

Costs Spiral Upwards

New Budget to Set Record

It is apparent that the cost of operating the village will continue its upward spiral in 1965 as the village council wrestled with, and nearly completed, the new budget Tuesday night at its regular meeting at the Municipal Building.

When finally approved the budget will undoubtedly be the highest in the history of the village. It will climb some $18,000 over the estimated budget of 1964 to $193,597.80. However, actual expenditures will probably be less than this amount as the budget shows some $42,117.80 that was left over from the previous year.

Still the increase is significant when it is piled on the steadily increasing cost of village government. In six years the cost of operating the village will have increased over 50 per cent, if all the money budgeted is spent.

The financial statement for 1959 as presented by the village in its official statement shows that a total of $106,731 was expended.

What are some of the major items that are expected to up costs? Reflecting increased wages, administrative expense will jump some $3,500 to $13,500 and general operating costs will increase some $4,000 to $25,050.

An additional $6,200 is budgeted in the water works department to handle increased maintenance and the removal of the old water tower.

Another major expense increase will be at the park. The appropriation was more than tripled with the addition of some $6,300 which will be used to tar the tennis court, build a concession stand and prepare the field for the coming Centennial.

Work on village buildings will cost some $4,000, just a little more than was spent last year. Primary expenditures are for a new heating plant, now installed at the Municipal Building, at a cost of $2,312 and a roof for the garage at an estimated cost of $1,000.

No Tax Increase

Despite the increase in costs, trustees are not anticipating any increase in the tax rate. Local property taxes are expected to jump about $1,000 to $58,500 through natural increases in valuation of property through new construction and State Sales Tax diversion is budgeted to increase $1,000 also.

Pair Purchase Standard Service

Two well known local mechanics have purchased the Standard Oil gas station business in Cass City from Millard Ball and will assume control Feb. 1, the date the transaction becomes effective.

The two new owners are Louis Salas and Floyd Luettkie.

Floyd Luettkie

Louis Salas

Luettkie has worked as a mechanic and bump and paint man for 18 years while Salas has compiled 17 years as a mechanic.

The sale includes the inventory and equipment at the station. Ball said that he has accepted a post with Walbro Corporation where he worked prior to entering the gas business.

From the Editor's Corner

Recreation and retirement are two fields that are steadily growing in importance as Americans have more leisure time and are quitting work earlier.

The effects are beginning to be felt in the development of the Cass City area.

There are several farmers who have attempted to make farm ponds for fishing, with varying degrees of success.

Don Wernette has some ambitious plans for a development on a large plot of land that has the Cass River flowing through it.

He hopes to build two trout ponds and a trout stream on the acreage southeast of the village.

His present plans are to have cabin sites and lure persons from the cities to use his location as a vacation spot.

Joe Riley, who owns 15 acres of land on Bay City-Forestville Road, is toying with the idea of using the acreage for homes for retirement couples.

Long-time residents will remember that it was Riley who purchased the first 21 acres in the industrial development section of Cass City and started the ball rolling by selling it to nine other interested residents, besides himself, to start the first association to attract industry.

For this and other reasons, novel plans by Riley have been worth considering.

This latest plan is to take the 15 acres and sell homes to couples over 55 years old. No children will be allowed to live on the site, but visits, of course, will be welcome.

There is a well on the property and Riley plans to create a trout pond from it.

All of the property owners will share in the 15 acres when they build their home and buy into the project.

There will be plenty of land for gardens and recreational activities, Riley feels.

The big plus to the development, Riley says, is that it will place together, homeowners of a compatible age and a common interest.

Both plans are noteworthy because they may be the key to an untapped land use market in Cass City and the Thumb.

Those of you who have followed the fight for organization of Detroit's school teachers may be surprised to learn that organization for teachers in Tuscola county is becoming a hot topic.

"Professional Negotiations" is the topic of the county MEA meeting slated in Cass City Feb. 3.

Orion Cerdew, long active in the MEA, says that if collective bargaining comes to the teaching profession he wants it to be through the MEA and meetings such as this are designed to keep the profession informed of progress on this front.

Auction Helps Cultural Center

Jim Ware, treasurer of the Cultural Center Corp., announced that the corporation grossed $261 at the auction sale Saturday, despite adverse weather conditions.

Means Extra Year of Study

American Visit Costly for Most Students from Europe

Education is important. To some persons it is so important that they would sacrifice a year of their young lives just to learn more.

To some it is so important that they gladly consent to adding an extra year of hard study just for the experiencing of something new.

That's how it is for the exchange student who travels to America from most European countries. That's how it is for Reiner Jack, 18-year-old exchange student to Cass City from Werder, Evoking, Westfalen, Germany.

"It doesn't bother me," Reiner explained after announcing that he still has a year of higher education facing him before he can go on to "university."

Currently living with the James Milligans, Reiner arrived September 10 in Detroit on a plane from Amsterdam. He will move to the home of Rev. R. E. Betts and family this week end for the second half of his stay which will end in July.

Reiner explained further the necessity of retaking his final year of schooling in Germany.

"They would allow the credit for this year, but I would come back to Germany four months before our big final exam and I would have only four months to study the whole year's work. That, plus my regular work," he explained.

"The main reason," he admitted, "is that my parents can't afford the money to send me to the university. I have to have very good final grades to get a scholarship."

"I don't want to jeopardize my scholarship with bad grades," he concluded.

The slim, blond-haired youth also had eye-opening comments on American schooling, American food and American economy.

Schools

"American schools are open to far more students. Ninety per cent of the students go on to high school here and in Germany only seven per cent go to high school."

"American school is generally easier," Reiner continued, "but longer. We finish at 1:00 p.m. in Germany."

"I enjoy the variety of clubs. We have only a few in Germany." As he talked, the high school band marched through the halls, instruments blaring the signal for a pep assembly causing Reiner to comment, "We have no bands at all. Only classical orchestras."

Reiner's favorite Cass City subject is debate which he participated in here for the first time.

"We have no debate... none in

Name Chamber Board Candidates

Ballots are in the mail to elect four new members to the Cass City Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Eight candidates have been nominated by the committee in charge. They are: Clinton House, Lloyd Vyse, Mrs. Lottie Konwal, Edward Cantile, Clarence Schneberger, Newell Harris, Bill Zemke and William Leverich.

The ballots were mailed to members along with a bill for dues this week. Membership in the Chamber costs $25.

Retail Division

Authorities in charge of the retail division announced that 45 members donated a total of $2,230 on assessments of $25, $50 or $75.

They said that about half of this money was used for Christmas promotion in the village. A highlight of this event was the distribution of over 400,000 tickets involved in a giveaway of a color television set.

The retailers also announced that the first town-wide promotion of the year will be "Honest George Days" slated Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday, Feb. 18-22.

