

Suspect Arson in Area Fire

Authorities are investigating the possibility of arson in a fire at a vacant house on Deckerville Road, about 1 1/4 miles east of Cemetery Road, this past week.

The Elkhart Township Fire Department quelled the fire that started in a davenport in the house. Damage included heat and smoke damage throughout the house, Chief Al Avery reported.

Because there were no utilities connected in the home and no one living there, firemen theorized the fire may have been deliberately set.

Grass Fire

The department also quelled a grass fire Thursday in northeast Cass City, east of the Municipal Building. There was no damage.

Mrs. Richard Case, director, announced that tennis will start the week of July 8. That week will also be highlighted by a doll show and hike, she said.

Fox Terrier Proves Popular Dog Here

Mrs. Edward Fischer of Gagetown sold her 10-week-old pup with a Chronicle liner ad last week.

Mrs. Fischer said they sold the pup Wednesday night before the paper had been circulated by mail.

Here's the ad that produced five calls for the Fishers:

FOR SALE—Chihuahua and Toy Fox Terrier, 10 weeks old. Edward Fischer, phone NO. 5-9938.

IT'S THE PEAK SEASON for fishing and the pike in the Cass River are proving to be no exception. Thursday at noon, Les Nicholas, 15, of Cass City landed this 29 1/2-inch, five-pound lunker.

Les won't pinpoint the spot where he caught it, but says it's in the east river near the bridge. Brent Galloway helped Nicholas catch the fish after a 20-minute fight.

From the Editor's Corner

Authorities aren't talking, but the unofficial word around town is that Wesley Milk Co. has sold out in Cass City... an inventory was taken Saturday night.

Cass City's Main Street has had plenty of sprucing up this spring. Latest store to announce plans for revamping is Wood's Drugs which will remodel both the interior and exterior of the store.

A freak stroke of luck saved Vernon McConnell $50 Saturday. McConnell was fishing in the terrific heat and when he left the stream he took his glasses off, placed them on the trunk of the car and started to mop his brow.

A little later he drove off and left the glasses behind. Half way home he remembered them and hustled back just in time to see a car run over them.

Although the frames were badly twisted, the glasses sustained the weight of the vehicle without a scratch.

Going the way of the horse and buggy is delivery of milk by the can to receiving stations. Michigan Milk Producers Association has sounded a warning to its members that can milk will no longer be received when economically unprofitable. This day cannot be too long away. In the few short years since bulk milk delivery was introduced to the farm, more than 75 per cent of the total milk delivery to MMPA has switched to the new method.

We met the man who will probably be our new U.S. Representative after the next election. He is James Harvey. Harvey already is canvassing the area to become acquainted with his new constituents in Huron, Sanilac, Tuscola and St. Clair counties.

As a Republican, he is almost assured of re-election in the new eighth district if he wins the nomination in the primary election.

From this corner he looks like he will be a tough, politically-wise opponent for anyone who should try to run in the new district.

Kenneth MacRae Visiting Home of Clan in Scotland

Kenneth MacRae, 89, of Cass City has returned to his homeland, Iverness, Scotland, for a two-week visit. He is accompanied by his son, Dr. L. Douglas MacRae, and his grandson Doug, both of Bay City.

Kenneth and Dr. MacRae are making the trip by plane and plan to be home July 10.

Doug will remain the greater part of the summer and will tour England. While on the Island he will visit Mr. and Mrs. William Dorling. Mrs. Dorling is a sister of Miss Muriel Addison of Cass City.

The Dorlings spent several weeks in Cass City during the 1962 Christmas season.

Heat Wave Survey

Residents Wilt As Sales Soar

Everybody complains about it... a few have taken measures to circumvent it... and the fest simply endures it.

That was the result of an informal survey conducted about and in the midst of Cass City's and the area's heat wave Monday.

With the temperature flirting around the 100-degree mark, we interviewed representatives from business and industry to find out how the heat was affecting their production or sales.

Probably the persons who don't mind the heat at all and, in fact are enjoying it, are the employees at Anrod Screen Cylinder Co. and General Insulated Wire Works.

Anrod has closed both its manufacturing facilities and its offices for vacation and phoning the company turns on a record that says in dulcet tones that they'll be back from vacation in a couple of weeks.

General Insulated, too, has closed most of its production facilities for a one-week vacation.

Other Plants

But the other plants are not so lucky. Walbro is in the midst of its busiest July in the memory of the company in Cass City.

"We'll take one day off for the Fourth of July and be back at it Friday and Saturday," Howard Bacon, plant superintendent, said. "The heat from our customers is worse than the weather... and believe me that's hot," he reported.

Bacon said he was sure that the weather was affecting the work in the plant. But that doesn't necessarily mean our production is down, he pointed out. "It's kind of hard to tell. Our production may be up to that of normal weather simply because of the extra effort by the girls in the plant. We have a conscientious crew," he said.

"Our production is fine, but I feel like a rag," Mrs. Bette Bassett reported from Bassett Manufacturing. "The men seem to be able to keep normal production schedules even in very hot weather."

Affects Business

The heat has pushed the sale of items related to hot weather. Merchants with fans and air conditioners are reporting their best year in these lines in several seasons already... with the bulk of the season before them.

Stores with lounge chairs, swimming pools, picnic supplies and other hot weather favorites report a booming business in these special items.

But the sale of regular merchandise seems to have fallen off a trifle, according to reports of local merchants. Stores without hot weather sales boosters report that the weather has definitely curtailed business.

Builder Jerome Root Jr. reports that when the weather gets scorching they change working habits... especially if they are doing roof work. We start at sun-up and work till about 11 a.m., knock off during the midday hot spell and come back towards supper time and work till dark, he explained.

No Effect

Regardless of how hot the weather is, it doesn't keep dedicated sportsmen from their favorite pastimes.

The Rev. Father Arnold Messing reported Monday morning that he was off for a round of golf in Bad Axe and Horace Bolen said that his schedule called for a few fast sets of tennis... and both seemed eager to get away.

