Elkland Board Salaries Upped

From the Editor's Corner

Everything must have proceeded smoothly at the polls in Elkland township Monday. An inspector from the Secretary of State's office was on hand all day to supervise the voting at the town hall and we heard no reports of irregularities.

Today (Thursday) it's cheaper to call after 9 p.m. than it ever has been before. Station-to-station calls will cost $1 or less anywhere within the United States with the exception of Alaska and Hawaii.

In Michigan, a rate has been in effect that allows a station-to-station call within the State for 50 cents.

While station rates are down, person-to-person calls have been jumped from five to 10 cents for three minutes.

One organization that has died a "natural" death is the Home and School Council. With so many special meetings connected with the school in the past two years, local citizens were evidently worn out with school problems and the interest last year did not warrant the organization's revival in 1967-68.

There will be a new flasher at the railroad crossing on M-81. A meeting held with representatives of the village, State Highway Department, State Public Works Commission and rail officials this week quickly decided the issue.

One look by the authorities was enough. The flasher in Cass City is outmoded and a new one will be erected. Estimated cost to the railroad and the state totals about $8,000.

We slipped a decimal in last week's village tax story. New valuations will total $400 more in tax revenue, not $4,004 as reported. Assessor Mac O'Dell called the glaring error to our attention.

It was an open secret in Cass City that four FBI men were in the community for over a week keeping local banks under surveillance after receiving a tip that they were going to be held up.

Naturally, it caused a good deal of excitement, comment and guips in the village. This one, with many variations, was the one we liked best. If they come, I hope they take all of my notes and get away.

Don't Burn Brush Without Permit

Springtime is burning time and Thomas Bower, Michigan Conservation Department fire officer, Caro, is reminding area residents that they must have burning permits.

Bower announced that permits may be obtained from Elkland Fire Chief Al Avery or from the Caro conservation office.

He explained that residents must have permits to have an open fire for other than domestic purposes when the ground is not snow covered.

Bower also reminded residents not to burn trash or brush when the winds are high and to stay with their fires until completely out.

"If your fire gets out of control," Bower stressed, "call for help immediately."

District Forensic Meet at Millington

Five Cass City High School forensic students are slated to attend the District Forensic Contests Monday, April 8, at the Millington High School, at 4:00 p.m., according to Miss Evelyn Shields, forensics coach.

Students from six district schools are expected to compete in the tourney.

The Cass City students were winners of a recent intra-mural forensic meet.

Jaycee Easter Egg Hunt to Feature Parade, Prizes

Cass City's first annual Jaycee-sponsored Easter Egg hunt is slated to get under way Saturday, April 13, with a parade, according to Chris Schneider, chairman.

The parade, which will feature the Cass City High School Band, and children slated to take part in the hunt, will gather at the Richard Case residence, across from the Gulf Service Station at 10:00 a.m.

Schneider announced that $20.00 in cash prizes will be given to children who find special "prize" eggs worth $1.00 apiece. He reported that the Jaycees will hide over 700 chocolate eggs for the hunt.

He also stated that the hunt will be run in two groups, for pre-schoolers and for children in grades one through four.

The parade will travel through town to the Recreation Park for the hunt and then at the completion of the hunt will return for a partial parade through the town.

Kingston Area Schools to Annex

Two Kingston area schools are slated to vote on annexation to the Kingston School District in an election to be held Tuesday, May 14, according to William Scott, county superintendent of schools.

Voting on the annexation will be East Dayton School, Dayton No. 1, and Berry School, Wells No. 2.

Dayton school received permission from the county board to annex and the Berry district decided at a meeting Monday night to vote on the annexation.

East Dayton School district is evaluated at $450,000 and currently has 44 students in elementary grades and 20 students in grades seven through 12 already enrolled at Kingston.

Berry's evaluation is smaller, estimated at $300,000. The school has 30 students in the elementary grades and 10 in high school.

Other soloists entered in the proficiency division were Betsey Jones and Charles Iseler.

A brass quintet and a saxophone duet won I ratings and a woodwind quartet was rated II in ensemble competition.

Members of the quintet were Mick Pomeroy and Charles Peasley, cornets; Bob Spencer, trombone; Dick Stroupe, baritone, and Bonnie Spencer, tuba.

Iseler and Arlene O'Dell comprised the sax duet. Woodwind quartet members were: Sharon Profit, bass clarinet, and Ann Shepherd, Norma Austin and Carolyn Phelps, B-flat clarinet.

Rock Re-elected in Only Area Contest

All incumbent Novesta township officers were re-elected Monday in the area's only contested township election.

In the contested race for the clerk post, Henry Rock (R) defeated Francis Smentek (D) 132-69. A reported 205 persons voted.

Re-elected were: Gail Parrott, supervisor; Arthur Hartwick, treasurer; Walter Kelley, trustee; Leroy Kilbourn, board of review; Elmer Webster, highway commissioner; Arleone Retherford, health officer, and Kenneth Churchill, justice of the peace.

Area Persons in Minor Accidents

Two minor accidents involving area persons were investigated by Sheriff's deputies this week.