Slate Centennial Conferences

Cass City area residents will be given an opportunity to voice their opinions on the up-coming centennial at a community-wide meeting Monday night, Feb. 1, at 7:30 in the high school gymnasium.

All interested persons are invited to attend the session, particularly civic and organizational leaders. A Rogers Company consultant will outline the event and a question and answer period will follow.

The meeting will culminate a day of conferences between centennial division chairmen and the Rogers consultant, according to Cass City Area Centennial co-chairmen Jim Ware and Clint House.

A second day of consultations will be held Tuesday, Feb. 2. All consultation meetings will be held in the Municipal Building.

Rogers Company of Fostoria, Ohio, has been hired to direct the centennial and stage the spectacular which will highlight each day's activities during the July celebration.

Conferences will begin at 10:00 a.m. First committees to meet with the consultant will be the operating capital, insurance, decorations and fireworks committees.

The treasurer, co-chairmen and headquarters chairman will meet with the consultant at a no-host luncheon.

Afternoon conferences will consist of the Revenue Division at Germany. I regret that, but it's a fact," he commented.

Debate Coach Ed Doerr has had Reiner on the junior varsity squad most of the season but in the last session with Harbor Beach, Reiner was moved up to the senior varsity squad.

"He did very well. As a matter of fact, he got some of the highest speaking points at that debate," says Doerr. "He's a quick thinker."

Food

"You have special kinds of foods that are completely unknown in Germany. You also have a greater variety, generally," says Reiner.

"Squash, for instance, and corn. Hamburgers are very rare in Germany."

Economy

"We are predominantly a middle class people, same as here. The standard of living in Germany is lower than here even though Germany has a higher standard of living than most of Europe."

"Only every third family has a car and only every second family has a television. Only one family in 10 or 20 has a telephone. Concluded on page four.

Slight Damage In Kritzmans' Bad Axe Fire

Firemen arrived in time to keep damage at a minimum Tuesday night when an electrical short set fire to a display window at Kritzmans', Inc., in Bad Axe.

A passerby noticed the smoke and called firemen who arrived in time to keep damage confined mostly to smoke.

The fire was the third building fire in Bad Axe within the past week.

The Bad Axe firm is a sister to Cass City's Kritzmans', Inc.

New Street Lamps to Cost $3,000 More Annually

Village Will Light Up Before Centennial

Cass City will take on a new glow this year when a new lighting program authorized by the village council is installed this summer before the Centennial.

Tuesday night trustees okayed a program that will call for more and brighter lights throughout the village at a cost some 60 per cent greater than the current system.

Presently, the village is paying $397 per month for electric power. The new bill will jump $250.50 to $647.50.

This is more per month than the $168 originally estimated by Edison. However, the Edison financing program with increased power.

The three-man committee of Dr. D. E. Rawson, Fred Auten and Lambert Althaver actually cut the number of new installations and power requirements suggested by the company. If both the power and new installation recommendations of Edison were followed the cost would have been much higher.

To determine where the new lights were to be erected the committee toured the village and noted areas not now serviced with lights or where lights were inadequate.

Auten remarked that the new gures were for replacing original lights would require poles and that they would be staked to show their location. Persons who object to any new location for lights can contact the council after they see the stakes marking the pole location and before the poles are erected, he said.

The lighting system capped a long campaign by Edison to upgrade the system in Cass City. Representatives first contacted the council several years ago with the proposal and the proposition was tabled because Edison wanted a cash payment for the under-appreciated portion of the former system.

Under the present proposal the increased cost to the village will be the $3,000 yearly for increased power.

Three different size lamps will be used in the village. The new type mercury vapor lights will be used on Main Street, doubling the amount of light from 10,000 to 20,000 lumens.

There are 48 lights with 2,500 lumens and these will be increased to 72, with the power remaining the same. In addition, some 18 other lights, mostly with 1,000 lumens power, will be increased to 75 and power upped to 6,500 lumens. Lights at the school and at the park will not be changed.

New lights will be placed in areas of new developments, in the alleys adjacent to Main street and in other spots that have been waiting a revamping of the system.

The effect will be to eliminate all dark spots in the village, the council feels.

Village Studies Tree Law

A sample ordinance dealing with the explosive tree problem in the village was distributed to councilmen Tuesday night at the Municipal Building and discussed with Village Attorney Clinton House.

But after reading several of the sections, the ordinance was turned over to a committee for reworking before being submitted to the planning commission.

Sections dealing with the legal way to remove trees and the amount of notice necessary before cutting begins are two of the provisions that are expected to receive much of the attention of the committee.

In another legal decision, House said that it was his opinion that it would be illegal for the village to donate money to help rebuild the cultural center as it is operated by a private corporation.

Area Reports "Perfect" Week

If a visitor from outer space had spent any time in Cass City or the area during the past week he would have reported back to his superiors that Earth is a place where almost nothing bad happens.

Checks with the county sheriff, court house records and local police revealed that there were no accidents in the area, no arrests of local citizens nor any court cases involving Cass City area persons.

The record wasn't as good elsewhere in the county with Deputy Gene Wilson reporting approximately 15 accidents in a seven-day period. The bulk of the accidents were Friday and Saturday during the heavy snowfall.

Only one arrest involving an Akron man was reported for the county during the past week.

SHOULD I? Or shouldn't I? Bradley Wright seems undecided as to whether or not he should leave his warm tent Saturday at the Cass City Boy Scout Polar Bear campout, southwest of the village. Urging him on is Dan Caister. The pair were among 14 scouts who participated in the overnight event. For details on the campout, see story, second section. (Chronicle photo)

Pat Reynolds admits she was wrong!

(She was sure electric dryers were more expensive. Then we showed her these money-saving facts.)

- 1 Gas dryers cost a couple of pennies less per load to operate; we'd be the first to admit it. But with electric dryers you still come out ahead. Read on.
  - 2 Electric dryers cost less to buy. Model for model, prices run about $20 to $40 lower than gas dryers.
  - 3 And now, for a limited time, this lower price includes installation and wiring, if needed. For details, see your dealer.
  - 4 Electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor. According to manufacturers' service policy premiums, the average dryer requires about $200 worth of repairs over a 10-year period. But, of course, if your dryer is electric, Edison comes out, repairs it, and leaves without leaving you a bill! ## Concert Slated, All Stars Named

Cass City High School band students will present a Solo and Ensemble concert Wednesday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Band Director Ronald Walker announced that the concert would be given in preparation for the Solo and Ensemble Festival slated for Saturday, Feb. 13, in Caro.

Walker also announced the names of two musicians who have been selected to participate in the "1965 Fourth Annual Greater Michigan All-Stars Bands."

