

Jury Approves Zemke Claim

After deliberating for about two hours, a Huron county jury awarded a judgment to Zemke Real Estate for $775 from Brinker Lumber Co. Tuesday.

Zemke had sued for money due in commissions from the sale of the Brinker Lumber Co. building in Cass City.

Clayton Brinker claimed that he thought he was signing for two months instead of six months, but the jury ruled in favor of Zemke Real Estate because of its signed contract.

Re-elect Members Of Hills & Dales Hospital Board

Three incumbent members of the board of trustees of Hills and Dales General Hospital were re-elected to office Tuesday night, June 11, at the annual meeting of the organization at the hospital.

The members are: M. B. Auten, John Haire and James Bauer. A financial report was presented showing that the hospital operated in the black for the year with a net excess of cash over operating costs of $646.33 for the three years the hospital has been in operation.

Administrator Dick Palm gave highlights of the year telling some of the significant facts about the operation of the facility.

He said that patients in the hospital had remained fairly constant during the fiscal year as compared to previous years, but that there had been a net increase of about 700 patient days in the hospital. The average stay of patients was 7.13 days.

There is a wide variance in the number of patients in the hospital. The lowest was Christmas Day when 13 patients were registered and the peak day saw 60 patients in the 56-bed capacity hospital. Operations increased from 612 to 928 during the year.

Palm listed some of the improvements completed at the hospital during the year. They included the purchase of a portable X-ray machine, furnishing of the second operating room, addition of a first floor bathroom and the completion of the hospital morgue.

After the annual meeting the board named officers in the regular meeting. Alex Ross was named the new vice-president to replace Ralph Gauer, who resigned from the board. Other officers re-elected were: President James Bauer, Secretary Marjorie Rice and Treasurer M. B. Auten.

Rabies Kills Cow Of Area Farmer

A rare case of rabies in cattle was discovered on the William King farm in Deford Saturday. The findings were determined by a test of the head by authorities at Michigan State University. The Kings were notified by telegram.

The animal had become sick and died June 1. Mrs. King theorized that the disease had been caused by a skunk because of the odor on the dead cow.

Scouring the area where the cow had been was the only precaution necessary to take to eliminate spreading of the disease, Mrs. King said. It was the only case in the herd of 160 head.

New U.S. Representative Sure For Reapportioned District

Rock-ribbed Republican Tuscola county which has been part of a Democratic congressional district for several years will return to the GOP fold after the 1964 election as part of the new eighth district.

That's the opinion of political observers, that the new eighth is almost certain to elect a Republican in the 1964 election and that man will probably be Jim Harvey of Saginaw, presently serving as U. S. Representative from that district.

Tuscola county is now part of the Seventh district, which includes St. Clair, Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer and Macomb counties and is represented by Democrat James O'Hara of Utica. Under the new apportionment signed into law in Michigan, Macomb and Lapeer counties were dropped, and Saginaw and Gratiot counties added, to form the new eighth. Macomb becomes the 12th

DICK SZARAPSKI points out some of the features of his farm pond where he has successfully raised trout and other fish for over a year. The Cass City youth wants to greatly enlarge his pond in the near future.

Hard Work Proves Key to Top Trout Pond-Dick Szarapski

Don't try to start a trout pond in the Cass City area unless you really enjoy working at the project... that's the advice of Dick Szarapski who is completing his third year working with a pond south of Cass City.

For, hard work is the key to a successful pond. "You can't just take a flowing spring, dig a hole, toss in a few fish and forget the whole thing," Szarapski reports. "But it's really not work if you love fishing, hunting and the outdoors," he said. "I keep this pond for my own amusement and think that everyone who can should have one."

Szarapski has started in a small way. His pond is about eight feet deep and is about 20x25 feet. The water is kept cool enough for the trout by two springs that keep the temperature cool enough in summer and warm enough in winter so that the fish can survive. A four-inch bed of gravel was placed on the bottom to eliminate mud.

But they wouldn't live if Szarapski failed in his constant attention. Each week he faithfully feeds the fish. The diet includes night crawlers, minnows and crabs.

Magazine Prints Marriage Article By R. J. Searls

The Rev. Robert J. Searls, a contributing editor who writes a weekly column for the Chronicle, also writes for magazines.

His most recent article was published in the Michigan Christian Advocate and was entitled "The Meaning of Christian Marriage."

