Bigelow Hardware, one of Cass City's pioneer businesses, changed hands this week as Andrew Bigelow sold the business and building to Lloyd Vyse of Cass City.

Vyse had worked in the store for 13 years before taking over the management of the unit.

Vyse moved here as a small child and graduated from Cass City High School. Before joining Bigelow's, he worked at the now defunct Farm Produce Lumber Co.

Moves Here

The Bigelow family first became associated with the hardware in 1888 when Norton Bigelow moved to the community from Clarkston to become the partner of J. P. Howe. The business was then located across the street from its present location.

In 1895, Bigelow purchased the interest of Howe and the family hardware continued until the recent sale.

Two of Norton Bigelow's sons, Fred and Sam, became part owners of the business, as did Miss Nellie Bigelow who worked at the store for many years.

When Sam Bigelow died, his son Andrew purchased the various interests of the family and became sole owner.

Ill health keeps Andrew Bigelow from devoting the necessary time to the business and was one of the primary reasons for the sale.

Routine Meeting at Evergreen

Important Tax Vote At Deford School

The annual meetings for Deford Community School and Evergreen Township Unit School will be held Monday, June 10, according to the secretaries of the two school districts.

The meeting at Evergreen is expected to be routine, while the Deford meeting will hold special interest for electors in the district.

The school board is asking for three mills for three years, especially earmarked for retirement of special debt and perhaps the purchase of a new bus, according to Gerald Hicks, board member.

In its comparatively short history as a consolidated eight-grade school, the district has okayed a special millage proposition and turned down another.

They passed the first attempt for extra funds to equip the school's kitchen. They then asked the school electors for three mills extra for operating expenses. The first vote ended in a tie and a second attempt the same evening failed to change the outcome. A subsequent vote resulted in a defeat for the extra millage request.

In addition to the millage proposition, the electors will name two members to the school board. The terms of Glen Tousley and Gene LaValley are expiring.

Evergreen Township

In contrast to the Deford meeting, there is expected to be little of special interest at Evergreen. The term of Milton Fox is expiring, but he has submitted a petition to succeed himself on the board and since there is no competition is considered elected.

The board also announced that teachers have signed their con-

Summer Course Proves Popular

Superintendent Willis Campbell announced this week that the summer reading class proposed by the school board at its last regular meeting has found wide acceptance from parents.

Fifty-four youngsters have indicated a desire to join the summer course. Three teachers will handle the course. The three classes are now oversubscribed as 45 students are normally considered the right number for three classes.

Cost of the program will be shared by the school district and the students. Pupils will each pay $8 for the four weeks of instruction.

Forger Sent to Prison

A Tuscola county jury returned a verdict of no cause for action in a $65,000 damage suit and three men were sentenced for forgery in cases heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court at Caro.

It took a jury just one hour to reach the no cause for action verdict in the damage suit brought by Leoma Davidson against Dorr McGlocklin.

Mrs. Davidson was asking for $65,000 damages from injuries suffered in an accident that occurred south of Caro. The trial opened Tuesday, May 28, and was concluded Friday.

Jurors serving were: Paul Vollmar, Dorothy Beagle, Janet Harmon, Pauline Sonderhouse, Mrs. Herman Daenzer, Richard Fox, Ronald Bierlein, Alvin Smith, Leo Allen, Gus Haas, Raymond Rabi-deau and Vera Vandemark.

Sent to Jackson

James Smith of Bay City, who was on parole from Jackson Prison for forgery, was sentenced to 1½ to two years for writing checks with insufficient funds, by Judge T. C. Quinn. He issued several checks totaling over $100 in the Caro area within a 10-day period.

3 Fined in Cass City Justice Court

Richard T. Harbin, 24, of Cass City paid a fine and costs of $29.30 in Cass City Justice Court before Mrs. Reva M. Little when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving on Garfield street. He appeared in court Friday.

Harbin was turning corners too fast and squealing tires in an area frequented by children.

Monday, Jerry T. Creason, 17, of rural Cass City was fined $29.30 after pleading guilty to reckless driving. He was ticketed by Chief Carl Palmateer for driving too fast and passing on the right side of cars on West Main street Memorial Day.

Kayleen Dawn Nickerson, 20, of Caro paid a fine and costs of $17 Tuesday, May 28, for a speeding ticket issued April 28.

HONORED AGAIN was Willis Campbell who receives a certificate from Jack Esau, president of the school board. The certificate explains that the elementary school will be called The Willis Campbell

Accident Reveals Stolen Car In Cass City

Police Chief Carl Palmateer recovered an allegedly stolen car while investigating one of four accidents in the Cass City area during the week.

