

Set Tax Rate Then Adjourn

With this week's weather beckoning to be fair and with a lot of Tuscola's bean crop still unharvested, the County Board of Supervisors quickly adjourned its monthly meeting to get the crop in.

At least that's how the story of the one-and-a-half day October session is told in the halls of the county courthouse in Caro.

The board, convening Monday, adjourned Tuesday afternoon until Wednesday, Oct. 21, at which time they will pick up where they left off.

During the short session, the supervisors adopted the formal rates for dividing the county taxes among the agencies which depend on them.

According to the tax rate schedule, the county's share of taxes will be 4.20 mills; special education will get .75 mills; the intermediate school district will take home .15 mills, and the jail will get 1.25 mills.

A flat $113,000 will be given to the County Nursing Home to cover the costs of its operation.

The rates were recommended to the 25-member board by Gail Parrott of Cass City, chairman of the board's finance committee.

The supervisors referred a recommendation of the safety committee to the sheriff's committee for study.

Under Clarence Buchinger of Denmark, the safety committee has proposed that the sheriff be authorized to purchase one new patrol car to add to its fleet of three cars, and to hire a new, permanent deputy sheriff as of January 1.

The remainder of the board's business was taken up in receiving reports from various branches of the county government and in listening to appeals from agencies and organizations for more financial support.

Delay Graham Decision

The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday announced that it will make no immediate decision on whether Henderson Graham, suspended probate judge of Tuscola county, can serve on that bench any longer.

Instead, the Supreme Court will leave the decision up to the voters in the November election.

If Graham is elected as probate judge, the court said it would then consider whether he was qualified to serve as Probate Judge under the new constitution.

If voters do not elect him, then there will be no need for the Supreme Court to act.

The Supreme Court previously recommended that he be impeached by the state's House of Representatives.

A special three man committee recommended that he not be impeached.

The Supreme Court then acted under its supervisory powers and suspended Graham from the bench. Graham continued to draw his salary.

However, after he was suspended a new constitution was written for the state.

In it, it was spelled out that no man could serve as probate judge who was not a lawyer, unless the man was a probate judge at the time the constitution was adopted. Graham is not a lawyer.

The question arose as to whether he, suspended from the bench, could qualify as an incumbent judge and seek election to the probate judgeship.

The late Douglas Williams of Caro filed a motion with the Supreme Court asking it to strike Graham's name from the ballot. Williams maintained Graham was neither a lawyer nor the probate judge at the time the constitution was adopted.

It was this motion that the Supreme Court set over for a later decision if the election does not provide the answer.

Cass City Youth Pleads Innocent To Larceny Charge

Cornelius Michels, 19, of 6986 Severance Rd., Cass City, pleaded innocent to a charge of larceny before Justice Frank P. Rolka Monday.

He was released on $100 bond pending further action.

He was charged with larceny in connection with the sheriff department's investigation of the theft of meat produce from Richard Erla's Packing and Food Center on Oct. 3.

Dim Outlook on Pheasants But Ducks Are Fine

Bird hunting this year in the Tuscola County area looks like a split ticket.

The pheasant season will open Tuesday, Oct. 20, but the prospects do not promise a good season.

On the other hand, the hunting of water fowl, which began on Oct. 8, is excellent.

This was the report of Howard Green, district biologist for the conservation department.

"It is hard to be too optimistic," Green said of the outlook for good pheasant hunting.

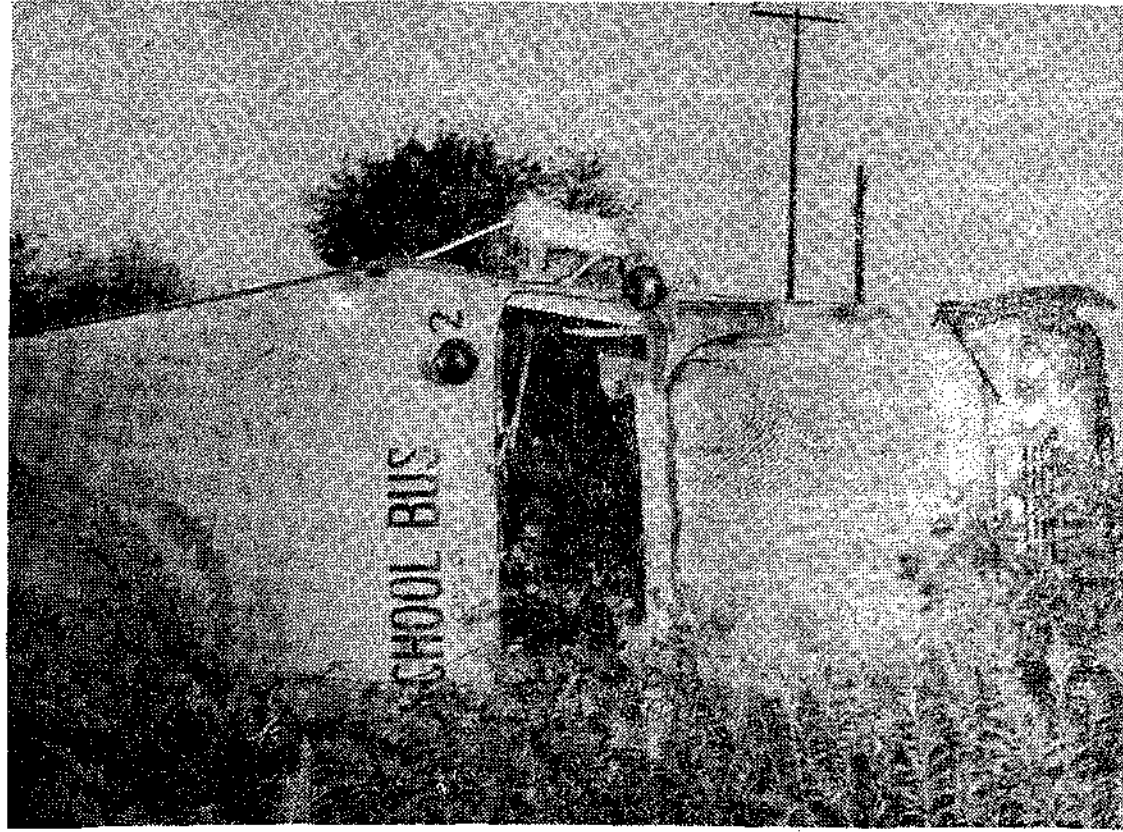

He stated that hunters may pick up a few in areas of heavy cover and along the Cass River.

He said that the best producing area this year will probably be in the Kingston area and up along the bay shore.

The county hasn't been stocked in 15 years with pheasant, Green said, and the present scarcity is due to a low in the biological cycle of this bird.

"We feel quite optimistic about the future. This year is a low period in their cycle," Green said of the pheasants.

