

Residents Pair Donahue Parcel and New High School

If Cass City residents have anything to do about it - and the annual school election guarantees that they do - then the days of the high school as Cass City's center of higher education are numbered.

On top of this, the majority of school taxpayers will go along with the "Donahue Property" just north of the village line as the home of a new high school.

These were the findings of a Cass City Chronicle poll taken this week among households on 21 of the 26 streets in the village.

The survey was taken to find out whether village residents approved the site known as the "Donahue Property" as the location of a new high school.

This 40 acre site on the east side of Seeger Street 100 yards north of the village line was picked last week by the special site selection committee as the spot to build a school.

It was the first and final choice of five possible sites investigated by the committee and by architects called in to assist in the selection of a new high school site.

But before residents could be asked if they approved the proposed site, they had to be asked whether they thought a new high school was needed in the first place.

Of those questioned, 95 per cent were taxpayers and 45 per cent had children in school.

Of these, 90 per cent said that Cass City needs a new high school. Most of them said so with a strong "we need a new one because..." statement.

School Old and Overcrowded

The one and only reason given, again and again, for this need was that the present school facilities are overcrowded.

Several persons also added old age as a major deficit to the high school.

"Yes, I do feel we need a new high school," Mrs. Willard

J. Dobbs of 4234 Maple Street, said. "I feel that conditions at the high school now are overcrowded."

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Dean Hoag of 4137 Vulcan Street, said. "I do believe we need a new one. I don't know how it is in the high school, but if we had a new one, then maybe we would have more space in the grade school so kindergarten wouldn't have to be held on the auditorium stage."

"Everything has grown so old that either we'll have to spend a lot of money fixing the place up or we'll have to build a new one," H. J. Motz of 6629 Church Street, said.

Another woman commented that she and her husband had both graduated from the high school 27 years ago and it was old then.

"School Good Enough"

Two persons came down hard on the idea of building a new high school. One gave strong supporting reasons.

"I feel that our school is good enough," Mrs. Nelson Gremel of 4442 Doerr Road said.

"I feel that the money that would go into a new building should be used to pay teachers better salaries so that we could get better teachers for our schools," she said.

She said that her two children attended Cass City High, one graduating valedictorian of her class, the other becoming a drop out.

"This experience showed me that we need better teachers, teachers who are able to help both the bright student and the poorer student. We don't have them now because we just aren't paying good enough wages to get them here," she said.

Of the majority who favored a new high school, some 75 per cent said that they were in favor of the Donahue parcel or noted that they felt it was as good a place as any to build a school.

October Opens with A Fatal Accident

A fatal accident Friday, in which Dugal R. Krug of Cass City was killed, brutally opened the list of October traffic accidents in the area.

For the story on this fatal accident turn to the first page of the second section.

Other area accidents during this first week of the month were limited to property damage collisions and the death of one deer.

Rinard Knoblet, 72, of Cass City had the misfortune of striking a large doe Sunday evening on the Dodge road north of Deckerville Road when returning from Saginaw.

With him were Mrs. Knoblet and their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Schember. The doe, which dashed out from the west side of Dodge Road, was killed and considerable damage was done to the car.

Another accident on Sunday evening saw a car driven by Ralph Kaplan, 44, of 1015 East Dayton Road, Caro, hit the rear of a car driven by Garfield L. Turner, 46, of Cass City Road, Cass City.

Both cars were going east on M-81 when Turner's car started to make a left turn about a mile west of Cass City and was hit from the rear, according to the sheriff's report.

In a similar accident on M-81, Carl A. Crow, 32, of 4375 Koepfgen road, Cass City, and Edward T. Boyd, 71, of 712 South Woodbridge, Saginaw, both going west, collided as Crow made a turn onto Koepfgen Road. The accident occurred Saturday evening.

On Wednesday, Sept. 30, Cass City Police Chief Carl Palmateer investigated two property damage accidents.

Half Dollar Sewing Machine Goes Fast

Fifty-cent sewing machines are hard to find nowadays and Chronicle Want Ad readers last week took advantage of that fact when they read an ad placed by Mrs. Leonard Copeland.

Mrs. Copeland advertised "To Give Away - Sewing machine, for price of this ad."

She was overwhelmed by the results and reported to the Chronicle that the machine was gone by 8:00 p.m. Wednesday night, the day the paper comes out. By Friday noon, she had received 23 calls.

Whether you want to give it away, buy or sell, Chronicle liners give the best results at lowest prices.

Later that afternoon, at the intersection of Oak and Main Streets, Mrs. Malvina Howarth struck the side of a car driven by James Ware when she was backing out of a parking space.

A two-car collision early Friday afternoon at the intersection of West and Garfield Streets was investigated by Patrolman William R. McKinley.

Going south on West Street, Mrs. Margaret Brooks struck a car going west on Garfield driven by Mrs. Jeanne Oswald, who had her five-year-old daughter Julie with her. Both cars were damaged.

A number of the merchants have slated gigantic store-wide sales and all Chamber member stores will be offering various money-saving specials.

In conjunction with the sale, the Chronicle will send out approximately 2,500 extra sample copies to residents in the trading area.

Village merchants are anticipating a large turnout for the sale, one of the major retail events of the year.

Vassar Man Pleads Guilty To Breaking Into Bus Company

Leroy Burrows, 28, of Vassar pleaded guilty to breaking and entering at his arraignment September 30 in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Circuit Court Judge Timothy C. Quinn will sentence him on November 4.

Burrows was charged with breaking into the Vassar Transit Company at 1211 West Saginaw Road, Vassar, on September 18.

Burrows was released on $500 bond after his hearing before Justice Douglas L. Williams of Indianfields township on Sept. 21. Judge Quinn continued Burrows on the $500 bond until Nov. 4.

The arraignment of James Lincoln, 17, of 715 Howard Street, Bay City, also on a charge of breaking and entering, was continued by the Circuit Court on Sept. 30.

Lincoln is charged with breaking into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fox of 7844, M-25, Akron, Sept. 6.

In lieu of a $1,000 bond, Lincoln is being held in the county jail.

NEWS VOICE for Caro's Radio Station, John Bowles is seen checking out the facts of a story for one of his daily newscasts of Tuscola County events. A veteran radio-TV newsman with 15 years experience from Minnesota to New Mexico, Bowles was a Bay City TV newscaster until a stroke cut his TV career short.

