Four Injured in Separate Mishaps

Many area farmers feel that they have been shortchanged in the current regulations affecting wheat. What has aroused their ire is the volunteer program now in effect.

In a referendum, farmers voted out support and allotments for wheat, preferring to be unfettered in acreage and take their chances on price.

But when the referendum defeated controls, a voluntary program was instigated with government price support.

With prices assured, a flood of wheat at a price support is due on the market and the bottom has fallen from wheat prices, currently selling for about $1.25 a bushel, as compared to last year's support price of a little under $2.00.

The ironic part of the entire fiasco is that the grade of wheat grown in Michigan is not in over supply, but yet brings no more than the abundant wheat grown in the plains states.

Many local farmers are planning to dust out their grain bins and hold their wheat, rather than taking it to market at harvest time.

One thing sure is that $1.25 wheat does not pay the farmer's costs and if the situation does not change it will be reflected in the election in November.

Wednesday, Donald Crouse officially became the new superintendent at Cass City Schools.

He starts with the full support of the school board and a clean slate of no personal animosities. He acquires a school system which we feel is basically good but in recent years has suffered from lack of funds. One of his first tasks will be working with the school board for a new high school building.

It's a major task and will require the support of everyone interested in better education opportunities for the children of the area.

In Gagetown

Okay Water Vote

Approximately 40 persons heard Birmingham Engineer Frank DeDecker explain possible alternatives for bringing Gagetown's water supply up to pressure requirement Monday night at a special meeting.

William Downing, village president, in reporting on the meeting Tuesday, speculated the next step for Gagetown voters will be to vote on the raising of $40,000 in general obligation bonds to finance the project.

Just what steps will be taken depends on a report expected back sometime next week from a testing firm which is checking to see if the village's two existing wells have enough water to handle a proposed 100,000-gallon storage tank.

If there is not enough water, Downing explained, then a third well will have to be drilled, in place of putting up the tank.

In either event, voters will decide the matter in about two months, he said.

Gagetown's water problem arose following a check by the Michigan Inspection Bureau which revealed that pressure in the system is inadequate and could hamper fire fighting in the event of a serious fire.

The system, therefore, must be improved if reasonable fire insurance rates are to be maintained.

knuckle and the first joint of the second finger.

Timmy Kari of Greenleaf suffered a crushed finger on his right hand Monday in a hay baling accident on the Calvin MacRae farm. Several stitches were taken in the injury and the hand was put in a cast.

Frank Brigham, about nine, of Deford, was discharged Monday from Hills and Dales after treatment of a neck injury suffered when he dived from a neighbor's apple tree into a creek.

Dr. Donahue said the boy was visiting neighbors and was diving from the tree. On his second dive, he went straight in and struck bottom. It was at first feared he'd suffered whiplash injuries; however, subsequent tests disproved this.

Cliff Ryan, Agrico plant manager, suffered a burn on his right arm Monday when a valve on a nurse tank of liquid nitrogen was accidentally opened, releasing some of the gas. Although painful, the injury was not serious and Ryan continued working.

SPEEDSTER—When finished this "street roadster" being built by Pete and John Franks and Bill Merchant, all of Cass City, is expected to be able, according to speed formulas, to do 110 miles in the quarter mile. Made of cannibalized Chevrolet, Ford, Buick and Plymouth parts the car is the second built by the trio.

Henry Would Never Recognize Ford Built By Local Youths

First you'll see a low, bright red object skimming the roadways. Next you'll hear the high-pitched sound of the powerful motor and as it draws nearer, you may be able to make out the lines of an abbreviated Model "T", half motor and half body.

When it streaks past, however, you'll probably recognize it as one of the two homemade cars built by Peter and John Franks and Bill Merchant at the Louis Franks home north of Cass City.

Technically, the car, the second built by the men, could be called a "Chevrolet" or a "Fordlet" because it's made primarily from cannibalized Chevrolet and Ford parts with a few Buick and Plymouth odds and ends thrown in, probably just to give equal billing to the other major car builders.

The trio began building the car the first part of January and two weeks ago they put it through its first trials. Although only two-thirds completed, the boys expect to have it finished soon and ready for licensing.

The three started building cars while still students at Cass City High School. Their first venture was a chopped down Model "A" which is currently in Detroit.

The new car features a Chevrolet 348 engine hung on a modified Model "A" frame. What body there is is a fiberglass mold of a 1923 pickup cab with fiberglass bucket seats.

Wheel base is 101 inches with tread width of 63 inches in front and 59 in the rear. Giving it plenty of jump is a Hurst 4-speed floor shift with a Chevrolet 4-speed transmission and a standard Chevrolet rear end.

Although the builders hedged on the expected capabilities of the car, they conceded that the big motor, purchased from a Snover garage, should be able to push the featherweight 1,800-pound vehicle to 110 miles an hour in the quarter-mile, "according to weight and horsepower."

"It's hard to tell what it'll do," stated John, carefully skirting the question. "You see, it'll go faster than a regular car with the same horsepower, because it's lighter."

Pete, 22, does most of the welding and the rest of the work is shared by all three. Since Pete is an auto-machine student at Ferris, this means that brother John, 23, and Merchant, 23, spend much of their free time tinkering with the car.

They estimate that they've spent approximately $1,000 on the car, not counting the hours each has devoted to the project. The body alone, purchased at a Toledo, Ohio, parts shop, ran $140.

They feel the money was well spent because the fiberglass body weighs only 35 pounds as compared to the 100-plus pounds of the real, metal body, giving the car added speed.

Classified as a "street roadster," all three contend that the second car was easier to build than the first.

In making the first car, the boys ("I couldn't even drive," says Pete.) began with just an idea and some miscellaneous parts, adding a little here and a little there.

The second venture began by "getting all the major parts together . . . the frame, axle, transmission . . . before starting to assemble it," John explains. "This gives you an idea of what you want to do and have to do and saves work and money."

Merchant was quick to add, however, that they still get their parts "here, there, and everywhere . . . scrap yards, parts shops, wherever they have late model parts."

Merchant also contended that the hardest part about building the car was getting the correct suspension. The car stands a bare 50 inches high with the lowest point four inches above the ground.

"The thing is, we're taking parts off cars that weigh three times as much," he said. A new innovation in suspension on the car is leaf springs in front and coils in the back. "We think this will give us a better ride," John tells, "but we haven't had a chance to test it."

In Future Years

Close Seeger To Carnivals

A request by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, to close Seeger street, a block north of Main street, sparked a discussion by the Cass City Village Council that ended with a crackdown on the practice in future years. The Chamber wanted to use the block as a carnival area.

Jerome Root Jr., a fireman as well as a councilman, said that he was opposed to having the street blocked.

He said that if a fire north of town occurred when the street was blocked the closed street would hamper fire fighting efforts. The closed street would require the fire truck to go a block out of its way and make four turns while doing so.

Fire Chief Nelson Willy said that the closed street with the children milling around was a traffic hazard.