ALWAYS A DOUBLE CELEBRATION for Mrs. Rachel Muntz, 90, is the Fourth of July. The pioneer resident of the area was born on the holiday in 1873 in Dresden, Ont. She moved to the Thumb when five years old.

In good health, Mrs. Muntz is pictured in one of her favorite pastimes... sitting and rocking on the front porch of her Houghton Street home. "I like to watch the people go by," she said.

She and her husband lived on area farms in Huron and Tuscola counties all of their lives before moving to Cass City to retire in 1936. Mr. Muntz died in 1958.

The family has four children, all of whom live in the area. Three sons, Stanley, Homer and Leslie, live on farms in the Cass City area while a daughter, Mrs. Steve Tescho, lives in Caro.

Stiff Fines for Two In Justice Court

Two drivers paid stiff fines in Cass City Justice Court this week and four other minor property damage accidents were reported.

Benjamin J. Poole, 26, of Caro was caught again for driving without a license. He pleaded guilty Friday before Justice Reva M. Little and was ordered to pay a fine and costs of $31.25.

It was his third summons for the same offense. The Secretary of State refused to renew Poole's operator's license because he did not pay a speeding ticket issued in Saginaw.

Unable to pay his fine Friday, he was taken to the Tuscola county jail for seven days or until the fine was paid.

After appearing in Cass City's Justice Court, he was taken to Caro and Vassar to appear in justice courts for other traffic violations.

Drinking Costly

Martin Elmer Haag, 34, of Sebewaing switched his plea from not guilty to guilty of driving under the influence of liquor.

He had pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial after being arrested May 14 by Police Chief Carl Palmateer. After the jury was selected, he switched his plea.

Justice Little sentenced him Thursday to pay a fine and costs of $109.70.

Property Damage

A freak accident damaged a car and caused minor injuries to passengers this week.

Sustaining minor injuries were Mrs. Lucille Sommers of Cass City and Joyce Larges, 19, of Reese. The accident occurred on Doerr Road when the Sommers' car, driven by Mrs. Sommers' daughter, Mrs. Stuart Merchant, dropped into a manhole.

The cover had been blown off the hole by the heat for the second time that day. The accident occurred at noon and was investigated by Chief Carl Palmateer.

Hits Truck

The vehicles were damaged but the driver escaped injury in a collision Wednesday, June 26. Aletha L. Hawkins of Kingston ran into a truck owned by Gene LeValley of Deford on Cemetery Road, a quarter mile from Deckerville Road. The truck was parked on the shoulder of the road. No tickets were issued in the mishap.

Parking Accident

Willena Drake, 21, of Lake Orion struck the side of a car owned by Eli D. Holes, 38, of Cass City as she was attempting to back from the curb on Main Street Sunday.

The left front door of the Holes car was damaged.

Loses Control

Marjorie Deeg, 21, of Sebewaing was injured in an automobile accident Friday night near Port Austin. She was a passenger in a car driven by Gary Fifield, 22, of Decker.

Fifield lost control of his car when it was hit by a car driven by Gary Adams, 20, of Norfolk, Va.

Bad Axe State Police investigated.

Annual School Meeting to Feature Reports

The Cass City Board of Education announced this week that the annual meeting of the school district will be held Tuesday, July 9, at 8 p.m.

Attendance at the meeting is expected to be small, as it has been for several years.

Before Cass City switched to electing board members by ballot, it was always difficult to tell just how many would attend a meeting.

Some years as few as a couple dozen persons would attend and in others, several hundred would flock to the gym.

But since board members were not elected at the meeting, attendance has always been meager.

Want Meeting

But the few faithful who do attend want the annual meeting to continue. The board asked for permission to discontinue the meeting two years ago and the idea was rejected by a nearly unanimous vote of the persons attending.

The annual meeting is highlighted by reports by the secretary and treasurer of the board and Superintendent Willis Campbell.

The president of the school board (Jack Esau) traditionally presides at the meeting. The new members of the board take office following the annual meeting and the board is reorganized, usually immediately following the annual meeting.

What Moves the Bowels?

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

The average person believes that laxatives or cathartics, Epsom Salts, for instance, is capable of moving the bowels. This is a fallacy. Epsom Salts does not move the bowels.

It never did move anybody's bowels. The simple truth is, that cathartics are obnoxious substances which are irritating to the body. The reserve vitality of the patient is called upon to remove the obnoxious substance. It does so by pouring into the intestines and bowels quantities of water from the blood stream, speeding up the peristaltic action of the muscles so as to eliminate rapidly the irritating substance and most everything else that may be present. In other words, the bowels move the cathartic. The cathartic does not move the bowels.

BULEN TALKS Cars

WHO EVER HEARD OF A TRADE-IN LIKE THIS?

Whenever we have the chance to take in a really superior used car we pay a premium price for it. That's because quality used cars are always a good buy. To the dealer who can then sell them with confidence and to the retail buyer who gets a lot of trouble-free transportation at a real saving.

Just to show you how much it can pay you to give your car extra loving care, a motorist recently traded in a 1934 automobile on a new '63 in a large eastern city and received $750.05 for his used car. That was actually $9.54 more than he paid for it new 29 years ago.

Of course, 29 years of inflation helped some and this car had likely acquired some antique value. But the real deciding factor was what the dealer described as the "mint" condition of the car. The original paint glistened and a well-used and faded owner's manual was still in the glove compartment. The car had been driven 58,000 miles.

Within a week the dealer had several chances to sell it for more than he had paid for it.

If you're thinking of trading up to a new or newer car, it will pay you to come in and talk over your needs with us. No matter what condition your car is in our trade-in values are high, but better than average condition is always reflected in the price.

They was a little excitement at the country store Saturday night. Ed Doolittle come in and announced he had wrote to the Post Office Department a couple weeks ago and has now got his new Zip number. Ed is a little sneaky in matters of this kind, Mister Editor, always trying to git ahead of his neighbor. I can recollect during the last World War when he finagled around and come up with the first gas ration card in the community.