The article points out the pitfalls in marriage that have resulted in a divorce for every three marriages.

Searls suggests more premarriage counseling and one great "rule of marriage" as vitally important, "Take a sick, faltering marriage - if one should unfortunately develop - to a man trained and interested in helping you make it well."

Defective Jack Blamed for Auten Accident

Gerald Auten is recovering at Hills and Dales General Hospital from injuries suffered when a car he was repairing in his home garage slipped and fell on his face Monday evening.

Auten was using a hydraulic jack which started to go down while he was under the car. Auten rolled from under the car but his arm caught and the car hit his face.

Cuts and bruises on his face required several stitches but the young mechanic escaped without any broken bones.

Right now the major problem is the growth of weeds. Seaweed and algae are growing profusely in the pond and attempts to keep it in check by weeding it out have not proved successful. "That poison is expensive, but I guess I'll have to get some," Szarapski said.

In the winter, a weekly task of the young pond owner is to chop a hole in the ice to relieve pressure. Most ponds fail in the winter, not in the summer, Szarapski said.

Fish Study

Watching the various fish in the pond is a fascinating study. The pond contains perch, bass and Rainbow and Brown trout. There are two Rainbows and three Browns, several bass and perch.

Using worms as bait, Szarapski threw one after another into the water. The little perch were the first to come charging after the worms. After awhile the bass struck the food.

On about the fifth cast one of the Rainbow trout came cruising out of the weeds... but was too wary ever to come completely into the open and strike the worm as it was tossed into the center of the pond.

The Brown trout never did come into the open. "I haven't seen them since I tossed them in over a year ago... but they are still there," Szarapski explained, "but they eat at night."

Fish Grow

Because they are fed weekly, the fish are making steady growth. The Rainbow trout in the pond have grown about five inches in the year that they have been in the pond.

Enlarge Pond

To Szarapski his present pond was an experiment. "I know now that with the proper care they will survive here," he said, "and I'm going to enlarge the pond greatly when I can and have a real trout spot where it will be possible to fish."

If he does and decides to fish in it himself, it's likely that he'll have to maintain a vigorous restocking program... for the young owner has a deservedly earned reputation as one of the best trout fishermen in the area.

Defective Jack Blamed for Auten Accident

Gerald Auten is recovering at Hills and Dales General Hospital from injuries suffered when a car he was repairing in his home garage slipped and fell on his face Monday evening.

Seek Okay for $75,000 Issue

Slate Bond Vote Monday

Cass City voters will be asked to approve a bond issue for water improvements Monday in a special election to be held at the Municipal Building at the Recreation Park.

Although the village will go in debt for the bonds, no increased taxes are expected to pay for the bonds.

The village council revamped the water and sewer charge system over a year ago and money to pay for the improvements will come from the revenue derived from the users of the utilities.

In Reserve

If voters approve the bonds, it is possible that they still may never be issued. The reason village trustees voted to raise the $75,000 was to have money to match governmental funds under the Accelerated Public Works Act. At the time the bond issue was first proposed, it was thought that the final approval for Federal matching funds was merely a formality waiting on assurance that the village could raise its share of the money.

But after proceedings were started for the bond issue, the village received word that the program had run out of money and Cass City's participation would have to wait until new funds were allotted.

Despite this setback, trustees decided to go ahead as planned. An opinion from the Michigan Municipal League indicated that there is no time limit on when money must be raised on an approved bond issue.

Present plan is for the bonds to be issued only when Federal funds are approved for Cass City.

Who Can Vote

According to the law, only persons who pay property taxes in Cass City or the husbands or wives of these taxpayers can vote Monday. The polls will be open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

The improvements to the system contemplated include a new storage tank to increase capacity from the present 60,000 gallons to 200,000 gallons at a cost of $56,400.

Revamping of the water mains calls for 9,900 feet of eight-inch mains at a cost of $66,033 and 1,320 feet of six-inch mains at a cost of $7,563.

The remainder of the money would be used to pay interest and financing costs.

Cheaper Interest

The village could have authorized revenue bonds without a vote of the people, but decided to ask for approval of general obligation bonds. The reason for general obligation, rather than revenue, bonds is that the general obligation bonds carry a considerably cheaper interest rate, trustees explained.

Install Officers At Lions Club

Paul O'Harris, Cass City, was installed as president of the Cass City Lions Club Monday night in services held at Martin's Restaurant.