Ann Sheppard and Sharada Hurd, both clarinetists, will be among 217 students in two bands featured at a concert Sunday, Feb. 21, at 3:30 at Schwartz Creek.

The students were given their music last Saturday. They will be given two days practice together on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 20-21, and then will present their concert.

Two of the nation's top directors, Dr. Ronald Gregory, Indiana University Band, and Dr. Harry Begian, Wayne State University Band, will conduct the two student bands.

Several top-flight soloists will also be featured.

Silence is the theme song of the school of experience.

Quits Plumbing, Jay's Specializing In Motor Repair

Jay Sugden, owner of Jay's Plumbing & Heating and Electric Motor Repair, announced this week that his firm is discontinuing its plumbing and heating services and will concentrate on electric motor repair.

Sugden blamed the "high cost of operation" in the plumbing and heating business as the reason for the change.

Sugden has been a plumber for 12 years and has been in his present location for the past three years. He built his business up from a garage shop to a merchandising store complete with a fleet of trucks.

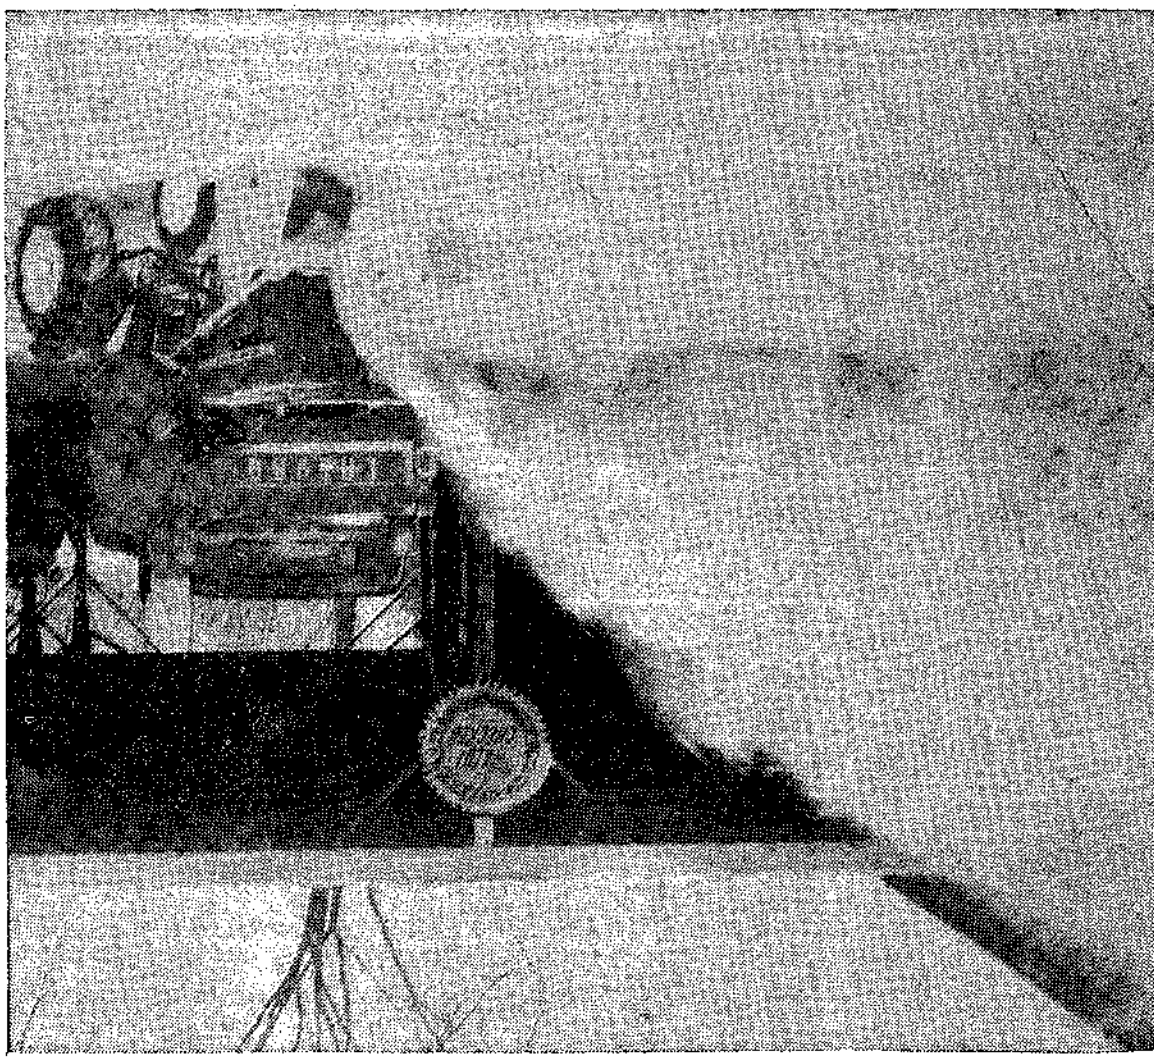

The change officially took place January 1, but Sugden delayed making the announcement until now because he wanted the changeover to be complete before making it public.

The firm, henceforth to be known as Jay's Electric Motor Repair, will handle all sized commercial, industrial and residential electric motors up to 100-horse.

Sugden says he expects to draw business from a 75-mile radius.

All the firm's plumbing and heating inventory is being sold at cost.

Council Still Seeking Best 1965 Village Street Program

Annually the problem that causes trustees more headaches than any other single phase of village government is the street program.

Judging by the long discussion Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council, 1965 will be no different than any of the other years.

How to spread the money to be spent on major and local streets in Cass City is one of the very few problems to be settled before the new budget is adopted.

Available to the council will be $23,200 for major streets and $10,202.28 for local streets.

Of the major street money an estimated $15,000 will be spent to complete work on Leach and West streets, one block north and south of Main street. These are the streets which received curb and gutter last year and are scheduled for blacktopping in 1965.

What to do with the remaining money has not been settled. Church street is scheduled for work, but Village Engineer Bill Schram reported that there may not be enough left to make a start of a program worthwhile.

Lambert Althaver would like to see some money made available for work on Main street in the area beyond the business district.

Even more perplexing is the way to spend the money for minor streets. Trustees are casting their eyes on Pine street, from Seeger east, for curb and gutter. Some of the councilmen say that Houghton needs attention and Seed street has submitted a petition for the second time in recent years. The property owners on Seed were the first to request curb and gutter, although the majority of the property owners living on the street at the time of the first request have moved.

Alley Program

A program on the alley north and south of the business district on Main Street is expected to receive attention. The council has $2,500 budgeted for alleys with primary emphasis focused on the business district.

A committee that includes Fred Auten and Bill Kritzman are expected to contact business property owners to see if donations can be arranged to get the program started.