The council agreed to let the Chamber have the rides at the end of the month for the annual Sidewalk Days sale, but will write a letter saying that the street will not be available next year and suggest that the Chamber rent private land for the project. The lot on North Seeger at the alley adjacent to Main street was suggested.

No Vehicles
The council also vetoed another request concerning Sidewalk Days. It was requested that cars be placed on the sidewalks.

Trustees voted to prohibit any vehicles at any time from being placed on the new sidewalks.

While the village was curbing the activities of the Chamber on the streets and sidewalks, it started plans for improving the park.

Root was appointed to investigate the cost of resurfacing with asphalt the tennis court and Root and Dr. D. E. Rawson will see that three new lights are installed.

In other activities concerning the park, trustees voted to pay $4 per night for umpiring Little League games and authorized $10 per night for DJ dances Thursday nights.

Four Teachers Sought

Cass City Public Schools' push for four new teachers to replace those who have left the system will gain new impetus this week with consideration of teacher applicants from Northern State Teachers' College, according to Willis Campbell, retiring superintendent.

Eight teachers left the system at the end of the school year. Still to be replaced are an early elementary teacher, a late elementary teacher, a junior high science teacher and a senior high teacher.

"Our average turnover is five to six teachers each year," Campbell explained.

He also explained part of the difficulty in obtaining teachers is due to the addition of two new elementary teachers to handle expected elementary student increases.

Teachers leaving the system at the end of the year included: Wayne Wilson, basketball and baseball coach; Ronald Raulin, senior high science; John Schmittbauser, junior high science; Mrs. Avis Youngs, early elementary; Mrs. Arthur Holmberg, late elementary, and Jon Fahrner, biology.

Campbell ended 42 years of service with the Cass City system Tuesday when his retirement became effective. Donald Crouse, new superintendent officially took over his position Wednesday, July 1.

Re-Set Annual School Meeting

A delay in compilation of annual reports has forced a rescheduling of the Cass City Public Schools annual meeting originally slated to precede a Board of Education meeting on Monday, July 6.

The annual meeting has been set back a week to Monday, July 13.

The regular board meeting, however, will still be held Monday, July 6, at which time the board will organize and elect officers.

Plan "Colonial" Library Here

The village's library-five hall building is due for a face lifting under the joint auspices of the village and the Cass City and Elkland Township Library Board.

Appearing before the council Tuesday night at the Municipal Building were Mrs. John Zinnacker and Mrs. Robert Keating, members of the library commission.

They presented a plan for repainting the east and south walls of the building and adding trim. Also included was the addition of a colonial type storm door; a sign; white shuttered windows, and window flower boxes.

Color suggested for the building was grey.

Although the library board had volunteered to pay for the entire project, trustees decided to pay for the cost of painting the building, which the village owns, and let the library board pay for the rest of the work, as well as supervise the entire project.

Other projects completed is not going as smoothly. Complaints have been registered with the village about the holes and dirt left after the installation of the water mains.

Trustees in an earlier meeting had decided to write a formal letter, but no action has yet been taken. A discussion about the procedure to use was bandied around by councilmen but resulted in no course of action.

A special meeting of the council will be held Monday at 4 p.m. to open bids for curb and gutter on Third street. Three sets of plans have been issued to contractors.

By John Sommers

If you missed last week's column you had better look up your "Chronicle" because I have an idea with the coming L-O-N-G week end you'll be wanting plenty of variety buns for outdoor eating.

The Fourth of July—and three suggestions — first —we all know the event we're commemorating but I think we tend to forget the values and ideals that our founding fathers had, that probably have greater meaning and more scope than ever before - perhaps in this election year it would be a good idea to re-examine them as we make our election year choices, as we live day to day and as we seek to practice what we believe.

Second — If you're going to be on the road, please use caution, care and patience. None of us want to be in an accident — and none of us want to be the cause of one either.

Third — Whatever you do be sure and have some BAKED FOODS FROM SOMMERS and decorate the occasion with beautiful red-white and blue Independence Day decorated cake-fore - perhaps in this election year it would be a good idea to

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was making some big decisions on a number of important items.

First off, Ed Doolittle ask fer the floor to make a few remarks about the kind of mail service we was now gitting from them folks in Washington. He reported he had went to town Saturday afternoon to buy a stamp and the dad-berned window was closed. Ed is mighty touchy

ENGAGED

Janet Gualtiere

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Gualtiere of Chicago, Illinois, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Louise, to Mr. William A. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ross of Cass City, Michigan.

The couple are graduates of Western Michigan University and are planning a late September wedding.

about these matters when the Democrats was in power. Under the Republicans he would call it real economy.

Anyhow, he allowed as how any Government business that would cut back the service and raise rates at the same time was in mighty pore shape. He was of the opinion that with the volume of mail gitting bigger and bigger they had ought to go on a 24-hour base instead of shutting down more and more.

Clem Webster agreed with Ed, claimed if the public couldn't make a phone call on Sundays or after midnight the Congress would meet in special session and take over the telephone business. Clem figured if private enterprise could run the railroads and telephone business under Government regulations, it could run the mail business the same way.

It was voted unanimous, Mister Editor, to put the U. S. Post Office up for sale.

Josh Clodhopper said he was reading where a farmer in South Carolina had wrote to President Johnson asking to git put on the poverty handout, said he was $19,456 in debt and things was gitting worse all the time. The fellers was agreed that anybody with that much credit ought to git out of farming and git in to the banking business.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw by the papers where deaths on U. S. highways hit a all-time high in May. He said he could recollect back 50 years ago when horses was afraid of automobiles and folks was laughing at the horses. He allowed as how this was more proof they ain't no substitute fer horse sense.

It was agreed that just as soon as we git the Post Office sold and git poverty abolished we ought to put on a campaign agin highway slaughter. Bug Hookum, fer instant, said he saw where a feller give a talk on traffic safety and showed the crowd a bottle of pills, all of 'em looking exact alike. They was 331 pills in the bottle and all was harmless except one, and it would kill you dead. When he ask how many in the audience was willing to take a chanet and swaller one of the pills, not a hand went up. Then he said many of them was taking the same chanet in their car ever day, that one out of ever 331 attempts to beat a traffic light got somebody killed.

As Dean Rusk would say, Mister Editor, it was a very "fruitful" session.

Uncle Tim
Yours truly,

Plan Draft Exams For 18-year-olds

Michigan local boards will begin the physical examination of 18-year-old registrants in August but such examinations will not mark a speed-up of the draft, it has been announced by Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service.

These examinations will be conducted in addition to the regular physical examination of some 2,500 older registrants who are approaching the age of induction.

Purpose of the early examinations for 18-year-olds is to enable those who are found qualified for military service to make definite plans for their future careers. The early examinations will also enable those who are found not qualified to seek promptly such education, training or health services which can be of benefit to them. Selective Service has initiated a program for referral of disqualified registrants to community rehabilitation agencies.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE 6000 MILE SERVICE INTERVAL
Large city taxi operators, who have become experts over the years in keeping auto service costs down, are great believers in the adage that a "stitch in time saves nine." What their book records show makes good advice to all of us.

