

Increase Wages of Village Employees

A general wage increase was granted to village employees Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council at the Municipal Building.

A seven per cent jump was authorized for all personnel with the exception of Police Chief Carl Palmateer, who was considered separately, and Alvah Hillman, who received an increase earlier in the year.

The raise amounted to about 12 cents per hour for the average hourly employee.

Palmateer, who reported to the council that he is working 30 hours weekly, was jumped from $106 to $121 weekly. The entire police operation is up for review with the aim of reducing the number of hours for the chief to around 60 or 65.

To do this, additional help may be needed in the department, trustees said.

Name Mrs. MacRae

End Planning Squabble

Village President Lambert Althaver appointed Mrs. Evelyn MacRae to the planning commission Tuesday night to end two months of wrangling over the position.

Mrs. MacRae will replace Jim Bauer, the president's original choice, who withdrew his name from consideration after his appointment was challenged by council members, headed by Dr. D. E. Rawson.

Almost overlooked in the scuffle were the two other appointments in planning. Lester Ross was re-appointed for a three-year term and E. L. Schwaderer was re-named to the zoning board of appeals.

Mrs. MacRae is no stranger to village politics and problems. She served for four years on the council under presidents Bauer and C. R. Hunt.

She has also been active in school work and is currently a member of the committee promoting a community college for the area.

Retirement Program
The proposed retirement program for the village has snagged on the rocks of indecision. Just what type of program is desirable is puzzling trustees. In an effort to move forward on the project, Fred Auten was instructed to call in a specialist to discuss a program offered by the Michigan Municipal League.

Request Early Copy for Holiday

Chronicle advertisers and correspondents are being reminded that all copy must be in early for next week's issue due to the Memorial Day holiday Monday, May 31.

Because the work week will be one day short, all deadlines have been moved ahead a day and all copy must be in on the week end.

Postal Schedule

Postmaster Grant Glaspie also announced postal schedules for the holiday.

Regular holiday schedules will be observed on Monday and there will be no delivery service, except for special delivery.

Collections will be made on a normal holiday schedule and outgoing mail will be dispatched.