Ed was busting with pride Saturday night, said he aimed to paint his Zip number, his Social Security number, his Internal Revenue number, his telephone number, and his Army serial number in World War I on a piece of cardboard, frame it and set it on the mantelpiece in the parlor. Ed allowed as how, now that we was running this country by the numbers, his mantelpiece decoration would give him status in the community and also come in handy fer quick reference. And in case his house might burn down, Ed said he was going to jot down the numbers on his shirt tail fer emergency use. He claimed that next to a nuclear attack, he couldn't figger nothing nowadays worse than getting caught 10 mile from home without your numbers.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw in the papers where Senator Talmadge of Georgia was trying to git a bill passed to clean up elections in the big cities like New York and Chicago. Some of our rural Congressmen was claiming it had got to the place in the big cities where it didn't make no difference how the people voted, the politicians stole it the way they wanted it to go. Personal, Mister Editor, I don't think human nature in these matters is any worse or any better than they was 50 years ago. I recollect once when I was a young man they had to call off a election a week afore it was scheduled on account of somebody had broke in the Court-house and stole the results.

Incidental, Zeke is a authority on affairs at the national level, and he announced President Kennedy has hit a brick wall with his social medicine program fer the aged. Zeke advised us old folks to avoid needing to git in the hospital afore the next general election in 1964. But Ed told Zeke he needn't be counting on this item in 1964. On account of Ed being a Abe Lincoln Republican, he is supporting Rockefeller or Goldwater fer 1964 and he said he ain't saw where either one of them has come out fer social medicine.

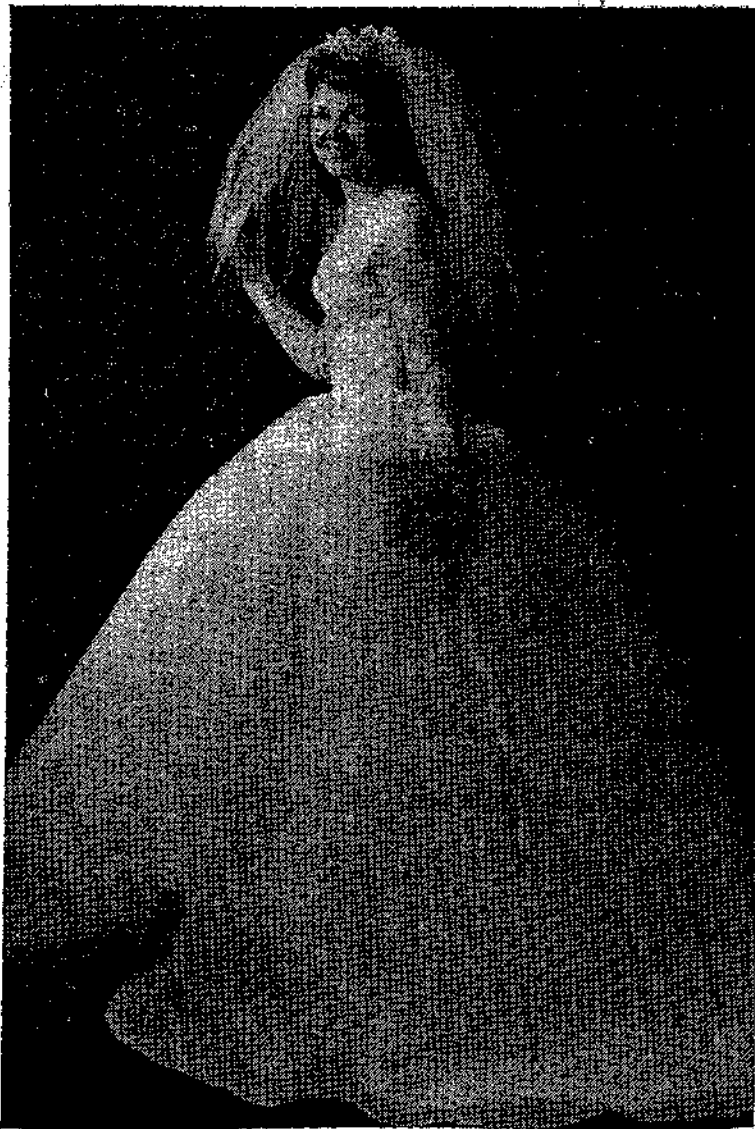

Isaac Cornfodder, that is our authority on matters at the international level, reported he had saw where Castro was having all burglars in Cuba shot. What was puzzling all the fellers was where Castro ever learned it was wrong to steal.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Mrs. David D'Arcy

Wedding vows were exchanged recently by Miss Becky Kay Stump and David Lee D'Arcy in the Gospel Center United Missionary Church, South Bend, Ind. The couple is making their home in Mishawaka. David assumed the duties of assistant pastor of the Gospel Center Church July 1.

A reception was held for the couple Saturday, June 22, at Decker Hall with 130 guests present. Sue Kelley and Judy Tuckey served the wedding cake which was made by Mrs. John Zuehlke. Miss Dawn Sanford, cousin of the groom, was in charge of the guest book.

The double-ring ceremony was performed Friday, June 14, by the Rev. Ray P. Pannabecker, president of Bethel College, in a 7:30 p.m. evening service.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D'Arcy of Kingston and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stump of Goshen, Ind.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She chose a white silk organza and lace gown, featuring a fitted bodice with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The skirt was accented with lace appliques and a cluster of silk roses formed a back bustle. A crown of lace and seed pearls held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a Bible with a spray of pink tea roses.

Mrs. Jack D'Arcy of South Bend was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Larry Stump of Osceola, Ind., Mrs. Ron Stump of Wakarusa, Ind., Miss Brenda Stump of Goshen and Miss Kaye D'Arcy of Kingston.

The bridal attendants wore gowns of ice blue nylon organdy over white taffeta. The gowns featured round necklines, short sleeves and full skirts with back bows which formed bustles. The bride's mother made the dresses. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations and baby mums.

