Air Force Sergeant Recalls

I Heard Riots But Never Saw Them

A four-cylinder Volvo, a set of beer mugs, a "Berlin Island Association" wall certificate, a Russian newspaper and vivid recollections of his tour of duty at the "Wall" are what remain for Sgt. John B. Cooley of Owendale after three and a half years in Berlin.

Allied planes shot down in the eastern sector, miraculous escapes and trouble at the wall are stamped in his memories.

"I never got close to the riots at the wall, although we could hear them at the air base," Cooley said. "Keeping the peace on the ground was the army's job and we left it strictly to them."

In the air though, it's a different story, the sergeant recalled. My job was in aircraft control warning and in the time I was there more than one allied plane was lost over the eastern sector and shot down.

But the Russians sometimes slipped. I remember a time when two American pilots were lost and wandered in the Russian sector for over half an hour. We picked them up on our scope and got them back home... but in the whole time they were in the prohibited area they were not picked up by Russian radar. They must have appeared in their scopes, Cooley said, but were probably thought to be friendly planes.

Takes Paper

Cooley picked up his Russian paper while on an approved trip from Helmstedt to Berlin. "I saw them lying there and asked the Russian guard at the check-point

Village Can Be Thankful, Says Lee Rabideau

Village President Lee Rabideau said that Cass City has much to be thankful for after he returned from Reading Wednesday, May 22, as a visiting mayor to that community.

Although Cass City has its problems, Rabideau said, Reading has many more. Its streets are in poor condition, it has few storm sewers and very inadequate sanitary sewers, he explained.

The only bright spot in the picture in Reading is the school system. It's newer and better than ours and is especially impressive when compared to the advancement of the rest of the community, Rabideau explained.

Evidently there isn't much of a municipal building in Reading, as the Councilmen showing Cass City's president around the community refused to show him the council rooms because they were in poor condition.

"The community had not taken any progressive steps in many years," Rabideau said, "but now some younger men are taking over and trying to revitalize the community. It appears to me that the town is at the crossroads.... either it grows and progresses or dies."

Sad Note

My trip didn't get off to a very good start, Rabideau reported. As I was hurrying towards Reading to make my morning appointment, a little crossroads town had set a speed trap and I was soaked $25 by the justice there.

The police department at this tiny town has a police car better than that of Cass City's, he said, and it must have been paid for by passing tourists who paid the same sort of fines that I did.

Retailers Plan Free Movies

There will be a free show for children every Friday night in Cass City for the 13 weeks of summer, it was decided Friday at a special meeting of Cass City retailers at Martin's Restaurant.

Also featured in the show will be drawings for silver dollars by the children. The shows will be held at the Cass Theatre and will be the regular week-end picture showing at the theatre, not an "oldie" brought in for the occasion.

The free show will be limited to children 12 years old and younger.

One Ticketed in Two Minor Village Accidents

Two minor property damage accidents were investigated this week by Police Chief Carl Palmatier.

Tuesday morning, cars driven by Ann Elizabeth Bassett, 28, and William Mark McCarty, 16, of Tyre collided at the corner of Main and Oak streets.

McCarty, driving west on Main, attempted to turn north onto Oak street. While turning he failed to stay on his own side of the road and hit the car driven by Mrs. Bassett, travelling south on Oak street.

The Bassett car was damaged on the left side and the McCarty vehicle smashed on the left front fender.

It was McCarty's second accident within the year. He was ticketed for failure to have his car under control.

Saturday Accident

Cars driven by Miss Willa Toner, 29, of Detroit and Mrs. Myrtle Galloway, 69, of Cass City collided Saturday on Main street, near the Leach street intersection.

The accident occurred when Miss Toner backed from the curb into the path of Mrs. Galloway. Fenders of both cars were damaged.

Three Damage Cases Filed in Circuit Court

A pair of accident damage cases were transferred from Wayne County Circuit Court for trial in Tuscola county this week and a new damage case filed against Jack Lapeer of Cass City for an accident that occurred in Cass City Dec. 25, 1962.

Lapeer is being sued by Roy W. Baslock for $732.37 for damages to a car in an accident on M-81 near the west village limits of Cass City.

The cases transferred from Wayne county seek a total of $75,000 in damages against the H. R. Hyde Co. from the results of an accident that occurred in Sept. 1959 on M-24 near Caro. A Hyde Co. truck driven by Louis Muska was involved in the accident.

Seeking the money are J. Gilewski, who asks for $25,000, and Josephine Gilewski, who is asking for $50,000.

Pursue Urban Renewal

The Cass City Village Council gave a quick okay to a request by the village improvement committee for a representative of the Federal Government to come to Cass City to discuss urban renewal of the village's Main Street. The action was taken at the regular meeting of the council Monday evening.

The reason for calling in the Federal representative is to find out whether Cass City qualifies for any phase of the renewal program.