George Washington Hamilton, 26, of Cass City is in Tuscola county jail in Caro awaiting trial for unlawfully driving away an automobile. He was placed on $2,500 bond when arraigned Friday but has not raised the money. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Hamilton and Donald Lee Anker, 26, of rural Cass City, collided at the Main and Seeger streets intersection at 7 p.m. Memorial Day. The fronts of both cars were damaged.

The car driven by Hamilton is owned by Ronald Lee Betz of Millington, now stationed at the Air Force Base at Oscoda.

The crash occurred when Anker

For Devotion to Children

Name School After Willis Campbell

From the Editor's Corner

Superintendent Willis Campbell was honored for the second time this year Tuesday when the Cass City Elementary School was named after him.

The surprise announcement was made at an elementary school awards program held in the schoolyard.

Presenting the certificate was School Board President Jack Esau. The elementary buildings at the school will now be known as the Willis Campbell Elementary School.

The certificate read: "As a token of appreciation for your wholehearted interest in the welfare of the boys and girls of the Cass City community during your many years of faithful service, we would like to honor you by naming this building the Willis Campbell Elementary School."

Campbell is beginning his final year at Cass City. He will retire June 30, 1964. He has 42 years of service at the school. Several months ago he was named Cass City's Citizen of the Year.

Both Deford and Cass City will ask taxpayers for additional funds for improvements at their respective schools. Both have been refused before. But in Deford, where the board is asking for three mills for three years, there is considerable optimism about a successful vote.

In Cass City, where only a mill and a half is sought, there is a good deal of doubt. Some authorities feel that the recent misfortune with the furnace has improved chances for passage of the money for capital expenditures in Cass City. It demonstrated that the list of improvements compiled by the board was one of urgent necessity and not a subterfuge to get money not essentially and desperately needed.

Sending children to school in 12-year-old buses is, in our opinion, a dangerous practice and one that should be of concern to every parent and every responsible citizen regardless of whether or not their child rides to school. Buses are periodically inspected and kept in good condition but no one can guarantee safety in a worn out vehicle.

Voting to increase the already heavy tax load is repugnant to all of us... the alternative not only hinders the education of our children, but could actually be dangerous to their life.

Few at Special School Meeting

Very few electors attended the special school meeting to explain the need for the extra one and a half mills for three years for capital improvements, held at the school Tuesday night.

Authorities said that probably one of the reasons was that most electors were already familiar with the program.

Pool Rates Double But Free Swim Periods Remain

Cass City retained its traditional free swimming periods at the pool but upped fees for the pay swim periods to combat rising costs.

Rates for swimming in the pay periods went from 10 to 20 cents for children. Cost for adults is 25 cents.

The schedule calls for free swimming from 2 to 4 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and for pay periods from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m. on the same days for children 12 years old and younger.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays will be reserved for children 13 and over. The 2 to 4 p.m. period will be free and the 4 to 6 p.m. swim, a pay period.

Sunday from 2:00 till 6:00 p.m. will be a pay period for all swimmers. Swimming team practice will be held every Thursday night from 7:00-8:30 p.m.

The pool will be reserved on a pay-to-swim basis every Tuesday night from 7 to 9 for persons 19 and over.

Wading Pool

The wading pool will open Monday, June 10, authorities said, and the pool is scheduled to open Monday, June 17.

Fourth Try for Cass City

Seek More School Funds

A request for a mill and a half in additional tax revenue for three years for capital improvements at Cass City Schools and the competition among four candidates for two open board posts are expected to bring voters in record numbers to the polls Monday, June 10, at Cass City High School auditorium.

It will be the fourth time that the board has gone before members of the district in an attempt to secure much needed funds.

About a month ago the board listed the critically needed items at the school. That the need was urgent was dramatically demonstrated last week when the boiler at the school wheezed its last.

It was the largest single item in the list of repairs and improvements that the board said the extra money was needed for. An informal estimate on a new unit from one company was $25,000.

The levy for capital improvements will raise $69,627, based on the school district's current valuation of nearly $15½ million.

Besides the furnace, the board lists the following as absolutely essential:

Five additional electric typewriters and calculator	$2,000
Roof repairs to main building	6,500
Asphalt play area	2,000
Library books	1,000
Two buses	13,000
Lighting project, 3 rooms	1,000
65 band room chairs	400
Shop equipment	6,000
Clock	350

Total amount of these improvements is $57,450. The balance of the money will be used for other capital improvements as they occur over the three-year period.

Who Can Vote

There are no unusual voting restrictions for the election. All that is necessary is that the elector be registered, 21 years old, a resident of the State of Michigan for six months and the school district for 30 days prior to the election.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Final Allocation Ups Townships' Share of Taxes

After considerable discussion and four tie votes of the six-man board, the county tax allocation board finally approved the division of taxes for the year.

Biggest argument over the tax division was the amounts to the townships and the county. The schools' share had been set at nine mills in the preliminary allocation and it never changed. The rest of the allocations did.