Roy Lawrence, Pigeon, deputy district governor, performed the installation ceremony.

Besides the president, other officers installed included: Alger Freiburger, first vice-president; Pete Rienstra, second vice-president; Lloyd Bryant, third vice-president; Dave Kraft, secretary, and Ed Cantile, treasurer.

Others to take over duties were: Charles Turner, tailwister; Ronald Keegan, Lion tamer, and Mildred Ball and Jerry Wills, directors.

Retiring president B. A. Calka thanked his officers and the members for their assistance through the year. He was presented a past president's pin by O'Harris.

In the business meeting, the club approved a $40 contribution to the Cass City High School student exchange program.

The gift was one of several that the club authorized for worthwhile endeavors. They approved a $100 contribution to the Rochester Leader Dog for the Blind School. Earlier they donated $75 to the school. The latest contribution was to bring other contributions through the years up to an average of $75 from the club.

Also approved Monday was the purchase of a pair of glasses for an area girl as part of the club's sight conservation program.

A donation of $25 was also given to help high school boys attend a basketball clinic this week.

Tell Mail Zip-Code Numbers

A new system of mailing letters goes into effect Monday, July 1, when postal patrons will be asked to mail their letters by the numbers.

Called Zip-code, the plan is designed to streamline mail delivery and cut postal costs.

If you are served by the Cass City Post Office your return address should carry this new Zip-code number: 48726.

Other area post offices have been assigned the following numbers:

Deford 48729
Gagetown 48735
Return addresses for Cass City patrons should read like this, according to Postmaster Lewis Bishop:

Joe Doe
214 West Norway
Cass City, Mich. 48726

Each post office in the United States will have a different number. Bishop emphasized that local postmasters will have only their own number and cannot furnish numbers for other offices.

Outgoing mail will be addressed as usual and the number of the post office addressed added after the regular addressing is completed.

The Reason

Postal employees will use the numbers when sorting mail. The numbers are actually a code designating the region, state and community that the mail is going to.

Why not just read the address? The eventual plan is to use the numbers in connection with semi-automatic machines in sorting mail. These machines have a capacity of some 15,000 pieces per hour, postal authorities said.

When the Zip-code program is in full operation, it is expected to give the United States the most modern and efficient distribution and delivery of mail in existence, Bishop asserted.

Extend Probation For Area Pair

Jerry Curtis of Deford was arrested this week on a charge of violation of probation after he was detected stealing hubcaps off automobiles.

Curtis was on probation for furnishing files to Glenn McDonald while he was awaiting trial on a charge of murder.

Curtis was given another opportunity by the court which continued his probation after Curtis promised to stay away from certain undesirable acquaintances.

Another person charged with probation violation was Ed Mark of Cass City. He left Pugsley, the corrective camp, without authorization. His probation was continued after he secured a job and promised to make restitution of money owed in a larceny case.

The senior Smith is licensed to sell real estate in Saginaw. He worked on an intermittent basis for seven years to complete the extension course.

IT STILL WORKS—this autophone operates like a player piano and sounds like a combination organ and accordion. Bill Zemke says he has not yet learned just how much it's worth. (Chronicle photo)

But He'll Squeeze You A Tune

Bill Zemke Is No Modern Pied Piper

You couldn't call Bill Zemke a modern pied piper, but if you happen to see him wandering around town with a wooden box under his arm, stop him and he'll be happy to squeeze you out a tune.

For that box that he's showing to area persons is an Autophone... vintage of 1877. The nearly century-old machine is in perfect working order.

It operates like you would imagine a player-accordion might work. In a demonstration, Zemke played "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By." The melody is made playable on the machine by a light cardboard-like paper with holes punched in it, the same basic method as is used on the player-piano.

Under the roller where the paper rolls through is a bellows.

When it is squeezed the paper starts to move and the air produces the music... somewhat squeaky but still very recognizable.

How much is the antique worth? Zemke is having trouble finding out. "I've taken it to two antique dealers and it was the first time that either of them have ever seen one," he reported.

Next step will be to the curator at Greenfield Village. "When I find out if it's worth anything," he said with a grin, "I'll let you know."

The autophone was found in an old steamer trunk; part of the Sullivan estate handled by Zemke. In addition to the machine, the trunk included a Prince Albert coat and vest and a large, old leather bound Bible.