A recent development, for instance, is that some companies are replacing sealed lubrication bearings with the "old fashioned" kind that need attention every two thousand miles or so. How come? So that their cabs will be sure to get the frequent check ups that uncover potential breakdowns and do something about them before they become a reality.

While this may not be necessary for normal passenger car use, it makes a point that is important. When your car does need an oil change at the recommended 6000 miles or two months, whichever comes first, it needs a little loving care as well.

Six thousands miles is a good time to check tires for misalignment before it does too much damage, clogged air filter, brakes and carburetor adjustment and the sealed lubrication joints themselves. If your car has positive crankcase ventilation, the hose valves and fittings should be cleaned and if necessary the valve should be replaced.

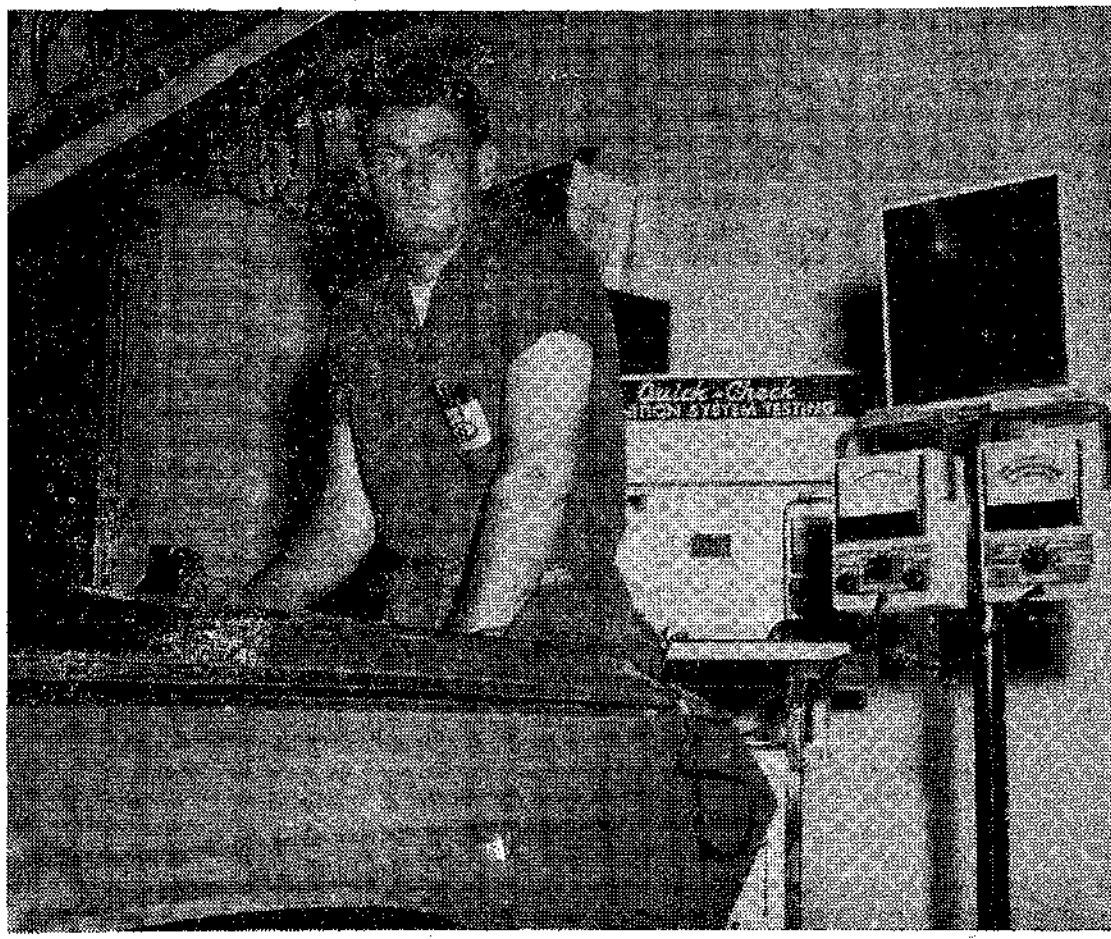

Taxi company records of thousands of cabs are analyzed to save money on repairs and breakdown and when frequent service intervals are recommended you can be assured they do just that.

Political Scientists Agreed Against Massachusetts Ballot

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Ballot Battle

Political scientists who more or less objectively view every aspect of their field daily have risen almost en masse against the Massachusetts ballot approved by the Legislature.

Prior to enactment of the law putting into effect the "office block" ballot, a group of 26 political scientists at Michigan colleges and universities advised against its use.

Since the ballot was approved, some of these same 26 and other political science instructors have vowed to fight the use of this new voting method.

Describing their opposition as nonpartisan, six of these men, faculty members at Michigan State University, have formed a committee to fight use of the ballot.

Samuel Krislov, spokesman for the Citizens Committee for a Free Choice Ballot, said the long-range effect of the Massachusetts ballot "is to really weaken both political parties."

The ballot removes the choice of voting a straight party ticket. It requires a voter to check his choice for candidates for each office open.

Discouraging voters, providing advantage to "name" candidates and certain ballot position holders, and returning the long-hated bedsheet ballot are the main objections given to the Massachusetts plan.

Krislov said the ballot represents a step backwards and "can only confuse and complicate the task of the voters and weaken popular control of government."

The backward step, contends the Committee spokesman, comes in the fact that it reverts to a longer ballot. This is a change from the new Constitution's aim to reduce the number of ballot choices to be made.

Committee members will not participate in the petition drive being directed by the Democratic Party to prevent use of the ballot this fall, Krislov said.

Their main hope is to broaden the committee to each college campus in the state and make available speakers to discuss the issues at public meetings.

Krislov and his colleagues said statistics in states currently using the Massachusetts ballot showed that voting for lesser offices drops off very sharply when compared to the ballot now used in Michigan which allows either straight party or individual choice voting.

Treatment and rehabilitation of juvenile offenders could take a major step forward in the next few years with the increased use of so-called halfway houses in Michigan.

Probate officials optimistically view the use of halfway houses as a means of providing adequate rehabilitation facilities for minor offenders while leaving the Boys Training School for youth who need closer supervision.

In the past, probate judges throughout the state have lamented the fact that many youths accused of relatively minor crimes, and even some major offenders, have been set free because of the lack of facilities to house them.

Lack of parental control, job training in the schools and recreational facilities have all been blamed at various times for increases in juvenile delinquency.

Regardless of the cause, the rise of delinquent cases in the courts has not to date been met by a corresponding increase in effective means of correcting the wayward youths.

The halfway houses planned for major cities throughout the state are designed to prepare youth for the return to society and useful lives.

