

MSU Survey Gives Go Signal to Thumb Community College

A community college for Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties was given an enthusiastic green light this week by Max S. Smith, director of the office of community college cooperation at Michigan State University.

The results were made available in a tentative report issued after completion of a community college feasibility study.

According to the report, the Tri-county area meets all of the basic requirements for a successful community college.

The Cost

Although the building of the facilities would not be cheap, a very moderate tax outlay could build the facility here, the report indicated.

The report indicates a minimum of 125 square feet per student for an estimated 700 students or 87,500 square feet for the facility. The cost for building and the expensive instruction equipment is estimated at between $15 to $20 per square foot.

Despite these costs, Smith recommends that millage not exceed one mill for all purposes. Matching State and Federal funds are expected to produce enough revenue to build and run the school.

Number of Students

The report extensively studied the number of students available as compared to the minimum number needed to make a school economically sound. The Tri-county area passed with flying colors.

The accepted minimum, the report said, is 300 full-time students. Using a percentage computed by comparing the number of students in the 18-19-year-old bracket in the area, as compared to the number that normally can be expected to attend a community college, the survey forecasts an initial enrollment basis in 1966 of 670 students. By 1972 this enrollment could reach 1,660 students, according to a projection in the survey.

Large Area

A large area is needed for a community college. The initial facilities should be planned for 700 full-time and 250-part-time students. For this purpose a total of 150 acres is needed.

The proposed college, as envisioned in the study, would offer a "broad, comprehensive program to meet the needs of both full and part-time students who commute to the campus each day."

Near Center

The report urges that the school select a site as near as possible to the center of the greatest population density and the geographical center of the three counties.

What It Contains

What should the school contain? In addition to the standard classrooms, administrative area, physical education area, the report urges the following facilities:

- Technical-trades building to provide for technical and engineering aide, trades and advanced shop and mechanics programs.
- Auditorium space for assembly, speech and dramatic purposes.
- Special classrooms for commercial, secretarial, home-making, fine arts and other programs that may be developed.
- Informal social and lounge areas.

A copy of the report has been mailed to each of the 75 persons on the special community college study committee. The first perusal of the report is expected when the committee meets June 17 at Cass City High School.

Some of the data under study at MSU is coming from questionnaires that were sent to parents of fourth and 11th grade students in each of the three counties.

Popcorn, Passport Packed- He's Ready

"It's an honor to be elected and a great thrill to be going," Charles Churchill, 16, a junior at Cass City High School, said this week when asked about his upcoming trip to England as one of over 6,000 foreign exchange students.

Churchill will leave June 26 and return August 23 on the trip made possible by the Youth for Understanding Program.

The trip will be a series of firsts for the youngster. When he boards the plane at Metropolitan Airport in Detroit, it will be his first trip to England and his first ride on a plane.

When he arrives in England he will be doing something his dad, Kenneth Churchill, has always wanted to do... take a trip abroad.

Possibly feeling that if he can't go, the next best thing is to send his son, the elder Churchill, together with the Deford Methodist Church, is sharing the cost of the trip.

Expenses have been figured at about $750 plus another $150 to $200 for incidentals while I'm in England, Churchill said.

I had no plans for going abroad until Jerry Knoblet, representing the Cass City School Student Council, approached me one day and said that there was an opening from the school and asked if I would like to go. But after that, he grinned, it was just a matter of time before the arrangements were made.

Details Complete

Most of the pre-trip details have been completed. Churchill has his passport, his shots and his flight plans. The first hop on his trip to England will be short. After leaving Metropolitan Airport he will travel to Buffalo, N. Y., where more students will be picked up. After that, it's nonstop to England.

Churchill has an idea of what to expect when he arrives in England. He attended a briefing for exchange students in the area at Douglas MacArthur School and, more recently attended a giant meeting at Ann Arbor where all the students and their parents were told about the program. There were about 2,000 persons there, Churchill recalled.

10 Girls File For Queen

Ten of the Cass City area's prettiest have been nominated to the race for the crown of the Cass City Area Centennial queen and contest officials are urging other area women and girls to join the fun.

Named so far are: Betty Kennedy, Jeri Ryan, Suzanne Barnes, Jane Ballard, Kathy Ballard, Katherine Stroupe, Arlene O'Dell, Linda McConkey, Barbara Bustamante and Dawn Silvernail.

Nominating coupons are in this issue of the Chronicle and will be run each week until nominations close.

The contest is open to any area girl, 15 or older, who lives, works, shops, or goes to school in Cass City. Contestants may be married or single and may nominate themselves.

The queen will reign for the full week of the centennial after being named at the Centennial Ball on July 17. Prizes, gifts and a number of activities are being planned for the queen and her court.

Car Caravans

Cass City's centennial will hit the road in a succession of three car caravans to neighboring Thumb towns to remind residents of centennial activities.

Charles Auten, caravans chairman, has announced that the first caravan will be held Friday, June 18, and will travel through Caro, Vassar, Deford and Kingston.

Participants are asked to dress in centennial wear, if possible, but those in modern dress will be just as welcome, Auten remarked.

A loudspeaker will be in the respective towns about 20 minutes ahead of the caravans and short stops will be made at Vassar and Caro. Centennial mementos will be presented to the mayors of Vassar and Caro and a short square dance will be presented.

A second caravan, on Saturday, June 26, will travel to Elkton, Pigeon, Caseville and Gagetown, and a third caravan, on Saturday, July 10, will visit Bad Axe, Uby, Argyle, Snover and Decker.

Persons taking part in the caravans should gather at the Recreation Park at 6:30 p.m., where each of the caravans will form.

