDENTS

A four-year FFA member, he was treasurer as a junior and is president this year. In his junior and senior years, Hofmeister was in the plays, Pep Club and both varsity and All-Conference football. Baseball and basketball were on his schedule all four years. He participated in forensics in his sophomore year and debate as a junior.

A member of the Cass City Lutheran Church and vice-president of the Thumb Zone Walther League, he plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall to study agricultural engineering.

O'Rourke Also active in extracurricular activities, O'Rourke carried a 3.44 average. He was a band member for four years and played first chair clarinet for the last two years. As a sophomore, he won a second in the District Solo and Ensemble and recently received a first at a meet in Flint. He has played in the pep band for the last three years and was president during his junior year. As a sophomore, he was on the wrestling team.

He was active in forensics in his junior year and participated in forensics, debate and discussion this year. He was a student secretary in the principal's office this year and during both his junior and senior years, he was announcer for the plays, in the Pep Club, president currently, and a member of the Science Club.

O'Rourke is a member of St. Agatha Catholic Church, Gagetown, and is a member of both the Catholic Youth Organization and choir. He plans to enter Michigan State University in the fall to prepare for a science major.

commitment; (4) the development of research designed to gain new knowledge about the prevention of drug addiction and the treatment of addicted persons, and (5) the dissemination of factual information on narcotic addiction. In other words, addiction is a special kind of illness and requires special measures of treatment.

One thing which has held up any ban on atomic testing has been the refusal of Russia to agree to any on-site inspection from teams of the UN. This agreement is still in 'principle'. It does bring the nuclear capability of any nation a valid concern for other nations, and is a concession which is 'king size'.

Some years ago, I visited the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. I jotted down the information about the human heart as follows:

The human heart beats 70 times a minute, 4,200 times an hour, 100,000 times a day, 37,000,000 times a year, 2,000,000,000 times a lifetime (65 years).

I don't know about yours, but my heart just sighs at this and wants some rest.

Ministers like to be experts and are having a field day following an article (November 17) in the Saturday Evening Post and (on November 20) a different one on lagging enrollments at seminary. The leading magazine for ministers (THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY) followed up with another article on "Why I Quit the Ministry" by Dean Roy Pearson. All of the articles had 'bites' in them. The truth is that there is no calling in which a man is exposed to so many reasons for quitting his life's work as this. Yet so many thousands of ministers don't quit and retired ministers wish they were back on the 'firing line'.

Your local Council of Churches' meetings may seem dull to the delegates attending but it is a very essential link in the lines of cooperation. After considering such things as next summer's vacation school, the recent meeting spent some time in a frank discussion of which other churches would cooperate, and why others would (or could) not.

Benkelman to Receive Award

Alvin C. Benkelman, former Cass City resident now living in Florida, is slated to receive the Highway Research Board's Roy C. Crum Distinguished Service Award in recognition for "outstanding accomplishments in research in the field of highway engineering."

Benkelman, born and raised in Cass City, is primarily known for his contributions to flexible pavement research. In 1952, he was instrumental in the development of the Benkelman Beam, a device being used worldwide for the measurement of deflection of flexible pavements under moving truck loads.

Since receiving his engineering degree from the University of Michigan, Benkelman has held positions with the highway departments of Illinois, Virginia and Michigan.

He is a 1914 graduate of Cass City High School and is a World War I veteran.

Promise Peace in Gagetown

It looks as if peace and harmony will reign in Gagetown... at least for the coming Mar. 11 village election. It will be the first time in years that the general election in the village has not been hotly contested.

A joint statement by Joe Mosack, village president, and Bill Downing, who is unopposed for the president's post this spring, said that the two men are working together to make "a smooth and informed transfer of the office for the benefit of the village in its relations with the state, county, township and utilities." The men pointed out that both have spent many hours touring the village in the past several weeks, as the apparent new president acquaints himself with village projects under way and in the planning stage.

Points with Pride

In the statement, Mosack points with pride to the voting record during his four terms in office. All residents were registered to vote and 95 per cent of the eligible electors voted. The president added that, with the exception of the recent caucus, 60 per cent of the residents have attended caucuses in the period.

Both men pointed to the need for a more informed electorate so that voters will know which officials to retain for better service in connection with Federal, State, County and Township governments.

The men asked that the pertinent council meetings be published "to keep the people informed and prevent obstructionist groups from functioning effectively."

Three games are on tap. The opener pits Walbro against Kingston at 7:30 p. m. Mac & Leo faces General Cable in the second game, while Fuelgas takes on Snover in the nightcap.

blasted Mac & Leo, 71-42; Kingston edged Snover, 52-46, and Fuelgas measured Walbro, 53-29.