Last Chance to See Student Art At Local Exhibit

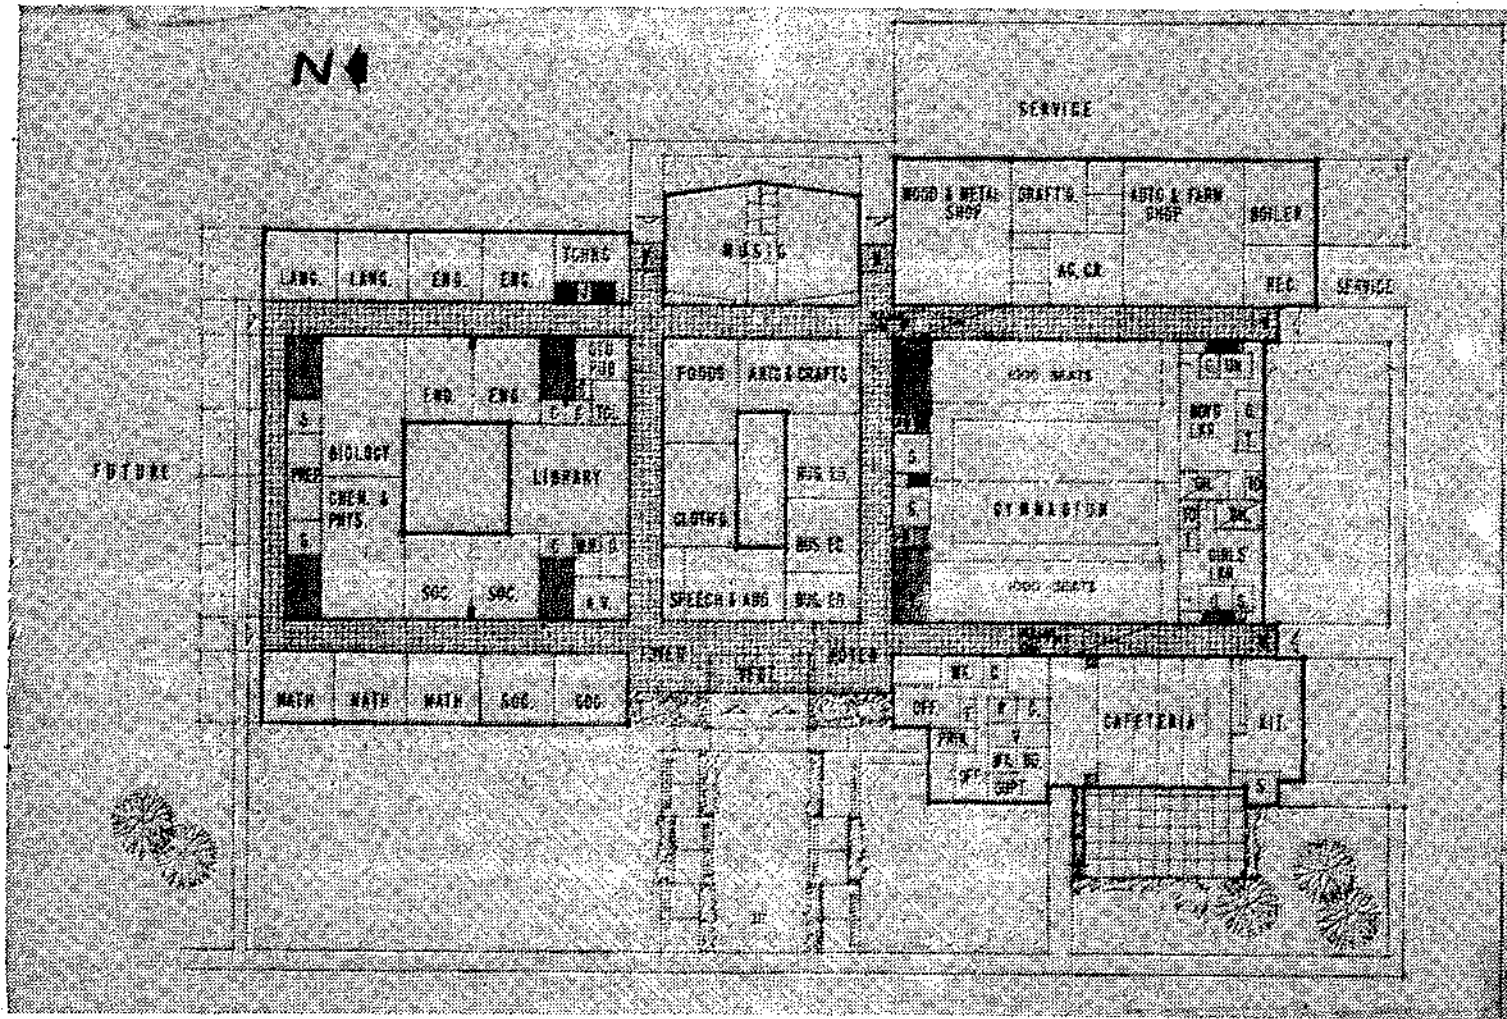

Area persons who missed Elkland Township Cultural Center's first art show May 17-22 will have just one more chance to see exhibits.

A final showing will be held Friday, May 28, from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Karen Wallace, art instructor.

Several hundred area persons saw over 200 pieces of art during the scheduled showing and for the most part, were awed at the outstanding talent shown.

Work ranged from oil and water color paintings to conventional and modern art ceramics and sculpturing.

Dominating the show were exhibits by Jeri Ryan, a senior, who had pieces in painting, ceramic and other divisions. Outstanding works by other students in kindergarten through the 12th grade were exhibited.

View Floor Plans, Exterior of New School at Public Meet

Cass City School district voters got their first look at the physical layout of the proposed new $1.6-million high school building during a public meeting Tuesday night at the high school.

Amid the daubing of perspiration and slapping of mosquitoes which invaded the gymnasium, an estimated 90 persons were shown the exterior of the new building and reviewed floor plans.

Opening the session with a statement of need was Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn who pointed out various examples of over-crowding. She listed such points as kindergarten classes on the stage at Cass City and Deford, speech correction in a cloakroom, art classes in a store-room, and first grade part-time in the library.

Particularly over-crowded is the cafeteria which, according to Mrs. Prieskorn, serves from 700 to 800 meals a day in a unit not designed for such a load. Servicing high school students also interrupts the elementary program, she observed. "We should have three additional classrooms in the elementary school and we will be short one classroom in the high school," she stated.

She pointed out that a lack of facilities also affects the type of personnel the school gets. "When we recruit teachers and they ask what facilities we have and we have to tell them, it affects the type of teacher we get."

Review Floor Plans

Donald Archambeau, Warren Holmes educational consultant, went over floor plans for those who had not seen them previously. He stressed that it is the hope of the design that "all rooms have 35 per cent utilization." To achieve this, class rooms will be used for specific and allied classes.

Debt Outlined
Cass City's current debt was outlined by William Ruhl, school board treasurer, followed by an expert. Donald Crouse of the millage currently received and to be received if the school is approved June 14.

A thorough explanation of the millage situation is explained on page seven, second section of this issue.

Also offered were guides for computing individual taxes in Elkland township and surrounding townships.

In offering the information, Crouse stressed that the board tried to "over-estimate in necessary cost and operation."

One question concerned the use of the present high school to which Crouse explained that kindergarten through fourth grade will be in the Willis Campbell Elementary School, grades 5-8 will be in the present high school and 9-12 in the new high school.

In summation, Pres. Horace Brien charged, "Space is our big problem. At a minimum, we will be two rooms short next year and the situation is not going to improve."

"If we don't get more room, our curriculum, teaching staff and teaching results will be affected."

Two Hurt in One Of Area Crashes

Two youths were injured in one of four area accidents reported during the week in the Cass City area by police officials.

Friday Larry James Silver, 16, and David Abraham, 16, were hospitalized in Bad Axe for treatment of injuries suffered in an accident on Uby's Main street.

An automobile driven by Silver collided with a parked car owned by Marshal Briolat Jr. and then struck the Mike Maurer building, causing damage estimated at $1,000.

Cass City Accidents

Police Chief Carl Palmateer reported that a car driven by John Battel, 77, of Cass City drove in front of a vehicle driven by Barbara Bliss, 17. Battel was entering Main street from Leach street. The left rear fender of the Battel car and the right front bumper of the Bliss car was damaged. The accident occurred Tuesday, May 18.

Darlene Wright, 18, of Cass City backed her car into the front of a vehicle driven by John Pluta, 71, of Detroit Thursday at the Main and Seeger intersection.

Miss Wright had driven too far into the intersection and was attempting to back her car while waiting for the traffic signal when the accident occurred.

Hit and Run

Police are still looking for the driver who left the scene of an accident after striking a parked car in a lot in Gagetown Monday, May 17.

Christie G. Huizar, 23, Caro, told sheriff's deputies that he parked his car at 4903 Center St., Gagetown, Monday morning and when he returned at 4:30 p.m. the left rear fender was damaged. A car parked near his that morning was believed to have been involved in the accident.

From the Editor's Corner

We can remember when it was considered a choice plum for a boy to secure a daily paper route . . . in fact they were so coveted that often the person who owned the route sold it to his successor.

Times have changed. Today the problem is finding anyone to take the job. The Free Press has been looking and advertising for about a month and still has not come up with anyone even though they say that a family can net upwards of $30 weekly delivering the paper.

Full time employment is also going begging in the village . . . many jobs remain unfilled in area industry as potential employees migrate to the auto plants.

Yet, Tuscola County is listed as a depressed area. Isn't it terrible to be so poverty stricken?

It seems in this business that if you make an error concerning a person a second one inevitably follows.

It happened again. This time with Don Koepfgen. Three or four weeks ago we looked into the records to find the last time he ran for the school board and picked up the information that he had four children. We dutifully recorded this for the current election only to find that the family had grown by one . . . it's five children now, Don reported.

The second blunder was much more critical. We said that Don Reid was running for re-election instead of Koepfgen. We'll run a reminder the week prior to the election and guarantee all the right names.