THIRTY Cass City school children narrowly escaped serious injury Friday evening when this bus, driven by Jerry Helman, Cass City, went off the road and tipped over on Crane Road, a half mile south of M-81. One child was slightly injured. (Chronicle photo)

30 Children Escape Serious Injury When Bus Turns Over

A tragedy was luckily averted Friday when the Cass City school bus serving the Crane Road area lost its balance and tipped over.

While the bus is considered a total loss, none of the 30 children trapped in the vehicle as it fell off the side of the road, were seriously hurt.

The accident occurred as the bus, still carrying most of its passengers, was making its afternoon home delivery of happy, laughing students free from school for the week end.

As the bus was approaching the top of a hill on narrow Crane Road about a half mile south of M-81, a car, driven by James Tuckey, came over the other side heading north.

The bus driver, Jerry Helman, 25, of 4364 Seeger Street, pulled the bus to the right side to avoid an accident. He pulled over perhaps three inches too much. The right front wheel went off the road and was trapped in the soft shoulder.

"I noticed an on-coming car," Helman told Sheriff's deputies. "I pulled over to the right on the shoulder. The bus dropped off the edge of the road and I couldn't bring it back," he said.

Caught, as if in quicksand, the bus was pulled off the road. Top-heavy, the bus slowly leaned over at a dangerous angle and then toppled on its side.

A front window of the bus popped out. Children screamed. But then everything became still, right, fast.

Babich was greasing his pickup beaver when his right hand was caught under a moving belt and crushed, Mrs. Babich said.

"I don't know how it happened," Mrs. Babich said. "He's done it many times."

The tendons on the back of his right hand were severed, and the skin deeply lacerated.

He got his hand out of the machine, and then fell to the ground.

"I don't know if he was unconscious," his wife said, "but he couldn't walk."

Albert Stenoff took him to the emergency room of the Hills and Dales Hospital where Dr. Edward Miles of Caro was on duty.

Dr. Miles said they will not be able to tell if Babich's hand is crippled or not until the dressing is removed in about six weeks.

The hospital reported Monday that Babich was in satisfactory condition.

These auto-sales experts feel that Detroit's predictions will come true.

Predict Increase

Auten, who enjoyed a record year in sales of 1964 models as did Rabideau and Bell-Greig, said he thinks sales will increase over 1964.

"I see no sign of let up," "I expected it to be better than 1964 and so far it has been better," Rabideau said.

Rabideau estimates that his business is about 35 per cent greater than last year at this time. Auten cited about a 30 per cent increase in sales, while Bolen said his activity is up about 10 per cent.

One of the reasons given by these businessmen for the continued impressive turnover of new cars is that the public has accepted the 1965 models.

"The new styling has been well accepted."

Board Favors Annexation of Area Around Donahue Site

The word "annexation" was again heard at a council table in Cass City.

This time it was at the monthly meeting of the Cass City school board in the high school Monday night.

The board agreed to canvass residents of North Seeger Street who live just beyond the north village line to find out if they want to become part of the village.

This action was taken following the expected acceptance by the school board of land known as the "North Donahue Site" as the location of the proposed new high school.

The site was formally recommended to the board at Monday night's meeting by Horace Bolen, board president and chief of the special site selection committee.

The parcel -- a 40 acre tract running 40 rods by 180 rods -- is located about 100 yards north of the village line on the east side of North Seeger. Corn grows there now.

It will cost the school $1000 an acre.

The school board unanimously accepted Bolen's recommendation subject to reaching an option agreement with the property's owner, Dr. H. T. Donahue.

Superintendent Donald Crouse recommended a two-year option.

The idea of sounding nearby neighbors to the property about annexation came up because of "several provisos" which Bolen said must be met to qualify the land for a high school.

The major proviso regards zoning. The property is in Elkland township, and is not under any zone restriction.

Board members expressed their fear that some type of commercial enterprise might be built on adjacent property, ruining the Donahue site as an attractive place for a high school.

The architects, who recommended the Donahue land as the best site for the high school, urged that the land be zoned for residential or agricultural use only.

The architects also pointed out that provisions must be made with residents for sidewalk rights to allow the construction of sidewalks to the new school.

The board felt that if the people living along this portion of North Seeger were willing to become part of the village, these matters

Bad Weather Blamed for Poor Bean-Beet Crops

The on-again, off-again sunshine of early autumn weather in the Thumb area, coupled with three inches of rain, has made for a poor harvest of beans and a slow beginning with beets.

Ideal weather to insure a good bean crop -- at least a couple of weeks of sunshine and not rain every other day -- did not occur at the crucial harvest time.

As the beet harvest began, so did the rain. Beets began to take in moisture and the early reports show that sugar content is down from last year.

As an example of the weather's interference, this year, the Michigan Sugar Company on Thursday, October 8, started taking unlimited deliveries.

That is, the company would provide storage for beets to be processed, rather than just accept deliveries which could be processed right away.

As the company did so, Tuscola County "enjoyed" a spell of cold, rainy, weather. Few loads of beets were brought in and the slow paced harvest continued.

Because of the rain, the sugar content is down about two per cent from the sugar content of the 1963 crop.

The company reported that beets harvested during the bad weather had a sugar content of about 13.75 per cent.

In the 1963 crop, the sugar content of the beets stood at 15.7 per cent.

However, if a spell of good weather hits the Thumb area, and wet weather disappears for a time, the company expects to see the sugar content of the 1964 beet crop rise.

Schools to Close for 3 Days Next Week

Cass City schools will be closed three days next week in keeping with annual observances, Donald Crouse, superintendent, announced.

Schools will close their doors on Tuesday, October 20, as the opening shots of pheasant season are heard in the Thumb area.

Then, the doors will close again on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 22 and 23, as teachers in the Cass City schools flock to Saginaw for the annual two-day Teachers Institute.

Stores Announce Anniversaries and Grand Opening

Two Cass City businesses picked the October "Harvest Festival" sale to celebrate anniversaries while another firm chose the date to announce the grand opening of a furniture department.

Lloyd Bryant, manager of the Gamble Store, has announced the grand opening of the firm's new furniture department in the upstairs portion of the store.

Celebrating their anniversaries and offering special bargains are both Schneberger's TV and Appliances Sales and Service and IGA Foodliner.

Also ticketed for failing to yield the right of way was Lee Edgar Cummins, 23, of 5408 Koepfgen Road, who struck a car driven by Lawayne M. Kritzman, 36, of Bad Axe, as Cummins pulled out from Sherman Restaurant east of Cass City.

Kritzman was traveling east on M-81 at the time of the accident, late Friday night. He was taken to the Hubbard Hospital in Bad Axe, treated for his injuries and released.

New Car Sales Outstripping 1964's Say Cass City Area Auto Dealers

It's a chicken and egg question, really. Does a business boom mean more automobiles are sold, or do automobile sales foster a business boom?

Whichever it is, it doesn't matter to automobile dealers as long as it means more automobiles move out of the showrooms and off their lots and onto the highways.

1964 was a smiling good year for auto-dealers, or for anyone connected with the auto industry for that matter.

