George is Coming
Dems CounterRomney Won't
Stop in Village

The GOP will blitz the Thumb area Tuesday with the highlight of this campaign attack taking place at a rally in Caro.

Governor Romney will lead the GOP caravan of state and local candidates through the Thumb as part of his three-day blitz of southern Michigan which will take him and other GOP candidates into 34 cities from Bad Axe to Niles.

Now blitz means lightning speed.

And that's about all Cass City residents will get to see of the Governor and his caravan as they pass along Main Street on their way from Bad Axe to Caro late Tuesday afternoon or early evening.

The Governor and his party originally were scheduled to stop off in Cass City for 20 minutes of campaigning. However his advanced blitz-scouts ran the circuit and found that the Governor would be pressed for time if he did so.

He and his campaign caravan are due at the Caro High School for the rally at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Carl Mantey, Tuscola County GOP chairman said.

So, Cass City residents interested in hearing what the blitz has to offer can do so by attending the hour and a half rally.

Admission is free, everyone is invited and all are urged to attend the rally, the County GOP chairman said.

Clarifies
Record

Thomas R. McAllister, attorney for Probate Judge Henderson Graham, candidate for reelection, has written a letter to the Chronicle stating that the recent story carried by this paper about Graham was incorrect.

McAllister has taken exception to a number of statements made in that story and has asked that his letter be published to set the record straight.

McAllister writes: "Your article is incorrect in many particulars and I hereby request that you publish this letter on page one of your edition for October 22nd, 1964.

The Supreme Court said in its opinion on October 13:

"Motion to advance case on calendar having been filed by plaintiff, and the opposition thereto having been duly considered, on Order of the Chief Justice the motion is GRANTED and the case is placed at the foot of the calendar for presentation during the November Session of the Court."

The above is all the Supreme Court said.

You stated in your paper that the Supreme Court previously recommended that he be impeached by the state's House of Representatives.

Actually the Supreme Court recommended to the Legislature that it pass a resolution requesting the Governor to remove him. You stated that a special three man committee recommended that he not be impeached. "I think that every citizen should be given the opportunity to meet and visit personally with candidates," Harvey said.

"This tour will provide people with that chance."

A Sweater Flying 30 Flags

Someday soon pretty Susy Kelley will be sporting a brand new cardigan sweater when she strolls down Main Street.

When she does she will no doubt be one of the most decorated flag poles in the world, if not the most.

For her new sweater will bear the proud banners of 30 nations. When the fellows see Susy they simply won't know whether to whistle or salute.

From the
Editor's Corner

By Stanley Putnam

When an accident happens but no one is hurt, it is quickly forgotten. In fact, news coverage is usually perfunctory unless there is a unique angle.

Cass City was lucky on Oct. 9 to have had such an accident.

A school bus, with 30 school children inside, tipped over. No one was seriously hurt.

Think how it would have been if it had been otherwise. There possibly might have been bereaved parents, an empty seat or two in a classroom, a shocked community.

There might have been the usual call after such an accident for somebody's head. As it was, none of these occurred.

Instead, the school board simply bought another bus. But the board's attitude about school buses might be one of the main reasons why no one was hurt.

Certainly, contributing to the fact that no child was severely injured was the fact that the bus was moving at a relatively slow speed and that when it did tip over, it did so slowly.

Another factor, certainly is that the bus did not fall apart all over its passengers.

One-yellow-bodied school bus may look like another one. But there are differences, as many differences as between other motor vehicle models.

Some buses have a stronger superstructure. Some buses have better designed interiors with more "safety features".

These buses cost more. Education is an expensive community undertaking. Money could be saved by seeking bargain transactions.

Special Meet to Settle Hall Lease

Elkland township voters will decide whether or not they want their old township hall turned into a new cultural center at a special meeting Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8:00 p. m. in the hall.

The Elkland Township Cultural Center, Inc. is requesting to lease the hall for a 10-year period and will modernize the interior and exterior at no cost to the township.

Primary use of the building will be as the headquarters for the upcoming 1965 Centennial. Following the centennial, it will be used for a number of cultural and civic projects.

A man would have to travel to the United Nations headquarters in New York to see so many flags of different nations at one time.

In fact, that's what it's called, "A United Nations Sweater."

How do other fashion-minded young ladies of the town get one?

Well, like Susy, they'll have to have an Auntie Esther because these sweaters aren't being mass produced by some ready-to-wear outfit.

No sir, they are made by the tedious task of knitting.

Now Susy's Auntie Esther is a lovely 29-year-old lady called Mrs. Esther Song, wife of Rev. Watson Song who is a missionary now in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Song is stopping off for awhile at the closest thing to the United Nations that Cass City has - the Warren Kelley home on South Leach Street.

While she's here, Mrs. Song, by the way, plans to add a new soul to the UN herself.

For she has come to Cass City to have a baby, her second. While she left her husband serving in Hong Kong, she brought her old and honored mother, and her charming, 17-month-old pixie-girl, Grace, with her.

So, what's to do while waiting for the event which is expected in December?

Why not knit? Why not knit a sweater? And what could be more

Faulty Furnace
Blamed in Deford
Basement Fire

It's a rotten time of year to have to air your blankets.

But that's what Mrs. Frank Novak of Deckerville Road had to do Tuesday as a result of a basement fire in her home near Deford Monday afternoon.

Firemen believe that the fire started as the result of a faulty furnace.

The furnace had been turned on shortly before Mrs. Novak found the fire flaming in the basement. She ordered three children, who were home with her at the time, out of the house and called the fire department.

Cass City responded with a tanker and pumper, calling for a tanker from Caro to back up fire fighters with additional water. In all, 14 firemen responded, some stationing themselves at the Cass City fire house to cover for the firemen at the fire.

The fire was brought under control in fifteen minutes. Firemen remained at the scene for two hours to be sure the blaze was dead.

There was no estimation of how much damage had been done. The fire damage was limited to the basement, but the smoke, which poured upstairs from the cellar caused a good deal of damage.

School Site Neighbors Turn
"Thumbs Down" on Annex.

Township residents, neighboring the proposed high school site on North Seeger street have given "thumbs down" to the idea of being annexed to Cass City.

The site - commonly known as the "north Donahue site" - itself, however, will be annexed by the village.

School authorities this week said that the school board would seek to have the property annexed to the village when it comes into their possession.

"It is only natural that we should," Horace Bulen, president of the school board, said. "After all, it's the village school."

The site was approved as the location for the proposed new Cass City high school at the Oct. 12 meeting of the school board.

At that time the board decided to sound out residents living around the site on their feelings about being annexed to the village.

Opening Day Sees
Better Bird Bag

The opening day of pheasant season in Tuscola and surrounding counties proved to be better than expected.

"Hunters were surprised that they saw as many birds as they did," Harold Tubb, district game commissioner said.

In Tuscola County, the game commission checked out 157 hunters who put 491 hours behind the shotgun barrel to bag 38 birds.

However, Tubb said, the game commission couldn't get a man to the Kingston area to check hunters there. This area was reported to be the best in Tuscola outside Fish Point.

At Fish Point, it was a mob scene. "They were having a picnic," the game commissioner said. Here 143 hunters spent 456 hours taking 144 birds.

Contrary to earlier estimations, the hunting season opening day was about the same as last year, Tubb said. So was the hunter pressure.

