

Survivor Tells Crash Cause

A 16-year-old Richmond girl, the lone survivor of an automobile accident that took the lives of her parents and a Snover man New Year's Eve, told Bad Axe State Police over the week end that the second car in the accident crossed the center line just before the impact.

Carol Ann Hardy, recovering at Hills and Dales General Hospital from injuries suffered in the crash, told the troopers that "the other car came into our lane."

In an earlier interview, just after the crash, Miss Hardy was unable to recall any details of the accident. Killed in the crash were Ronald D. Brown, 25, of Snover and Glenn Hardy, 43, and his wife

Ronald D. Brown

Damage Slight In Fires

A combination of spilled gas and a welding torch brought Elkland township firemen to the Tuckey Block Company Friday afternoon.

The fire started when some spilled gasoline was ignited by a welding torch in a workshop. The resulting flames shot up to the ceiling of the building, setting fire to a box of discarded clothing and other items.

Fast action, however, prevented the fire from causing any serious damage.

Saturday afternoon, firemen squelched a fire of undetermined origin in a woodpile at the Frank McVety farm, three miles south and two west of Cass City. Damage was confined to the woodpile.

In other fire news, Chief Al Avery reminded area residents this week that all fire calls are answered by the Sheriff's office and then relayed to the department.

Avery issued the reminder after receiving several reports that some persons were dialing the fire number and then hanging up when the sheriff's office answered, thinking they had the wrong number.

"Incidentally," Avery remarked, "it might be helpful if Cass City residents remember that the last four digits of the village fire number, 872-3473, spell 'fire'."

From the Editor's Corner

Everything is booming these days. The village estimated that about $1,000 would be collected in fines from Justice Court in 1963. This week Treasurer H. L. Bridges reported that the total was $1,804.20 . . . a 30 per cent increase.

We are an avid fan of the Cass City Red Hawks basketball team and our enthusiasm keeps preventing us from getting a picture we would like to publish.

An action shot of an excited spectator watching a crucial part of the game always is surefire and we are positive that there were plenty in last week's donnybrook with Sandusky.

But when the action gets tense inevitably we become as excited as any other fan and completely forget about taking a picture.

We read that Detroit schools are inaugurating a course in the effects of smoking. It's one that could well be investigated as a valuable addition to Cass City's curriculum.

In our 13 years in the community we can't recall a time when there were more young teenagers smoking casually on the street.

No one can say, of course, just how much good such a course will do, but with the effects of smoking so well documented it should be worth trying.

Representatives from Cass City at the Michigan Chamber of Commerce meeting at Lansing Tuesday really stood out from the crowd.

An estimated 1,000 persons attended and when the meeting opened Mrs. Mary Leeson and Mrs. Lucile Bauer were the only two women present.

Persons wishing to donate blood are reminded that the blood bank is coming to Hills and Dales General Hospital Friday from 1 to 8 p.m.

Marshall's Make Partnership of John Deere Sales

Papers were signed Thursday afternoon, Jan. 2, culminating the sale of Cliff Ryan John Deere Sales to John Marshall and his son Roger of Chicago. The new firm will be called Marshall Implement Company.

Ryan had announced the sale of the John Deere franchise to Marshall earlier, but wouldn't release the full details until the papers had been signed.

No reason was given for the sale, other than that Ryan, in business since 1946, had "just decided to sell." Ryan also stated that his present plans are indefinite.

Marshall, bookkeeper and parts manager for the past eight years, assumed immediate charge of the business. His son will assume the position as salesman and fieldman Jan. 20. Marshall will continue in his present position.

The younger Marshall is currently employed in the bond department of Insurance of North America in Chicago. Married, he graduated from Cass City High School in 1955 and from Michigan State University in July, 1961.

John Marshall studied accounting at Ferris Institute in 1956-57 and is a lifelong area resident.

Ryan bought into the business in 1946 and it became F. W. Ryan and Son. The younger Ryan took full charge of the business in 1953. Before he bought into the business, it was known as Ryan and Cooklin and before that, Copeland and Monroe.

Marshall announced that his grand opening will coincide with the regular John Deere Day festivities slated for Monday, Feb. 17.

Name Candidates For Chamber of Commerce Board

Ballots have been mailed to members of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce with nominees for the four open positions on the Chamber board.

Six persons were listed by the nominating committee as candidates.

They are: Herb Ludlow, Robert Keating, Duke Turner, George Dillman, Richard Palm and Don Eria.

There are 12 members on the board who serve three-year terms. Each year four new members are elected.

Curriculum Needs to Spark Group's Meet

Curriculum needs will be the first topic handled by the recently formed Cass City School-Community Association when it meets Monday night, Jan. 13, for its first regular session. The meeting is slated for 8:00 p.m. in the Campbell Elementary School gym.

"First we have to determine what, specifically, is needed . . . more labs, more physics, more drama or what," explained Vic Guernsey, public information committee chairman.

Several teachers will be present at the session to explain the needs of the departments and to offer recommendations, Guernsey reported.

Standing committees of the association have been named, according to Mrs. Robert Benkelman, secretary.

Committees, with the chairman listed first, are as follows: Safety and Welfare -- Enid Craig, Mrs. Don Hurd, Mrs. Chester Szarapiski and Mrs. William O'Dell; Extracurricular -- Mrs. Arlington Hoffman, Mrs. Harry Crandell, Mrs. Don Koepfgen, Mrs. Lambert Althaver, Miss Nedra Mendelin, Grant Ball, Ken Eisinger and

Births Increase, Deaths Decline, Clerk Reports

More persons were born in Cass City last year and fewer died in the village than in 1962, according to statistics released this week by Village Clerk H. L. "Bill" Bridges.