Sunday Crash Kills Lee "Jack" Corkins

SEATBELTS were credited with preventing serious injury to two Saginaw area men when their car was torn in two in a tragic accident Sunday, five miles east of Caro. Theirs was the second of three cars to be struck by a fourth car. Lee (Jack) Corkins, 48, former Cass City man died Tuesday of injuries suffered in the crash.

An autopsy was to have been performed Wednesday morning to determine the driver of a Cass City car that slammed into three other cars Sunday in the worst of several area accidents.

The autopsy was to have been performed on Lee Calvin (Jack) Corkins, 48, Belleville, following his death Tuesday at Hills and Dales General Hospital from severe chest injuries suffered in the tragic crash.

Registered to Corkins Auto Sales in Cass City, the car crossed the centerline about five miles east of Caro Sunday afternoon when its hood flew up. The car tore into the three cars coming from the opposite direction, injuring five persons, three of them seriously.

Listed in critical condition Wednesday at Hills and Dales was Gene Corkins of Cass City, Jack's brother. In fair condition was Mrs. Fern A. Popp, 46, Caro.

Dr. Herbert L. Nigg, M.D., Caro, also injured in the crash, was listed as "showing improvement," Wednesday morning by Saginaw General Hospital personnel. He had previously been listed as critical with a collapsed lung and severe chest injuries.

The autopsy was requested because both men were thrown from the car and deputies have not been able to question the survivor.

The Corkins car crossed the centerline after its hood flew up, striking the Popp car first. Mrs. Popp's husband, George, 57, and their son, Michael, 13, escaped serious injury.

Next to be hit was a sports car driven by James Krull, 21, Saginaw. Krull and an occupant, James Agans, 22, of Bridgeport, were treated at Hills and Dales and released.

Dr. Nigg's car was the last to be struck by the rampaging Corkins car. He was reportedly on his way to Hills and Dales "to deliver" a

Band Boosters Vote $1,000 For Instruments, Uniforms

The Cass City Band Boosters approved purchases for the school band totaling nearly $1,000 at the final meeting of the year for the organization.

The purchases are expected to care for the immediate future needs of the band, Ronald Walker, director, said.

Included will be two alto horns for marching, $200; three snare drums, $300; and several Senior band uniforms which cost about $20 each.

The club hopes that the school board will help with other purchases for the organization, authorities said.

Scholarships

Authorized again were scholarships to send students to a summer training session at either Michigan State University or Interlochen. These students will receive $50 each. Four majorities will attend summer camp and $20 was approved for each.

Band Camp

The annual band camp will be held at Wilderness State Park, near Mackinaw City, Aug. 27-Sept. 3. The camp costs each student $7.00 and the band boosters pick up the rest of the tab, estimated at $500.

One of the fund raising projects for the club will be a booth during Cass City's Centennial where lunches will be served.

It was revealed that the band will march at the Bay City Centennial July 18; in Frankemuth Sunday, June 13, and in Cass City's Centennial.

New officers presided at the final meeting.

Special Legislative Session Grows More Likely Every Day

By Elmer E. White
Work Undone

Likelihood of a special session in the Michigan Legislature this year grows greater every day.

Government reorganization and fiscal reform appear the most likely areas which will remain undone when the regular session ends.

If the session closes on schedule it would be up to the Governor to determine when a special meeting would be held. He is also given the power to set the topic or topics for consideration at any such session.

Government reorganization will automatically revert to an executive responsibility if the legislature fails to accomplish it by the end of this year.

For this reason it is still unknown whether Gov. George Romney would call a special session on it or whether he would prefer to let the year pass without action on the constitutionally-ordered change.

Fiscal reform also raises some question about the Governor's intentions. He and many legislators are on record that action is needed before 1967.

If the legislature adjourns on schedule, however, the burden will be on Gov. Romney to decide whether reform is really desirable this year. He must also weigh carefully the chances of getting his or any other reform package through the two houses. He tried it once in September, 1963, and failed to gain passage.

With doubt in the minds of legislators on whether the Governor would call a special session, it now looks as if the lawmaking body will try to stick by its present adjournment schedule.

An adjournment extension could avoid a special call, as was done in 1962 when lawmakers wanted to prevent Gov. John B. Swainson's demand for reappointment work. At that time, as in other years, the legislature simply recessed its session to the end of the year.

By extending the session, the legislature gains the ability to work on remaining problems at its own pace rather than at the will of the chief executive.

New Is Important
"The challenge to education in Michigan in the next decade lies not so much in the future as it does in the present," says State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

Bartlett, who soon will leave Michigan to take a federal position in the education field, says failure to plan today for tomorrow could easily mean catastrophe on the morrow.

"No longer is it possible, especially in education, to allow the years ahead to take care of themselves, willy-nilly, without planning, without direction and without action."

Practical planning, the school chief says, must encompass at least the next 10 years of increasing enrollments, more and greater knowledge and growing education requirements.

"To be consistent with our past and to give substance to our democratic faith and belief . . . education must offer the opportunity for every person to develop to his maximum potential," said Bartlett. "We can no longer tolerate the critical loss in human talent we are now sustaining because our educational programs do not and cannot meet the varied needs of our many social-economic levels."

system by 1975 will be special programs beyond present ones for the mentally, physically and emotionally handicapped child, for vocational-technical training, and for senior citizens.

The latter will be encouraged, Bartlett says, by early retirement programs and the increased need for adults to learn new skills.

Bartlett's crystal ball also pictures the possibility of free public education at the community college level and better use of teacher talents. "Teachers will do more teaching and less bookkeeping, milk money collecting and the like."