The council was told by George Clara, who represented the improvement committee at the meeting, that the representative would come to Cass City without expense to the village.

Under urban renewal, the government pays 75 per cent of removing blighted property in approved "project" areas. The plan must be initiated by the village council.

ONE OF THE OLDEST traditions in Cass City is the placing of flags on the graves of veterans in Elkland township cemetery for Memorial Day. The practice was started 50 years ago by Ed Brotherston, a GAR veteran and Cass City resident. Brotherston bought the first flags and erected them on the few veterans' graves in the cemetery. Later he was assisted by the Boy Scouts, who took over the job for many years.

In recent years the work has fallen on the shoulders of Charles Bigelow, cemetery caretaker, who took over the job because there was no one left to do it. "I don't know if this picture is a good idea or not," Bigelow said. "I may get in trouble because I missed a veteran's grave. There are between 150 and 160 veterans buried here and we try to have a flag on each of the graves. There may be some veterans I don't know about, but be assured that none is ever intentionally missed." (Chronicle photo)

From the Editor's Corner

It will be easy to tell members of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department anytime after Memorial Day.

On the holiday, department personnel will receive new wide-brimmed straw hats for summer wear. The hats are a natty brown and match the uniforms.

A carload of seniors from Caro High School celebrated skip day by driving around the schoolyards at Cass City and Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port before heading for the school picnic at Caseville. The sheriff's departments of Tuscola and Huron were notified, but the misdeeds overlooked.

In Caro, the senior skip day replaces the senior trip. Caro seniors do not take a trip and Millington High has also abandoned the practice. Lapeer sent only about 35 students on its trip from a class of some 220 and school authorities there say it will probably be the last junket in Lapeer.

Too costly is the reason most often given for student lack of participation in the trips.

The Tuscola County Advertiser should be taking their auto safety editorials to heart.

This week a deer ran in front of a car driven by Copublisher James Gallery and caused considerable damage to his car.

The paper's advertising manager, Martin Heim, was involved in a serious accident north of Bay City on US-23 Friday. He suffered fractured ribs and is hospitalized. A year or so ago News Editor Rudy Petzold was involved in a car accident and hospitalized for several weeks.

Cass City Schools received a $5 check from L. W. Tiedgen of Caro. At the regional track meet, he lost a coin purse with small change in it. One of the coins held a great sentimental value to Tiedgen.

He writes that the purse had no identification, yet was turned in at the school and subsequently returned. Tiedgen wrote, "To me it just further bears out what we who associate with our youth already know, that, basically, we have the finest young people our country has ever known."

Amen.

$9,347 In Grants

Scholarships Help Seniors to College

About 31 per cent of the graduating class of Cass City High School plan to continue their education at universities, colleges or specialized training institutions, it was revealed this week by Arthur Holmberg, principal.

Of the 104 graduates, 32 have indicated that they will continue in school. Many of the seniors were helped financially by scholarships. A half of the students with "B" or better average (the usual requirement for scholarships) have received grants.

Valuable Grants
Jim Seals, counselor, reports that scholarships have a total value of $9,347.

For the first year, the grants are $2,803.00, plus $1,800 in loans and guaranteed employment. If the scholarships are renewed over the three or four-year periods that they are available if marks are maintained, they are worth the $9,347.00.

Eighteen students maintained a "B" average in high school and all but three will enter college. Amelie Claus, one of the three is an exchange student and will probably take college training at her home in Sweden.

Central Michigan University leads the list of schools granting scholarships with 10 grants. Michigan State University is second with seven. Others are well scattered.

The students and the schools are:

Central Michigan University
Carol Dodge, Carol Fritz, Bill Hutchinson, Roger Karr, Sherry Law, Sandra Retherford, Dean Rienstra, Dennis Rienstra, Gerald Ross and Charles Seelye.

Memorial Day Program Set

Residents are reminded that the annual Memorial Day parade and program has been scheduled for Cass City.

The annual parade will start at the corner of West and Main street at 10:30 a. m. The paraders will march to Elkland Township Cemetery where memorial services will start at 11 a. m. The Rev. Fr. Arnold Messing will give the address.

Supervisor Ed Golding and Councilman Barney Freiburger were cochairmen for the event.

Cost Estimated at $25,000

Must Replace School Boiler

Cass City Public High School will have to spend an estimated $25,000 for a new boiler before school starts next fall. The ancient coal fed, steam unit that heated the school blew apart Wednesday, May 22, closing the high school and ending its usefulness.

Louis Wright, head custodian of the school, said that the trouble stemmed from low water in the boiler and two faulty gauges that failed to operate.

The boiler was rigged with an automatic low water feed and an automatic fire cutoff, but neither operated. All the gauges registered normal, but they weren't, Wright explained.

The resultant heat pulled the stay bolts through the crown sheet (top) of the furnace and damaged 10 of the flues.

There is no chance of repairing the units, Wright flatly declared.