Tubb credited this to hunters flocking to areas reported to be good hunting.

Supervisors Return
To October Session

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors reconvened its October session at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday after a week-long adjournment.

Called to order on Oct. 12, the supervisors adjourned the following day to help get the harvest in.

The October meeting is scheduled to run through Friday, Oct. 23, Archie Hicks, Tuscola County Clerk, said.

The board felt that such annexation would make it easier for the board to take care of the problem of zoning the land and make provisions for sidewalks - two necessary steps to prepare the site for the high school.

"What has the village got to offer us," was the common reaction of some of these residents neighboring the site.

These residents, particularly those living on the east side of North Seeger street between the village line and the Donahue site further north, said no.

Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn of the school board contacted a number of these residents on the annexation idea.

She found out that there were several who were dead set against it.

Site neighbors, led by James MacTavish, met Monday night to discuss the school board's idea. They called Mrs. Prieskorn and told her they were against annexation.

"The school board will probably drop this idea and go for strip annexation," Mrs. Prieskorn said.

The negative reaction of these residents came as a surprise to the school board, Bulen said. "We had believed they were in favor of annexation."

The site lends itself to strip annexation.

Located north of the village on the east side of North Seeger street, the site is shaped like an inverted, upside down "L".

The bottom of the long narrow portion of the "L" touches the northeast corner of school property at the village line.

The two properties, therefore, run together.

This will permit the school board, as the sole owner of the tract, to petition the village council to have the property annexed to Cass City, Donald Crouse, school superintendent, pointed out.

Emmons Girl OK
After Severe Fall

A fourth-grade pupil at Cass City elementary school escaped serious injury Thursday when she fell on the school playground during the noon lunch hour.

Eileen Emmons, 10, of Bay City-Forestville Road, was taken to the Cass City Hospital after she toppled onto the hardtop while playing on the high bars.

She was walking on top of the high bars - a playground amusement shaped like a ladder for children to swing "monkey-fashion" on - when she slipped and fell, the school said.

She complained of pains in her back after the fall. X-rays taken at the hospital were all negative and she was taken home on Friday.

Speech Therapist's Bull's-eye:
Teach Child to Communicate

Bright and early every Monday morning, Bill Francis nods to his first class of seven smiling second graders and says, "Good morning, class."

In reply, seven cheery voices respond - in seven different ways.

Such as "ood morning, teacher," or "good m'ning, teacher," or perhaps "Good morning, leecher," or "gggg'd mmmmmorning."

These seven different greetings are due, yes, partly to the fact that they come from seven different little human beings.

But the differences are also due to the fact that each of the seven children has a speech problem.

In one way or another they have trouble doing what seems a most natural thing, talking. They have difficulty in pronouncing words or speaking sentences that make sense to the listener.

They are in Francis' class to learn just that. How to speak. That's his job. He's a speech therapist, one of five in Tuscola County. His beat is Cass City and Unionville.

His problem? How to teach a little girl, cuddled in her baby talk until school age, to say "cookie" instead of "ooie."

How to help a young fellow from a broken home answer his teacher's question about the constitution, a tense, strained lad who stutters, "ttttt bbbill of rights was written ttto gggguaranttee. . ."

To help the fourth child of a family of six children, one who hasn't had much attention paid to him by his parents, make a sentence out of "car go street."

To help a growing girl, promising in her prettiness to be most popular, project her personality with her cleft palate.

It's a terrible thing to think about, a child not being able to talk right. And "right" does not mean speaking "the King's English," or speaking without a western drawl or New England twang.

Take any certain little Tommy or Susy. At three they're the darlings of their parents' hearts. They speak in a fetching baby-lingo. They perhaps say "thomthin" for "something".

Then they go to school. In kindergarten and first grade, various teeth seem to be always missing as they get their new set of permanent teeth. So no one is bothered by the "Thomthin."

But then, in the fourth grade, everyone suddenly realizes that there is a lip, Tommy and Susy know it, their parents know it, their school friends know it.

Tommy and Susy become self-conscious and a lot starts to go wrong about life for them.

They become timid. They are afraid their friends will laugh at them, or tease them. Maybe their friends do. They hesitate to join in fun, or parties, or speak up in class. Their marks fall. They lose interest in school. They withdraw into themselves.

They may become a little mean because of the hurt and this thing they don't understand. This: "Why me? What's so funny about the way I talk? Mommy, what's wrong with me?"

So, before ever getting started on life's long road, their chance for an equal opportunity to find happiness and the rewards of a good life has been hurt.

That's what public education is all about. Giving children this equal opportunity to develop their talents and find a good life.

And that's why Cass City citizens' tax dollars go to special education. To speech therapy.

To see that all the Tommies and Susies do not fall by the wayside before they are old enough to go out on their first date.

That's what Cass City's 27-year-old therapist, a 1962 graduate of Western Michigan University - and all the others like him - has set as the goal of his life's work.

To see that all the Tommies and Susies have the right to talk right.

"There are umteen techniques used for correcting speech defects," Francis said over coffee after school one day last week.

"But they all add up to one thing. Teaching the child how to communicate. All our techniques are aimed at this one bull's-eye, the child."

School authorities noted that, while they were surprised by the reaction of the site's neighbors, annexation of their property was only a secondary concern.

"The primary concern of the school board is to provide for zoning of the property and for getting the right of way for a sidewalk," Crouse said.

Annexation of the area neighboring the site would have made it easier to take care of these matters, board members said at the Oct. 12 meeting.

The school board will appeal to the Elkland town board to zone this area so that undesirable businesses cannot locate here and spoil the site for the school, Bulen said.

Provisions for the sidewalk right of way will have to be worked out with each resident across whose property the walk will run, Crouse pointed out.

Annexation of the "L-shaped" site will answer one question which has arisen regarding the use of the village water system by the new high school.

Recently, the village council in ruling against a request for water from a township resident on the north side of the village line, said there would be no extension of the water system unless there was annexation.

The ruling was based on the principle of why should township residents get village services which they do not pay for through village taxes.

After the ruling was made, a question regarding what this would mean for a new high school at the Donahue site was raised. Annexation answers the question.

Community Chest
Up Over Last Year

First returns in the Elkland-Novesta 1964 Community Chest drive show receipts running a head of last year, Willis Campbell, drive chairman, announced.

To-date, 16-per cent of the contribution envelopes have been returned, the chairman said.

First to report in from Elkland Township was Glen Profit. First for Novesta was Philip McComb, and for Cass City, Rev. Melvin Vender.

Campbell said that the returns so far show a slight increase over last year at this time.

The 1964 goal is $7,000 and Campbell said he was confident that the community chest would reach it.

"We haven't failed to reach our goal in 14 years," he said, "and we aren't going to fall down this year."

Funds collected for the Community Chest go to support programs of mercy and social improvement.

He summed up speech therapy techniques in four steps.

There is screening, "an annual selection of who needs help and, if crowded for space, who needs help most."

This is followed by the actual classroom work, an hour each week for every pupil taking therapy.

Classroom work stresses sounds and conversations: hearing the many and various sounds, repeating them again and again, saying them and then using them in words, phrases, sentences and stories.

Classroom work is carried over from the therapy class into actual school work. Francis checks to find out if the pupils are using the "new" ways of talking or have fallen back into the old patterns. Teachers and parents are conferred with and told what they can do to help.