Michigan has been just about doubling its educational dollar investment every decade since 1940 and likely will continue this rate, predicts the present school chief.

Guest Editorial

Fourth in a series. June 2, 1965

Dear Mr. Editor,
Nineteen years ago I received my discharge. I was no longer a Captain in the United States Army. Following the discharge, I was offered a fabulous association with a clinic in Detroit. A ready-made assured income. But a wise doctor at the clinic said, "Pick where you want to live, then start out." I wanted a smaller town, a progressive town, a dynamic town. I picked Cass City.
I have been happy with my choice. Cass City has made great strides. To me, the outstanding town in the Thumb.
Now we are faced with another chance to grow and progress. It has become obvious that we need a new school. We have slipped behind in this one respect. As I see it, much work and careful planning has gone into this project. On Monday, June 14, we will vote for the funds for a great necessity, a new school.
Once again, my faith in the outstanding community of Cass City will be vindicated.

Sincerely yours,
James H. Ballard M.D.

The clock moved back a few years for veteran customers at Gross and Maier Meat Market last week end. Greeting the customers in familiar fashion was Jack Esau, currently personnel manager at Walbro.
Before moving onward and upward Esau spent many years as a key man at the meat market.

We reprint this from the editorial columns of the Arenac County Independent at Standish:
"Thanks to $15,000 of Federal Aid Lapeer County will have a fall-out proof Civil Defense shelter in the basement of the jail. It won't be very big . . . just large enough to hold all the county officials and the State and Federal employees who work around that general office area.
"Probably it's a good idea to provide, with a reasonable investment, some protection so that our government can carry on.
"But can't you see what would happen in the event this horrible bomb is ever dropped? Can't you see these government employees crawling out of their den to find a barren, scorched earth . . . without even one penny, teeny taxpayer left?
"The irony of it all . . . to be saved without a single taxpayer around. The taxpayer won't have the last breath but if there's a way to see from the far beyond, he'll surely have the last laugh."

at Cass City Schools.
Also killed in the crash were two other passengers and the driver, all students at Michigan State University. Miss Nelson was a freshman. Others dead were Larr W. Johnson, 21, Grand Rapids, driver of the car; Nancy J. Ward, 19, Pontiac; and Richard McCleary, 20, Webster, N. Y.
The Johnson car collided with a car driven by John Gregg, 20, Alpena. Gregg said the Johnson car pulled in front of him attempting to make a left turn onto a road leading to the campus.
The Johnson car flipped in the collision and skidded 110 feet along the highway, bursting into flames.
Burial was in Colfax Cemetery, Bad Axe.
Minor Accidents
Police Officer William R. McKinley investigated two minor accidents Friday. Cars driven by Joan Ermons, 39, of Caro and Garry Czekol, 21, of Cass City collided in the General Cable parking lot. The left front fender, hood and door of the Ermons car and the right front fender and light on the Czekol car were damaged.
Minor property damage occurred when cars driven by Joseph J. Windy, 37, of Cass City and Robert Towler, 16, of Snover collided at the Main-Seeger intersection. Towler was attempting a left turn onto Seeger when the crash occurred.
Some people who climb to the top of the social ladder get "stuck-up" there.

Place Two on Probation in Circuit Court

Two county residents were placed on probation in sentences in Caro Wednesday, May 26.
Kenneth Orton was found guilty of parole violation in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge James Churchill.

Orton was brought into court for failure to make support payments as required when he was placed on probation for forgery. Judge Churchill extended his probation for 18 months, with the first six months in the Tuscola County Jail. He was also ordered to resume payment of restitution and fine after his release from jail.

Albert Lintner Jr. was placed on three years' probation after he had pleaded guilty to forging three checks. In addition, he was ordered to pay a fine of $300, costs of $100 and restitution of $235.

In a civil case, Harold Kester of Watertown Township was granted a consent judgment of $2542.63 against Sargent Construction Company for 45,775 tons of gravel taken by Sargent during 1958-1962.

Announce More Scholarships For College Bound Seniors

With more than 40 already having been accepted for study in some school next year, the class of 1965 of Cass City High School seems likely to have one of the highest percentages of college bound members of any class to graduate from the local school.

In addition, the class may well set some sort of record in terms of the number of scholarships granted to its membership. Over 12 are already assured, with one or two still to be decided.

Oakland University, at Rochester, has named a Cass City senior to receive a scholarship award for 1965. Entering this school next fall

In addition to a fine athletic career while in high school, Ed has shown marked leadership qualities, being student president in his senior year. Beginning next fall, Ed will continue his studies at Olivet College under a scholarship granted him by that school.

Walbro Corporation established a scholarship in 1964 to be awarded annually to a Cass City High School graduate qualifying on the basis of academic achievement, service and need. The award is renewable for the full four-year period of study, when certain awards in public speaking. Milligan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Milligan of Cass City.

Albion College has made scholarship grants to two Cass City seniors. One has been given to Lynn minimum grade standards are met. The committee in charge of this fund has voted to give the 1965 award to Ruth Ann Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freeman, of Cass City. Ruth Ann, who is the salutatorian of her class, will continue her schooling at the University of Detroit.

Ruth Ann Severance

Another probable candidate for the teaching profession is Ed

For many years, the Student Council has awarded a memorial scholarship in the name of Thelma J. Hunt, one of its former English teachers. The selection committee for this award, composed of representatives of the students, teachers and administration, names the recipient on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and financial need. Receiving the award for 1965 is John Matuszak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Matuszak, of rural Unionville. John, who is a math and science major, plans to enter mechanical engineering, and has been accepted for study at the Soo branch of Michigan Tech.