WKYO's Bowles Wins Fight And Returns to First Love

On a sunny June morning in 1961, John Bowles, top gun of Bay City's WNEB-TV news team, left his home in a good mood. He had a pleasant assignment ahead of him.

He was going to interview a half-a-dozen carefree boys about how they felt wearing the proud, white belt and shiny badge of the safety patrol of their school. Bowles never made it. Something terrible went wrong.

"When I got to the school, my coordination was gone," Bowles said of the "something."

"I was weaving around like a drunk. It was so bad I couldn't go on. I left the school and went home. My wife called the doctor and I was whisked into the hospital."

He had suffered a brain hemorrhage. On that day, his life changed forever. He was 34 years old.

Now 37, he has put most of the pieces back together again and is top gun of Radio Station WKYO's news bureau in Caro.

The last thing he remembers before going into a ten-day coma at the hospital was trying to tell an orderly to call his office and tip it off to an important news story that had been on his day's agenda.

When he woke from the 10-day blackness, his right side was useless.

He couldn't feel anything all along his right side. He couldn't use his right arm or leg. His speech was impaired. His value as a newsman was gone, his thriving TV career broken.

He had a family depending on him. There was his wife, Jane, and his oldest boy, Stephen, 10. There was the older set of twins, nine-year-old Janet and Susan, and the wee twins, Barbara and Brian, two.

But Bowles, whose lean figure, quiet voice and serious manner hide one tough nut, was not discouraged.

"On the contrary, I almost felt elated," he spoke of the period. With his blood pressure standing at 230 over 170 (normal is about 130 over 100) when he went to the hospital, he felt he was lucky to be alive.

"I still had my family and my five children to see and hold. I felt really happy just to be around," he said.

But if you want to hug your family, you have to feed it. Bowles was not a quitter.

"It was a step by step process to get back on my feet," Bowles said of the months of determination and therapy it took for him to learn again how to walk and talk and to use his left hand in place of his right.

"Channel Five was good to me, very good. But I was not worth anything as a newsman to them anymore."

But a newsman he was, and that's what he intended to remain.

His first step back came early in 1962 when his old WNEB boss, Frank Bemesh, who had gone with Detroit's Channel 12, sent him a camera and asked him to cover Bay City for the downtown TV channel.

Then he met Bob Benkelman, who was just opening his new radio station, WKYO, in Caro, a station that was to become the radio voice for some 243,000 people in Tuscola and western Huron counties.

"Bob was willing to take a chance on me as news director for his station," Bowles said. "I told him I would try, although I couldn't speak well enough at the time."

Turnout Listed "Fair" as Voters Okay School Merger

It's not every day in the year these days - and probably never was, for that matter - that elected officials will work hard to lose their jobs.

Well, just such a thing happened in Deford last Friday when school voters there and in Cass City voted to have Deford's school annexed to the Cass City school system.

When the ballots were counted and it was determined that voters conclusively favored annexation, Deford's Community School No. 12 officially came into the Cass City education system and under the jurisdiction of the Cass City school board.

"We voted ourselves out of a job," said Arleon Retherford, late the president of the now dead board of education of Deford Community School No. 12.

"We would have been disappointed if it hadn't happened, too," he said.

The triumph of annexation in the special election last Friday was expected by school authorities.

Deford voters faced four propositions at the polls.

Voting on the propositions ran as follows: 101 to 22 in favor of annexation; 72 to 44 in favor of raising the debt limit; 93 to 26 for assuming a share of Cass City's school debt, and 87 to 33 in favor of raising the millage for school operation costs.

In Cass City, voters balloted on only two propositions. The results were: 120 to 43 in favor of assuming a share of the Deford school debt and 113 to 48 in favor of raising the debt limitation.

There were several blank or spoiled ballots in both Cass City and Deford. At the end of the voting in Deford, one ballot was missing and remains unaccounted for.

Cass City's School Superintendent termed the voting here as light. He said, however, that he had not expected a heavy vote as the annexation issue - approved three years ago by Cass City school voters - was not a hot issue.

Retherford said that Deford had a fair turnout for the special election and that he was satisfied that the community had expressed its wishes.

As a result of the election, 241 pupils now in kindergarten through the 8th grade officially joined the ranks of Cass City students.

All of these 241 pupils can now plan on coming to Cass City to attend high school when they graduate from the 8th grade. Heretofore, about 25 per cent of them went south to Kingston High.

With their addition, the unofficial count of Cass City pupils now stands at 1,546, Cass City Superintendent Crouse said.

Retherford said that there were several reasons why the Deford board worked hard for its own end and why - as opposed to turning annexation down in 1961 - Deford voters this year favored it.

"We knew we were going to be allocated either to Kingston or to Cass City in a matter of a year or so," he said.

"And everyone here seemed to favor joining Cass City. So we arranged to hold the election."

Sales Up After NFO Withdraws

Sale of livestock at the Michigan Livestock Exchange east of Cass City has skyrocketed with the end of the National Farmers Organization's price-raising campaign.

Sales at Tuesday's auction nearly doubled those on Friday, the first day since mid-August members of the NFO did not appear at the yards to try and talk farmers into keeping their meat off the market.

A total of 1,142 head were sold on Tuesday, Friday, approximately 600 head were auctioned.

The breakdown on Tuesday's sales is as follows: hogs, 350; calves, 112, and beef and cows, 680 head.

The highest price paid for beef was $25.50 per cwt.

Friday's sales saw 250 beef sold, 100 cows and over 200 head of hogs.

On August 25, shortly after the NFO began its campaign to

Delay Decision On Dehmel Land Transfer

A legal snag stands in the way of settling an issue involving possible transfer of land from the Cass City schools to the Caro school district.

This issue arose earlier this year when Richard Dehmel, of 321 East Elmwood road, requested that his land on the north side of the road be put in Caro's school district.

Dehmel owns two "long eighties" of land in the south quarter of this section.

However, if school authorities were to transfer this land from Cass City to Caro, Clarence Parmenter's home at 350 East Elmwood Road, opposite Dehmel's land, would be isolated from the Cass City school district in which it stands.

