

From the Editor's Corner

In the last decade there have been several attempts to zone townships. The nearest any in the area came to a zoning law was Evergreen township which held a vote for zoning which was defeated. It has been discussed, but never acted upon in Elkland township.

In this issue of the Chronicle, there is a story telling about a dismissed case against a former Cass City resident who operates a slaughterhouse in Bad Axe.

About the merits of either side in this particular case, we know nothing. But it is obvious that zoning was too little and too late for township officials.

Without zoning, and the right kind of zoning, every township has very little control on the building that will affect the property values of the entire area.

After the undesirable business starts, irate property owners waiting at the doors of public officials will be of no avail. The time to mend the dikes is before the flood.

And to be really effective, zoning should be initiated in all of the area townships, for what affects one affects the other.

Cass City's zoning, for instance, is adversely affected by the lack of zoning in Elkland township where any type of business can locate at the city limits and ruin years of progressive legislation in the village.

Can you think of anything about which you have a mental block? Writing the preceding item in this column recalls again one that I have.

Every time I write about one of the two townships east of Cass City (and I have written about them hundreds of times) I have to stop and check to see if its Evergreen or Greenleaf. I know the supervisors and clerks of both townships by sight, but if you ask me right now which serves which, I couldn't tell you and be 100 per cent sure that I had the right man at Evergreen or vice versa.

In the second section this week, you'll find the Chronicle's 10th annual building and remodeling section. Just for fun, we dug out the files to see how many firms who advertised in the section this week, were in the first section 10 years ago.

The answer is just two, Crotti-Lumber, Inc. (then Brinker Lumber Co.) and Leeson Walpaper and Paint. Seven of the 12 advertisers are out of business.

I imagine that the change evident here in 10 years can be reflected in every business up and down Main Street.

Business cannot survive on "old" customers. New ones must be found to replace those who are lost by natural attrition, a fact that experienced retailers recognize by advertising and one that keeps newspapers like the Chronicle going.

Probation for 2 Area Youths

William J. Crane and James R. Kile, both of Cass City, were placed on probation for two years Thursday after they pleaded guilty before Judge Arthur M. Bach in Circuit Court of carrying concealed weapons.

The two must serve the first 30 days in jail and pay costs of $50 each.

The youths were arrested in Port Austin and had a variety of weapons in their possession.

Kids Get Charge Out of Sparkling Cass City Pool

A short in the sump pump wiring closed the community swimming pool Saturday and Monday.

The short gave off shocks from the water fountains, faucets and drains. Pool managers decided to close down the pool until repairs could be made.

A new sump pump has been ordered and the old one is unplugged to prevent further problems.

Following the Fourth of July holiday the pool is now on its regular schedule.

Flying Egg Pots Parked Automobile

An egg fell out of the sky and hit a car owned by a former Holbrook resident in New Norway, Alberta, Canada, recently.

The car is owned by Ben Meske of Port Hope whose wife is the former Tina Walker of Holbrook.

Residents speculated that the egg belonged to one of the thousands of ducks which breed in the area that had either "miscalculated or been frightened off its nest."

Auto Crash Victim Buried Wednesday

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Owendale Methodist Church for Daniel McIlhargie, 24, who was killed when his car smashed into a bridge near Caro Sunday.

McIlhargie lost control of his car, struck a pier supporting the 500-foot steel bridge and knocked a portion of the bridge from its mountings. Some of the wreckage landed on the auto and pinned it under the water where it had plunged following the impact.

McIlhargie was born Jan. 21, 1941, at Bad Axe. He graduated from Owendale High School in 1959 and attended Ferris Institute.

Surviving are: his mother, Mrs. Avis McIlhargie, his father, Vincent McIlhargie, Detroit, two brothers, Robert of Kalamazoo, and Michael, in the Armed Forces stationed in Hawaii.

Mahaffey Recovering

Edward J. Mahaffey, 63, of Decker was listed in "fair to good" condition today at Marlette Hospital with a broken left leg and broken ribs suffered in an automobile accident Sunday.

Mahaffey was driving a pickup truck which was struck in the rear by a car driven by Joseph E. Mahon, 18, of Detroit, on M-53, about 10 miles north of Marlette.

Mahon was driving his car at more than 100 miles per hour when the crash occurred. He was being chased by Trooper R. L. Rivard of the Sandusky State Police Post. The accident was the second in three weeks involving area persons who were injured as youths were attempting to elude police.

Injured previously were Henry Sherman and Louis Sabo of Deford, who were involved in a similar accident near Lapeer in which two youths died.

Besides Mahaffey, Ronald C. Vitale, 19, of Detroit and Milan M. Bucko, Grosse Pointe Farms, passengers in the Mahon car, were injured.

Bucko was treated for cuts and bruises and released while Vitale suffered a broken wrist and cuts and bruises.

Mahon is recovering from a broken chest and head and face cuts.

The crash impact drove the truck 260 feet into a utility pole and then another 30 feet farther. The auto struck a culvert, breaking off a large chunk and caught fire. Trooper Rivard put out the fire with an extinguisher.

The car was demolished. Police are still investigating the crash.

Two Cars Collide

A car carrying seven Cass City area men and a car with an Arizona family collided Sunday, July 4, when their vision was obscured by brush on a curve on Orr Road, a half mile south of Deckerville Road.

