Quilting Is Fun for Mrs. Oscar Nixon

Crocheting, knitting or sewing are almost second nature to Mrs. Oscar Nixon of Gageton and she qualifies as an expert in each of these fields. But it's quilting that takes the majority of her time and is closest to her heart. If you are not familiar with quilting and see an expert in action, you may wonder how she can stand to do the slow, painstaking work hour after hour. But to experts like Mrs. Nixon, it's a labor of love. "It keeps me occupied during the winter months and when I'm working time flies by," she said. "And sometimes I help her, too," Mr. Nixon chimed in. "No, I don't do any sewing, but often I'll get the meals and do the dishes during a quilting job," he explained.

Often when in the midst of a particularly challenging job... perhaps as she is applying a quilt, Mrs. Nixon will rise early in the morning and work until almost midnight just for the fun of the work.

Not A Business
With Mrs. Nixon, quilting is not a business. "I've only sold three quilts in my life," she said. "It's a hobby with me... I do it because I really enjoy it." Although she has sold only three, she has made an estimated 125 since she first started some 25 years ago. "I guess I make at least five a year," Mrs. Nixon asserted. "I've a ready market for my work," she laughed. "I have four children and my husband has five children and his oldest boy has 10 children. I try to furnish

Boards Okay Gas Elections

Southeastern Michigan Gas Co. moved ahead rapidly with plans to serve the area with natural gas this week as they met various area township boards to secure permission to run lines to the village.

Granting the company the right to seek franchises were Elkland, Evergreen, Greenleaf and Lamotte townships.

A simple majority of the voters is all that is needed to grant 30-year franchises.

The franchises in the townships are expected to be used solely for the purpose of running gas mains from its present furthest extension in Marlette to Cass City.

Only farms that adjoin the pipeline in the country will be served. Since the line is set to run adjacent to M-53 and M-81, only farms on these highways will be able to hook to natural gas, if they should desire to do so.

Company officials are still confident that natural gas will be available on a limited basis in the village by December, if franchises are passed.

County Sets New Rules Governing TB Patients

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors has become alarmed about tuberculosis patients who have been hospitalized at the county's expense who are leaving facilities without permission.

In an effort to stop the practice, the board has established a set of rules for patients receiving county support.

Patients must give advance notice and have approval of county before discharge and file a medical advice notice with the county nurse's office.

After discharge, they must have tests and X-rays on a regular basis. They will be required every three months the first year, every six months the second year and annually thereafter.

If these regulations are not adhered to, payment will be denied, the board decreed.

County Nixes Special Mayville Deputy

An effort by the village of Mayville to reduce its cost of police protection went up in smoke this week as Tuscola County Supervisors denied a request by the village for a man to patrol in the village.

The Mayville authorities had been seeking a deputy from the county and offered to pay half of the man's salary for his work in the community.

Village officials were claiming that a full-time man for the village was too expensive.

Halfback Shortage Plaguing Team

Tough Dearborn Meets Hawks To Open New Grid Season

A football takes some funny bounces and Coach Oarie Lemanski and his Red Hawks are hoping that it bounces better for them than it did last year.

You'll recall that the Hawks played just seven games last year and ended with a record of two won, four lost and one tie. But these cold statistics fail to tell the story. With Walter Hempton out of action with injury, Cass City was held to a tie by Bay Port-Elkton-Pigeon in the opening game.

Then they lost to a good Frankenthum team and were pulverized by State Champion Bad Axe.

After this low point in the season, they bounced back to win 25-6 over Sandusky. It was in the next two games that fate turned its back on the team. They dropped a heartbreaker to Vassar by two points and the next week were edged by Marlette by the margin of a point after touchdown.

Many local fans thought that the Hawks played up to their true potential only in the last game when they walloped favored Caro.

This week the Hawks open another grid season with a non-conference game against Class "A" Dearborn at Cass City Recreational Park Saturday. Already fate has frowned on them.

Injured in a scrimmage with Lakeville Friday evening was Hempton. Whether or not he will play in the opener is open to question. The fleet halfback is Cass City's prime running threat and his loss will be a blow from which the team would have

Second Career Ends for Harold Janson at General Telephone

Harold Janson of Cass City is one of the few men who can say that they retired twice and worked longer after the first retirement than they did before.

