Meat Inspection Code Discussed at Meeting

The need of a uniform meat inspection code was the center of discussion last Tuesday at the meeting of the Green Acres Farm Bureau.

Kenneth McRae led the 12 members, who attended the meeting, in this discussion of the pros and cons of such meat inspection regulations.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Bouck. Chairman Ron Fox opened the meeting and Mrs. Bouck read the secretary's report.

Mrs. Ron Fox read the woman's committee report and Mrs. Bouck told about the recent Farm Bureau convention in Lansing which she attended. Cards were played with the "traveling prize" going to Mr. Bouck. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be a joint meeting and Christmas party which will be held Dec. 18 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Gracey.

Ghetto Living Caused Riots

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

A group of Michigan Methodists recently met and faced together the implications of the race riots of recent months. In part they said: "Responsible Negroes and whites alike have felt badly about the eruptions. They feel that these have not helped the cause of brotherhood. Basically, the riots have been provoked by the pressure of ghetto living. When a group of people are confined to segregated areas such as Harlem, Rochester, and Philadelphia, areas which are highly over-populated and full of injustices and inhumanities, the spirit of the people is so distraught and desperate that the situation is always at tinder point. To this, add a hot summer. Add a climate which is suggestive to violence. We then have a dangerous and explosive atmosphere." If you would like a copy of the entire statement, write to The Board of Christian Social Concerns, 800 Francis Palms Building, Detroit 1, Michigan.

A solar sea-water conversion plant built on the Greek Island of Symi by Church World Service, relief agency of the National Council of Churches, was dedicated this month. Who said that the churches have lost interest in conversion?

Suburban parents were startled the other day when their youngster brought a note home from school. Both his teacher and his principal wanted a written excuse for his presence!

If you are at least 55 years old, you might find it to your advantage to join the American Association of Retired Persons. There are many advantages, only a portion of them financial. To find out about this, contact the Rev. Melvin Vender or write to the Association at Dupont Circle Building, Washington, D.C., 20036, and ask them to send you one of their folders. Your life may be happier if you do, or so it seems to me. * * * * * Recently a Canadian court denied citizenship to a couple on the ground that they did not believe in God. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bergsma refused to take the oath of allegiance which ends with, "So help me, God." This raises lots of knotty questions. Does this mean that atheism can be a private conviction of native born Canadians, who are natural citizens, but is denied to persons wishing to become Canadians? What would happen if the Bergsma family desired to become citizens of the United States? * * * * *

Linda McConkey Heads French Club

Linda McConkey was elected president of the Cass City High School French Club at its first meeting this year on Nov. 17 at the high school.

Others elected to serve with her are Ann Sheppard, vice-president; Becky Champion, secretary; Diane Whittaker, treasurer, and Judy Ballagh, reporter.

As her first act, the new president appointed Barbara Starnann, Becky Champion and Ann Sheppard to a fund raising committee.

Club members decided to purchase pins which may be ordered from the treasurer.

The idea of staging a French play next spring was discussed. Further discussion on the idea will take place at the next meeting at which the program will be under the direction of a committee made up of Gayle Dillon, Linda Calka and Becky Champion.

State and Community to Aid Mentally Retarded Children

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Better Local Care

Waiting lists at state institutions for mentally retarded children still number near the 1,800 mark, but this need not be so long, according to the experts. Mental health officials have informed Gov. George Romney that at least half of these children on waiting lists could adequately be accommodated in community programs.

Program currently call for the creation of a dozen community day-care centers for severely retarded children and additional homes for those needing full-time institutional care.

Many of these waiting children, however, are of the groups termed educable or trainable in extent of retardation. Unfortunately, many local school systems which operate programs for educable or trainable children already are at capacity enrollment.

Mental health officials estimate some 200 or more retarded children not now enrolled in local school programs could be handled by the 12 county-level programs to be created in the near future.

For more severely retarded persons, nearly 1,100 new beds are slated to be available at state institutions by next April and a completely new center in western Michigan is in the pre-construction planning stage.

On the local level it is surprising just how many school districts already have some type of program for mentally handicapped children.