Drivers of the cars were Thomas J. LaJoie, 37, of Buckeye, Arizona, and Luke Giddings, 27, of Mayville.

Riding with LaJoie were Leah LaJoie, Eddie LaJoie, and two children, Wade LaJoie and Noel LaJoie. Wade was injured slightly. In the Giddings car were Russell Giddings Jr., Kenneth Giddings, Larry Giddings, Robert Warford and Byron Richardson, all of Cass City, and Donald Giddings of Mayville.

A car driven by Vivian L. Beebe, 37, of Deford, backed into a parked car owned by Charles Rose, 27, of Caro, Monday at the Butler Store parking lot on Hurds Corner Road, a quarter mile north of Bevans Road.

Deny Injunction Against Starr

A suit seeking an injunction against a former Cass Cityan, Gordon Starr and his wife, was denied Friday by Circuit Judge Arthur M. Bach.

The suit was initiated by Colfax Township in Huron County against Starr and Robert and John Iseler, brothers who operate a milk farm. The Starrs operate a slaughterhouse in the township.

Judge Bach said that a zoning ordinance passed by the township was based on the Public Act 324 instead of Public Act 184 which was passed 12 years later.

The second reason for denying the injunction was that no township zoning board was appointed until July 15, 1964, two years after the adoption of an ordinance in 1962.

Thus a group of people were acting as a zoning board, who had never been authorized to do so by the township board. They had no authority to act, Bach said.

The judge also denied an injunction on the grounds that the slaughterhouse is a public nuisance. There is no evidence that the business constitutes a public nuisance, he said.

FRANK McVETY LOOKS AT some of the pictures in his scrapbook, mementos of bygone days when he was aboard sailing ships. (Chronicle photo)

McVety—Last of The True SAILORS

The next time you see one of those 19th century melodramas about the sea and sailing ships and start to wonder what it was really like, take a drive to the Frank McVety farm.

McVety, now a hale and hearty 66, lives on a farm on Phillips Road, three miles south of Cass City. The short, balding Scotchman spent five years in the Merchant Marines and, during World War I, was aboard a schooner.

The sail powered vessels were running both cargo and the ship itself to France.

The French purchased the ships from the United States and American crews manned them on their one-way trip to Europe.

When we left in a sailing ship, McVety recalled, we never knew how long we would be gone. "Those ships could glide along at 22 knots an hour or make one knot in 10 days...depending on the wind. Once while in Central America to pick up cargo, McVety said, we were 90 days at sea. We hit a dead calm and didn't move for days.

McVety was a quartermaster. During his career at sea he experienced just about every kind of weather.

Probably his narrowest escape came in the Caribbean. We were caught in a storm for 48 hours. The ship took on about 12 feet of water and we lost all of our cargo. "It's lucky we didn't go down that time," he said.

Going to sea was probably just a natural thing for McVety to do. Born in Kinde, he struck out on his own when only 16. His travels took him to Canada and then westward.

When World War I started, McVety joined the Merchant Marines and trained at Seattle, Washington. After the war and before he shipped out again for South America, McVety worked wherever he could. "I put an ad in the paper offering $10 for a job and got another sailing job to put me on my feet," he recalled.

Previously, to keep going while "dry docked," the plucky McVety worked on various jobs in various states...Utah, Wyoming and Oregon.

Returns Home

McVety won't say just why he hauled anchor after five years and sailed back home to the Thumb, but perhaps his wife had a good deal to do with it.

For Mrs. McVety is a native of Harbor Beach and the two "more or less grew up together." In October of 1923 they were married.

Although at social security age, McVety is still working. I left the farm for a few years when one of my sons started to farm, but moved right back when he decided to give it up, he said. The couple has two boys, Rothwell and Bruce, neither of whom are any longer at home.

Right now McVety raises sheep and was in a hurry to get to the auction yard when being interviewed to see that he got the right price for some cattle that he was selling.

His farm keeps him busy and in off moments, McVety can turn to two scrap books full of pictures of his sea life that proves that he was one of the last of the professional sailors to serve on non-powered ships.

Jury Gives Not Guilty Verdict in Traffic Case

A jury of two women and 10 men deliberated an hour and 45 minutes Tuesday afternoon in Caro before declaring a Midland woman not guilty of felonious driving in an Oct. 14, 1964, accident that permanently injured a Fremont township boy.

The verdict came at the end of a two-day trial for Margaret L. Northrup of Midland, the driver of a car which struck LeRoy Kepinger of W. Saginaw Road, Fremont township as he was disembarking from a school bus.

The Kepinger boy reportedly suffered severe brain damage which left him partially retarded.

Jurors were Lawrence Hartwick, Dorothy Heuchert, Frank Walden, A. R. Stone, Cecil Baker, Arthur Fortress, Fred Richardson, Arlen Cypher, Harland Murdick, A. F. Widger, Ralph Cramer and Ruth Bruder.

Trial sessions were held on July 2 and 6.

Sentence Flint Man to Jackson In Circuit Court

A Flint man was sentenced to two to five years at Jackson State Prison, Jackson, Wednesday, June 30, following his appearance before Circuit Court Judge James Churchill for probation violation.