Among the scholarship winners under the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority is Barbara Bustamante, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Bustamante of Cass City.

Barbara Bustamante

Barbara was one of more than 16,000 Michigan high school seniors who wrote the competitive examinations for these scholarships last November. The scholarship is renewable for each year of undergraduate study, providing that the student remains eligible. Barbara will use her award at Aquinas College in Grand Rapids.

The present graduating class has shown a wider than usual range in its selection of schools. Scholarships, too, have come from a larger number of colleges than has usually been the case.

Robert A. Milligan who was a winner of a $1,000 scholarship to Michigan State University from the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association of Michigan, says he plans a career in dairy farming.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A regular meeting of the Village of Cass City Council was held on Tuesday, May 25, 1965, at 7:00 p.m. in the Municipal Building. All trustees were present.

Minutes of the regular and one special meeting were read and approved as read.

The monthly financial statement was briefly reviewed together with an audited report by Yeo & Yeo on the water project funds.

The committee on the dump site reported that the ground does not look promising. Water was reached after boring holes 4 and 5 feet down. Methods of economically draining this area will be explored with county and state authorities.

The Park Committee submitted the names of Mrs. Robert Tuckey to be hired as Arts & Crafts Director and David Binder to be in charge of the swimming pool. The council approved these appointments. An insurance plan for the youngsters participating in the summer program was discussed. Method of handling the summer program funds was referred to the Park Committee. The opening date of the swimming pool was set for the week end of 6-19-65, and purchase of a diving board has been referred to the Park Committee.

F. Auten reported on discussions with Village of Pigeon authorities regarding the Michigan Municipal League retirement program. Enough additional information was presented to show the need of having a representative of that plan make a presentation to the council. The Finance Committee will continue to follow this.

Dr. Selby presented his request to the council to purchase a 66' strip of land out of village water tower property adjacent to his residence. In as much as these lots are too small for residential use under the village zoning ordinances, and since village easement rights are to be retained, the council resolved to offer this land for sale at public auction. The village attorney has been instructed to draw the proper resolution and to set up the public auction procedure.

A motion was made by F. Auten seconded by B. Freiburger that the council accept the bid of $830.00 made by Leland Rabideau for purchase of the 1963 police car. Motion carried.

The council reviewed applications of men to be hired for the village crew. The final decision regarding the man to be selected and the starting rate of pay was left up to the Village President and Superintendent of Public Works.

A motion was made by F. Auten, seconded by Dr. Rawson that a resolution be adopted authorizing the execution of a license with the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co. dated April 28, 1965, for the installation, maintenance and use of a 15" concrete drain pipe 5' below the top of the ground, and the maintenance and use of a 24" concrete pipe 8' below the base of the rails, at a rental price of $10.00 for each ten year period or fraction thereof. Motion carried.

It was moved by J. Seals and seconded by F. Auten that a proposed truck ordinance be tabled indefinitely in accordance with the recommendations of the Planning Commission. Motion carried.

Also in accordance with Planning Commission, it was moved by F. Auten and seconded by J. Seals that a 30 ft. width in the two blocks of alley between Seeger and West on the north side of Main St. in the central business district be blacktopped with cost to be shared two-thirds by the village and one-third by the property owners whose property adjoins Main St. Motion carried.

The tree ordinance was submitted to the village attorney as recommended by the Planning Commission and is to be published prior to adoption.

After considerable discussion, a motion was made by B. Freiburger seconded by G. Albee that a blanket increase of seven per cent be given, effective immediately, to all village employees with the exception of Chief Palmateer who will receive a $15.00 a week increase and A. Hillman who just recently received an increase. Motion carried.

A letter was read from Jack Poelstra, Bancroft Village President, thanking the village for the hospitality shown to him and to his party during Mayor's Day.

A motion was made by G. McCullough seconded by G. Albee that the president's appointments of Evelyn MacRae and Lester Ross to three year terms on the planning Commission and E. L. Schwaderer to a similar term on the Zoning Board of Appeals be approved. Motion carried.

A letter requesting sidewalks in front of property owned by H. L. Bridges and N. Hurry on Pine St. was read to the council. The usual procedure will be followed.

A letter was read from C. R. Hunt Construction Co., requesting the elimination of curb back and installation of pan only for drainage in front of his place of business on West. The matter was approved subject to review by the Planning Commission.

Request from Hills and Dales General Hospital for blacktopping was referred to the Street Committee.

Lawrence Guinther and Oscar Brooks were present to inquire of the need for a 33 ft. alley-way from West to Vulcan between 6th and 7th. They plan to petition to the council that this alley be abandoned.

Thomas Proctor thanked the council for the lighting and their action in clearing up the Main corner in front of his store. He also was present representing the Centennial Group to seek a chairman to handle the seating at the stadium. Bleachers have been promised but must be transported and erection supervised. William J. Schram accepted the chairmanship upon approval by the council.

Motion made by J. Seals seconded by B. Freiburger that the bills as approved by the Finance Committee be paid. Motion carried.

Nelson Willy's request that he be allowed to attend the Sewage Operators Conference in Boyne Mountain on June 7-9 was granted.

Motion made by J. Seals seconded by B. Freiburger that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was sewing up the loose ends, sorter taking up where the Congress left off when they went home for their customary 4-day week-end.

Bug Hookum reported he had went out to the mail box Friday morning hoping to git his refund from the Internal Revenue folks and all he got was a couple more of them cards punched full of holes telling how much he owed and his bulletin from the Department of Agriculture. He said he put the cards in the refrigerator for safe keeping and set down on the front porch to read all about the agriculture situation as diagnosed by them armchair farmers in Washington.