Paul D'Arcy of Kingston was best man for his brother. Groomsman were Larry Stump, Ron Stump, Jack D'Arcy and Ron Phipps of New Carlisle, Ohio. James Hosler of Lyndick, Ind., and Darrell Schlabaugh of Detroit, both college friends of the groom, were ushers.

The bride's niece, Cosette Stump of Osceola, was flower girl. Richard D'Arcy of Kingston was ringbearer.

Mrs. D'Arcy wore a blue lace sheath dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Stump chose a rose silk Shantung sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

A reception was held in the Goodman Auditorium at Bethel College following the ceremony. Four hundred guests attended.

The couple spent a 10-day honeymoon at Port Elgin, Canada.

David graduated this year with a B. A. degree in Biblical literature from Bethel College. The bride will be a senior at Bethel this fall.

Parents of the couple entertained at a rehearsal luncheon.

An open invitation is extended to everyone, Betts said, to attend these special services.

Two members of the class who died, Raymond McCullough and Reba Balkwell Agar, were remembered by a moment of prayer.

The class will have another reunion in 1968.

Guests attended from Orlando, Fla., Fort Wayne, Ind., Detroit, Saginaw, Ypsilanti, Goodrich, Royal Oak, Rochester, Boyne City, Bay City, Grand Rapids, Caro and the Cass City area.

The reputation a man tries to buy is usually delivered too late.

Some commencement orators come loaded with challenges for the new graduates and alibis for their own generation.

Beauty Tips

by Helen

Most every skin looks more attractive with a touch of suntan, and the first step in creating the illusion, if you don't have the real thing, is the right foundation color. For dry skin, use a fluid foundation with softening ingredients; for oil and normal skin, use a matte finishing cream. Begin with a clean skin and use a protective makeup base. Remember when applying the foundation to stretch your skin slightly. The best habit of all is professional salon care here at HELEN'S. Our competent staff is experienced in every phase of beauty care. Appointments not always necessary, phone 872-3535. HELEN'S BEAUTY SALON, 6469 Main Street in Cass City, Michigan.

P.S. For limp, lifeless, lazy hair we have an amazingly unique chemically formulated permanent with "backbone" skeleton that is infused permanently into fine hair, giving inner-support strength and holding quality than ever before possible. Given at Helen's for $12.50.

I Keep Kicking A Dead Horse ...

By Dave Kraft

I hate to keep kicking a dead horse, but my wife still hasn't seen fit to cough up our latest progeny. She darn near did, but right at the last minute she backed out of the deal and, as of press time, we are still three and a half.

This "almost-deal" happened just the other day. Earlier, she'd come home from an examination and said the doctor wanted to take the baby by inducing labor. Right then I could have saved a lot of time and trouble if I'd just told her to forget the whole deal. I've been trying for weeks ... months ... to get her to give that child up and nothing I say will induce her to do anything.

Anyway, the next morning I took her to the hospital. Before we went inside, I made her promise that the whole thing wasn't going to take more than 15-20 minutes ... I had a busy day ahead.

At the hospital they took her into a little room to get her ready (if she wasn't ready by now, she'd never be ready) and the nurse told me to go back to the waiting room and as soon as she was ready they'd call me.

Two hours later, just as I was finishing my third time through "Captain Billy's Whiz-bang" (I wish they'd get some new books), I decided I'd had enough sitting around and I made like an irate husband looking for his wife.

I finally found her languishing on her side, sipping water through a bent straw.

"How long have they been done preparing you?" I asked. "Oh, about an hour and a half, she replied. "Well, why the devil didn't they come and get me?" I asked. "Oh, they probably forgot," says she.

Forget! Forget! How in the world can you forget a father that's going to have a baby? I could have sat in that waiting room until the second coming of you-know-who (and that'll probably be sooner than the first time around for this kid of ours). What if I'd had a relapse or something?

Good grief. All I can say is they're pretty lax. I just hope other husbands don't have to suffer like that.

I sat around in her room for another hour and finally I gave up. I checked in again after a couple of hours. This time she was taking liquid in through her veins.

"What's that?" I asked as soon as I recovered from seeing the needle sticking in her arm. She explained that it was a solution of sugar and something else. The "something else" causes "pit labor" which means that it gets you right in the pit of the stomach.

She was having considerable pain and, after another hour, I started to get stomach cramps myself. Rather than make medical history, I got out of there while I could.

I checked back in later in the evening ... just as my wife was checking out. When I asked why, she said that the doctor told her that the "tree of life wasn't ready to drop its fruit" and the next one was on Mother Nature.

I don't know about Ma Nature, but if that tree doesn't start dropping something pretty soon the season's going to be over.

Pat Rabideau, yachtsman and postal employee extraordinaire, told me this one.

"You know how to get an elephant in an oak tree?" "Nope. How?" "Plant an acorn under him and wait."

There is nothing left but boredom for the man who attempts to idle away his time.

State Prepared for Disaster

Do You Know?

In the event of an enemy attack do you know where Michigan's seat of government would be?

Paul Lutzeler, aide to Secretary of State James M. Hare, is one of a very few persons concerned about this little-known problem. Hare's office is responsible for making and keeping ready a plan to be used to shift state government operations if this should ever be necessary.

Lutzeler, a crusader of sorts, points out that probably not one person in a hundred Michigan citizens is aware of the fact that the state capital would be moved to Mt. Pleasant.

State officials are well acquainted with the emergency operations plan because they have already been called upon to prepare for its use.

Each of the top state officers has named up to five emergency successors to serve if he is unable. Gov. George Romney, for example, recently named Wilber J. Brucker, former U. S. Army Secretary, as his No. 1 replacement.

Romney also recently paved the way for implementation of the emergency plan by naming a 12-man board to be sure Michigan has adequate supplies of food, power, gas, solid fuel, telephone communications, transportation means, water, and other necessities.

Romney's emergency planning board also will coordinate such things as manpower mobilization, public health efforts, and public information.