Motor Damaged In Car Fire

A break in a gas line set off a motor fire in a car owned by James King of Cass City Monday afternoon at the corner of Huron and Leach Streets.

Damage estimated at about $25 was confined mostly to wiring and other combustible materials. Elkland Township-Cass City firemen responded.

Set Program For Memorial Day Services

The annual Memorial Day parade Monday will start at 10:30 a.m. at the corner of West and Main streets in Cass City, according to Edward Goding Jr., parade chairman.

The complete program was planned by Elkland Supervisor Ed Goding Sr. and Village Trustee Glen McCullough.

Memorial services start at 11 a.m. at Elkland cemetery. The Rev. Marion Hostetler will give the invocation and benediction and the Rev. Robert Betts will be the speaker. Jack Esau is the master of ceremonies.

Participating in the parade will be the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Club and Cass City School Band.

One-Third of Cost

Set Business Alley Work Fee

The Cass City Village Council adopted a share-the-cost business district alley blacktopping program Tuesday night with the village paying two-thirds and the adjacent business property owner one third of the cost. The action conformed with a recommendation of the planning commission.

The measure squeaked through by the narrowest of margins and will cost property owners about $1.35 per running foot for a 30-foot hardtop strip. Parallel parking on one side of the alley is planned.

Bernard Freiburger said that he was voting for the measure against his better judgment. Dr. D. E. Rawson voted no. Mrs. Gladys Albee voted yes, but actually favored a plan where property owners would agree to hard surface adjacent property if the village paid for the 30-foot strip.

Still ahead for the village are problems. The property owners must agree to the assessment on a voluntary basis. The planning commission's recommendation was for only the business property owners to be assessed. For this reason it cannot be handled in the usual manner when the assessment is placed on the tax roll if the majority of owners favor the plan.

Other Work
Construction of the curb and gutter on West and Leach streets, a block north and south of Main, will start in about two weeks. The entire project will be completed before the centennial.

A resolution establishing an easement for a drain of Garfield street in the factory district in southwest Cass City will be adopted as soon as it is drawn in the proper form by Clinton House, village attorney.

Tree Ordinance
The long awaited tree ordinance has been reported favorably out of planning. It will be published and adopted if it meets the approval of residents after they have had the opportunity to study its provisions. Another ordinance suggested by the council was vetoed by the planners. It called for the regulation of truck traffic in the village. Planners said that they failed to see the need for the ordinance and

Help Problems Hinder Program

Cass City's summer recreation program is having difficulty getting off the ground because of the lack of quantified persons to direct the program.

Dr. D. E. Rawson said that he has a line on only one person for director. Roger Karr, a sophomore at college, has expressed an interest in the job. He has not yet been hired.

Mrs. Robert Tuckey has been signed to head the arts and crafts program. Still to be decided is the tool director where two applicants are available. The council indicated its preference for the man for the post by a straw ballot in which the results were not revealed. The applicants are David Binder and Roger Parrish and the man hired will reflect the straw vote.

Attempt Fails
An attempt by President Lambert Althaver to change the method of payment for the program failed when it was revealed that some of the directors are paid using a system where they are given money to run the program and the remainder is used for their salary. Althaver wanted to set up the same accounting procedures that are currently used by the village to handle the program.

It is likely that the system will be altered before the recreation season begins next year.

Pool Opening
Informally, it was decided that the pool would open sometime around the middle of June, depending on the weather and availability of help. Purchase of a new diving board is planned.

Slate Registration, Special Meeting

Registration for the Centennial Belles, the women's centennial participation group, will be held Friday, May 28, at the Cultural Center from 3:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Thomas Jackson, women's participation division chairman, has asked that those chapters who have not turned in their charters do so at this time.

"We have a few charters in," she reports. "The delay is mostly a matter of meeting with the chair."

felt that it would be virtually impossible to enforce.

Trustees voted to hold an auction of two 66-foot lots behind the homes of Dr. William Selby and Robert Stickle on North Seeger Street. It is expected that the land will be purchased by the two home owners to complete a verbal agreement made when the village purchased five acres as a water tower location.

The 66-foot sites are not large enough to build a home on, according to the zoning regulations in the area.

Other Business

The council okayed the appointment of Bill Schram as chairman of a committee to take charge of extra seating for the Centennial on the request of Tom Proctor.

The two-year-old police car was sold to Rabideau Motors at a bid price of $830.

Oscar Brooks and Lawrence Guinther appeared before the council and asked that the alley adjacent to their property be closed.

They were told to submit a petition to planning and that it would take a year before any decision was reached.

Dump Site Kaput

The proposed dump site in the section southeast of Cass City has just about sunk into a water table that is only four to five feet below the surface.

Trustee Barney Freiburger said that he drilled test holes at the site and the holes were filled with water at four to five feet. He said that he came back at a later date and the holes were even fuller of water at this time. It's worse now than it was in the spring, Freiburger said.

Reluctant to give up on a site that has had the acceptance of area residents, the council instructed Freiburger to consult with State and County officials to see if the land can be economically drained, but prospects for utilizing the site are dim.

With the potential collapse of the site, the village reverts to about the same position it was in 10 years ago when the hunt for the dump first started, except that the need has grown more critical.

During this period at least four locations have been seriously considered and a stop gap dump established on land owned by C. R. Hunt which has been discontinued.

"Moods in Music" Spring Concert to End Band Season

Suave Brother? It'll Cost $20.40 For the Well Dressed Centennialites

For $20.40 cents, you can be a well-dressed Centennial man. That's how much it will cost Cass

City area men if they buy each one of the items necessary to qualify them as 100 per cent centennial

FOR $20.40, Cass City area men can look just like Jack Esau . . . or at least, dress just like him. That's what it will cost to be a well-dressed Cass City Area Centennial promoter, according to a tally of prices of available men's wear and accessories. Esau examines a dress for milady at The Trade Winds and wonders what it will cost to outfit the well-dressed centennial woman. (Chronicle photo)

Promoters.

The figure was reached by compiling the prices of various pieces of apparel, fees and accessories being offered to local men for the centennial.

Depending on personal tastes, the figure may be a few dollars higher or a few cents lower because some items are more or less expensive if alternatives are chosen.

