Alley Blacktopping May Have to Wait Another Year

Cass City alleys behind village businesses may be another year in village trustées learned evening at the regular Council meeting at the Municipal Building.

Project committee chairman Fred Auten told the board that the blacktopping firm which will do the work will be in the area next week, too soon for the village to have the alleys ready to receive the paving.

He also commented that the alleys on the east side of Seeger couldn't be done anyway until a survey establishes the Oak Street

Village President Lambert Althaver suggested that the council still push for petitions from affected property owners in case another opportunity for black topping presents itself later this fall. Another problem is the removal of telephone poles from the alleys on the south side of Main Street.

Repairs Sought

A letter from Dr. H. T. Donahue was read asking that repairs be made to the street in front of his clinic to correct chuck holes left by the installation of pipe for the new water system.

Auten explained that the John Carlo Company had left $625 for repairs at the clinic and at the Ed Doerr residence. The matter was referred back to the Planning Commission for servicing.

Permit Referred

A five-week long struggle to obtain a permit to open up two lots, either with a continuation of Oak Street or a cul de sac driveway, received another minor set-back for Lex Tetreau, contractor.

Tetreau owns lots nine, ten and 11 of the Garden Center subdivision, all of which butt up against a line which was originally platted for the remainder of Oak Street which now ends at Garfield.

He plans to build two more houses and is seeking some access to the back of the lots. To do this, he will sacrifice lot 10 as a drive-

To Build Track-Kostanko

Tom Kostanko, central figure in the move to build a stock car race track in Greenleaf township, issued a statement this week to the Chronicle which indicates he plans to go ahead with the project. Greenleaf township voters met earlier in the month to discuss the matter but no decision was made. Township supervisors have clamped restrictions on the project in an effort to make it less attractive to Kostanko.

"We are going to build, however," savs Kostanko. "There is no zoning ordinance against it."

"As far as no Sunday racing fone of the restrictions) is concerned, I said if we couldn't, we wire it, However, I intend to run Sunday unless the rest of the businesses in the township close Sunday."

Kostanko, 20, was to have met sometime this week with his attorney to determine just what he can do and can't do.

"Many persons are afraid that this will be just another Owendale track. Ours will be clean, neat and painted with bleachers for 2,000 persons. It'll also have hot water and bath rooms and a large concession area.'

Kostanko stated that the project was his idea and was being undertaken by him and his wife with no outside backing. He hopes to have the project under way by September and opened in the spring.

which would later be dedicated to the village.

Portions of lot 10 would be added to nine and 11 for the two homes to be built. All the lots lie off the west side of Maple Street near the village limits.

The council approved the plan as submitted pending final approval of the planning commission. The commission was to have met Wednesday morning.

Water Centrals

Representatives from Hubbell, Roth and Clark, consulting engineers changed over the controls on Cass City's water system from the old tower to the new tower Tues-Althaver stressed that the new tower had been in use since last fall but that the controls hadn't been changed.

While here, the foreman gave Bill Schram, Dept. of Public Works chief, a list of names from whom to seek bids on the removal of the old water tower.

The bids will seek the removal of the tower, only. The four concrete post bases will be handled by the village.

Dr. D. E. Rawson suggested the land be investigated as a playground site rather than put up for sale immediately. The matter was referred to committee.

Mistake Almost Turns $10,000 Bull Into Steaks

Somewhere near Lapeer a yearold bull is wiping his brow, breathing a sigh of relief and blessing the wonders of modern communication that saved him from being turned into a stack of very expensive steaks.

Dick Erla of Erla Packing Company in Cass City purchased the bull at a sale Monday in Marlette. Ordinarily, the bull would have been among those killed early the next morning.

Monday night Erla received a call notifying him that there had been a mistake and the bull had been picked up at the wrong farm. The next day, the driver who came to pick the bull up told Erla the animal was valued at $10,000

Its sire sold for $50,000! Erla returned the animal and was paid for his trouble. "It was the first time anything like that happened to me," he confided.