On Tuesday, a car driven by Don Swallow, Kingston, struck the open door of a car parked in the Wilmet Catholic Church parking lot.

Driver of the parked car was Adolph Eisengruber, 72, Unionville. Occupants in the Eisengruber vehicle were Mrs. Eisengruber, 53, Mrs. Dorothy McAlpine, 35, Caro, and her son, John, five.

Saturday night, a car driven by William Periso, 35, Deford, made a left turn into another car driven by Alden LaPointe, 31, Oakland.

The accident happened at the intersection of Cemetery Road and Delong Road. Occupants in the LaPointe car were Mary Francis, 37, Pontiac, and Don Cross, 45, Pontiac.

Let Contracts for Main Street Walks

A contract was signed with B and M Contracting, Inc. for new sidewalks and curb and gutter on Main Street from Seeger to West Street Thursday at the Municipal Building in Cass City.

B & M was the low bidder from among seven bids received. Their total bid was $12,212.50.

Firm	Sidewalk	Curb & Gutter	Total
B & M	$9,030.00	$3,182.50	$12,212.50
A. T. Barnes	9,675.00	3,220.00	12,895.00
Pat LaFave	9,675.00	3,392.50	13,067.50
R. J. Fox Construction	10,750.00	2,990.00	13,740.00
A. J. Rehms	10,750.00	4,025.00	14,775.00
P. E. Maxol	15,050.00	4,025.00	19,075.00
Michigan Curb and Construction	17,200.00	4,312.50	21,512.50

Good Prices
Most men in the field considered that the low bid was a good one for the village. The concrete for the sidewalks is figured at 42 cents per square foot and the curb and gutter at $2.75 per running foot. The bids were lower than the first bids received last fall.

The low bidder was accepted on the advice of the State Highway Department, who pays for all of the cost of the curb and gutter work.

Quick Work

Officials of B & M said Thursday that they would like to start the job as soon as possible. They set a target date of Monday, April 8, to start the work.

They said that if the weather is favorable, they would complete the entire job in two weeks. No store owner should have a sidewalk ripped up for more than three days, according to their estimate.

Share Cost

Property owners along Main Street will pay for half of the 42 cents per square foot that the sidewalk costs. In addition, they will pay for all of the first five feet which is not owned by the village.

Company authorities also said that they would work with store owners if new water services into buildings are needed while walks are ripped up or if work is needed around the various store fronts.

Erlas Discontinue Food Lockers to Expand Market

Dick Erla, co-owner of Erla Food Center, announced this week that the store was going out of the food locker rental business in order to have more space for the grocery business.

"We have appreciated our long association with many of our renters since buying the business in Cass City," Erla said. "However, our increased business makes it necessary for us to have more space devoted to retail grocery selling."

Erla said that remodeling work will start in about two weeks, as soon as present renters have emptied their lockers.

In addition to converting the locker space, Erla said that other improvements and enlargement of the store are planned.

Last Spring Election

Dems Gain in County Voting

Traditional Tuscola county voting patterns were upset Monday as 7,260 county voters went to the polls, spurred by the important New-Con balloting. Although the total represented just 39 per cent of the registered voters, it was considered adequate for a spring election.

The total vote was nearly the same at the total in the county two years ago when the issue of calling a constitutional convention brought 7,320 electors to the polls.

The new constitution passed in Tuscola county by less than a 500 vote margin. Voters cast 4,856 "yes" and 4,367 "no" votes.

Eighteen precincts passed the new constitution while 17 of the county's 35 precincts voted the document down. With the passing of the constitution, Michigan's Spring Elections passed into history and all future elections will be held in the fall.

Voters in the county failed to follow partisan lines on the adoption of the constitution as they did in calling a constitutional convention. Two years ago

Three Grass Fires Open Season for Elkland Firemen

Elkland township firemen opened their spring round of firefighting with three grass fires during the past week, according to reports from Fritz Neitzel, treasurer.

History repeated itself in the first fire Thursday, Mar. 28, in a vacant lot in back of the William Repshinska home on Pine Street. The fire was started by a spark from a trash burner, the same trash burner that caused the first grass fire last year on March 24.

Saturday, Mar. 30, a spark from a trash burner brought firemen to the Jason Kitchen farm six and a half miles southeast of Cass City. Neitzel reported that a large area was burned off.

The most recent fire occurred Tuesday afternoon at the A. F. Murray farm north of Deford when a spark from burning rubbish ignited grass in an adjacent field.

In other fire department news, names of six area men wishing to become auxiliary firemen were read into the record at the department meeting Thursday night. Three of the six were present.

Chief Al Avery announced that the department had been invited to attend the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday, April 9. Avery also announced that the department has several power-type bomb fire extinguishers for sale at cost. Five volunteer fire department training manuals were approved for purchase.

the GOP was against Con-Con and county electors faithfully voted four to one against calling the convention. This year the vote was nearly evenly split... a political phenomenon that occurred all over the state.

Democrats Gain
In other phases of the election, Democrats showed impressive gains. In Tuscola county voting, the GOP normally posts margins of four to one or five to one. Monday the edge was just slightly over two to one.