Sentenced was Charles T. Leonard, Flint. Leonard had been put on probation earlier for the unlawful driving away of an automobile owned by Sy Gavne in Vassar. The original incident took place in Vassar on December 24, 1964.

Trial for Ernest J. C. Blackmer of Vassar was set for a future date following a plea of not guilty when he was arraigned for drawing a no account check. Blackmer allegedly wrote a $55.00 check on the First National Bank of Lapeer with no account on February 20.

Richard Blondell of Caro was remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending a pre-sentence investigation ordered for July 28. Blondell was arraigned for the April 1 theft of $200 in cash and merchandise from Lynn's Marathon Service Station in Caro.

Blondell entered a plea of guilty and bond was set at $3,000.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Clayton L. Colosky of Vassar on June 14. Bond was set at $100.

A petition for restoration of driving privileges was granted pending an appeal from Justice Court filed by Robert Greve of Saginaw. Greve was arrested on Oct. 9, 1964, on a reckless driving charge and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and a fine of $56.25 by Justice Douglas Williams.

He appealed the decision on Oct. 10 and posted $200 bond with Justice Williams. That same day Williams died of a heart attack.

Bond of $500 was continued and trial was set for July 16 for Raymond Cantu of Birch Run, charged with taking indecent liberties with a nine-year-old Birch Run girl on April 4. Cantu entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned on the charge.

In other court news, Mrs. Nancy Wilson of Gagetown was granted temporary support of $20.00 per week from her husband, Donald, in a divorce action charging extreme and repeated cruelty. The couple were married June 27, 1963, in Gagetown and have one child.

"Need More Men," Says Mel As Pageant Deadline Nears

"Help!" was the loud, clear plea issued by Centennial Pageant Director Mel Eckerstrom this week as deadlines for pageant casting closed in on a production still some 40 persons undercast.

Eckerstrom announced that he still needs 30 men and 10 women for various episodes in the six-night pageant set for July 19-24 at "The Recreation Park."

"These are walk-on parts and require absolutely no speaking and very little acting," Eckerstrom explained. Rehearsals are usually limited to one night a week.

Persons interested in taking part may contact Eckerstrom at the Cultural Center from 9:00 to 5:00 or may contact him at nightly rehearsals at the High School.

Eckerstrom also put out a plea for help on construction of back panels for the sawtooth steel and erection of stage canvases. Also needed immediately are several high school boys for back stage crew.

In Neighboring Townships

Up Charge for Fighting Fires

The cost of fire protection for neighboring townships has been increased by a recent action of the Elkland Township Board. The new fees will raise revenues some $2,300 based on the same number of fires as occurred last year.

Seeking to more realistically spread the cost of fire protection, Supervisor Ed Golding and the town board have established a stand-by fee based on the number of sections served.

Acting in conjunction with Fire Chief Nelson Willy, the board set the fee at $14 per section. The stand-by fee will bring in $504 yearly from Novesta, Evergreen and Greenleaf townships, which the Elkland Township Fire Department services completely.

From Ellington township, the new regulations will be in effect for the 13 sections served by the local department.

In addition to the stand-by fee, the townships will pay for fire runs on the basis of $75 for the first hour.

The new system will standardize rates. Formerly, different fees were charged different areas. Novesta township paid $350 yearly.

Greenleaf and Evergreen each paid $250 yearly. Ellington paid no stand-by fee last year.

For the townships that paid a stand-by fee, the cost per fire run was $50 for the first hour and $25 for each two hours after the first hour.

For townships that paid no stand-by fee, the cost was $100 for the first hour and $25 for each additional hour.

Establishing the new rates is the first step in revamping the fire department. A meeting will be called with affected supervisors following the Centennial and the new regulations explained.

Meanwhile, still to be settled is an agreement between the village and Elkland township. With a proposed new building expected to be purchased for the department, village authorities are anxious to settle the division of payment for the department.

Several plans have been suggested, but general agreement is expected to be impossible before a joint village-township meeting is held.

WITH A LITTLE LUCK, in just four more weeks three-year-old Ricky Heck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heck of Elkton, can get out of this contraption. He broke his leg in a fall and doctors used this traction set-up instead of a cast. His sister, Donna, a hospital employee, helps pass the time by reading to Ricky.

Ricky "Feet Up" After Fall

Room 218 at Hills and Dales General Hospital has two beds. One is empty. In the other, a blond, brown-eyed three-year-old boy lies with his feet hoisted high in the air, a rather uncomfortable position that he will have to maintain from six to eight weeks.

The boy is Ricky Heck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heck of Elkton. Ricky is in traction to allow the correct healing of a leg he broke June 24 when he fell from a ladder in the barn at his home.

While Ricky was having his picture taken for the Chronicle, his sister, Donna, a Hills and Dales office employee, explained how Ricky was taking the whole affair. "He's actually taking it very well, she admitted. "The first couple of days he didn't like it, but he's getting used to it."

She explained further that Ricky had been climbing a ladder in the barn and "was probably 17 to 13 inches off the ground when he fell." "He broke the bone about half way between the knee and the hip, closer to the hip."

Ricky was put in traction because his doctor felt with a child his age, a cast on one leg might promote a limp.