'I'll bet that farmer would have been sick if he hadn't gotten to us in time." he concluded. Erla didn't comment on what his feelings would have been if the call had

From the L'ditor's Corner

James Gallery, former editor and publisher of the Tuscola County Advertiser, died last week.

His death is Caro's and the area's loss. Gallery was of the "old sencol" in the best sense of the word. He was described as a "crusading editor" in the Detroit Free Fress obituary. Actually, he was more than this. He took positive stands in his paper and persons dealing with him in business or private life can attest that his private standards were as high as the ones he professed in his news-

In May of this year the Gallerys sold the paper to Rudy Petzold who worked for them. We understand that they handled much of the financing because they wanted Rudy to have the paper. They felt that it would be in good hands and carry on the traditions that they had maintaired since 1922.

It was a typical gesture by a fine gentleman.

When you read this, we hope to be lolling in the sun in northern Michigan and had fully intended to write no column, but when Gallery died before we left we felt that we had to express our appreciation for 15 years of association in friendly

Tree Statute Passed

Cass City trustees took all the meat off a bone of contention Tuesday night when they passed an ordinance governing the growing of trees in the village.

The ordinance, which governs the 'growing, trimming and removal of trees from public parks and right of ways," is the village's first tree ordinance. Village President Lambert Althaver termed the ordinance "similar to ordinances used in most towns and villages. The fact that the village had no such ordinance in the past set off a minor furor between the village and village tree lovers when Department of Public Works crew-men cut several trees down on village right of way in preparation for curb and guttering. The complete ordinance can be found in the front section of this issue of the Chronicle.

Detroit Edison officials assisted with the early drafting of the ordinance with final drafting done by Attorney Clint House and the Park

One important facet of the ordinance is that it allows the removal of diseased and dead trees at the discretion of the village.

This is particularly important because of the serious problem within the village of Dutch Elm disease. Althaver commented that he had received several reports of trees affected by the disease.

In connection with the disease, Alfred Ballweg is to be contacted for suggestions on how to determine trees affected by the blight.

Strucinski-Brade Rites at Sebewaing

Virginia Ann Brade of Sebewaing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Brade of Kinde, and Waiter F. Strucinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Strucinski of Gagetown, exchanged wedding vows July 11 in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Sebewaing.

The Rev. Elmer E. Scheck and the Rev. William H. Mundinger performed the double-ring afternoon ceremony.

The bride, who has a master degree in music, sang a solo and the children's choir of Sebewaing Public School sang a wedding prayer composed by the bride.

A crown of lace, seed pearls and crystals held her silk illusion veil. She carried pink roses and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid and entwined with ivy and lace.

Maid of honor for her sister, Miss Judith Brade of Saginaw wore a deep pink floor-length gown of silk organza with a large pink hat and carried a bouquet of carnations and roses with ivy.

The other bridal attendants were Mrs. Don Bunt of Lansing and Mrs. Marvin Koglin of Port Hope, both sisters of the bride, Miss Virginia Palubin of Sebewaing, Miss Sandra Graebner of Utica and Miss

Dear Fellow Citizens,

While our community is settling down to a normal pace again, we would like to say a big Thank You to everyone who has taken part in our Centennial Celebration.

We believe that our celebration was successful in every way. It was successful only because of the tremendous effort and team work that has been displayed in the past few months.

The name of every person and organization who have helped should be mentioned here, but we are at a loss of where to start and where to leave off because almost everyone in the community has contributed in some

We believe that we have just witnessed the fact that we live in a great country and a great community, where we are free to work, play and worship together. We hope that the spirit that has been created here will continue in our lives as we begin the second century in Cass City.

Sincerely yours,

Your Chamber of Commerce Board

Crops Show Effects Of Dry Weather

Dry weather is surely helping to bring out crop abnormalities, according to Don Kebler, County Extension Agent in Agriculture.