After the votes and the arguments were over, the county ended with 4.24 mills as compared to 4.4 in the first allocation. The townships' share rose from 1.6 to 1.65 and the intermediate school district went from .10 of a mill to .11 of a mill.

At the first meeting the board had also voted to reduce the millage for special education from three-quarters to a half of a mill.

However, County Superintendent of Schools William Scott brought in an opinion from the Michigan State Tax Commission that it was illegal to change the tax rate voted by the people in a referendum and the original millage was restored.

Horse Recovers after Bout with Automobile

A horse dashed in front of a car driven by Leonard Ziembra, 22, of Decker Tuesday, May 28, on M-53 near Severance road.

Bad Axe State Police reported that the animal was owned by Denise Michels of Cass City. Ziembra, who was uninjured, said that he slammed on his brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the horse.

Mrs. Cornelius Michels reported that the horse was nicked, but recovered and is in sound condition. The Ziembra car was slightly damaged, police said.

THE NEW PASTOR at the Salem EUB Church gave his first sermon at his new church Sunday. The family has three children, but the youngest, Mark, 3, was not scheduled to arrive until later this week. Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Betts took time out to pose with two of their children, Bob, 13, and Bettse, 10, while moving into the church parsonage. (Chronicle photo)

Opportunity Here, Says Pastor

"I feel there is an opportunity to be of service in Cass City," said the Rev. R. E. Betts, 38, when discussing his assignment to the Cass City Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church this week.

The personable, smiling young pastor was obviously enthused that the conference had elected to send him to Cass City.

"We certainly like what we've seen so far," said Betts. And despite his relative youth, the new pastor and his wife have seen several congregations in two different Protestant denominations. His first two pastorates were in the Pilgrim Holiness Church. He operated a mission at Niles and a mission at the Canadian Soo before becoming an EUB pastor at Lakewood, in the southwest section of the state. It was a country church.

Why did I leave the Pilgrim Church? "Simply, I guess, because I feel more at home and approve more of the doctrine of the EUB Church," Betts said.

I spent six years at the Lakewood Church and, naturally, I have some fond memories of the area, the new pastor explained. When he arrived the church had 74 members; now it has 95.

Native of State Betts is a native of Michigan. Born in Detroit, he attended grade school in the Motor City before moving to Grand Rapids. He graduated from East Grand Rapids High School and it was in Grand Rapids that he met his wife. They were married in 1948. Betts spent a year at the Michigan College of Mines and Technology before transferring to Owosso College for his Bible degree.

For relaxation, Betts said, "I like to play golf when I can find the time." The new pastor gave his first sermon here Sunday.

Destructive Force of Worry Explained

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

Worry is a predominant emotion today. People worry about death, loneliness, poverty, war, inflation, disease, etc. Disease is one worry that you can help disperse. It has been said that when once the cause of a disease is known you are half way to the cure.

In conversation with a successful business executive several days ago, he suggested that we write an article on "worry" because of his own experience. For years he devoted himself so completely to his business that suddenly and without warning, his health began to break so fast that he began to worry constantly of a complete collapse. He spent several months at the beach, by orders of specialists, all of whom prescribed rest. But rest alone could not restore him and he knew nothing of Chiropractic. He decided to consult a Chiropractor through the insistence of a neighbor.

When thorough examination was completed, explanation of the cause of his breakdown so completely allayed his "worrying" that half of the battle for health was won. Following his first adjustment he felt a change taking place in his body. The tension in his previous system began to relax, his peace of mind was restored and he is gaining strength daily.

The modern Chiropractor finds that many patients are worried and nervous mainly because they have been unable to find anyone who can locate the cause of their sickness. Usually a simple explanation of the cause of their sickness and Scientific adjustments administered to correct the cause dissipated their fears and health returns in a natural manner.

Mrs. F. Hutchinson Honored by WSCS

Mrs. Frank Hutchinson was honored for her attendance at meetings and work in the Woman's Society of Christian Service Monday morning at a brunch at the Methodist Church.

She was presented with a corsage as a personal token of appreciation from Mrs. Keith McConkey and a life membership pin from the society. Mrs. Hutchinson has missed only two meetings in three years.

Install Officers

Mrs. Alan Weeks of Kingston installed the officers for 1963-64 and said that their duties could be best described by the three "I's" ... ignite enthusiasm in the society, instruct by teaching responsibility for work of the church and inspire by example and consecration to their task.

The officers are: Mrs. McConkey, president; Mrs. Howard Rexin, vice-president; Mrs. Grant Hutchinson, secretary, and Mrs. Philip Brack, treasurer.

Secretaries installed were: Mrs. Edwin Fritz, Christian social relations; Mrs. William Ruhl, literature and publications; Mrs. Earl Douglas, missionary education and service; Mrs. Robert Keating, promotion; Mrs. Harry Crandell, children's work; Mrs. Roy Chisholm, spiritual life; Mrs. Leslie Profit, student work; Mrs. William Profit, supply, and Mrs. A. Hoffman, youth work.