Automobile sales of new cars climbed to a record all-time high in the century-long history of the industry.

Dealers are still smiling. All prospects point to 1965 being even a better year than 1964 was in the sale of new cars.

At least, that's what the predictions out of Detroit are. And that's what the early returns on new car sales in the Cass City area show.

Because it is such a "which comes first" situation economically, when dealers are smiling because cars are selling, then industry is smiling because cars are in demand, and, pretty soon, everyone is smiling because the economic boom is still running, reaching for new peaks.

This is particularly true in Michigan. Automobiles are made here.

Business is Brisk

"Business," Buck Rabideau put it simply Friday while sitting at his desk in Cass City's Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge headquarters on Main Street, "is brisk."

"Excellent," was the term used by Charles Auten to describe the new car turnover at his Main Street showroom where a fellow can buy Ford Company products.

Caro's Buick-Pontiac chief, Howard Bell, said that business is as good as it was last year at this time, and that he expects it to get better.

But he's pinched because General Motors is being struck by the United Automobile Workers and no more cars are forthcoming from the plants at this time.

"We've got a couple of new ones in our showroom," Bell said, "but they are already sold."

Also cramped by the GM-UAW strike is H. M. Bolen, who markets the Chevrolet and Oldsmobile models to Cass Cityites from his showroom on Main Street.

"I've got a lot of orders," he said, "but we've been able to make few deliveries."

But as far as he can tell, the opening guns of the 1965 trade year are as loud as they ever were during the 1964 sales year.

"It seems to be going as good," Bolen said. "I hope it continues."

"I've read all the predictions by the experts in Detroit, and I assume they know what they are talking about."

PITY THE POOR Judge who'd have to decide which one of these five pretty Cass City High School girls would be the 1964 homecoming queen. Fortunately, however, selection was left to the student body and the queen will be announced at the half-time of the Cass City-Frankenmuth game Friday night. Queen candidates are: front row, Betty Kennedy and Jeri Ryan; center, Barbara Bustamante and back row, Beverly Harbec and Dawn Silvernail. (Chronicle photo) would be more easily resolved.

If annexed, the properties would come under village zoning laws. The construction of sidewalks could follow the established village pattern.

In case annexation is no go, however, the board agreed to move in other directions.

The Elkland Township board will be approached about zoning the area around the site as residential or agricultural land.

The village council will be approached on sharing the cost of sidewalk construction.

The board felt that the village council might be willing to go part way on the sidewalks because the school would bear the cost of installing water and sewer mains which could be of benefit to residents in the area.

New Bus

In other action, the school board authorized the purchase of a new, 1965, 60-passenger school bus.

This action came after Superintendent Crouse reported that one of the school buses was a total loss after it flipped over in a ditch on Crane Road Friday.

No one was seriously hurt in the accident. Two children received bumps and one girl cut her lip.

The bus, a 1957 model, was due for replacement, Crouse said. The new bus will cost about $7,000.

Junior High Football

The board soundly endorsed an interschool junior high school football program.

The move was urged by board member Ken Maharg to insure that boys get a chance to learn the fundamentals of the sport.

From the Editor's Corner

by Stanley Putnam

Opportunity knocks but once, goes the trite phrase. Maybe this is my knock.

I am a reporter by trade. That is, I'm the fellow on the newspaper who gets the facts and then makes up his mind.

I've been asked to spell John Haire, editor of the Cass City Chronicle, at writing his pet column. That is I get to write like an editor.

Now an editor is the fellow on the newspaper who makes up his mind and then gets the facts.

I've been a reporter for a long time it seems to me. And for as long a time I've had editors for my boss. It goes with my job.

Now a boss is a man anywhere who makes up his mind for no reason whatsoever.

In my time I've had editors-in-chief, managing editors, assistants to managing editors, editors in charge of managing the news, news editors, state editors, city editors, assistants to city editors, night editors, wire editors, photo editors and assistant city editors all tell me what to do--sometimes all at the same time.

Like low men on the totem pole will, for years I've growled and grumbled, and said, just you wait. When I get to be an editor, well I...

So now, here's my chance to speak out with the fierce sword of truth, to sway people to do the right thing, to get people concerned about wrong doing, to do my bit to wipe out poverty, ugliness, evil.

An editor is supposed to be concerned about these things. He is supposed to praise the good and blast the bad. An editor's ideas are supposed to stand 10 feet tall and be true.

So, Putnam, get going with your campaign.

Well,

I guess I'm just going to have to have a little more time to collect my thoughts about these things. I wasn't prepared.

So, instead I'll have to fall back on what some editors do. The personal piques.

Concluded from page one. Superintendent Crouse recommended that the program be limited to competition within the school, with possibly a few outside games.

He said that this would give all the boys who wanted to play a chance to play.

Bulen said that it was a step in the right direction in providing youth with the physical exercise which the President's Council on Physical Fitness has recommended they have.

The board indicated it will study the development of a broad junior high school athletic program for both girls and boys.

Representatives from the Cass City Lions and Rotary Clubs said their organizations would be glad to help in the purchase of needed equipment. The Gavel Club has also promised its support.

Favor Allocation Freeze
Board member Don Reid was named to represent the school board on a special committee being formed to publicize the position of county schools on a Nov. 3 proposition.

Lunch was served by the officers.

ACCIDENTS

Early Saturday afternoon a panel truck driven by James Crane, 43, of 4800 Crane Road and a car driven by Betty Jane Smith, 40, of 935 East Huron Street, Bad Axe, collided at the intersection of M-81 and Crane Road.

The accident took place as Crane, who was traveling west, started to turn left onto Crane Road and was struck in the side by the other vehicle which had come up behind him.

Property Damage
Police Chief Carl Palmateer investigated two property damage accidents during the week.

One took place at the intersection of Church and Seeger Streets in a collision between cars driven by Philip McComb, 73, of Cass City and Larry Summer, 20, of Gagetown.

The other accident took place Monday morning at Church and North Oak Streets.

Mrs. Basil Wotton, traveling east on Church street, struck a car going north on Oak being driven by John Kostanko, 16.

With Kostanko were four other students. One passenger, Larry Shagena was taken to the hospital.

HARVEST

A good beet crop is also expected. Gib Smith, field manager for the Michigan Sugar Company, said that he expects to see an average yield of 13.75 tons of beets per acre.

Not so with beans, however. Reports indicate that the average yield has been around 20 bushels of beans to an acre. A good yield ranges anywhere from 30 to 40 bushels an acre.

On top of this, the harvest is late.

As of October 9, at least a third of the crop was still in the field.

Normally at this time of year, the crop is all in.

On top of this, the quality of the harvest of beans - predominantly navy beans - has been hurt by the bad weather and late harvest.

About 10 per cent of the beans are culls, authorities report.

Simply, the 1964 bean crop as a whole is not good. And the harvesting of the beans still in the field is not expected to improve the harvest at all.

Cash crop farmers depending on the bean crop will suffer this year, authorities said.