One reason for the change, many observers said, could be the fact the Arbelia and Millington townships and Vassar City had local contests to bring out the vote. All are Democratic strongholds in Tuscola county.

Supreme Court

Perhaps the most outstanding upset in county balloting was the heavy vote carried by a Democrat endorsed Supreme Court candidate.

Incumbent Justice Eugene Black polled 4,825 votes and was followed by Richard Smith, Republican endorsed candidate, with 4,656.

The other two candidates, Paul Adams and Donald Holbrook, received 3,097 and 3,358, respectively.

On a state level, Black and Adams won to give the Democrats a 5-3 margin in the Supreme Court.

Educational Ballot

Voting on the state level divided the education ballot's eight posts evenly between Democrat and Republican candidates.

Democrats named Lynn Bartlett Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Republicans evened the score by naming James F. O'Neill a member of the Board of Education.

University of Michigan Regents are Eugene Power (D) and William B. Cudlip (R) and MSU Trustees are Stephen S. Nisbet (R) and Don Stevens (D).

BULEN TALKS Cars

TIRE PRESSURES

One thing that makes us especially proud is the number of people who buy their first used car from us, let us service it, and then as they move up, come back to buy newer cars from us.

Take the simple little matter of keeping tires properly inflated. Tires that are overinflated wear out quickly in the middle of the tread. Underinflation is just as bad. It brings overheating which causes the layers of fabric inside the tire to separate.

Wandering and weaving on the road can be caused by underinflation, and a pull to one side can result from unequal inflation on the front tires or from not having matched treads. Under-inflated tires can cause a shimmy, too.

All this worry can be saved by nothing more complicated than checking your tire pressure. When you've been running around town, pressure should be no more than three pounds above the recommended cool pressure; on the open highway five pounds above is all right.

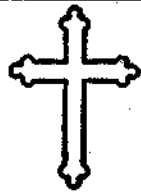

These are the important little things you'll learn by talking to the people on our lot and in our service department. When something really goes wrong, those mechanics have the machinery and the know-how to fix it. But like any good doctor, when nothing is really wrong, they'll tell you.

Thought For Lent

The writer of this Lenten meditation is completing his first year as minister of Cass City Methodist Church and this is the first opportunity we have had to present him in print.

Robert J. Searls
by Rev. James Braid

In the Upper Room on the night before He was to be crucified, Jesus said to His disciples, "One of you shall betray me."

The disciples each asked, "Is it I, Lord? Is it I?"

We find it all too easy today to think that what was said to the disciples several hundred years ago was just for them. We forget that Jesus confronts us today and says, "One of you shall betray me."

This carries deep implications for us, for our sins place our Lord on the cross today. The sins which sent Jesus to the cross are not peculiar to the first century. They are prevalent in every age and century.

As we observe those who were responsible for Jesus' crucifixion, we see ourselves.

There were the religious leaders who could not accept a new idea or a new truth. Jesus was a threat to their tradition. There were the commercial leaders who did not want the profitable traffic in the temple courts disturbed.

There was Judas who cared more for himself than for Christ. There was Pilate who could have freed Jesus but sentenced him out of political expediency. Mob psychology was at work too. A few of the leaders incited the crowds crying, "Crucify Him," and soon they were clamoring for his death. Even His trusted companions, the disciples, were afraid. They denied Him, forsook Him and fled.

The sins that drove Jesus to the cross were envy, revenge, the desire to get even, slander, moral weakness and pride. When these sins are repeated by us, they become the nails which we drive through Jesus' hands and feet today.

During this Lenten season let each one ask himself, "Am I the one who is betraying Christ?" He said, "One of you."

"Lord, is it I?"

Pitching Key to Hawks Title Hopes

If Cass City's young pitchers come through this spring, the Hawks will have to be rated as serious contenders for the Thumb B crown in baseball.

Coach Wayne "Speed" Wilson greeted 65 boys for the initial practice several weeks ago and there are still some 45 hopefuls seeking the nine available positions.

Judging by performances in past seasons, the team could be good defensively, but has yet to show a lot of power at the plate.

With the opening conference game about three weeks away, there is still plenty of chance for wholesale changes in the line-up. But judging by opening practice sessions, this is the way the starting nine could take the field against the Lakers.

A bellwether at shortstop will be Roger Karr, a senior. Teaming with Karr will be Junior Dave Stine at second and Junior Milt Sherrard at third base.

Junior Walt Hempton is expected to start at first.

The only pitcher with any game experience to speak of is Norm Sawicki, a senior. Sawicki pitched for the Hawks last season and posted a better-than-average year.

Another senior who is seeking a spot is Gary Kelley.

Sophomore Jim Champion, who hurled briefly last season as a freshman, could become the Hawk's top starter. He has a good arm, but lacks experience.

Waiting in the wings in case one of the starters falters is Al Wallace, freshman hurler who exhibits plenty of promise for future years.