SAFETY LESSONS FROM A CAB DRIVER

Haskell Schultz owns a cab company in Fort Wayne, Indiana, that has the lowest ratio of accidents to miles driven of any taxi firm in the United States due to three simple rules that anyone can learn and use immediately. If more drivers used them there would be less work for the hospitals and body shops.

Eighty-five per cent of city accidents take place at intersections and that's where Mr. Schultz's rules are mostly applied. Here they are: (1) Fifty feet from an uncontrolled intersection take your right foot off the gas pedal and hold it over the brake while you coast through the bisecting street; (2) For every 10 M.P.H. stay one car length behind the car in front, and (3) Stop twice at a controlled intersection, once for pedestrians and once at the curb line for a clear view of the street.

Mr. Schultz believes that people can remember and PRACTICE a few rules and get results where a lot of them would confuse them. He may have something there. He has one additional advice for the highway: check the REAR carefully before slowing down, changing lanes or pulling out from a parked position.

Before you take off on any vacation jaunts this summer, make a habit of Mr. Schultz's three rules as well as check your car for brakes and steering faults. You can be purely selfish about this too. If you trade your car in with us, we'll surely give you more for it if it isn't all banged up.

Neck Pains

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

Did you ever wake up with a pain in your neck? More than likely that means you have a subluxation (misplacement) of a vertebrae in the neck. Other symptoms will also surely follow because the spinal cord is involved and all the nerves in the body are a part of this spinal cord in this area, some of which are undoubtedly impinged.

A subluxation (misplacement) at the base of the skull causes not only headaches and neckaches, but indigestion, constipation and disorders, because the nerves supplying all organs are a part of the spinal cord.

Adjustment of the subluxation is the only logical way to correct the cause of disease.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. E. P. Lockwood whose office is located at Cass City, Tel. 872-2765). Adv.

Action Brisk in Church League

The Cass City Church League swung into action last week as all but two teams have played at least one game and several have played a pair of contests.

The early season firing has placed the Argyle Baptists at the top of the 10-team loop with a 2-0 record, while the Riverside-Mizpah-Evan, nine is in the cellar with two defeats. Two other teams are undefeated in the league.

Wednesday, June 12, the Gagetown Nazarenes bowed to the Shabbona Methodists 9-3, as Roger Root pitched his way to an opening victory.

Church of Christ showed plenty of power Friday as they lambasted the Riverside-Mizpah-Evan team, 32-5. Don Englehart pitched the easy victory and Tim Anthes powered out two home runs in the free-scoring game.

In the nightcap Friday, the Argyle Baptists won their first of the season with an 8-5 decision over the Shabbona Methodists. It was the Methodists' first loss. Jerry Hillaker was the winning pitcher.

Saturday, the Argyle Baptists won their second game as they trounced the Grant-Fraser combo 11-1. Again Jerry Hillaker pitched the victory.

Close Race In Little League

The Pirates measured the Tigers Monday, 7-3, as Mike Murphy picked up the victory in relief of D. Sherrard, the starter, who went three innings.

Joe Mark started for the Tigers and was relieved by S. Tuckey. Mark was charged with the loss. The game was close until the fourth inning when the Pirates combined six hits and a walk for five runs.

The winners picked up seven hits and six walks while the Tigers notched five hits and seven walks.

Erla's Lead City Softball League

Erla's took over undisputed possession of first place in the City Softball League Tuesday, June 11, as they defeated Clare and Andy's, 9-0, while General Cable topped Walbro, 8-4.

It was strictly no contest as Erla's backed up the no-hit pitching of Bosch with a robust hitting attack. Bosch struck out 10 while pitching his no-hitter.

Dean Hoag slammed a home run and Frank Creason had three hits for the winners.

Sloppy Game

Walbro lost a sloppily played game with General Cable. The Wiremen out-hit the carburetor nine and Walbro helped kick away the game by committing seven errors. Jacoby and LaRoche each collected two hits for the winners. Roger Karr slammed out three safeties for the losers.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Erla's	2	0	1000
Walbro	1	1	500
General Cable	1	1	500
Sunoco	0	2	000

Next week's games: Walbro vs. Sunoco and Erla's vs. General Cable.