And finally, after "graduation" there is the follow-up phase; Francis spot checks to make sure that the pupil hasn't lapsed back into the defect in the absence of personal attention.

Each pupil is treated according to age and need.

A stutterer will be taught differently from someone who can't pronounce the letter "L."

First-graders will play "echo-me" games, but a ninth-grader will work hard at self-correction with a tape-recorder.

Graduation comes when Tommy and Susy are no longer troubled by their talking, but can chat away just like the next person about the coming movie, last week's dance or tomorrow's English assignment.

And graduate they do. Last year, Francis' Cass City enrollment was 54 pupils. He has begun this term with 48 Cass City students.

Last year, 34 of these pupils were in the first grade. Of these first-graders, only 14 are back with him this year as second graders.

In 1963 there were quite a number of fifth graders. This year there are none, while there is only one fourth grader.

Of those taking speech therapy, only nine are in the high school, for therapy does continue from kindergarten to 12th grade. This year's senior class was in elementary school when the Tuscola county therapy program began.

It almost seems like Francis is working hard to work himself out of a job. But he doesn't mind these graduations. They are his success.

"I am real happy when one of my students doesn't have to come back to my class. It means that I have done my job."

And, for Tommy and Susy, it means a brighter future, too.

4-H Service Club Tours County Jail

Faye Campbell, Caro, vice-president of the club, took charge of the business session in which special committees were appointed. Members were chosen to activate programs on membership, special events and a snow-camp.

SUGAR 'N' SPICE

'n' EVERYTHING NICE

By John Sommers

With the weather getting cooler it is time to start making cream puffs, eclairs, soft pies and all the pastries we cut out during the summer. We regularly get calls for these delicious pastries but during the summer we wish to safeguard our friends against the possibility of mishandling these delicate morsels so we just don't produce them.

Hot weather is really tough on creamed baked foods and although there is no law against producing and selling them, we feel that every precaution should be taken to protect anyone who may not realize that improper handling can lead to illness. Like any dairy or meat product, creamed baked foods require special baking and as long as you treat a cream pie or cream puff as a milk product should be cared for, you will have enjoyable eating. They should be stored under refrigeration and eaten as soon as possible.

I sure made eating cream puffs and eclairs sound dangerous but — for the more daring — we'll have them this week end at portation. I've seen some school boards do it.

Not so with the Cass City school board. In ordering a new bus, board members favored a better bus model, even if it cost more. They did so to protect the passengers.

If they didn't feel this way, it might have been a different sort of accident on Crane Road two weeks ago. The board is to be commended.

When reporting the doings of a township in up-state New York one time, there was an item which appeared on the agenda of every town board meeting for four years.

It had to do with the town getting an easement through some property to clear out a cesspool-swamp which had developed because drainage had been upset by a housing project.

It was known as the "Tyron Easement." For four years the board carried the item over and nothing was ever done about it. It became, in fact, a joke among reporters and board members.

One of my first assignments in Cass City was to find out how the work on finding a new home for the fire department is coming along.

Last week, in writing up the "Down Memory Lane" column for the Chronicle, I came across an item in an Oct. 1959 issue. The item had to do with the progress being made on finding a new home for the fire department, needed in order to expand the department and keep fire insurance rates down.

I wondered, when I saw the item in the 1959 issue, whether I had stumbled on this community's "Tyron Easement." There always is one in a community.

Red Hawk Rumble Holds Eagles 7-7

Frankenmuth might have fought hard Friday, but whatever victory there is in a 7-7 tie must go to the Red Hawk eleven.

Underdogged and outweighed on that lovely, mild Indian summer evening, the Red Hawks outflowed and outfought the big Frankenmuth Eagles to the cheers of a large homecoming crowd.

In doing so, the Hawks smashed Frankenmuth's winning streak, chewed up the Eagles offense with brilliant defensive play and outran and outplayed the Eagles on offense.

But for the "breaks," and a number of ill-timed fumbles, the Hawks might have copped the game.

Twice the homecoming crowd was brought roaring to its feet as fleetfooted Carl Weippert, right-halfback, scooted for the goal line on 50-yard runs.

Weippert ran up an enviable average of 11.5 yards in the 15 times he carried the ball. He gained 172 yards of the total 224 yards gained in the Red Hawks' offensive.

Frankenmuth was held to a total of 141 yards.

From the start it was evident that the Red Hawks were not going to pay attention to Frankenmuth's record of an average of 28 points per game this season.

On the first series of plays after receiving the kickoff, Cass City sent Weippert off the left side of scrimmage at their own 28 yard line.

He got the blocks, dodged free of the secondary, and was off for six points until spilled at the last moment on Frankenmuth's 18 yard line by a desperate Eagle.

But Cass City was unable to forge further.

Those who had predicted a defeat for the Hawks looked, for a moment, as if they were right in the second quarter.

After a series of punt exchanges and Cass City fumbles, the Eagles wound up with first down and ten to go on the Hawks' 15 yard line.

Found away as they did, they got nowhere. Cass City took over and started pounding back. They also got nowhere. But, on third down, the Hawks fumbled and their opponents recovered on the Hawks' 12 yard line.

Again, Cass City held the Eagles for three downs. Then, on the fourth, a quick pitch-out to the left sent an Eagle back scoting over the goal line. The kick for the extra point was successful.

The Hawks, however, did not crumble in the face of Frankenmuth's drawing first blood. In fact, it was the Hawks' game after that.

Receiving the kick-off at the beginning of the second half, Cass City began a drive on Frankenmuth's 49-yard line that took them to a touchdown.

A pass from Quarterback Ed Retherford to left end Al Wallace was good for 27 of these 49 yards. David Schember, left halfback, added another 10 yards.

A series of line plunges brought the Hawks to the goal line, and Robert Rabideau, fullback, pushed over for the score.

Dropping back to pass for the extra point, Retherford found no receivers and ran the extra point instead.

The fourth period was dominated by the defense as each team failed, in turn, to make first downs and was forced to kick.

However, Weippert once again broke loose for a 55-yard dash. Again he was pulled down just short of the goal. Again Cass City failed to go the remaining distance.

Red Hawk Coach Oarie Leman-ski said that his team had played one of the best defensive games he has seen since he has been coaching football.

"It was tremendous ball," the coach said.

He credited the Red Hawks' prowess Friday to the team's continuing improvement during the season. It now has a two win, one loss, one tie conference record.

Friday, the Hawks will tackle the conference leaders, the big, bad bravos of Bad Axe who have chalked up a "four wins - no losses" conference record.

Cass City now is third in the league with Frankenmuth in second place.