EDITORS CORNER

Like, why isn't there a sign pointing to Cass City in Caro where the "To 81" part of Route 24 intersects with Route 81. There's a lot of noise about Cassville on signs there. But that dark night I was looking for Cass City.

And why can't I make U-turns in the middle of this fine broad street that's called Main Street. It looks like what it was made for. After all, I've taken my PHD in driving in Detroit.

It's too bad for a lonesome traveler that the movie house is open only when he isn't here.

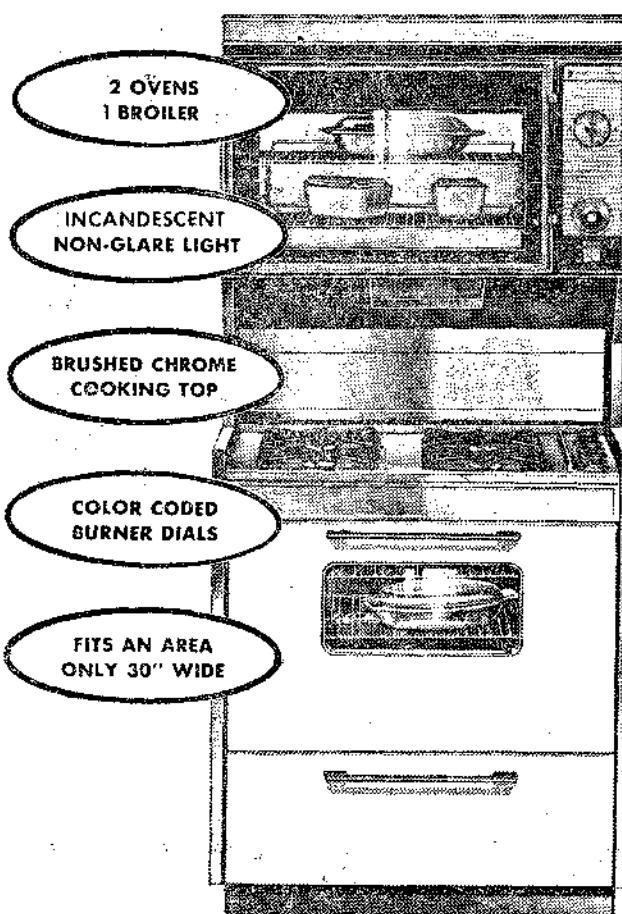

And, in the same vein, why is the library open at a time I can't get there?

Ah, well, such are my first earth shaking pronouncements as an editor. Maybe I'd better stick to reporting.

But there is another thing. The man down in Detroit who told me of the Chronicle, said "I know Cass City. It's up in the Thumb area. It's a nice community."

He was right. That man works for the "friendly" Free Press, too. He knows what friendly is.

BOOK REVIEW

Final Book By Eleanor Roosevelt

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

TOMORROW IS NOW marks the final book by the controversial wife of a controversial president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. It was frequently said that we voted for FDR and got two presidents for our money. At the least, Eleanor Roosevelt was the first White House tenant to make a significant contribution of her own. At most, there were people, of whom I definitely am not one, who said Eleanor ran the nation and FDR was only a figurehead.

Many books have been written of the great depression, and of FDR's part in leading our nation out of it. Some Republicans still are unaware that the judgment of history day by day asserts that FDR was one of our nation's great leaders.

Mrs. Roosevelt was judged by many as the ugliest woman in the world, but somehow the ugliness seemed to disappear when she spoke. Her children managed to have marital difficulties, and to accumulate traffic tickets (primarily for speeding) at a rate that did not speak well of the family background. Many asserted that if Mrs. Roosevelt would only stay home more, her children might, someday, amount to something.

Both of the Roosevelts believed passionately in movements for social betterment and gave generously of both themselves and their considerable wealth. While I lived in our nation's capitol with my family during five years of the Roosevelt stay at the White House, Mrs. Roosevelt gave her tremendous influence to a Council of Churches project in which I was a participant. A church would take the responsibility of making sure that every Negro family had something given to them at Christmas; thousands of Negroes lived in the most miserable circumstances, forced into ghettos, within the shadow of our nation's capitol dome. Room does not make it possible to describe the slums, their cause and destiny.

My brother-in-law had the good fortune to be a member of Mrs. Roosevelt's office staff. We were happy to take advantage of that fact to tour parts of the White House not open to the public. And I have, somewhere among my possessions, a White House card bearing her autograph.

After her husband's tragic death, Mrs. Roosevelt gave of herself generously to causes which she felt needed help which she could give. I recall seeing her, by the magic of TV, as she backed Governor Stevenson for their party's presidential nomination not too many years ago.

In "Tomorrow Is Now," Mrs. Roosevelt indicates her concern that we may not be ready for a new age which is coming, "ready or not." Her experience with the UN qualified her as an expert commentator on America's

NEW CARS

Why? None of them knew why in 1964 more cars were sold than ever before and why the pattern is continuing.

"Outside of the population explosion, I don't know," Buleen said.

"All I know is that when the average family has money the first thing it wants is a car."

Bell attributed the sales volume to a low unemployment rate and to the amount of money now being made by the average man.

"There are more two and three-car families than there were five years ago," he said.

Rabideau and Auten stressed the "strong economy" of the nation as the basic factor promoting the volume of sales.

"The sales indicate that people have confidence, confidence in the economy. They are willing to take a chance and invest money in new cars," Rabideau said.

lack of preparation for the role we will be called upon to play.

Admittedly a liberal in her political thinking, she is at her best, I think, when she points how we ought to proceed and the goal at which we mean to arrive.

I made notes to myself as I read, intending to quote extensively. I do not have space to do that, but will call your attention to page 61 for a heart-warming story she tells about one little Negro boy learning to live in a world that judges him by only one characteristic—his black skin.

While the book was published a year ago, and is brief (only 139 pages), it is especially valuable as we try now to analyze the speeches of our current presidential hopefuls.

TOMORROW IS NOW by Eleanor Roosevelt, Harper & Row, N. Y., 1963. Available at Cass City Public Library.

Name D. DeLong Player of Week

This is the Red Hawks' own Sammy Huff. He's Duane DeLong, 16, of 3447 North Engle, half Road, a junior. He wears number 66. When watching him in action it's tough to tell whose team he's on. He is always popping up in the opponent's backfield. Well, that is why he is player of the week. He is a defensive guard and smashing up the enemy backfield and upsetting plays is his job, one that he does with gusto.

Long Runs Give Hawks 2nd Win

Under a cold, bitter, windy sky Friday night, Cass City's Red Hawks twice took to long-range strategy to win over the Lakers in a 12 to 0 contest that was confined, for the most part, to line-bucking, short-run tactics.

It was a game of cold ball which soon settled down after kickoff to a stalemate of punt exchanges as the defense took control of the freezing field.

Twice, however, Cass City was able to smash the stalemate and go for their second conference victory, but not by triumphant power-marches down the field.