We have had the holes in the boiler welded and are now operating on water vapor rather than steam. If pressure were built up, the furnace would blow apart again, Wright explained.

An inspector from the state is due June 5 to check the boiler and there is no doubt in the minds of any authorities that the unit will be condemned.

The Cass City School Board had informally been pricing new boilers and one estimate they received was for $25,000 for an oil burning unit.

The boiler is part of the original equipment in the 87-year-old school. But it had been inspected every year and was given an unqualified okay in September of 1962.

Board members were probably more concerned about the stoker

Albrant Pays $105 Fine In Justice Court

Isaac H. Albrant of Caro was found guilty of disorderly conduct before Justice Remy M. Little in Cass City this week. He was arrested by Chief Carl Palmatier at the New Gordon Hotel. Albrant was creating a disturbance and refused to leave when ordered to do so. It was the second arrest in 10 months on disorderly charges for Albrant. Monday he paid a fine and costs of $105.35.

In another disorderly conduct case, William A. Choate of Cass City pleaded guilty and paid fine and costs of $30.35.

Speeding Ticket
Richard Griswold of Sebewaga paid a $27 fine and costs after he was ticketed May 20 for driving 50 miles per hour in a 25-mile-per-hour zone.

Finally Settles
Daniel H. Keyser of Tyre paid fine and costs of $19.48 before Justice Little to settle a speeding ticket.

The ticket was issued by Sheriff Hugh Marr for speeding on M-81. Keyser failed to answer the summons and was arrested by Sanilac county sheriff's officers for the Tuscola department.

Poppy Sales Net $401.54 in Three Days in Village

Cass City residents joined 20 million other Americans Thursday, Friday and Saturday to honor the nation's war dead by buying poppies from members of the Cass City American Legion Post and the Legion Auxiliary.

The volunteer workers collected $401.54. Top salesman was Vern McConnell who sold $118.60 worth. Second best salesman was Stanley Wojtowicz.

Junior members accounted for $71.12 of the collections. Peggy McConnell was tops in the class with receipts of $28.37. Dorothy and Carol Tracy accounted for $21.68 and Gloria Stine, $17.07.

Of the total collected, $67 was paid for the poppies made by disabled veterans in VA hospitals. It is truly a large program. Last year Michigan employed 138 than the furnace. Each year since the addition of the shop rooms to the high school, the stoker has been running at more than its capacity... and yearly integral parts of the units have been burning out.

When it was repaired before school started this year, the company said that all parts were out of production and it would be the last time they could furnish parts. Representatives said that it was the only stoker of that type in use that they knew about, Wright explained.

Money for the new furnace was one of the items listed by the board in its request for a mill and a half special tax for capital improvements at the school.

Speakers Set for Seniors

Cass City commencement exercises will open Sunday, June 2, when the Rev. S. R. Wurtz, pastor of the EUB Church, will feature the baccalaureate program with an address entitled "Your Next Big Step."

The 105 seniors represent one of the largest classes in the history of the school. They will probably be hearing the final address that Wurtz will be making to the graduates of Cass City as he has been assigned to the Gilford church.

Graduation

The seniors will conclude their high school careers with the graduation program Thursday, June 6. Austin J. Buchanan, director of admissions at Central Michigan University, will give the address.

Austin J. Buchanan
Buchanan received a Master of Education degree this year from Harvard University. He graduated from Central Michigan in 1940.

Buchanan taught in Holland Junior High; was a pilot for four and a half years in World War II, and served as a teacher, counselor, track coach and principal of Holland High School from 1946-57.

He left Holland to take his present position at CMU.

Rice-Gee Building Two Plants for Area Industries

Evans Products Co. of Gagetown will more than double its plant area when a 120-foot by 252-foot addition, under construction by Sherwood Rice Jr. of Gagetown and Bruce Gee of Cass City, is completed.

Rice and Gee have purchased the original Evans plant building of 20,000 square feet from the Gagetown Development Corporation and are leasing this building, together with the 30,000-foot addition, to Evans. The builders said that the new addition would also contain company offices.

Bassett Building

The addition at Gagetown is one of two currently under construction by Rice and Gee. The other is a building to be leased to Bassett Manufacturing Co. The building is 80x120 feet and is located in the industrial section of Cass City on Garfield street.

Council Okays Ambitious Summer Recreation Program

The Cass City Village Council has hired four adults and will attempt to run the most ambitious park program in history this summer, according to the program revealed by Trustees Harold Guinther and Jerome Root Jr., the village's park committee.

Working will be Eli Holes, Mrs. Richard Case, Wayne Wilson and Orlie Lemanski.

Holes and Mrs. Case will operate the same type program as they have in previous years... catering to the small fry with a variety of games and events.

It is under the direction of Wilson and Lemanski that the big change is expected.

Wilson will be the administrator at the pool and supervise the tennis courts and adjacent area. Lemanski will run the Little, Pony and Babe Ruth leagues and be playground supervisor.