Hats Going Fast

One of the biggest selling items for the men, so far, are the hats. Ranging from $2.00 to $3.50, over 200 of the 500 hats purchased by the Centennial Corp. have been sold. Also available is a $1.00 hat for the boys.

Two styles, a derby and a top hat, in all price ranges are offered. According to Bill Kritzman of Kritzmans', Inc., "It's a toss-up" as to which style is the more popular.

"The hats have been on sale for about a month and they're going very well," says Kritzman. "The $2.00 bracket is selling the best. They feel that if only $2.00 is invested and they lose it, it won't be too expensive to buy another one."

"If their tastes run a little higher and they want to be a little dressier, we have the $3.00 and $3.50 hats."

The hats are being sold at Kritzmans', Prieskorn Ben Franklin, Federated and Asher's Men's Wear.

Jackets Slower

Jackets and vests are not selling as fast as the hats, primarily because they are more expensive. It is expected, however, that as the centennial approaches, sales will pick up.

Sold exclusively at the Ben Franklin store by special order only, the red and white striped jackets are priced at $8.00. Vests are selling for $6.50 and come in a variety of colors and fabric designs. Some vest styles are on hand or may be ordered.

Store owner Gerald Prieskorn estimates that he has ordered between 10 and 20 jackets so far and about the same number of vests.

Miscellaneous

Miscellaneous items range from $1.00 and $1.50 ties to $1.00 arm garters.

Brothers of the Brush certificates and pins are going for $1.00 and mustache wax retails at about 40 cents a tube at local drug stores and barbershops.

For the non-bearded "smoothes," certificates are expected to cost in the neighborhood of $2.00, according to Barney Freiburger, beard's chairman, although no price has officially been set.

Women's Wear

For milady, the centennial can be much less expensive or staggeringly more costly, depending on what she decides to buy.

For starters, she can buy, in two styles, an "old time" dress costing $10.00. Her bonnet comes with her $1.50 purchase of membership in the "Centennial Belles" organization.

Child's dresses are $9.00 and this includes the old-time dress and bonnet.

That's the bare minimum the well-dressed woman can get by with, unless she buys a pattern available at local clothing stores and builds her own dress.

Of course, different occasions call for different attire and for the woman who wants to go all out, there are five other outfits, two undergarments and two other headpieces.

These include the Gibson Girl blouse and skirt at $6.50 each; the Hussy (headpiece included), $14.50; the Belle, $18.50; Roaring 20's, $16.50, and a two-piece old-time dress and bonnet, $10.00.

Undergarments include a one-hoop petticoat for $4.00 and a four-hoop petticoat for $6.50. An ostrich feather headpiece and a Roaring 20's headpiece sell for $1.75 each.

All women's wear may be seen and purchased at The Trade Winds. Proceeds from all wearing apparel, as with all items sold through the Centennial Corp., will be used to help cover the cost of the centennial.

Firemen to Confer On Tornado Plan

The Tuscola County Firemen's Association granted permission to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department to call neighboring fire departments for assistance without waiting for official notice from the fire department on duty. The action was taken at the monthly meeting of the association at Reese recently.

The reasoning behind the decision, Richard Root, secretary, said, was that the police official on duty at a fire can often tell when assistance is needed before the fire chief can get word to him.

In other business, the association established a two-minute blast on the siren as a tornado warning and three short blasts for the all clear.

Other problems connected with tornadoes were to have been discussed at a special meeting Wednesday evening, May 26, with representatives from villages, townships and fire departments in the county represented.

Plan Reunion of Evergreen Schools

Merchant's Part Important in Centennial-Ware

Co-chairman James Ware explained the complete Centennial program to members of the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon and urged wholehearted support of the community to make the program a success.

Ubly, paid $81.25.

Both men were given 14-day jail sentences.

JANUARY SESSION - MARCH 17, 1965

The January Session of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors continued and held in the Courthouse in Caro, Michigan March 17, 1965.

Meeting called to order by Chairman Quentin Howell. Clerk called the roll with all Supervisors present.

Chairman Howell called on Supervisor Carson Leach our member of the 7th District Legislative Committee, who gave a report of the meeting held in Lansing, March 12, 1965 on Personal Property Assessment for the coming year and multiplier to be used by the State Tax Commission on Public Utilities and Business Firms.

Supervisor Haley presented the following resolution:

Mr. Chairman:

Honorable Members of the Board of Supervisors:

Whereas Act 122 of P. A. of 1962 has decreed that an Assessors Manual prepared by the State Tax Commission, or one approved by the Commission, shall be used by all Assessing Officers, and

Whereas page 235 of Chapter XV revision of 1964, promulgates a new set of multipliers that shall be used in 1965 for Personal Property Assessing, therefore

Be It Resolved that the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors herewith very strongly and vehemently protest this method of usurping the legal powers and privileges of Assessing Officers by the State Tax Commission, June 30:

(1) Disregarding the word and spirit of Sec 150 (2) Act 275 P. A. 1964 by failure to confer with and advise Assessing Officers.

(2) Disregarding the instructions of Sec 10 Act 275 P. A. 1964 "An assessment of all property in the state liable to taxation, shall be made annually . . . by the Supervisors of the several townships . . ."

(3) Arbitrarily stating without substantiation that the new multipliers tables would equal the values of personal and real properties, in violation of Sec 27 Act 275 P. Agent's Corner

Barbara Henrikson

Just a little bit of effort can make the difference between average and superior.

Everybody reads the paper. It's written in language that almost everyone understands easily. Seldom a day goes by, though, that there isn't at least one word in the paper or on the news that we really don't understand clearly. Most people just figure out the meaning from its context, missing much of the real meaning or connotations.

What a little bit of extra time and effort it takes to keep a dictionary handy and find out what "junta" and "commencement" really mean.

The same little bit of effort can be 20 minutes a day reading about your job. Few people take the time to find out what they are really doing.

A little poem describes this well: "The one who knows how will always find work, but the one who knows why will boss the jerk."