Give 'em the Bird

If there were no important state problems left, it is obvious from a recent dispute that someone would devise minor ones.

In the midst of discussions over apportionment, budget matters, Constitutional implementation and highway accident rates, the State Legislature became embroiled in a low-key argument over what should represent Michigan as the official state bird.

The robin, common to almost every state, is pictured on the official highway map as the state bird. This variety was designated as official by a legislative resolution in 1931.

Dispute over whether the robin should continue to represent the state centered primarily over the fact that it is such a common bird.

Some members felt a more unique bird should be named. The chief nominee was the Kirtland Warbler, a rare bird which chooses a portion of Michigan's northern forest land as its only nesting place in the country. No legislative action resulted from the debates.

An informal poll taken by Secretary of State James M. Hare, however, indicated more people favored the robin than the rare warbler, very possibly because most have never seen a Kirtland warbler.

IT SEEMS TO ME

Indians Lose to White Men Again

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

The Supreme Court of our land has insisted that the segregation in the schools (primarily a problem in the south) cease. Recently the Court made clear that it was interested in practical means of doing this. Some school districts in our land had bussed students into strange neighborhoods just to make certain that their schools were integrated -- driving white children to Negro neighborhoods and colored children into white neighborhoods. The Supreme Court, by refusing to hear an appeal, has ruled that the school children have a right to an education in their own neighborhood. It seems to this writer that the only real solution to this problem will come as neighborhoods are gradually integrated. Or, so it seems to me.

Have you read about the short-changing, on the part of our federal government, of the Seneca Indians? Ignoring a treaty backed by one George Washington in 1794, recognizing the land as forever the property of the Senecas, the government has ordered the Indians out to make way for the Kinzua water-storage project!

The House set reparations to the Senecas at the amount of $20.2 million, but the less historical Senate slashed the amount to $9.1 million. Must we always run the Indian off his property in a warlike attitude? Part of the trouble is that Indians are so small in numbers that their votes hardly count at the polls.

Makes me feel dirty and just angry enough to write a Michigan senator or two! Or, so it seems to me.

Did you ever have that 'lost' feeling? I ran across a story the other day that tells of a little boy who was seen to look up and down the street. Finally he approached a policeman and asked: "Sir, did you see a lady going by without me?"

Working in our garden one hot day recently, I thought of the following story and spent the rest of the afternoon chuckling while pulling weeds. Setting: a group of "senior citizens", men, sitting around a pot-bellied stove and talking over the serious aspects of life.

"I'm going blind and deaf," sighed one old-timer, "I don't know what the good Lord wants to leave me here for."

Replied another old man, "Now, the Lord's ways are not our ways and we can't always understand them. But if He's left you here, He's got work for you to do."

The old fellow sat for a minute in quiet meditation, then announced, "Well I'm not a-gonna do it."

It has been quite a while since the government reported (through a special committee) to the people, that cigarette smoking is definitely a primary factor in the untimely death of many persons. I reported in this column immediately after the report of some local persons whom I saw resisting the cigarette vending machine. Now, however, the tobacco companies report that the average smoker has gone back on the "filthy weed" and is willing to pay the price of a premature death for the pleasure of a smoke.

I would like to advise my readers to smoke if they must, but smoke only a pipe or, if you are loaded financially, smoke cigars. Experts say that the objectionable ingredients are notably present in a smaller degree than in the "cancer stick." Remember that you have responsibilities to your mate and your children, and to a few other people, too. Or, so it seems to me.

The Farm Produce Co. has provided us all with many lightened moments as their new storage silo has been under construction. And I look forward to a tour of this landmark with manager Barney Hoffman. The perspective from the various windows ought to be fascinating. As you turn off from M-53, you see this new silo on M-51. With the new water tower, our town surely looks different from the Cass City I first visited five years ago. And it has been to the betterment of the town. Or, so it seems to me.

Let me hasten to congratulate the board governing the Cass City Hospital! As it opens, we become a two-hospital town, which ought to interest more doctors in planning to come to Cass City. The new hospital is finer than most of us anticipated. Again CONGRATULATIONS!

Most people aim to please, but many are poor shots.

Skunk Shooter Nicks Motorist

A 74-year-old Vassar man drew a bead on a trespassing skunk Saturday and shot a passing motorist in the hand in a freak shooting accident investigated by Tuscola county sheriff's deputies.

Leslie Kaatz, 45, Jayville, told the deputies that he was driving on O'Brien Road in a pickup when he heard a shot. He said the next thing he knew, there was blood on his right hand.

He was treated by Dr. Edward Miles, Caro, for thumb and first finger injuries.

Walter Kasprzyk, Vassar, reported to deputies that he was shooting at a skunk in his yard with a 16-gauge shotgun when the accident happened.

Deputies believe some of the pellets ricocheted off a tree and struck Kaatz.

No mention was made in the report of the condition of the skunk.

Heat Drives Many To Recreation Pool

Soaring temperatures over the past week have sent Cass City children and adults alike scurrying in droves for the momentary relief of the Recreation Park swimming pool, according to Fred Leeson, program director.

Average use, based on admittance prices has been set at 190 persons in the pool at any given time.

A newly inaugurated "Adult and Family Night" swimming program went into effect Tuesday night and received a heavy turnout. Leeson speculated that the regular night may be expanded to two nights a week. Swimming begins at 7:00.

On other fronts, Leeson announced that a horseshoe setup has been installed for anyone wishing to play horseshoes. The pit is located at the southeast corner of the park.

Swimming lessons started Tuesday morning, June 30, under the following schedule: 9:00 to 10:00 - beginners (five and over); 10:00 to 11:00 - intermediate; and 11:00 to 12:00 - advanced. Acting as instructors are the playground directors. Lessons will be given on both Tuesdays and Thursdays. Blooper ball began Wednesday, June 24, and will be held each Wednesday evening.

Tennis
Tennis got underway with the organization of a tennis club. Officers are: John Herhalt, president; Pat Herhalt, vice-president; Les Searls, treasurer; and Gail Hoffman, secretary. The club meets Wednesday evenings at 7:00.

Tennis practice sessions are held Tuesday and Thursday mornings for instruction.

The major event of the week in the morning recreation program will be a "Scavenger Hunt" Friday morning at 9:00 at the park, followed by a picnic at 11:00, according to Miss Dian Cardew, a director.

Handicraft sessions were also slated to begin this week, Miss Cardew reports.

"Wheels" Parade
Polishing off last week's activities was the annual "Parade on Wheels" Friday morning. The following winners were named: tricycle - Debbie Ware, first; Stephanie Scandalios, second; and Jeannie Miller, third. Bikes - Mary Powell, LouAnn Repshinska, Beth Eria and Cathy Fritz, in the order of their places. Floats - Mary Jane Croft and Betsy Hostetter, first, and Susie Prieskorn, Cara Prieskorn, Diane Stickle and Pam Stickle, second.

Toothy Tot Born To Kritzmans

Gretchen Kay Kritzman is a girl who is bound to have a reputation for "really getting her teeth into things."