For their efforts, the two men will each receive $12 per day.

The park committeemen stressed that the two men were hired to make a park program and said that they were assured that they would get one.

The coaches said that they have plans for a complete program for every age group, including competition with nearby communities.

Presently they are arranging the details of the program and will announce it in the near future.

Ellis Tells Zonta Of Wildlife Refuge

Federal Conservation Officer John Ellis, who works at the wildlife refuge at Saginaw Bay, explained his conservation work to members of the Cass City Zonta Club Tuesday, May 21, at the New Gordon Hotel.

Illustrating his talk with slides, he explained that there are 350 refuges in the United States, including two in Michigan. One is in the Upper Peninsula and the other where he works.

The refuge is primarily for birds... each spring five to six thousand whistling swans stop on their flights north. None nest in Michigan. Only the mute swan raises a family in Michigan.

Ellis reported that the refuge abounds in game. Skunks, rabbits, muskrats, fox, owls, deer and ducks are commonplace. Most of the ducks are river ducks. There are also snow geese.

Fowl are trapped and branded. Data is recorded and the birds released. Some are dyed for easy identification where they nest. The conservation department last year tagged a bird that ordinarily nests in Asia and India. It hasn't been observed since released.

Most of the cost of operating the refuge, Ellis said, is building of dikes. Muskrats are the number one pests in a fowl marsh. Too many will ruin a refuge.

Fox are not a problem and deer are reduced when they become too numerous.

Ellis told of one experiment where birds were held as long as two years and when released kept coming back.

ONE OF 74 FOREIGN STUDENTS to spend the week end in Tuscola county was Leon Mwambai of Elizabethville, Katanga, in the Congo. He visited with Mr. and Mrs. Chloris Pomeroy who live on a farm east of Cass City. (Chronicle photo)

Area Farm Families Help Fete 74 Visiting Foreign Students

What started as a small project of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau Women mushroomed into the largest of its kind and the Cass City area was an integral part of the program, Mrs. Clare Carpenter, program co-ordinator, announced this week.

Originally, only about 15 students were expected but when the call went out at the Ecumenical Campus Center, the Protestant foundation for international students at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, 74 students and their families signed for the trip.

They traveled by bus to Mayville school where 40 host families were waiting to take them to their homes.

Guests from Japan, Korea, Turkey, Israel, the Congo and many other countries started to learn first hand about rural life in America. They arrived Friday and stayed until Sunday when the Mayville school bus returned them to Ann Arbor.

Year-Around Program

Plans now call for the program to be continuous under the direction of the county committee. Invitations will be extended for visits by students and foreign visitors and requests processed by the committee.

Area Participants

Many homes in the area were hosts to the guests. The Carpenters entertained Chung MoChung and Seong Bang of Korea. Mr. and Mrs. Rinerd Knoblet's guests were Mr. and Mrs. El-Shandwily and daughter from Egypt.

With the Alfred Goodalls were David Mayliou and Jean-Marie Adana from the Congo. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Law entertained Miss Minako Ito and Miss Reiko Ishii of Japan.

At the Ellwood Eastman home were Jose Monterrey and Jose Duran from El Salvador, while the Edward Goldings entertained Gustavo Bredex of Mexico. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bruce were Pomilio Perez Dazo and Ivan Troconis of Venezuela. The Chloris Pomeroy's guest, Leon Mwambai, is a Methodist minister who is studying English before continuing his education at Baldwin-Wallace Institute.

Blueprint of Your Future

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood
The condition of your spine is the blueprint of your individual future. Your Chiropractor can tell you whether you can look forward to a jaunty 75 or whether you will be miserable at 40. It's entirely a matter of whether your spinal parts are exactly in the place nature meant them to be. If, however, your spine sags beyond its normal position and spinal bones are out of their correct position, don't be surprised if you suffer with some chronic ailment. Misalignment is as bad in the human machine as it is in any kind of delicate machinery. It is particularly bad in a human body because the vital central station and switchboard of the nerve system are encased in the vertebral column.

Nature has a miraculous way of righting itself, once sags and constrictions are removed from the spine. Conditions such as backache, neuralgia, anemia and indigestion are commonly corrected by Chiropractic procedures.

You can help Nature help you by resorting to Chiropractic. (One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. E. P. Lockwood whose office is located at Cass City. Tel. 872-2765). Adv.

ATOMIC CARS

After hearing of the probable future of the atomic-powered car, I've decided to stay in the gasoline-car business for a little while yet. If you've been waiting for the A-car, I'd settle for a G-buggy now. The atomic car, I find, will be a little while in the coming.

I had thought when the U. S. launched its first atomic submarine, and a large company announced it had an atomic battery, that the gasoline business was soon to join that Valhalla where the buggy whip boys are.

It's still conceivable, though, that some day a car will be injected with enough atomic fuel at the factory to radiate it along the street for the rest of its life.