Slate Services for Mrs. Alice McKellar

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) for Mrs. Alice E. McKellar, 86, former Cass City resident, following her death Monday at Fischer Nursing Home in Mayville. She had been a patient for a year and a half and had been ill in health for the past five years.

Born in Warren, Penn., November 21, 1878, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Winchester.

She married Hiram McKellar in Elmwood township Sept. 19, 1895, where they made their home following their marriage. They came to Cass City in 1943. Mr. McKellar died May 19, 1953.

Mrs. McKellar was a member of the First Baptist Church of Cass City.

Surviving are: two daughters, Mrs. Thomas (Iva) Smith of Unionville and Mrs. Leslie (Berneice) Muntz of Cass City; two sisters, Mrs. John McCarthy of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Sadie Gray of Rochester, N. Y., and one stepbrother, Ezra Hutchinson of Cass City.

Also surviving are two grandchildren and one great-grandchild. A brother, a sister and a son preceded her in death.

Mrs. McKellar may be seen at Little's Funeral Home until noon Thursday, when she will be taken to the First Baptist Church to lie in state until 2:00 p.m. services.

Rev. Richard Canfield, First Baptist Church pastor, will officiate and interment will be in the family lot in Elmwood Cemetery.

January 25, 1965

Editor
The Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan

Dear John,

With the Village Election coming up shortly, I feel there are several factors which should be emphasized to aid the voters in making their selections.

As you know, the council has a budget of some $190,000.00 to administer this year. This is big business. It requires a lot of time. The council as a whole now meets regularly every week - the Tuesday night meeting the last week of each month and a 7:00 Wednesday morning meeting the rest of the weeks. In addition, there are special council meetings as well as committee meetings. In 1964 there were ten special meetings alone.

As you also know, the complexion of the Village management has changed in the last few years. I feel it started with the forced retirement of Mrs. Fry and subsequent changes in the council membership. Up until then there were two - Mrs. Fry and Bill Schram - who, regardless of the turn-over in council membership, were the continuing element in the management of village affairs. Trustees could turn to them for information and advice needed in making decisions. Their experience and familiarity with the job and the rules and regulations relating thereto were invaluable. It is generally conceded that a trustee needs at least the benefit of one term before being able to fully fill the position with which he has been entrusted.

As you know, too, the Village as a whole is quite complacent about the running of Village affairs. Once a year a minority of the eligible voters does recognize its obligation and turns out to vote.

This brings me to the main point of this letter. Since most of the interest that is demonstrated in Village affairs comes but once a year at the voting booths, it is important that the voters select the representatives who will be best able to serve them. And with this in mind, the determining factor will be the experience of the candidates.

It is always a healthy condition when you have more candidates than vacancies. Such is not usually the case in Cass City. But this year we are on the brink of having a "seasoned" board and I feel we should not lose it.

We have three men not up for re-election - two have 3 years of service, one has 1 year. Our candidate for President has served a 2-year term here and has served on the council at Omro, Wisconsin, and was nominated to the office of President there just prior to the time of his transfer back to Cass City. Of the five seeking election for the three trustee vacancies, one has eight years of experience, one has six years, one has two years and two have none.

Perhaps our system of two-year terms should be revised so that we won't find ourselves in this dilemma again. If we had three-year terms there would be just two vacancies to fill each year and it wouldn't be possible to lose our experienced men in one fell swoop.

Most sincerely,
Fred B. Auten

Coming Auctions

Saturday, Jan. 30—Gerald Howard will hold a farm machinery auction at the place located five miles west and three-fourths mile north of Deckerville.

Saturday, Feb. 6—J. H. Kemp Oliver Sales and Service Shop in Unionville has scheduled an auction at 1 p.m.

Saturday, Feb. 13—Mrs. Herta Gettel will sell farm machinery at the place four miles west of Owendale.

Groups Form for War on Poverty

The 60 discussion leaders who attended the Human Resource meetings will be meeting with over 70 different groups to discuss people, jobs and growth and educational training and matching people for the job, during January, February and March, according to Ed Schrader, County Extension Agent in 4-H Club Work.

The last training session for the discussion leaders was completed January 19, in Caro. The reaction of the discussion leaders showed enthusiasm for the possibilities of the program.

Slides and related information on Tuscola County Human Resources are available from the Extension Office for interested people, Schrader said.

Information from the 1960 census, job classification, education, and projected employment can be obtained for leader discussion groups, Schrader concluded.

Rehearsal time for New Year's resolutions is over—now comes the real test.

Hawk-Sandusky Debate to Settle Thumb Winner

A first place tie in debate between Cass City and Sandusky will be settled Monday night, Feb. 1, when the two squads meet at Sandusky to determine the winner of the Lower Thumb Debate League.

Cass City and Sandusky share the top spot with a 15-3 record. Tuesday night, Jan. 26, Cass City took both debates in a meet at Bad Axe. The win over Bad Axe gave Cass City five wins out of six State League debates.

Team members in Tuesday's session were Mary Lou Spencer and Bob Milligan, affirmative, and Tim Knight and Reiner Jack, negative.

Following the Sandusky meet, the squad will debate against Croswell-Lexington, there, on Tuesday, Feb. 2, on the State League schedule.

Clean Walks Will Aid Mail Carriers

Last week's snowfall and subsequent melting has made streets slippery and walking difficult. It is especially trying for village mail carriers, Acting Postmaster Grant Glaspie said this week.

If local residents would take the time to shovel their walks, they would be giving a greatly appreciated lift to the carriers and insure prompt delivery of mail, Glaspie concluded.

Glaspie also announced that, effective immediately, there will be no Sunday or holiday mail collection at mail standards in the village except from the one at the post office.

Magazines Galore At Library with Federal Grant Funds

Starting in January a one year's subscription to 35 magazines was given to the Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library by the Michigan State Library, made possible through a Federal grant.

New magazines now being received, in addition to many which have been available for some time, at your public library are: American Artist, American Heritage, America, Consumer Bulletin, Consumer Reports, Current History, High Fidelity, Hot Rod and Missiles and Rockets.

Others include: Natural History, Popular Electronics, Popular Science Monthly, Scientific American, Science Digest, Science News Letter, Senior Scholastic, Today's Health and United Nations Review.

Presbyterians to Hear Local Youths

Youth Sunday will be observed in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday with the young people of the church conducting the service at 11 a.m. The theme of the service will be "Songs for a Small Planet."

David King will preside and Shirley Brown will offer a prayer. Talks will be given by Robert Milligan and Reiner Jack. Other parts of the service will be taken by Ed Ackerman, Barbara Starmann, David MacRae, Grant Merchant and Rose Cook. A choir composed of junior high and senior high students will sing "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." James and Becky Champion will be receptionists. Ushers are Randy Doerr, Ed Retherford, Mike Root and Larry Thompson.