It was one item of interest, he reported, in the bulletin. It announced the U.S. potato crop was the smallest since 1958, was 25 million 100-pound bags under the last 5-year average, and the 1.3 million acres harvested was the smallest since the Civil War.

Ed Doolittle said he had been reading the same thing and had saw where the potato brokers was having to order potatoes from Canada at $9 a bag to supply their customers. Ed blamed it on the Democrats, said he could recollect back in 1950 when the Democrats had farmers painting potatoes green, soaking 'em in kerosene and burning 'em to cut down on the supply. And now allowed Ed, the Democrats has got 'em so scarce and high the feller that grows 'em can't even afford to eat his own potatoes.

Clem Webster was taking up for the Democrats, said now that potatoes was so high and scarce the American people would have a new respect for the potato and would be more grateful for their blessings. Everthing, Mister Editor, at the country store final gits down to politics, from the price of potatoes to the parson's war agin sin. And it's beginning to look like both the parson and potatoes was losing.

Zeke Grubb reported he was on a diet, couldn't eat potatoes, wasn't interested nohow. The great problem in the country today, claimed Zeke, was gitting a little safety on the highway. He said he had a plan that had ought to be took up immediate in Washington. Zeke allowed as how the Congress should suspend all traffic laws and regulations for one week-end ever month. Careful drivers would be required to stay at home and the reckless drivers would scratch off and go fire-balling along the highways, killing off a heap of each other. In 6 months, claimed Zeke, we'd git most of 'em off the highways and in the cemetery and it'd be safe for sensible drivers to git back on the highways.

If you favor this plan, Mister Editor, let us hear from you.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Tim

Library Plans Tea, Open House July 20

All six board members and the librarian were present Wednesday evening, May 26, when the monthly board meeting was held at the Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library.

Mrs. Arthur Little, Librarian, reported that between May 1-25, 15 new books were added to the library and that circulation was up 44, in comparison with the same period in 1964.

Contracts made with Elmwood and Novesta townships to provide library service to residents of those townships have been validated by the receipt of penal fines due to those townships. The money due was forwarded to the library board treasurer, Mrs. Ben Beukelman, by the county treasurer's office.

The couple was married by the Rev. Thomas Stubbs May 25, 1915.

Now retired, Mr. Kelley served as Director of Social Welfare in Tuscola County for many years. The Kelleys are members of the Deford Methodist Church.

The brothers and sisters of the couple attended a dinner Sunday honoring the Kelleys and an open house was held from 3 to 6 p.m.

Cohosts for the occasion were the two sons of the Kelleys, Warren and Leland of Kalamazoo. There are six grandchildren.

Guests attended from Flint, Kalamazoo and the Cass City area.

Mrs. Richard Britt

Miss Patricia Ann Kostanko of Cass City became the bride of Richard Leonard Britt of Pontiac at St. Pancratius Catholic Church Saturday, May 22. The 11:00 a.m. double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Arnold Messing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kostanko of Cass City and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Britt of Bad Axe.

Vases of white gladioli decorated the altar. Mrs. Ray Tooley of Gageton was organist at the rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length be-ruflled gown of French designed scalloped chantille that fell to a full chapel train. Fashioned with long, tapered sleeves, the gown's portrait neckline was accented with pearls and crystals and also edged the scalloped skirt.

Her illusion veil was held by a matching lace double crown with details of pearl and crystal and she carried an arrangement of eucharis lilies.

The bride's sister Jean was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Marcie Rodriguez of Caro and Val Furness of Cass City.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids were identically gowned in floor-length dresses of organza over taffeta in soft mint green studded with an empire bodice and full obi bow back. For their headpieces, they wore matching teardrop crowns and carried crescent bouquets of carnations. The bridesmaids' were lemon yellow and the honor maid's were chartreuse.

Best man was the bride's brother Tom of Pontiac. Groomsmen were Harvey McIntyre of Uby, cousin of the groom, and John Kostanko, brother of the bride.

Doug McIntyre of Uby and Joe Dombrowski of Farmington, both cousins of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Kostanko, the bride's mother, wore a soft green brocade sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was two beige orchids.

Mrs. Britt, the groom's mother, wore a soft beige sheath dress in patterned crepe with matching beige accessories. She had a corsage of two pink orchids.

A breakfast and reception followed the ceremony at the Dom Polski Hall in Caro. Three hundred guests were present.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Cass City High School and the groom is a 1962 Uby High graduate.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to the southern states, the new Mrs. Britt wore a light blue sheath. They will make their home at 2078 Windy Hill Lane, Pontiac.

Two bridal showers were held in her honor. May 7 a personal shower was given by Mrs. Maurice Taylor, Mrs. Lynn Babich and Susie Taylor. Hostesses Elda Britt, Elva McIntyre and Eva McKnight fed the bride-elect at the Huron Inn in Uby on April 25 at a bridal shower.

Work Full Time, Cass City's Athletes Told at Annual All-Sports Banquet

Work full time on whatever job you do and make your life work something you enjoy, Morley Fraser, head football coach at Albion College, told athletes of Cass City High School and their parents Wednesday night at the school gym. The speech was one of the features of the annual athletic banquet at the school.

The packed house heard Morley go on to say that if you enjoy your work, you won't mind devoting the hours that are necessary to be a success, regardless of how many it takes.

He told the youngsters that they should make their home, family and marriage a full time job, also.

Athletics are important, Fraser said, as important as any academic subject in preparing and training students for the challenges that occur in later life. He stressed again that to get the most out of the programs, it is necessary to do the work to succeed. You must make school a full time job, he said.