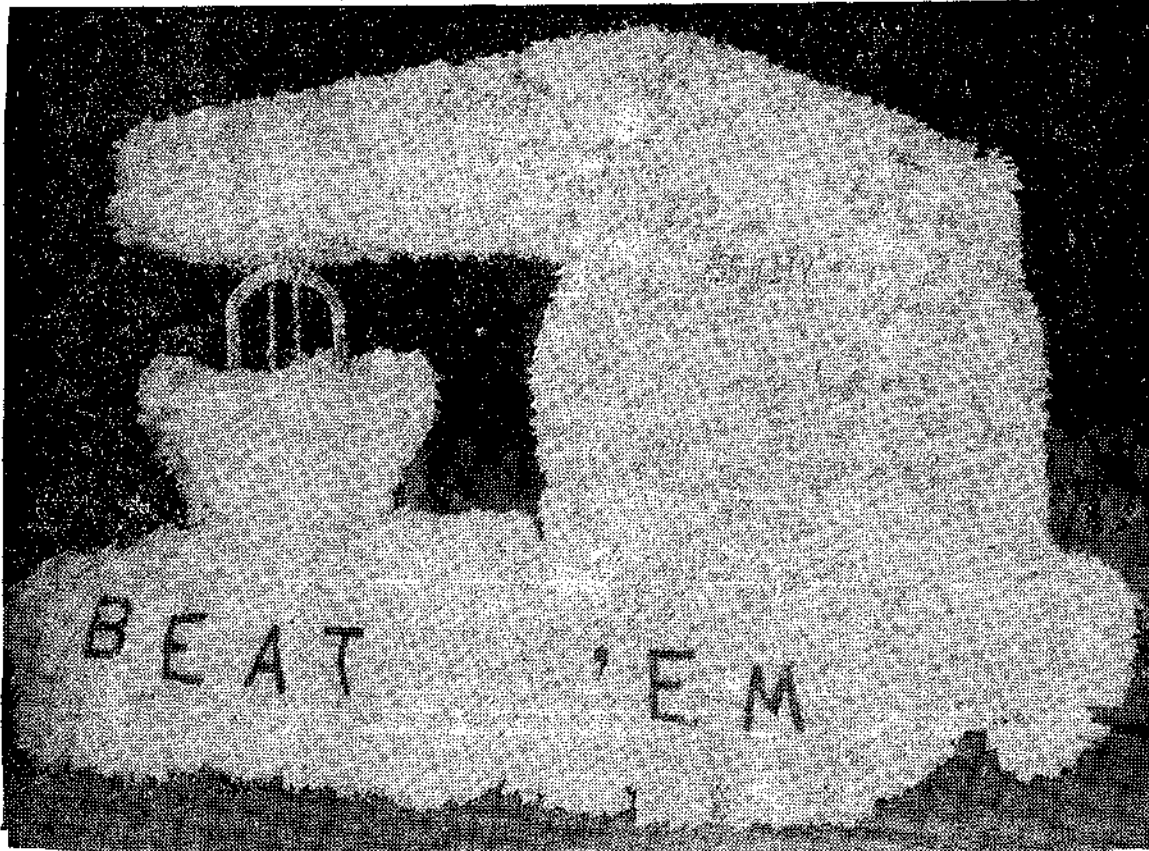

If a lot of "ifs" are taken into consideration, however, Cass City still could come out on top, the coach said.

During half-time Friday, the homecoming crowd was treated to the annual float parade of Cass City High School. The junior class' "Beat-um" mixer float was named the winner.

Ruled by Queen Barbara Bustamante, the Homecoming Court drew many praises from the sidelines for its loveliness.

Three Backing Accidents Make for Black Monday

A fatal car collision northwest of Bay City brought tragedy to Mrs. James Walker of this area.

Her grandson, James L. Sparling, 21, of 165 Lolls Lane, Bay City, was killed in a two car crash Sunday morning on US 23 between Pinconning and Kawkawlin.

Also dead was Evelyn M. Dora, 21, of Omer, who was riding in Sparling's car when it collided with a car driven by Walter Martin Jr., 46, of Birmingham.

According to state troopers, the accident apparently happened when Sparling, who was traveling north on US 23, attempted to make a U-turn and was struck by Martin, who also was going north.

Martin and two passengers in his car were hospitalized in Bay City's Mercy hospital.

Local Accidents

A two car collision took place at the intersection of Main and Weaver streets in Cass City Sunday evening between Robert Doerr, 16, and Ronald Heck, 17 of Elkton.

According to Cass City Patrolman William McKinley, the accident occurred when Doerr, making a right turn onto Weaver, was struck by Heck's vehicle as Heck tried to pass him on the right. Heck was carrying five teen-age passengers.

On Monday morning, a truck, backed out of the Frutchee Company's elevator yard on Main Street by Daniel R. Booms, 20, of Harbor Beach, struck the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Helen Schultz, 30, of Port Hope.

Cass City's 63rd accident of the year happened at 8:15 p. m. Monday with Police Chief Carl Palm-mater investigating.

Backing away from the south Main Street curb, Raymond V. Barrett, 41, of Millington, struck a car being driven by Martha A.

Zawilinski of Cass City. Mrs. Zawilinski was treated by a local physician.

A third accident took place Monday afternoon when Donald A. Russell, 46, of Unionville, backed out of a parking space on Leach Street, and hit a car coming north on Leach Street driven by Thelma New, 44, also of Unionville.

Also on Monday occurred the eighth accident in Cass City causing personal injury.

Kathleen Kain, 19, of Gage-town, and five-year-old William Allen Shagena, of Cass City, both sustained minor injuries when Miss Kain struck a car being driven by Mrs. Don Shagena on Leach Street Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Shagena, going north on Leach Street, was attempting to make a left turn when her car was hit in the back by Miss Kain's vehicle, also traveling north.

The child was a passenger in his mother's car.

Guilds to Celebrate 25th Anniversary

An open house, honoring the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Guild, will be held Sunday, Oct. 25, at their home at 4318 Leach Street, Cass City. Given by their family, the open house will be from 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Mary (Mayme) Strickland and Alvin Guild were married in Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 23, 1939. She is the daughter of Mrs. Eva Bair of Cass City. Mr. Guild is employed at General Insulated Wire Works in Cass City.

The couple have two daughters, Mrs. Elwyn (Joyce) Bradley of Caro, and Mrs. Kenneth (Linda) Rosenstangel of Gagetown, and one son, Gerald, of Cass City. They also have one grandson, Dale Allen Bradley.

Mrs. Guild is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Half-Dollars Are AWOL in Cass City Coinage Survey

Dimes may be scarce in Dearborn. Paw Paw might be poor in pennies. In Naubinway, now, no one may have a nickel. As for quarters, people in Quinnesec perhaps haven't seen one in a coin's age.

But right here in Cass City, people are hurting for the big, round, solid piece of change known as the half dollar.

They are missing that heavy, substantial 50-cents worth of pecuniary power that feels so good and rich and full of security—as a good coin should—when jingling in the pants pocket or bouncing in the bottom of a purse amid lipstick, comb and compact. Begging, borrowing or stealing won't do anyone any good.

There is a national coin shortage. And in Cass City, the result is that the half-dollar has taken French leave.

The four-bit piece has flown the coop, as it were, gone over the hill.

Customers getting change from a dollar for the first cup of coffee in the morning find themselves getting a handful of quarters and dimes.

But they get nowhere. It seems the Fed's don't have any either.

Why, mid-morning last Thursday, Freiburgers had only three half dollars in the till.

The Cass City State Bank began that day with a roll of 50-cent pieces that amounted to $10, or 20 coins to divide among Main Street's many businesses.

The cash-register cup for half-dollars in Martin's Restaurant was emptied at 12:45 p.m.

"We've had quite a bit of difficulty getting half dollars," William Ruhl, cashier at the Pinney State Bank, said from behind a drawer full of greenbacks.