Rehearsals are scheduled for Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

Day Fights for Full Recovery

Keith H. Day of Flint, a brother of Mrs. Fanny Hutchinson of Cass City, is still battling the effects of a near drowning Sunday, Jan. 3, at Silver Lake. Day went through the ice while ice sled riding on the lake.

He spent a week and a half in a hospital following his ordeal. Day suffered complications that included broken blood vessels and an inability to swallow that caused him to be fed intravenously. For several days following his escape, his pulse and blood pressure were extremely erratic.

Although recovery will be complete, according to Mrs. Hutchinson, Day is still not back to full normal health.

McDermott to Speak to Gavel, Rotary Tuesday

The Gavel Club will host the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday night at a special program at Martin's Restaurant that will feature Terry McDermott, the only gold medal winner from the United States in the winter Olympics.

McDermott is from Essexville and his skating ability has made him a familiar figure to most persons in the Thumb and in Michigan.

At the Rotary's Tuesday meeting at the New Gordon Hotel Ronald Geiger showed films of a trip down the Salmon River.

Even the fellow who is a chronic kicker can sometimes win if he kicks toward the goal.

THE HAWKS FAILED to score on this play as Jim Knoblet's shot was blocked by an alert Caro defense. The Tigers went on to take a 74-67 decision. (Chronicle photo)

Tigers Beat Off Hawks' Rally To Cop Thumb B Decision

The Caro Tigers handed Cass City another loss in Thumb B Conference competition Friday by defeating the Hawks on their home floor, 74-67.

The Tigers won by building an early lead and resisting a third quarter challenge by Cass City.

Injury Knocks Retherford from Hawks' Squad

The woes of basketball Coach John Oswald looked about as great as they could get, but this week they became much worse.

For the general Hawk mentor has lost the services of his team captain and best all-around player for at least a month, and possibly for the rest of the season.

Ed Retherford jammed his thumb in a recent game and surgery will be required to repair it. Doctors say that he will not be able to use the hand for about a month, at least. Since the injury is to the right hand, it is doubtful if the senior forward could play with his hand in a cust.

Both teams were erratic in the first half. Bad passing and aggressive defensive play by both squads resulted in numerous offensive errors.

Caro hit well enough in the period to open a narrow lead, 21-16.

The Tigers stretched the margin to 10 points with a hot shooting performance in the opening moments of the second period and with two and a half minutes gone were in front 29-19.

During the remainder of the period, the two teams battled evenly and the lead varied from five to 11 points. The Tigers left the floor at halftime with a 39-29 lead.

In the third period, Cass City made its most determined bid for victory. With Ed Retherford, Jim Knoblet and Jim Champion providing the scoring punch, they hacked away at the Caro lead and were in the game again as they trailed by only four points, 48-44, with 1:12 left in the third quarter.

It was the closest Cass City was to come to victory. The Tigers started a rally and moved in front 52-46 at the end of the third period and with less than two minutes gone in the fourth quarter, pushed the margin back to 10 points, 56-46.

With the comfortable margin, the Tigers slowed the pace of the game and the roof fell in on Cass City.

With the Hawks pressing on defense, Caro drove in for easy layups and short jump shots and rocketed ahead 71-55 with two and a half minutes left.

The regulars for Caro were pulled and Cass City quickly spurred to make the score more respectable at the final whistle, 74-67.

Retherford (22), Knoblet (19) and Champion (17) accounted for all but nine of Cass City's point total, while Jim Wyrick (24) and Terry Address (20) were the top gunners for Caro.

The Hawks outbounded Caro 46-42 but Caro took 91 shots in the game as compared to 64 for Cass City. Cass City was guilty again of many ball handling errors.

The Junior Varsity

Caro made it a clean sweep Friday as the Caro Junior Varsity edged the Little Hawks, 59-54, as Cass City was unable to hit from the foul circle with any consistency.

The box score:

County Audit Lauded

Acting Auditor General Allison Green has released a report of the annual audit of the records and accounts of Tuscola county. This report was made and submitted to the Board of Supervisors under the requirements of the Uniform Accounting Act.

The report covers the results of an examination of the records and accounts of all Tuscola County officers and offices for the 1963 calendar year. It indicates that all recorded receipts of the various county offices were fully accounted for and that the required county accounting records of the several offices were maintained in a satisfactory manner.

Green stated that there were no exceptions in the report and that he thought that this was a situation to which attention should be directed since most county audit reports released by his office contained numerous exceptions to accepted procedures.

VISITING STUDENT

Language
"I have no trouble with the language because I studied English for several years in Germany. However, in these few months, I have learned more than in all my German study. There is a big difference between the Oxford English I learned in Germany and American English."

Reiner's home is located almost between Werdohl-Eveking and Ludenscheid where he attends the Zepelin-Gymnasium. He lives at home with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Jack, and a sister, Christel, 20.

His father is a metal worker in an automobile factory, his sister is a saleswoman in a shoe store and his mother is a housewife.

Werdohl-Eveking is about the same size as Cass City, according to Reiner, but is predominantly industrial. Ludenscheid has a 60,000 population. Both are located in the center of West Germany, about 80 miles from Cologne.

Reiner's stay in Cass City is through the "Youth for Understanding" program, a teen-age exchange program. Sponsored by the Cass City High School student council, his visit is financed by donations from clubs.

Most of his financial support this year is from monies donated by last year's graduating class from money left over from their senior trip.

Reiner closed the interview by offering his thanks to all his "Cass City friends for what they have done for me."

Kokanee Salmon Coming to Michigan

Under the Conservation Department's bold, new fish management program, this look-alike of the rainbow trout—the kokanee salmon—may someday add a big plus to sport fishing in Michigan. As a starter toward this long-range goal, the Department will collect 2 1/2 million kokanee eggs from Colorado, rear them, and next spring plant the fish at fry size in Higgins and Torch lakes. With costs low, stock easy to get, and chances for success excellent, kokanee releases will be repeated during each of the following three years. By the end of 1968, it is hoped brood stocks will have taken hold in the two lakes, giving Michigan its own source of eggs. After that, plans call for large-scale stocking of these fish in Lake Michigan and such inland lakes as Crystal, Charlevoix, Walloon, and Leelanau.

Campaign Costs Disturb Solons

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Too Much Money

A biennial ruckus over campaign-spending spirals appears to be holding attention this year longer than before, a possible indication that there may be some changes made.

Michigan law books for several years have carried a limit on campaign expenditures, but the law was so written as to make it virtually impossible to enforce the limitation.

The Legislature would be the action-taking unit strengthening the law if any changes were to be made. It is an administrative agency, however, which is now shouting loudest for change.

Grand jury investigation was hinted by some elections officials last year following both the primary and general election campaigns in one legislative district.