Fast Attendance

Mrs. Joseph Sommers announced that Group I had the best attendance and the customary gift in their honor will be given to the Society. The financial report was presented by Mrs. Robert Keating and pledge cards for 1963-64 distributed.

Again next year, each group will have a fund-raising project, members decided.

Group V, with Mrs. Wrayburn Krohn in charge, served the meal.

When a couple of bright boys put together the world's first horseless carriage (you'd be surprised how long ago) they foresaw there was going to be an inevitable conflict with pedestrians.

The first vehicle in history to move without help from an animal was assembled in 1649 in Nuremberg, Germany. The "car" rattled along the streets at about two miles an hour, and it seemed to run by magic. It wasn't until weeks after its first demonstration that the baffled and frightened people discovered the two men who were hidden in the vehicle's back section. They turned a winch and this moved the rear axle.

The vehicle had a mechanism for clearing the way if anyone strayed too close (few did). A great dragon's head stuck far out in front. It moved from side to side and sprayed a stream of water out of its mouth for more than 15 feet.

That dragon's head, I suppose, was "optional equipment at extra cost," as they say nowadays. It's the optional equipment on a large number of our used cars, the "little extras" that so many people like, that make them such outstanding buys. In purchasing a good used car you usually save tremendously on the extras that the original owner has installed.

er, traveling west on M-81, was stopped for a light. Hamilton, traveling north on Seeger, crashed into the Anker car as he attempted to turn east onto M-81.

Both Damaged

Friday, Vera E. King, 36, of Cass City, driving a car owned by Harold Whittaker, backed into a vehicle operated by Mrs. Mary Kloc, 63, of rural Cass City. The car was parked in the lot of Erla Food Center when the crash occurred. The right sides of both cars were damaged.

Driver Ticketed

Walter Urban of Caro was ticketed for hitting a car driven by Ronald Dale Parrish of Cass City. The accident occurred when Urban attempted to pass Parrish as he was making a left turn from M-81, near Caro.

Besides damaging both cars, five guard rails on the parking lot of a drive-in were ruined, according to the report of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Loses Control

Raymond Keith Baker of Cass City lost control of his car on M-81, about two miles west of the village, and badly damaged his car Sunday.

He swerved to the left side of the road, crashed into a mailbox belonging to Clifford Martin and skidded some 135 feet before tipping the car on its side.

Baker was uninjured, the police report indicated.

Slate Four Ball Leagues as Part of Recreation Program

Little Major League baseball opened Monday and plans for the complete summer recreation program swung into high gear as Wayne Wilson and Orlie Lemanski announced plans for many activities.

Leagues for blooperball and pig softball are now forming.

Pigtail Softball

A meeting for the pigtail softball league will be held Monday, June 10, at the high school gym at 10:30 a.m. All girls from nine through 12 years old interested in playing are asked to attend.

Women interested in coaching are needed and are asked to contact Wilson.

Blooperball League

Men interested in playing blooperball this summer are asked to attend a meeting Monday, June 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

It is not necessary that all players attend, but a representative from each team should be present, Wilson said.

Pony League

Returning again this season will be the pony league for boys 13 to 16. A meeting for them will be held at the high school gym Monday, June 10, at 10 a.m. Wilson reminded candidates that boys who will be 17 on or before Sept. 1 are not eligible.

Other Activities

Other activities of the recreation program will start at the completion of Daily Vacation Bible Schools. This program is again under the direction of Eli Holes and Mrs. Richard Case. Details of the program have not yet been announced.

The first step is always the hardest, but it pays off if it's in the right direction.

Try to make it hot for others and you'll burn your own fingers.

Gun Club Seeks New Members In Cass City

With a core of 20 members the Cass City Gun Club is attempting to expand and strengthen its organization under the direction of President Basil Hartsell and Secretary-Treasurer Bob MacKay.

"We've sort of slipped in the past few years," MacKay said, "but we're getting straightened away and are ready to push forward with a progressive organization."

The club meets the first Monday of every month. Presently they target .22 caliber at Elkland township hall and 30-06 caliber at the gravel pit west of the village.

One of our primary objectives at this time is to acquire land for a range and club meetings, MacKay explained.

The local club is a member of the National Rifle Association. Dues are $11 per year of which $4 goes to the national organization.

As members of the NRA, members of the local club are eligible to compete in any of the regional or national shooting contests that they can, MacKay explained.

Persons interested in shooting are invited to contact either Hartsell or MacKay for complete information about the club and its activities.

Both men forged the name of Earl Day to checks of EarMar Wood Products of Vassar and cashed them in Vassar and Caro.