He spent 21 years with Michigan Bell before retiring because of illness. After he recovered, he was hired by General Telephone and has spent 22 years with the company.

The personable manager of GenTel's exchange here reaches the company's compulsory retirement age of 65 at the end of the month. He's through working now, but is still with the company drawing accumulated vacation money.

Janson came up to the position he held through the ranks. His careers in both companies are strangely similar.

He started with Bell as a lineman. He was promoted to a combination man and trouble shooter and then managed an exchange for 12 years.

Struck down in mid-career by illness, he started over again with General Telephone. He worked as a combination man before being promoted to the head of his area.

plenty of trouble recovering. Against Lakeville the Hawks showed some defensive strength, but the offense indicated the greenness of the squad.

"We made lots of mistakes," Coach Lemanski said, "and our timing was way off. On defense we hit too high. If the line doesn't get down low against Dearborn Saturday, those heavy linemen of theirs are going to push us off the field. Our pass defense was also lousy," he concluded.

The team has been working on trying to overcome some of those faults. Now working with the varsity is the JV squad. Lack of grid candidates has forced the two squads to work together.

McCormick Files $25,000 Damage Suit Friday

John McCormick filed a $25,000 damage suit in Tuscola County Circuit Court Friday against John and Ann Stepka, B. A. Calka and John and Mary Zawilinski. The suit stems from the sale of land in Demings addition to the village of Cass City. McCormick claims to have purchased the land from the Stepkas and was waiting for a title search before concluding the deal. Meanwhile, a sale was arranged by Calka to John and Mary Zawilinski for what McCormick says he believed to be about $7,500.

Nursing Home, Jail Study Group Set

A nine-man study committee will be appointed from the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors to investigate a new wing to the Tuscola County Nursing Home and a new county jail, it was decided at the board's regular meeting Monday.

The jail is a problem that the board has been wrestling with for many years... the addition to the nursing facility may be needed because of a continuing jump in patients.

The nursing home was built in 1957 at a cost of $390,000. When built, it was destined to be paid off in 12 years, but under the present rate of repayment should be debt-free well in advance of the target date.

The county owes $450,000 on the debt and has a reserve of $350,000. By the end of 1966 the debt should be wiped out.

Jail Report

A committee from the board of supervisors, Milton Hofmeister, Harold Johnson and Lyle Frenz, reported that they have visited the new jail at Lapeer and would tell the board some of the advantages and disadvantages learned in its construction. The jail in the county has been condemned by State inspectors.

Livestock Exchange Opens Fund Drive

Representatives of the Michigan Livestock Exchange opened its campaign to raise some $75,000 in the Cass City area last week to build a stockyard at the corner of M-53 and M-81.

According to a representative of the company, the corporation plans to sell debentures in the Huron-Sanilac-Tuscola area to build the yard.

Debentures are a type of promissory note issued by a corporation which promises to pay back borrowed capital out of profits.

It is different than stock in that owners of debentures do not own a share of the company. According to the prospectus issued by the company, the Exchange can issue up to $60,000 in 10-year debentures bearing five per cent interest; $60,000 in 15-year debentures bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest, and $55,000 not to exceed six per cent, non-cumulative interest certificates of equity.

Starts in 1922 The Exchange started in 1922 with a terminal market at Detroit that served as a selling service.

About 10 years ago, branch markets at Battle Creek and St. Louis were opened. In addition, the Exchange operates branches. Included are lamb pools at Portland, West Branch and Kinross; hog buying points at Schoolcraft and Homer, and a feeder sales yard at Adrian.

During 1962, total sales volume of livestock was $47,020,481. Sold were 169,326 head of cattle and 17,189 head of calves. Also marketed were 256,035 head of hogs and 129,619 head of sheep.

$100 Minimum
The Exchange is selling debentures in blocks of $100 for the yard in Cass City. Most of the members of the officers and directors of the company are businessmen-farmers.

The president of the organization is Arthur J. Ingold of Blissfield. He is president of the Deerfield State Bank, holds several offices in other co-operatives and owns a large farm.