During my farm visits last week I visited two farms and saw some 2, 4D ester damage on corn, he reported. It is doubtful these farmers will use the ester formulation again after seeing the rolledunopened leaf spikes at the top of the corn.

Perhaps the biggest single crop problem is the evidence of Halo blight in colored beans. This blight is caused by either soil or seed borne bacteria. In the field, advanced disease stages are easy to notice by the individual bright yellow youngest leaves at the top of the plants. In less advanced, and in all stages of infection, one can discern the disease by looking for small pale circular halo areas with a brown to black spot in the center. The leaf tissue around the halo is normally green except in the yellow newer leaves. The yellowing of the newer leaves is due to the poison-like material produced by the infection which moves to the new growing leaves.

This Halo blight is spread by wind, rain, cultivation tools and on clothing in the field. It also can be spread by the tool and the person's clothing as he moves from an infected field to an uninfected one. There is no positive chemical control. Don't plant beans in an infected field next year and if possible longer, and use certified seed. Wayne Adams, MSU bean specialist, Director Ballweg and Kebler saw what appeared to be hergecide damage on navy beans where this year's planted sugar beet ground was worked up and replanted to beans. The plants were stunted, had short internodes with green, wrinkly cupped leaves. Why this occurred and what caused it was not determined specifically. Zinc deficiency in beans is apparent over tile lines and in poorly drained compact soil areas. The farmers used zinc too and the rest of the field area looks good. In cases of low soil moisture zinc deficiency is more in evidence and may not show up under normal conditions.

Afflicted areas reveal stunted, pale yellowish green plants with leaves having green veins and yellow interveinal areas. More extreme cases have dead areas between the veins with the leaf tissue These areas could be foliar sprayed using one to two pounds of zinc sulfate per acre. In future years on known zinc deficient fields one should apply at least three or four pounds of zinc per acre on navy bean and corn ground. One per cent zinc in a 200 pound per acre fertilizer application will not furnish this amount. Two per cent at 200 pounds per acre will. One per cent sine in a 400 nound nor acre fertilizer application will also furnish the amount of zinc needed.

The Petoskey stone, named in honor of an Ottawa Indian leader in the Harbor Springs area, is found only in the vicinity of Grand Traverse Bay.

Busiest Secretary Most familiar of state officers to the public is the Secretary of State, a post held during the past 10-plus years by James M. Hare.

He is ranked No. 3 in the state, behind only the Governor and Lieutenant Governor Public familiarity with this officer is caused by the fact that his name appears on every driver's license and motor registration issued in Michigan. As a constitutionally created officer, the Secretary of State is named as keeper of the Great Seal and all records and archives of state government. He also establishes the rules and regulations for the conduct of elections in the state.

Some 250 branch offices of the Secretary of State provide him with public contact in the issue of motor vehicle and watercraft reg-

Dog and Crow Are Traveling Companions By Dave Kraft

Wilbur Harnish of Champaign, Ill., was in town last week for the Centennial and, as a Chronicle supscriber for a half a century or more, felt obliged to stop in to make sure we were running things

Unfortunately I was out both times he stopped by. He left a message though.

"Tell Dave that when I used to live in Cass City, we always connected 'Kraft' with cheese. Now, after reading Komments by Kcaft, we connect it with corn." Hmmm.

I was walking past the Cultural Center the other day and I noticed a tiny foreign car parked at the curb with the back seat full of traveling gear.

Sitting on top of the stuff was a small dog. I watched the dog as 1 walked by and I noticed a large box with a wire top and a round hole in the front sitting on the back

As I looked at the box, a black .. beak, followed by a black head thrust its way through the hole and for a second I thought the sun had

It looked just like a crow. I walked over to the car and peered into the back and the head darted oùt again. It was a crow.

The fool thing belonged, I found out later, to an elderly Detroit couple named Alexander. It was a year old and they'd purchased it from a tree surgeon.