Taking over on their own 46-yard line in the first quarter after having forced the Lakers to punt twice, Red Hawk Quarterback Ed Retherford drifted back in a bootleg play on third down and passed the ball to Wayne Copeland, end.

Copeland took the pass, tucked it away and went the distance. It was tabulated as a 61-yard touchdown play.

Retherford's attempted conversion for the extra point failed. Hope that this early, first-quarter touchdown meant that the Red Hawks were in control of the field and would be able to march the ball at their will soon faded.

The game got down to punt, rush and punt again.

Receiving the ball at kickoff at the beginning of the second half, the Red Hawks, forced to punt again, dropped the ball down to the Lakers 16-yard line. It looked like just another exchange in the making.

Four downs later, the Lakers booted a weak punt up the field and Cass City took over on the Lakers' 40-yard line.

With first down and ten to go, right-halfback Carl Weipert took the ball over the left flank on a power play, broke into the clear as his teammates gave him the right blocks, and footed his way over the Lakers' goal line.

Again, the attempt for the extra point failed.

That was the game. Other than the long, cold grueling scramble at the scrimmage line that led neither team anywhere.

The Lakers' short for the team fielded by Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port - once pushed to within 12 yards of six-point dirt in the fourth quarter but they were frozen to the spot.

The only other time the Lakers were close came after a weary back-and-forth, back-and-forth in the second quarter when they worked their way down to the Red Hawks' 24-yard line.

In spite of the cold, windy weather which Red Hawk Coach Orie Lemanski held responsible for the low score, there were few fumbles. Cass City recovered two of its own, and the Lakers lost their one fumble.

Twice the Red Hawks had receivers in the clear beyond the Lakers' secondary during the game but the passes, bucking the wind, failed to reach them.

Lemanski said that the Red Hawks need some work on their pass defense as several good opportunities to intercept passes were missed.

Lemanski's eleven face the rugged fellows from Frankenthuth here Friday for the big, Cass City home-coming game.

Frankenthuth's boys haven't dropped a game this season and have been averaging 28 points a game.

Lemanski agrees that, faced with these statistics, the Red Hawks qualify as the underdogs in this week's game.

Mrs. Gremel's Son Not School Drop Out

In last week's Chronicle poll regarding the future new high school, it was incorrectly stated that the son of Mrs. Nelson Gremel, 4442 Doerr Road, was a high school drop out.

Her son, Dennis, graduated in the class of 1964 just this past June. He now has a job as an apprentice in the tool room at National Electric in Bay City.

HUNTING

He said that pheasants follow a rough 10 year cycle between plenty and scarcity.

On the other hand, there is no dearth of ducks and geese this hunting season.

"The water fowl hunting is excellent," is the way the biologist described it.

At just one check point of the first day of hunting season, conservation officers counted a take of 121 geese alone by hunters.

Green singled out two areas on the bay as the best producing: the Fish Point area and the area adjacent to the islands such as North Island.

Of other small game available for the hunter's pot starting Tuesday, Green said, that the number of rabbits is about the same as last year. As for squirrel hunting, "it is a lost art in this area," he said.

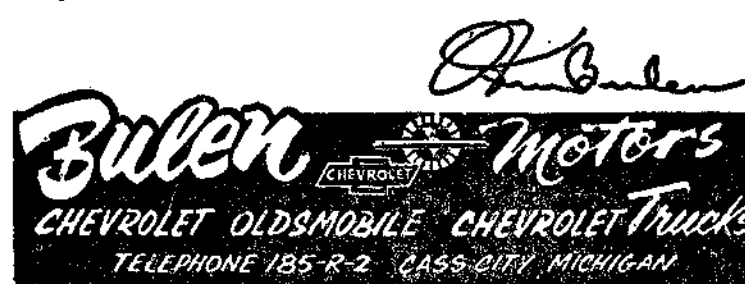

Stick - to - it - tiveness, the modern synonym for persistency, is a homely quality --- it has none of the brilliance and flash of such endowments as courage and imagination - and yet it is just as valuable as either of these. Although homely and associated with the plodders of earth, rather than its comets, it is a quality so uncommon as to be greatly prized. Someone has said, "There are plenty of men who start out with a great flourish -- plenty of men lash the waves and beat the air -- plenty of men sow in the sand, fish in the sky... plenty of men whistle jigs to a grindstone and make motions enough to run an airplane, but the world is hungry, mighty hungry for men who have the will power to stick -- hungry for men who will function to the finish.

You will find this quality of stick - to - it - tiveness at BULEN MOTORS maintained as a permanent customer relations program, with stick - to - it - tiveness type of customer satisfaction. Come to BULENS lot, look over their available cars and then talk to their knowledgeable salesmen and buy the car that best serves your purpose. Then watch the stick - to - it customer satisfaction program work. BULEN MOTORS insist upon it.

VOLUME 58, NUMBER 27

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1964

Dolly's Gone and Done It ...After Trip to England

Wel, Mrs. Leo Tracy - better known as Dolly to her friends - has finally gone and done it.

After 17 years of living in this country - a decade of the time being spent here in the Cass City country - she has decided to become an American citizen.

"I've got all my citizenship papers filled out," she said last week at her home out on Elmwood Road. "All I have to do now is turn them in. It'll take about three months, I understand."

Why, now after so many years, has she decided to give up her English citizenship?

Because in September she finally accomplished one of her biggest dreams of her life, a dream she has been telling Cass City about for a long time.

She went home to England for a visit.

"I had to go back just for one visit," she said in her own inimitable accent, half Derbyshire English, half up-state Michigan American.

"I knew I had to go back before I became an American citizen. I know I should have gotten my papers a long time ago. But I was afraid if I did, I would never go back for a visit."

Mrs. Tracy came to this country in 1945 as a young woman of 21 on the arm of her husband,

Leo, whom she had met while he was with the American Army in her hometown in Derby, England.

"For 17 years I waited to go back," she said. "I've waited and saved. Everybody in Cass City has been waiting for me to go."

But something always came up. Like the new house last year.

But this year, the money was there. As for time: "I had two weeks vacation coming from my job at the hospital. So I just took the rest of the time. Mr. Palm (administrator at Hills and Dales) was very kind about it."

Dolly Tracy

On Sept. 8 she took a jet for London, returning to this country on the 24th, after stopping off for 20-odd days with her kinsmen - two sisters and four out of six brothers - in Derby.

And she's glad all over! She's glad she went. She's glad she's back. She's glad it - the long wait - is over with. And she's glad now that she can become a citizen.

The trip to England certainly was full of nostalgia for Mrs. Tracy. After all, the place where you were born and raised will always have a special place in the heart, good or bad.

In London, there was the changing of the palace guard, Trafalgar Square with Nelson's Column, Piccadilly Square and the two-decker buses.

Then the long train ride through the green English countryside, the River Trent, the hills around Derby and then the smoky, industrial city of 40,000 itself.