The conference schedule:
April 22 ..... Lakers, away
April 25 ..... Frankenmuth, home
April 29 ..... Bad Axe, home
May 2 ..... Sandusky, away
May 6 ..... Vassar, home
May 9 ..... Marlette, away
May 13 ..... Caro, away

Appropriate gifts and cash awards are made available to contestants through the cooperation of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association of Detroit, the Vassar, Mayville, Deford, Flint, Sebawaing locals of the MMPA, and the McDonald Dairy Cooperative of Flint.

He is married to the former Darlene Wing of Unionville, who will receive her Master's Degree from MSU in June. Donahue interrupted his college studies for a stint in the Air Force Reserves and is currently a reservist. In area graduation news, Robert C. Bond of Marlette was also graduated from MSU with a BS degree in Community Relations. He is married to the former Oma Holik of Cass City and the couple have an infant son, Gregory.

Swine Producers to Tour Thumb Farms

Thumb swine producers have been invited to attend a three-stop swine tour Thursday, April 11, under the auspices of the County Extension Service.

Swine housing and feeding operations at the farms will be emphasized.

Stop No. 1 will be the Arnold Zverik farm, three and a half miles east of Richville on M-46 at 10:00 a. m. and from there the tour will go to the Wayne Adams farm, one mile west of Snover at 1:00 p. m.

Third visit will be at the Glenn Maust farm, four and a half miles west and five and a fourth miles north of Owendale.

The tour may be joined at any stop. Robert Hines, MSU swine specialist, will accompany the tour.

Geriatrics

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

Is old age really a disease? A state of mind? Or just a natural condition? Old age should be the best part of life. Family responsibilities have ceased to exist and many old people have acquired a competence and are free from financial worries. Still many are unhappy and time hangs heavily on their hands.

Helping those in need, taking more interest in children are of great assistance in warding off senility. Following the latest discoveries of science, becoming interested in people, civic, religion, politics, etc.

Perhaps the most prominent symptom of old age is a settling of the spinal column, it actually decreases in length from one to several inches, due to the thinning of the cartilaginous cushions between the spinal bones.

This condition greatly interferes with the flow of energy supplied by the spinal nerve to the various organs, greatly decreasing their efficiency. Spinal manipulations and adjustments are of great assistance to avoid diseases peculiar to the aged.

Plain, easily digested foods, small meals and more of them to avoid taxing the digestive organs, induce well being and promote restful sleep. Keep planning and looking into the future. This is the way to postpone old age.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. E. P. Lockwood whose office is located at Cass City. Tel. 872-2765). Adv.

Fire Carelessness Cost$ Plenty

April ushers in another dangerous wild fire season in Michigan as thousands of landowners take to their yards and fields to burn leaves and other debris. It's during this month and May that the costs of carelessness run particularly high, posing a serious threat to private property as well as public land values. Last year, wild fire damage to real and personal property (houses, barns, livestock, orchards, etc.) totaled tens of thousands of dollars with much of the toll caused by spring debris burning. Of some 6,265 acres damaged state-wide by fires in 1962, nearly 5,000 burned during April and May. Residents are reminded they must obtain a free permit at Conservation Department field offices or at local fire departments before starting open fires. A good "before-burning" rule calls for making sure debris is well out of the danger zone of buildings. Where and whenever possible, use a safe incinerator to burn debris. It doesn't pay to take chances.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation.

Village Clerk Bill Bridges announced that starting this week stray dogs found running in the village will be picked up and it will cost owners $5.00 to get them back. The fine is in accordance with a village ordinance.

Dogs not claimed within 72 hours of the time they are picked up will be destroyed. Persons with dogs missing may check with Police Chief Carl Palmateer for verification.

To Whom It May Concern:

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) is proving that at last the American farmers have an organization willing to battle for economic justice at the market place. The NFO has grown to a major farm group in a short time, and is continuing that growth at a rapid pace.

As long as farmers are willing to go to the market place and say "What will you give me?" everyone will be willing to let them do so.

Under such marketing procedures, farmers will never get a price in comparison with other segments of the economy.

Farmers can solve many of their problems within a few days' time when they make up their minds to use their bargaining power through the NFO collective bargaining program.

And every day, more and more farmers are looking to the NFO for the solution to their problems. The NFO plan is legal, effective, and fair. It's legal under the Capper-Volstead Act of 1922. Farmers actually have had the right to bargain collectively for 41 years - but never have used this right. It's fair because it leaves all the final decisions on price and marketing in the hands of the farmers who sign the NFO membership agreements.

The NFO is not connected with a Union. We are (farmers) businessmen getting together to price our products, just as other businessmen price their products and services.

In order for farmers to establish their bargaining power, they must first bring together a sufficient amount of the total production so that the present marketing system cannot fulfill their needs from other sources. Secondly, they must make their bargaining power felt. Thirdly, the ultimate objective must be to reach agreements with buyers of farm products which will stabilize prices and marketing conditions for producers and assure stability for the American family type farmers.

Opponents of the NFO have said that no processor would ever meet with NFO bargaining committees. Our committees have not only met with processors but we are continuing to meet with them and are signing contracts.

Contracts have been signed in the fields of meat, dairy and grain and greatly accelerated activity is in progress in each of these commodity departments by the NFO.