In homemaking we are our own boss but the principle still applies. Knowing that we wash glasses and silverware first while the water is hottest because they enter the mouth, and pans last because they will be sterilized in cooking makes more sense than doing it that way because Mother did.

The only way to find this sort of thing out is studying. either by listening to good homemakers talk, or by reading women's magazines. Not all the effort should be spent in studying. When a child is bent difficult, you least like to spend time with him. It's also the time he needs you most.

Fifteen minutes a day (or once a week if you have a large family) can turn a little peeler into a rambunctious but manageable kid.

A little bit of lawn work every day can make your home into a showplace. At the same time you can get out of the house and unwind.

Just a little bit of effort every day can make you better at nearly anything.

She Was Right And Called To Prove It

A reader from Owendale, Ellwood McDonald, was the first to guess the man behind the beard last week. He came in Wednesday afternoon and told us the man was Frank Niejaski.

Others who guessed right included Mrs. Alfred Horne and Helen Willis. Mrs. Lee Galloway of Decker called Friday to give the correct guess.

I just couldn't wait until next week to find out if I was right, she said, but I knew that I wouldn't be first and win the subscription.

The Chronicle's popular game continues again this week (and every week until the Centennial) with this mystery man.

Can you name him?

Know yourself—it's no misfortune to tumble to your faults.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

"OLD SMOKEY"—These three ladies took time out from a tea given May 18 for visiting mayor's exchange dignitaries at the Cultural Center, to examine some of the outstanding works of art which were on display. "Old Smokey," a huge papier-mache dragon, was done by the sixth grade.

Other works, dominated by exhibits by Jeri Ryan, show techniques used in kindergarten through 12th grade. Looking at the dragon are Mrs. Chester Graham, Mrs. John Sandham and Mrs. Ernest Croft. Mrs. Karen Wallace was in charge of the show. (Chronicle photo)

Ma Wants to Get Rid of John?

By Dave Kraft

And here are this week's bloopers that no one but our prootreader ever sees.

"John Deere for sale. Make me an offer." I suppose she wants all replies addressed to Mrs. Deere.

"He is participating in tank force operations in the South China Sea." I knew there was a weapons shortage, but that's ridiculous.

"A June wedding is planned." I've heard it called a lot of things, but never that.

"192-acre Dairy, Beer or Crop farm." Hmmm?

"Her veil was secured to a crown of pedals." At first glance, the groom thought he'd married a bicycle.

From Uncle Tim: "The greatest artists we rot in this country." Sounds like something from Uncle Chan. Reminds me of the time I had dinner in the Chinese restaurant. The note inside my fortune cookie read: "Help! I'm a Chinese pilna ob rub."

"Mare due to fold in June." Can you imagine riding a horse with a crease in it?

"Barn with water piped in; window cannot handle." I think she was having a lot of trouble with the door, too.

From the crossline in an accident story: "Dear Accident". Most of them are.

"Altar Society will plant a banquet." I think that came just before the "June wedding."

And last, but not least, from three liners from Cass City's leading paint and wallpaper store: "Leeson Wallpaper and Pain."

Do you know how to top a car? No? It's easy. Just top on the brake.

I think I picked that up from that crew that coffees every morning down at Konrad's Bakery. That's what happens to you when you run in bad company.

Last week we ran a picture of the

Former Gagetown

A former Gagetown priest was among three ministers who celebrated the 25th anniversary of their ordination at a Solemn Mass of Thanksgiving Wednesday, May 19, at St. Stephen's Church in Saginaw. Fr. Glenn W. Cronkite, pastor of St. Francis Borgia Parish of Pigeon and former pastor of the St. Agatha Church in Gagetown for eight years, was among those honored. He and his two classmates were the third class ordained for the then newly established Diocese of Saginaw 25 years ago. Some 250 priests from the five Dioceses of Michigan and some out-state clergy attended the anniversary observance.

Priest Honored

During his pastorage at the Gagetown church, the church building was repaired, remodeled and decorated to become one of the most beautiful churches in the Diocese. After leaving the St. Agatha church in May, 1959, he became pastor of the Sacred Heart Church of Merrill. In September, 1963, he became pastor of the Pigeon church.

A special Mass of Thanksgiving was held by parishioners Sunday afternoon in honor of the priests' anniversary.

MAYO CLINIC

Q. For how long has the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., been in operation?

A. Dr. Wm. W. Mayo opened his office in Rochester 100 years ago. However, the development of what is now the Mayo Clinic did not begin until Dr. Mayo's two sons, known until their death in 1939 as Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie, joined their father in practice. Today, the Mayo Clinic draws an average of 1,000 patients a day, many of whom travel long distances in the hope of obtaining relief.

"THE PILL" AND ARTHRITIS

Q. I have read that pills used for contraception are effective in arthritis. Would it be safe for a 43-year-old woman to take such pills? I have had arthritis for several years.

A. Safe, perhaps, but not necessarily justified. The claim that an oral contraceptive produced excellent results in arthritis was apparently made on the basis of six cases. Doctors at the New York University School of Medicine made a careful study of a number of arthritic patients treated in this manner and concluded that "the pill" was of little value.

Because this is a pharmacy in every meaning of the word, we are always ready to fill your prescriptions RIGHT — RIGHT AWAY. The big difference in our prescription service is — SERVICE.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mellendorf

The St. Columbkille Catholic church, Sheridan, was the scene of the marriage rites when Miss Beverly Taschner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taschner, Owendale, became the bride of A-IC Bruce Mellendorf, son of Mrs. Erna Mellendorf, Owendale.

The Rev. Edward Wern performed the double-ring ceremony. Music was provided by the church choir and Mrs. Gladys Pickering, organist.

The bride, escorted to the gladiolus-decked altar by her father, was wearing a gown of white silk. The full skirt was floor length and was studded with pearls and embroidery on the front. The sleeves were wrist-pointe. She wore a crown of pearls and crystals holding a shoulder-length veil and she carried a cascade of Easter lilies and ivy.

Matron of honor Mrs. Orvel Roggenbuck, sister of the bride, wore a blue cacon crepe dress and carried tinted carnations.

Orvel Roggenbuck attended the groom as best man. Ushers were Clare Mellendorf, the groom's brother, and Frank Taschner.