Births for the year totaled 366 for a gain of 47 births over 1962's total of 319.

Area deaths were down eight with 101 reported for 1963 as compared to 109 in 1962.

Cliff Ryan; Public Information -- Guernsey, Mrs. James Champion, Mrs. Walter Walpole and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Little; Plant and Facilities -- Cecil Barriger, Maynard McConkey, Howard Bacon, Richard Palm and Mrs. Russell Ayres. William Leverich has been named curriculum chairman but no committee has been appointed yet.

Subjects to be covered at Monday's meeting include: English, science studies, mathematics, social, guidance and foreign language.

"Back then all you needed was a forge, an anvil and a few hand tools and you were in business," he explained.

"Back then" most of the work

MASTER CRAFTSMAN—John West, Cass City machine shop operator, makes a final adjustment before starting work on one of the thousands of jobs that have helped earn him a reputation as a master craftsman over the past 50 years. West announced this week, that with the first of the year, he was officially starting semi-retirement. (Chronicle photo.)

Square Dancing Philatelist Hangs Up Magic Wand-Almost

A Cass City magician lifted his face mask the day before the village began the new year and announced that after almost half a century of performing spectacular feats of metal magic, his "magic wand" wouldn't be as busy because he was beginning what he termed "semiretirement."

John West, long-time Cass City machine shop operator and salvation of bent and broken machinery, officially made his announcement that he would begin semiretirement as he put the finishing touches on a welding job with his "magic wand."

West's "magic wand" is, of course, his welding rod with which he has come to the aid of farmers, garages, factories and other machinery-using businesses throughout the Thumb and surrounding area.

His announcement of partial retirement caused some concern among area customers. However, West was quick to point out that "I'll still take care of the town."

"I'm going to quit all the heavy work. Right now I'm drawing business from as far as Caseville and Sandusky. I won't be taking that anymore, but I'll still serve the Cass City area," he remarked.

West, at the ripe old age of 15, joined his father, George, and Bruce Brown in the business which was little more than the old-time blacksmith shop. Originally the building housed Wickware Wagon Works.

The Wests came to Cass City from Muirkirk, Ont., in 1909. Almost immediately the elder West went into partnership with Brown, eventually purchasing full control of the firm.

"Back then all you needed was a forge, an anvil and a few hand tools and you were in business," he explained.

"Back then" most of the work

consisted of horse shoeing and wagon and buggy repair work.

"We quit shoeing horses back before dad left," West reports. His father left the firm in the late '30s.

Now the business handles welding, machine work and general repair. Over the years the forge and the anvil, then run by hand, have given way to such power machinery as the lathe, drill press, milling machine, power threaders, trip hammer, acetylene welder, arc welder, grinders and the like.

"We bought our first welding equipment in about 1927," says West. "The arc welder we got somewhere about 1940."

"I don't use the trip hammer much anymore. I used to use it a lot for bean knives and plow points," he recalls. "The wood tools are all gone now, too. Most of your machinery is made out of metal nowadays."

Over the years West's ability to mend the fractured feeder bar, straighten the angular axle and weld the warped widget has brought area machinery and equipment users to rely heavily on him.

Buck Rabideau, in charge of farm machinery at Rabideau Motors, called West's workmanship superb. "He's done a lot of repair work and machine work for us and all of it has been very good," Rabideau remarked.

Bill Schram, village superintendent of public works, stressed West's integrity. "He'll tell you right off if he can do it or if he can't. If he says he can do it, you have nothing to worry about."

"When he goes into full retirement," Schram continued, "we'll really miss him. Once I happened to be in the shop when a farmer came in to pick up a combine axle John had made for him. I remember the fellow commenting that if he'd had to purchase the axle new, it would have cost him double the price."

West brushed aside the concern expressed at his retirement with, "I've never seen a man that was so good somebody couldn't take his place."

When asked what his most difficult or unusual job had been, he replied, "I never had anything too big . . . just general repair. I don't recall anything I couldn't handle."

"As far as peculiar jobs go, I get some of them right from your place (The Chronicle)," he laughed.

Those who don't know West for his welding ability may be more familiar with his square dance calling.

"They were giving lessons in Decker 10 to 12 years ago. We started and liked it so much we've been going ever since," he tells. By "going ever since," he means at least twice a week to Saginaw, Richville, North Branch, Marlette or wherever they're having a dance."

When he isn't working in the shop or on the dance floor, you may find him poring over his stamp collection. "I collect United States issues only. I've quite a collection that's pretty complete quite a few years back . . . everything except the high priced ones."

Getting back to his business plans, West asserted that he had no plans to sell the business, one of the few of its kind left in the area and perhaps the State.

Area Cars Suffer in Rash of Accidents

Cass City area drivers opened the new year with a rash of minor accidents in the village and county, according to reports from local authorities.

Monday evening, a car driven by James H. Krohn, 31, Cass City, going east on M-46, near Murry Road, was damaged when it struck a deer. Krohn told deputies that two deer ran across the road in front of him and that he missed one deer but was unable to avoid hitting the second.

The left side of a car driven by Raymond L. Parker, 45, Gagetown, was damaged when struck by a car driven by Harold G. Cook, 22, Cass City, on Main Street Sunday. Cook told patrolman William McKinley that he was attempting to make a right turn when the accident occurred.