One of the most important of all accomplishments is the fact that the NFO has made the most valuable, extensive and thorough educational program ever presented in rural areas.

It has not only informed the farmers of what their problems are and how to solve them through a self-help program, but has informed the general public of the farmers' problem and has promoted a better understanding and better public relations between rural and urban groups.

All farmers are asked to gain information on NFO. Pricing our products is just as much our business as producing.

Sincerely,
Melvin P. Zubrod

To the Editor:

Tuscola County women are not alone in a battle they are waging to prevent passage of a bill in the Michigan House of Representatives.

It was with dismay and consternation that thousands of Michigan men and women learned last week of the passage of senate bill no. 1380. This bill would cut the budget of Michigan State University by $386,396. The 'powers that be' in the senate decided that the extension department should be the one to suffer, and bearing the brunt of the blow would be the women.

The thousands of women in Michigan who benefit from extension work are up in arms over this threat to a service which has been available for 40 years.

We feel that our senators have let us down by not putting up a fight in our defense. They permitted our program to be unjustly criticized and falsely represented. We deny the implication that our organization is primarily concerned with 'hobby-craft' and 'busy work.'

Home Economics Extension is concerned with both research and home-maker education. The family is the most important unit in American society. The culture of our society in this generation will be passed on to the next, in a large measure by the women of the family units. It would seem the price of the extension service is a small one to pay for advancement in world culture and understanding. It would be well for those in whom we have placed our trust by voting them into office to better acquaint themselves with the Extension Department.

If this bill is passed in the House and signed by Governor Romney it will affect not only the Home Economics Extension Service, but in some measure the 4-H clubs and Agricultural Extension work will also suffer.

The lives of most families in Tuscola County have been touched at one time or another by extension people. We are not standing idly by now while the department suffers irreparable damage.

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION

Basic purpose of vocational rehabilitation is to provide every handicapped person of working age with the services and opportunities necessary to achieve, to the fullest extent possible, the satisfaction of becoming a useful and productive member of society.

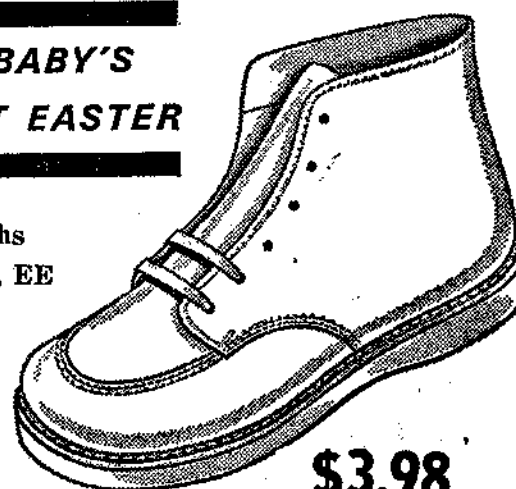

The effectiveness of a vocational rehabilitation program is dependent upon an organized and coordinated approach involving the state, community, and the federal government, according to the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation of the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The state contributes funds, personnel, administrative direction, and actual operation of the program; the local community, through its facilities and resources, contributes opportunities for the handicapped to utilize the various rehabilitation services, and the federal government contributes financial support on a matching basis, technical assistance, and national leadership.

Did you know that Home Economics Extension programs are available to all Michigan homemakers? There are 2,589 organized groups throughout Michigan with over 40,000 members. A survey showed that 1,200,000 Michigan people are reached through mass media, informal classes, agencies, institutions, organizations and professional with the help of 11,539 volunteer adult leaders who are trained by and work with 80 Home Economics Extension agents and specialists.

What does this program mean to the homemaker? The homemaker receives information through Extension that she cannot get from other sources outside the classroom. The information is unbiased. Often it is based on research, interpreted by home economists and related to everyday problems. This knowledge increases her ability to make wise decisions for herself and her family. The homemaker learns to judge and evaluate what she hears and reads on homemaking subjects.

Many homemakers have had no opportunity to study nutrition, parent-child relations, child development, what to look for when buying, how to figure cost of credit, etc. Extension helps her to continue her education in her own community. Homemakers want to know where to get answers they can depend on. Often they are not aware of this type of information.

These are a few of the opportunities for the homemaker who joins an Extension group or participates in a program that benefits her. Any homemaker in Michigan may call upon the Cooperative Extension Service for information, publications and other assistance. She may join an extension group in her community or get help to organize one. Any organization that wants to know how to benefit from a county program can contact an Extension group or the Extension office.

The Michigan Home Economics Extension Council is an educational organization for homemakers in communities throughout the state. This organization extends and strengthens county and state home economics family living programs of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. County program planning committees develop local programs based on current county situation and the needs of homemakers and their families.

The topics that will be taught in Tuscola county's home economics extension program next year will be: The Food and the People, Your Best Fit, Houses are for Families, Recognizing Quality in Crafts, Parent Relations with Older Youth, Married Children and Their Older Parents, Christmas Lighting, Meals for a Push Button Age, Your Challenge and Design as it Affects Your Home, Furnishings, Clothing, etc.

A special interest series on local government, as well as clothing construction and tailoring will also be offered.