Spending the day on one's back with some books, a few toys and occasional visits is a long, hard haul for an active three-year-old but Ricky gives the impression he could make it standing on his head if he had to.

At least when asked how he felt, Tuesday afternoon he could still scrape up a half smile and "Pitty gud."

In four more weeks at best, he'll feel a lot better.

"It Was Fun" Say Boys of IGA Calif. Trip

"It was fun, good fun and I enjoyed myself," said Jim Burk, about his recent trip across the country which he won through the second annual boys' contest sponsored by the IGA.

"We went to Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Marineland and saw a baseball game between the Dodgers and the Mets."

Jim, who will be entering the ninth grade at Cass City next fall, enjoyed the Matterhorn display at Disneyland and thought it the best of the various displays. "I was impressed because I didn't think that such a big thing could be built by man."

"At Knott's Berry Farm and museum of American history, I liked the Calico Mine at the ghost-town," he said. This was quite interesting as an example of the old mines of the West.

"The porpoises would talk to their trainers in a strange language and the trainers would induce them to do tricks for food. They had trained whales that would do tricks for rewards of food."

Randy Peters, son of Mrs. Virgil Peters, also went on the trip. His comment was that it was so great that he wanted to win again next year.

About the only midnight oil burned these days is gasoline.

Want Help Finding What You Want?
Try The Want-Ads Today!

You build a new home to get exactly what you want.

why not get the heating system that gives you exactly what you want

Electric heat is custom heat. There's a thermostat in each room so you can dial the exact warmth you want... in the baby's room, the den, the kitchen, every room!
Electric heat is the clean, modern heat. No drafts or cold spots. You get even heat from head to feet. Ideal for your new home.

It's also a good choice as supplemental heat for your present home—to warm up a chilly bedroom or new family room.
The cost? That depends on your particular home. Electric heat may be your most economical heat. It won't cost you a penny to find out for sure. Just call Edison for a free estimate.

EDISON

A lower all-electric rate saves you as much as 20% on your heating bill if yours is an All-Electric Home. More reason than ever to enjoy all-electric living.

Valuable Tips in Special Section

This is the tenth year that the Chronicle has been bringing its readers a special section devoted to stories about area building, remodeling and repairing.

It features local stories about building conditions in Cass City and you'll find tips about the home as well.

Equally as valuable are the many special building and home supply materials and services listed in the advertisements in the section.

All of the concerns advertising are from the area and residents using their services can be sure that materials will be as represented.

There is no need to worry about "whitewash" paint, inferior materials or shoddy workmanship when these area merchants are consulted.

Each of them depends on your good will and future business to survive.

Why not keep this special section around the home for easy reference?

Many New Homes

Building Booming In Village, Area

In 1964, the village of Cass City issued building permits with a total declared value of $325,450 and, since building permit estimates are almost invariably low, with a probable cash value of upwards to three-quarters of a million dollars. It was one of the biggest booms in history for the area.

A check this year shows that Cass City should have another banner year in the building industry. Last year the largest dollar amount of construction in the village was the Frutchey Bean addition at the former Farm Produce Co. where huge new silos were erected.

This year's biggest dollar expenditure will be the addition at Walbro Corporation.

While the amount of commercial building in the area will probably not be as great as last year, when the new stockyards and the elevator silos in Gagetown helped swell the building total, new home construction should be great.

Already this year there have been eight new home permits issued, as compared to last year when only 10 permits were granted during the entire 12 months.

The eight homes have a declared value of $102,500.

As usual, one of the biggest builders is the village itself. An extensive street program is now being completed on West, Leach and Third Streets.

Planned for the near future is resurfacing of the alleys between Seeger and West Streets, north of Main Street.

An unusual feature of the permits issued in the first six months of this year, is that there were more issued for new homes than there were for alterations, by an eight to six margin.

The boom in building is also reflected in the various service industries. Most carpenters, plumbers and electricians are very busy and some of them are already booked for the season.

Finding both skilled and unskilled seasonal help is also proving to be a problem in the booming economy of the State.

Give Tips for Best Room Harmony

When color styling two adjoining rooms, care should be taken to make the transition from one to the other a smooth one so that the two do not clash.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests two methods which help achieve a harmonious look.

One method is to paint the walls of the two rooms the same color and to repeat the color of the floor covering of one room on the ceiling of the other. A second idea would be to reverse the wall and ceiling colors of the two.

Still another plan might be to take a lighter or darker hue of the colors in the first room and use it in the second.

Men who blow their money are always up in the air.

The love of others' money is also the root of much evil.

How Important Are Windows?

How important are the windows in your home?

They're mighty important, not only as a means of bringing light into the house, capturing a view, and controlling ventilation, but also as a decorative element.

The exterior appearance of a house depends on window style, and a room interior can easily be spoiled by a poorly placed or badly designed window.

Luckily for today's home owners, there's an almost unlimited choice of window types available... picture, hopper, double-hung, awning, vent, bow, bay, casement, and sliding.

There Are Many Ways to Qualify for A Home Loan

Like death and taxes, one of life's certainties seems to be home improvements. If the house is new, there is usually a basement or attic to finish off, or a porch to add. If the house is older, the homeowner needs to begin thinking in terms of additions or repairs.

The cheapest way to finance home improvements is to save ahead. But if you don't have the time to accumulate such a fund, you can borrow the money you'll need.