In one of two accidents Saturday, a car driven by John E. Bliss, 59, slid into the right side of a car driven by Bonnie L. Butler, 17, rural Cass City, at the intersection of Pine and Oak streets. Both cars were damaged.

Saturday evening, a car driven by Edward S. Donley, 57, Decker, backed from a driveway and into a car owned by Don Lorentzen, 54, parked at his home. The right rear fender of the Lorentzen car was damaged.

Police Chief Carl Palmateer investigated an accident Friday,

Suits Seek to Stop Graham's '64 Salary

A Caro lawyer, acting as a "Tuscola county taxpayer," filed a suit in Circuit Court asking for an injunction to prevent the county from paying ousted Probate Judge Henderson Graham his 1964 salary.

The suit was filed late Tuesday night by Maurice C. Ransford, through his attorney, Douglas Williams, also of Caro. The suit is against Tuscola County Supervisors, Treasurer Arthur Willis and Clerk Archie Hicks and seeks a hearing Jan. 15 for an injunction to stop payment of checks to Graham.

Ransford, in an interview Wednesday morning, said the suit is in conjunction with another suit against Graham to be acted on by the State Supreme Court.

The second suit is asking the court to determine whether Graham is in "occupancy of the Judge of Probate." Under the new constitution, Ransford explained, it is a Supreme Court decision.

Ransford admitted that the county suit is a delaying action to restrain payment until the Supreme Court acts. If Graham is declared not in occupancy of the office, then he would not be eligible for the salary.

The suits are the latest in a series of legal maneuvers to strip Graham of his office as Tuscola County Judge of Probate for "misconduct." His term ends this year.

Ransford charges that Graham has received over $15,000 in salary since he was officially relieved of his duties in May, 1962. Although kicked out of office, as an elected official he was still eligible to receive his salary.

Action against Graham started late in 1961 with a Supreme Court restraining order, charging him with "misconduct" for attempting to borrow $20,000 from the estate of Edwina Green, Caro, earlier that year. Graham allegedly threatened to raise the guardian's bond when she refused the loan.

A petition to remove the restraining order was denied by the Supreme Court in the next action. Graham answered with, "There is much more that could be said about this case that would certainly indicate that I am being used by the legal powers so that the office of Probate Judge will be reserved for them."

Next step in the fight was Graham's "vindication" by the Legislature in April, 1961, when it posted a 103 to 5 vote in favor of not recommending his dismissal.

He was later suspended by the Supreme Court.

Village Loses McAleer

Final services for Donald E. McAleer, prominent Cass City lawyer, were held Monday, following his death Friday, Jan. 3, at Cass City Hospital where he had been a patient for four weeks.

Mr. McAleer, according to Dr. James Ballard, attending physician, suffered severe heart damage from a heart attack and was in an oxygen tent all during the time he was at the hospital.

Born in Kalamazoo, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McAleer. He married Miss Alice McGay in Detroit June 24, 1926, and the couple made their home in Royal Oak. They moved to Cass City in 1954 where he lived until his death.

Mr. McAleer was admitted to the Bar in 1934 and practiced law in Detroit and Cass City. He was also a special education teacher in Detroit for 30 years.

He was a member of the Michigan Bar Association and a member of the 40th Judicial Bar Association of which he served as vice-president.

Mr. McAleer was a World War I veteran, a member of the Frank Wendland Post No. 253 of the American Legion of Royal Oak and a member of the Cass City Rotary International.

Surviving, besides his wife, are: a daughter, Mrs. Frazier Foren of Royal Oak; two sons, John of Portland, Ore., and Walter of Sacramento, Calif.; a brother, Edward McAleer of Kalamazoo, and seven grandchildren.

Rosary was held Sunday night at Little's Funeral Home and final rites were at St. Pancratius Catholic Church with Rev. Fr. Arnold Messing officiating. Interment was in Elkland Cemetery.

Lions Purchase More Glasses for Area Residents

Cass City Lions approved the purchase of glasses for two more area residents Monday night at a regular meeting held at Martin's Restaurant.

Concluded on page three.

"ONCE IN A MILLION years," is how Chloris Pomeroy described this rare happening. He purchased his 1964 farm license plate for his truck at the local license bureau last week and the number was 929-765, exactly the same as his 1963 farm license plate.

HOUSEHOLD TIP: Next time you have to thread a tiptop shoe-lace, use a bobby pin as a threading needle!

The great highway performer

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

Hunt Recalls Trip On Aircraft Carrier

C. R. Hunt was program chairman for the Cass City Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel. He described a tour aboard an aircraft carrier that he took as a guest of the Navy.

He showed a Navy film to illustrate life aboard the carrier and added personal comments he experienced during his tour.

President Paul O'Harris gave a brief report on a proposed joint Lions-Gavel Club program sometime this spring. Further details of the type of program to be offered will be discussed at the next meeting.

Can't You Sleep?

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood

When you get to bed at night, can you sleep, or do you spend an evening tossing to and fro, yawning, counting sheep and yet find it impossible to sleep?

Sleeplessness may be caused by a number of different things. Essentially it is the congestion of blood around the brain, which makes it overactive. If you are troubled with this condition, it would be wise to find out what Chiropractic can do for you. After a careful examination, the Chiropractor will find out what is wrong with your nervous system. Spinal adjustments have been highly successful in normalizing blood circulation, and relieving congestion of the blood vessels of the brain.