And So I Fixed The Breakfast

By Dave Kraft

Back in the old days, before I got married, I used to fix my own meals, wash and iron my own clothes and keep my own apartment. Of course, I only weighed 127 pounds from eating my own cooking; my clothes looked like I washed them in last week's water and ironed them with a mixmaster, and after I got every room unkempt enough to be unlivable, I moved to another apartment.

Now that I'm married, everything is different. Oh, I still fix my own meals, wash and iron my own clothes and keep house, but my wife is there to see that I do it right.

Not really. My wife's really pretty good about that. I know a number of guys whose wives don't get up in the morning and fix breakfast.

Not my wife, boy! Every morning she's out of bed and fixing breakfast before I get a new blade in my razor. Of course, after some of those breakfasts she fixes I sometimes wish she'd stayed in bed.

Once in awhile I tell her so. The other morning she caught me off guard and took me up on it. She blamed it on her delicate condition.

Now, if the truth were known, I'd rather try to enroll in a southern college than fix my own breakfast. So I told her.

"Honey, I'd rather try to enroll in a southern college than fix my own breakfast," says I. "Well now," says she, "that's an avenue of thought I hadn't traveled on, but it has possibilities."

So I fixed my own breakfast. First, I put the water on for coffee. At our house we mostly drink instant coffee 'cause there's such a small margin for error.

Next, I went to the icebox (it's really a refrigerator but I like to hang onto the past) and grabbed three eggs with one hand and the orange juice with the other. It was a mistake.

In the first place, I have a two-egg hand so there was no place for the third egg to go but on the floor. About that time the orange juice began to slip from my other hand and in my haste to get to the cupboard I put my bare foot in the broken egg.

Reminded me of my days on the farm, running barefoot in the pasture.

Actually, the orange juice wasn't slipping . . . the lid was just coming off and in a second I was wading in a sea of orange juice, broken eggs and other debris.

I was right about then that I decided a couple of strips of bacon and some coffee would do me just fine.

When I was backin', my hunting knife was an invaluable part of my cooking utensils. Bachelors have a certain ingenuity about them which is all part of man's ability to survive without a mate.

Rather than clutter up my kitchen, in which there was hardly enough room for me and the stove, with a bunch of miscellaneous knives, forks, et cetera, I had one fork and one knife . . . my hunting knife.

I used that old knife to open cans, turn steaks, get the last of the pickled pig hocks out of the bottle, spear olives, peel potatoes and if it had held its edge I probably would have shaved with it.

Anyhow, I was down in the basement rummaging around for my knife so I could cut the bacon when I heard my wife rummaging around in the kitchen. I rushed back upstairs just in time to see her heading back to the bedroom. On the table was a bowl of cold cereal.

"Eat that and get out of here."

I'd have made a suitable remark but the coffee water was beginning to boil. I waded through the orange juice and broken eggs to the icebox again to get the coffee.

Nothing. Not a grain of instant coffee. My hands began to shake . . . to me, a cup of coffee in the morning is as necessary as an alcoholic's eye-opener.

Tea! That's it. Anything black and hot. We keep our tea in a canister on the cupboard.

I opened the can and out came a little voice singing, "I love those tiny little tea leaves in Tetley Tea." I slammed the lid shut. If there's anything I can't stand, it's music in the morning.

OES Family Picnic Scheduled in July

About 40 attended the June meeting of Echo Chapter OES Wednesday evening, June 12. During the business meeting, members voted to purchase the new altar cloth for the newly-organized Bethel of Job's Daughters. The Sunshine committee reported five calls and seven cards sent during the past month.

Plans were made for a family picnic at the park July 11 at six-thirty. The committee on arrangements are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stilson, Keith Murphy and Basil Wotton.

At the close of the meeting, one new member was initiated into the Order.

Twelve past matrons and four past patrons of the Chapter were honored in a brief ceremony.

There will be no July or August meetings and installation date is Oct. 19.

Bouquets of summer flowers decorated the tables when refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Marjorie Karr of Gifford chapter, Gagetown, substituted as conductress in the absence of Mrs. James Seals.

Far East Duty For John Starr

John S. Starr, fire control technician second class, USN, son of Mrs. Ida C. Starr of Snover, participated in operations aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk on June 6 when President Kennedy visited the ship to view a demonstration of naval power.

The Kitty Hawk was among several ships engaged in the massive demonstration for the Chief Executive. The carrier recently resumed operations after a six-week in-port repair period in San Diego, Calif.