The 12-man board, of which Hare is a member, can do much to make things easier if major cities in Michigan received extensive damage.

Lutzeler's point, however, is that if Michigan's citizens are not informed, and do not inform themselves of what must be done in an emergency, all the detailed planning of a top-level board would be for naught.

Hope Lies In Tests

Extensive tests designed to detect one of the possible causes of mental retardation in children are being conducted by the Michigan Health Department and similar units in other states.

The praiseworthy effort is being directed by an Eastern university in cooperation with health officials throughout the country. These state health officers in turn gain the samples for research through cooperation with hospitals and parents of newborn infants.

The disease under scrutiny is phenylketonuria, more commonly known as PKU.

In recent years medical scientists discovered that certain babies are born with a defect in their ability to use some protein elements in their food. This defect, PKU, may lead to mental retardation.

Recently, however, research has shown that mental retardation may be prevented if a special modified milk is started during the first few weeks of life.

A single blood or urine test may detect the presence of PKU in an infant and use of the special formula can combat the rare condition.

Michigan health officials hope to enlist the help of all parents in hospitals now participating in the pilot testing program, and eventually develop a statewide detection program.

Want To Bet?

A state lottery is expected to get intensive study in the near future.

In past years the voice of Rep. Edwin A. Fitzpatrick, Detroit Democrat, has stood alone in urging his colleagues to create a state lottery or sweepstakes to alleviate tax and budget problems.

Now with the adoption in at least one state of a government-run sweepstakes, Fitzpatrick's cause has gained some support, at least for study.

Sen. John T. Bowman, Roseville Democrat who previously served in the House with Fitzpatrick, has suggested a bipartisan legislative study of the question.

"It seems reasonable and fair that the membership of the legislature should be informed on the question of a state lottery," Bowman said. Emphasizing he did not necessarily advocate a lottery, Bowman said it should be considered this fall when the legislature is seeking ways to raise money.

The idea of even a study, however, also has its opponents. Sen. Harry Litowich, R-Benton Harbor, has been quick to indicate that he will oppose any move toward creating any type of lottery or sweepstakes.

"The concept of a state lottery is the concept of legalized gambling," said Litowich, voicing one of the chief arguments against such a plan for financing state spending.

Fitzpatrick contends that a Michigan lottery or sweepstakes would give the state much of the money now spent on the Irish games of chance and possibly, in the future, on the New Hampshire sweepstakes.

Chevy II Wagons—

The theft of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old whichway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gas pumps (there's also a choice of an even thrifter 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knock Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while the trading and the traveling are especially good?

John E. Goslin of Gageton was slightly injured in an automobile accident.

Escaped Brahmas provided unscheduled excitement at the Tuscola County Boots and Saddle Club's rodeo. The bulls squeezed through the fence, scattering spectators and leading the cowboys a merry chase before being recaptured.

Ten Years Ago

Bob Schuckert became the new president of the Cass City Rotary Club.

Ronald Posluszny suffered serious injuries in an automobile accident on Deckerville Road near Deford.

Despite a small turnout, Band Director Ralph Powell said that another summer concert would be presented soon.

Winds that reached 70 miles per hour whipped the Cass City area, uprooting trees and destroying power lines. For the second time in three weeks, Cass City was without electricity. The power was gone for four hours.

Ken Cumper of Cass City badly damaged his car near Linwood. He attempted to stop for a car ahead and slid into it. The road was made extremely slippery by thousands of dead fish flies.

Four employees completed 25 years at the Nestle plant in Cass City. They were: Helen O'Rourke, John Ryan, Mason Wilson and Alva Burt.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Bird School holds first reunion in its 78-year history.

William Klein, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Klein, living near Deford, suffered burns about the face and body last week when he fell into a pail of hot water.

Those from Cass City who attended the Florida-Tuscola County reunion July 4 at the roadside park on M-46 included Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barnes, Mrs. C. W. Heller, Mrs. Clara Folker and Mrs. Earl Heller. They met many county residents who take winter vacations in Florida.

Thirty-five Years Ago

Donald Bond, son of Mrs. Bond (Jennie McArthur), was reported to have a three-year perfect all "A" record at the University of Chicago.

Arthur Fritz of Huron county claims he has the county's heaviest milk producing cow. The thoroughbred is said to be giving an average of 98½ pounds of milk daily.

William Bentley opened a blacksmith and woodwork shop in the Foundry Building on West Street Monday. Mr. Bentley worked at the blacksmith trade and conducted a shop in Cass City over a quarter century ago and is far from being a novice in that occupation.

Five hundred attended the second Cumber school reunion.

Three scouts passed their second class tests. They were Paul Wright, Lewis Pinney and Ray Fleenor. Becoming tenderfoots were: John Day, Caswell Hunter, Ferris Kercher, John Morris, John Dqiser, Fred Morris, Donald Schenck, James Hunt, Leslie Karr, Harry Crandell and Howard Blades.

Willis Campbell, who is heading the indoor baseball league in Cass City, reports that interest is increasing. The league has four teams of boys 10-16 and plays twice weekly. Donald Schenck is the leading hitter and William Ruhl has the most home runs (one).

The Giants moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Cass City Little League with a key victory over the second place Pirates, 11-8, while the Cubs edged the Tigers, 16-13, to stay in contention.

Pirates-Giants

The Giants moved into an early lead and then hung on to ward off a Pirate threat to notch the victory.

The Giants were in front 11-2, in the sixth when the Pirates rallied to score six runs and put the tying run at the plate before losing.

Mental errors cost the Pirates the victory. Big bat for the Giants was Marty Zawilinski with two singles and a double in four tries. Robbie Alexander collected a pair of doubles in three official trips to the plate.

For the losers, Tom Gunther collected two doubles and a walk in three tries while John Zawilinski banged out a single and a double in four at-bats. Winning pitcher was Brinkman; the loser was Murphy.

The Giants collected 13 hits, 11 runs and the Pirates, seven hits and eight runs.