Vows Exchanged in St. Agatha Church

White gladioli and red poinsettias decorated the altar of St. Agatha Church for the marriage of Marguerite Ann Munro and Max Edward Kreger. The Rev. Frank McLaughlin officiated at the eleven o'clock double-ring ceremony Saturday, Dec. 28.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Munro of Gagetown and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kreger of Sandusky.

Vocalist was Thomas Marsh and organist was Mrs. Ray Tooley.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, chose a gown of imported French satin. The floor-length sheath gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, long wristpoint sleeves and a long

ENGAGED

Kathleen Niemczyk

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Liston of Fraser, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Joyce Niemczyk, to David E. Binder of Cass City.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin E. Binder and is a 1961 graduate of Cass City High School. He is a junior at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

A July 10 wedding is planned.

detachable cathedral train. Her bouffant veil was held by a satin rosette and she carried a prayer book topped by a white orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Linda Munro, the bride's sister, and bridesmaids, Joan Johnson of Detroit and Mrs. John Green of Evanston, Ill., were identically attired in sheath gowns of light green velvet with headpieces of matching rosettes and carried bouquets of holly greens and white carnations.

Best man was Daniel Long of Sandusky. Groomsmen were Dr. Phil Harrison and Ford Otis, both of Sandusky. Ushers were Roger Lee of Lansing and Douglas Orton of North Adams, Mich.

Mrs. Munro wore for her daughter's wedding a gown of blue brocade with matching pillbox hat. Mrs. Kreger wore a green brocade jacket dress with a matching pillbox hat. Their corsages were yellow sweetheart roses.

The dinner, followed by a reception from 2 to 4, was held at the Gagetown Hotel.

The bride graduated from Cass City High School in 1957 and Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, in 1961 and has been teaching in Clarkston. Mr. Kreger graduated from Sandusky High School in 1953 and from CMU in 1960.

The newlyweds will make their home at 154 Jean St., Sandusky.

Charges Withheld In Vandalism Case

Vandalism charges against two area youths were withheld, provided they make restitution for damage done to a Deford farmer's baler.

Edward Brauer, Gilford Road, Deford, reported the damage after he discovered it Saturday, Jan. 4. Deputy James Hildinger investigated and found that the machine had been stripped of its oil filter, fuel pump and bale counter. Oil had been drained from the transmission and crankcase and the spark plug had been taken.

In addition, four bales of binder twine had been strung over the area and partially burned and two tires on the baler had been shot with a .22 rifle.

The deputy followed tracks to a neighboring house where a 17-year-old youth finally admitted, under questioning, to causing the damage and implicated a 16-year-old Cass City boy.

Brauer is reportedly withholding charges, providing the pair make restitution. He was to obtain an estimate on the total damage.

Summertime Was "Marrying Time"

Summertime was the time for marrying in Tuscola county according to a tally of the year's marriage license applications from the office of Clerk Archie Hicks, Caro.

Of the 343 applications sought during the year, most came during the summer months. June, the marrying month, had 41; July was tops with 45; August was second with 44, and there were 42 applications in September.

Highest "off-season" month was February with 31 applications. March took the low place for the year with only 10 licenses applied for during the month.

Exchange Student Tells of Ireland

Miss Carol Russell of Snover was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Farm Bureau women Jan. 3.

Meeting at the Farm Bureau building in Caro, 30 heard Miss Russell describe the rugged country of Ireland and its people. She served as an exchange student last summer from the Marlette school.

The Farm Bureau women contributed $10 to the Student Exchange to help further the work of the program.

Mrs. Clare Carpenter of Cass City, chairman of the women's activities, was chosen to participate in the fifth annual legislative tour sponsored by Michigan Farm Bureau to the nation's capital. The Washington air tour has been scheduled for March 1-4.

Mrs. Frank Satchell of Caro was elected to represent the group at the Freedom Conference to be held at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Feb. 13-14.

It was reported that $150 had been given to the Tuscola County Retarded School from the Christmas project.

Plans were initiated to sponsor two students at the citizen-ship Seminar at Camp Kett July 13-17. The community groups throughout the county will submit nominations for candidates from which a team of judges will choose the participants.

CARS IN THE SPACE AGE

There is no doubt about it that wonderful things are happening in our fabulous space age - but they aren't all up in space. The research departments of the automobile manufacturers never stop working and some of their projects would make Buck Rogers think he was right at home.

One of the major manufacturers, for instance, has developed and is still testing a self-guiding apparatus for automobiles. The device will guide the car in a given lane or even slow and stop it if the driver relaxes. It is activated by a magnetic cable buried in the pavement of the road.

Already receiving limited use is a device that buzzes when a car is following too close or approaching a collision with a stationary object.

Different colors of pavement are being tested as a way of indicating route numbers, exit turns or speed changes. And future cars may be equipped with transistor receivers for highway patrol messages, all relayed from a central road cable.

Space age cars with all their gadgets will still need service though. If we're still around in the wonderful future we'll go on doing our best to turn out satisfied customers the "old fashioned" way.

If you can't wait for the future space age though, we can recommend a ride in one of our new cars. A lot of folk who have say it is "out of this world" for comfort, quietness, safety and sheer luxury. And so you'll feel at home with something out of the past, we'll add reliability.

The installation, conducted by Mrs. Dan Erla, was followed by a business meeting. Nina Davis was a guest.

REBOUND BATTLE—When Jim Knoblet (54) and Walt Hempton (40) were in the game together, Cass City held its own with the rangy Sandusky quintet in the rebound department. The Hawks' chances were hurt when Knoblet fouled out. Sandusky won 60-58.