25 Girl Scouts Attend Campout

Twenty-five girls from Cass City attended a Girl Scout week-end campout at Whispering Pines under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Dewey, leader.

The girls stayed in tents Friday and Saturday nights and returned home Sunday. Events included a talent show, campfire song fest and work for Scout badges.

Assisting the leader were Mrs. Jack Spencer, Mrs. Harold Craig, Mrs. Garfield Turner, Mrs. Stuart Atwell and Mrs. Dale Brown.

The tents were erected and dismantled by Cass City Scouts under the direction of Scoutmaster Jim Ware.

Wednesday, June 5, the Girl Scouts were to hold a court of awards at Cass City Recreational Park.

Bridge Club Set for Summer Months

The Cass City Duplicate Bridge Club will continue to meet during the summer as long as player interest warrants, club authorities said.

The club meets the first and third Thursdays of each month at 8 p.m. at Martin's Restaurant. Everyone is invited to play. Master point night is the third Thursday of each month.

In the May 16 contest, Mr. and Mrs. Seeley of Pigeon were the winners. Second was the pair of Mrs. Del Profit and Mrs. M. B. Auten, Cass City.

There was a three-way tie for third among Mr. and Mrs. Don Peterhans, Caro; Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Kalamazoo, and Mrs. G. Prieskorn and Mrs. E. B. Schwadener, Cass City.

met. In a statement to the Chronicle she said that she felt "our children need the best education we can possibly give them. One look at the unemployment rolls today proves the need for skilled, trained and well educated young people."

"I think we all realize that the Cass City School system has many problems. Other communities have had similar problems, but with a lot of community interest and effort by their school boards they have solved them."

"During the past year I've done a lot of reading and studying on school problems and am willing to devote my time and energy to helping the Cass City Schools. With my background in business administration and interest in our schools, I hope to make a worthwhile contribution if elected."

The only woman candidate for the board, Mrs. Prieskorn has devoted much of her time to the now defunct curriculum study committee for the school.

Mrs. Prieskorn has three children.

Rev. John Fish in Final Sermon Here

The Rev. John Fish preached his final sermon at the Cass City Presbyterian Church Sunday, June 2, and the church's nominating committee is actively seeking a new pastor.

Finding a pastor usually requires several months. When a man is chosen the congregation will vote to accept or reject the man selected.

The committee includes Orion Cardew, from the Session, chairman; Mrs. Don Reid, from the Women's Association, secretary; Richard Wallace, from the Deacons; Gerald Stroupe, from the Trustees; and Morris Jones, from the Church School.

The Rev. Edwin Knopf, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Marlette, has been appointed moderator of the congregation until a new pastor is installed.

During the interim of ministers, the Rev. Melvin R. Vender and other pastors will lead the Sunday worship. Sunday, June 9, Dr. Robert Yoltin of the Michigan Synod staff from Detroit will preach.

June 16-23-30 Vender will preach. July 7, the Rev. Robert Woods of the Synod staff from Alma will be the pastor and July 14, the Rev. Paul Sobel of the Synod staff of Alma will supply the pulpit.

Dedicate Hangings
At Fish's final service, four sets of pulpit and Communion table hangings were dedicated in memory of Donald MacLachlan. They were purchased by gifts from friends and the family and are white, red, purple and green, symbolizing the seasons of the church year.

Elected Commissioner
Cardew, clerk of the Session of the church, has been elected commissioner from the congregation to attend the Michigan Synod meeting on the campus of Alma College June 11-12.

New Address
Fish, who is beginning graduate work at the University of Chicago, will make his home at 1155 E. 56th Street, Chicago 37, Ill.

Schedule First Annual Thumb Crow Hunt

The first annual Thumb Area Crow Shoot, sponsored by the Tuscola County Conservation Club, is set for Saturday, June 15, according to Bernie Hurt, secretary.

Crow hunters will compete for hundreds of valuable prizes, donated by area sporting goods dealers. The contest is open to all and a variety of classifications will be awarded prizes, making an opportunity for winners in such categories as: widest wing span, largest number, longest from beak to tail, and others.

Hunters must turn their crows in by 4 p.m. the day of the hunt to be eligible for judging at the Caro Gun Club.

Prizes are being offered by: Davis Lumber and Sporting Goods in Deckerville; Grady Hardware and Sporting Goods in Caro; Elkton Hardware in Elkton; Doecker's Variety and Sporting Goods in Pigeon and Albee Hardware in Cass City.

Actually it Isn't

A Pool at All!

By Dave Kraft

One of the newest status symbols is the backyard swimming pool and I spent a good part of Sunday bringing our status in line with the Joneses.

What I mean to say is, anytime you want to wet your feet, come on over. Just your feet though, and no diving allowed. The pool is only six inches deep and I don't want anybody's peaked little head punching a hole in the bottom.