Awards Presented Prior to the speech the presentation of letters and special awards by coaches and school officials highlighted the banquet. The coveted Paul Smarks trophy for outstanding athletic, scholarship and citizenship achievement was presented to co-winners Jim Knoblet and Ed Retherford by Superintendent Don Crouse.

Knoblet was recognized for his all state honorable mention in football and his selection on the all area first team in football. James Champion was feted for his selection on the area first team basketball squad.

All conference selections were also introduced. They included: Champion, second team basketball; Knoblet, first team football and second team basketball; Casimir Pasieczny, honorable mention, football; Retherford, second team, football; Richard Turner, honorable mention, football, and Carl Weppert, honorable mention, football. The most improved athletes in the school were gridders Gary Tracy and Larry Groombridge and they were recognized at the banquet.

Cheerleading awards presented by Mrs. Lenore Lemanski. Varsity members were Bev Harbec, Betty Kennedy, Arlene O'Dell, Jeri Ryan and Peggy Sawicki. Alternates were Gayle and Penny Dillon.

The football awards were presented by Oarie Lemanski in what was probably his last official act with the boys as a Cass City High School coach. He told the crowd of his pride in the boys and that he was sorry to be leaving them at the end of the year.

Football captains were Retherford and Knoblet.

Basketball Awards Basketball awards were presented by Coach John Oswald.

The letter winners were: James Champion, Charles Churchill, Wayne Copeland, Duane DeLong, Phillip Gray, Larry Groombridge, George Kloc, James Knoblet, Jerry Knoblet, Ed Retherford, Douglas Ruhl, David Schember and Alfred Wallace. Captain was Ed Retherford.

Oswald also presented the following letters in baseball: Champion, Copeland, Gray, Richard Hartwick, Thomas Kelly, James Knoblet, Jerry Knoblet, Rabideau, Douglas Ruhl, Schember, Leslie Searls, Wallace and Allan Zawilinski. Co-captains were Champion and Knoblet.

Track Awards

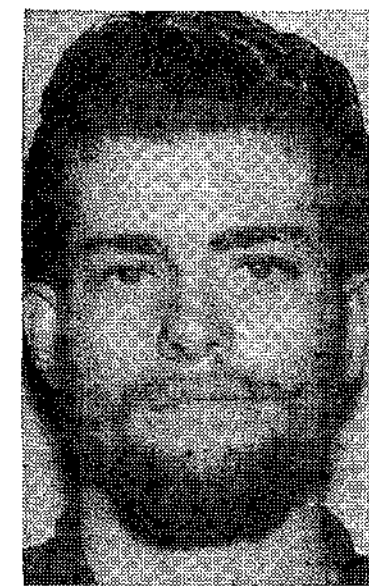

Letters in track were presented by Robert Sickle. Receiving letters were: James Crane, Groombridge, Eugene Izydorek, George Kloc, Larry Kolb, Richard McRae, Phillip Nichols, Pasieczny, Retherford, Michael Root, Jack Selby, Dean Stine, Gary Tracy and Carl Weppert. Captain was Retherford.

Junior high awards were presented by Dale Sherman. James Knoblet gave the invocation and Les Searls the benediction.

George Elliott introduced the guest speaker and Arthur Holmberg was the toastmaster.

A Mother Always Knows Her Son...

Mrs. Bill Woodward of Cass City was the first person to call the Chronicle office and correctly identify Ronald Mouton of Gagetown as the man behind the beard last week.

There were only three correct guesses... one of which did not qualify for the free subscription because it was made to the home of Dave Kraft. Only office calls are eligible to win.

Besides Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Mouton correctly guessed her son and Gordon Bigham knew last week's mystery man.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

Individually a Grain Of Sand is Nothing

By Dave Kraft

The man stretched out his hand, palm up, and the sand drained through his fingers. "Come on," he pleaded, "It's only a little farther. We can make it."

Just to his left, the woman sat slumped on the sand. Her shoulders shook in quiet convulsions and at first glance she might've been crying.

A closer look, however, revealed she was not crying. Indeed, she was laughing... almost hysterically.

Behind the pair, some distance back, were two children, playing in the sand, unmindful of the drama that was unfolding just a short distance away.

If they saw what was going on, they gave no sign. It was something they'd seen before. Mother and father often put on these ridiculous exhibitions.

Let's go back to the beginning. It was Sunday and the sun was shining brightly and mother had said, much to father's television-watching dismay, "Let's go get some sand for the sand box."

Now, the only really good sand father knows about is clear over by Vassar. He also remembers that on another sand gathering gambol, mother presented quite a problem.

She has the very annoying habit of wanting to stop and gather sand along side of the road, wherever the terrain is likely looking. This, it seems to me, would be much like digging up trees on state land for your landscaping. It just isn't done.

Despite his views on the subject, father was outvoted and sand pits, here we come.

Sure enough, every sandy spot along side of the road brought, "There's some sand. Let's stop."

Finally, after what seemed like eons, and to the relief of father's tortured nerves and ear drums, we arrived at the sand pit. Out pile the kids and mom and dad with sand buckets, boxes and shovels in hand, we all race for the nearest sand dune.

Sand is a perfect example of "strength in unity" or perhaps "weight in unity." Individually, a grain of sand is nothing. Collectively, it's something else.

While the kids frolicked, mother and dad filled the boxes with sand. When they were full, father flexed his muscles, such as they are, and in one deft motion, bent over, grabbed a box and hoisted.

The box, however, was unhoistable and father very nearly tore his fingernails off as they scraped up the side of the box. Not only that, he started something which he's pretty sure will develop into a hernia.