This year Tuscola county home economics extension will be celebrating its 40th anniversary. It was started in September, 1923, in Fairgrove. At this year's Achievement Day there will be a special observation of this anniversary. Mrs. Myrtle Labbitt, women's editor of CKLW radio and TV, will be the guest speaker. This meeting is open to all Extension members as well as to all friends of home economics extension.

It is maple syrup time again. The sugar makers from Maine to Minnesota are busy tapping trees and collecting sap.

One of the oldest agricultural commodities, maple syrup is unique to this continent. Nowhere else in the world can sugar maple trees be grown.

According to the Vermont Department of Agriculture, maple syrup was discovered many years ago by an Indian squaw. One day as she was cooking venison in the clear sap of the maple tree, she accidentally let the liquid boil down until it formed a syrup. Instead of being angry, her husband was delighted with the taste. From then on, all of the Indians used maple sap and syrup as a sweetener. From the Indians, it was passed on to the white settlers.

Although maple production is considerably less today than it was in pioneer days, nearly 1,500,000 gallons are still produced annually.

For many years, Vermont led the country in production, but in 1962 New York took over first place. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, New York sugar makers turned out 519,000 gallons of syrup last year, while Vermont production totaled 441,000 gallons.

COMMENTS BY KRAFT

He's Level-headed But Very Excitable

By Dave Kraft

We firemen had our monthly meeting the other night. There was a time I couldn't say WE and I had to refer to firemen as "them."

I've always had a passing, or perhaps I should say, "a following" interest in fire departments. I spent many a pleasant hour following fire trucks in Everson, Wash.

Everson is a little village of about 300 persons some 20 miles south of the Canadian border. I lived there for about four years as the guest of my stepfather and mother. Nice town, nice people.

One thing I've learned. Firemen in Washington and firemen in Michigan and probably firemen everywhere, when not fighting fires, are no better than a peanut vendor's wares.

I remember this one fellow. He was in the auxiliary and one night at a meeting the chief was explaining insurance coverage for the auxiliary.

"As soon as you hit the fire hall, he explained, "you're covered."

A couple of days later, the fellow in the auxiliary smashed his car into the side of the fire hall. He had apparently taken the chief literally because when they asked him why, he said, "Well you said, 'As soon as I hit the fire hall...'"

Later on the department made him a member and then he found out he could make $75.00 a week in compensation if he got hurt while attending a fire.

The darn fool kept throwing himself in front of the trucks as they tore out of the fire hall. Seems he was only making $35.00 a week in good health.

He never got hurt, but I can name three places that burned to the ground while the department was busy dragging him from out of the path of the trucks.

This fellow used to be fond of fire that gave off a lot of smoke. The department used to have a small gas mask with a sponge inserted in the hole where the air came through.

The theory was that you wet the sponge with water and it cut down smoke inhalation.

Our friend used to wet it down with vodka. He was never much help in fighting the fires, but boy, did he have fun.

Shortly before I left town, they made him a chief and gave him a white hat. I don't think they made him chief because he was qualified, exactly. I think it was more that with a white hat he was easier to keep an eye on.

Well, I think I've about milked the poverty angle dry. Response to my tragic or perhaps pathetic tale of woe has fallen off to practically nill.

A reader from Caro sent me a white lead penny she was saving for a friend who, like me, hopes the price of money will go up and white pennies will make her a small mint.

The reader ended with this catchy line: "Keep up the good work (?) in your column Mr. Kraft for we surely enjoy your Kraft in having such a cents of humor."

I received a penny and a Look magazine savings medallion made out of aluminum and virtually worthless from Cindy Marshall, third grader. Cindy was home with the flu when she wrote the letter. She explained that the medallion was a "pretend quarter."

She ended with, "I hope you get rich quick." I think she's been talking with my wife.

With the two cents, I've reached an all-time high of $1.87. This leaves me $19,998.13 short of my goal, but I'll let you in on a little secret.

The pleasure I derived from all the wonderful and whacky replies was well worth the difference. Thank ya.

We spent most of Sunday afternoon at the Saginaw Municipal Airport or James Airport, whichever you prefer, with Jack and Penny Smith.

Jack is in charge of the lab at Hills and Dales General Hospital. He is relatively calm and collected. He strikes me as the type of person, who, if you were hanging from a cliff by your fingernails, would light up a cigarette, survey the situation, and then, just as your fingernails gave out, would pull you to safety.

He is a radio bug and a model airplane enthusiast. Get him around radio-controlled airplanes and his calm and collected becomes nervous and shattered.

I'll tell you how nervous he is. This one guy forgot to turn on his receiver switch and, consequently, he had no control over his airplane.

The plane started taxiing into the wind and the fellow worked feverishly with the controls, trying to get it off the ground. Nothing.

The plane gathered speed and headed for a beacon stand next to a fence post. The plane has an eight-foot wing span and there was about eight and a half feet between the beacon and the post. It breezed right between them with inches to spare. Gaining more speed, it continued on toward the spectators and their parked cars.

The propeller had a bullet-shaped cap on the front and as the plane rolled along, it weaved back and forth as if trying to decide which car to drive its little self into.