Sontag and Hoag paced the winners with 22 points each, while Comment netted 14 for the losers.

Snover-Kingston

Kingston swept to a narrow victory over Snover behind a 20-point scoring effort by Bruce. The score was 52-46.

Gifford Chapter In Regular Meeting

Gifford Chapter OES held its regular meeting Feb. 19 with 39 members present. The meeting was conducted by Worthy Matron Mrs. Iva Profit and Worthy Patron John Marshall.

In the absence of Mrs. Carolyn Wilson, Gwen McLachlan gave the report of the committee who remembered the elderly and shut-in members during February.

The chapter voted a gift of money to be sent to the TB Association and also to remember Mrs. Ritter, who is being sponsored in the Masonic Home at Alma by Acme Lodge, Gagetown.

Vassar chapter is observing Friend's Night and has invited Gifford chapter officers, Esther, Ruth Freeman; Chaplain, Vada Wilson, and Ruth, to be named.

The officers of Gifford chapter and husbands will be entertained Mar. 13 by the Worthy Matron in the chapter rooms at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Louise Weiss, president of the Thumb Association, will be an honored guest Mar. 19 and the Past Ruths of Gifford Chapter will receive honorable mention.

Brown City chapter will entertain the spring rally of the Thumb Association April 6. Barbara McCallum, Joyce Moshier and Marjorie Karr were appointed on the entertainment committee for the occasion.

Mrs. Theodore Bryce, the former Maude Coulter, was granted her Life Membership certificate. A letter from Mrs. Bryce was read, which included a gift of money.

The February birthday committee served lunch in the dining room at the close of the meeting.

About the time the average man gets the world by the tail he goes into a tail spin.

Past performances are important, but it's today and tomorrow that really count.

$20,000 Would Liquidate My Bills

By Dave Kraft

I stopped in at Konrad's Bakery the other day and got to shootin' the breeze with Mr. and Mrs. Bakery . . . excuse me, Mr. and Mrs. Konwalski, the owners, and the subject naturally got around to money.

I felt obligated to point out as how I didn't have any and they told me about a deal seven or eight years ago when a certain TV emcee mentioned during his show that a deserving young couple had just gotten married and they didn't have a cent.

He asked all his viewers, which probably numbered several million, to drop the couple a letter, enclosing a nickel, dime or whatever. The upshot was that the couple ended up with over $20,000.

Now . . . you don't have to kick this old kid in the head to get the wheels moving and if they did it, why not me?

With no trouble at all, $20,000 would liquidate all my bills, if that's what you do with bills, and leave me with enough to start supporting my family and myself in the manner to which we'd like to become accustomed . . . for at least a week, if not eight days.

So I decided I'd tell my readers that I knew of a real nice couple who were really in desperate straits. The old man is running around with holes in his tennis shoes, the wife has to use her husband's old blades to shave her legs and their kid doesn't know where her next nickel for a candy bar is coming from even.

How's that for bad off? Then I was going to say, "Forget about income tax, state tax and county tax, buying that new car or that extra bag of groceries . . . these kids need it more!"

Then I'd top it off with, "Drop a dime in an envelope addressed to me, ALL my faithful readers, and I'll see that these two swell kids get it." Wouldn't that just about tear you up?

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

But wait! ALL my faithful readers . . . let's see, if I get 10 cents from each reader, by pure guesstimation, that comes to about 20 cents.

Now even with a "buyer's market", there isn't a heck of a lot you can do with 20 cents.

Art Randall, our venerable back-shop man, told me about a fellow that was adopted by a very rich man and when the adopted's father cashed in his chips, so to speak, he left the kid with the disgusting sum of $1,000.000.

Now . . . you don't have to kick this old wheel in the head to get his kids moving and from orphan to millionaire is a step in the right direction.

I figured I'd take myself off to the nearest orphanage and turn myself in. I'd tell them that I've lived a lie all these years, that I was born without parents and now I wanted to be adopted.

Just one thing held me back . . . who wants a 26-year-old orphan? With a wife and child? And broke?

It's been said that you have to work for what you get. Well, all I can say is: show me a rich man who's worked for everything he has, scrimped and saved, invested wisely, has watched the pennies and let the dollars take care of themselves . . . and I'll ask him for a loan.

Remember "J. J. H."? I got a letter from his wife the other day . . . she is a nice woman. She said I have a very refreshing sense of humor and write a very readable column and far be it from me to doubt her word.

I also got a letter from "J. J. H." He's just as mean and slanderous as he ever was. He made several disparaging remarks about my masculinity.