The bride's mother wore a blue print dress with white and blue accessories. Mrs. Mellendorf wore a yellow print dress and beige accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of white mums.

One hundred and fifty guests were present at a dinner and reception held at Elkton V.F.W. hall following the ceremony.

The newly married couple will reside in Peru, Indiana.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The session at the country store Saturday night was thrown into a state of shock and emergency when Ed Doolittle announced he had got himself one of them gasoline credit cards.

Furthermore, Ed said he was applying for one of them travel credit cards that is good for everything, from a Greyhound Bus trip to the World's Fair to a tour of the Congo. He allowed as how a feller was going to have to keep moving under President Lyndon to keep from getting run over in the rush.

Some of the fellers figured Ed had ought to offer a apology for breaking tradition with his forefathers in this credit card business. Zeke Grubb, for instant, claimed our ancestors didn't know much but they knowed how to do without. But Ed argued he wasn't doing nothing but his civic duty in getting adjusted to the buy-now-and-pay-later philosophy under the Great Society.

Clem Webster reported he was mighty disappointed in Ed and predicted the county chairman might throw Ed out of the Republican Party for getting too liberal and too far to the left in these matters.

Bug Hookum was lamenting he couldn't handle but one card problem at a time. He said a feller never got a bill or a statement no more, all he got was a card punched full of holes. He reported he had four of them at his house now and all of them said not to bend, tear, pinch, fold, staple, clip, crease, snip, soil, break, mutilate, scratch or nick. Bug said he was on the verge of a nervous breakdown trying to give them cards the necessary care till he could pay 'em. He reported he had put 'em in the refrigerator to keep 'em at the proper temperature till mailing time.

It's pritty hard, Mister Editor, fer oldtimers to git used to things in this computer jungle. If you have ever took note, when old folks gits together they set around and talk mostly about the past and sorter make light of the new generation. I reckon this is on account of old folks has got more to look back on than future to look forward to. One feller at the store Saturday night allowed as how if this bunch of young'uns of today would follow in their Pa's footprints they'd be better off. I didn't say nothing, but in his case Pa didn't make any.

About the only words of great

Facts can't be refuted, but can be distorted into odd shapes.

wisdom at the session: Saturday night come from the feller that runs the store. He said he opened his place in 1924 when we had what was knowed in them days as "Calvin Coolidge thrift" and a penny was worth pinching, had saw the world git so mixed up that anytime he was able to be up and about and feeling half-way good, he figured he was gaining on his neighbor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Mrs. Robert E. Lefler

Miss Doris Miller, Ruth, was given in marriage by her father to Robert E. Lefler, Decker, in rites held in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Bad Axe, on Saturday, May 15.

Miss Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, Ruth, wore a bridal gown of French Chantilly lace. Her full bouffant skirt was dramatized by a scalloped hemline and detachable chapel length train. The gown was fashioned with a portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves and accented by scattered pearls and crystals on the bodice and train edge. Her veil of English illusion was held secure by a double crown of lace, crystal and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Norma Kolasa, Saginaw, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was dressed in a pink linen floor length sheath and her headpiece was a pink bow of matching material holding secure a circle veil adorned with rhinestones.

Everett Lefler, Detroit, attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Arthur Miller, brother of the bride, of Washington and Frank Kolasa, Saginaw, brother-in-law of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was held at Franklin Inn and Don Polski Hall, Caro, was the scene of the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefler will live in Bad Axe.

Letter to Editor

Route 3
Cass City, Mich.
May 24, 1965

Mr. John Haire, Editor
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan
Dear Mr. Haire:

Last week area residents had the opportunity to attend an imaginatively-staged and artistically-rewarding exhibit of the art work done by students in all grades of our school. The building in which it was held now truly deserves the name, Cultural Center.

Mrs. B. J. Wallace, our art teacher, and her extern teacher from Central Michigan University, Mrs. Leigh, devoted many hours to planning the show and to nurturing the creative instincts of our children which made the exhibit the aesthetically enriching experience it was.

I am sure the hundreds of people who attended the showing were amazed and delighted at the various art forms on display. Cass City has talent, and it is a pleasure to commend these two dedicated teachers on their ability to recognize and develop it.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Richard W. Drews

New Golf Course Opens in Vassar

This area's newest golf course, owned and operated by the Vassar Golf and Country Club, Inc., is now open for public play, it was announced this week by Tom Hess, the club's pro-manager.

The nine-hole course, located at the corner of Kirk Road and M-46, just two miles north of Vassar, got its first test last week end when it was opened to limited play. Hess said that reaction from golfers over the week end shows that the course is already gaining the reputation of being one of the sportiest and most scenic in this vicinity.

Greens fees have been set at $1.50 for nine holes or $2.00 for 18 holes. Week-end and holiday greens fees are $2.00 for nine and $2.50 for 18 holes.

In addition to the public course, the Vassar Golf and Country Club announces that a new club house is being constructed and will be completed in early June. Meanwhile, a house trailer is being used as a pro-shop to accommodate the public.

The course is open seven days a week.

Self-sufficiency has never been known to secure efficiency.

The May theme is "Strengthen Your Brethren with a Sure Faith." The hymn, "I Would Be True," was sung and Marie Meredith led the worship service. "Kathryn's Comments" by Mrs. J.P. Westwood Jr. was read from the Distaff.

Roll call was answered by an original or favorite Mother's Day poem. Reports were given and Mrs. Curtis Cleland reported on the life of Blanche Tucker Green from "33 Women of the Restoration."

The group voted to entertain the Harbor Beach Women's Department in June. The date will be decided later. Mrs. Kathryn Turner, chairman of the social committee, and Mrs. Howard Gregg, chairman of the program committee, will be in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Gregg presented the lesson from "Called to be Friends." The next meeting will be the evening of June 17 at the home of Mrs. Gerald Miller in Cass City.

Olivet Pioneered Industrial Growth

By Elmer E. White
How To Grow

Economic development as a field of state government activity is relatively new in Michigan but many local groups have been active in this area for well over a decade.

Although communities were concerned with the lack of industrial growth, they were looking for assistance and advice from the state before Lansing officials were fully prepared to give it.