Finally, it decided on a big, new, steel-gray Cadillac and straightened out. About 10 yards from the car, it hit a bump and nosed into the ground.

All the time this was going on, I was jumping up and down and screaming and holding my head. It was nothing compared to Jack's exhibition. . . he got so excited he couldn't move.

If there's anything I can't stand, it's a man who displays a level head when mine is rolling around on the ground.

As if the planes weren't bad enough, pretty soon the sky was filled with sky-divers. Those are the jokers who jump out of airplanes, make like gliders for awhile and then pull their chutes.

It got pretty hectic for a minute. Big planes taking off, little planes coming in, sky-divers dropping out of nowhere.

I swear, if one of those sky-divers ever landed on you, he'd drive you right into the ground.

Those who learn from their own mistakes are learning something new all their lives.

Parochial School Bus Aid Bill Draws Little Debate

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Basier Buses

One of the most potentially controversial pieces of legislation proposed in the current session received only limited debate.

Some 27 Senators signed as co-sponsors of a measure to require school districts which provide bus transportation to public school students to offer the same service to students in non-public institu-tions.

Fast becoming known as the "parochial school aid-bus bill," the measure faced little opposi-tion in the Senate since it is rare when a member signs as co-sponsor unless he plans to sup-port a bill.

One Senator described the probable action on the bill as a parallel to the controversial Sat-urday-Sunday closing law enacted last year with almost no floor debate. This measure now is be-ing sharply challenged in the courts.

Discussion about the school bill is expected to be limited in the House with the main oppo-sition built upon the financial as-pect.

Gov. George Romney kept relatively silent on the measure al-though he indicated when it was introduced he considered it "a reasonable idea" to provide equal services for all school children if the service did not cost the state too much.

During his campaign last year, however, Romney reportedly gained considerable support from selected church units by saying he would endorse such a proposal. Surprisingly some of the strong-est opposition, at least from out-side the legislative halls, comes from church groups which would stand to gain considerably if the bill was enacted into law.

The Seventh Day Adventist Church emphatically opposed the measure as a violation of the guarantees in the Federal Con-stitution of the separation of Church and State.

The Michigan Council of Churches' board of directors took a similar stand on the proposal. "We are committed to the principle that the choice of schools for children should be determined by their parents," the Council board said. "We feel also that non-public schools and the parents involved must underwrite the cost of such institutions."

Going to the Dogs

The State Police is doubling its canine corps which is used in un-usual circumstances. Five new trooper-dog teams will be added. Initiated in 1961, five teams are now assigned to department posts at East Lansing, Ionia, Jackson, Houghton Lake and Marquette.

Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said the decision to expand the dog unit program was made be-cause of the extremely high rate of success in using the officer-dog teams for searches.

To date, all the dogs have been donated. The recent call for dogs to use in the expanded program brought 150 offers, Childs said. Five were selected for the 14-week training program and an-other 30 will be kept in reserve to serve as replacements if needed during the training period. Plans call for the new teams to be assigned to the northern, western, eastern, east central and southern areas of Lower Michigan.

Costs Vary

Did you ever wonder how much the roads on which you drive cost? The State Highway Depart-ment has the answer, but it is much more complicated and dif-ficult than the question might im-ply.

The most expensive roads in Michigan costs about 150 times as much as the least expensive. The most expensive, of course, are the freeways through cities. In downtown Detroit, for example, a freeway will cost up to $15 mil-lion per mile.

On the other end of the scale is the two lane route out in the country, which costs about $100,000 a mile.

In terms of cost, however, the per-mile figure does not always compare on two different routes. Highway Department spokesmen note that in terms of moving people, the most expensive roads are frequently the cheapest.

The $15 million freeway mile in Detroit carries about 125,000 vehicles daily, meaning the sec-tion cost $122-a-mile per car. Ap-plying the same formula to the $100,000 two-lane stretch in a rural area, which may only carry 200 cars a day, provides a per-car cost of about $500.

Department officials are quick to point out that these figures in themselves are rather meaning-less, but the 4-1 ratio is an im-portant figure. Current depart-ment estimates are that every dollar spent on a heavily traveled freeway gives about four times as much service as a dollar spent on a lightly used rural route.

Holiness Meeting Slated at Bad Axe

The Huron-Tuscola Holiness Association will meet Friday, April 5, at the Bad Axe Nazarene Church, according to E. S. Sipes, secretary.

The afternoon meeting will be held at 3:00 p.m. and the evening meeting will be at 8:00 p.m. Workers are Larry and Pat Neff. A fellowship potluck meal will be held between services. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service.

A business meeting will follow the evening meal.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ole Patrick Henry told some of our ancestors if he couldn't git liberty to give him death. I was just setting here reading the papers and studying my lat-est literature from the Depart-ment of Agriculture and wonder-ing if ole Patrick could stand the kind of liberty we got now.

Fer instant, this Washington column writer says national, state and local taxes will take 34 cents of ever dollar earned by the American people in 1963. In 1929, he says, these taxes was taking 11 cent.