She already gained a certain amount of notoriety when she was born Tuesday, June 23, at Bay Osteopathic Hospital complete with two bottom teeth. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kritzman of Kawkawlin, both former Cass City area residents.

Gretchen, who weighed eight pounds, six ounces, joined two sisters and three brothers at the Kritzman home Saturday.

Mrs. Kritzman is the former Shirley Loomis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Loomis, and Kritzman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kritzman of Decker.

Set New Wheat Standards for 1964

Area wheat farmers will sell this year's wheat crop under a new set of wheat standards, says Alfred Ballweg, county extension director in Tuscola county.

The new grades should mean less foreign material and dockage in wheat this year. One of the main changes in the standards that went into effect on June 1 is that maximum damage has been established for "total defects" for each numerical grade of wheat. These defects include damaged kernels, foreign material not readily removed and shrunk or broken kernels.

Still another change has eliminated moisture as a factor in determining the "sample" wheat grades. Moisture content for wheat grading "tough" has been reduced to 13.5 per cent for all classes.

New test weights for various wheat grades have also been determined. Test weight is an indicator of the wheat plumpness and is a major test in the process of grading wheat. It indicates the amount of flour that can be milled from each bushel of wheat. "Since numerical grades don't always completely describe a certain lot of wheat, special descriptive grades are often added to give the buyer and seller more information," says Ballweg.

Giants Undefeated In Little League

The Giants moved a full game in front of the pack in the Cass City Little League as they chalked up a pair of victories during the week to push their undefeated record to 4-0.

The runner-up Pirates stayed in contention by winning the only game they played during the week to boost a 3-1 record.

Pirates-Yankees

Kim Hopper went the distance for the Pirates as they racked up a fairly easy win, 9-2, Friday. Hopper allowed four hits and four walks.

Caister started for the Yankees and was relieved by Dave Little in the fourth. Hartwick of the Pirates led all pitchers with three hits in four tries.

Giants vs. Cubs

The Cubs came within an eyelash of upsetting the undefeated Giants as they bowed to the league leaders 7-6.

M. Zawilinski started for the Giants and was relieved by R. Alexander in the third.

Alexander helped win his own game as he poked out a grand slam home run and a single.

G. Lindall went the distance and was charged with the loss for the Cubs. Lindall helped keep his team in the game with a home run blast.

Giants vs. Tigers

The Tigers, who have yet to win a game, and the Giants who have yet to lose one, were pitted in a well played game that the Giants won, 12-7.

The score was closer than the final score indicated. The Tigers led until the final two innings when the Giants rallied to win.

B. King started for the Tigers and was relieved by R. Kozan in the third. D. Wallace started for the Giants and was relieved by R. Alexander in the fifth.

Alexander had two hits, including a home run, and S. Guernsey collected three safeties to lead the winners.

B. King and J. Asher each picked up two hits for the losers.

The standings:

	W	L	GB
Giants	4	0	-
Pirates	3	1	1
Cubs	2	2	2
Yanks	1	3	3
Tigers	0	3	3½

Indians Unbeaten In Minor Loop

Minor League baseball in Cass City this week featured a White Sox victory over the Giants, 12-8, and an Indian decision over the Braves, 25-6.

The White Sox hurler credited with the win was Bill Peire. He was relieved by Bob White. Bill Chippi was charged with the loss.

Paul Bliss went the distance for the Indians in the one-sided victory over the Braves.

The Indians now have won two and lost none while the Braves and White Sox have won one and lost one. The Giants have yet to win in two decisions.

Look for Heated GOP Race for Representative in Congress

The race for the Republican nomination for U. S. House of Representatives promises to be a knockdown, dragout fight between Jim Harvey and Don Wismer Jr.

Wismer is conducting a house-to-house campaign for votes and Harvey, who presently serves in Congress from the "old eighth."

has been spending every spare moment visiting constituents.

Harvey has scheduled a speaking tour in the Thumb which will include an address July 7 before the Cass City Rotary Club.

Wismer says that he has made a door-to-door visitation of everyone in Cass City.

Political Picture

This is the way the political picture emerges, according to Wismer. He feels that Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac could provide the balance of power in the Eighth district that also includes Saginaw and St. Clair counties.

He points to the last contested elections in St. Clair and Saginaw as the basis for his theory. In these elections, the Republican vote in St. Clair county was about equal with Saginaw's, each polling a little over 18,000 votes.

Wismer now represents Sanilac and St. Clair counties as state representative.

With the two "home" counties counterbalancing each other, the vote in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac could provide the balance of power and decide who will represent the district.

The new alignment of the district will probably switch the representation of Tuscola county from Democrat to Republican.

James O'Hara, the present representative of the area, is a Democrat and will campaign to represent the new Macomb county district.

Relax and enjoy life—only a few of things yearned for are absolute necessities.

NEW DEAL
When newlyweds feather their nests today, usually four parents have been plucked.

MOON-BLINDNESS
Most men have sense enough to get a good wife, but not enough sense to know it.

COMPROMISE
Difference of opinion is no problem to people who know enough to split the difference.

Meetings End, but Work Continues for Hospital Auxiliary

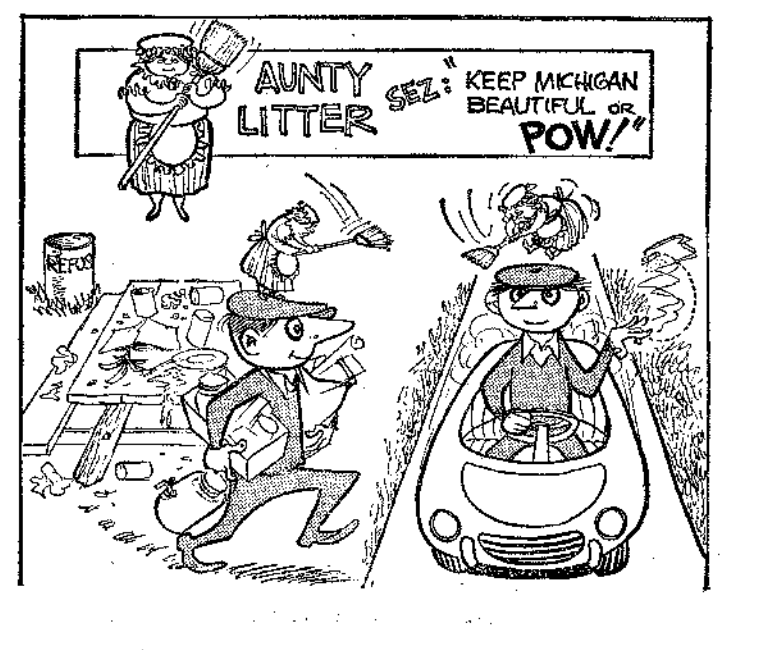

Authorities of the Hills and Dales Hospital Auxiliary said this week that the work of the organization at the hospital continues through the summer months even though there will be no formal meetings until September.