Chamber Seeks Budget Donations

Chamber of Commerce officials are urging Cass City merchants to present their previously set budget donations as soon as possible so work can begin on the coming Centennial.

Donation requests of $25-$50-$75, depending on the size of the business, were set up last July to alleviate numerous requests for funds during the year.

Chamber President Bill Kritzman explained that the donation is "for retail division promotions only. It will take us through the next year."

"There's been some misunderstanding that the requested figure is for dues," he continued. "It definitely is not."

Letters notifying merchants of their donation position were mailed at the end of September. Persons wishing to turn in their donations may contact Tom Proctor, chairman, or Lloyd Bryant, retail division treasurer.

UNITED FUND Director Willis Campbell gestures while making a point at a United Fund Kick-off Dinner Tuesday night at the New Gordon Hotel. Campbell explained fund gathering techniques to approximately 35 solicitors at the dinner. The fund goal this year is $7,000.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone, all of Sandusky. The bride is the former Judy Ann Ball.

She carried white gardenias on a Bible and wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom.

Miss Marlene Stone of Sandusky was bridesmaid. She is the groom's sister. Her blue nylon organza over taffeta gown was designed with fitted bodice. A double rose headpiece with matching veil completed her ensemble and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Ball chose a blue sheath dress with white accessories and Mrs. Stone wore a winter white dress with silver accessories. Both mothers had white carnation corsages.

Police Chief Reports Past Month's Actions

Cass City Police Chief Carl Palmateer's report to the village council for a 36 day period ending September 29 shows that the police responded to 123 calls.

Among the tasks undertaken by the police were the investigation of two attempted break-ins; the investigation of five accidents, five arrests and the policing of two fires.

The police traveled 3,791 miles in their patrols between August 25 and September 29.

Chief Palmateer worked 350 hours during the 36 days, or about nine and a half hours a day. Patrolman McKinley chalked up 187 hours of service to the community.

Slate Annual Free Halloween Show

Cass Theatre owner Dick Hendrick announced that the annual Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Halloween Family Night" free movie will be held again this year.

Theatre doors will open at 7:15 and the movie "Yellowstone Kelly" will begin at 8:00 p.m. Halloween night.

Although there will be no cos-turne contest, prizes of silver dollars and free theatre passes will be handed out.

Hendrick explained that the Halloween show will differ from the regular week-end scheduled show.

DEHMEI

The Department of Public Instruction has told Cass City that a ruling on Dehmel's request has been delayed until a legal question has been answered.

Intermediate Superintendent William Scott said he believed that the question is whether Dehmel's land can be divided, with the half on which his house is located going to Caro.

The border between the two school districts at this point is jagged and confused.

If the land can be divided and the west end of Dehmel's property is kept in Cass City's district, then Parmenter's property would not be isolated from Cass City schools.

The right half of Dehmel's land which would go to Caro, touches a narrow section of Caro school land which sticks up on the east side of his property.

Thus, both properties would be contiguous to the school districts.

The Tri-County Board of Education turned down Dehmel's request at a hearing earlier this year. Dehmel appealed to the state.

The state held its hearing last week. William Ruhl represented the Cass City School Board.

James Milligan was also present for Cass City as an interested citizen.

A former member of the Cass City School board, Milligan was present at the first hearing before the Tri-County Board. He went to the state hearing to verify what happened at the first hearing.

SITE POLL

One person thought that it was not good that the Donahue property was separated from present school property. Two others said that they hadn't heard all the arguments for or against it and wouldn't decide until all aspects had been considered.

The fact that the chosen site lies in the northeast quarter of town made no difference to residents in other quarters.

The fact that the "Young Property," the committee's second choice of a possible site, lies next to the southeast section did not bring forth any southeast partisan support.

Of those speaking out for the Donahue land, 67 per cent stated that they felt it was the best as it would keep all the school buildings together in one part of town.

The fact that the Donahue site would probably cause less of a school traffic problem than the Youngs property, which fronts on M-81, was mentioned by several. Others mentioned they felt the property would be attractive for a school.

"It is ideally suited," Mrs. Bruce D. Gee, 4696 Hunt, said of the Donahue land, interrupting her cooking to help the Chronicle poll.

"It's ideal because it is close to the other school buildings." "Yes, I think that it is as good as any. It's right near the other school," Mrs. Ervin J. Miller commented.

"It seems to me that if you think of all the functions that go on at school, all the coming and going, it would make a lot of sense if they were annexed right to each other," Mrs. Dave Ackerman of 4677 Kennebec, said.

Because of this she said she felt that it would be better if the school could arrange to buy the strip of land that now divides the school property from the Donahue parcel.

"It would be better if the new school was built on that strip," Mrs. Ackerman said.

"I think it is as good as any, Mrs. Dale Damm of 4302 Leach street, said. "It's right close to the other one and it's out of the way. It's not on Main street."

"I think the location is fine," Mrs. William Erbline of 6378 Garfield, said. "It is better than being on the highway."

Those who felt they hadn't heard all the arguments said they would hold their judgment. "I haven't decided yet. I don't know the advantages or disadvantages," Mrs. Hoag (quoted above) said.

"There are children on the south side and children on the north side. It may be a good idea to have a school on the south side," Mrs. Max Agar of 4455 West Street, said. "I say this because it should be considered and not because I live on the south side."

Hawks Favored in Game with Lakers

For the first time this season, the Cass City Red Hawks find themselves cast in the role of favorites for their Friday night encounter with winless Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port.

The Hawks will enter the game still elated over their narrow 18-14 victory over Caro. It was the 14th game in a row without defeat against the Tigers.

The game against the Lakers should not prove nearly as rugged as the host team has been defeated decisively in its opening games.

The Tigers came about as close as it is possible to come to breaking the Hawk victory skein without actually doing so Friday.

When the final whistle blew the Tigers were stopped just inches short of the winning touchdown by a last minute desperation tackle by Ed Retherford.

The Hawks spotted the Tigers a touchdown in the first quarter and then came roaring back for three touchdowns before the intermission to lead 18-7 at the half.

The Tigers scored on a 41-yard pass play as Jim Wyrick tossed to Larry Tait. Ralph Frick ran the extra point.

It took Cass City just one play to get this touchdown back. Karl Weippert ran off tackle behind excellent blocking and went 75 yards to score. The next Hawk pay-off march started on the 41.