There was fish and chips wrapped in newspaper as there always has been, and good, warm beer at the pubs, and high tea with three, calorie-rich desserts, and a friendly, arm-in-arm atmosphere between people.

But home was more full of surprises than Mrs. Tracy expected. Even after 17 years. Not that England has changed much she said.

"It's exactly the same. Not one thing has changed."

"Well, perhaps there are more cars than there were. You know, little ones. Puddle-jumpers I call them. And they are starting to build motor-ways - what we call expressways. But there's been no great change."

The surprises came because Mrs. Tracy, now used to the bigness and comfort of the American way - had forgotten how things were in merry, old England.

"I don't know why they ever called it merry," she said at one point.

"I never, ever dreamed I talked that way," she said of the accent her sisters and brothers and their dozen-odd children speak.

"But my brother told me, 'you bloody-well did, kid.'"

One time she stopped with one of her six brothers to buy some fish and chips. (Her mouth still waters over the idea of the succulent bits of fish flesh and warm sticks of potatoes.)

"The vendor says to me, 'u't n' fo.'"

"What for?" I said. "To eat, what do you think what for?"

"Then my brother explained to me that he had said, 'one and four,' the price, not what for."

"And all the foods I remembered as being good. All the dishes I've been telling Leo and my children about all these years - tiger nuts, savory duck, tripe - there was nothing to them. They were nothing like I remembered."

Not one who is timid about speaking her mind, Mrs. Tracy found much she didn't like about her hometown now.

"Everything was so little," she said. The houses were little and cramped one next to the other; backyards were little, washing machines and refrigerators were little, rooms were little.

And then there was the lack of supermarkets, the smoke from the open coal fires in the living rooms, uncovered meat at the butchers, the small cars, the dirty trains, the black filthy train stations, the Beatle craze, boys with long hair, bread and drip-pings for supper and so on.

But one thing was not smaller than she remembered. Rather, larger. And this was that her sisters and brothers have grown fatter.

"They hadn't really changed," she said of her kinkfolk. "Around the face, they were the same. But they had all gotten fatter."

"But I think English men must like their women fat. They don't say fat, they call it bonny. I told my sister she was fat, and she said: 'No I'm not, I'm bonny.'"

"It's those rich foods they eat at tea-time, I think does it," Mrs. Tracy said.

Then, patting herself, she said with a sigh, "That's one thing the girls in my streamlining club will be glad to hear. I've gained a few pounds."

Not pounds, Mrs. Tracy. Just a few more bonnies.

Local Delegates At FFA Convo

Four Cass City Youths are representing Cass City Chapter 88, Future Farmers of America, at the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., this week.

They are Grant Merchant, Mark Battel, Jerry Krohn and David Marshall.

The four youths are among 42 delegates from the 16 FFA chapters in Huron and Tuscola counties who are attending the convention which runs from Sunday, Oct. 11, to Friday, Oct. 16.

Their agenda for the week is a busy one.

On their way out to the convention they stopped off in Chicago to visit the Chicago Board of Trade and the Museum of Science and Industry.

In Quincy, Ill., they toured the Norman Feed Company's farm and factory.

While at the convention, between sessions they will tour the Herford Building, and see the Firestone shows.

On their final day down in the Missouri country, they will pay a visit to Mark Twain's home and museum in Hannibal, Mo., and see the home of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Mo.

Accident Toll Well Up Over '63

Tuscola County's mounting record of traffic accidents in 1964 continued to rise over 1963's record during September.

According to Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr's monthly report to the County Board of Supervisors, there was a total of 57 accidents in September on county highways.

Of these, one was a fatal accident, 16 were injury accidents and 40 were damage accidents.

In September 1963 there were 37 traffic accidents of all kinds.

In last month's accidents, one person was killed and 33 persons were injured. A year ago, one person was killed and 13 were injured.

The total number of accidents for the county in 1964 now stands at 426, 92 more traffic accidents than at this time last year.

To date, 17 persons have been killed in accidents this year, and 187 persons have been injured. Last year at this time, seven persons had been killed and 176 injured in auto accidents.

"This summary surely indicates that there should be more safety on our highways today," Sheriff Marr commented in his report.

"It should be noted that our fatal accidents have increased by nine, injury accidents one less, and damage accidents by 84 for a total of 92 more accidents."

Many people who have lofty aims can't hit the bullseye.

Who Do I Know In Flat Rock, Mo.?

By Dave Kraft

The other day my wife called and asked who I knew in Flat Rock, Mo. I answered, "Well, there's... and then there's... and don't forget old... Whad'ya mean, who do I know in Flat Rock, Mo.? I don't know anybody in Missouri, much less Flat Rock."

Seems a letter, looking like a wedding invitation with a Flat Rock postmark, had arrived and curiously was killing my cat.

I magnanimously gave her permission to open my letter because I knew if I didn't, she'd do it anyway and not tell me what was in it.

It read, "The Space Exploration Bureau announces that you have been selected as Number One Astronaut in the First Person on the Moon Program. You are requested to report immediately for Phase 1 of your training on How to Scratch an Itch in Your Space Suit."

I started to pack but then I remembered that as a youngster I had spent many a year in long underwear and consequently decided that there was nothing that could be taught me about scratching through a space suit that I hadn't already learned in scratching through a suit of Long Johns.

I ate a rush dinner at the New Gordon Hotel on a recent press day. I sat at the same table as Sheriff Hugh Marr, his wife and another gentleman.

I was in a highly agitated condition because of press day pressure and then Mrs. Clyde Wells came over to wait on us and made such a big fuss about giving me some salad... which I didn't want.

I finally consented to take some cottage cheese. I got so upset that I almost poured parmesan cheese in my coffee.

Then Sheriff Marr compounded my nervous condition by offering to buy everybody's dinner. If only he'd offered before I ordered, I might have ordered something more expensive than I did.

The real topper came during the meal. Mrs. Wells put my cottage cheese closer to Mrs. Marr and put Hugh's coleslaw next to me and I ate the Sheriff's cold slaw by mistake!

When I was about half way done, Mrs. Marr very nicely pointed out that the cottage cheese was also mine. I stole a quick look at Marr.

I could see his mind working. "I buy this nut his dinner and he eats my coleslaw."

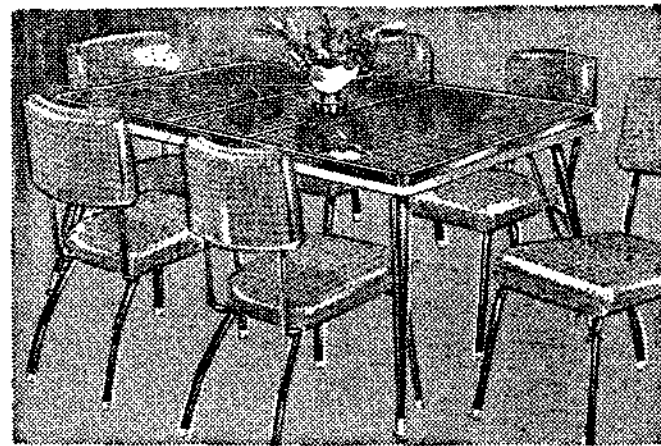

I ate as fast as I could and got out of there. I thought for a minute that he was going to pull a gun on me.