Just because I have long hair and a high voice is no reason to cast aspersions on my manliness . . . for goodness' sakes.

He answered my challenge for a rat shooting match with a watered down version of his own: "Yes this I would agree to. If your present employer would sponsor this event, proceeds to go to a charity (I will be kind) of your choice, I will accept the challenge. We will hunt them bare handed, within a prescribed course. The entire populace of Cass City would find them (alive) for this gala event. Think of the health implications. Do you accept my challenge, Mr. Kraft?"

The only implication I get from this is that you think Cass City is full of rats . . . you Gagetown-er, you. If you want to get nasty, I'll bet Gagetown has just as many rats as Cass City . . . so there.

My offer of a rat shooting match still holds . . . if the loud noise of a rifle shot frightens you, I'll hold my hands over your ears.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, told the fellers he has come up with a new idea that's liable to shake up the preaching profession all the way back to Moses.

He said he got this idea from listening to all them commercials on television. He allowed as how you don't sell nothing nowadays by talking about it, you just sing about it. He figgers if you can sell refrigerators, soap and automobiles with singing, he can sell religion the same way.

He said he could just see himself now, walking up in the pulpit humming a little interlude to his sermon. Then when he got everybody's attention, a couple guitars and a bongo drum would git the congregation in the proper groove. And just as soon as the congregation got to patting their feet real good, he'd start singing his sermon. He told the fellers he wasn't much of a singer but with this modern music it didn't make no difference, that most of it was just hollerin' set to music. And he reported he could holler real good.

He figgers his plan has got great promise fer the preaching profession. He says folks ain't too interested in what a preacher has got to say if he tells 'em the truth, and if he tells 'em the truth they'll run him off. This singing approach would solve all that, he claims. He wouldn't have to be saying nothing one way or the other, like politicians, so he could keep on winning friends and influencing people.

And he told the fellers he has got a trick up his sleeve in case the members git to noddin'. Ever few minutes he's going to have all the folks sing along with him. In fact, he says he's thinking about calling part of his sermons, "Sing Along With Parson" and give it to 'em with the down beat and all the trimmings.

And he reported that Rufe Zinder was on the rampage again Sunday. They was having the Men's Bible Class and Rufe ask to take the floor. The Parson said it was a mistake to give Rufe the floor, that from then on it was the Gospel according to Saint Rufe. It seems that Rufe was snorting about one of the schools has done away with a little prayer afore each ball game. He said he couldn't say nothing on account of Rufe would claim he was agin prayer, but he told the fellers he was again using prayer like perfume to sprinkle on everything that come along. He claimed he had saw politicians open a rally with prayer and then go out and accuse their opponents of stealing sheep.

The good Parson left a little early, said the Finance Committee was raffling off a steer and they had ask him to open the raffle with prayer.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

In these days of population explosion, we owe the greatest respect to the common cabbage for it is said to be the most productive of all green vegetables. Almost any soil climate will do, for it is not a fussy grower. In as little as three months' growing time, from seed to head, an acre of cabbage will yield a greater amount of green vegetables than any other plant.

It is a good, flavorful, healthful food and also an important protective food not only because of the vitamins and minerals it contains, but because of the more than 1.6 billion pounds (retail weight) of fresh cabbage we eat annually. Cabbage is an excellent source of Vitamin C. In general, the greener the cabbage the higher the Vitamin C content. Other nutrients, such as thiamine and iron, are obtained from cabbage in amounts valuable as supplements to other sources. Cabbage, in such a form as slaw, is also very good for bulk.

There are five distinct kinds of cabbage. The produce trade has named these the Danish, domestic round, pointed, red and Savoy types. The Danish is a solid, round-headed, late maturing cabbage. This is grown for the late fall market and for storage.

Domestic round is available all year, being grown in winter in southern areas and in more northerly areas as the weather warms. This is a looser, more tender cabbage with a flattened appearance. As might be expected, this more delicate head is not stored long.

Small, point-headed cabbage, weighing two and three pounds each, reaches the market as green cabbage about this time of the year. These are tender-leaved and quick-growing.

Savoy cabbage is the crinkly, bright green cabbage which stems quickly to crisp-tenderness and is delicious with melted butter.

Red cabbage has a red or purple color. It is delicious cooked with a sweet-sour dressing and is also used for slaws and pickled relishes. When cooked in alkaline water, it turns a queer blue, but if a few tablespoons of vinegar are stirred into the cabbage at the end of the cooking period, it promptly turns an appetizing red.

About 83 per cent of the total commercially grown cabbage is marketed fresh.