Directors from the Thumb area include Archie Mabery of North Branch, a farmer who served as a member of the Lapeer County Co-op, and Edward A. Oeschger of Bay Port. Oeschger is a Michigan State graduate who farms and sells insurance.

The co-operative is managed by R. H. Walton. His home is in Dearborn. He graduated from River Falls College, Wis., and taught agriculture in several high schools before accepting a position as branch manager for Equity Livestock Cooperative at Green Bay, Wis. He has been the Exchange manager since 1947.

Tentative plans call for the yard to be erected this fall.

Courthouse Repair Costs Total $3,500

The Board of Supervisors authorized nearly $3,500 in expenditures Monday for repair of the county courthouse in Caro.

The projects include: The floor for the drain commissioner's office and the jury room, $400 plus installation.

New lights for the drain office and jury room, $813.

A motor for the courthouse exhaust fan, $90.

Chairs and lounges for the women's restroom, $300.

Repairing and repointing the loose stone in the steps and the entrance to the courthouse, $1,700.

From the Editor's Corner

It's no secret that the Cass City Junior Chamber of Commerce is struggling to get off the ground in the village.

But it's a problem that is experienced in most towns, newly-elected President Rodney Krueger said this week.

But the Jaycees are determined to get moving. To boost the organization here, the Fall District Meeting has been scheduled in Cass City. Nine area communities will send representatives.

Wives of members will be included for the first time and a special program will be announced.

The meeting will be used to demonstrate the solid achievements of Jaycees and springboard a membership drive.

There was no regular meeting of the Cass City School Board this month. A special unannounced meeting was held Wednesday, Sept. 4, which was reported to have been highlighted by a tour of the school with new teachers.

In next week's paper, a liner ad will be run wanting to buy dried hops. We didn't know that any was grown here (certainly not commercially) and if there is we'd like to know where so we can learn about it and pass the information along to our readers.

We try to keep most news in the paper fairly well confined to happenings in the local area. The only connection with Cass City the following item has is that it was turned in by an area resident, Glenn Churchill.

It reports a Moscow Medical Journal as saying that a Russian died at the age of 147 and was a father at 112.

The Journal says that he was a Georgian and we add that he is one Russian that survived the revolution and the purges. Probably not in politics.

Extension Folder Explains Insurance

A new extension folder can give you help in deciding what kind of an insurance program your family needs.

Called "Planning Family Insurance," the publication is written by Lucile Ketchum, home management specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

You can order the folder free of charge from the Tuscola County extension office, Courthouse, Caro.

Miss Ketchum discusses life, health and property insurance. She explains what "term," "whole life," "limited payment life" and "endowment" — the basic types of life insurance policies — mean. She also offers ideas on what "major medical" insurance is and how it can be of benefit to your family.

"The purpose of this publication," the specialist states, "is to give you an over-all view of insurance, to alert you to what to look for, and to suggest questions to yourself and others as you make decisions about your insurance program."

Miss Ketchum also lists the steps you need to take in working out a sound insurance program for your family.

When ordering this publication, ask for "Planning Family Insurance," No. F-320.

If you like this hair style, it's called "Lady Pair," especially designed for the young in heart.

To create the natural-beauty look, a combination pressed powder and base is best for the young skin. Your complexion is basically rosy or tawny and you'll select a pressed powder to match. If, however, your skin is very ruddy, or sallow, or very tawny, select a base with a touch of yellow to tone down ruddy skin, or heighten a sallow skin with powder that has a tinge of pink. And remember... the right touch is the light touch!

A Healthy Body

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

The Chiropractor's creed is to locate the root of the illness, then apply the adjustments to the nerve center. The nerves as the chiropractic science points out, are the focal point for most of the ills of the human body. For instance, suppose the Chiropractor upon examination locates the illness in the stomach. He knows immediately where the nerves are pressed upon to produce that condition. He locates that part of the spine and finds how that pressure is produced. Then he replaces the small bones in their natural position and when this is accomplished the trouble no longer exists.

However, a nerve does not need to be cut to lose part of its ability to carry life force. If it is squeezed at any point along its course, the life force will be cut off in just that proportion. This is exactly what happens to produce disease and sickness.