Puppet making, sewing, receptionist work and TV and radio distribution are volunteer activities carried on through the year.

Persons wishing to help will be welcomed by the organization and should contact Mrs. Willis Campbell.

In other activities, it was decided at the June meeting to organize the bridge tournament in the early autumn. The profitable social venture is used to earn money for the many hospital activities of the organization.

is $23,000 a year.

The 13 counties in this district are Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac, St. Clair, Lapeer, Macomb, Oakland, Genesee, Shiawassee, Livingston, Ingham, Jackson, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Washtenaw and Monroe.

No other candidates from the Thumb have announced. Candidates from other counties include two circuit judges and a state senator. The judges are Howard Carrol of Macomb and Louis McGregor of Genesee. The senator is Farrell Roberts, a Pontiac attorney.

Observers credit Quinn with a good chance of election. He is highly popular in his own district and without opposition there can expect a solid vote. As one of the state's most travelling judges he has held court in most counties of the district.

are the next major acquisitions for the car and then the trio will invite Cass City Police Chief Carl Palmateer up for a safety check.

If it passes the safety test, "having all the things that the law says you have to have," the trio will try to license the car.

The three were also hesitant to comment on whether or not they'd enter it in drag strip competition. "Certainly not this year," John asserted, "And we haven't decided about next year."

John is employed at Active Trailer Factory in Marlette and Merchant works for Gerald Whittaker, contract logging.

Outside of the satisfaction of building their own car, the youths contend that the main reason they built the car "is to have something different... that's why we're going to paint it the brightest red we can get."

PRESENTING THE CHRONICLE'S 9th ANNUAL BUILDERS' EDITION

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 58, NUMBER 12

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1964

Homes Show Decline

Village, Business Building Booms

Sparked by the erection of commercial buildings, Cass City experienced another boom year in construction and growth, judging by the number of and size of permits issued by the village council.

Since the last report issued by the Chronicle on July 1, 1963, a total of 37 building permits has been issued with a conservative valuation of over $200,000.

Since the amounts placed on estimates for permits is traditionally low it is entirely possible that the actual valuation will approach a half million dollars.

In addition to this figure, of course, there is the new construction outside of the village itself. The new stockyard near Cass City and elevator silos in Gagetown, as well as a booming business in farm construction, has helped to swell the building total.

Probably at least half of the boom in building (rated by money spent) was in commercial buildings. Largest single construction was the Farm Produce-Fructhery silos that were recently erected.

ORDER APPOINTING TIME

For Hearing Claims

State of Michigan, The Probate Court for the County of Tuscola.

In the Matter of the Estate of Mary E. D'Arcy, Deceased.

At a session of said Court, held on June 18th, 1964.

Present, Honorable Neil R. MacCallum, Circuit Court Judge of Probate, acting in Tuscola County.

Notice is hereby given, That all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims in writing and under oath, to said Court, and to serve a copy thereof upon Emerson Rose of Deckerville, Michigan, fiduciary of said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said Court at the Probate Office on September 3rd, 1964, at 11 a.m.

It is Ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three weeks "consecutively" previous to said day of hearing, in the Cass City Chronicle and that the fiduciary cause a copy of this notice to be served upon each known party in interest at his last known address by registered, certified or ordinary mail (with proof of mailing), or by personal service at least fourteen (14) days prior to such hearing.

Neil R. MacCallum, acting Judge of Probate.

A true copy

Beatrice P. Berry, Register of Probate.

Edmund P. Patterson, Attorney

Sandusky, Michigan

6-25-3

The new buildings of Agricola also helped swell the building total.

Since July of last year, a total of 10 permits has been issued for new homes, considerably less than the previous year's total of 15.

There was a rash of permits for remodeling and repairing of existing structures. Twenty-one of the 37 permits were issued for this purpose . . . as compared to 15 the preceding year.

Biggest Boost
The biggest boom to building is not listed in the building permits. It is the village itself.

The $150,000 water project, that includes new water mains and a new storage tank, and the sidewalk and street projects have kept a crew operating almost continually since the beginning of the building season this spring.

Also planned by the village are the resurfacing of Garfield, east of Seeger; resurfacing of two blocks of Main street alleys, and the curb and guttering of Third street.

Needles and Kettles In Regular Meet

The Needles and Kettles 4-H Club met in a regular meeting recently at the home of Doreen Venema with Margie Clarke presenting a demonstration on fruit. Project records for clothing were filled out and are to be turned in no later than the next regular meeting, July 10.

The club members who went to Bob-Lo on the train June 17 were Connie DeLong, Susan Tuckey, Ruth Cummins, Margaret Battel, Doreen Venema, Susan Brown, Becky Loomis and Paula Karr. On June 18, several members attended the flower show in Caro.

BE REALISTIC
Put yourself in the other fellow's shoes occasionally and you'll find it's easier to sympathize than to criticize.

Valuable Tips in Special Section

This is the ninth year that the Chronicle has been bringing its readers a special section devoted to stories about area building, remodeling and repairing.

It features local stories about building conditions in Cass City and you'll find tips about the home as well.

Equally as valuable are the many special building and home supply materials and services listed in the advertisements in the section.

All of the concerns advertising are from the area and residents using their services can be sure that materials will be as represented.

There is no need to worry about "whitewash" paint, inferior materials or shoddy workmanship when these area merchants are consulted.

Each of them depends on your good will and future business to survive.

Why not keep this special section around the home for easy reference?

To be a live wire a man must have good connections.

PERSONALITY PLUS
The fellow who loses all his money and still retains his friends is a miracle man.

TYPICAL of the building boom in Cass City is this house being built by Dean Lowe for Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Krueger and family. Located on Hospital Drive in the Hills and Dales Subdivision, the long, ranch-style home will offer over 15,000 square feet of comfortable living space.

It's Easy to Build Outside Play Area

If uncertain weather prevents your children from playing outdoors in the spring and fall, you need a covered outdoor play area. You can build one just by adding a roof, attached to the house and about garage size. Use fir posts and beams to build an egg-crate frame; cover with fiberglass roofing. Add windscreens in board-on-board pattern, and you'll have a handsome lanai for the adults' summer lounging, too.

COVER-UP

Some men seem to be of the opinion that economy should begin at home when it really should begin at the club.

ELECTRIC HEAT HELPS KEEP YOUR WHOLE HOUSE CLEANER!

Customers say with electric heat, you won't have to dust under beds, wash walls or clean draperies nearly as often. Why? Electric heat is flameless. Dust-laden outside air, in the quantities necessary to support a fire, is not drawn into your home. And because it is flameless, there's no soot. No fumes.

You get more out of life electrically. And Edison's new low All-Electric Living Rate gives you more reason than ever to consider electric heat. Before you buy, build or modernize, talk to an Electric Heating Contractor or Edison about electric heat.