Key play in the drive was a pass from Retherford to Weippert that covered 25 yards. Bob Rabideau plunged over from the two.

There was less than a minute left in the half when the Hawks scored again after intercepting a pass. With time running out Retherford skirted end for 20 yards and a first down on the one-yard line. With two seconds left Dave Schember slanted off tackle for the touchdown.

Neither team scored in the third quarter. Late in the period, Caro launched a drive that ended with a touchdown with about 10 minutes left in the game. Terry Lane dived up the middle for the final five yards. This marker set the stage for the last minute Cass City heroics previously described.

Caro had the best of the battle of the statistics, piling up 341 yards in 70 plays. Cass City had 186 yards in 44 plays. Leading ground gainer for the Hawks was Weippert with 98 yards in 10 carries.

BULEN TALKS Cars

Put yourself in the picture . . . sure you vote, pay taxes, work hard, make money, support your family and probably have made out a while.

But you must do something more if you wish to become a first class citizen.

You want your children to respect you more; you want your neighbor to look up, not just across, to you; you want the community to recognize you as a participant, not just a passer-by.

You must be the kind of person who can be depended on before you can become a first class citizen.

In the same way you depend upon your automobile for a thousand errands . . . it takes you to work, to market, to church, to PTA meetings and to all the other activities that the average American family enjoys. So . . . you're dependent upon your automobile.

All the more reason why you must have a service organization work on it that has continued to learn the latest methods, who know about tools and the most up-to-date equipment obtainable.

BULEN MOTORS like to have you depend on them . . . they will back up this dependence to your satisfaction.

Thanks for the 1965 orders for Chevrolets and Oldsmobiles. We are sorry the Strike situation interferes with deliveries. The feeling seems to be, it won't last much longer. We are trying to be patient.

Boy Scouts in Overnight Campout

Nine Cass City Boy Scouts, members of Troop No. 794, braved windy but mild weather to participate in an overnight campout Friday and Saturday three miles southwest of the village.

Taking part in the activity were: John Asher, Chuck Crandell, Tom Moore, Ron Cody, Joe Hillaker, Jeff Spencer, Dan Caister, Tom Crow and Bruce Eshelman.

Directing the boys was Scoutmaster Jim Jezewski.

Student Count Up By 463 in County

October 2 was "count day" among Tuscola County schools. The 1964 count shows an unofficial 11,949 pupils from kindergarten through 12th grade enrolled this year.

Last year, after count day, the number stood at 11,486.

"This is our normal rate of growth," William Scott, Superintendent of the Intermediate District, said.

With the addition of Deford's 243 pupils to its school system, Cass City forged ahead to again come close to the number of students at Millington.

Five years ago the schools were neck and neck. Recently, Millington pushed ahead of Cass City.

The school count, which will be made official by the state for state aid purposes in the near future, runs as follows:

Caro, 2083; Vassar, 1,800; Millington, 1,699; Cass City, 1,548; Akron-Fairgrove, 1,068; Mayville, 1,053; Reese, 871; Kingston, 793; Unionville, 655, and rural, 439 pupils.

At present there are 30 school districts. At one time there were 154 districts.

Of the 30 school districts, nine are high school districts which provide full education for their pupils from kindergarten to senior year in high school.

The remaining districts are primary districts. Of these, 16 are operated by one teacher and two by two teachers.

The days of the primary districts are numbered, Scott said, now that the state requires that all school districts must provide "K through 12" facilities for their pupils.

BOWLES

"Bob gave me the two things I most needed at that time," Bowles said of his new chief.

"He gave me knowledge that someone believed in me again, believed I would be valuable as a news man."

"He also put a microphone in front of me and a 15-minute news script to read over the radio. It had to be done, I had to do it. I did it."

That was on May 19, 1962. In less than 12 months, Bowles had gone from being a helpless cripple to becoming a vital figure in telling the Tuscola story.

"No, I don't miss the lights and camera," he said of the TV studio. "TV puts pressure on a newscaster." Bowles feels this pressure was partly the cause of the high blood pressure at the time of the hemorrhage.

"To a good newscaster, the news is what's important. He is just a vehicle in passing it on. It is frustrating for a newscaster to have to cut stories or pass over good ones because of TV time limitations."

Bowles began in radio in his home town of Minneapolis, Minn., in 1949, a few years after getting out of the navy. In returning to radio, he comes back to his first love.

He got in on the ground floor of TV newscasting by chance in 1951 when the TV era was just beginning.

He was working then for a radio station in Waterloo, Iowa, which had just gotten a TV franchise. He and the station learned about TV together.

A northern mid-westerner by birth, Bowles wanted to get back north, however. He heard that Bay City had a new, year-old TV station. He wrote for a job.

The station was in desperate need of a good newscaster. Bowles got the job. That was in 1955.

"That was our major move," Bowles said. It brought him to Michigan where he thinks he will stay. "We like Michigan."

And he likes reporting about Tuscola County.

"The Great Lakes is the heartland for news of all types. I have found more challenging news in this area than in any city."

"When you are in a big city you are concerned with one small geographic area. Here, in this county, there are a dozen towns, each completely different, each prizing its own integrity and individuality," Bowles said.

Bowles now spends his days busy at what he believes in and what he likes best: getting the local news, developing local programs of merit, and broadcasting a number of times daily.

"I like it," he said. "When you get a story, you write it and you tell it. It's your baby."

When not out on his beat, or in his office watching the wire, Bowles gets in some hunting and fishing, too. He says that the perch and the pheasant are tops up in this country.

And the doctors tell him, that if he keeps taking his medicine, then it isn't likely that his busy days will be interrupted by another stroke.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1964

Knoblet, Churchill Speak on Communism

Jim Knoblet of Cass City and Charles A. Churchill of Deford traced the origin, beliefs and the progress of communism at a meeting of Farm Bureau Women Oct. 2 at the Farm Bureau Center, Caro.

Giving many instances of communists at work in our country, they told the 27 who were present that "30,000 people are being taken into the communist party each day over the world."

"Every citizen should make it his duty to strike hard against communism and work to strike a blow for freedom," they concluded.

Knoblet, Churchill and Terry Boyne of Marlette spent five days this summer at a Young People's Citizenship Seminar at Camp Kett. They were sponsored by the Tuscola County Farm Bureau.