I was having coffee one morning at Konrad's Koffee Korner (better known as Konrad's Bakery) and druggist. Tom Proctor came up with the idea that he'd like to build an apartment house. At least eight units. Called "Centennial Square," in commemoration of the coming 1965 centennial, of course.

Newell Harris piped up with, "I suppose that means that to live in the place you have to be over 100."

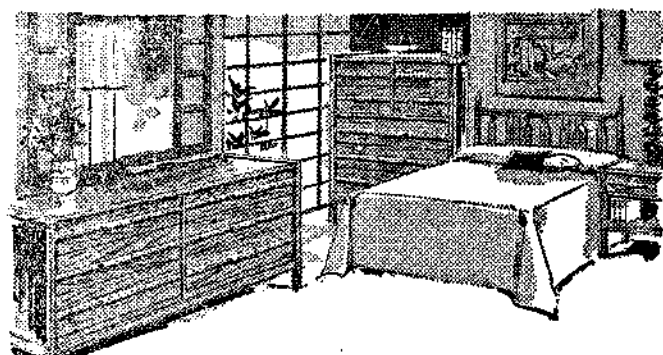

To which Clint House remarked, "No, but the rent is."

Methodists Slate Family Night Oct. 21

The Cass City Methodist Church will hold a family night program at 6:45 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 21, in the Methodist Church.

The evening program will be sponsored by the Church's mission's commission under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Haire.

Rev. Paul Cargo, pastor of the Caro Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker during the program. He will speak, and show slides, about his recent trip to Puerto Rico.

Mr. Cargo is the son of a former pastor of the Cass City Methodist Church, Rev. Ira Cargo, who served here from 1922 until 1927.

Attending families have been asked to bring a dish to share with others, and to bring their own table service.

Every time the unexpected happens the I-told-you-so fellow is Johnny on the spot.

Legislative Turnover Makes Hard Jobs More Complicated

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Many Newcomers

Extremely high turnover in legislative membership next year will increase the problems of state executives.

Several department heads had planned a big push for approval of major budget hikes for the next fiscal year now that Michigan's books are in the black. These plans were made before the present legislative apportionment plan was approved.

Convincing some of the long-term lawmakers it is time for less conservative budget-writing would have been hard enough in itself, but with a new majority rule in the House and a high percentage of new members in the Senate, this tough job is complicated even more.

Department heads will have to get to know the new members, their pet projects and dispositions.

Two administrative chiefs will feel this complication particularly. Both the heads of the Conservation and Mental Health Departments are new to their jobs since the current year budget appeals were made.

They will have the task of not only getting to know new members and selling their programs, but of convincing the old-timers they have the administrative ability for which they were selected.

New Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan is not entirely new to state government, having served previously in his department's chief division.

He is hoping the new Legislature will bring a major change in past behavior where his department is concerned. He will again plead for repeal of the bounty system, a $250,000 item which has failed to pass during several previous attempts.

Saying he can "defend every dime" of a proposed $33 million budget, MacMullan says his request represents "catching up" after 10 years of enforced austerity which have shrunk the department's employee force and buying power.

He proposes $8.5 million alone for improved and added state park facilities for campers, picnickers and swimmers, an area of development in which he will get outside lobbying help.

Only time will tell whether the surplus on the books and the new legislators will give department chiefs the money they have been waiting for during the long austerity period.

Teachers Missing

A chronic teacher shortage still exists in Michigan despite the sharp increases in college enrollments and completions, Department of Public Instruction records show.

Michigan schools experience a dropout of about 5,000 teachers annually who do not return to their jobs, and a need for an additional 3,000 professionals to fill new positions.

The most serious shortage remains at the elementary level, although certain subject areas in secondary schools also lack capable instructors.

Despite many years of attempting to eliminate the special certificate for full-time teachers, Department records this fall showed about 4,500 positions in public schools to be filled by teachers holding these special permits.

The number of special certificates in use by persons who have not fulfilled all educational requirements for regular certificates has dropped over the years, however.

Department officials say the reduction in special certificates has been significant but must be further lessened "so that all children in the state will be taught by fully prepared teachers."

Bets Off

The perennial attempt to eliminate Michigan's sales tax and replace this major revenue with a state lottery and off-track betting laws may be missing next year.

This set of proposals has been introduced during most of the past 10 years by Rep. E. A. Fitzpatrick, Detroit Democrat.

While Fitzpatrick usually obtained several members to join him in sponsoring his series of repeal bills and new proposals, very few members voiced very serious convictions on the program.

Fitzpatrick was one of several House members dropped from the election list in the primary balloting.

His main objection to the sales tax was that it hit the low income family hardest.

Substituting the sales tax and several of the so-called nuisance taxes with an off-track betting system and state lottery would more than replace the lost revenue, he contended.

The new sources of revenue also would put the burden of supporting state government on those who could afford the luxuries of life, he argued.

Most likely Fitzpatrick's unusual plan for financing government will go the way of many former legislators' pet projects: down to defeat with their proponents.

AAUW Selects Meeting Time

The Cass City Branch of the American Association of University Women - the village's newest organization - will hold its regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month.

The club selected this regular meeting time at its meeting last week at which Mrs. Loren Gettel, president of the Huron County Branch, and Mrs. Bruce Leipprandt, Huron County Branch membership chairman, spoke.

The next meeting of the Cass City Branch will be Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school library.

Club by-laws, drawn up by the by-laws committee headed by Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, will be acted upon.

In addition, the club will elect a permanent set of officers who will be nominated by the nominating committee consisting of Mrs.

B. H. Starmann, chairman, and Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn and Mrs. Harry Crandell.

Mrs. Richard Drews is acting chairman at this time. All interested and eligible women in this area have been invited to join the club. Anyone having questions may call Mrs. Drews.

Marine Pfc. Ridgway

In Training Exercise

The operation is testing the flexibility of 11,000 Marines in an amphibious landing. They are deployed in 39 ships manned by over 8,000 Navy men.

EQUALS NOTHING

Many a man fails because he tries to accumulate by adding nothing to nothing.

Breaks Probation, Gets Three Years

Jerry Curtis, 19, of North Kingston Road, Deford, was sentenced in Tuscola County Circuit Court on September 30 to two to three years in the Jackson State Prison.

Circuit Court Judge Timothy C. Quinn recommended to the prison that Curtis be sent to a Michigan training unit to serve his sentence.

Curtis was given a prison term for violating probation to which he had been sentenced in November 1963 after he pleaded guilty to stealing $188 worth of tools.

At that time, Judge Quinn set his probation at three years, with the first year to be served in a state probationary camp.

Curtis broke probation by walking away from the camp in March. Judge Quinn sent him back to the camp.