Last Half Sandusky Rally Nips Hawks

The Cass City Red Hawks battled league-leading Sandusky to the final whistle Friday before they lost a heart-breaking 60-58 decision at the high school gym.

In the final analysis, the game was decided by fouls and foul shooting. The Hawks converted just four of 11 tries while Sandusky cashed 16 of 26.

Jim Knoblet left the game via the foul route and was able to lay just over a half of the game. Against the tall visitors, his rebounding was sorely missed.

The Redskins played like champions as they fought back from a big second quarter deficit to keep their undefeated record untarnished.

The Hawks had pushed into a 13-point lead midway in the third period, behind the shooting of Ed Retherford and the tremendous rebounding of Walt Hempton, when the Redskins caught fire and started to close the gap.

Jack Doerr pitched in 10 of his 14 points in the period and by the end of three quarters the visitors trailed by just four points, 48-44.

The Hawks hung on desperately in the fourth period and it was not until there were just three minutes left in the game that the Redskins took the lead for the first time since early in the first quarter.

The lead seersawed back and forth with Sandusky in control as the final whistle sounded.

The game started slowly enough with neither team able to mount a consistent attack. Marvin Irer got the team started with three quick buckets in the opening quarter and both clubs netted 13 points.

In the second quarter, Cass City displayed its best basketball of the season. With Retherford burning the nets for 12 points, the Hawks rambled for 20 points while holding Sandusky to just eight points.

When the team continued to show its poise in the early moments of the third period things looked bright and most Hawk fans were envisioning an upset and a share of the league lead.

But Sandusky had other ideas and rallied to pull the game out of the fire.

Retherford led the Hawks with 20 points. Irer added 14, Hempton netted 12 and Jim Champion, 10. Doug Gorringer pumped in 21 to lead the Redskins.

Junior Varsity Wins

The Junior Varsity had little trouble with the Sandusky JV's as they posted a 62-50 victory and Coach Oarie Lemanski cleared his bench.

Al Wallace led the scorers with 18 points and Coach Wayne Wilson said that he will probably move him to the varsity for Friday's game with the Lakers.

The Hawks will be odds-on favorites to win over the Lakers, who have yet to win in five outings this season.

Mrs. Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan's Governor George Romney, will be the principal speaker at the Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by Tuscola County Republicans Feb. 18 at 7 p.m. at Caro High School cafeteria.

Final arrangements for the event, which highlights early activity for the 1964 election year, were made at a committee meeting held in Caro Monday evening.

Members of the committee, according to County GOP Chairman Carl F. Mantey, include: John Marshall, Elkland; Mary Satchell, Ellington; Allison Green, Kingston; Arthur Dehm, Columbia; Sherwood Rice Jr., Elmwood; and Mrs. Frances Golding, Elkland.

The visit Feb. 18 will be the second to this county for Mrs. Romney. During the election campaign a year ago, Mrs. Romney was the guest of honor at a special tea held in Caro for her.

1963 Was A Progressive Year—Tinged With Sadness

Cass City area persons will long remember 1963 as a year fraught with excitement, progress, happiness and sadness.

Perhaps the most memorable event and the saddest to the nation and the village was the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas on November 22. The death of two prominent Cass City businessmen and leaders also added to the village bereavement during the year.

Progress was the keyword in the village's vocabulary for 1963. Cass City took several "giant steps forward" by securing a $75,000 Federal aid grant which the village will match to pay for a complete revamping of an inadequate water system.

New sidewalks in the business district and curb and guttering on several streets brightened the village appearance along with new fronts on some of the stores.

Voters passed a 1½ mill levy for capital improvement at Cass City Schools and a new school-community group was organized in the hope of creating more interest in the system, locally.

Natural gas came to the village after an exciting, provocative gas war between three major companies.

Major changes in farm elevator facilities and a livestock auction yard, along with a push by the National Farmers' Organization for more members, kept area farmers in the picture as they harvested bumper crops.

As the Old Year shoulders his sythe and makes ready to move aside for a New Year, area residents gird themselves to meet a future that appears at first glance to be just as exciting and progressive as the outgoing year.

Listed below are the highlights of the passing year:

January

Jan. 3. Interest in coming February Primary Election expected to soar with 10 persons seeking seven open village offices. New Postal rates begin Monday, Jan. 7, and mail will cost a penny more in most cases. Huge white ash log cut from tree by Clair Auslander on area farm sent to German veneer factory.

Jan. 10. Cass City industrialists optimistic about 1963 business after reporting peak employment during 1962. Carl Lee Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spencer, Cass City, born at Hills and Dales General Hospital, is area's New Year baby. Allison Green is named Speaker of the House. April Fluegge named Cass City Junior Miss by Jaycees.

Jan. 17. Unexpected income from county offices and economizing by county officials listed as factor in county budget surplus of $90,451.77. Listen to This Tale of Woe - -

By Dave Kraft

He clung desperately to the speeding car but he knew that time and the warming weather were against him. The gray of the highway blurred beneath him and slowly... slowly... his grip loosened.

"Oh, No! Not this way. Please, not this way." But it was no use... no one heard or perhaps no one cared.

Suddenly the speeding automobile hit a sharp rise in the road with a jolting shock. "All right road here I come," the utter finality of his situation striking him as he sailed through the air in a sort of a vacuum.

He hit and was surprised that there was no pain... no feeling as the hard asphalt tore at his substance.

He was under the car, skittering along the highway, then rolling, sliding, aware that small pieces of his whole being were breaking off and flying away from him.