The ship is scheduled to deploy to the Far East for duty with the Seventh Fleet late in July.

Deadline Nears for Wheat Allotments

June 30 is the final date to file applications for new farm allotments for the 1964 wheat crop. Although marketing quotas will not apply on the 1964 crop, acreage allotments remain in effect for price support purposes and new farm allotment provisions are still applicable.

According to George Schian, ASCS Office Manager, new farm allotments are intended for wheat farmers who have lost possession of a former farm and for those who are just starting as independent producers. They do not apply to farms for which a 1964 allotment has been determined.

Application forms are available at the Tuscola County ASCS Office.

District Recognition For County 4-H'ers

Eight 4-H club members from Tuscola County are putting the finishing touches on their 4-H records for entry in state competition, according to Ed Schrader, county extension agent in 4-H club work.

Nine awards is the highest Tuscola County has received in a number of years and points out the outstanding record these club members have compiled. All have shown creativeness, hard work and growth, Schrader continued.

Camellia Bush received the all achievement and Danforth awards. She has been a 4-H member for eight years, and has been active in clothing and foods. In 1962 she received state recognition as state winner in canning. She has attended the National 4-H Club Congress, State Show, Club Week, and camp. She received the Betty Crocker award from Caro High School in 1963. She will enter Central Michigan University this fall.

Mike Zwerk has been in the 4-H Crops program for nine years. He has carried on variety trials and crop test plots. He has also been active in the livestock program, serving on the county livestock judging team for two years.

Arlene Schlosser received the gardening award. Arlene has been carrying on a wide range of trial plots for a number of years. She was one of the club members taking part in the exchange program to North Dakota this year. She has also been active in clothing and foods programs.

Diane Foster received the dairy food award. She has been in the foods program for six years. She has also been active in the dairy program.

Dean Poppy has studied grain marketing for three years. He received the marketing award.

Mike Spannagel received the tractor award. He has been in this program for five years. He and Poppy have been active in crops and health projects. They received trips to New York last year on their demonstrations.

Judy Ann Rau received the safety award for the district. Judy Ann has been active in club work for eight years, completing projects in clothing, foods and junior leadership in addition to her safety project.

Phillip Hageman received recognition in the saddle club program, the quarter horse award. Young Hageman is a member of the Junior Horseman Club, and has completed projects in livestock and dairy as well as the horse project.

These 4-H Club members will attend the State 4-H Show at Michigan State University the last week in August. There they will meet with specialists to review their club program. State winners will be announced in November, Schrader concluded.

WELL PREPARED It's planning that makes the difference—either you profit by knowing, or lose by guessing.

The average, presently healthy, middle-aged white male has been estimated to have one chance in five of developing coronary heart disease before he reaches the age of 65, the Michigan Heart Association says.

It's Easy to Read - - And Easy to Lay Down

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

With a great deal of anticipation I picked up WHAT TIME'S THE NEXT SWAN?, which is the autobiography of actor Walter Slezak, captured immediately by the unusual subtitle, "As told to Smith-Corona Model 88E." That was one point of contact, since I review books for this column by telling all on a Smith-Corona series SE. Slezak has always been a favorite actor of mine and I anticipated a wonderful folksy account of his career and his family. I was vastly disappointed.

The account of his own family is nearly nonexistent in this book. His father, a well-known opera star in Europe a generation ago, appears with over-generous accounts. Walter Slezak does tell of his early experiences in the European theater, devoting most of the book to this period of his life. In recounting one encounter with an American actor (Charles Laughton) does he do any justice to the present American theater. He must have heard of Bette Davis, for example, but no account appears of their ever working together in the same play or movie.

However, there is nothing morally bad with the book. Since our tongue was his second language we can forgive his writing with the mannerisms and style of a three-year-old. On autobiography should be written because the author either has something he must share with his readers; or, has lived so public a life that he owes it to succeeding generations to relate it in terms of how he chose his goals and how well he met them.

This book was unfortunately conceived by a publishing firm which primarily exists on the desires of people like Slezak to leave a record of their lives and accomplishments for poor, poor posterity. Note a rash of such works by TV stars such as Jack Paar and Hugh Downs.