Cubs-Tigers

The Cub-Tiger game was a carbon copy of the Pirate-Giant contest. For four innings Cub John Novak coasted along behind a huge 16-8 lead, but in the fifth the roof fell in. The Tigers scored five times to pull into contention only to fail with the tying run at the plate. Kim Hopper relieved Novak with one out in the inning to preserve the Cub win.

Bruce LeValley led the losers with three hits, a double, single and line-drive home run over the centerfield fence. The Cub hitting was scattered throughout the line-up.

The winning pitcher was Novak. Asher was charged with the loss. Joey Mark pitched the last four innings for the Tigers.

The standings:

Pirates	3	2	1

Book Review

There Is No Message In This Novel - -

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

At first, this book, ALL I COULD SEE FROM WHERE I STOOD by George Christy, appeared to be another in the too-detailed account of persons. That stream of consciousness school of writing is better off in its death throes. While this would be placed in that category, it is not placed there with any degree of assurance.

Christy had written short stories for the monthly magazines and is a professor at a school in New York where he lives. This is his first book-length novel and I think it shows an awareness of good writing technique that will improve.

If there is a 'message' to this book, I failed to find it. Basically, it tells of a Greek family which, having two youths in the family, is having an emotional struggle typical of immigrant families - live in the past with the values of the past, or live in the present, adopting its scale of values. The members of the family include Papa, owner of a new auto and of a store; Mama, who runs the family; Molly, a 16-year-old slated for an arranged marriage as in the old country, and Stephanos, whose mind we are allowed to enter and, I suppose, is the hero of the tale.

Stephanos introduces us to his world. His circle of friends includes next-door neighbors, Christopher and Electra, the latter causing much unrest by taking her own life. Then we meet other friends, both Negro and white.

In the center of adolescence, will it be the topic of conversation in many places. But it is a good book, capably written. I recommend it for summer reading.

ALL I COULD SEE FROM WHERE I STOOD by George Christy, Bobbs-Merrill 1963, available from the Cass City and Elkland Township Library.

Stephanos wonders about what goes on about him. He has a good relationship with Molly which is very helpful, although she, too, has problems. Weight and shyness are overcome when her engagement is announced - only to find out that the groom is already married back in the old country.

To me, Papa has made a satisfactory adjustment in what must be a difficult process. He has made this adjustment both in his business, and when finally he must, in his family life also. He commanded my respect, and admiration for the way he soothed over the troubled waters after his daughter's broken engagement; but even more, through the understanding and support he gives his son near the end of the book.

I know that many persons have made an adjustment to life in America. Many books have been written about their problems, adjustments, confusion; but none has written about the teenagers who in addition to having to grow up must do so in a different method than did their parents. I am sorry to report that, according to this novel, the church has not involved itself more in meeting those needs.

This is not a great novel, nor will it be the topic of conversation in many places. But it is a good book, capably written. I recommend it for summer reading.

ALL I COULD SEE FROM WHERE I STOOD by George Christy, Bobbs-Merrill 1963, available from the Cass City and Elkland Township Library.

Lifelong Resident of Area Dies Sunday

Louis J. Shagena, 89, of Argyle died Sunday in a Sandusky nursing home following a long illness. Born March 10, 1874, in Sanilac county, he was a lifelong resident of the area. His first wife, Maggie Krumenacker, died in 1909. He later married Miss Eva Reiner. She died a few years ago.

Mr. Shagena, a retired carpenter, is survived by a son, Percy J. of Flint; two brothers, Victor of Cass City and Paul of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Hazen Kritzman of Decker and Mrs. Clarence Roback of Detroit, and several grandchildren.

The Rosary was recited Tuesday evening at the funeral home in Uby and funeral services were to be conducted Wednesday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Be sure the theory you come up with is backed up by facts.

ONE OF THE LARGER building projects in the Cass City area this year is the new building that will house Bassett Manufacturing Co. which presently operates in buildings on Main street in Cass City and in Gagetown.

The new building is expected to be ready for occupancy within two weeks.

Building Industry Zooms in Cass City

Last year the Chronicle reported in its annual building section that new home construction was lagging in Cass City.

What a difference a year makes. According to the records at the Village Clerk's office, new home construction is in the midst of a boom year.

Four new homes are presently under construction in the Cass City area, Clerk Bill Bridges said, and that is as many as were built in the entire year covered in the repairing, remodeling and enlarging old homes. Twelve of the 16 Chronicle's report for the 12 months from July 1961 to July 1962. In a corresponding period (July '62 to the present) a total of 15 building permits for new homes, industrial buildings or garages was issued.

Last year was a boom year for permits issued were for this purpose. This year 13 permits for remodeling were granted, indicating that repair work in the area has remained constant while new home construction zooms.

Several buildings of major stature have been completed since last year's report. The Catholic Church and IGA Foodliner were major additions to the community.

Now under construction are additions to Cass City Hospital and Eria's Food Market. Almost completed is a new factory building to house Bassett Manufacturing Co.

In addition to the building within the village limits, construction in the rural areas has also been proceeding at a lively pace.

Although there is no positive method of pinpointing construction outside the village, several new homes, barns and utility buildings have been constructed. One of the largest projects in the area is the addition to the Evans Products Building in Gagetown.

Reunion Saturday At Cumber School

The Cumber School reunion will be held at the school Saturday, July 6, Secretary Stella King announced this week.

The affair will feature a pot-luck luncheon at noon. All pupils and friends are invited to attend.

Time may be money, but as a rule the more time a man has the more money he needs.

Valuable Tips in Special Section

This is the eighth year that the Chronicle has been bringing its readers a special section devoted to stories about area building, remodeling and repairing.

It features local stories about building conditions in Cass City and you'll find tips about the home as well. An idea for your "dream home" may start with one of the plans that appear in the section.

Equally as valuable are the many special building and home supply materials and services listed in the advertisements in the section. All of the concerns advertising are from the area and residents using their services can be sure that materials will be as represented.

There is no need to worry about "whitewash" paint, inferior materials or shoddy workmanship when these area merchants are consulted. Each of them depends on your good will and future business to survive.