Here is a brief description of six ways to finance your home improvements through your bank.

FHA Title I Loan
You can borrow up to $3,500; take three years to repay loans under $600; and up to five years on larger amounts. Generally, you pay five dollars for every $100 you borrow. Interest is discounted; the cost is deducted from the loan at the very start. Remember to add total interest charges to the amount you borrow when you apply for your loan. Then, you will get the actual dollars you need for home improvements. To qualify, your improvements must be "built-in," or become a permanent part of the property. The Federal Housing Administration insures Title I Loans. So it insists they substantially protect or improve the basic livability or utility of your property.

FHA Section 203K Loans
If your home is at least 10 years old, you can use the FHA 203K plan for improvements costing up to $10,000. Terms up to 20 years can be arranged and the interest rate cannot exceed six percent per year. Loan proceeds can also be used to pay municipal assessments or similar charges against the property such as for water or sewer facilities, sidewalks, curbs or other public improvements.

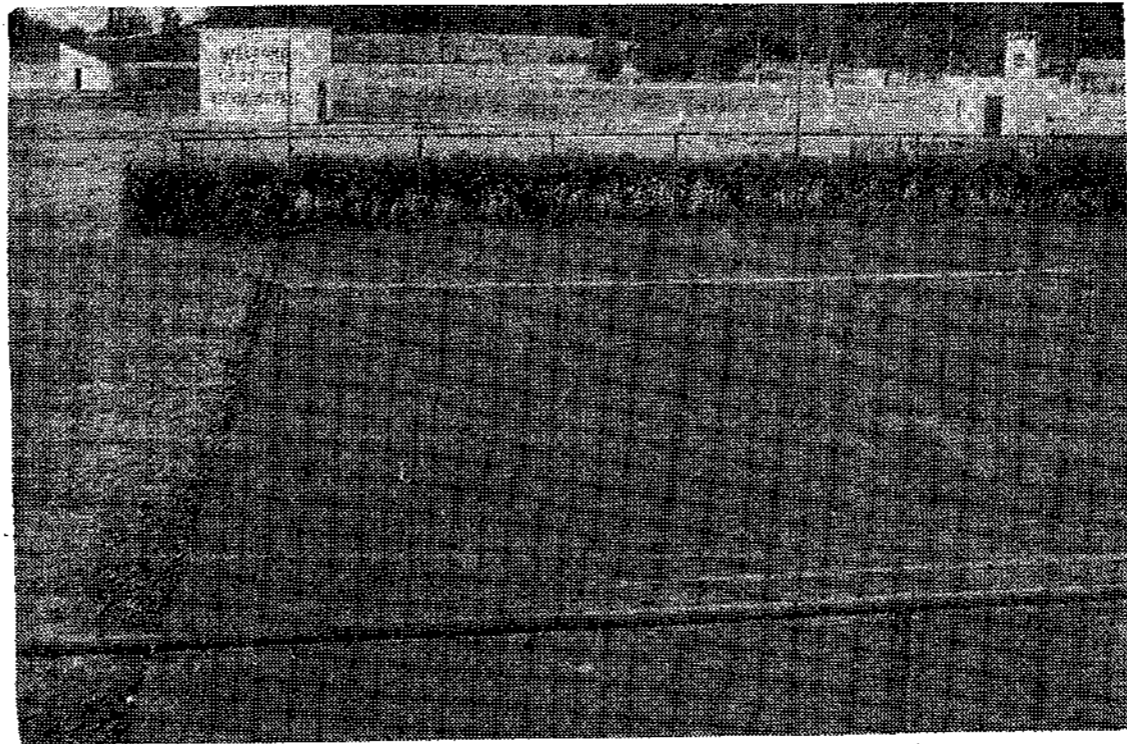

Conventional Bank Installment Loan
It is usually more flexible as to purpose, amount, and terms of repayment. Banks make them entirely on their own. Thus, they are not subject to FHA regulations. And you may finance non built-in improvements like wall-to-wall carpeting, swimming pools, landscaping.

Open-end Mortgage Loan
If your mortgage contains an "open-end" provision, you may be able to borrow more money on the same mortgage. The amount will depend on how much money you still owe.

Mortgage Refinancing
If you have a conventional mortgage, you may be able to retire it. Then get another in a larger amount to include money for your home improvements. Most often, it will involve a new title search, recording, and other extra fees. But, the over-all cost will still be lower in most cases than Title I or other short-term loans.

Personal Loans
You won't be able to get as much money here. Many state laws limit the amount you can borrow. Also repayment periods are usually shorter. But it is worth investigating, if other avenues are closed.

State Loses People While County Gains

Tuscola county is among the more fortunate counties in Michigan, showing a 1200 population increase over the past year, while Michigan was losing more people than it was gaining.

Most of the people leaving the state are looking for greater opportunities in the west and Middle Atlantic states.

The type of people leaving, according to David Goldberg, University of Michigan sociologist are the people with the equivalent of a college degree. They seem to feel that other states offer more in the line of science, arts and business than Michigan does.

In contrast, a lot of our emigrants are people without a high degree of education and the state is in great need of skilled, educated workers, he said.