During the business session, Mrs. Bruce Ruggles of Kingston and Mrs. Stanley Lagos of Cass City, cochairmen of the annual banquet, planned for the event which will be held Oct. 20.

The annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau Women Nov. 10 was announced when a 20th birthday tea will climax the day's program.

Dugal Krug Dies In Auto Crash

Funeral services for Dugal R. Krug, 42, victim of Friday morning's one car crash on M-81 in Cass City, were held Tuesday in Little's Funeral Home.

Rev. Homer Bassett and Rev. G. C. Guilliat, pastor and former pastor of the New Greenleaf United Missionary Church respectively, officiated. Mr. Krug was buried in Elkland Cemetery.

He died at the wheel of his automobile at 3:15 a. m. Friday when he was traveling east on M-81. His car ran off the road and slammed head-on into a tree just east of Sherman's Restaurant, 6882 Cass City Road.

Police theorize that he must have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Born in Saskatchewan, Canada, November 22, 1921, Mr. Krug came to this community as a young boy with his parents, Chris and the late Mrs. Mary McDonald Krug.

Mr. Krug farmed with his parents at their home at 6119 Schweger Road. He was a member of the New Greenleaf Missionary Church.

Mr. Krug is survived by his father, Chris Krug; two sisters, Mrs. Harry (Harriet) Reitz of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. B. G. (Margaret) Shafar of Jackson, Mich.; and two brothers, Lewis Krug of Auburn Heights and John Krug of Cass City. His mother died on July 11, this year.

In most games there's one winner, but in the game of love it's usually a tie.

Why I Remain an Unchanged Youth

By Dave Kraft

One of the chief reasons I continue to remain the same sweet, unchanged youth I am, is that I refrain from exposing myself to the sins and temptations of the big city.

Now, for me, a big city is, say... Caro. Which explains why I can get lost in places like Saginaw and Bay City as easy as others get lost in New York or Detroit.

Thursday I went to both Saginaw and Bay City and got lost in both places.

In Saginaw I had to make three stops and I knew where only one of them was. Consequently, I had trouble finding the first place and I never did find the second place.

By itself, this would have been a terrible experience, but to put the edge on the knife, I had to be in Bay City by 4:30 p.m. and at exactly 4:00 p.m. in Saginaw, I had a flat tire.

I pulled into a service station with my rear tire going "ka-flump-kaflump." Since the car had tubeless tires, I hoped that I could put some air in the tire and make my Bay City deadline.

I drove up to the nearest air hose, got out, grabbed the hose, twisted off the cap, put the air nozzle against the valve stem and pushed.

Nothing. The only sound was the air escaping from my already sinking tire. The station attendant shuffled over.

"Don't work," he volunteered. After spending much of the afternoon driving all over Saginaw and discovering places the natives only guessed existed, I was really in no mood for unessential information.

"So I gathered," I snapped. "That one over there works," he volunteered again. "Thanks," I barked.

I backed over to the other pump and put some air in the tire and as fast as I put it in, it leaked out a hole in the tire.

"How much to change a tire," I asked, figuring he could do it faster than I. "Fifty cents, but I could put a plug in it as fast as I could change it," he replied. "How much for a plug?" Hesitation. "Two dollars," I fished through my pockets and found exactly $1.65.

I told him he'd better change it.

He shrugged and pushed his hands into his pockets while I moved several tons of paper from over the tire-well only to find that the spare was flat.

I asked if a could charge it. No charge accounts, only credit cards. I volunteered that I had a buck and a half (I figured I might need the 15 cents for something to calm my nerves).

He guessed he could change it for a buck and a half. The way he said it made me feel like a charity case... which I was, but he didn't have to make me feel like one.

Then I stood around for 15 agonizing minutes while he traded jokes with his partner and fixed the tire in between. By that time it was 4:15 p.m.

As soon as he finished, I slapped the $1.50 in his hand and headed for Bay City. I had two stops to make and I knew where only one of them was. The other one closed at 4:30.

I figured that if I got to the one, I could call the other and tell them I was coming.

I drove all the way to Bay City behind a truck, never breaking 45 all the way.

After arriving in Bay City, I drove like crazy to the first place, jumped out of the car, rushed to the door and smashed my nose against a sign which read "Open until 3:30 p.m."

I glanced at my watch. It read 4:29. I leaped into the car and frantically drove up and down several streets until I gave up in desperation and stopped at a service station for directions.

Just to be on the safe side, I called the place and told them I was on the way. "That's okay," he remarked. "We close the office at 4:30 but we work until 5:30..."

Alger Freiburger and I and our wives attended a Lions District meeting in Bay City Sunday. One of the activities for the wives was a cruise up the "scenic" Saginaw River aboard several large cabin cruisers.

As the women were leaving, I asked Alger if there was any possibility that the boat might sink. He said he doubted it.

I agreed, commenting that if they did, out of all those wives, only two would be saved, and you know whose two those would be.

An insurance salesman friend of mine, Newell Harris by name, has been getting up at 6:30 each morning to take his dog afield for some pre-season training.

Newell has reported up to 62 pheasant roosters sighted in one morning!

I don't mean to dispute Newell's word, but I understand he suffers from double vision at 6:30 in the morning.

The only bad thing to come out of Tuesday's beautiful snow was my wife singing, "I'm Dreaming of a White Halloween."

Pat Reynolds admits she was wrong!

(She was sure electric dryers were more expensive. Then we showed her these money-saving facts.)

- 1 Gas dryers cost a couple of pennies less per load to operate; we'd be the first to admit it. But with electric dryers you still come out ahead. Read on.
- 2 Electric dryers cost less to buy. Model for model, prices run about $20 to $40 lower than gas dryers.
- 3 And now, for a limited time, this lower price includes installation and wiring, if needed. For details, see your dealer.
- 4 Electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor. According to manufacturers' service policy premiums, the average dryer requires about $200 worth of repairs over a 10-year period. But, of course, if your dryer is electric, Edison comes out, repairs it, and leaves without leaving you a bill! (It's the only no-charge dryer repair service offered by a utility company in this area.)

Add up ALL the costs and you'll see what Pat Reynolds saw—electric dryers cost less to own.

RETROSPECT
The pride of achievement is not always as great as thankfulness for what we did not do.