The chiropractor's work is done with his hands and the small bones are adjusted back into their proper position for the purpose of relieving the pressure on the nerves. This corrects the real cause of the disease and it is for this reason that the Chiropractor's patients get well and stay well.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. E. P. Lockwood whose office is located at Cass City, Tel. 872-2765). Adv.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE AGE OF THE AUTOMOBILE

Some traffic researchers have come up with figures to show that motorists slacken their highway speed for two main reasons: (1) When curves on the roadway with reduced sight loom up ahead; and (2) the appearance of built-up areas of commercial and residential areas. They never mentioned the appearance in the rear view mirror of that red flasher dome most police cars carry. We may all now adjust our halos.

At any rate, the researchers reached the conclusion that "Drivers respond logically and safely to changes in the roadway and surrounding area so speed limits should be established on the basis of actual speed characteristics of the traffic" which may be a worthwhile point at that.

More automobiles are born in the country each year than people but they die faster than people (I'm happy to say). This being so, the rate of rise of the car population over the next twenty years will be slightly under the rate of the human population.

The British have come up with an idea that could solve two problems at once - parking and the shortage of time. Getting your haircut takes about the same amount of time as getting your car lubricated. So male customers telephone for a single appointment for car and head.

The number of auto dealers is leveling off these days after the decline of a few years back. The dealers who survive the future though will be those who offer fair dealing, reliable service and all around customer satisfaction. We said it and we're trying to practice what we preach.

FOUR MONTHS ago, the Tom Tyos rescued this buck fawn with the permission of the Michigan Department of Conservation. It is hale and hearty and will come on call. (Chronicle photo)

Tyos' Buck Fawn Becoming Pesky Pet

The Tom Tyos have learned a lot about buck fawns since they rescued an abandoned baby with the permission of the conservation department about four months ago.
You'll recall that the deer made headlines in many of the State's daily papers when it was camera captured nursing with a dog that belonged to the Tyos.
The fawn also brought the Tyos a good many visitors. "Got to be quite a nuisance for awhile," Tyo reported, "but the visiting has settled down to just the regulars now."
The deer has given us our share of trouble, Mrs. Tyo said. We had to rescue it a few times. Once it was caught in a fence and was cut quite badly.
But the young deer likes it around the Tyo home. It comes readily when the Tyos call it... especially if it thinks that there may be some food around. The deer's favorite is huckleberries... but it will also eat grass, old cereals, graham crackers, apples and even a weed or two.
It's really quite tame, Tyo said. We've had it in the house and it will come from the field when we call it. We usually pen him up at night, they said.
The only regret that Mrs. Tyo has is that she is fearful that in a hunting season after the deer is grown he will be shot.
There shouldn't be much danger this fall. Although the deer is healthy and eating well, it is still a fragile looking fawn and you have the impression that it still needs all the protection that it is getting.

WCSO Holds First Fall Meeting

The purpose of the WCSO of the Methodist Church and its function were discussed by 60 members and three guests at the first fall meeting of the organization Monday at the church.

Mrs. Howard Rexin told what it means to belong to the Society. She explained the importance of the work with several charts illustrating the organization of the Methodist Church. She demonstrated that membership in the WCSO also includes membership in all the organizations of the church at home and wherever the church is represented abroad.

The members were divided into groups and it was determined that the Society presents an opportunity for service through prayer and gifts and working for the growth of the WCSO and the church.

In the business meeting, plans for the annual fall dinner and rummage sale were set.

Mrs. Howard Bacon led the devotions and closed the meeting by reading a selection from the Book of Romans.

Group I, of which Mrs. J. Root Jr. is chairman, served the dinner.

Spencer in State Fair Honors Band
Robert Spencer of Tyre was congratulated by Walter A. Goodman, general manager of the Michigan State Fair, for his performance on the trombone with the State Fair Honors Band recently.

The band presented daily concerts at the fair in Detroit.

Book Review Life In Africa Vividly Pictured

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

For unusual reading during these final summer days, try GOD'S CHILDREN WITH TAILS, by Violet Campbell. I guarantee that you will be entertained if you are at all entertainable. When Violet Campbell joined her husband in Kenya, in darkest Africa, she substituted (partly by choice and partly by accident) a group of wild animals to satisfy her mothering instincts left void by her sons remaining in England in school.