It's A Long Long Trail in a Pickup

By Dave Kraft

Boy, do I feel sorry for you guys who had to stay home this past week end. I had the time of my life. Best week end I ever spent.

My wife and I and our two youngest or two oldest, whichever way you want to look at it, were guests of my father-in-law at his cabin in Grayling Saturday through Sunday.

I think I've told you about my father-in-law's cabin before . . . four rooms and a "path." It's right off the Au Sable.

We drove over to Vassar and then rode the several thousand miles to Grayling in my father-in-law's pickup. Actually, it's only a couple of hundred miles, but when you've got a one-year-old son and a two and a half-year-old daughter and three adults in the cab of a pickup, time and miles get longer.

Most of our trouble was with Matt. Sally is okay. You can tell her to shut up and sit down and it works two or three times, but Matt hasn't mastered the English language yet and no amount of yelling will quiet him down. If anything, it just agitates him.

He finally fell asleep though . . . a half mile from the cabin.

Despite the trip up, I was jubilant when we arrived. Here we were, in the scenic northland where a man can be a man. Where he can be by himself and run around in his bermudas till his white legs turn to lobster red without having the neighbors making fun of him.

So I did. And they did. For the first couple of days, they were so red that I glowed in the dark. And talk about hurt. But what is really annoying is that they turned white after they stopped hurting.

I'm moderately brown on top and in a pair of shorts I look like a skinny scoop of vanilla ice cream with butterscotch topping.

But I digress. The first day my father-in-law disturbed the serenity of the camp by enlisting my aid to help paint his river boat, a long, banana-shaped thing. I didn't mind the painting so much, it was the bugs. I've never seen so many bugs. They were all the biting kind. And I was the kind they liked to bite.

Insect repellents weren't any more effective than gravy on potatoes. Every exposed part of the body was covered with insects. They even got together in small groups in nearly successful attempts to undress their victim.

The next morning my father-in-law suggested that I help reclaim some of the yard from the vegetation and when I suggested that I didn't want to, he suggested that it was a long walk back to Vassar.

At 9:00 a. m., therefore, the insects and I were out cutting down weeds and small trees with a gadget shaped like a flat-edged golf club and used in the same manner.

At about 9:15 a. m., my little typewriter hands were covered with blisters. At about 9:30, my arms gave out and the gadget sailed into the brush when I lost it on my back swing.

I went into the house to rest and at about 10:00 a. m. my wife decided she wanted to take my daughter on a canoe trip because she, my daughter, that is, had never been in a canoe.

Now there's a lot of paddling on one of these canoe ventures, and I counted on a little help from my wife, but she claimed she had to sit up front and hold onto the

So, the insects, the sunburn, the blisters and I paddled the canoe down the river.

I spent the rest of the day in a state of delirium and finally it was time to go home. It was then that my wife announced that since my mother-in-law was coming up, she'd like to stay a few more days.

Oh, wonder of wonders. Oh sweet music to my ears. Oh the most wonderful sound I've ever heard. Oh . . .

Heh! Heh! Although I feigned disappointment that she and the kids weren't coming home with me, deep inside I was a jumble of excited nerve ends.

Talk about luck. This was the best. Everybody's Uncle Dave was loose. This old Lion was going to roar. Single again. Wow!

Monday I was sore and exhausted. Tuesday I was still sore. Wednesday was press day and I was exhausted again.

Oh I did manage to get out once. I think it was Tuesday night I snuck down to Martin's for a cup of coffee.

Frankly I can't wait to get back to Grayling. As a matter of fact, the first warm day in May . . . next year . . . I'll go.

Services Held for Mrs. Rosa Behr, 87

Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Behr, 87, were held Saturday at Little's Funeral Home following her death Wednesday, June 24, at her home in Cass City. She had been in ill health the past year.

In 1938 they retired from farming and moved to Cass City where she had lived until her death. Mr. Behr died May 23, 1961.

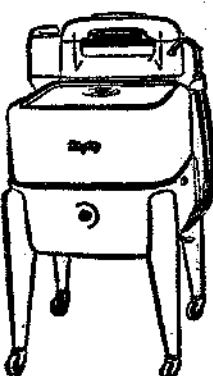

Surviving are: four sons, Walter of Port Huron, Louis and Stewart, both of Snover, and Ernest of Pontiac; a sister, Mrs. Bertha Peters of Cass City; a brother, Otto Fischer of Marlette; 21 grandchildren, and 44 great-grandchildren. Three brothers, a sister, a daughter and a grandson preceded her in death.

Tell Proper Paint to Use On Interiors

Here's a quick run-down on the proper paint to use for any interior surface you may be beautifying:

Plaster walls and ceilings . . . any high quality interior flat paint, oil, alkyd or latex paint. For bathrooms and kitchens, use semigloss or gloss enamel paint for greater washability.

Wallboard . . . seal with primer and then follow with any high quality wall paint.

Hardboard . . . seal with latex paint, primer sealers, shellac or enamel undercoat. Use any desired topcoat.

Plywood . . . for an opaque top coat, seal with penetrating resin sealer, flat oil or alkyd paint or enamel undercoat. When dry, apply a second coat. For a natural finish which shows the grain, use a clear penetrating resin sealer, followed by varnish.

Woodwork . . . semi-gloss enamel in same color as walls. Full gloss is often used in kitchen and bathrooms.

Letter to Editor

June 26, 1964

Jack Haire
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan
Dear Mr. Haire:

As an ex-country editor of some 25 years in the business, I've received quite a few letters in my time, but this is about the first one that I have written.

The occasion is our loss of our State Senator in this reapportionment shuffle. Frank Beadle was Senator from the Lapeer-St. Clair district for fourteen years. Now, his new district is part of Tuscola.

Our loss is your gain. I have known Frank personally from the time he first became a candidate in 1950. He has never disappointed the people of Lapeer county. Despite some of the hot sessions of the legislature, everyone in the Senate respected Frank, whether they agreed with him or not. He is a sound, able man, and I will be happy if we get a man just half as good as a replacement.

Yours,
Bill Myers

Adequate Insulation Pays Off in Comfort and Cash

Adequate insulation is one of the soundest investments a family can make in a house. It pays off in generous dividends . . . in lower heating and cooling costs, as well as in added comfort for the life of the house.

Just how much a family will save on cooling and heating bills will vary, but it's not unusual to save 30 per cent after boosting insulation to meet recommended standards.

Insulating materials are made of mineral wool, rock, glass or slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foils, vermiculite, cotton and other vegetable and mineral matter.

Follow Insulating Guides
The Federal Housing Administration has established minimum insulation standards for both heating and air conditioning. A good guide for families planning to insulate their homes with mineral wool is the recommendations of the National Mineral Wool Institute.

These call for mineral wool with an installed resistance to heat flow of R-19 or 24 in ceilings, R-11 in walls and R-13 in floors over unheated space.

The "R" number represents the rated ability of installed insulation to block the flow of heat. The higher the "R" number the more effective the insulation.