Initial studies indicated to some members of the Secretary of State's elections division that a clear and provable violation of the spending limit law existed.

Indications of a grand jury call have now all but disappeared and faded into the demands for revision of the expenditure reporting statute.

The law now limits expenses to $40 per thousand votes cast for governor in the previous presidential year. It also allows any number of separate campaign committees to spend this amount.

Financial support from outside the state in a campaign is totally beyond Michigan jurisdiction. And campaign committees are not required to register in any way, so no one really knows whether all expenditures are ever reported for any given candidate.

With these weaknesses pointed up this year and in past sessions, it now remains a question of whether the legislators will take action to place effective restrictions on a matter so dear to their own political lives.

Prison facilities and policies at both the county and state levels have undergone considerable change in the past decade, and still more is anticipated in the near future.

Corrections officials now feel that clean, modern jail conditions at the county level are an aid toward rehabilitation of criminals, particularly first offenders.

In the past 10 years some 34 new county jails have been built in the state and another 11 are in the construction or planning stage now.

At the state level, Corrections Director Gus Harrison notes a sharp change in the entire philosophy of penology.

The trend has been toward giving a man a chance while he is paying his debt to society, says Harrison. "Eventually I hope Southern Michigan Prison, the world's largest walled prison, will become obsolete."

More than a third of Michigan's prisoners are now housed outside the walls of the various penal institutions, either in trusty units, farm dormitories or outside camps.

The decade just past has also seen a change in pardon-parole practices, according to the state's top corrections officer.

"On life term prisoners who killed or were judged habitual criminals, we've had about a 99 per cent success ratio in our policy of allowing eventual release," said Harrison. "We also believe in the so-called mercy policy for old men who don't want to die in prison."

With the improved employment situation in Michigan, men ready for re-entry to society can be moved out of prison into jobs faster. The corrections chief said over the past 10 years there was an approximate 10 per cent increase in the probation rate.

Security measures in President Johnson's activities since his re-election have been greater than ever before.

This was particularly noted in the elaborate inauguration plans and structures. It was clear the events of Nov. 22, 1963, are still foremost in the minds of many, at least in Washington.

In Michigan, the immediate impact of the assassination in Dallas was great, but apparently much of the concern has worn off with the passage of time.

Then, and again last spring state officers discussed the need for what then Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski described as a "detailed plan for events in case of a statewide tragedy in any way similar to the assassination of President Kennedy."

Initial suggestions included providing adequate protection for all top state officials and security of Michigan's international bridges, electrical plants, water supplies and transportation and communications facilities.

To date no steps have been made public to implement such a plan which in December, 1963 seemed so necessary. Additionally no activities, even since the May intrusion into his office by an armed man.

It has often been said people act only in emergencies, but it would be hoped that reaction to such incidents would have by this time have produced some action from Michigan's governing officers.

Public Invited to EUB Hymnsing

An old-fashioned Community Hymnsing will be held at the Salem EUB Church Sunday evening, Jan. 31, at 8:00 p.m. according to Rev. R. E. Betts, pastor.

The program includes congregational singing of favorite hymns and gospel songs, special numbers from the Salem Choir, the mixed quartet, church orchestra and other selected vocal groups. Readings from the Bible will also be shared.

Mr. Betts extended an invitation to the public to attend the program. An offering will be received for missions and benevolent service institutions.

It's an iron will that causes some men to grow rusty.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 58, NUMBER 42

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1965

Gagetown News

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fischer received a telephone call from their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pingrey, who have been living in Fairbanks, Alaska, that they arrived Sunday evening at his parents' home in Coon Rapids, Iowa, where they will live. They reported that it had been 61 degrees below zero in Fairbanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fischer have a new grandchild born Dec. 30 to Dr. and Mrs. Anniello Infante of Saginaw. Maria weighed seven pounds and three ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Werdeman left Wednesday for Drayton Plains where they will be overnight guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Grylicki. They will then go to Detroit to visit friends until Saturday, when they will go to Toledo, Ohio, to attend the wedding of Kathleen Mary Pietras and Paul J. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Wood, at St. Francis De Sales Church Saturday afternoon. They will go to Cleveland to visit Sr. Mary Louise and leave there Sunday for Green Forest, Ark., where they will visit his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Werdeman, who will accompany them on a trip through the state of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Parker, Patricia, Eileen, Jimmie, Billy and Carol, and Mrs. Frank Dixon went to Mancelona Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. William Dixon until Sunday. Mrs. Dixon remained in Mancelona for a visit. Mrs. Arthur Carolan and Mrs. William Matt attended a baby shower in Caro Tuesday evening honoring Mrs. Laura Holmes. Mrs. Robert Kamrod and Mrs. Stetmore were hostesses.

Extension Group

The Elmwood Extension Study Group met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Laurie with 16 members present.

Roll call was a two-minute talk by each member pertaining to today's interests.

Mrs. Lawrence Salgat, council member, gave a report on the recent council meeting held in Caro and Mrs. Grover Laurie gave a report on the school dropout situation.

It was voted to furnish one dozen large cans of fruit juice and a donation of money to the county home.

Miss Higgins of the Detroit Edison Co. is expected to attend the February meeting and will give a talk on the use of home appliances.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Anna Olesen of Detroit and son Robert Bales of Lapeer were Wednesday and Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bogner.

Mr. and Mrs. William King of Ferndale were recent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Walrod.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Comment and Miss Cathryn Freeman left Wednesday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kraus. They expect to be gone a month.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hunter and Debbie were Sunday dinner guests of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kennedy of Port Austin. John Hunter was home for the week end.

People bent on causing trouble use the light of truth to cast the shadow of suspicion.

Taking it with you is not important—the problem is to make it last until you're ready.

OBSERVATION
Learn from the mistakes of others—it's an easy way to acquire a practical education.

They Threatened A Tar and Feathering

By Dave Kraft

Pardon me while I wipe the tears from my blurred eyeballs. It's just that everytime I think about this I break up.

Last week we ran a very dignified picture of the Cass City Cultural Center Corp.

The dignity of the picture was somewhat ruffled, however, when it appeared over a story headed: "Feathered Free-loaders Aid Local Birders and Business."

Two of the group contacted me after the paper hit the streets and good naturedly threatened to have me tarred and feathered. I understand the picture also made a hit at Walbro Corp.

Jim Ware was quick to comment, "We sure picked the right man for publicity chairman."

This is a classic example of how not to get asked again to be chairman of anything.

Dale Davis was in Friday morning bragging about the new son his wife had presented him with early that morning. What's so great about having babies, anyway. My wife does it all the time, it seems.

Speaking of babies, and this, I promise, is the last comment I'll make on babies for awhile, that Dr. K. I. MacRae is certainly conscientious.