Early in September, Curtis again violated probation by smuggling cigarettes into the camp. The camp returned him to the Tuscola County jail for this violation.

In sentencing him to a prison term, Judge Quinn said that he did not like to send such a young person to prison but that he had done all that he could to help Curtis help himself.

A lighter toe on the accelerator or will mean a lighter toll on our nation's highways.

Dear Mister Editor:

The way I got it sized up, the news last week was about half good and half bad. That's mighty encouraging, shows the country was holding its own. Makes me recollect about the time the city feller got lost in the mountains. He stopped and ask a old mountaineer how far it was to town. The feller told him it was four mile. After wandering around fer a couple hours he stopped at another cabin and ask how far he was from town. "Four mile," the mountaineer told him. "Thank God," said the city feller, "I'm holding a steady course."

First off, my pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture advised that fer the first time since that agency was founded in 1862 they wasn't taking no census this year of horses and mules in the nation. According to this notice, horses and mules was gitting so few and unimportant in agriculture it wasn't worth what it cost to count 'em. That's both bad and sad, Mister Editor. It makes it official that we've come to the end of a era in our nation. From the days when wagon trains opened up the West to the morning Teddy Roosevelt fell off his mount and broke a ankle, horses and mules has figgered big in American history. I have wrote to my Congressman and suggested they erect a monument to Old Dobbin and set it up alongside the Lincoln Memorial.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

And I was reading this piece in the papers where them boys in the Pentagon has throwed $497 million down the drain in the last 12 months. They paid $112,000 to rent a warehouse fer 55-gallon oil drums when they had a empty one of their own in the same neighborhood. They bought $321,854 worth of spare parts from a spare parts dealer that had bought 'em the month before fer $71,559. They paid $2 million fer 357 air conditioners and found they didn't need 'em and couldn't use 'em. And they paid $1,100,000 fer some airplane equipment that wouldn't work. But I won't bore you, Mister Editor, with any more details. After all, it ain't nothing but tax money.

On the good side, I see where a North Carolina Judge has allowed as how they was two places a man had no business wearing his shirt tail out, in church and in court. He throwed a feller in jail fer two hours fer appearing in his court with his shirt tail out. I ain't shore what it all means but I keep reading things about the "dignity of man." I think this North Carolina Judge was putting in a good lick fer the cause.

And to cap off the week on a encouraging note, I see where the U. S. Public Health Department has made a grant of $8,675 to some science feller to study how to eliminate the house fly. This is the first sensible appropriation to come out of Washington fer the phisical year.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Youth for Christ Slate Sports Rally

A "Sports Rally" will be the highlight event at the monthly meeting Saturday of the Tuscola Youth For Christ.

The rally is scheduled to be held at 8 p.m. in the Caro Elementary School.

The Isaac Sisters from London, Ont., and Frank Gonzales from Los Angeles, Calif., will be special musical guests.

The "Club of the Month" trophy will be awarded to one of the eight high school YFC clubs in Tuscola County. A special Klub Tyme will also be staged.

The less you have to do with a certain type of people the less you are worse off.

COLD FACTS
The list of dead and injured bears grim evidence that it was a pleasant week end.

New Legislative Chambers To Welcome New Legislators

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Face Lifting

Legislative chambers of the State Capitol will be new to all in January, not just the many freshmen members of the House and Senate.

Both houses are undergoing major renovation this fall from the floors up. In the House, the torn and faded carpet which covered the floor nearly 35 years was removed to disclose the need for complete new flooring.

The Senate carpeting is a little newer than that in the House but will also be replaced while the Senator's desks are sent to the Ionia Reformatory for refinishing. House desks are getting the same treatment.

Improved electrical wiring for the House voting machine and both chambers' public address and telephone systems also are slated as part of the mammoth project.

Work began early this summer in the 110-seat House, but desks were still in place in the Senate in mid-September, prompting some observers to question whether that chamber will be ready for occupancy early in January when the session begins.

Knowledge Costs
A major argument for continued increases in state aid to higher education is seen in a comparison of public versus private college enrollments, say those in the field.

The Department of Public Instruction notes that another increase was recorded this year in the percentage of students being educated in public institutions.

Michigan already ranked second only to California in this count before the 1964 school year began. Opening enrollment estimates were that 79.5 per cent of Michigan's college students were attending public institutions.

Just three years ago public institutions provided educations for 77.9 per cent of the total state enrollments, while private facilities had 22 per cent of the students.

With four-year degree-granting institutions publicly supported and 18 community colleges of a public nature, Department spokesmen are preparing for an appeal to the 1965 Legislature to increase state support to higher education on a parallel with the enrollment growth.

"Realizing that the demands of society for college-trained youth are greater than ever before, we can ill afford to deny fully capable students the higher education and training that their potential warrants and industry demands of them," says Superintendent Lynn M. Bartlett.

projects frequently comes up for debate in an election year.

One partisan, Don Kinsey of the Michigan Farm Bureau, says the benefits derived from Federal aid should be considered in view of its origin.

Michigan receives an over-all amount of $176.3 million in Federal funds for various purposes, says Kinsey. "Michigan people cough up $233.8 million a year to the Federal tax collector," he said, on the basis of 1963 U. S. Treasury Department figures.

"This is a payment of $1.33 for every dollar returned to Michigan so the question becomes 'Who aids who?'" said the Bureau spokesman.

Plan Ahead

Booms in community expansion must be seen well ahead of their occurrence, according to a recreation planning expert.

G. Leslie Lynch, planner for the National Recreation Association in New York City, says planning and acquisition of land for recreation and school sites must be done five or more years in advance.

"The planning and acquisition of recreation lands and school sites should be at least five years ahead of the development," he says. "The planners, and not the developers, should determine the pattern of our urban areas."

Too often, Lynch notes, community planners are hesitant to submit honest recommendations for community recreation because of apparent inadequacy of funds.

"The fact that there is no vacant land in the neighborhood must not keep us from declaring that 10 acres is needed for a recreation area," he said.

"We are standing on a firm foundation when we recommend the expenditure of large sums of money to provide public recreation services and facilities."

In growing communities the advance planning is all-important, Lynch says, because lack of public open space is often one of the principal reasons for urban renewal needs in established cities.

The recreation spokesman contends that adequate recreational facilities are guaranteed by the constitution as a part of man's pursuit of happiness.

"Any nation that spends annually over $50 per capita for alcoholic beverages and over $80 per capita for tobacco, can well afford to spend $6 or $7 per capita each year for the operation of park and recreation services," he said.

Guilhart to Fill Gardiner's Post

Jimmie Guilhart of the State Conservation Department has been appointed as Tuscola County's regional conservation officer.

His first day on duty here was October 4.

He takes up the post vacated when Brad Gardiner was transferred to Branch County.

Guilhart, whose home is in Belleville, has been serving as a conservation officer in Delta County.

From 1954 to 1960 he served as a member of the Detroit Police Department.

The fellow who attempts to follow the guidance of all reaches the goal of none.