The first of these her husband had waiting for her when she arrived at her new home. It was a newborn zebra whose mother apparently had been killed. Normally left alone it would have been a fair midday meal for some hungry lion, but its pitiful condition appealed to Jamie (the husband) and so he brought the foal, barely alive after being abandoned, home to greet his wife. She bottle fed her new charge on a formula made up of cod-liver oil, cow's milk, warm water, linewater, calcium phosphate, sugar-of-milk and glucose D. Gradually it gained strength and a stable was built for it. Everyone predicted that it would soon die but, incredibly, it lived and many people traveled to see it.

Next to be added to their un-planned zoo was a Red Pata monkey named Marquita; then there was Amanda, one of those amazing insects that look like a blade of grass and appear to be in a state of prayer—Praying Mantis. I remember seeing an occasional Mantis in the midwest of our country but I never saw one lay eggs and hatch them out. Nor yet have I seen one marshall her family and move out, as did Mrs. Campbell! The author writes entertainingly, even about this unusual insect.

As she accumulated these pets, Mrs. Campbell faced the problem of medical care for them! The local veterinarian could be called and was. But what to do when you have knocked the Praying Mantis, asleep, from her position on the upper pane of a window to the floor? And just how do you teach a monkey to ride the zebra?

The next to take up residence in their 'zoo' was quickly named Gertie the Gnu. (And what's gnu with you?) She was to share Mrs. Campbell's next experience with a lion. This was quite a tale, and from that hunt a baby lion became another member of the household.

Mrs. Campbell inserts her own attitude here:

"As I locked up, I thought how lucky we were to have such a delightful house party -- the dog in his kennel, the horses in their stables, the zebra in her shed, the monkey on her shelf above the manger, a Mantis on the window pane, a wildebeeste in the lean-to and a baby lion in the spare bathroom."

Seeing a crocodile come back from the dead was just one more experience and brought "Crikey" into the Campbells' 'zoo'. And as he was made well again, he was the object of many visits to their household. Cleopatra, a chameleon, was the next to join the happy family. But more appealing yet was the fact that "Crikey" became a mother, as did "Cleop", the chameleon, and as the Mantis had done earlier.

There came the time when Mrs. Campbell was to leave her fascinating home in Africa and return to England to her sons. And with this move came separation from all the animals she had accumulated. And good-bys had to be said to friends, too.

There are many vivid pictures of life in Africa that this review has overlooked for lack of space, but I liked the book and the people and animals it introduced to me. I think you will, too.

Final Services Held For Mrs. Herhalt

Funeral services for Mrs. Norah Herhalt, 50, wife of Joseph Herhalt of Cass City, were held Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Little's funeral home. Burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery in Saginaw. Mrs. Herhalt, who had been ill since January, died Sept. 9 in Ford hospital, where she had been a patient for three months.

Daughter of the late Terrence and Kate Dalton Whelan, she was born in Dublin, Ireland, Oct. 21, 1912. She and Joseph Herhalt were married July 28, 1945, in Birmingham, England. They came to the United States in 1946 and to Cass City from Saginaw eight and a half years ago.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Kathy, and two sons, John and Patrick, all at home.

Fifteen brothers and sisters preceded her in death.

LAEL Club Plans Treat for Servicemen

Nine members attended the meeting of the Lael Club of the First Baptist Church Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fay McComb.

In the business meeting, plans were made to bring homemade cookies to the next meeting to be sent to a Christian servicemen's club at an armed forces center. Mrs. Stanley McArthur was in charge of the Bible study.

The hostess served refreshments. The October meeting will be with Mrs. Elwyn Helwig.

MODERNIZED

Today when a man graduates from the school of experience his diploma is a social security check.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Roth of 8701 McAlpin Road, Sebewaing, will be honored at an open house Sunday, Sept. 22, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

A reception is to be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Gagetown Public School and is open to all the friends of the couple.

Hosts for the occasion will be their daughter and son and families, Mr. and Mrs. George (Marjorie) Stringer and Sibyl and Larry of Rochester, and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Roth and Sherrie and Richard of Sebewaing.