Sometimes a spotless reputation is due to the fact that its owner has never been caught.

BEGINNER'S LUCK—Bob Schott, Cass City, hunting southeast of Deford late Sunday afternoon, shot this 70-pound buck in his first time out with a bow. He dropped the deer with a stomach shot but he and his hunting companion, Robert Gage, lost the blood trail and had to return
Monday morning to find the animal. (Chronicle photo)

IT SEEMS TO ME Strength in Unity Applies to Church

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Why am I (along with some 15 Miller, is a Roman Catholic. million others) so interested in church mergers? Maybe some day I will write a book about it.

It just seems logical for our nation's major denominations, which interpret the Scriptures in about the same way, whose major beliefs are similar and which are organized along similar lines, to unite.
Imagine the religious power that could be brought to bear on life in Cass City if, instead of seven or eight struggling congregations, we could have that number, freeing some laymen for active evangelism. Imagine how the new person in town, instead of receiving invitations to four or five churches, would discover himself welcomed to a congregation made stronger through merger. I can see more advantages, but I had better save them for that book, some day. Personally, I do not stand to gain anything in income or status when such a merger does take place, but I ran across a "pithy" saying the other day that said it this way: "There is one body and one spirit . . .
one Lord, one faith, one baptism,
one God and Father of us all (Ephesians 4:4-6) Ask yourself in honesty if the Christian witness would not be stronger if it might unite with another denominational. Or, so it seems to me.

On or near Halloween the children of cooperating churches go out and ring doorbells on the annual "The Trick is to Treat" solicitations for UNICEF! Each year some group makes it a point to wage a campaign against this brotherly practice.
Last December 1, the Detroit News devoted its first editorial to knocking down some of the criticisms directed at the UNICEF drive. "In 1962 alone about 24 million children were protected from malaria and almost six million children and mothers benefited from supplementary feeding programs," the News reported editorially, adding, "Millions more benefited from the more than 170 milk and food processing plants and the 23,000 maternal and child welfare centers UNICEF has helped to equip." There was more, much more, so when your doorbell rings and a ghost or goblin asks for your help for UNICEF, you should give more than you are able. Or, so it seems to me.

It seems strange to us when we hear of churches using a "Jazz Mass," complete with orchestra.
How much more strange when we hear of similar efforts to make the worship hour speak the language of youth in such staid communities as Hong Kong where at Christ Anglican Church, Vicar Robin W. Howard holds such services regularly.

I shall be anxious to learn if my brother is part of that congregation; at least it illustrates the fact that the church tries to speak the language of all to whom it must minister; or, so it seems to me.

You undoubtedly know that the Xerox Corporation, makers of electronic duplicating equipment, sponsors some of the "News Specials" on TV. Recently that firm announced that it was allocating four million dollars for a TV series on the economic and welfare activities of the UN. Immediately, the John Birch Society told its members of this "threat"
(1) to American, and urged them to write protests. Xerox refused to knuckle down, and will sponsor the series as planned. Thus,
American rights are preserved, or, so it seems to me.

We do not believe that a candidate for president or vice-president should have his religious affiliation become a campaign issue. However, for those who might be interested, President Johnson is, I believe, an Episcopalian; Senator Humphrey is a Congregationalist who is an affiliate member of the Methodist Church. Senator Goldwater is now an Episcopalian and his running mate, Representative

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

They was a number of interesting items in the papers last week, matters that had ought to be printed on the front page but got buried inside on account of the political campaign was now hogging the show.

First off the dentist and medicine professions was gitting in their two-bits worth. This dentist feller claimed the younguns of today was coming down with a disease known as "TV Malocclusion." He says their eye teeth was growing inward on account of them laying on the floor and leaning on their knuckles to watch television. He allowed as how the only cure for it was to dust their pants and set 'em up in a chair. I'm expecting him to git some strong letters from various parent organizations advising that dusting a youngun's pants is now agin the Constitution, the Supreme Court, and the Federal Housing Administration.

Then they was this feller named Doctor L. M. Orr speaking to some medicine association and he told 'em a doctor had ought to treat his patient like a dear friend and try to git acquainted with someun besides his pocketbook. That's mighty strong language, Mister Editor, and I'm expecting this feller to get throwed out of the American Medical Society come the next meeting.

And one of them Washington column writers reported that ole Khrushy was now wearing a secret hearing aid. That's the first official notice I've saw that ole Khrushy ever done any listening. From my observation, when he wasn't talking he was pounding his shoe on someun. The news that he has took to listening is the best thing to happen to the world since they come out with Foreign Aid and the seedless watermelon.

The more and more about less and less item of the week was where one of them Federal agencies was investigating the way they was conducting radio listening surveys. I could give 'em some good advice but I know they ain't going to take it. Instead of calling to see how many listeners a program has got, they ought to tally the number that takes to the hills when the program comes on.

On the political front, about all I git from the papers is that all the candidates was the most patriotic folks we got in the country. No matter how big a mess things was in, they was willing and eager to git in office and straighten 'em out. And the size of the mess depends on who's talking. The Republicans was claiming it was the large economy size and the Democrats was calling it the small adjustment size.

Well, Mister Editor, I'm anxious for fall weather. Like a heap of folks, I hanker for the good ole summer time, but this summer they've sorter over did it, and I'm longing for the frost on the punkin again.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Tuscola Pond Tour Attended by 60

The pond tour Tuesday, Sept. 29, was attended by 60 farmers and land owners in the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, according to Maynard McConkey, District chairman. Ideal weather contributed to the success of the tour of the six ponds on the schedule.

The many pertinent questions asked throughout the day indicated the increasing interest in farm pond construction in the Tuscola District, said McConkey.

Wilbur Kellogg and David Dyer, of U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and William Mason and Harold Tubbs, of Michigan Department of Conservation, explained the factors to a successful farm pond and answered the many questions.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL MEETING

A regular meeting of the Council of the Village of Cass City was held on September 29, 1964 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All members were present.

Minutes of the August regular meeting were read and approved as read.

The committee of Rawson and Freiburger reported that no action had been taken in connection with a tree ordinance.

The committee investigating possible water service outside the Village limits recommended that extension of service be denied and that the solution for the home owners who desire service would be to circulate a petition requesting annexation to the Village.