Then the rear tire of the car passed over him, cutting him off most perfectly in half. He slid for a little ways further and then came to rest.

What perplexed him most was that there was still no pain. He lay exhausted in the middle of the highway, cars and trucks and children on bicycles passing by, unhesitatingly.

They could see him! Why didn't they stop? Why didn't they help him?

But why should they...? After all, he was only a piece of slush that had fallen off a passing car.

Jack Zellar called the other day to inform me that I only had to have 29 more calls or letters from readers and I could start to grow a beard.

I also received a letter from Hedy Kessler, on behalf of her family, approving a beard. Let's see that's Hedy, Peter and Mr. and Mrs. Klopp for four more... Just 25 left.

I'm really getting worried. Les Searls, David MacRae and Pat Herhalt were in and I have their 100 per cent backing. Maybe I won't go through life as a bare-faced boy after all.

That reminds me of a story that has almost nothing to do with beards. It seems this teak merchant named Chan was going down the road when he heard a commotion in the woods nearby.

Investigating, he saw that some dogs had a bear up a tree. It was no regular bear, however, because it had the feet of a boy. Chasing the dogs away, he coaxed the bear down and took it home with him.

He fixed it a place to sleep and then went to bed. In the middle of the night he heard a noise in the room where he kept his most valuable teak carvings and, upon investigating, found the bear trying to steal his carvings.

When he tried to stop the bear, he received a sound cuffing and the bear escaped with all his valuable carvings.

The moral of the story is: "Beware of boy-feet bear with teaks of Chan."

About a year ago, almost to the day, I went ice fishing with Al Avery, his son Doug and Fritz Neitzel. In reporting the event, I made some rather spurious remarks about Al's station wagon.

What keeps it running is the fact that it doesn't know any better and Al isn't about to tell it. It's rusted all the way around and the only thing that keeps it intact is the law of gravity.

But now I'm here to tell you that the old buggy deserves a tip of the hat.

It seems Bruce Avery and a friend took the wagon on a little trip to the East Coast by way of Florida during Christmas vacation and suffered not a whit.

All this in a buggy I was sure would never make it out of town on a down hill run. I apologize... but not without reservation.

Apparently my doubts were shared by Al because he signed the title over to Bruce, according to Mrs. Avery, "just in case he had to junk it along the way."

"Do not re-roof your barns while the grain and hay are in the barn," is the advice given by J. L. Purdy, Gagetown banker, who devotes considerable of his energy to farming operations.

"The past summer," he tells, "I employed some carpenters to re-roof an old barn in which I had stored some hay and oats in the bundle. The oats were threshed out and no notice was taken of the grain that nails might be in it. This grain was fed to cattle with the results that I lost two head before the Vet performed a post-mortem and found 14 nails in one and 18 nails in the other."

Extension Women to Tour Washington, DC

Tuscola County Home Economics Extension women are sponsoring a bus tour to Washington, D. C., for members and non-members April 13-18, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

To make a reservation, a $20 deposit must accompany your reservation request to Mrs. Alfred Brink of Akron, chairman. The total cost of the trip will be between $65.55 and $68.00, depending on the number of reservations received. This includes fare and overnight lodging. Meals are extra.

On this trip visits will include Gettysburg, the Capitol, White House, Washington National Airport, Smithsonian Institute, Archives Building, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, Mt. Vernon. The famous cherry blossoms should still be in bloom and the route home will include the Skyline Drive and visiting some of the caverns in Virginia. The group will stay at Bedford, Penn., en route.

The tour leaves Car April 13 and will return the 18th.

Reservations should be made right away as the deadline for the number to go is set for Jan. 15. Should you find that you are unable to go later, your money will be refunded up to five days before the date of trip. The maximum number of reservations is 41.

People get the idea the world owes them a living and then complain because collections are bad.

Banquet to Honor 230 4-H Leaders

Thursday, Jan. 16, 270 persons will be recognized for their accomplishments in 4-H club work, according to Ed Schrader, county 4-H extension agent. There are 230 local volunteer leaders who will be formally recognized for their efforts in 4-H club work. Following them will be the proof of their efforts — 50 outstanding club members. The list includes one national winner, two official delegates to the 4-H Club National Congress, five state demonstration winners, delegate to the National 4-H Conference, three state judging winners and numerous county winners.

The All Awards Banquet Committee says that this will be one of the best. Dr. Willard Cheek, noted scientist, will be the featured speaker. Dr. Cheek is a salesman of science.

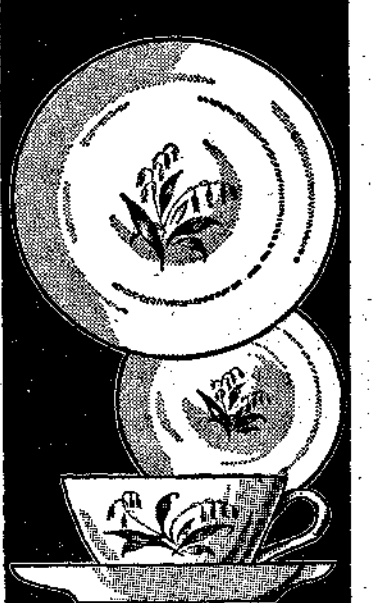

Quentin Ostrander of Bay City will keep the program moving.

Schrader stated that this year there are a large number of new 4-H club leaders who will be recognized for their special service to the youth of the county.

The county banks are again sponsoring the banquet for the local 4-H leaders.