"Come on, fella," he said to mother, "this is a two-man job."

And so, with mother on one end and father on the other, they attempted to carry the box the short distance to the car. Aside from a few grunts and groans, and a "See, this isn't so bad, father said nothing to mother.

That's why it is difficult to explain why she started laughing. First it was nothing more than a snigger (No, not a snicker. When she snickers, it comes out snigger.). It grew until it became a full-fledged laugh.

"What's so, tee hee, funny?" asked father. This only produced more laughter. Soon father was laughing as loud as mother. Ever notice when you laugh how weak you get? That's why you shouldn't laugh when you're carrying a box of sand.

"Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! Hee! Hee!" "It's slipping... It's slipping!" "Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! Hee! Hee!" screamed father. "I know... I know."

In desperation and with perfect logic, mother let go of the box. Father was dragged to his knees as the box hit the ground, and sagged but didn't break.

Mother staggered back a step, bent over, turned around once and then collapsed. Her hysteria mounted. Father, never one to pass up a chance to dramatize, scooped up some sand and as it poured through his outstretched hand, gasped, "Come on, it's... but you've heard all that, haven't you?"

Anyway, that's the last he saw of her. He picked up the kids and drove away. He took one last look as he left and saw her sitting there, next to the box, laughing and writing her name in the sand with her toes.

Chronicle foreman Jim Moore got his shirt sleeve caught in one of our job presses the other day with the net result that he lost his sleeve, some skin and got pinched bad enough for good measure to leave a black and blue mark.

He had plenty of warning, though. The job he was printing was a red ink thing entitled: "We've got growing pains!"

Elywn Helwig has been foolhardy enough to challenge me to a foot race. Just what prompted him to make such a sure bid to failure eludes me now but I can't let it go unheeded.

We might make this a special event with a cash prize donated by "Komments" readers. I don't know about Helwig, but I'm not above accepting monetary awards. Who cares about amateur standings?

I think it only fair to warn him that I ran the 440 and the 380 in high school. Also, I'm not carrying much more weight than I did then.

Of course, I find it harder to catch my breath than I used to, but that's just one of the hazards of the game.

Helwig didn't say whether he wanted it bare-foot or with shoes or if it was to be running or walking. As the challenged party, I suppose that's up to me.

Next time you see him, you might press him to set a date. I want a day or two to get in shape.

SALTY BABY FOOD AND HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Q. A recent newspaper article states that salt present in infant foods may be a factor in the development of high blood pressure later in life. Is this true?

A. Certain animal studies suggest such a possibility but there is no proof that the same thing applies to humans. A great many questions about high blood pressure remain unanswered. Until much more is known, limiting the salt intake of infants to prevent possible high blood pressure in adult life would be an unnecessarily illogical and unjustified procedure.

TONGUE-TIE

Q. Are some people actually tongue-tied?

A. Yes, the tongue can be so adherent that in speech, the tip is not free to touch the roof of the mouth. Difficulty is therefore encountered in making the sounds "t," "d," and "n." A simple surgical procedure corrects the mechanical defect but in the older child or adult this does not necessarily ensure proper speech. It is often necessary to follow the surgery with speech therapy to correct the faulty speech habit.

Michigan's periodic, puzzling die-off of alewives along the lower Great Lakes has started again. Windrows of the dead fish have been washed ashore recently in the St. Clair river system and the Thumb area along Lake Huron, cluttering miles of beaches with a springtime eyesore. Alewife losses, which are especially heavy in these two parts of the state, are expected to also occur up and down Lake Michigan's shores this spring. The annual die-off of these members of the herring family remains a mystery, but research efforts are being made by fish biologists to solve the situation. Meanwhile, the alewife problem leaves shoreline owners with an unpleasant cleanup chore. The best thing they can do is simply rake up these fish and bury them. Alewives make excellent fertilizer so this work is not all for naught. —Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Pictorial Review Depicts Need for New School

ON STAGE—Many a youngster has yearned to tread the boards, but for these Willis Campbell Elementary School kindergarten students, being on stage is an everyday occurrence. School officials cited this class and one at Deford, also held on stage, as prime examples of overcrowding in their bid for a new high school building. (Chronicle photo)

ONE OF THE FINEST elementary school libraries in the Thumb doubles as a first grade classroom at Willis Campbell Elementary School. These students are trimmed off other regular first grades in order to cut down on teacher loads. (Chronicle photo)

THROUGH THIS DOOR and under the steps at the right is the Cass City High School sick room where ailing students are kept until they can be taken home or given treatment. The tiny cubicle, listed as inadequate at a recent public meeting on the proposed new high school, contains a cot, a chair and a sink. (Chronicle photo)

CLOAK ROOM CLASSROOM—A similar crowded conditions which, school officials say, will be alleviated if the new school building is approved. (Chronicle photo)

Just a phone call to Edison does the trick. You don't have to hunt up a repairman yourself so you save both time and money.

Edison service is prompt, too. Servicemen are radio dispatched so that an appliance will be out of order the least possible amount of time.

Tell Top Cows in

Huron No. 3 District

William Andrus, supervisor for the Huron No. 3 district of the DHIA, reported the top monthly and 305-day records in his district.

The top cows for the month belonged to the Haylee farm with an average of 1609 pounds of milk and 55 pounds of fat. Second was the Alvin Rathie herd of 18 cows with 1496 pounds of milk and 54 pounds of fat.

Other owners in the top ten finished in the following order: Gunden Brothers, Leroy Gnagey, Bruce Protzman, William Bucholz, Donald Doerr, Carl Yackie and son, Arnold Schweitzer and Dan Dietzel.