The bird is such a pet that the couple take it with them wherever they go. They tried leaving it home but the black-hearted stinker talks and makes so much noise the neighbors at the trailer camp they live in complained. That's not the only reason they bring the crow with them, the woman confided. Seems the dog won't leave home without the bird.

One of the fun things about being narrator for the pageant was ail the bloopers that sneaked into the

One evening I was extolling all the attributes of the Recreation Park and it went something like this: "Well, we've got one of the biggest, and I might add, one of the nicest, recreation parks in the Thumb. It's got a swimming pool, basketball diamonds. . ."

I realized immediately that I'd goofed. I didn't know whether to continue with "and baseball courts" or just quit. I recall vaguely that there was some tee-heeing and twittering from the audi-

Eckerstrom almost lost his marbles because he didn't know what had happened.

It caused me to wonder if the pioneers ever faced such adversity in their trek across the nation. The nice thing about this Centernial is that it brought so many different people together with projects and jobs. who might never have met. I know a number of persons much better now than I did before the Centennial. Persons whom I previously only had a nodding acquaintance with are now good friends.

Compilation, publication and distribution of Michigan's laws and administrative rules also come within his jurdisdiction.

The legislature has designated to the Secretary of State the additional job of licensing private detectives and detective agencies. Legislative lobbyists, savings and loan associations, notary public commissions, patents, warrants, trade marks, and many land transactions involving both individuals and governmental units also fall to the various divisions of his office. Finally, as a member of the executive branch of government, the Secretary of State serves on the Board of Escheats, Administrative Board, Highway Reciprocity Board and Safety Commission.

Ladies Only

Extension services of Michigan State University vary greatly in many ways. Some of them, especially those aimed at women, have been attacked as being frivolous and-or wastes of the university's public funds.

The annual College Week for Women, however, is viewed in most quarters as making a valuable contribution toward keeping the housewife as informed as she wants to be on a wide range of subjects.

Part of the official description of this program is that it is designed "provide homemakers with knowledge that will improve the quality of living in the home, the community and the world." Centennial Pageant and she wants and will.

IT SEEMS TO ME

Soon Numbers Instead of Names

Have you noticed how much modern life resembles a numbers game? I once memorized my Social Security number in the mistaken belief that it was the only number I would find important in later years. Now, however, we must also deal with serial numbers, bankaccount numbers and ZIP-code numbers. A popular movie is called "81/2," and the newest character in "Peanuts" is "55595472" or "5" for short.

Writes an editorial writer for the Saturday Evening Post, "The result of this number-happiness no doubt will be a world like alphabet soup with digits instead of letters. People will say, "Four, nine, three, six, five." And clever conversationalists will reply, "Zero, two, nine, eight, eight, seven.'

Logically, we will all be given a number which will become our family's designation; come to think of it, is this how we got our names? Why can't we find a way to make use of them, since we're already used to them? Or, so IT SEEMS TO ME.

Recently, a Methodist Bishop received a medal from a Roman Catholic college. Bishop Fred P. Corson, noted ecumenical leader. received the Petrean Medal. awarded annually by Roman Catholic St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J.

The Korean Methodist Church cast off its reliance on the Methodist Churches of our nation recently, after 80 years as a missionary Church, and may now begin to subsidize missionaries to our country, according to Miss Sadie Maude Moore, long-time missionary to Korea. This is making missions really work. Or, so IT SEEMS TO ME.

The Assemblies of God are conducting a nationwide Christian literature drive to explain their doctrinal position on the work of the Holy Spirit. A special World's Fair issue of the Assemblies' weekly, "Pentecostal Evangel," will be made available in quantity for community distribution.

The American Lutheran Church will launch a program of general advertising in Sunday newspapers this fail. The ad messages, said a spokesman, "will focus on basic Christian truths, expressed in clear and colorful language without a distinctively denominational emphasis." What could be finer? Or, so IT SEEMS TO ME.