Chris Roth and Sibyl Burton were married Sept. 24, 1913, at the home of the bride's parents near Gagetown, where she was born. The Rev. John Schurman officiated at the rites.

After the wedding trip, the couple moved into their home on their McAlpin Road farm, land which the groom had cleared, and where they still reside and farm.

They are members of the Owendale Methodist Church, Gagetown Gifford Chapter No. 369 OES and Progressive Farm Bureau. Roth is a member of the Gagetown Masonic Lodge, and Mrs. Roth was an active member of the Owendale Women's Club, a Past President of the Huron County Federation of Women's Clubs and a committeewoman of the Matthew-Munro Grand Family of OES.

The past several years the couple has spent the winter months in Bradenton, Florida.

Use Wet Sawdust To Up Bean Profits

Michigan bean growers may find themselves as much as one-half million dollars short this fall. That's the amount growers and processors could lose due to breaks and cracks in bean seed coats. Damage to the 1962 crop was severe and processors are quite concerned about this year's harvest now under way. They maintain the degree of damage depends on the moisture content at harvest.

Dr. Steve Dexter, crops researcher at Michigan State University, is studying methods of changing the moisture content of beans to reduce checking and cracking. He is adding water to bean windrows to keep pods at the proper moisture level for efficient combining all day long -- not just late in the morning.

In other work, the scientist adds wet sawdust in the combine hopper to provide a permanent toughness for the beans. The sawdust dries out and the beans become wet within a few hours. This prevents beans from splitting or cracking when handled. The sawdust is separated from the beans at the elevator by means of a fine screen.

"These methods of changing the moisture content of beans may mean as much as $35 more per load to the farmer," says Dexter.

Milt Erdmann, crops specialist with the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, and Herb Pettigrove, crop scientist, say the proper time for harvesting is when the moisture content is between 17 and 18 per cent. "Seed oats on beans harvested at lower moisture are easily damaged. Morning or evening harvesting when pods are tough also reduces damage."

Reducing the speed of the combine cylinder also minimizes cracking. Use only enough speed to do a good job of threshing. And you may have to reduce cylinder speed as the day progresses to compensate for additional drying of the beans. Using faster ground speeds or putting more bean rows into one windrow also helps prevent damage.

The combine operator should examine beans in the hopper from time to time. It's an easy task to adjust the combine to reduce damage and it may well mean higher profits this fall.

Cracked beans become split with additional handling. Beans

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The feller that writes them big headlines in the daily newspapers has long ago lost the common touch. Ever day we get a steady diet in big black type about the Reds pushing the line a few miles in Laos, or JFK and Bobby taking a stand on Civil Rights, or DeGaulle being agin this or that, and about once a week we get a headline on how things is going in the British Parliament.

Actual, this don't sell no newspapers on account of the people ain't interested. Everbody knows the Reds is always pushing the line a little here and there. In Cuba, fer instant, they got it pushed just 90 miles from Florida. What do we care about a few mile in Laos? And with a election coming up next year, JFK and Bobby has got to take a stand on Civil Rights about twict a day to keep the iron hot. And ole DeGaulle has been agin everthing except fresh air and sunshine since he took office. Scandals in the British Parliament is nothing to what we got in Government here at home. See what I mean, Mister Editor?

They was at least a dozen items buried in the big papers last week that was big headline news and would've sold papers like hot cakes to the average American.

Fer instant, it was decided in North Carolina that counties would have to quit charging $3 a head tax on mules. The Governor allowed as 'how anybody "afflicted with a mule" shouldn't have to pay tax on the varmit. A headline across the top of the Chicago Tribune saying "N. C. Cuts Taxes" would create a sensation. This is probable the first real tax cut in this country since the Pilgrims landed.

The Russians has started building a $2 million Embassy in Washington. This item was buried back with the want ads. As tight as them Russians can git with a dollar—they was now 4 years behind with their U. N. dues—this is absolute proof the Russians ain't got no idea of ever dropping a bomb on Washington. But look where the papers put this item!