Personally, I feel less appreciative of Walter Slezak since reading this book, although it does 'come alive' once in awhile. I can see this book getting a big play from cottage dwellers this summer — it is an easy book to lay down while mother rescues Junior from drowning — because on picking it up she really doesn't care whether she takes up where she quit reading.

So, if you want to pass the time this summer by appearing to be literary by all means read this.

TO A FAULT

Men are lenient with their pet vices because of their belief that charity begins at home.

Coronary disease (heart attack) is so widespread in our middle-aged population that Dr. Paul Dudley White, former President Eisenhower's heart specialist, has called it the "modern American epidemic," the Michigan Heart Association declared.

Beutler Farm Fertile Ground For Indian Relics

The Cass City area is a fertile hunting ground for Indian relics and one of the best spots is on the Alfred Beutler farm, southwest of Cass City.

Although not a collector, Beutler is continually finding relics while working his farm. Last week he found an Indian arrowhead in nearly perfect condition. It was the third he has spotted in recent years.

"I keep them around till the family comes and visits and takes them home with them," Beutler said.

Other collectors also find the area a fertile hunting ground. Earl Streeter has found six relics in that same field, Beutler said.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

I got front page news for your paper this week, fact is you might want to git out a extra edition about it. Our community is fixing to git a airport special fer helicopters. The details was worked out by the fellers at the country store Saturday night.

You will recollect about the U. S. Department of Agriculture setting up a program here a while back to loan farmers money fer branching out from growing so much stuff. It was called the Agriculture Act of 1962, and it was aimed to encourage farmers to take crop land out of production and use it fer other things. Well, Secretary Freeman has announced the first 10 loans.

The first one was to a farmer in North Carolina. He had 135 acres and told the Department of Agriculture that if they'd loan him $32,000 he would take 80 acres out of production and build a golf course and take 6 acres and build a picnic grounds and swimming pool. The officials in Washington figgered this would be a sound proposition, so they let him have the money.

Now Ed Doolittle announced Saturday night that he's got 10 acres laying as level as a floor that would be ideal fer a airport fer helicopters. The fellers was helping Ed work out the details and Zeke Grubb advised Ed to remind them Agriculture officials that the Defense Department was building more and more helicopters and his airport could come in mighty handy fer emergency landings. That way, claimed Zeke, it could be tied in with the national defense program and it was hard to tell how much Ed could borrow, maybe $75,000.

Clem Webster allowed as how he had his doubts about the project, said they wasn't enough helicopters flying around to need this special airport. Zeke claimed this wasn't no argument, said Clem's thinking was in conflict with our national stockpiling percedures, sound phiscal policy, and preparedness fer the future. Furthermore, argued Zeke, a country that's got enough canned hamburger stored away fer its Navy to last 59 years and 2 months would be strong in favor of having a few spare airports scattered around fer helicopters.

Bug Hookum sided with Zeke, said our Government always took the long view about providing fer the future, sorter like a merchant friend he has got over in town. Bug said his friend didn't drink no whiskey but always kept a bottle on the pantry shelf on account of him never knowing when a snake might crawl in the kitchen and pop him one. Same way with helicopters, argued Bug, the Department of Agriculture never knowed when one might want to set down on Ed's airport. Personal, Mister Editor, I see one drawback. Ed is a Abe Lincoln Republican and the New Frontier is allergic to them fellers.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Treasurer Lists 19 Prompt Taxpayers

H. L. Bridges, village treasurer, listed 19 persons who paid village property taxes the day after the statements were mailed.

He said that the prompt remittances were especially welcome to the village as the village treasury is always at its lowest ebb just before statements are mailed. The tax bills went into the mail Thursday, June 6, at noon and the 19 persons paid their taxes the next day. Bridges said that the list includes only the names of persons who paid taxes at his office and not others who may have left payments at either local bank.

Payments were received from Grant Gaspie, Dale Damm, Mrs. Guadalupe Pena, Floyd Ottaway, Cass City Lanes, Joseph Crawford, Little Funeral Home, James Mallory, Arthur Little, Lillian Ricker, Mrs. John Jaus, The Cass City State Bank and Mrs. Hiram McKellar.

Concluding the list are: Harold Murphy, David Ackerman, Frederick Jaus, Ward Benkelman, Walbro Corporation and Earl Whittaker.

22 Dairy Members At Club Meeting

Twenty-two dairy members of the Cass City Livestock Club met Thursday evening, June 13, at the Lynn Spencer home when all members participated in a judging class. There was also a clipping demonstration.