Actually, it isn't a pool at all, it's more like a puddle that won't dry up... or maybe one that's drying up.

Putting it in involved digging a hole into which a plastic pool, two feet wide and three and a half feet long, was placed. If you remember, Sunday was hot and the digging was dirty so after I finished, I went into the house and slipped on my bathing suit.

As I passed my wife on the way out, she said, "Whoa there, Tarzan, where do you think you're going?" She always calls me Tarzan when I have my bathing suit on.

She does it to make me feel bad because I'm the guy who goes to the beach and gets sand kicked in his face by the big guy running by, like in the magazine ad. I used to be a 98-pound weakling... now I'm a 99-pound weakling.

"Me go swim, Jane. You want swim, too?" I said in my best ape-man dialogue, covering up my hurt feelings.

"Don't be smart, stupid," she returned. "What do you mean, you're going swimming? Where?" "In the new pool, of course." "Oh great, and I suppose you may even run through the sprinkler a couple of times."

"I just might do that." Outside I found that Sally had already beat me to the pool. I stepped into the pool and she started screaming.

I decided to ignore her. However, as I sat there with my knees in my face, ankle-deep in water, with the baby screaming and people driving by in cars staring at me, I reached the conclusion that an old-fashioned bath might be just as suitable.

As I walked back into the house, I was confronted by my wife. She's always confronting me. Some day I'm going to confront her with a club and then she'll be sorry.

"What's a matter, Tarzan, water too deep for you?" I was just at the bathroom door and as I turned to give her a suitable retort, I stepped on Sally's uk-elele which she so conveniently left on the bathroom floor.

I played three bars of "Lady, Play Your Mandolin" with my toes before I hit the floor. On the way down I grabbed the shower curtain which slowed me some but in the end it tore and covered me like a shroud.

"Say, that's pretty good," yells my wife. "Do you know "On the Road to Mandalay"?"

I didn't answer. I just lay there hoping that the next time the Joneses go for a swim in their status symbol they take my wife with them 'cause she can't swim.

I'm a false prophet. Still no new baby. Last week I said by the time you read this column... Well you know. Perhaps by the time you read this column...

I've decided someone either shot the stork or the kid has learned the secret of defying the law of gravity.

It's a boy and it doesn't get here soon, I may... have the only son born with a long gray beard.

A real friend never gets in your way—unless you happen to be on the way down.

Explain State's Wheat Situation

The fellow loaded with hot air usually lacks steam.

Michigan wheat is mostly soft white, a pastry wheat which is particularly suited for the manufacture of cookies, crackers, cakes and ready-to-eat cereals. New York also grows some soft white. If we were to measure the surplus by the amount of this class of wheat carried over from year to year in the Midwest and East, then we would conclude that there is no surplus.

The carryover, however, is not the only measure of the surplus. In economic terms, a "surplus" is the amount that cannot be sold at a satisfactory price. Without going into just what a "satisfactory" price might be, we should recognize that our export sales have been at prices 40 to 70 cents below our domestic prices in recent years. Our exports have ranged from 30 to 50 per cent of our production. In order to move our wheat (and other classes as well) abroad at the world price, exporters have been paid the equivalent of 40 to 70 cents per bushel in recent years. We wouldn't export a bushel of our wheat to dollar markets without this subsidy, said Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

In addition, over half our exports have been under special government programs, mainly PL 480. This "Food for Peace" program allows certain underdeveloped foreign countries to buy our wheat with their own currency. Since we have no use for their currency in the US, we use much of it to help develop these countries. PL 480 authorizations are designated only for surplus products. If Michigan wheat had not received PL 480 assistance in the past five years, our carryover would be very large - equal to well over our annual production.

Michigan and New York are just two of several states producing soft wheat. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois produce soft red which is a close competitor to our soft white. Both classes are pastry wheat and seldom more than 5-10 cents apart in price. As with Michigan's white wheat, the carryover of soft red is very low, but exports are dependent upon PL-480.

The Pacific Northwest is the major producing area for soft white, according to John Ferris of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Michigan State University. The carryover out there, once rather large, has recently been reduced to reasonable levels. But the Pacific Northwest is heavily dependent on the export market and PL 480. The Pacific Northwest does not compete with Michigan growers in the domestic market. At present price relationships, it does not pay to ship wheat between the Pacific Coast and the Midwest. In a sense, Michigan wheat has competed with the Pacific Northwest in the export market and for PL480 authorizations.

Nearly all of the surplus carryover of wheat is hard red, primarily hard red winter, grown in the Plains States. The carryover of hard red winter is equal to four years' domestic usage. Certainly, the surplus problem is more serious with this class than on soft wheats in the Midwest. To the extent that some substitution would take place between hard (bread) wheat and soft (pastry) wheat at certain price differentials, we cannot completely divorce the soft wheat situation from the hard. New milling processes make this substitution technically feasible.