Why not keep this special section around the home for easy reference?

Cheerful Colors are Vital in Kitchens

It's just as important to have cheerful, colorful kitchen walls as it is to design a kitchen to save steps and work.

Today's trend is to make the kitchen area flow into the dining room walls, the other a complementary color for kitchen walls.

If your kitchen is small, select bright colors such as red and yellow.

Try painting one wall a deep yellow, another a light red and the ceiling sky blue.

The new pastel shades can fill a kitchen with a bouquet of charming color.

Fences Bring Privacy to Home

For privacy and a sense of shelter, outdoor living space should be enclosed. Containment may be accomplished by a fence, a series of panels or by a trellis.

There screens provide decorative protection... area delineation, privacy from passers by and sun or shade, when or where you want it.

When it comes to functionalism that's handsome too, fences and fence panels must certainly be given top priority in yard development.

Used alone or in conjunction with activity areas, fences can provide as little or as much protection and privacy as desired in a variety of attractive designs.

The more solid and taller the fence, the more privacy and protection achieved. Degree depends on purpose... whether the fence is to keep children in the yard or stray dogs out, to delineate between children's play area and yard, to create a barbecue patio or to screen utility areas from general view.

Fence design is limited only by the imagination.

Choices include basketweave, herringbone, lattice work, wood "bricks" parquets, alternating panels back and front and vertical louvers.

The fence may be rough sawn or smooth, painted or stained, rustic or refined, depending on your architectural scheme.

Inland Red Cedar and Incense Cedar are particularly well suited to exterior construction because of their natural resistance to weathering.

All fence members which will come into direct contact with the ground should be treated with a preservative. This applies especially to fence posts which should be sunk in the ground about one third their length and should be set on a two-inch layer of gravel for proper drainage.

It's only natural that homeowners, in keeping with contemporary ideas regarding outdoor living, should seek new and attractive ways by which to enhance outdoor activity areas, and it's also only natural to use "natural" lumber for these outdoor activity areas.

Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

It was decided by the Council that the Village would advertise for bids for the insurance policy covering village trucks and automobiles.

Why there's no heat like flameless

ELECTRIC HEAT FOR HOME REMODELING

ELECTRIC HEAT SIMPLIFIES THE CONVERSION OF ATTIC INTO ADDED ROOM

When finishing off an attic would strain a home's heating system, built-in electric heat is the solution. Electric forced air wall units, for instance, can be installed without large-scale cutting into floors or substructure. Electric heat is completely automatic—and it operates independently of the main heating system. Efficiency, flexibility and ease of installation make it your best buy when modernizing.

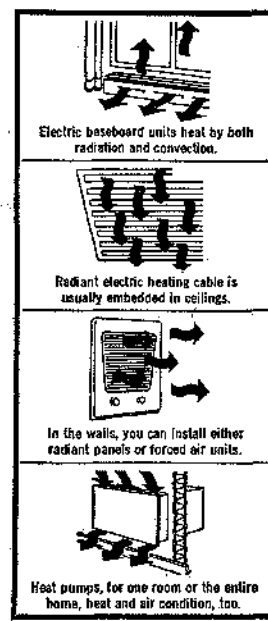

THE BASEMENT BECOMES A SNUG FAMILY FUN ROOM

A good example of supplementary heating is this use of radiant electric wall panels. They can be mounted wherever extra heat's needed in a family room. Then just dial the warmth you want—clean, quiet electric heat starts working right away.

ELECTRIC HEAT HELPS TURN SUMMER PORCH INTO YEAR-ROUND ROOM

It's simple to install electric heating units on exterior porch walls where heat is needed most. Electric baseboard, for example. It will provide a curtain of warm air over glass surfaces and make an enclosed porch completely comfortable.

This sign, displayed by qualified electric heating contractors, assures you of dependable installation.

Tips for Making Kitchens More Usable and Beautiful

Many a family will give the kitchen top priority in its program of home modernization this year. This reflects the fact that the kitchen has become an increasingly important room of the home in today's scheme of things. Not only must it be practical and efficient, but it must be cheerful and pleasant and coordinate with the home's decorating plan, sporting new colors and warmth to accent the richness of the companion rooms.

To accomplish the feeling of today's homemakers, kitchen planners are turning to breakfast bars, appliance islands, room dividers and see-through shelving, all of which contribute to the effect of a truly extended living area.

Proper lighting can do much to make a kitchen easier and more relaxing to work in. Make sure that you have an adequate general illumination fixture at, or near, the center of the room. Local lights should be placed over the sink, range and other work areas.

Finally, if you have wall-type cabinets, illuminate the dark areas under them with special eye-saving, under cabinet lights.

Today's kitchens (and modernized old ones) have a "built-in" look. When your appliances are built into your cabinets or "stacked" into your base cabinets or counter tops, you no longer have a roomful of separate appliances, but a unitized kitchen with everything where you want it.

Your oven can be up at eye level. Your refrigerator and freezer can be hung on the wall, or installed in cabinets at eye level or under the counter.

There are space-saving range-top units that swing up against the wall when not in use, others that slide out like drawers. Some imaginative homemakers install two ovens — side by side, or one on top of the other.

Many old homes have enough cabinet space, but much of it is hard to get at without a ladder. The new kitchen cabinets are more compact and the contents are readily accessible.

For instance, you can get cabinets with Lazy Susan rotating shelves inside special drawers to hold canned goods on their sides where you can see their labels, space-saving shallow drawers for linens, special flip-up shelves that hold your mixer and bowls, roll-away serving carts that tuck into the cabinet base, disappearing towel bars, concealed slots to hold trays, built-in planning desks.

Best of all, you need not do all of your kitchen modernization at one time. You can install a "starter" kitchen and then add to it later as your needs dictate and your pocketbook permits.

The things that come to the man who waits are from the discard.

The average factory worker can either buy 11 loaves of bread, 34 pounds of potatoes, 17 pints of milk, three pounds of butter or two pounds of steak with the wages from one hour of labor today.