A batt and a blanket of insulating material are essentially the same, differing only in length. A blanket is sold in rolls up to 100 feet long, while batts are usually made up in either four or eight foot lengths. Both are available in widths to fit standard spacing between wall studs and ceiling joists.

Most batts and blankets have an attached vapor barrier on one side. Many are totally enclosed and with a vapor barrier on one side and a vapor-permeable material on the other. They are also available with a backing of aluminum foil designed to reflect radiated heat. In existing homes, where wall studs are not accessible, a form of mineral wool called "blowing" wool, is used. This is especially made to be blown through a pneumatic hose into the spaces between wall studs.

Pouring insulating material is packaged in bags and is most often used to insulate ceilings where joists are exposed in the attic.

Installing insulation in a new room addition or as part of an attic remodeling job can be tackled successfully by the average do-it-yourselfer. The only tools required are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun, which usually can be rented.

To Keep in Mind
Here are a few points to keep in mind:

1. Always follow the individual manufacturer's directions carefully.
2. When using batts or blankets, make sure the vapor barrier faces the heated side of the room.
3. Butt insulation together tightly. There should be no gaps to permit loss of heat.
4. Don't cover eaves, vents or attic louvers. Air circulation is - important, year round.

5. Place staples no more than six inches apart.
6. Pack insulation into small spaces around window and door framing. Cut a separate piece of vapor barrier to cover these areas to sheathing to form unbroken protection.
7. To protect water pipes from freezing, fit insulation between them and outside wall sheathing.

Wood Paneling Used for Warmth in Every Price Home

Once upon a time wood paneling meant an early American setting or an expensive book-lined den. Today, paneling is used in homes of every price range and in every room in the house.

Modern furnishings especially require a setting of sufficient warmth to give rooms a softened air, but one that doesn't conflict with the decorative scheme. Warm of tone, rich and expressive woods are ideal for the paneling of modern rooms.

News in the use of wood in modern home decoration is the upsurge in the use of color which can be obtained by blending finishes with the wood surface. Blues, greens... even golds... can provide beautiful wall effects and may be applied to Western Pine region woods with excellent results.

Lumber responds beautifully to stains and clear or pigmented finishes that allow the grain and knots to show through. Thus, the lumber may be left with its natural tone, or even when color is added with a wipe-on, brush-off finish, the wood will display its qualities of beauty and interest. It also may be painted, but then the beauty of the wood is hidden.

The size of a room and style of furniture determines the type of paneling installation. An air of spaciousness is produced by use of boards 10 or 12 inches wide for paneling. Narrower widths emphasizes the direction of line, as well as lending a textural and subtly-patterned effect to the wall.

In a modern living room where a formal but comfortable atmosphere is indicated, use six-inch widths of paneling with simple V-joints and a light finish to blend with any colors selected for furnishings, giving a sense of wholeness and harmony.

The fine patina of waxed paneling will compliment a soft drapery fabric to great advantage, yet dramatize a loosely hand woven material.

Right Decoration Will Make Bedrooms Restful

Since you spend at least a third of your life sleeping, it's only fitting that care be taken to make the bedroom as comfortable as possible.

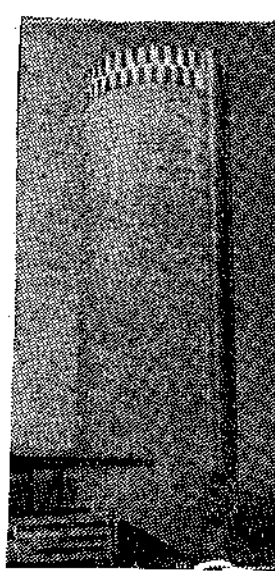

For undisturbed rest, bedrooms should be decorated to provide privacy and quiet. Carpet will absorb at least half of the air-borne noise entering a room, and combined with the bed furnishings and curtains, will still most sound.

Also, the pleasure of laying your bare feet on a soft warm rug when awakening, as opposed to a hard, cold floor, cannot be equalled.

As the bedroom is rarely exposed to the amount of foot traffic of other rooms in the home, light-colored rugs or carpets is both wise and practical. A rug that will give excellent service in a bedroom can be bought for a surprisingly low price today.

Wallpaper Can Play Tricks with Space in Room

Room too small or too large?
Use wallpaper to help you create a look that seems to add or subtract space.

An airy, light paper seems to add an amazing amount of space in a small room. The scale of the design isn't the important part of this eye-deceiver... a fairly large motif will look fine if it is widely spaced on a light background.

Another good way to add a spacious feeling is to cover one wall with a scenic mural. There are country meadows, seascapes, views of the Orient, quaint pastoral scenes of ancient Greece, Colonial villages with tree-lined streets... an elegant variety to give focus to any room in the home.

To pull the room down in size, choose darker colors in a close, all-over design for the walls, and a deeper tone for the ceiling.

Practical, Pretty Kitchens in Demand

Today's homemaker wants a kitchen that's both practical and pretty.

When remodeling, think in terms of saving steps and aim for adequate equipment, counter, storage and activity space arranged for maximum attractiveness and efficiency.

Begin by measuring and making a scale drawing of the kitchen and adjoining rooms. Allow a quarter inch to one foot.

Keeping in mind sizes of cabinets, appliances and electrical codes, block out the countertop plan, allowing a 25-inch depth for counter, which should be placed to make a continuous line from sink, range, refrigerator. The bottoms of wall cabinets should be at least 24 inches over sink and range. Over countertops, the distance may be as low as 15 inches.

Consider a work island in addition to the usual along-the-wall counter area. This could include a convenient second sink and chopping block, as well as additional storage space.

There are three work areas to consider in your basic plan: refrigerator and food storage center, cooking and serving center, and sink and cleaning center.

Triangle Works

Even a small kitchen is easy to work in when a triangular work pattern puts everything within your reach. Locate your work triangle between range, sink, refrigerator. There should be at least four, but no more than six feet between sink and cooking; four to seven feet from sink to refrigerator, and four to five feet between countertop to refrigerator.

If you plan to use built-in cook units, locate oven within kitchen work area, but not necessarily within work triangle.

Mixing and food preparation

by Althaver that erection of 75 street signs be completed within stalled or replaced as needed on owners are to reimburse the village for 50 per cent of the cost.

imburse the Village for 50 per cent of the cost. Yea-5. Nay-0.

thirds of the cost applicable to

Decorative Touch Provided by Grilles

There is a decided trend toward the use of grilles in a revolt against the plainness and lack of decorative quality in many modern homes. The grilles may be of iron, of latticeboard, masonry, even terra cotta tiles of the types used for drainage. A grill-like effect can be made by piercing brick walls, or by setting concrete blocks on their side, exposing their cavities.

Planning desks and telephones are appearing more frequently in modern kitchens. If space is limited, the planning center may be as simple as a drop-down desk with a shelf or two above.

The strain of today's work and tomorrow's worrying is too heavy a burden for anyone.

DEAD-END

The way of the transgressor