One problem is the shielding of the atomic material. It takes many tons of heavy material to surround the active materials in the atom-sub and the amount of shielding needed would be just as much in a smaller power plant. So the atomic car isn't around the next corner, or even the corner after that.

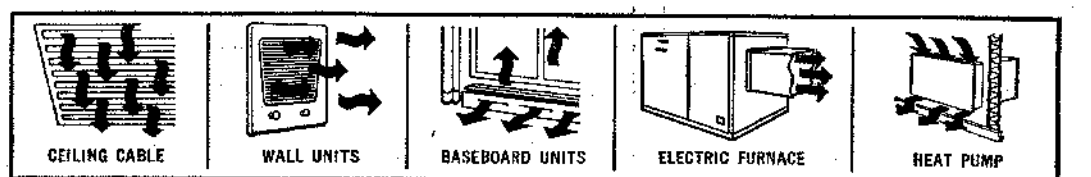

We will, therefore, still be in business tomorrow at the same old stand. Every day we get in new G-buggies; they aren't atomic but they score "A" in these parts for the neatest, cleanest, smoothest and most economical cars you can find. When you're browsing around for a car, radiate over our way and we'll be glad to show you around.

"Our basement was hard to heat..."

"Electric heat helped us turn a chilly basement into a year-round family room," says Mrs. Horace Johns, of Millington, Mich. "We have electric heat in the second-floor bedrooms and bath, too. Keeps them as warm as the rest of the house—even warmer if we want. We can raise the temperature in any of these rooms without overheating the whole house. One reason we chose electric heat in the first place was because it cost less to install. Now we like the convenience of electric heat so much that, if and when we buy another home, we'll have it throughout."

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

Yes, honestly, most accidents happen to people just like you!

Contrary to popular opinion, the record shows that all types of people are involved in highway accidents. It isn't just a drinking driver or joy-riding teenager . . . even though they cause more than their share.

A thoughtless moment, by good solid citizens like you and neighbors on your street, is the heaviest contributor to the increasing toll of deaths, injuries, and damaged cars.

Don't count yourself out. Making Michigan's streets and highways safer is a job for all drivers. Drive even more carefully . . . for your own sake, and to help make motoring safer for everyone.

Hawks Finish 3rd in Thumb B Baseball Chase

The Cass City Red Hawks finished third in the Thumb B Conference as Vassar and Sandusky tied for the diamond championship.

The Hawks won their final two games to finish with a 4-3 record while the league co-champions posted 5-2 records.

Cass City blew the championship with a disastrous loss to Bad Axe, 15-3, before coming back strong to win the final two games of the season.

Marlette Game
In one of the finest games of the year Friday, the Hawks defeated Marlette, 8-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Walter Hempton. Hempton was supported well in the field as Cass City made only one error.

The game was closer than the final score indicated. Going into the final frame, Cass City led 3-1, but a four-run seventh inning rally put the game well beyond reach for the Red Raiders. Roger Karr, the team's leading hitter, was the only Hawk to get more than one hit as he pounded out a pair of safeties.

Frankenmuth Game
Behind the brilliant two-hit pitching of Gary Kelley, Cass City topped the Frankenmuth Eagles in another well-played game, 2-1. To win, Cass City was forced to come from behind.

The Eagles went into a one-run lead in the third without the benefit of a hit. Two errors and a walk netted the tally.

Cass City evened the score in their half of the inning. Kelley walked and Jim Champion and Milt Sherrard slammed out singles in the rally.

Neither team threatened until the sixth when the Hawks pushed over the winning run. A pair of errors pushed Mary Iyer across the plate with the winning tally.

Set Schedule For Four Team City Softball Loop

The schedule for the City Softball League has been formed and the four-team loop swings into action Tuesday night, June 4.

The league was reactivated after an absence of a year when not enough interest was aroused to warrant operation in 1962.

The curtain raiser will pit Walbro and Clare & Andy's Sunoco at 7 p.m. In the 9 p.m. game Erla's faces General Cable.

Preseason evaluations place Erla's and Walbro in the favorite's role. Sunoco signed late and many players had already signed. Cable is an unknown quantity.

Do's and Don't's of Tree Planting

HANDLING YOUNG TREES DURING PLANTING.

KEEP ROOTS COVERED WITH WET MOSS THAT COMES WITH SHIPPING CARTON.

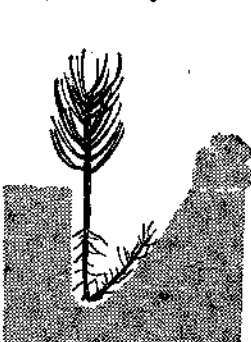

DO NOT CARRY IN HAND—ROOTS WILL DRY OUT.

PLACING YOUNG TREES IN HOLE.

RIGHT — SAME DEPTH AS IN NURSERY OR 1/2" DEEPER.