Now is the time to take advantage by using cabbage in your family meals because it is reasonably priced and it adds vitamins and minerals for health.

I find that at different seasons it pays for freezer owners to stock their freezers with meat products.

Meats are the center of many menus and meat in the freezer is a convenience to have available for ready use.

Meat prices change with the season. To really save money, buy meats in the season when their prices are lowest.

If you are making plans to stock your freezer with beef, you may wish to wait until a little later in the winter or during the early spring. Retail prices have declined some and should decline more. Expect to find more beef of high quality available this season than last.

The season for lowest pork prices should also occur late winter and early spring. Pork supplies will be somewhat greater throughout 1963 than last year.

Lowest lamb prices come during the winter, but this year prices will not dip as much as usual. If you have already purchased lamb for your freezer, you may be fortunate.

If you have space and use broilers often, consider buying them for your freezer in early 1963. Broilers are currently abundant and price is reasonable.

Will Thayer Stymie Bid for 4-Year Institution at Delta?

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Delta Dilemma

Saginaw Valley will have a four-year institution of higher education if a group of legislators get their way this year, but there is at least one stumbling block in the offing.

The group, headed by Sen. Lester O. Begick, Bay City Republican serving his first term in the Senate after two years in the House, has proposed a bill under which the state would establish a junior-senior year institution in the area now served on the freshman-sophomore level by Delta College.

Begick in the Senate and Rep. Russell H. Strange, R-Clare, in the other chamber are hoping Sen. Stanley Thayer, Ann Arbor Republican, will go along with their proposal.

Thayer, representing the home city of the University of Michigan, has something of a conflict where the bill is concerned.

University of Michigan officials have expressed an interest in supporting an upper-level two-year institution in the Delta College area. The plans have not progressed yet to the point where the University is ready to ask for state funds to establish the unit.

Residents in the Delta College area have been pushing for the creation of the full four years of higher education to be established in their area for several years now. Begick and Strange, along with a number of others who conducted a study last summer of the possibilities for offering the service, are anxious for action this year.

As majority caucus leader in the Senate, however, Thayer's voice is powerful. His ties with the U-M could pose a threat to the possibility of legislative action if the University maintains its hopes of establishing a two-year branch in the Valley area.

Some legislators, however, don't want to see U-M and other existing colleges start creating a "chain store" or "piggy back" system of branches throughout the state. A number of these are afraid the Legislature would lose what little control it has over the institutions if this were to occur.

On the other hand, there is keen competition within the universities to continue their growth and the "chain store" approach is seen as one of the few ways future growth can be assured.

Gov. George Romney has declined to express specifically his views on the U-M proposal as opposed to the legislative measure in the House.

"This is one of the policy questions in higher education which should be determined quickly," Romney said.

The Governor proposes to establish an advisory group, composed of between 40 and 50 persons, to determine what methods should be followed to best meet future needs of higher education. He said the group, to be appointed within a month, would take into consideration the facilities available in both public and private institutions.

Not So Sunny

Michigan teachers who seek overseas assignments with the idea they will find an ideal situation might get a surprise, according to those who know in the educational field.

It is true that assignments in the Overseas Dependent Schools operated by the Defense Department offer wonderful opportunities for teachers who want to travel in their spare time.

On the job, however, conditions are far from ideal, according to National Education Association information circulating to state affiliates.

"The schools attended by the children of military families are, in the horse-and-buggy era," while the military establishment is geared to an age of space exploration," said NEA Executive Secretary William G. Carr on the basis of a survey of the schools.

The survey disclosed shortages of supplies and current textbooks, lack of needed specialist personnel, an excessive teacher turnover rate, inadequate facilities in many locations, unsuitable housing at some posts and unprofessional salaries.

Money, of course, was seen as a way to solve many of the problems noted in the survey, Carr said. Michigan's Lynn M. Bartlett, Superintendent of Public Instruction, was among a group of six persons who toured the overseas systems last fall and wrote the report on which Carr based his warning to lower the teacher's dream of ideal conditions to reality.

Special Day

Michigan Week planners have called for recognition in each community of the local residents who have contributed most to the educational programs of the community.

Olivet College President Gordon Riethmiller, as chairman of "Education Day" on May 23, suggests special community awards, citations, dinners or programs to honor these individuals.

"In every community there are individuals who have contributed their time, energy, and wealth for many years in behalf of schools," Riethmiller said. "Such valuable services are often overlooked. This is why we are suggesting that Education Day be used to recognize and honor those who have contributed most in their communities."

Let the other fellow do your thinking for you, and you'll soon be doing someone else's work.