Take a grain of salt with any advice you get for nothing—that's about all it's worth.

Sales Tax Returns Indicate State's Banner Economic Year

Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association
Tax Facts

Like most of the country, Michigan had a good economic year during fiscal 1962-63.

Total sales tax collections, a good measure of personal spending, jumped from $427.2 million the previous year to $455.6 million.

Combined state and local taxes collected in the state, and federal taxes collected from Michigan set an all-time record of $10.3 billion during the fiscal year, said Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock.

County by county the sales tax collections generally increased during the year.

Lock was quick to note that per capita collections in each county do not necessarily reflect the level of prosperity within the county. This is particularly true in counties where resort areas, tourist trade and shopping centers near county lines are involved.

Roscommon county, for example, has a small permanent population but also has lake resort areas and a huge transient tourist trade. As a result, Roscommon County had the highest per capita sales tax collections. The state average was $57.98; Roscommon's per capita figure was $83.10.

Eighteen counties were above the state average, eight of them in the tourist center category. The other 10 which increased sharply are metropolitan centers.

The Upper Peninsula is at the bottom of the per capita collection list again this year with all 15 counties below the state average. Missaukee County, just west of Roscommon in northern lower Michigan, recorded the lowest figure at $27.10 per capita.

Clean Plates

Long lines of waiting will soon be forming at the various Secretary of State branch offices throughout the state.

While only new tabs will be issued this year, it takes as long to purchase them as it does in years when entirely new license plates are sold to register vehicles.

The March 1 deadline seems far away now, but too many motorists will let the time slip by until late in February, when the rush begins.

Misunderstanding about the possibility for replacing bent, faded or rusted license plates has arisen in the last few years. Until a few years ago, Michigan issued new plates annually and this was no problem.

The Secretary of State's office notes that a special service is now available for motorists whose license plates have become unreadable.

"All of our branch offices have been instructed to issue a complete new set of passenger plates for a $1 fee," said assistant secretary Frank Sierawski. "To get this service the car owner must surrender both faded or rusted license plates at the time new ones are issued. In cases where passenger plates have been mutilated, lost or stolen so both old plates cannot be turned in, a fee of $2 will be charged."

Obscene Calls

Many single women, and others too, report difficulties with phone calls from perverted people who make rude and obscene remarks. While it is difficult to trace these calls and arrest the offender, such arrests are made.

In the meantime, police have come up with a suggestion for the person who is bothered by such calls: Keep a police whistle, one with a loud, shrill tone, near the telephone. When an offensive call is received, take a deep breath and blow as hard as possible into the mouthpiece. Police say that the resulting experience for the caller is so unpleasant that he'll likely not call that number again.

No Parking Lights

Driving along Michigan roads at dusk will give you a good indication of how many people change their habits to keep up with state law.

The 1962 Legislature passed a law prohibiting the use of parking lights. The law specifies that when it is dark enough to turn on lights, they must be the regular driving lights.

State Safety Commission Executive Secretary Gerald S. Shipman said statistics indicated there was good reasoning behind the new requirement.

The dim and often obscure bulbs provided for parking lights do nothing for the motorist's own visual alertness and provide uncertain warning for other motorists and pedestrians alike, Shipman said.

"The parking light is usually located closer to the dust and mud of the highway and the least likely to receive attention either from the driver or serviceman," the safety spokesman said. "The parking light also is deliberately made low-powered to conserve battery energy."

"This modest gleam, seen through layers of road grime in the twilight, frequently deceives the passing motorist or crossing pedestrian as to its distance and his percentage of making good on the next move," said Shipman.

Tuscola ABA Groups In Annual Meetings

Tuscola county's five Artificial Breeders Associations will be holding annual meetings shortly, announces Don R. Kebler, county extension agent in agriculture.

The first meeting will be held Jan. 9 by the Huron-Tuscola local. This meeting will recognize Kenneth Baushke, new general manager of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative. The members will meet in the Gagetown High School cafeteria at 8 p.m. Also on the program will be Director Pierson, a movie titled "Michigan Winter Wonderland," door prizes and nominations for three directors.

The Millington local has set Jan. 18 for a family noon dinner meeting. The location is not yet determined.

Vassar local will meet at 7:45 p.m. in the new high school in Vassar Jan. 30. Program outline is not yet determined.

Cass City and Kingston locals have not announced their plans so far, remarks Kebler, but in all cases each local will hold election of officers. Members are urged to attend.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing everything from Vietnam to the Congress and from foreign aid to wimmen.

They was a little confusion on some items, fer instant Zeke Grubb argued Vietnam was in South America and nobody claimed to know nothing about wimmen. But, general speaking, the fellers was overflowing with wisdom on all matters.

First off, Ed Doolittle said he wanted to pay his respects to them noble Congressmen on the matter of trying to git their wages raised $10,000 a year. Ed allowed as how ever Congressmen in Washington knowed when he was beating the bushes fer votes two years ago exact what the wage scale was fer the job. He was of the opinion that any Congressman that had any respect fer himself or his constituents would wait till after the general election in November afore voting himself a fat hike in pay. Ed figgered a Congressman had ought to come home and tell the voters he was going to support a bill fer more pay and then let the people give him the raise if he was elected. That made sense to all the fellers and it was so voted.

Zeke brung up the matter of foreign aid again. It has got to the place where Zeke gits so mad about this foreign aid business his old lady has to put a ice bag on his head everytime he picks up the morning paper. Zeke said maybe Vietnam wasn't in South America like he argued, admitted it might be in Africa like the other fellers claimed, but he allowed as how his geography was right on the beam when it come to foreign aid.