Eight adults were present at this meeting. The next meeting will be held July 26 at the Russell's.

Slate Crops-Soils Field Day at MSU

Agricultural experts will get right "down-to-earth" in discussing efficient crop production practices with Michigan farmers at Michigan State University June 20, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

It will all be part of the annual Crops-Soils Field Day. Crops research in the "Water Wonderland" is highly important as more than 15 million acres of land produce nearly half a billion dollars worth of food and fiber each year.

Plant scientists at MSU will discuss their success in development of high yielding soft-white wheat varieties which are resistant to mildew, leaf rust and Hessian fly at the field day. They are also seeking genetic resistance for the cereal leaf beetle which has caused considerable damage throughout southwestern Michigan during the past year. New spring barley and oat varieties will also be shown for the first time.

Researchers have also found that haphazard selection and application of fertilizer lead to unbalanced conditions which promote the uptake of excessive amounts of some elements. This may cause too little uptake of more important elements for plant growth which may result in lower yields.

The breeding, selection and testing of grasses, and legumes from various parts of the world will also be shown during the event.

Research dealing with the management of grasses for lawns, golf courses and athletic fields will also be on display. Scientists are studying the effects of fertilizers, seeding rates and soil conditions on these grasses.

Still other research will include work on continuous corn, chemical weed control, fertilizer placement, nitrogen and forage crops for green chopping.

Wagon tours of the plots will begin at 9:30 a.m. from the barns located on Mt. Hope Road south of the main MSU campus. Everyone interested in agricultural production will have an opportunity to hear scientists discuss the latest research on crop production.

New Law Seen As Aid to Mental Health Program in Michigan

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Improve Organization

The State Mental Health Department will have a new look soon. New laws permit this improvement.

Department Director Charles Waggoner announced some time ago he hoped to step down from his post and assume lesser duties within the government unit. He strongly recommended to the Governor that a psychiatrist be hired to replace him.

An act approved by the Legislature and Governor would implement this recommendation.

The new law requires that the director of the mental health program be a physician trained in psychiatry. Another change in the mental health picture will come about as a result of a provision in the act which makes the department director responsible directly to the Governor.

Previously the director of the department served at the pleasure of a five-member commission appointed by the Governor. This commission will also be abolished under the new act and replaced with a 12-member mental health council.

Backers of the new law felt the council-director-governor changes would provide a relationship which would result in great benefit to the cause of mental health.

Spokesmen for the Michigan Society for Mental Health said it would eliminate the possibility that political strategy would replace concern for the mentally ill which might occur when the commission was dominated by one party and the Governor was in the opposite party.

A number of long-time Democratic Party members have been voicing criticism of the party leadership recently.

The costly and futile recount of nearly 2,000 precincts in the April vote on the new Constitution was ill-advised, they say. The only thing it proved to these dissident party members was that the party can come up with money when it needs it. A concentrated drive raised the $5 per precinct needed to ask for the recount.

Because only 400 votes were cut from the Constitution approval margin, however, the criticism grew after the new tally because of the even larger expense to the state.

Another area of dissent among party members arose with the hue and cry issued from Democratic headquarters and Congressional members to be affected by the Republican-proposed redistricting plan approved by the Legislature.

Party Chairman Zolton A. Ferry started the criticism in Lansing to rouse Democratic legislators against the measure in the last days of the 1963 regular session.

It was not long, however, before lack of support among top Democrats, some of whom might lose their seats or have comfortable margins cut back, made it clear that a fight on this issue would not be wise.

The general dissatisfaction voiced by a few Democrats in reaction to the row by party leaders over the reapportionment was summed up well by one legislator. "If we had a majority here (in the Legislature) and held the Governor's office, we would have done exactly the same thing to them (the Republicans)," he said.

New Start

Echoes of a successful 10th annual Michigan Week are still reverberating in many communities, but plans are already well under way for the 1964 observance.

The general chairman has already been selected and is working quickly to name state and local committees to organize the May "brag week." He is Dale I. Sellers, vice-president of the Manufacturers' National Bank in Detroit.

Gov. George Romney also has named the honorary co-chairmen for the various phases of Michigan Week. These were selected in the areas of agriculture, commerce, communications, education, government, industry and labor, with leaders in each field given the designation.