The soft wheat industry is concerned, and rightly so, about a possible short supply in the Midwest sometime in the future. Carryover levels are low. Exports of Midwestern soft wheat (both white and red) have averaged about 30 per cent of production in recent years. Even if exports were entirely eliminated, a 30 per cent or more cut in production from normal levels would create a tight domestic situation. This would force Midwestern soft wheat prices up to levels which would encourage substitution of hard wheat for soft wheat and perhaps shipments of soft wheat from the Pacific Northwest into the Midwest. A tight domestic supply of Midwestern soft wheat could develop, although government policy in the past has been directed at keeping prices on the various classes and in the various producing areas in line.

Romney Scores Well in First Test of Legislative Program

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association
The Scoreboard

Any dispute over the success of Gov. George Romney's legislative program was to be expected. The Democratic legislators and party leaders would not be fulfilling their role as the "loyal opposition" if they did not challenge the Republican governor's claim of successes.

Many relatively objective political observers in the Lansing area, however, thought Romney was being conservative when he claimed success on 80 to 85 percent of his program. Statistically this estimate was accurate.

Quantitatively, however, Romney did even better than he claimed. He lost only two major parts of his program: minimum wage and open occupancy. His fight for the latter piece of legislation appeared to be more vocal than actual.

Democrats, of course, used the strongest terms possible in their attempts to downgrade the success of Romney in gaining passage of his other major proposals.

House Minority Leader Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, even went so far as to describe Romney's first session as a "nearly bankrupt legislative record." Democrat State Chairman Zoltan Ferency said there is not a single law passed this year the state can be proud of.

Democrats attacked much of the Governor's legislation which was approved on grounds that it did not go far enough and did not really accomplish what Romney said he intended. On this point, it is clear that not every measure was ideal, but each initial step must be counted as a success which can be improved upon over the years.

Theoretically, Romney had an ideal situation in which to work. His party held a narrow majority in the House and a very comfortable margin in the other chamber. In practice, however, Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years had nearly as many problems with the legislators as his Democratic predecessors.

Contending with the divergent viewpoints within the Michigan GOP was and is no easy task. Romney's personal approach was credited with at least some of his success.

Probably a great deal of the compromises accomplished with the very conservative House members, who are strong in number as well as power, can be credited to his approach. If a single member was powerful enough to temporarily tie the Romney's hands, the governor held one or more conferences with the individual. He counted a number of successes from these conferences.

More Efficiency

A move to clear Michigan's mental hospitals of senile patients who have no other maladies is progressing well, according to Mental Health Officer Herbert Bodwin.

Bodwin is the chief of patient affairs for the department and has been directing the effort which was ordered by the 1962 Legislature. It was the Legislature's directive that at least 1,000 patients "who manifest general deterioration of mental processes associated with senility" be removed to county and local facilities by the end of this fiscal year, June 30.

The department's most recent report indicated more than 1,600 patients, all over 65 years of age, have been referred by the state unit to county bureaus of social aid. Unfortunately, at the same report, only 610 of these had been placed in community residences.

"The lag between hospital referrals and placement of the patients is not surprising," said Bodwin. He said county bureaus were "doing an exceptionally fine job" in finding homes for the referred patients.

Under the intent of the Legislature, all those being referred to county units are eligible for old age benefits or other public assistance funds. No patient is turned out of a state hospital with the burden of care being placed on individuals or the county government.

The patient affairs director said he fully expected the department could easily meet the 1,000 minimum placement level set by the Legislature. The referral program also will continue into the coming fiscal year under provisions enacted by the 1963 Legislature.

Bachelors Pay More

There may or may not be a moral in this bit of information. Food costs for restaurant-frequenting bachelors will continue to be well above the amount that married men have to spend to eat home-cooked meals. This theory is voiced by Mary Zehner, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Average prices of food consumed at home traditionally changes little from year to year. Prices of food consumed away from home, however, are on a long-term upward trend which likely will continue. Labor costs are chiefly responsible for the difference.

Production in some lines lag, but the rumor factories are still running overtime.

SINCERITY

Annual Meet for Science Church

A return to "God-centered thinking" is the world's most urgent need, said the new president of the Christian Science Church today.

Speaking before the Church's huge annual meeting throng in Boston, Mrs. Helen Wood Bauman warned that the scientific advances taking place in the world today are in danger of being misunderstood.

"Intense interest in technological skills and human inventions is again tending to divert thought from God," and neglecting "to give Him credit for a great release of mental energy," she declared.

The address was presented in the First Church of Christ Scientist... known as The Mother Church... before several thousand members from all over the world.

Annual reports from church departments indicated stronger religious activity and interest among young people. More high school and college students are attending church lectures, applying for membership and sending in articles to religious periodicals, it was disclosed.