He was quoting from a speech by Congressman Otto Passman of Louisiana where the Government agency that holds the money box fer foreign aid closed out the phisical year with nearly 8 billion dollars in unspent funds. Farthermore, Zeke said Congressman Passman reported that more'n a billion dollars of that money wasn't even earmarked or obligated fer nothing, was just laying there idle to be grabbed off by the first country that come along and put up the porest mouth.

Clem Webster announced the only "aid" program he was backing in the next election was this Federal aid to education bill. He said he had wrote a letter to his Congressman promising his support fer this bill if they would use all the money fer teaching arithmetic in Washington.

Personal, Mister Editor, I don't think they was much we can do about money. Slow but certain this item has got the human race in a squeeze. The Bible says it's hard fer a rich man to enter Heaven and it's gitting harder and harder fer a pore man to remain on earth.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Slides of Russia Slated at Methodist Missions Class

Slides of Russia will be shown at the second Mission Family Night dinner and program Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the Methodist Fellowship Hall, according to James Braid, pastor.

Dr. Jewel M. Smoot, Flint Court Street Methodist Church pastor, will speak and show films of his tour of Russia. Dr. Smoot has traveled extensively and is well-known for his films.

The meal will be served smorgasbord-style and the Mission's Commission, with Mrs. C. U. Haire as chairman, will provide the decorations and beverage.

New 4-H Projects Offered by Club

A new range of 4-H projects is being opened for members of the Cass City Livestock Club with the organization of a handicraft and electrical group, according to Dick Carpenter, club activities leader.

Leaders for the new group will be Mr. and Mrs. Keith Russell, 5077 Koepfgen Road.

"The projects will teach worthwhile lessons and will present a challenge," Carpenter reports. The leather craft and woodwork-ing portion is designed to help the boys and girls appreciate the crafts as a practical art or vocation, he explained.

Electrical science will develop some skill in making and using electrical equipment.

"In brief," Carpenter states, "the program will offer an understanding of how to use tools, wood and related items in the construction of useful articles."

The organization of the group brings the leadership in the Cass City 4-H Livestock Club to seven persons. The Russells are the parents of seven children, three of whom are enrolled in 4-H project work.

Members interested in the new group are urged to contact the Russells or Carpenter for further information.

Gardner Sells Perry Mason Without Sex

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

This week, I wish to review an author rather than a book. This writer is one of the best in his field; witness the 'take out' stamps on his books in the library. I refer to Erle Stanley Gardner to whom no man is superior when it comes to writing detective stories. He is creator, of course, of Perry Mason, whose name is synonymous with a certain type of mystery novel.

I would not hazard a guess on the number of mysteries Gardner has had published—several hundred at least. President Eisenhower numbers himself among Gardner's fans, as do many other public figures. They are excellent 'escape' reading, which simply means that when you read his books you soon forget any troubles you may have because you are immersed in the plot!

One of the things I like is that they are more realistic than those written by other novelists.

Having been raised in a family where law enforcement was the source of income it came as no shock to us that all detectives are not good looking (with due apologies to my bald father), nor do they consider themselves above the law.

Now, Perry Mason is an attorney; he outsmarts the police. That far the mystery stories are not true-to-life. But, unlike many modern detective stories, Gardner does not supply Mason with all the good-looking women falling into Mason's bed. Della Street, his secretary, takes care of his office and occasionally is his escort to various functions. But Perry Mason does not do his work from a bed.

This makes his books refreshingly different in the vast field of mystery writers who find all their clues in sex encounters.

Gardner participates in law enforcement movements. He founded a 'Court of Last Resort,' which involves good attorneys and law enforcement personnel in re-opening cases which seem to have some merit, not brought out in courts. In addition he is a member of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation, which chiefly concerns itself with educating the public concerning aspects of the broad field of law enforcement.

What am I trying to say? That good mystery novels do not need 'sex' to be read and appreciated. That Erle Stanley Gardner does not have trouble publishing good detective novels about realistic detectives and with clever twists and turns that have to do with the law and not with a feminine role.

I recommend his Perry Mason novels, and also his 'detective tales that are written without Mason.

Wealth may not bring happiness, but many people think it would be a pleasant kind of misery.

SERVES

Detroit Edison and the individual men and women who make up the company participate in a wide variety of educational, social and civic affairs.

It is a common practice for Edison employes to serve during business hours, and in what would otherwise be their leisure time. They are on boards of education, act as special instructors and visiting lecturers in many schools, accept appointive and elective offices. They are active in churchwork and charities.

Many of our engineers, staff and management people serve at state, national and international levels—in the development, for example, of electric power facilities and systems overseas.

Our company has a broad program of educational assistance. There are grants to Michigan schools of higher learning; scholarships—44 of them currently—for deserving students; the support of science fairs; the sending of student delegates and teachers to conferences on peaceful atomic development.

In the belief that good government depends upon the willingness of all to accept the responsibilities of citizenship, the company also has a non-partisan program of political education for interested employes.

The taxes Edison pays help build and maintain essential community services, schools and colleges. During 1962, for example, the company paid $67-million in taxes to federal, state and more than 400 local governments. In many areas of southeastern Michigan, Edison is the largest single taxpayer.

We like to give our support in these many ways, by engaging in and encouraging others to participate in community work for the good of everyone.

Sincerely,

Walker L. Cisler