"We order halves every week and are turned down," C. M. Wallace, cashier at the Cass City Bank, said. "We just can't get any."

Go and Don't Come Back
Is the half dollar a vital coin in the realm of Cass City's economy? Has its shortage slowed down the wheels of commerce here?

"When you haven't got them" Ruhl said of the importance of the half-a-buck piece, "it seems everybody wants them."

"The merchants want them to make change with," was Wallace's reply to the economy question.

The last 4,000 fifty-cent pieces the Cass City State Bank have handled have been Kennedy half dollars.

"They never come back," Wallace said.

"You find out for me where they go," Ruhl said. "We give them out and keep giving them out and they never come back."

But for this nagging absence of the half dollar, Cass City is otherwise solvent.

There are enough pennies to change nickels, nickels for dimes, dimes for quarters and quarters for the dollar bill.

Both bankers immediately credited this fact to the Bauer Candy Company which, through its coin machines, keeps the river of coins flowing in the city.

"We are fairly well off," Ruhl said of the other coinage, "because of the Bauer canteen service."

"The company rolls carts of coins into the banks," Wallace said, "but none of them are half-dollars," he added.

For merchants, September was the month of crises. Half dollars were as hard to come by as gold Eagles.

According to merchants, things seem to be easing up slightly this month. No one knows why, anymore than they know why there is a shortage.

Some authorities blame the collectors. Congress has passed a law to continue 1964 mint dates on 1965 coins to kill hoarding of possibly valuable 1964 coins by collectors.

But down at the Cass City Lunchroom, which every weekday noon becomes a noisy arena as high school students rush in for hamburgers and fries, Mrs. Hazel Giroux says the youngsters have eased her shortage of the half dollars.

"Half dollars were hard to get last month," she said. "But now, with the kids coming in, it isn't so bad."

Martin's Restaurant follows an easy come, easy go policy. If there are half dollars in the till, they are used to make change. If not, change is made with what's on hand.

While other coins are numerous enough to grease the wheels of daily business transactions, still the Pinney State Bank won't exchange $30 in bills for $30 worth of pennies.

Things just aren't that good. And in the Cass City State Bank, the demand for silver dollars cannot be met.

Of the last $1,000 worth of these dollars ordered by the bank, the Federal Reserve has supplied only $100.

So, people who want a pile of them to please their parents on their silver wedding anniversary are suffering.

The coin shortage is such a plague that the means needed to end it—particularly now that Christmas shopping season is just ahead—was the first order of business at a meeting of bankers from all over the state in Lansing on Oct. 15.

The man who keeps pace with his good intentions has to be the world's greatest sprinter.

Harry King Hired To Haul Students

Harry King, Gagetown police chief, has been hired by the Intermediate School District to transport nine Cass City area handicapped or retarded children to their respective schools.

Covering 210 miles a day in four trips, King hauls the children to Darby, Akron, Carpenter and Caro Elementary schools.

King, who uses his own car, reports that a bus will probably be installed on the run later.

Final Rites Held for Mrs. Hazard

Funeral services for Mrs. Cora Striffler Hazard, a resident of Cass City for more than 60 years, were held Wednesday, Oct. 21, in Little's Funeral Home.

Rev. James Braid, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Cass City, officiated at the services. Mrs. Hazard was buried in the Elkland Cemetery.

She died Monday, Oct. 19, in the Stevens Nursing Home where she had been a patient for five months. She had been in ill health for the past year.

Mrs. Hazard was born on February 3, 1871, in Manitowoc, Wis. In 1900 she married G. A. Striffler in Wisconsin. The couple then moved to Cass City to make their home.

Mr. Striffler died in 1945. On Nov. 9, 1954, she married Willet V. Hazard in Marysville, Ohio. Following their marriage, they also made their home here.

Mrs. Hazard is survived by her husband, a son, Irvine Striffler of Marysville, Ohio; one step-daughter, Mrs. Samuel Smith of Pontiac; one grandchild, three step-grandchildren and six step-great-grandchildren.

Player of Week

He hits hard. Whether it's throwing a block or throwing the opponent's full back, Jim Knoblet hits hard. That's why he was chosen as the Red Hawks' player of the week.

A senior, this is Jim's third year on the team. He plays right tackle on offense and middle line backer on defense. Both mean he is always in the middle of the action, hitting hard. He hits the books hard, too. He's a 3.8 student.

Schools Feel Freeze Will Favor Planning

Tuscola County school boards - including Cass City's - are this year supporting a move which does not seem to make sense at the first glance.

They are in favor of having the pocketbooks put in the deep freeze. They seem to be saying they don't want more tax money.

The idea of the freeze is contained in a proposition which will be voted on by county residents in the coming election.

The proposition calls for an end to the annual division of "the tax spoils" by the county tax allocation board when it cuts up the 15 mill pie.

In place of this annual rite of dispensing the county's wealth on the basis of who can convince the allocation board it has the bigger need, the four county organizations which live off taxes would be given a permanent millage rate.

In the future, these organizations could look forward to neither higher nor lower rates - unless otherwise voted on in referendums.

As spelled out in the proposition, these permanent limitations would be set as follows: for the county, 4.20 mills; the townships, 1.65 mills; the intermediate school districts, .15 mills, and for the school districts, nine mills.

If adopted, school districts in the future would never get more nor less than nine mills.

Heretofore, it has been up to the tax allocation board to award millage to interested parties on the basis of need and money available.

Thus, when county education was in need of money, the board could increase the millage, thus channeling more tax money into education.

Equally, the board could subtract from the school millage in face of other, more pressing county needs.

The school boards have grown tired of this horse-trading system for yearly filling their pocketbooks in order to meet the bill for education.

It has not provided solid ground for good planning, they feel.

Simply, school districts are unable to draw up new budgets until they hear how much the allocation board will grant them.

And often, they have to have a budget planned long before the tax allocation board makes up its mind.

Cass City Superintendent Donald Crouse pointed out that the school district's position is based on the same principle that guides a person budgeting his own income.

"You can't buy a car unless you have an income," he said. "And you can't know how much to spend on a car unless you know how much you are going to make."

"Rather than to dicker over rates," Crouse said, "the school boards believe that it would be better if there were a definite plan on which we could base our own planning for the coming year."

As an example, he noted that Cass City must offer contracts to its teachers by March 1 of any given year.

This means that the school board must have approved a salary schedule for that coming year before March 1.

The allocation board's division of the 15 mills it has within its control does not happen until long after the March 1 deadline for teachers' contracts.

This means that school boards have to make an educated guess as to what their tax income will be.

A wrong guess can leave them with a stack of unpaid bills. Or, it can leave them with an embarrassing surplus in the treasury which has to be explained to a tax-tired public.

The "division of the mills" method has been like "playing a game of chance," the Cass City superintendent said.

The nine mills limitation set in the proposition was adopted because it has been the millage awarded to the school districts for the past several years, Crouse said.

Woman Charged Following School Bus Accident

Mrs. Margaret Lee Northrup, 39, of 3809 Nottingham, Midland, has been charged with felonious driving by the County Sheriff's office.

The charge stems from an accident Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 14, when Mrs. Northrup's car struck and seriously hurt a six-year old child who was getting off a school bus.