Before the baby came, he checked every day to see how my wife was doing. Now that the baby's here, he's still thinking of my wife's welfare.

His shirts come back from the laundry with cardboard bullseyes in them and he gave my wife a batch of them to give to me for target practice with my new pistol.

I think it's his subtle way of letting me know I'm spending too much time at home.

A set of keys was turned into the Chronicle last Wednesday. Three keys on a Caro service station key chain. Two keys are for a General Motors car and the third is for a Master lock. Owner may reclaim at the Chronicle office by leaving a substantial reward if they so feel obligated. (Just make the check in my name.)

This cold weather brings out the tom-foolery in me. Either that, or my "smarts" freeze up.

Saturday was a blister as far as the weather was concerned, what with all the snow that fell Friday night and continued to fall that day.

I was supposed to get a picture of the Scouts out at their Polar Bear campout. I figured that they wouldn't be out there in that weather in the first place, and in the second place, they could stay there because my car couldn't make the snowdrift scene.

So I settled down to a morning of coffee drinking at the local coffee shops. It was as I was crossing the street from one coffee shop to another that I ran in to Jim Ware who just happened to be going out to the campout.

I tried to change his direction with a coffee bribe, but to no avail. Next thing I knew, we were charging through the drifts on our way to the Polar Bear grounds.

Now, Jim's either a pretty good driver or that pickup of his dad's is a pretty good pickup. We had to cross a field to get to the camp site and it was full of hills and gullies and bumps.

At one point, we were careening across the field, snow from the drifts spraying up over the hood at times, when we hit a bump. Not an ordinary bump, but a big, bone-jarring bump.

My camera, on the seat beside me, sailed about half way to the ceiling. Fortunately, I was about half way to the ceiling also and I managed to grab it before it crashed back to the seat.

Jim stopped and said he didn't think we'd better go any farther. I was going to say I thought that same thing back at the coffee shop but didn't.

We got out of the truck and it was cold, bitter cold. We could see the camp, but it looked about five miles away. (When you're standing in a snow bank in your tennis shoes everything looks five miles away.)

Through pure determination and raw courage I... excuse me, we made it.

It looked like an Army camp about a mile behind enemy lines. Snow covered tents, snow covered gear, snow covered everything. All the time we're floundering through the snow, I'm saying to myself, "Oh, those poor kids."

When we got there, we found those "poor kids" sitting around their fires munching cookies and having a real picnic. Snow up to their ear lobes and they're acting like it's an everyday thing.

I got my pictures along with a mild case of frostbitten ears and then I raced Jim back to the pickup.

On the way back, this figure loomed up out of the swirling snow. It was Fred Ryan trudging along with a bob sled full of gear. I told him he was going the wrong way. He just smiled and disappeared into the snow.

Who says our youth aren't physically fit?

Did you hear about the misguided Samaritan who was going to the aid of the elderly couple in a stalled Renault Sunday west of Cass City? He coasted out of his driveway, down the road and smashed into the rear of the stalled car.

After a profuse apology, and some quick fender bumping, he proceeded to give them a push... headed away from town. After about two miles, he decided his dinner was getting cold so he left the poor old people set where they were with the assurance that he'd be back after he ate.

He returned, full fed, only to find them gone. He said it was ingratitude. We wondered if they just didn't get going while the gettin' was good. No tellin' what he'd have done with a full stomach.

Library Slates Story Telling Hour Saturday

In an effort to create more interest among its younger customers, Cass City-Elkland Township Library will offer a "Story Telling Hour" beginning Saturday, Feb. 6, at the library.

Mrs. Robert Keating, Library

Board member, explained that the program was recommended by the State Library board to interest children in reading books.

Open for children five years old through the third grade, the sessions will be modeled after a similar program in Bad Axe that is several years old. If well received, a program for older children may be started.

Registrations for at least 30 children are being sought.

Three volunteers have offered their services. They are Mrs. James Braid, Mrs. Del Profit and Mrs. Malvina Howarth.

Aim to go right and you'll always have plenty of elbow room.

Watch your action—under certain circumstances silence has the most telling effect.

Install Officers at Presbyterian Church

Newly elected officers of the First Presbyterian Church were installed at the morning service on January 24 by the pastor, Marion Hostetler.

Elders to serve for a three-year term are Orion Cardew, Alfred Goodall Jr. and Arthur Holmberg. Elected to the board of deacons are Mrs. Harold Perry, Edward Golding Jr., James Gross and James King.

Three new trustees are Mrs. Meredith Auten, James Bauer and Fred McEachern. Other officers include: Mrs. Meredith Auten, local mission treasurer; Orion Cardew, general mission treasurer; Barbara Starmann, youth treasurer, and Agnes Milligan, recording treasurer.

Their Fears Make Good Solid Reading

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

"The Man Who Had Everything", by Donald Murray, is a fascinating study of a successful man who, by the virtue of an accident, becomes virtually nothing more than a vegetable. The novel takes us into his mind and that of his wife. The fears that they face, and the manner in which they face these fears makes for good, solid reading. To set up the tragedy which is this novel's purpose, we are introduced to Brad Hastings at a birthday party being held at his home.

Brad is essentially a good salesman, and quite successful. In case of doubt, he had the possessions to prove it: a more-than-adequate suburban home; lots of social contacts; a lovely and capable wife, Bets; and two developing children. We are early allowed to see that, for Bets at least, all this does not add up to fulfillment. During the party, she asks Brad to delay his business trip by air so that instead of going that night he will wait until early the next morning. He agrees to do so without question. One of his departing guests mires his car in the drive, and Brad goes to help push the disabled car. Success is attained and Brad turns away only to have the car roll back into its ruts, pinning him to the ground. An ambulance is called and transports Brad, with Bets, to the hospital where his old friend Irv Frank is surgeon-in-charge at this particular time. Irv has been in the "best friend" category for some years. A broken neck is the only outward symptom but as an aspect of that, Brad is paralyzed in both arms and both legs. This self-sufficient man all of a sudden has abandoned manhood and become a "vegetable", unable to feed himself or do even the simplest of tasks.

He is placed on a frame by which he is turned over regularly. By use of a mirror he comes to know -- in the endless days following the accident -- who will be there and what empty phrases of comfort they can offer. We are permitted to see how the visitors and hospital personnel are viewed from that frame. He allows his children to visit him once.

Meanwhile, Bets has made adjustments so that her mother becomes the "housekeeper," allowing Bets to visit Brad daily. She has to sell some things to get money sufficient to pay the huge bills his hospitalization and treatment cost. When a job opens at the hospital which she is capable of handling, she takes it -- and faces the fact that she has fallen in love with her husband's best friend, and the doctor in charge of his care, Dr. Irv Frank.