Better Hurry If You Want to Be A Winner

For awhile last week it seemed as if everyone in Cass City knew immediately that the man behind the beard was Don DeLong.

The first to call was Kim Glaspie. Kim is a previous winner in the contest and will have the honor of finishing first, but one subscription per family is awarded in the contest.

Others among the first to guess correctly included: Floyd Luetke, Joyce Anker, David Little, Mrs. Harold Little, Margie Clarke, Karen Kerbyson, Lee Taylor and Susan Tuckey.

There were only three incorrect guesses this week.

If you haven't won yet, time is growing short. This week's mystery man is the next to the last. The contest ends the week before the Centennial.

So if you know him, better call quick and win the year's free subscription.

Sanilac Committee Plans Barbecue

At the June 28 meeting of the Sanilac County Republican Committee, held in the courthouse, plans were completed for a public barbecue to be held in Port Sanilac park Aug. 7, starting at noon until 6:30. In case of rain, it will be moved into the Veterans building which is just across the street.

The program for the event will feature former Congressman George Meader of Ann Arbor, who will report on the present status of the party in Michigan and the prospects for 1966. Mr. Meader was gerrymandered out of his job in 1964.

Another feature will be a charter boat to take guests for a ride on the lake.

James Harvey, 8th district congressman, will be present as will state and local officials.

The food will be served by a professional group from East Lansing. The cost, on an all-you-can-eat basis, will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12.

Tickets will be on sale at the GOP booth at the Crowell Fair July 19-24. Every county committee member will also have a supply.

Question: Drive Or Navigate

By Dave Kraft

Well, how was your week end? Safe and sane? Good. We had a nice week end. A little less safe and sane than yours, I'll betcha, and the safer and saner we tried to make it, the less it got.

Ordinarily, we'd never think of taking to the roads on the Fourth of July. I'm already in far too many statistical surveys as it is and have no intention of becoming a traffic statistic.

Last week end, however, my wife's parents spent the first part of a short respite at Lighthouse Beach, east of Port Austin. This is a haven for tenters, campers and trailers.

Just before leaving to join them Saturday afternoon, I chanced on an advertisement sponsored by General Motors headed "You're going to be on the road over the 4th? Decide beforehand who's going to drive and who's going to navigate."

The article offered a batch of suggestions for safe driving and as I breezed through them, I thought they made good sense. I did concede, however, that the first question was a little non-sensical.

Anybody that knows my wife, knows darn well who's going to drive and who's going to navigate. She navigated and told me where to drive. She's always telling me where to go, as a matter of fact. Trouble is, my wife travels by... I think the expression is "by gosh and by guess," and "maybe we better turn here." Consequently, it took us two hours to make the less-than-an-hour trip to Lighthouse Beach.

As we traveled, I tried to adhere as much as possible to the safety suggestions offered by the article. One suggestion was that we stop every two hours—preferably more often—and take a brief walk to loosen tense muscles.

Now, if you've ever traveled with three small children, you know that you're going to stop more often than every two hours, whether you prefer it or not. And you also know that each stop will have a short walk—from the car to the service station rest room.

The article advised that coffee, fruit juice, pop, fresh air, switching radio stations frequently, changing seat positions and chewing gum or candy help keep the driver alert.

So it was that I drove along with a cup of coffee in one hand, fruit juice balanced precariously on the dash, a bottle of pop between my legs and a pocket full of gum and candy.

Somewhere between Bad Axe and Port Austin, I reached over to change radio stations and spilled my coffee in my lap. I reacted naturally and tried to jump onto the steering wheel.

This move caused the pop bottle to fall forward, pouring my shoe full of orange pop. The combination of coffee in the lap and pop in the shoe worked well to keep my changing seat positions.

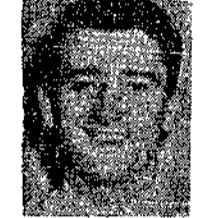

I reached for the fruit juice to take a big consolation swig and found a bug floating on the surface, blown there by the fresh air that blasted through my open window.

Never one to give up without a fight, I whipped out a candy bar and a stick of gum, to be consumed in that order. I forgot, however, to hide this move from my children and they converged on me like a swarm of locusts, stripping me of every vestige of candy and gum.

I drove the rest of the way in a blue funk and arrived just in time to go fishing with my father-in-law. Because it was a mite chilly, I borrowed a bulky knit sweater he happened to bring along.

To be honest, I must admit that I have done very little fishing. In short, I am inept with the rod and reel. I demonstrated this shortly after we started by losing my bait to a fish or a rock and then snagged my borrowed bulky knit sweater as I swung my hook back in.

Wallpaper Can Aid in Remodeling

Kitchen ceiling too high? Wall areas broken by beams and soffits? It's time to remodel!

If the family budget doesn't call for a major remodeling job just now, there still is a solution. Try remodeling tricks with wallpaper.

The many new border patterns now available in wallpapers are designed just for such problem areas, in the kitchen or elsewhere.

To meet all decorative needs, there are border patterns of various depths, from two-inch widths to use as moldings or trim to as deep as 18 to 20 inches. Two-inch moldings are available in four-yard rolls, pre-pasted for easy handling and immediate use. Other patterns, up to 20 inches in depth, are particularly useful in modernizing the outdated kitchen, or the kitchen with too high a ceiling.