Insulation Appeals to All- Including Budget Minded

Practically every one can think of exciting ways to improve a home—but they all cost money. However, there is one home improvement that has consistently appealed to even the most budget-minded of families: it's having their homes fully insulated to meet recommended standards. These families reason that:

1. Insulation will pay for itself in a few years in savings on fuel bills.
2. It will continue to save money for them indefinitely.
3. If the house is sold, the original cost of the installation usually will be completely recovered because insulation is a permanent improvement.
4. They would welcome the added comfort: a warmer home in winter, a cooler home in summer.

Various studies conducted through the years show that when a house is thoroughly insulated, families will realize a saving on heating of from 30 to 40 per cent compared to their inadequately insulated homes. It doesn't take long at that rate for savings on heating to equal the initial cost.

Insulation provides added comfort. Temperatures throughout the house are even and easy to maintain; chilling drafts eliminated.

Families who want to make sure they get optimum results from their insulation can follow the Quality Home Requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for insulation to provide an installed resistance to heat flow of R-19 or R-24 for ceilings, R-11 for walls and R-13 for floors.

The "R" number indicates its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the number the more effective the insulation.

The development of new installation techniques using "blowing wool" has made it possible to insulate older houses without damaging existing walls. To insulate the walls of an older house, a contractor first removes sections of exterior siding.

He then cuts neat holes in the sheathing and with pneumatic equipment forces the insulation through a hose into the spaces between the wall studs. After the walls are filled, the exterior siding is carefully replaced.

In the attic, the hose is often brought in through a louver and the mechanic simply fills the spaces between the joists to the proper level. Batts of blankets are used where required.

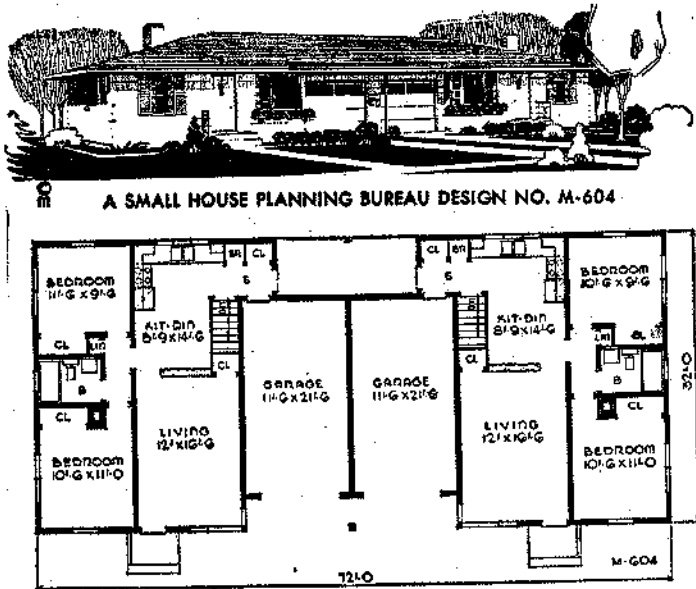

Bags of flowing wool used to insulate existing houses are marked with the coverage needed to provide the resistance to heat flow specified for each of the key areas of a house.

Home owners who add a room to their house can easily install batts or blankets of mineral wool insulation themselves as long as this is done before interior walls and ceiling are finished. The basic tools needed are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun.

Here are a few installation tips to keep in mind:

1. Always install insulation with vapor barrier toward heated-in-winter side of walls, ceiling and floors.
2. Use plenty of staples, not more than six inches apart.
3. Insulation should fit snugly between studs and joists.
4. Insulation with a reflective facing should be installed to provide air space between it and the inside wall.

Some men weigh their words, and still they carry little weight.

DESIGN M-604. This simply constructed one-story small duplex has features that will attract tenants. Each unit has its own sheltered rear entrance behind attached garages which provide sound-deadening privacy.

A planter separates dinette-kitchen from living room. The cheerful kitchen has generous work counters, broom and coat closets, an entry to the house-size basement and to the outside. All rooms have cross ventilation. Wardrobes run from floor to ceiling; there is a handy hall linen closet.

Exterior is wide horizontal frame siding. The foundation is concrete, roof of wood or composition shingles.

Each unit covers 795 square feet, contains 15,503 cubic feet (including full basement under house). For further information about DESIGN M-604, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Electric Heat Useful When Adding Rooms

Adding a room to your home can be easier and less expensive than you anticipated if you heat the room with electricity. Regardless of your present heating system, you can heat an extra room electrically using only a relatively thin cable to carry electricity to the room, instead of cumbersome piping or duct work.

Electric heating in the extra room may be your introduction to this modern, twentieth century means of heating that is gaining in popularity every year. With electric heating you have more positive control of the heat in the room. Turn it on when you need it. Thermostats can even do it for you. And best of all, electric heat is clean, sootless. Cleaning is reduced.

Electrical experts can show you the choice you have when you decide to heat your home or the extra room electrically.

Start Search For Candidates For Bean Queen

Farm Bureau, Grange and farmers' club groups have been asked to encourage qualified candidates to get their nominations in early for the Tuscola County Bean Queen Contest which will again be held in conjunction with the 1963 Tuscola County Fair during the week of August 19, advises Fred Black of Akron, county bean queen committee chairman.

At a meeting of the committee, it was decided that July 20 should be the deadline for entering the contest. The earlier date will make it possible to get contestants together for pictures of each contestant, a luncheon and judging with the selection to be kept secret until the presentation of the Queen at the evening of the Fair, said Black.

Interested young ladies are asked to contact their local groups to enter the contest. Contestants must be unmarried and a farmer's daughter who has or is now growing beans. Age limitation is 17 to 25 years, inclusive. County bean queens of previous years are not eligible.

Bean Queen entry blanks are available through the local club president or secretary and may also be had by calling at the Co-operative Extension Office, Courthouse, Caro.

Too many folks expect to get inside information from a middle-man.