Then, partly because they can save money this way, Brad is transferred to County Hospital. No private room here. There is a constant odor and paint is peeling from the ceiling and walls. The other men in the ward are men without hope. Some of them have been there for years. Brad helps the man in the next bed to accumulate enough pills of the type they are given to help them sleep, to make it possible for him to take an overdose and die.

Brad gives up once he gets to the County Hospital and deliberately shuts others out of his life. Bets still goes to visit him, spending much time just watching him. All of the others who come to visit him, quit because of his constant rebuffs to them.

Then, suddenly, one day he snaps out of his lethargy and is accepted by his wardmates and nurses alike as the man in charge of the ward. He undergoes surgery that will make him less reliant on others. As the book ends, no miracle has suddenly healed Brad, nor is there any likelihood that he will ever leave County Hospital. However, he is a functioning man again and now feels needed. Bets and Irv have ended their affair and life continues for everyone.

The picture it gives of the hopelessly ill is honest and sympathetic. How tragedy is met by these people is simply and honestly told. I liked the book very much, and think any thoughtful person will, too.

"The Man Who Had Everything," by Donald M. Murray, New American Library, New York, 1964; available from the Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library.

Farm Bureau Fetes Secretary-manager

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau Board of Directors honored Secretary-manager Miss Loretta Kirkpatrick at their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Jan. 19, at the Farm Bureau Center in Caro.

Miss Kirkpatrick was selected by Michigan Farm Bureau to receive a certificate of Merit as the most outstanding county secretary. The superior rating was based on participation in county, district, and state Farm Bureau affairs, the manner in which the office is conducted and contributions to members and the public.

The Tuscola office was the first in the state to put into practice the uniform bookkeeping system. In making the presentation, Duane Sugden, representing the state organization, told the group that "this county can be very proud of your secretary and it is a real honor to be chosen over 70 others throughout the state for this award."

Michigan Farm Bureau has selected Tuscola county to serve as one out of six counties in the state to become pilot areas to institute the Youthpower program.

Sponsored by the National Food Conference, the program will involve youth participation in better nutrition, food careers and facts about foods.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

My regular pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture came last Friday morning and I ain't been able to help my old lady git no chores done around the house on account of reading about the farm situation around the country. My old lady says the worst enemy in the world today a farm wife has got is them pamphlets from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

First off, some woman that lists herself as head of the Market Division of the Department allowed as how she wanted to say a few words in defense of the grocery stores of America. Just what this has got to do with agriculture, I ain't shore, and she stretched her few words in to the second chapter of the Gospel according to Jeremiah, but she had a good point.

She claimed American wim-men was complaining the food bill was gitting higher and higher. She says it ain't so, that wim-men was spending more and more at supermarkets and making the mistake of blaming it on food. There was a heap of difference, she claimed, between the supermarket bill and the food bill. In 1963, for instance, she reported about half the tooth paste, light bulbs, razor blades, cigarettes, dishes and toilet articles sold in America was bought at supermarkets. Furthermore, she claimed, a heap of socks, shirts, towels and such items was going on the supermarket bill.

I was discussing this matter with my old lady and she figured, come to think about it, the woman was right, that nowadays supermarkets sold just about everything and wim-men was lumping the bill together and calling it groceries. How the so ever, allowed my old lady, if you bumped into a bunch of auto tires and lawn mowers you was in the wrong place. You was probable in a drug store.

Green Acres Farm Bureau Holds Meet

Green Acres Farm Bureau met Tuesday, Jan. 19, at the Ronald Fox home, with 12 members and one guest present.

The meeting was called to order by Ronald Fox. Mrs. Olim Bouck read the minutes and gave the treasurer's report.

Gerald Bock read the newsletter and August Lindquist gave the package report. Discussion was led by Mrs. Fox on the topic "Property Tax Relief."

Cards were played with the traveling prize going to Kenneth McRae. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The February meeting will be at the August Lindquist home.

I brung this item up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle was of the opinion the whole plan of living in this world was swapping ends and gitting out of focus. He said he had saw in the papers where we got 190 million Americans and fer ever 1,000 persons they was being served by 1.2 doctors, 4 service station workers and 13 Federal civilian employees.

Clem Webster was agreed with

Ed, claimed we was now buying wim-men's hose at the drug store, garden hose at the department store and aspirin tablets at the supermarket. He reported he had even saw in the papers where a mill in North Carolina had shipped 200,000 diapers to a African country where the men was wearing 'em fer head turbans. Clem allowed as how this was about as far as you can git with swapping ends.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

This is the number to call today to save money on fuel oil all winter!

Look at it this way. If you have not been using golden Superheat, you've probably been spending too much to heat your home. Superheat, alone among all the fuel oils you can buy, is "electrofined" to burn cleaner and hotter than any fuel oil ever has before. And that means you get more heat, better heat, with lower heating bills for the season. Switch to Superheat today...and you'll save money all winter!

Tell 4-H Project Awards Available

Forty-five members of the Tuscola County 4-H Service Club were instructed on the 4-H awards available to them upon completion of superior project work.

Reviewing the awards program was Mrs. John Wenta of Fostoria, at a meeting of the group at the Wilbur Memorial 4-H building in Caro Jan. 21.

Mrs. Wenta explained how to properly fill out the achievement summary to the best advantage in telling the 4-H story.

Mark Battel, president of the club, led a discussion concerning the selection of a club activity to involve county members. A roller skating party was chosen, the date to be announced later.

The officers, Battel, Bob Carpenter, Francis DeLong, Faye Campbell and Mary Gravin, were appointed to meet soon to select the honorary service club member. The recipient, showing outstanding service to 4-H, will be honored at the leaders recognition banquet scheduled Feb. 25 at Caro school.

Feb. 18 service club members will hold an initiation ceremony for new members.

Family Night—
The regular Family Night was held at the Shabbona Methodist Church Friday evening. A spaghetti and meatball supper was served.

Special guest for the evening was Johannes Kruger, exchange student from Holland. She told of her country and its customs and also answered questions from the audience.

Miss Kruger is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Duckwitz of Snover and attends Sandusky Community High School.

Many a good thought has been wasted because too many words were used in expressing it.

Men who talk and fail to act are trying to build up a reputation under false pretenses.

Sometimes a man is better than his reputation, but never better than his principles.

I didn't think Charlie was that kind of guy...

Normally he's wide ties and wide lapels with belt all the way. But that car-buckets, carpeting, console, big V8.

I don't think he can afford it.

Yes, who does he think he's going to impress?

Hi, Charlie.

It's Dodge Coronet they're talking about. And frankly, Charlie can afford it. So can you. Dodge Coronet.

Coronet 500 sports the following as standard equipment: all-vinyl interior, front bucket seats, full carpeting, padded dash, directional signals, backup lights, deluxe wheel covers, center console, 273 cubic inch V8.