For weeks the couple had gone from showroom to showroom as the husband scrutinized new autos. Even after inspecting all carefully, he couldn't make up his mind, "My how you've changed," his wife chided him. "You married me three weeks after you saw me.' "Listen," he replied impatiently,

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

On account of me being one of them few Americans left that's got a front porch to set on. I been sitting on it a lot lately and doing some light thinking. Incidental, my old lady is hankering to have our place remodeled and do away with the front porch and git in line with progress. I don't know if she's more interested in progress or fixing it so's I can't set so much. Anyhow, we'd probable have to git a remodel permit from the Guvernor or somebody to do the job. We've come along so fur with this progress business that a feller whose great-grandfather built a railroad through the wilderness without saying nothing to nobody now has to git a permit to add a clothes closet to his house.

But gitting back to the subject, I been setting and rocking and thinking about a heap of things these warm nights. Fer instant, I was feeling mighty sorry fer Vice-President Humphrey lately. It looks like Lyndon aims to work the nore feller to death. I was reading last week where he made 11 speeches

In the old days a Vice President was to be saw but not heard. Except during the campaign that is. The party would nominate some big name-most of the time from the East- fer President and pick a candidate from the Mid-West fer Vice President and let him do all the campaigning. Then after the innoguration he was supposed to that would agree to be Vice President. As soon as the convention would nominate the candidate fer President, the delegates would scatter like a tornado had hit the hall. They was afeared somebody would call out their name fer Vice President. My Pa told me onct that when Jim Sherman was nominated fer Vice President with Taft in 1909 they had to notify him by mail on account of he had been hiding out ever since the Republican convention. And I recollect when I was a bey somebody brung up the name of Uncle Joe Cannon fer Vice President on the floor of the convention. Uncle Joe that had been in the Congress fer 43 years, give 'em a cussing that peeled all the paint off the speaker's rostrum.

But Vice Presidents has been coming up in the world and I reckon Mr. Humphrey has about reached the top. Fer instant, I saw in the papers last week where he was posing in a picture with a prize Jersey cow one day and with one of them Hollywood vampires the next day. About the only difference I saw between the cudchewing cow and the gum-chewing vampire was the intelligent look on the cow's face. But Vice President Huraphrey was looking mighty sharp in both pictures. I think, Mister Editor, it will go down in history that it was in the Great Society when Vice Presidents come into their own.

Uncle Tim

Class of '55 Meets Saturday at School

Summer flowers adorned the dinner tables in the Cass City High School auditorium Saturday evening, July 24, when the Class of '55 met for their first reunion. Onehundred and fifteen were present, including two guest teachers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ackerman and Mr. and Mrs. Orion

Bob Zinnecker was master of ceremonies and Sheldon Peck gave the invocation. Gordon Ware introduced the guest teachers, who spoke briefly to the group. Mrs. Nick Decker read the class prophecy and each member related events of his life since 1955. Letters from absentees were read by Mrs.

Dick Greenwood. The classmate having the most children is Mrs. Frank Buetler (Jacqueline Hyatt), with seven. Margarita Lopez came the farthest, having recently come from Venezuela. Lyle Richardson got his mate the farthest from home, in the Philippine Islands. Vernon Churchill, professor at Monmouth College. Long Branch, New Jersey, has the most formal education, and Mrs. Erwin (Lois) Binder is the only grandparent in the class.

Pictures of the group were taken. Persons interested in obtaining a picture should contact Mrs. Ferris

The group voted to have the next reunion in 1970.

Elmwood Group

Meets in Caro

Twelve members of the Elmwood Extension Study group went to the Hotel Montague in Caro for a dinner meeting Wednesday, July 21.

WARM UP—Team captains took a long pull from this jug in a brief warm-up exercise just before they asked the best of their team members in a short pull on the rope. Watching James Milligan, farmer captain, down a snort are Don DeLong, team member and bottle watcher, left, and Dick Erla, businessmen's captain. The contents of the jug were not revealed.