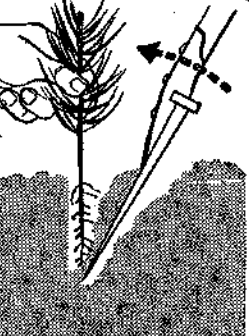

WRONG — TOO DEEP; ROOTS ARE BENT.

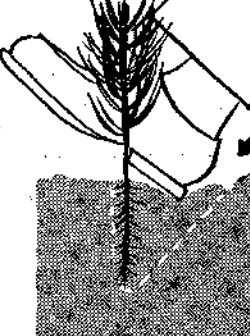

WRONG — TOO HIGH; ROOTS EXPOSED.

FINISHING UP.

PACK SOIL AROUND ROOTS — AVOID AIR POCKETS.

FIRM SOIL WITH HEEL.

LEVEL OFF SOIL WITH SOLE OF SHOE.

Here are some important steps Michigan landowners should follow and avoid when planting young trees this spring. There are, of course, other points well worth considering and to get more details on what, where, when, and how to plant, write to the Conservation Department's forestry division in Lansing or stop at the office of your local forester for a free copy of "A Guide for Planting Your Forest Trees." Private landowners are reminded there is still time to order trees from the Department for reforestation plantings this spring. The Department's stock will remain on sale until mid-May; price lists and order blanks are available at offices already mentioned.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 57, NUMBER 7

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1963

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, told the fellers things was pritty lonesome at his house lately. He said their social life has got so puny he'd even be glad to see his mother-in-law come for a 2-hour visit.

The good Parson claimed he could recollect in other days when him and his wife was invited out to eat 3 and 4 times a week. But he said it looks like them days has gone ferever. He reported that the last time they was invited out to eat was last Thanksgiving and that was on account of Rufe Zinder was having a big family git-together and they needed somebody to ask a fancy blessing.

He told the fellers he has been doing a little thinking on this matter and has come up with the reasons he ain't eating out more regular. First off, he figgers, families don't eat in the home like they did in the old days. Papa eats on the back porch, Mama eats in the kitchen, Junior eats in front of the TV set, and Sister is up at one drug store eating a popsickle. He said he wouldn't know hardly which place to set if he was invited to that house.

Another reason, he figgers, is that most wimmen nowadays cook from tin cans and the froze food counter and they was a little ashamed to invite the preacher to eat somebody else's cooking, sorter like going to hear a preacher read another preacher's sermon.

All these reasons, he claimed, is good, but after a powerful lot of thinking he has decided that the main reason him and his family don't git invited out to eat no more is on account of his 6 younguns.

As long as they wasn't nobody but him and his wife, he said, folks didn't mind. But now with their 6 younguns it was a matter of cleaning out the pantry shelf and most wimmen is agin cleaning out the pantry shelf at just one setting. He told the fellers he'd never fergit when Big Slim's wife first invited them over to her house for supper. She didn't know they had all them younguns and when they all come marching in, Big Slim's wife was about to faint. He reported that was the last time they has broke bread with the Big Slim family. He figgers they broke Big Slim's pocketbook the first time around.

He told the fellers the clergy has just as well face up to the issue, that in the preaching profession a preacher was going to have to choose between having a big family and eating out.

The good Parson left a little early, said he had to git on home with them six cans of pork and beans so's his wife could put supper on the table.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

The fellow who thinks he's too big for his job usually isn't.

History proves that when people learn to do without things they can't afford they are already on the road to success.

At Last! All

The Signs Are Right

By Dave Kraft

By the time you read this, my wife will have had our baby. All the signs are right. The moon is in the proper phase and the wind is from the east.

Besides, I'm getting sick and tired of waiting, so tonight I'm going to hook my wife onto the back of the car and take a quick run out to M-53. If that doesn't do something, I don't know what will.

Gifford OES Holds Regular Meeting

Gifford OES Chapter held a regular meeting May 21 with 60 members present.

In a memorial service, the altar was draped in memory of Mary R. Watson, Worthy Grand Matron, Olive B. Day, honorary life member of the Grand Chapter, and Mrs. Lizzie Ritter, who was a resident of the Masonic Home at Alma. Worthy Matron Mrs. Iva Profit read a poem and members of the Bible Degree team responded, followed by a duet by Shirley Russell and Barbara McCallum.

The Worthy Matron announced $15.78 received from the silent auction conducted at the April regular meeting.

Plans were made for initiation of new members at the June meeting. The birthday committee of June and July will furnish refreshments.

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons were each presented with a Star and Gavel as they registered and the chapter room was decorated with spring flowers. A large white wheel was decorated with appropriate flowers on each spoke, to represent the progress of Past Matrons and Patrons. Each was followed by verses in music.

Lunch was served in the dining room by the May Committee.

She took a shot or castor oil the other night. Now, I'm not really as hip on this baby-making routine, but if taking castor oil makes you have babies, I'd have been in trouble a long time ago. It is my understanding that castor oil has certain characteristic results and these were achieved, but still no baby.