President Rabideau presented the recommendations of a heating firm for a new heating system for the Municipal Building.

Motion by Root seconded by Althaver that the Village advertise for bids on a new heating system, both oil and gas fired. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried.

The committee investigating employee retirement plans reported that progress is being made but that they are not yet ready to make recommendations.

President Rabideau instructed Chief Palmette to try to arrange for a 30 day trial use of a Walkie-talkie system.

It was reported that work is in progress in connection with the installation of the warning device at the railroad tracks on M-81. This work is being done by the Railroad with the cooperation of the State.

Mr. Root was instructed to submit plans for an addition to the Municipal building for office space.

Mr. Schram was instructed to investigate the wiring at the concession stand on the East side of the football field in the park.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Five Years Ago

The Holbrook Church, closed for several years, will reopen with a dedication service Sunday afternoon. Guest speaker for the event will be Rev. George Adams, pastor of the Oakfield Baptist Church.

George Baird, president of the Tuscola County Firemen's Association, and Chief Ed Baker of the Cass City Fire Department announced that rescue markers are now available to be placed on the homes of the handicapped.

Mrs. Stanley Kim was elected chairman of the UNICEF drive this year. Co-chairman is Mrs. H. O. Paul Jr. Acting as secretary will be Miss Carol Tracey and as treasurer, Mrs. Betty Ryland.

After 23 years on the job for the Michigan Sugar Company, Leslie Muntz complained that getting labor for the beetfields had always been his major headache.

Forty-five members of the Novesta Baptist Church welcomed their new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. George Harmon, at a reception in the church annex.

Scoring in every quarter, the Cass City Red Hawks rolled to their second straight victory in league play Friday with a pulverizing 44-6 victory over Sandusky. The Junior High team also went to a smashing 20-0 victory over Bad Axe.

Mrs. W. E. Walpole and Mrs. Almer Krueger attended the 12th Annual Fall Conference of District Five of Zonta International in Ohio.

Ten Years Ago

Mrs. Stuart Merchant is the newly elected worthy matron of the Echo Chapter, OES. She will share the East with John Bayley as worthy patron.

Pvt. John A. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fleming of Decker, was commended by his commanding officer for his work at the Army's Ordnance Automotive School at Atlanta, Ga.

Chronicle sport's dopesters predicted that the Red Hawks would be the underdogs in the game with Bad Axe. They were so right. The Red Hawks went on to lose 19-6.

eral chairman; Willis Campbell, cochairman; Mrs. E. B. Schwadener, banquet, and Harry Little, decorations.

Three members of the Novesta Two school district, Mrs. Harley Kelley, Mrs. Ed Anthes and Don DeLong, resigned reportedly because the district annually was operating in the red.

Cass City Boys were urged to join the Cass City Cub Scouts.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Grief by the yards was the fate of Red Hawks' coach Lester Ross whose first string was shot as Huessner has been out since the Mt. Pleasant game because of injuries. McIntyre is slowed up by a back injury; Smith underwent an appendicitis operation, Spencer missed the Vassar game because of injuries and Stine missed a few encounters because of boils. So...

An undetermined and overconfident Cass City team was overpowered to the tune of a 27-0 licking administered by a hard driving Sandusky crew Friday.

A speaker at the Cass City Community Club predicted that Germany would go down to defeat in the war, Russia would gain considerably for her country and there was no reason why the United States should be embroiled in the conflict.

City's Churches To Take Census

The churches of Cass City will conduct a census of the community to determine the pattern of church attendance as well as to promote greater attendance.

The census, the first in three years, will be conducted by the Cass City Council of Churches. Rev. Robert E. Betts, pastor of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, will be chairman of the project.

The goal of the census will be to contact every home within the village limits and within a four mile radius of the village.

Census teams from the participating churches will canvass the village during the week of October 18. Residents of the surrounding area will be canvassed during the week of October 25.

Each canvasser will wear a descriptive ribbon. He will also carry a special card which will identify him as a canvasser. A copy of the card will appear in the October 15th edition of the Chronicle.

Betts said that the purpose of the census is twofold.

On the one hand, the canvass will show who is attending what church.

On the other hand, those who do not now attend church will be able to state their church preference. A pastor from the preferred church will follow up the census by calling on the home.

Truth may be bottled up, but eventually it pops the cork.

Boys Will Punt, Pass for Prizes

It's a sure bet that after October 10 there isn't going to be a lad among those living in Cass City who is going to want to show his face on Main Street without his PP&K cap on his head.

And maybe with a PP&K patch on his jacket if his mother can thread a needle.

No sir. And if he can't talk about punting or passing or kicking like a regular old National Football League professional, then he just won't be in the know this football season.

And if he isn't in the know, who's going to choose him for the team in a Saturday morning backyard scrimmage?

How's a fellow to get his PP&K cap?

Free. That is, free if he takes part in a punting, passing and kicking competition.

He can do this by having his old man take him down to Auten Motor Sales on or before Friday, October 9, and there sign up for the competition.

The Auten company reports that 40 boys between the ages of eight and 13 (the age limits of the field trials) have signed up so far.

The actual punting and punting among competitors will be done on the 10th of October. The 17th, if it rains on the 10th.

What's the percentage in it for me, a young lad may ask.

Well, in addition to getting the cap, patch and passing and punting handbook free, he will also get a reflector for his bike.

Winners among boys eight to 10-years old will take home warm up jackets, place kicking rigs, and footballs autographed by players in the NFL.

Trophies will be passed out to the best kickers and passers among the 11, 12 and 13-year olds.

Topping the list of prizes and open to all comers is a trip to an NFL game plus a "tour of champions" in Washington, D.C., and a trip to the NFL runner-up championship game in Miami, Fla.

The trips will include passage for Mom and Dad, too.

Four from Area Attend MSU Game

Some 40 members of the Tuscola County 4-H Service Club went Saturday, Oct. 3, to attend the football game at East Lansing. The group saw Michigan State University win over Southern California.