In Olivet, for example, an official now notes it was nearly 15 years ago that a few community-minded residents formed an industrial development corporation.

Forty days after incorporation, a plant was built and ready for occupancy by an enterprising group of young men experimenting with the possibilities of fabricating steel tubing.

From a 4,000 square foot building leased by the industrial development corporation, these men expanded their business and others followed suit to give the community group some 70,000 square feet of space now in use.

Space involved, however, is not the real factor rotatable in the activities of the Olivet group and others like it. In Olivet, this idea 15 years ago has resulted in new employment for about 200 people, new product sales, plants and substantial other side-effects on a substantial investment base.

A skeleton staff from two state agencies was able to give some advice to the Olivet group 15 years ago but theirs was relatively a pioneer effort.

Olivet, Jackson and several other communities started in this field long before the present Economic Expansion Department had gained enough legislative recognition to have the substantial budget and work force it has today.

Since the pioneer corporations of this type began, the state has provided communities with some tools to more easily do the job. Laws now allow for such things as large scale financing for industrial housing by municipalities and extensive funds for new product research.

Competition is now much keener than it was 15 years ago. Communities still face problems finding ways to locate attractive industrial and manufacturing operations.

What an Olivet official calls "attempts of piracy by desperate communities" has made the job tough for industrial development groups.

One of the main pirate tactics is offers of free rent for a limited period or delayed tax assessments on industrial property. The Olivet group decided against adopting any such tactic and apparently has been successful in offering only the good will and cooperation of the community and keeping taxes at an equitable level for all businesses.

Fewer Outlets

Renewal of a quota system for admitting Michigan State University students from certain Eastern states recently raised many eyebrows about the reason behind the quota numbers.

As was explained, the states involved provide little in the way of publicly-supported higher education and thus Michigan gets a heavy influx of students from these states.

Therefore, MSU officials decided a quota system was needed to keep a good distribution of students from many other states rather than being loaded with enrollees from these few.

Michigan is listed in these Eastern states, and in others which do provide substantial public education facilities, as a state with an excellent and extensive state-supported college system.

Our state ranks second only to California in the proportion of students attending public colleges and universities, and Michigan's percentage continues to climb.

Three years ago 77.9 per cent of the Michigan college students were in public institutions while 22 per cent were in private schools. Last fall the public school enrollment was nearly 80 per cent of the total.

Could Be Worse

Despite Michigan's No. 1 ranking as a highway construction leader, the state imposes a gasoline tax lower than 24 other states.

The highest state gas tax is in Alaska where motorists pay 8 cents on every gallon. Washington state collects 7 1/2 cents and 22 other states have gasoline taxes in the 6-7 cent range.

Michigan is one of 22 states which levy a six-cents-per-gallon tax on gasoline purchases.

Third in a series

Fr. Arnold Messing

On a Saturday night a few weeks ago, Prom night to be exact, I was standing on the corner (by the floral shop) watching all the girls and boys go by. Really I was waiting for the Greyhound bus to arrive, while standing there waiting, or watching if you prefer, Gary Kelley stepped out of the shop to take a little break after a busy day and joined me in the waiting. I was happy he did because then I didn't look quite so conspicuous, as I thought I must have. Whoever heard of a priest standing in line at a floral shop on Prom night?

At any rate our conversation soon turned to the young people who were on their way to the Prom. It would be an understatement just to say they were well dressed. They were beautifully dressed, all decked out in formal dresses and smart looking suits. Meanwhile, Gary was mumbling something about having sold 500,000 corsages that day and hoped he would never see one again, at least not until the next week.

Yet actually we didn't see many of the young people walking by because most of them were driving by, in what we presumed was "Dad's" car. Some of the less fortunate ones had cars of their own. I have nothing against cars, I think they're fine; it's just that it costs a lot of money to own and operate one. In fact, by the time the bus arrived, Gary and I had been crying on each other's shoulder about the cost of gasoline and were comparing the gas mileage on our cars.

Please don't misunderstand me. I like Proms and cars, corsages, good clothes, and many other nice things that money can buy. But on that occasion I couldn't help thinking what wonderful people parents are and how they are willing to work and sacrifice so that their children will be happy and have nice things.

In fact, if we examine the basic motive for much of our time and energy we find that it is not so much to earn a living as to earn a better living. When we spend money on improving our homes, or buying a new T.V. set, a new car, refrigerator, or even a new lawnmower to help keep the place trim, we feel that this is money well spent. When we save money for a vacation for ourselves or children, or lay some aside for future education, this is all a part of providing for ourselves and of improving our standard of living. This is why we work in a sense.

Now in my opinion this is what we will be doing when we build the new community high school, which is needed so badly. Won't we be helping to raise the standard of living for ourselves and the young people? Won't this be an excellent opportunity to help the children have a "truly nice thing?" In fact, I find it hard to think of a better way to spend a portion of our "hard earned money" than in helping to build a new school.

And since it will be for the children I think they can play a more active role than they realize in bringing this to a reality. Many times today, inadvertently of course, young people come to expect too much. A little consideration on their part from time to time could help, i.e., in the course of a year they could save their parents a good share of what the increased millage would cost. A sign of the times that I saw recently was taped to the door of a refrigerator in the home where two teen-age boys dwelled. It read: "Ask not what your parents can do for you, but rather what you can do for your parents."

On June 14th I may not vote on this issue; you all know the reason. However, I am happy for this opportunity to express a few thoughts on the subject and to say that I would vote "yes" if I could vote.

ANSWERS ABOUT THE COST OF THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL

On June 14th, the voters in the Cass City School District will be balloting on two propositions:

1. To bond for the construction of a new high school, and

2. To authorize extra millage for operational costs, not to exceed 5 mills for a period of 5 years.

Hoping to make it easier to understand the effect this new building program will have on your tax bills, we offer the following comparison of school tax rates between the present allocated rate for 1965 and the rates for the years 1965 through 1969, if the vote is affirmative.