Then they was this little item buried back in the papers about a Sheriff in Georgia. He run on a platform that if he was elected he'd make the county so dry you'd have to prime a feller twict afore he could spit. The bootleggers put a time bomb in his car and blowed it to heaven. But the timing was bad and the Sheriff wasn't in it. The insurance company immediate cancelled the Sheriff's policy but he bought hisself two more guns and said he didn't need no insurance. Now these is the kind of items, Mister Editor, that'll sell papers. People just ain't excited no more about Laos, DeGaulle and Bobby.

Yours truly, Uncle Tim

Stick To Major Taxes for Income in Nearly All States

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
No Tax Lacks

Taxes imposed by the various states differ considerably, but there appears to be a definite trend to stick with a few main sources of income.

In addition to state income taxes, three of the most common sources of income for state operation are gasoline, sales and cigarette levies.

A traveler in the United States will find some 10 states where he does not have to pay a state sales tax. A sales tax also is in effect in Washington, D. C.

All of the 50 states impose a tax on gasoline sales, including Alaska and Hawaii, and all states except Oregon, Colorado and North Carolina have imposed levies on cigarettes.

The range of sales taxes is from two to four per cent, with most states levying a three per cent tax. Five to eight cents is imposed per gallon of gas purchased. Among those levying a tax on cigarettes, several Southwestern states have enacted an eight-cent per package tax. Most of the others range from two to seven cents and two states tax cigarettes on a percentage-per-pack basis.

Michigan uses all three of these popular sources. The state imposes 6 cents tax on each gallon of gas, four per cent on sales, and seven cents per package on cigarettes.

Long Line
Democratic leaders could easily be in a long line in 1964 to challenge Gov. George Romney if he runs for a second term.

The current special session and its outcome will largely determine whether there is to be a feast or a famine of Democratic office seekers next year.

Former Gov. John B. Swainson, Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Atty. General Frank J. Kelley, Secretary of State James M. Hare, State Central Committee Chairman Zoltan Ferency and a number of others have been most frequently mentioned as the likely candidates for governor on the Democratic ticket.

If Romney is successful in accomplishing fiscal reform during the special session, the Democratic Party likely will have a real selling job to find someone to run against him.

If reluctance of some Republican legislators produces only partial success of the Governor's program, however, any and all of the possible Democratic candidates could be eager to get a swing at him.

Needless to say, anything less than complete success would give a Democratic candidate much ammunition for a 1964 campaign.

Aid For Alcoholics
Alcoholism, at its worst a killer and a serious mental illness at best, has been the object of new attitudes by corrections officials and the general public in recent years.

Fewer than 10 years ago, according to the Michigan Board of Alcoholism, people wouldn't even talk about alcoholism, much less consider trying to understand it.

Today, however, George Stewart, the Board's educational director, says the public is becoming more interested in alcoholism as a problem, and more alcoholics are admitting that they have a problem.

"Most people felt about 10 years ago that if they forgot about alcoholism it might just 'go away,'" said Stewart.

Today a number of voluntary agencies offer community referral information for treatment of alcoholism, and some hospitals have set up special alcoholism wards staffed by personnel skilled in treating the problem.

In the state's five major correctional institutions and 13 rehabilitation camps, special programs are in use to help the alcoholic adjust to society, according to Robert Scott, an assistant director of the Corrections Department.

"We now talk about alcoholism not strictly as a problem, but as a problem which can be treated," he said.

Mail "Sales"

The year-end holiday season often poses problems about which many citizens are confused, according to the consumer protection division of the Attorney General's office.

These problems arise through the gimmick of sending unordered items through the mail.

The person receiving the package also receives a bill. If he fails to pay for the greeting cards, book, toy, clothing, or what have you, he soon gets a series of dunning letters threatening all kinds of stern measures if payment isn't forwarded immediately.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley emphasizes there is a very distinct right of the person who has received any unordered merchandise.

First, you need never accept items you did not order. You may return the package to the mailman unopened. If you should open the package, however, there is still no obligation to return it or pay for it.

As long as you do not use the merchandise, you have no legal obligation to pay for it. Kelley's advice is to disregard the dunning collection letters.

The merchandise should be kept for a reasonable period of time. If it is not picked up by the sender, or if you are not provided the postage to return it, you are entirely within your legal rights to dispose of it, according to Kelley.