Several of the deeper patterns are ideal for disguising and dressing up broken wall areas. One manufacturer has just presented a collection of 51 different wallpaper borders, plasticized for greater washability and pre-pasted for easy handling.

These borders range from eight to 18 inches deep and each pattern is designed so that it can be trimmed to fit specific areas.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS AND GRANDPA
Q. As a traffic officer I have noticed that many elderly people simply ignore traffic signals. Could it be that they don't care what happens?
A. Doctors engaged in geriatric research (problems of the elderly) have noticed this also. Such behavior might be explained in several ways: singleness of purpose; lack of awareness that vehicles are threats; or a tendency to what may be called "indifferent suicide." Some elderly persons seem to show little interest in the continuation of life.

ADHESIVE POWDERS FOR DENTURES
Q. Is there anything in denture powders that would be harmful if such powders were used in excessive amounts?
A. No. The chief danger with dentures is possible damage to supporting tissues which may be incurred by wearing of ill-fitting dentures which require more and more adhesive to keep them in place.

Milliken Preping For Governor

Elmer E. White
Lieutenant Governor of Michigan has been a stepping-stone position in the past and incumbent William G. Milliken hopes to continue the tradition.

The three men who preceded Milliken in office since 1955 have each stepped into higher posts: Philip A. Hart to the U.S. Senate; John B. Swainson to the governor's chair and then a court post; T. John Lesinski to the new State Court of Appeals.

Milliken, at 43, reportedly is Gov. George Romney's choice for the next GOP chief executive. Even when the Traverse City businessman first came into the State Senate it was reported he had his sights on the governor's chair.

Now in the No. 2 spot, perhaps largely by virtue of the Constitutional change which elected the governor and lieutenant governor as a ticket, Milliken is trying to keep his public image good and clear.

His office has taken to publication of a periodical entitled "Date-line Lansing" which details his activities in addition to the standard job of presiding over the Senate.

The first edition published in May noted his first five months in office involved speeches to "many thousands of persons" and traveling more than 14,000 miles on state business.

His public exposure has been enhanced by the governor's frequent trips outside the state and Milliken's resulting assignment to many local activities where the chief executive's presence is requested.

Police Specialists
Specialized police work is rapidly becoming a reality, unheard of only a few years ago.

The use of lie detectors has required an expertly trained police officer for several years. Most often, however, the lie detector expert has worked in an ordinary job within his department.

Within the past five years or so another class of specialists has been added to the state police organization. The use of tracking dogs also necessitated training men to efficiently handle the animals in seeking to find missing persons, evidence or criminals.

The miles and miles of waterways in Michigan also creates the need for still other experts within state police and local law enforcement agencies.

Several sheriff's departments throughout the state now have specially trained boating patrols on busy, large lakes and rivers. State police maintain several teams of skindiving experts at various posts.

The latter, given the title of underwater recovery teams, are volunteers drawn from within the state police ranks who train at a water-filled clay pit near Williamston, diving as deep as 100 feet. Use of the teams is primarily to recover bodies, cars, weapons and evidence.

Underwater recovery teams, just like the lie detector experts, remain permanently assigned to regular police duties. But it appears there may be a day soon when these and the dog trackers and boat patrol units will be fulltime specialists within the broad law enforcement organization in Michigan.

Teacher Strikes

Precedence went by the boards recently when the State Board of Education issued a policy statement that teachers have the right to strike the same as do other workers.

"We would hope that no teacher group in this state or nation would resort to this means except as a last resort, but they should have the same right as any other citizen," said a board spokesman.

Prior to the board decision, teachers were deemed included under the Hutchinson Act, which calls for the firing of public employees involved in a strike. The board said this act should be repealed.

Presumably the board considered the idea that the educated teacher and local boards of education will properly weigh the various problems in any labor dispute.

Responsibilities come with all rights. Many teachers now feel the responsibilities placed upon them have long outweighed their rights where local education policies are concerned.

Salary compensation and fringe benefits are not the only areas in which teachers have occasionally complained although these do lead the list. Overbearing boards of education and overly heavy teaching loads have also resulted in a good share of teacher-community problems.

Since the State Board of Education's statement appeared designed primarily to give teachers more leverage in employee-employer disputes, it is to be hoped the policy will serve just this purpose. If the statement of policy is used as a blackjack, it would appear the board's philosophy will have been misinterpreted.

A man's conscience often loses when temptation arises.

It costs very little to be courteous, but few people seem willing to pay the price.

ADJUSTMENT

It's the little trials of life that lift people over the great ones when they come.

TEAMWORK

The real measure of a man is his ability to think individually, and act collectively.

DEFERRED ACTION

The tasks scheduled for tomorrow always look easy from today's point of view.

Your Home Can Be More Quiet

New idea in remodeling offers a priceless feature for better family living...more quiet in the home.

There are now steps which can be taken to control irritating sounds within a room or between rooms, in existing homes or apartments, according to Robert A. Costa, president, Insulation Board Institute, Chicago, Ill.

These steps utilize just two IBI standard industry products...acoustical ceiling tile and sound deadening insulation board.

To control noise between rooms, a plan has been developed for an auxiliary wall of sound deadening insulation board and gypsum wallboard, which can be placed next to the existing wall.