A nice lady dropped a clipping off the other day in which a Dr. Walsh is reportedly "not an advocate of natural childbirth, or of childbirth by hypnosis or any other fads, as he terms them."

"Nothing is so natural as having a baby," he said. He also admits that he has found no substitute for the science of helping nature get the job done.

Mother nature seems to have either fallen asleep on the job or perhaps she's expecting also.

He also had some specific ideas about telling the sex of the child before it's born. This has caused some concern for me. If it's a girl, I may slash my wrists.

Of course, the clipping says, there is no absolute way of knowing, absolutely none. And in our case, the way things are going, we'll never find out.

"Some," the article continues, "say you can tell by heartbeats -- fast heartbeats is a girl, slow heartbeats is a boy." On my wife's next-to-the-last call to the doctor, the kid had a fast heartbeat. On the last call, it had a slow beat.

This kid was either hopped up the first time or asleep the second time.

My only clue that it might be a boy comes from Dr. Walsh's theory that he "has noticed, though, that when a woman is in her last months of pregnancy, if she gets a special glow, sort of blossoms out, becomes more beautiful than she ever was in her life, she is probably carrying a boy."

I'll say one thing for my wife, she sure has blossomed out. She looks like if the blooming thing doesn't come soon, she's gonna burst.

About this business of her looking more beautiful than she ever has in her life... I haven't known her all her life but she sure looks pretty.

If the baby should come within the next minute or two, whatever you do, don't walk up to me and slap me on the back. I spent a portion of Sunday washing my car without a shirt on and I picked up a good burn.

A Russian flag would look orange compared to my back. I'd like to buy some of these artificial tan makers but I'm afraid someone would see me.

Aim to tell the truth, and you'll seldom miss the target.

One half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives, but it's a safe bet that most are living on borrowed money.

Book Review

Does He Now Feel Left Out?

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

Frank G. Slaughter is a medical doctor whose writing always has a suspenseful scene or two. His first novel to impress itself upon me was an "AMA" polemic called THAT NONE SHOULD DIE. I was in college at the time and was reading a lot of very dry facts issued by the American Medical Association—mostly furnished by a doctor-uncle—all against any type of socialized medicine. It was such vivid writing that there are scenes that still live in my memory. So successful was this book that Dr. Slaughter gave up his practice of medicine to become a novelist, and has since written in excess of 30 novels.

He keeps up on medicine and surgical techniques just enough (Was he really wise to give up medicine? Does he feel 'left out' by this profession, now?) to use them in his novels. In addition to the suspense of who is going to get the say of the use of a revolutionary new technique, we are also, in this novel called DEVIL'S HARVEST, treated to an insight of political tensions in the Far East.

Basically, the story is simple. John Merchant, M. D., has left his vital research to fly to the bedside of a missionary doctor who had raised him after his missionary parents had been killed. Chan Thornton, the man's son, was like a brother to John. About the same age, they both had loved the same woman, had gone to school in the States together and were doing independent research on the same project: how to make cheap but nourishing food out of algae.

When Merchant arrives, he is met by Indra Lal, pilot, nurse, confidante and a beautiful young lady. He had proposed to her a few years earlier and now she was 'tentatively' engaged to Chan. Complicating the plot is the presence of a newsman, Alexander Wilde, who is the perfect picture of an aggressive news correspondent. This particular character bears much of the novelist's need to explain things without letting the explanations become tedious. Combining the research efforts of John and Chan, with the help of John's assistant, Dud Porter, the main part of the novel becomes 'medical'—until they find the solution. At this point it is revealed that Chan is a member of the Communist forces, and the final pages of the book are 'cloak and daggerish.'

Essential narrative is provided to show how each act fits the whole, and try to resist as I might, I found myself 'involved' in the book, reading it whenever I had three consecutive minutes. This is Slaughter's mark: whether describing an operation or public health work, this writer keeps the reader in suspense, — at times feeling he is the patient, at times the doctor, and sometimes suspended between the two roles.

For good 'escape' reading this cannot be beat; and it is also good medical reading (for laymen). I recommend this highly as a well-written novel, containing no scenes that make you hide the book so your children don't see it. Its length is not a hindrance either; only 205 pages. You definitely want to get this book if you're looking for light reading combined with detective-story 'gripping drama.'

DEVIL'S HARVEST by Frank G. Slaughter, Doubleday, Garden City, N.Y., 1963. Obtainable from the Elkland Township Public Library.

MILK EXPERT

What! A milk expert who doesn't even know milk gives you 86 nutrients! Doesn't know that milk and dairy products provide 28% of our food, yet take only 19% of our food dollar. Has never heard milk is nature's most nearly perfect food!

Well, there are all kinds of milk experts. Some know what to say about milk. Others know what to do with it.

Just proves one thing. You don't have to know all the "reasons why" to be a milk expert. Tastes good. Reason enough.