A list compiled by the State Department of Public Instruction of available programs is based on those districts which last year received state reimbursements.

In all, more than 350 systems at the local or county level in 55 counties provided either classroom or consultant programs for educable or trainable mentally handicapped at various levels in the school system.

Prices Too Low?

A decision has been promised early next year on whether legal action is needed to curb below-cost sales of milk in Michigan.

The Legislature has been asked several times by individual members to outlaw all "loss leader" sales in stores or prohibit below cost sales of dairy products particularly.

To date all these attempts have been unsuccessful and members of the dairy industry have fought them most vigorously.

Some dairy industry members this year, however, felt some state action should have been taken to maintain the competitive position of independents.

Now Gov. George Romney has asked a special committee to determine in time for the 1965 legislative session whether any state action is warranted and what form it should take, legislative or administrative.

The reasons for use of milk as "loss leader" items in stores also is to be determined by this committee, Romney said. The Governor indicated concern in this matter at least partly because of the implications government action might have for other industries in the future.

"Any industry is better off if it can keep itself from getting into the position where it's regulated," he said. Citing his experience with American Motors in the appliance industry, Romney said, "It is not only better for the industry but it is better for customers, too, in the long run."

"But if this situation, which has been going on for years and is getting worse, isn't cleared up voluntarily, there's going to be state governmental action," he said.

Living History

History in the making is seen almost daily in the State Capitol as executive, legislative and administrative decisions are made which affect many future generations.

Perhaps one of the most profound marks on Michigan history to be made in recent years is now a matter of record, but visitors to the Lansing area can see a re-creation of the decision-making site.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:
Now that politics was temporary out of season, the fellows at the country store Saturday night was discussing things long range, up in space and moving over to the next generation.
Bug Hookum reported he had saw in the papers where our space experts was a little worried on account of they has observed that Venus was spinning head-on agin the traffic pattern of all them things we been putting in orbit. In other words, figgered Bug, she was going in the wrong direction on a one-way street.
Ed Doolittle said he hadn't heard about this matter but it could be that Venus has got a woman driver. Ed is a great feller, Mister Editor, to blame everything on wimmen and the Democrats.
Ed allowed as how he wasn't going to worry about nothing in space. He said he had it figgered out that things up there was about like they was down here. Fer instant, he saw where all the pictures they got of the moon showed it was covered with craters. Ed claimed it was just like the problem we got down here. No parking space.

Clem Webster reported he was reading in the papers where the city fathers in some of them places that was going to have big football games on Thanksgiving was planning to board up agin student riots. Clem was of the opinion the situation was getting so bad a group of teen-agers and college students couldn't git together no more without moving the sidewalks, tearing down store fronts and spitting on the police. It has got to the place, claimed Clem, where it's hard to tell the difference between a gathering of the young generation and a tropic hurricane.
Zeke Grubb agreed with Clem, allowed as how we was winning the cold war overseas and losing the hot war to the younguns here at home.
Josh Clodhopper claimed King Solomon had the answer when he come out with the bullitan back in Bible times about sparing the rod and spoiling the child. Josh told the fellers juvenile delinquency wasn't nothing but a $10 word fer pure devilmint and parents was trying to lick the problem without licking the younguns. He said Solomon was a wise man with many wives and many younguns and had to be a authority on the subject.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't no Solomon on how to bring up younguns but the older I git the more I am convinced teen-age punks gits that way from the way they was raised up in the home. If this modern age has got to have a $10 word fer ever 10-cent problem, I'd just say what the young generation needs is some "Manual Guidance" at home from time to time. Back when I was a boy they called it dusting their pants.
Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
To the average guy most of the teachers in the school of experience are very attractive.
If we could all see ourselves as others see us what a crowd of pessimists we would be.

Food Specialist to Present Lesson

The Extension homemaker's lesson, "More Meals for Your Money," will be taught December 1 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at Wilber Memorial 4-H Club Building in Caro, according to Barbara S. Henrikson, county extension agent in home economics.
Portia Morris, extension specialist in foods and nutrition from Michigan State University, will present the lesson.
This lesson will contain ideas on how to make better use of low cost foods, plentiful foods in season, etc.
The food budget is one which can easily creep skyward until we lose sight of common sense.
Representatives of any groups, Extension or not, are welcome to take this lesson back to their groups.
Experience is a form of compulsory education.
Beware of the strings promises have tied to them.