The child, Leroy A. Keipinger, 2886 West Saginaw Road, Fremont township, is in serious condition in the St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw where he was taken following the accident.

He suffered a fractured skull and fractures of his right arm, left thigh and right leg as a result of the accident.

The tragedy occurred in front of the child's home. The school bus, heading east on West Saginaw Road, had stopped to let him off.

Approaching from the west, Mrs. Northrup, who told deputy sheriffs she was looking for a road sign, did not notice the stopped school bus until it was too late.

She applied her brakes but was unable to stop in time. Her car hit Leroy, who had come from behind the bus to cross the road.

Mrs. Northrup's car skidded 154 feet before stopping. Leroy was carried 100 feet from the point of impact.

She has been released on $100 bond pending her examination, the sheriff's office said.

Mrs. Lyle Clarke presented the awards with Ed Schrader, county 4-H extension agent, assisting.

The next meeting is slated at the home of Keith Russell.

Vassar Man Jailed For Drunk Driving

David L. Leonard, 22, of 221 Water Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to drunken driving Saturday in Justice Frank Rolka's Court in Caro.

Leonard was fined $100, charged with $6.25 in costs, and given a five day jail sentence.

He was arrested by deputy sheriffs Friday night during their investigation of an accident on M-15, a half mile south of Vassar, in which Leonard's car collided with one driven by William DeJournett of Flint.

VIVID IMAGINATION

People are sometimes victims of lots of misplaced confidence—in themselves.

To be successful sacrifice money, but never principle.

A refugee boy in Karachi, Pakistan, is symbolic of the many people in need who receive help through CROP, the Christian Rural Overseas Program. The poster calls attention to the community-wide CROP appeal which each year provides such help as high protein foods, emergency supplies, tools, seeds, and other self-help materials to needy people through the overseas programs of the churches.

CROP is one of many agencies which is supported by the Elkland-Novesta Township Community Chest.

Thena Becomes Leader Dog

Thena, a collie-shepherd cross presented by the Cass City Lions to the Rochester Leader Dog for the Blind School last spring, has been graduated as a full-fledged leader dog, club members learned Monday night at their regular meeting at Martin's Restaurant.

The dog was given to the Lions Club by Dr. and Mrs. James H. Ballard of Cass City. In a letter to the Ballards, Harold L. Pocklington, Leader Dog executive director, stated, "you can be justifiably proud of 'Thena' for, as you know, not more than 30 per cent of all dogs accepted actually complete Leader Dog training."

"One more deserving blind person has been placed back in the mainstream of life - because of your generosity," he concluded. The dog was given to Elmer F.

Fornoff, a Michigan blind person.

Ed St. Onge, Dist. Dept. governor, was the featured speaker of the evening, outlining club activities for the coming year.

St. Onge, a Crosswell businessman, also installed Al Witherpoon, a Cass City insurance salesman, as a new member in the local club.

Final mopping up of the club's annual broom sale is expected to take place sometime this weekend. So far, the sale had grossed $923, according to Pres. Alger Freiburger.

In other business, the group voted to contribute $15.00 to Welcome Home for the Blind and $10.00 to the Michigan Eye Bank. Also approved was payment of the Lions bowling team fee and purchase of shirts.

Supervisor Johnson, Chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee submitted the following recommendations:

McALLISTER
Concluded from page one. Supreme Court Administrator, and Probate Judge Henderson Graham.

The testimony was never completed because Meredith Doyle, Court Administrator was unable to attend any meetings other than the first one. When he could not arrange to attend any other meetings, the Committee recommended to the House of Representatives that it should not adopt a resolution recommending the removal of Judge Henderson Graham as Judge of Probate of Tuscola County.

The House of Representatives voted on the resolution and by a vote of 105 to 3 the House rejected the resolution recommending the removal of Judge Henderson Graham, which constituted an acquittal of Judge Henderson Graham of the charges preferred against him.

After Judge Graham's acquittal the Supreme Court restrained him from performing the duties of his office.

The Supreme Court has never claimed at any time that it had the right to remove Judge Graham by the court's own authority.

Under the new Constitution, Judge Henderson Graham is an incumbent Probate Judge. He need not be a lawyer to be re-elected to that office. The ballot prepared by the Tuscola County Election Committee has designated him as Judge of Probate on the ballot. He is qualified to serve and he has been ready, able and willing to do so at all times.

I am sure you will be pleased to present the contents of this letter which I feel is justified because of your article published in your paper October 15th."

HUNTING
Concluded from page one. Areas checked in Huron County showed 233 hunters taking 105 birds while in Sanilac County, 98 birds were bagged by 130 hunters on the first day.

ROMNEY
Concluded from page one. Included in the blitz-motorcade will be Allison Green, candidate for secretary of state and Meyer Warshawsky, candidate for attorney general.

Also present will be the two GOP candidates running to represent Cass City and environs in the state legislature: Senator Frank D. Beadle representing the 28th District and Roy L. Spencer, running for state representative from the 78th district.

The rally will feature hard hitting appeals for voter support from these candidates, and other state and local candidates, as the campaign goes down to the wire, Mantey said.

In connection with the rally, the Tuscola County Young Republicans will meet at County GOP Headquarters Thursday, October 22, to make their final plans for their part in the rally, James White, County Young Republican chief, said.

SWEATER

So she picked up knitting again to pass time. But, with a vengeance. A sweater, with 30 flags having all the colors that come in the book except maybe magenta, is not "plain knitting."

It's not too difficult," she says. But, there are times. "All the yarn gets tangled up and I have a hard time keeping the colors straight," she said with a modest smile as she showed off the neat job of heraldry she's done so far.

She opened the pattern booklet she has been using as her guide. "See, they give you all these flags to choose from," she said as she held up a knitting map for national flags.

"They give you 50 to choose from." Why, there's this country's of course, and Sweden's and Siam's and Italy's and Egypt's, and Brazil's and India's and Guatemala's and Ethiopia's and . . .

"But they don't have a Chinese flag, or a Nigerian either," she said with disappointment in her voice.

And these are important flags for her.

"I'm just going to have to make them up as I go, and hope for the best," she said. By a Chinese flag she means the sun-banner that now flutters over Formosa, her husband's homeland after he fled from Shanghai before the Communist take-over of the mainland.

And Nigeria is important, too. She has Nigerian friends.

Such as Mrs. Abe Sabbah and her bouncing boy, Tunji, who are visiting the Kelleys too.

It hadn't been for Mr. Sabbah, who brought Mr. Song to the Kelley home for a visit when they were both fellow students in college in Iowa, then Mrs. Song wouldn't be here now.

And Susy wouldn't have had her sweater. And there would never have been this story to tell.

Time Out . . .

FOR SOME THOUGHTS ABOUT TIME

As we have watched the Olympic Games this year, we have been made aware of just how long a few seconds can be. For the first time, a Japanese firm designed and manufactured the official timepieces.

TIME magazine revealed the following: When the Olympic Committee asked whether a Japanese firm was capable of providing the timepieces, Hattori & Co., Ltd., unveiled 1,300 ingenious time devices. They ranged from nine varieties of split-second stop watches to an electronic judge of swimming events that: 1) clocks swimmers to 1/10,000th of a second; 2) memorizes individual lap times of up to nine swimmers at a time; 3) prints all scores on a sheet of paper the instant a race is over, thus eliminating time-consuming human calculation.