This column writer claims tax-es has got so high they has give rise to a brand new perfession in this country, the "tax avoid-ance" experts. He allows as how a field of experts as big as the legal perfession has sprung up that don't do nothing but special-ize in finding legal loop holes fer avoiding taxes. He told about one big manufacturer that hires six of these tax avoidance boys full time. The manufacturer ex-plainated that it pays better, after you reach a certain point, to find ways of gitting out of taxes than it does to earn more income fer the company.

And I ain't got much faith in this campaign they got going now to cut taxes. What they take off here they'll put on there, and by 1964 the tax take will be up an-other two cents on the dollar. I agree 100 per cent with that new car bumper sticker they say is go-ing around the country: "A Vote Fer Anybody Is A Vote Fer More Taxes."

And they was a couple dis-turbing items in my dosage from the Department of Agriculture this week. First off, they was a small item announcing that the price of elephants has doubled since 1952 and was climbing all the time. When that item gits in the newspapers and folks starts hoarding elephants things will git pritty crowded.

But the most serious item was about them science fellers at the University of Wisconsin hitting on a discovery in wheat culture that might produce 100 to 150 bushels to the acre. About the best you can git now is 40 to 50 bushel. We already got Gov-ernment wheat stored from Alca-traz to the Statue of Liberty and if the yield gits up to 150 bushels a acre it could cause a national panic. It looks like them science fellers would spend their time working on the necessary items, somepun like gasoline that'll give 150 mile to the gallon, or a woman's hat that would last from Christmas plum through Easter. But, like Franklin Roosevelt said, abundance is our biggest asset, and I reckon that includes taxes and wheat!

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

C. A. Donahoe, 78, Dies in Florida

Services were held Tuesday for Clarence A. Donahoe, 78, Caro, following his death Thursday, Mar. 28, in Bradenton, Fla., where he had been spending the winter. He had been in ill health for the past two weeks.

Mr. Donahoe, a prominent retired Caro farmer and father of Dr. H. Theron Donahoe of Cass City, was born May 13, 1884, at Munnith and came to Tuscola county as a child.

He married Grace Robinson in June, 1903, and the couple celebrated their 59th anniversary last year.

Surviving, besides his wife, are: three sons, Dr. Donahoe, and Paul and Jack Donahoe, both of Caro; a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Schaffer, Caseville, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Park, St. Paul, Minn. Also surviving are five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Rev. Len L. Latham, Caro Presbyterian Church pastor, officiated over the services and interment was in Almer Cemetery.

There is ample proof that it costs more to live today than ever before, and any fair-minded person will admit it's worth it.

Book Review
"The Prize" - Be Sure and Read It!

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

At last we have a hallmark on this column! We are reviewing this week the third book by the same author - Irving Wallace. You will remember The Chapman Report and The Twenty-Seventh Wife from his pen (as well as some earlier novels). He seems to have settled down to a style - doing a great deal of research until he has the feeling for a subject and then placing a story in the center of it, realistic, but of his own creation. I have only one objection to THE PRIZE - its length. I had a feeling that what was issued was his first draft and when he wanted to add some experimental phrases he did so with the thought that he could always take them out - but he never did! There is one chapter, for example, where the style of quotation is completely different from anything I have ever seen - and rather confusing, but it is just one chapter in length.

The plot is completely original as far as I can recall. One year's Nobel awards and the ceremonies that surround them take up the setting. Extensive looks into the lives of the winners, and especially their "feet of clay," make the plot (or plots) to add to the setting. This could make dull reading but it does not.

The plot technique is quite simple - we are introduced to the winners of the Nobel prize for one year and then to something about them that "brings them down" to the reader's level. The struggle of these great people and their eventual triumph makes the book come alive - all 768 pages of it!

If you have ever wondered how the winners of these prizes are chosen, you are now let in on the secret. Long narrative paragraphs contain much real history of the prize - given each year that the awards committee can find worthy recipients. The award includes a large cash prize along with other benefits! Recipients have included Cordell Hull, secretary of state under Franklin Roosevelt; Albert Schweitzer, famed missionary doctor, among others.

The book's jacket lists the participants more briefly than I could possibly do, so let me quote it to introduce the main personnel in the book: a Wisconsin writer afraid he is not worthy to win the Prize; a refugee German physicist, haunted now by choices made during WWII; a brilliant but neurotic heart specialist who is forced to share his prize with an Italian doctor whom he detests (the resolution of their differences late in the book is especially clever plot-work); a man and his wife from Paris win an award in chemistry - these are the major characters.

These are supported by minor characters well defined and - in the main - believable. We see how the war (WWII) still casts its shadow over Europe, and can be thankful not to live as they do.

Near the conclusion, Wallace describes a heart transplant in a human being and a few other miracles that, clearly, he believes will happen. This book is well-written, exciting reading - but we hope that the author be willing not to share all he knows of a subject in his next novel - and I will review it.

By all means get this book and read it if you have time for long but good fiction mixed with history and some truth.

THE PRIZE by Irving Wallace, Simon and Schuster, New York, 1962; available from Cass City and Elkland Township Library.

Honesty is always the best policy - and it looks especially good when it comes home to roost.