Proceed cautiously at all times—too many people mistake spectacular effort for success.

It costs less still if you put in concealed telephone wiring and plenty of phone outlets at the same time the electrical wiring is being installed. Then you can add extension telephones where and when you need them.

Adequate telephone and electrical wiring immediately adds to the value of your home.

Book Review

This Book Shows How It Could Happen Here

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

SEVEN DAYS IN MAY is the second book written by these two newsmen, Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey II. It left me anxious to read the first, NO HIGH GROUND, written about the story of the first atom bomb. Of course, when two men collaborate on a novel, the first question of any reviewer is "What sections were written by which man?" In this case, I don't know and consider it unimportant information to the average reader.

The main story theme has to do with a plot to overthrow our government by certain leaders in what we call "our military establishment." (The year 1970 is the focal point of this tale.) An officer, on a sleepy Sunday, monitoring all top secret messages sent to those who command US forces, notices reference to an agency, group of officers or geographical location which he does not understand. That sets off the weirdest set of events in Washington's history -- involving the president and his top advisors.

The President, after learning this from the officer (who gambled his entire career on this interpretation of events), involved some of his most trusted friends to find out whether this was a real emergency of which he had been kept ignorant, or some innocent doodling of a tired officer. It is interesting to read the mind of a president as he selects such a secret group of men, as to what power he has and how news of an insurrection would affect the country -- if it were released.

Each man summoned to the White House sees immediately the possibility of such a coup being supported by the men in question. Each receives a top top-secret mission, the real purpose of which must not be revealed. The appointments secretary to the president is killed in a plane crash, having phoned ahead that he had a written confession supporting the fantastic plot. A US senator is subject to 'house arrest' at a secret base and is a virtual prisoner.

Each one in turn is subjected to some unexpected experiences, most of which are serious. A trusted secretary handles all calls from this special group and screens all calls to the president. A high level of excitement is maintained to the end -- a broadcast by the president and a practice alert which is cancelled.

These men are strong figures in the book, each of them being described with nearly a master touch. One suspects that as the plot thickened, the two authors went about smuggling the manuscript into their homes, almost demanding code clearance to discuss the plot. I found nothing to criticize in this work of fiction. So deftly is it written, it reads like truth.

This could be 'escape' reading, because it will capture your mind until the end; but its theme throws it far away from mere 'escape'. It is written with the sense of authenticity and with intimate and interesting biographies. However, this really is a 'might have been' tale. One appreciates the military take-overs in other nations after reading what could happen here. Who would, in reality, plan such a coup? Read the book and you will find out; more than that you will discover how far such a plot could actually find supporters who could bring it off with suspense and hard-rock planning.

You can see how easy it is to get away from objective reviewing back to telling you why I predict that this book will soon be one of the top-circulated books on the shelves.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where several colleges is complaining that the honor system for taking exams at the end of this school year wasn't working none too good. We used that system back when I was a boy. The teacher would announce that we was on our honor and would we please all set three desks apart. It worked pretty good in them days and I'd recommend it for this generation.

It looks like the value of money is gitting less ever day. For instant, I was reading this piece in the papers where penny weighing machines was about to disappear in this country. A feller in Memphis claimed he used to operate 500 of those machines but he's now down to 161 and aims to go out of business. He says they just ain't no profit no more in traveling all over the area collecting the pennies. And up till it took a nickel to mail a letter, the nickel was about to git extinct like the Buffalo.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was setting around giving each other the benefits of their doubts and Ed Doolittle said he had noted where Congressmen from some of the farm states was trying to git a special item in Kennedy's tax cut plan for giving the farmer a better deal with taxes. Clem Webster allowed as how this would bring on a heap of confusion on account of ever city gardner claiming he was a farmer. I don't know how this would work out, Mister Editor. I recollect hearing my Pa say one time that a real farmer could hear a hen cackle and tell whether she was laying or lying. If we git this new tax benefit for farmers, we might have to use the laying and lying test.

Zeke Grubb told the fellers he had saw a piece in the papers where the Government was spending $50,000 at Beltsville in Maryland to build a hospital for the whelping of special dogs. Zeke said he recollected that when old Charlie Wilson took a job in Ike's cabinet he said that what was good for General Motors was good for the country, and Zeke figgers that what is good for dogs ought to be good for people. He's in favor of the Government building special hospitals for expectant mothers. This bring a round of applause from all the fellers and it was so voted.

And my pamphlet yesterday from the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported they just completed a "study" showing how much more it costs to feed a teenage boy than a teenage girl. They announce, for instant, that it costs on average $11.40 a week to feed a teenage boy between 16 and 19, and only $8.80 for a girl the same age. It probably didn't cost more'n $25,000 to make this "study," so I reckon it was worth it to the taxpayers.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