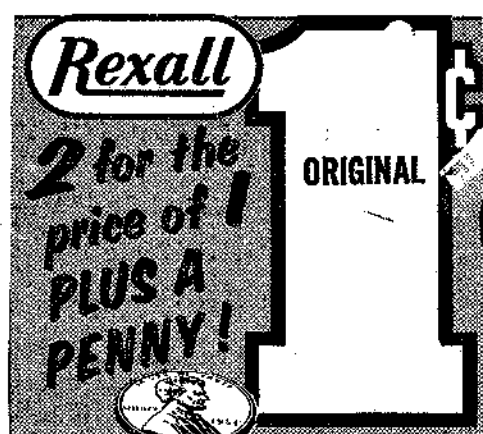

We do not have many requests for such timepieces, but if your watch is used for such precise timing, we can sure do many things to insure its well doing at

Services Held for Former Ubyly Youth

Funeral services for Robert J. Davis, 18, of Utica, a former area resident, were held Tuesday in the Zinger Funeral Home, Ubyly. Burial was in Ubyly's Valley Cemetery.

The youth moved from Ubyly with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis, eight years ago. He was drowned Friday, Oct. 16, while setting minnow traps along the banks of the St. Joseph River at a dam in Sheridan Township near Union City.

His body was discovered by a companion, Leo Beaudoin, 38, of Utica, in less than 30 inches of water. Beaudoin tried artificial respiration to no avail. An autopsy showed that Mr. Davis had water and vegetation in his lungs.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, William, two sisters, Dixie Lee and Susan, all of Utica, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alma Davis of Ubyly.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1964

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

Ever Hear of Robert Tiffany?

By Dave Kraft

Robert Tiffany, this is your life... all five weeks of it. You were created in the minds of Caro Coaches Clare McDurmon and Gordon Rinkquist to harass and frustrate one principal's secretary who made the mistake of boasting that her files were always in order.

In this respect, Robert Tiffany, your life was a success.

This might be the prologue to a television program that will never happen because Robert Tiffany never was, although he did happen.

It gets my cheers as the best practical joke played in recent years in that it was carried off straight-faced with the aid of several co-conspirators.

It happened in May 1960, according to Mrs. Dan Lukasavitz of Cass City, the victim of the ruse.

Coach Rinkquist reported to Mrs. Lukasavitz that a rather unsavory youth named Robert Tiffany had reported to him and he didn't have any books or schedule or nuthin'.

Shouldn't he be registered? "Of course he should be. Send him down," and with these few words, Mrs. Lukasavitz took the hook on a practical joke that is still half-heartedly kicked around.

Robert never made it to the office and for five weeks he never made it to the office. He was reported smoking in school, he hit McDurmon in the head with a tennis racket and he was always getting out of school because of illness. He did, however, make the honor roll.

Finally, Mrs. Lukasavitz' boss let her in on the secret but not before she was worn to a frazzle trying to locate Robert.

She laughs about it now, but she wasn't laughing then.

A little later in the year, one of the custodians dressed the science department's skeleton in discarded lost and found clothes and set him in front of Mrs. Lukasavitz' filing cabinet. She knew immediately, she says, that this was Robert Tiffany.

She says she still gets attendance slips in every now and then with Robert's name on them and every now and then a loudspeaker at some athletic event will blare out a call for Robert Tiffany... but he never answers.

In other club news, the group met Thursday night, Oct. 8, at the home of Mrs. Peters. Mrs. James Braid reported on the East Central District Convention of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs in Davison Oct. 7-8.

Mrs. Damm reported that 427 calendars were sold in the recent campaign. Top saleswomen were Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Don Hutchinson, Mrs. Richard Czekai and Mrs. Damm.

Kritzman Awarded Merit Certificate

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ever once in a while they get some feller on television that's trying to put a carload of education on a wheelbarrow brain. Last night, for instance, they had this perferless talking on the subject of "family relations." Ordinary, I don't listen to such junk, but my old lady was working the controls and what my old lady tunes in, let no man turn asunder. At my house it just ain't good "family relations."

Any how, this feller allowed as how the biggest mistake the American housewife makes is just not accepting her husband for what he is. They was at least two things wrong with that statement. First off, most wimmen accept their husband for what he is, but the great problem is they still got to accept him for what he thinks he is. That makes a big difference, Mister Editor.

In the second place, this feller kept talking about the American "housewife" this and that. I know most wimmen use that word when they fill out Government forms and appear on these give-away programs. But actual, they wasn't many wimmen that stays in the house anymore. Farmers and ranchers wives was still a fair to middling housewife, but even they was gitting more and more out of the house and into the car. What we're gitting in this country today is the "car-wife" and this perferless was running too late with too little. In his little talk last night he overlooked about four good opportunities to set down.

But my old lady thought it was fine, and for the sake of good "family relations," I agreed with her one hundred per cent.

I'm always glad when them high brow fellers gits off the picture and some good old stomp-down spittoon politician comes on. They talk in a tongue I can understand. Most of the time he's telling lies and I know he's telling lies and he knows I know and it gives us both a good feeling of mutual understanding and enjoyment. I git the same feeling when a feller singing grand opera goes off the screen and they brine on Tennessee Ernie singing "Mule Train." But incidental, Mister Editor, they push the pendulum a little too far when they come on with them Beatles hollering "Yeh! Yeh! Yeh!"

And speaking of such matters, I was reading in the papers the other day where some sykitryist from Harvard was claiming by the year 2000 everybody on earth would be half insane. That ain't but 36 years off and I don't believe, Mister Editor, folks can hold out that long if we git many more world-wide movements like the Beatles, foreign aid and General DeGaulle. Personal, I won't be here, so I'll let you worry.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Sayre Speaks For Many Citizens

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

I think Dean Sayre of the Washington Cathedral in our nation's capitol speaks for many citizens concerned about this year's presidential elections. The Dean, a grandson of President Woodrow Wilson, was born in the White House and has never hesitated to raise political issues in the pulpit. According to a Washington newspaper (you remember, one of those things we used to have a boy deliver), Dean Sayre termed the selection between President Johnson and Senator Goldwater a "sterile choice."

He went on to point out that both conventions were dominated by one man: "the one a man of dangerous ignorance and devastating uncertainty, the other a man whose public house is splendid . . . but whose private lack of ethics must inevitably introduce termites at the very foundation."

Many good people with whom I have talked are politically restless, like the rest of us, balking at giving our vote away in a "sterile choice." Or, so it seems to me.

"Church and State," a monthly magazine which specializes in news of churches which influence public figures to vote for benefits to individual denominations, reported in its September (1964) issue that it just might be that the Vatican will ease the church's stand on birth control. In the face of our world today, many churches have taken steps, not only to permit the use of devices for birth control as a legitimate manner in which married couples could diminish the birth rate without diminishing sexual expressions of love, but to deliver women from being merely agents for the babies needed by the economy. The Methodist Church has recognized the need for some form of effective birth control for nearly 20 years now, and is not the only Protestant denomination to do so. Any loosening of the Roman Catholic teaching on this subject will do much, not only for its own people, but will bring churches together on one more important teaching of the faith. Or, so it seems to me.