Present Allocated School Tax for 1965 (Taxes due at the end of the year)	School Tax if the new Building is Approved (1965 and 1966 taxes due at the end of each year)
9 mills - For regular school operation, allocated by the County Board.	9 mills - For regular school year, allocated by the County Board.
1.5 mills - Extra for operating voted by the district to terminate this year.	1.5 mills - Extra for operating. This is the total amount of the 5 mills voted for operation that will be levied these years.
3 mills - For debt service, to terminate in 1966 with the old bonds paid.	8 mills - For debt service. This is a combined levy for the old bonds and the new building.
13.5 mills Total School Tax	18.5 mills Total School Tax

SCHOOL TAX IF THE NEW BUILDING IS APPROVED

(1967, 1968 and 1969 taxes due at end of each year)

9 mills For regular school operating. Allocated by the County	1969 is the last year the operating millage will be authorized. The question of operating millage will have to be placed on the ballot again at the end of that time.
5 mills Extra for operating, now being voted on. 1967 is the first year the full five mills will be levied.
4.5 mills For debt service on the new building	The levy for debt service will continue for twenty-four more years. As the valuation of the school district increases the amount of the levy may go down.
18.5 mills Total School Tax

A few more words of explanation may be helpful in digesting the set of figures used here.

1. The millage figures shown here are those which apply to "State Equalized Valuation" of your property. In Elklund Township the valuation of your property shown on your tax bill has to be multiplied by 1.4 to bring it up to "State Equalized Valuation." Other townships in this school district vary from "State Equalized Valuation" by different percentages.

2. In further explanation of the additional 5 mills asked for operational expenses (Proposition One on your ballot), it must be realized that a portion of that 5 mills will most certainly be needed whether or not a new school is built. The 9 mills basic tax levy cannot be stretched to cover costs of education of the existing school population in our district. Perhaps no more than half of this extra millage for operation should be attached to new costs created by the proposed new building.

Ministers Exchange An Annual Event?

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

The Sunday after Easter found the ministers of Cass City preaching in strange pulpits in what promises to be an annual event. Worshipers in the Salem EUB Church heard the minister of the Methodist Church and vice versa. This exchange was especially significant, for plans are rapidly maturing which will see the union of the two churches by 1968 on a national level. Involved are 760,000 members of the EUB Church and 10,300,000 Methodists, in merger talks that started seriously in 1958. 1968 is the earliest that union could be accomplished.

Six features of the new denomination were announced recently. There is an evident attempt to combine the best features of the two uniting denominations. The plan will contain no reference to the Central (Negro) Jurisdiction (at present a feature of the Methodist Church). The Methodist Church fully expects to integrate that jurisdiction into the geographical (now white) jurisdictional system. Safeguarding of the rights of the minority group (EUB) will be accomplished by guaranteeing them for 12 years proportionate representation at the general church level on boards and agencies and as General Conference delegates. Further safeguards will be offered to the minority, which will have approximately 13 per cent of membership on general boards and agencies (groups which actually operate the denomination between General Conferences). Rather than combining memberships of the two denominations on boards and agencies, attempts will be made to level them off to the larger of the two at present. The groups engaged in accomplishing this see it as a "spiritual undertaking."

These accomplishments seem far away right now, but in an amazingly short time, they will be accomplished fact. In the meanwhile, at a local level, pulpits exchanges, joint meetings of the two boards, and an increasing number of women's meetings, men's clubs and youth combined activities can be anticipated.

June 14, 1965, may go down in history as the day residents of Cass City pledge their faith in our youth. At an election to be held that day, we shall vote "YES" on a proposition that will enable our school board to take the steps necessary to build a new high school. I have taken the trouble to examine the plans and, while I, personally, would make a few minor changes, they are good plans. Built with three major sections, the school will make quality instruction easier. Or, "So It Seems To Me".

Conditions favorable for Baptists' free exercise of their faith in Hungary, Romania and Yugoslavia are improving, according to denominational executive John D. Hughey. Roman Catholic struggles in high places about that denomination's stand on planned parenthood in a world trapped in a population explosion has witnessed at least one humorous sidelight. It was suggested that a Roman Catholic publication in Britain be changed from the TABLET to the PILL!

"Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the youthful agricultural college graduate to the old farmer. "Why, I'd be astonished if you even got ten pounds of apples from that tree." "So would I," replied the farmer. "It just so happens that it's a pear tree!" ... Did you hear about the medical school pupil who was called before the Dean? Exhorted that esteemed personage, "You must try, in writing prescriptions, to write a little less clearly."

We laugh because we dare not cry. There is one type of "humor" going around which is funny only for this reason.

Two examples of it have been given to me this week to use. The first I wadded up and threw in the wastebasket. It was instructions on what first aid equipment should be available in the home and started: A cut finger brings tears to a child, a loud "Ouch" from Mother and demands at least a week's pampering for Dad.

The second I found on my desk. It read: Basically, it takes two things to keep a woman happy-- a roof over her head and a husband under her thumb!

All women attempt to put a man under her thumb occasionally, but it isn't because it makes her happy. It's because women have enough underdog in their souls that they need an occasional defeat.

American men expect their women to be independent and self sufficient but who do they rave about? European women.

I've asked a few questions about this and got some of the following answers: European women dress for men, not for other women. They are content to belong to a man and don't expect him to spend his life trying to make her content. They accept his word as the way the home will be run. They keep a house for the comfort of the family, not for the way it looks to the neighbors.

These are interesting points. Back about the turn of the century, American homes were run this way, too.

Then the feminists started fighting for equality. And they got it. Women were taken off the pedestal and brought down to man's level.

Women won the right to education, to vote, to hold responsible jobs. She lost the right to expect chivalry, to be taken care of, to foist decisions off on her man, because when she found she was legally equal, she kept trying to prove she was equal, like all people who are unsure of their position.

One out of every three home-makers today tries to hold a job, keep her home and be a wife and mother. This isn't enough. She also tries to keep her man in line, in her line.

It's a new way of life we haven't learned to handle yet. No other civilization has ever attempted it so we can't learn from their mistakes.

We women like our freedom, our education, our jobs, our vote. But deep down we still like a man who is strong enough to trust with decisions and responsibilities.

Until we learn how to mesh the two, people will joke about it because they dare not cry.