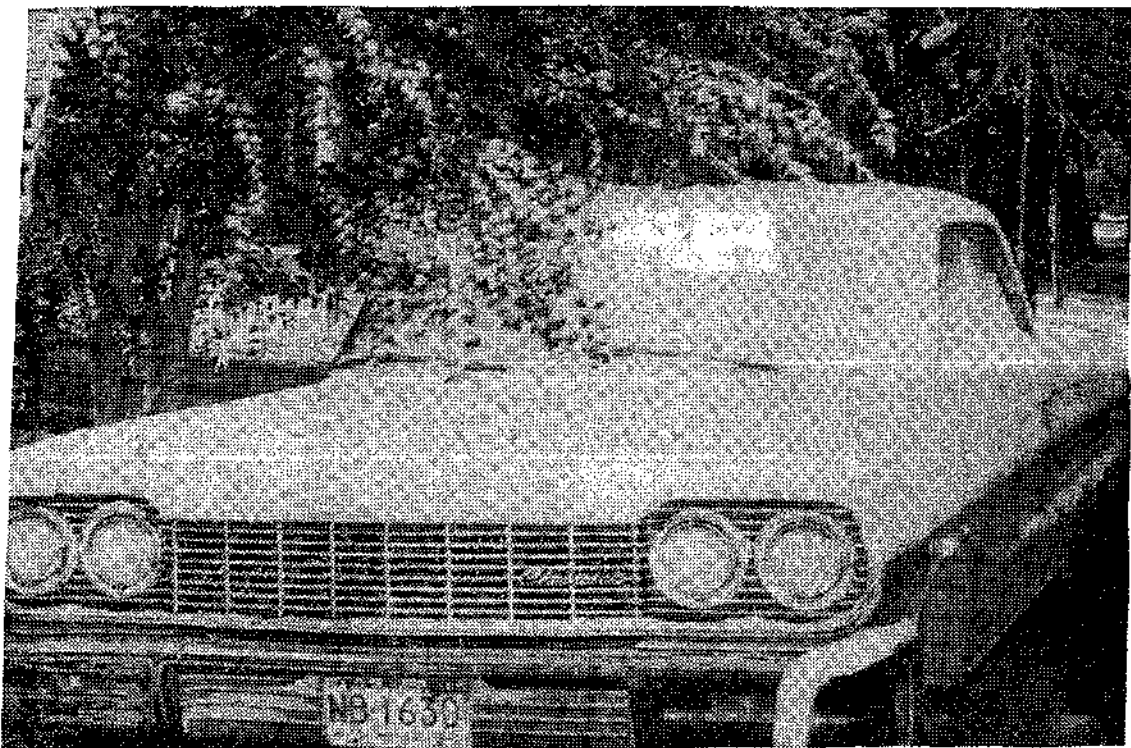

The event was the annual fall outing for members of the Service club.

Adult sponsors accompanying the group were Mrs. T. K. Schmidt and Adaline Osegara of Unionville and 4-H Club agent Ed E. Schrader of Caro.

Those attending from this area were Bob Carpenter, Duane DeLong, Mark Battel and Francis DeLong.

A grafter's future is often built in a steal foundation.

SNOW? IN EARLY OCTOBER? That's the question area residents asked themselves early Tuesday morning, but question it as they might, there it was . . . snow . . . in early October. The snowfall, which crowned the beauty of area autumn leaves, was the second earliest snowfall ever recorded in Michigan.

Sec. Hare Commends Local Election Officials' Work

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Overcome Problems

Variety from the norm often tends to instill new alertness in workers and such seems to have been the case in Michigan's Sept. 1 primary election.

State elections officials in Lansing received fewer complaints about precinct workers' errors than in any election in recent memory.

This was despite, or perhaps because of, the many changes in districts, several new precinct alignments and the record number of people entered in primary contests.

Local elections officers were credited with doing a tremendous job by Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department handles the polling problems.

Hare termed the job which faced local people as "one of the toughest and most complicated in Michigan's history."

One member of the state elections office staff said it appeared more local workers were on their toes because they faced new problems. Working with the same districts year after year, some workers apparently were in a routine which lent itself to error but the changes broke this routime.

Still another, more crucial test faces local election workers Nov. 3 when the new districts will again be used, more people will be voting and in many cases the ballot will be extremely long.

Many people voting in machine districts will face a double-machine ballot or a paper ballot in addition to the machine.

Along with the Presidential, gubernatorial, U. S. Senatorial, Congressional and State Legislative races, voters will decide on three members of the new State Court of Appeals, a referendum question and in many cases local officers and proposals.

Scholarship Awards
Nearly 1,300 Michigan high school graduates were selected to be the first winners under the state college scholarship program, splitting $500,000 in funds.

More than five times this number applied for the state funds. Some 3,000 of them could have qualified for scholarships if more money was available, said Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

The law enacted by the Legislature creating the program specified winners should be chosen on the basis of academic ability and financial need.

Distribution was further limited by a requirement that three scholarships go to each of the State Senate and House Districts. The remainder were awarded among applicants from the state at large.

Final awards averaged $400, although the Legislature placed an $800 maximum on each scholarship, Bartlett said. The grants cover tuition and academic fees, but not dormitory charges or other fees at Michigan colleges and universities.

Application replies from the 1,292 winners indicated most planned to attend four-year institutions. About 100 indicated they intended to study at junior or community colleges, Bartlett said.

With Legislative approval to double the appropriation next year, each of the 1964 winners who maintain at least a "C" average could have their grant renewed and another $500,000 would be available for 1965 high school graduates.

Supporters of the scholarship plan in the Legislature this year tried to get an original appropriation of $2 million for the program.

Bartlett implied there would be attempts next year to get more than the $1 million for the program.

"Some 3,500 of our applicants this year were fully qualified by test score and demonstrated real financial need," he said. "If these youngsters can find no other means of help and are denied the higher education of which they are fully capable and want, we are wasting valuable human resources."

Light Up

Continuation of the year-old "Lights On for Safety" campaign in Michigan appears a certainty.

During the Fourth of July holiday, State Safety Commission members reported that 40 per cent of the cars on major trunklines spot checked had lights on during the day.

This was greater than the

This is the number to call today to save money on fuel oil all winter!

Look at it this way. If you have not been using golden Superheat, you've probably been spending too much to heat your home. Superheat, alone among all the fuel oils you can buy, is "electrofined" to burn cleaner and hotter than any fuel oil ever has before. And that means you get more heat, better heat, with lower heating bills for the season. Switch to Superheat today...and you'll save money all winter!