State Board of Education Is New, Very Powerful Unit

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
New Power

Far down the list of officers on the Nov. 3 ballot will be a group of contestants for the new State Board of Education, a very powerful unit under the 1963 Constitution.

The Constitution makes the eight-member body responsible for "leadership and general supervision over all public education... except as to institutions of higher education granting baccalaureate degrees..."

"It shall serve as the general planning and coordinating body for all public education, including higher education, and shall advise the legislature as to the financial requirements in connection therewith," the document continues.

Four short paragraphs of the Constitution gives this board control over about one billion dollars in state funds for various institutions.

With the exception of the 10 degree-granting public colleges and universities, the State Board of Education will hold tight control over the regular public schools, vocational training institutions, community and junior colleges and facilities for special education.

The present Superintendent of Public Instruction will be replaced by an executive officer appointed by this board, serving a term to be determined by the board.

On the ballot this fall are candidates seeking to initiate the first policies of the State Board of Education. They will serve staggered terms ranging from two to eight years, but eventually each member will be elected to an eight year term.

Appointment powers of the board also extend to the creation of a State Board for Public Community and Junior Colleges, and advisory body designed to serve in this ever-growing area of higher education.

Community and junior colleges will remain under supervision and control of locally elected boards by dictate of the Constitution, but the State Board is given power of general supervision and planning for these institutions. State funds to these schools will go through the State Board.

The extensive powers given to this board by the Constitution requires close attention by the voters to the candidates this year and in the future.

This board will be responsible for an area of public concern which is more important today than ever before and undoubtedly will continue to hold this importance as years pass.

Although nominated on a partisan basis at conventions, members elected to this board are being given a free hand with a valuable tool which requires non-partisan thought and action.

Double Growth

Good news for Michigan workers and businessmen alike was confirmed recently by the Department of Economic Expansion.

In case some had not been otherwise affected by economic growth and employment opportunities in the last few years, Department Director B. M. Conboy announced that state industries are expanding this year at a rate about twice that of 1963.

The total comparison of major construction during the first eight months of the year showed contracts totaling nearly $1.5 billion, or slightly less than twice as much as in all of 1963, Conboy said.

"Even more encouraging than the total comparison is a two-fold increase in construction contracts for manufacturing plants," he said.

A longer range report on recent economic activity in Michigan also was favorable.

Conboy said Michigan had 2,226 "favorable moves" by industry in the past 7 1/2 years as compared with 511 "unfavorable moves." The department considers moves into the state, expansion activity, new starts and reopening in the "favorable moves" classification.

Bridges Slippery

Below normal temperatures and frequent intermittent rains in the past few weeks have brought to mind the perennial motoring problem of icy overpasses and bridges on highways.

Highway Department studies show there are about 2,800 overpasses which tend to become icy while adjacent roads remain dry. Cold winds circulating air over and under the bridges cools the surface and cause any moisture present to freeze into a thin layer of ice not always apparent to the eye.

One sign of freezing can be noted if metal signs near bridges and overpasses are frosted when the highway appears dry, highway experts advise.

All attempts to insulate bridge decks against this early freeze driving hazard have been unsuccessful so the motorists' awareness and caution are the only deterrents to dangerous accidents.

Supervisors Attend Annual Meet Friday

Congressman Jim Harvey was the principal speaker at the Michigan Townships Association's Eighth Congressional District annual meeting Friday, Oct. 9, at the St. Clair River Country Club, St. Clair.

Township supervisors from Huron, Saginaw, St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties attended to hear and discuss legislative matters on the Federal, state and local level.

Congressman Harvey's address featured a report on the important developments in the 88th Congress which just adjourned.

Mrs. Knapp Hosts First WSC Meeting

Mrs. A. J. Knapp was hostess Oct. 13 for the opening meeting of the season of the Woman's Study Club.

Mrs. B. F. Benkelman presided over a short business meeting.

Mrs. Ward Atkins of Marlette, East Central District president, was the speaker and chose for her theme "What is Happiness?"

The meeting was terminated with a tea served by the reception committee.

Mrs. Harold Perry will be hostess for the next meeting, to be held Oct. 27.

THE TRUTH ABOUT GRAHAM

TO OUR FELLOW CITIZENS:

The bone of contention in the race for the office of Probate Judge is the fitness of Henderson Graham to hold the office. This is so because, by his official behavior, Graham has created the issue himself.

The people of this county are unfamiliar with a question of this sort. For never before in all the history of Tuscola County has a judge of a court of record, by his conduct, moved the highest court of this state to treat him as unclean, drive him from office and quarantine 1962, by an order.

"enjoining respondent (Graham) from exercising powers and duties of judge of probate, or in any way, directly or indirectly, interfering with or impeding the orderly operation of said office or in any way attempting to direct or control the course of any proceedings in the probate court of Tuscola County." * * *

Still there are those who are for him. But there are also those who are not for him. For these the judgment of the Supreme Court upon him means something. It has shaken them. What they found in that judgment was strange and quite shocking.

The fact is that Graham, while acting as Probate Judge, had in his court the estate of a young lady just under 21 years, and, as a minor, under guardianship. The estate amounted to $20,000 and consisted, for the most part, of damages paid her for the loss of her father and her mother in an automobile accident. This $20,000 Graham, the Probate Judge who controlled the estate and who had himself appointed the guardian, tried to get the use of in exchange for his and his wife's unsecured promissory note. If the guardian insisted on it she could have the judge's mortgage, too, but it was not to be recorded so the people would know about it.

Graham attempted to lay his hands on this money in secret. To accomplish his design, he drove to Detroit twice, and was caught at it.

This is one of the things some of those who are not now for him, discovered in that judgment on Graham. They also discovered something else.

A man had brought to Probate Court $3,650 belonging to one who had died. For eleven months no administrator was appointed to take charge of this money under bond. After the appointment was finally made, the administrator, asking for the money, received from Graham, not $3,650 but $2,990. We continue the story in the words of the Supreme Court:

"* * * On the first occasion thereafter, when Mr. Sirdan (the administrator) asked for the balance, respondent (Graham) asked I'll have a check in the mail shortly. No check was sent. Still again Mr. Sirdan asked the judge for the balance. The judge replied: You don't need the money too bad right now, and I'll have it to you shortly. It was not until the estate was ready for closing and distribution that respondent (Graham) paid the balance and, being in doubt respecting the amount owing by him to the estate did so by his personal 'blank check' sent to the attorney for the estate. The latter was to compute what was due from the estate and to fill out the check as to amount, which he did."

These then are the facts as the Supreme Court found them after a full public hearing.

"* * * We cannot help," the court lamented, "noting with a feeling of shame, the secrecy this judge of a court of record employed as he sought to take over and apply to his own use, funds of which he was a primary, as well as judicial, trustee."

These are the scandalous facts upon which the highest court of our state, all seven justices concurring (the eighth not sitting), denounced Henderson Graham, and forbade him from further serving as Probate Judge of Tuscola County, Michigan.

Now, then, fellow citizens, who will be so bold as to say that if Graham is elected, the Supreme Court will allow him to serve? If, elected, the Supreme Court will allow him to continue the ban against him, he might be collecting his $9,500 annual salary for the next six years ($57,000) for nothing, just as he has not blushed to accept it since his ouster from service on May 17, 1962.

Let us ponder! Let us vote for C. BATES WILLS for Probate Judge.