Haylee Farm owns the top individual in the 305-day class. The cow produced 17,259 pounds of milk and 726 pounds of fat. A distant second was the cow owned by H. A. Sturm and sons with 14,613 pounds of milk and 546 pounds of fat.

Others in the top ten are owned by: H. A. Sturm and sons, E. T. Leipprandt and son (three cows), William Bucholz and sons, Leroy Gnagey, Leonard Seley and Donald Doerr.

Self-interest is the thing most apt to warp a man's judgment.

ABILITY

Success is largely a matter of ways and means—winning ways and sufficient means.

NEW BOSS

Many a self-made man loses his identity when he gets tied up with a tailor-made wife.

CHILD'S PLAY—Christine Krueger, six, demonstrates for her three-year-old brother, Scott, the ease with which temperatures are controlled in the parents' new, three bedroom home, just behind Hills and Dales General Hospital. The Kruegers and Detroit Edison will hold a two-day open house Saturday and Sunday at the Gold Medallion home.

Rodney Kruegers Open Doors of All-Electric Home

Another Detroit Edison "Gold Medallion" open house Saturday and Sunday, June 5-6, at the Rodney Krueger home in Cass City will give area residents an opportunity to see flameless electric living in action.

Open house at the home, located just behind Hills and Dales Hospital at 4653 Hospital Drive, will be from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. each day.

The rambling, four-bedroom home features unique ceiling cable heat upstairs and base-ray heating in the full basement which includes the family room. Individual thermostats in each room control the heat which is spread evenly throughout the room.

The complete zone control makes it possible for each room thermostat to be set at a different temperature to suit the comfort requirements of the occupants.

Because Krueger did much of the interior work himself, the attractive home means much more to the family than just another house. Installation of all wiring, heating cable, insulation, tiling and other finishing touches were done by Krueger.

General contractor was Dean Lowe with Ryland and Guc Plumbing and Heating, Frank Chippi Plastering and Baker Electric furnishing other services.

Medallion wiring throughout the home assures full use of appliances and outlets throughout the house without worry of fuse burnouts or overloaded circuits.

"Light for Living," in accordance with recommendations of the Electric Living Division of the Detroit Edison Company, enhances the beauty of the home and provides comfort for all seeing tasks.

Cass City area residents are invited to drop by the home and view its many new electrical innovations.

Want ads are newsy, too.

BOOK REVIEW

25 Editions Printed And Still Popular

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

First published in 1947, John Steinbeck's THE PEARL has enjoyed a popularity which has seen 25 editions printed. Bantam Books published the edition I read. Steinbeck has written many books and, starting with the great depression of the early 1930's, he wrote many novels built on that theme. This book is not identified with any given time in history, but is kindred to Hemingway's powerful THE OLD MAN AND THE SEA.

The entire book is built around a youthful oyster hunter, Kino, his wife, Juana, and their infant son, Coyotito. They live in a hut loosely constructed of straw, as did all of Kino's coworkers who went out oystering daily, always hoping to find a pearl of tremendous value. They are all poverty-stricken, and know only the community of straw huts which grows on the edge of a city. (We would use the term 'slums' in preference to 'suburbs', suggesting, however, that 'suburban slums' would accurately describe the area.)

As the tale starts, a scorpion bites the baby, and Juana immediately starts trying to suck the poison out of the wound. Deciding that their son needs a doctor they set out for the village. In typical Steinbeck manner, most of their neighbors follow along, sensing that for years to come this incident may furnish a topic for conversation around the home fire. The doctor is dining when the procession reaches his home. Kino is made to take some small pearls out of his pocket to offer the man of medicine. Even this proves insufficient and a shamed servant is forced to turn the poor oyster hunters away.

So far the book has furnished background for the story which now emerges. Leaving Juana to nurse the feverish baby, Kino takes his boat out to the oyster beds, where he fills his bag with oysters on repeated dives. (There is no diving equipment here, but well-developed lungs allowing him several quick minutes to gather oysters on each dive. As you would expect this is an occupation for the strong young men only.)

One oyster is of such size and quality as to excite Kino, and on opening the oyster, it is immediately plain that the pearl is of excessive size. It becomes the immediate talk of all the oystermen. With their wives and children, they join the visitors at Kino's hut. The following day takes on the hue of a national holiday and the entire populace of the village goes with Kino to see the worth of the pearl as determined by the oyster buyers. Kino is aware instantly that the pearl has a value far beyond what he is offered, and announces publicly that he will take the pearl to another city to sell it.

The doctor who had once refused to see the sick little baby, on hearing of the pearl, now visits Kino's hut to treat the sick boy and, through trickery, learns where Kino has buried the pearl. Kino, simple and trusting before he had discovered the pearl, now distrusts everyone. He digs up the pearl and spends a sleepless night. He is cut up fighting off intruders and, after hiding for a day with his brother, sets out with his family for the city. Being healthy and young they are able to maintain a rapid pace. Once they discover professional trackers following them, they go to the nearby mountains where the stone makes it far more difficult for them to be tracked.

Kino decides that he must attack and kill his followers and is carrying out his plan when a shotgun blast is heard from the cave where he had left his family. The final scene of the book pictures Kino and Juana returning to the village with the body of their son and throwing the pearl back into the ocean.

The parable of the pearl of great price suggests the theme for the tale. Simple, not too involved, yet moving, are words that come to mind as I think of Steinbeck's book.

THE PEARL by John Steinbeck. Bantam Books, N.Y., 1945-1964. Available from the Elkland Township and Cass City Public Library.