You build a new home to get exactly what you want

why not get the heating system that gives you exactly what you want

Electric heat is custom heat. There's a thermostat in each room so you can dial the exact warmth you want... in the baby's room, the den, the kitchen, every room!
Electric heat is the clean, modern heat. No drafts or cold spots. You get even heat from head to feet. Ideal for your new home.
It's also a good choice as supplemental heat for your present home—to warm up a chilly bedroom or new family room.
The cost? That depends on your particular home. Electric heat may be your most economical heat. It won't cost you a penny to find out for sure. Just call Edison for a free estimate.

EDISON

A lower all-electric rate saves you as much as 20% on your heating bill if yours is an All-Electric Home. More reason than ever to enjoy all-electric living.

Michigan State University researchers say two pounds of Amitrole-T is as effective for controlling quackgrass as four pounds of plain Amitrole. Confessions of a Football Photographer
By Dave Kraft

Now that football season has ended, I can look back objectively at my brief sojourn as a sports photographer and believe me, it was most objectionable.

Ordinarily, the chief power-that-be wrote the sports stories and took what sports pictures were to be taken. Since he began his prolonged vacation, however, I have been taking the pictures and Putnam has been writing the stories.

As most of you know, sports, outside of indoor sports and rat hunting, are not my strong point. I know very little about a particular sport and even less about photographing it.

The name of the game is football.

The first home game, I stood back by the bleachers while all the play was going on and when it looked like one side or the other might make a touchdown, I headed for the area immediately behind the end zone so I'd be on hand should anything happen.

The second game was similar and my pictures, although very blurred, seemed to have a sameness about them.

My problem was that I didn't know where to go and I was afraid to ask anyone because they'd probably tell me.

The third home game I took the flashbulb by the teeth and marched right up to the out-of-bounds line and made ready to take some pictures.

This was a mistake. Having never played the game, and being so close to the action, I immediately took part.

Like when Groombridge broke through the line of scrimmage on that fluke play.

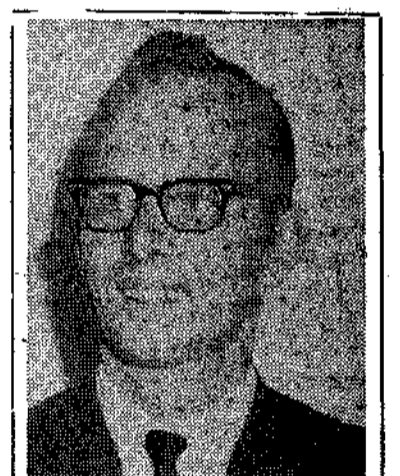

I saw him coming and I yelled, "Come on, baby!" obviously the wrong comment to make.

He skirted a couple of Vassar players and was in the clear. I became so emotionally involved that I began to run down the sidelines with him and we both crossed the goal line at the same instant, he from the middle of the field and I on the sidelines.

As sort of an afterthought, I pointed the camera toward Groombridge and snapped a rather lousy shot of the scoreboard.

It was in this same game that Cass Pasieczny ran afoul of the goal post.

I saw Cass coming back into the end zone for the pass and I got ready. Just as he leaped into the air for the catch, I shot the picture. When I brought the camera down, he was just bouncing

There's a thing called money...

It's one man's medium of exchange, another man's poison — or, if you don't like it straight, root of all evil. To us, it's also an indicator of the presence (or absence) of a very important asset for advertisers: WANTEDNESS.
When a man wants a publication enough to pay for it, the chances that he'll read it are bright. When he doesn't, it's anybody's guess. And in our book, anybody's guess as to whether or not your advertising is likely to be seen isn't much to put your money on.
If you, too, believe that money talks, a good place for your advertising is in the newspaper Cass City area people want above all others.