The sound-stopping auxiliary wall uses two-by-three-foot wood studs placed 24 inches apart, on two-by-three-foot wood floor and ceiling plates. There is a three-quarter-inch space between the new wall and the existing wall.

The new studs are faced with half-inch sound deadening insulation board with the nail heads dimpled. Half-inch gypsum wallboard is then applied vertically with the joints offset 12 inches with respect to the sound deadening board joints, by installing with drywall laminating compound.

The gypsum wallboard is temporarily blocked around the perimeter until the laminating compound has adequate bond. The gypsum wallboard joints are then taped and finished and the entire perimeter of the new wall is sealed in place.

As a final step, noise is more effectively confined in a room if the door is of the solid core type with vinyl gasketing and a snug-up threshold.

To control noise within rooms, consider insulation board acoustical.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A regular meeting of the Council of the Village of Cass City was held on Tuesday, June 29, 1965 at 7:00 p.m. in the Municipal Building. All trustees were present.

Minutes of the May regular and one special meeting were read and approved as read.

Monthly financial report was briefly reviewed.

Fire Committee had little to report. The clerk was asked to prepare a statement of maintenance expenses for the past five years.

Dump Ground committee had nothing to report.

Motion made by F. Auten seconded by Dr. Rawson to engage an actuary at a cost of approximately $10.00 to make a study of village records in order that a quotation may be obtained on a retirement plan. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Park Committee reported that the pool will be closed July 4th.

The alley paving program was again discussed. A motion was made by Dr. Rawson and seconded by G. McCullough to rescind the motion adopted May 25, 1965 that the cost of paving the alleys be allocated two-thirds to the village and one-third to the property owners whose property adjoins Main St. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried.

The motion was then made by Dr. Rawson seconded by G. McCullough that the village bear the entire cost of paving a 30 ft. wide strip of alley in the central business district on a regular yearly basis contingent upon the agreement in petition form by the business owners of 80 per cent of the lineal footage of each of said blocks to pave the space from the rear of their buildings to the alleys at their own expense at the same time that the village paves the alleys. Yea-5. Nay-1. Motion carried.

After considerable discussion concerning realignment of police schedules, a motion was made by F. Auten seconded by J. Seals to advertise for a second police officer to be hired on a full-time basis. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried.

The council approved the purchase of black sealer for the tennis court from the National Chemsearch Corp. at a price of $2.35 per gallon. The total estimated cost is $258.50.

A revised copy of the tree ordinance was presented by the village attorney. Action will be taken at the next regular meeting. A copy is available in the clerk's office for examination by the public.

Motion made by J. Seals seconded by B. Freiburger for the purchase of a wobble wheel roller at a maximum cost of $1,000.00. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Discussion was held on the present leasing of private property for public parking. This matter was referred to the Street Committee.

Approval was given to N. Willy for the purchase of a commercial mower from Albee Hardware at a cost of $125.00.

Motion made by F. Auten seconded by Dr. Rawson that the bills as approved by the Finance Committee be paid. Motion carried.

Motion made by J. Seals and seconded that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Sound enters the tiny openings in the surface of the tile and the sound energy waves are reduced or eliminated by the soft porous fibers.

IT SEEMS TO ME Presbyterians Okay Inter-racial Marriage

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Among many decisions reached at the Presbyterian Church in the USA was one approving inter-racial marriage, providing that other factors are favorable. It adopted a resolution, declaring that it: "finds no scriptural or theological grounds for condemning or prohibiting the marriage of a man and a woman of different races."

Another side of the racial scene in our day is inter-racial housing. Detroit has been chosen as the location of a pilot project. $20,000 is the original grant made by the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches. Dr. Robert Spike, director of the Commission, said: "Although many isolated attempts have and are being made in several places across the country to deal with the problem of segregated housing, we know of no single metropolitan area where a massive or comprehensive strategy and program is in operation."

Four goals are listed: Strengthening of those community councils which have programs to stabilize communities where integration is in effect; Assistance to the outer city and suburban human relations councils to develop effective strategy and action that is directed toward inclusive housing; Support of those community organizations that give evidence of developing leadership in this area of inter-racial experience; Assistance in the development of broad metropolitan programs seeking effective methods to improve interracial housing.

The entire matter of good housing for Negroes who are able to afford good neighborhoods and good homes, but who have traditionally been forced to live in the ghettos of our cities is increasingly a matter that people everywhere (not just in the cities) must face up to. Or so IT SEEMS TO ME.

Have you heard this one? "Old fishermen never die... they just smell that way."

This column's advisor on geriatrics, the Rev. Melvin Vender, reports the concern of doctors over the self-medication by many of these people. Two primary dangers are charged to the practice of self-diagnosis and treatment. Frequently the illness becomes worse before the doctor is called, and, often the home remedy may do no harm (or benefit) but the time consumed eats away the time the doctor ought to have had to combat the sickness or condition. And so it also SEEMS TO ME.

Although the 149-year-old American Bible Society has never shown a profit, it makes the finest investments in the world. Revealing plans for a New York headquarters building, the ABS is noted the world over for imaginative leadership in making the Bible available in most of the world's known languages and dialects, and in making sure that the Bibles it publishes are read by the people of many lands.