New Pasture Can Up Sheep Profits

Sheep producers can try a new pasture crop this year and earn added dividends when lambs are ready for market.

Many Michigan sheep raisers have found in recent years that using rape for late summer pasture has brought them additional money because of more profitable gains. "Once lambs begin to eat it, they like it and put on good gains as well as a hard finish," points out Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

It should be planted as early as possible in the spring, but no later than early June. The crop is planted either alone or in combination with oats and is ready for pasturing eight weeks later.

Although it is adapted for use throughout Michigan, the crop grows best on fertile soils during a cool moist growing season. Dwarf Essex is the most commonly used variety.

More complete information is available in Extension Folder 304, "Rape Crop Culture in Michigan," which can be obtained from county Extension agents or the Michigan State University bulletin office, East Lansing.

Friday Deadline For Price Support On '62 Corn Crop

Friday, May 31, is the final date to obtain price support on the 1962 crop corn.

Purchase agreements and warehouse stored loans will be available through this date, according to George Schian, Tuscola ASC County Office Manager.

Only producers who participated in the 1962 Feed Grain Program are eligible for price support.

Loans and purchase agreements on the 1962 crop mature on July 31. Delivery of the grain will be made after that date.

During the training, recruits receive tests and interviews which determine future training and assignments in the Navy. Upon graduating, they are assigned either to service schools for technical training or to ship or shore stations for on-the-job training.

Seek Local Programs for Better Health for Mentally Ill

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Help For Mentally Ill

Shift of emphasis in the care of the mentally ill is foreseen under a law enacted by the Legislature this year.

The so-called community mental health services bill was sponsored by Pontiac Republican Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and seven of his colleagues.

In signing the measure into law, Gov. George Romney lauded the intent of the bill, saying it will "give local citizens more power to establish the kind of mental health programs their communities need."

Similar measures were proposed in previous sessions during the administration of Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson on recommendation of State Mental Health Director Charles Wagg. Each failed to gain the needed Republican support in the Legislature.

Roberts' bill would allow boards of supervisors in one or more counties to establish a 12-man community mental health board. Creation of the board would be contingent on majority approval of the County Board of Supervisors.

Any program devised by the community board would be submitted to the State Mental Health Department for approval. If approved, the state would match local funds, up to 60 per cent of the cost of the program.

Romney agreed with the sponsors of the bill, who contended the community program would "stretch dollars earmarked for mental health by permitting local units to channel the funds into the services which are most essential."

Pull and Haul

Michigan stands in the middle in an area of controversy in the transportation industry.

This state is one of eight which limit the length of trucks to 55 feet. Twenty other states have either 60 or 65-foot limitations, and the remaining 22 states and the District of Columbia restrict the length to 50 feet.

The controversy arises, as far as Michigan is concerned, over battles between the trucking and rail interests to corner their share of the auto haul-away business.

In the last several legislative sessions in Lansing, the pressure has been great to boost the truck length to 60 feet, allowing three additional feet of overhang. This would give the auto haul-aways a total allowable length of 66 feet.

The trucking lobby convinced a number of legislators the length should be increased, to allow the transportation of more autos at a time and thus decrease the transportation costs.

Rail interests, however, gained support in their fight against the proposal from tourist-minded legislators who argued against the bill for safety reasons. The railroad people themselves contend such an extension would virtually eliminate them from the auto transport business because their costs would not change.

The truck length proposal has been killed in the last three sessions, but pressure becomes greater each year and is expected to continue.

A Dead Issue?

Civil Defense efforts throughout the state are progressing, but not nearly as fast as State Police Captain Richard L. Nicolen had hoped.

Nicolen, named deputy director of the Civil Defense division when it was put under the State Police, is urging a speedup in the licensing agreements with building owners for public fallout shelters.

Under a recent decision in Washington, building owners who sign license agreements permitting use of their structures for public shelters receive certificates of commendation from the U. S. Office of Civil Defense.

About 2,000 properties designed to accommodate more than one million persons are now under licensing agreements, Nicolen said. Another 1,700 buildings have been approved for licensing, but agreements are yet to be signed. Each building considered for public shelter use is inspected by teams of architects and engineers under the direction of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Nicolen said the number of building owners participating in the program was very encouraging, but the program is not progressing as rapidly as it should be.

Success seldom comes to him who sits on the fence waiting for opportunity to come his way.

Even in the coldest weather our TRIAD Baseboard gas furnace has kept our house warm and comfortable all winter, said Gerald Bock, who lives on a farm, 5½ miles east of Cass City.

We used LP gas at our former location in Sebawa for everything but heating and when we came here a little over a year ago, decided that FUEL GAS best answered our needs for heating, cooking and hot water.

Our family likes the moist heat that comes from our hot water system, Mrs. Bock says, and we are glad we selected the TRIAD system from FUEL GAS.

This Triad boiler located in the basement takes little more room than the compact gas water heater located next to it.
