

Plan to Complete Chest Drive in Just 3 Weeks

When volunteer workers of the Elkland-Novesta Township Community Chest meet Thursday night at the New Gordon Hotel, they will learn something new has been added, President Howard Bacon reported this week.

"We want to hold a victory dinner Oct. 28 to commemorate the meeting of our goal of $6,500. In past years, the drive has dragged on for weeks longer than necessary and we hope that the victory dinner plan will help everyone work towards the Oct. 28 target date," Bacon said.

Again the workhorse of the campaign will be Drive Chairman Willis Campbell. The perennial head of the drive is optimistic about the prospects for collections this year.

The Community Chest is in its 17th year in Cass City and during that time is the only one in Tuscola county that has always met its goal.

Last year generous residents pushed collections to $7,533.10, over $500 over the quota.

Much of the money collected is used for groups in the area. A portion goes to the United Health and Welfare Fund and recognized national charities.

A complete breakdown of the expenditures of the Community Chest can be found on an inside page of this week's issue.

Cass River Bridge Right on Schedule

We are right on schedule with this bridge, said authorities of Fox Construction Co., and if we are not held up waiting for beams, the road will be open for traffic as promised Dec. 1.

The construction firm has both of the bridge piers built and are working on the abutments and the road approaches now. We should be through with our concrete work this week, spokesmen said of the construction on Cemetery Road, a mile south of Cass City.

The bridge deck is made of 30 beams, 10 for each of the three spans of the bridge.

Already cast are the first 10 beams for the center span. They were completed Monday.

After the beams have been manufactured (by a Detroit firm) they must dry for 28 days. If they come to us on schedule, it will be no problem getting the road open, authorities explained, as it only takes about a week to install the beams.

Despite rainy weather, company officials said that they have plenty of time to complete their share of the job.

Workers said that they ran into only one unforeseen difficulty. Specifications called for the piers to be driven five feet to bedrock and we were forced to go about 8 1/2 feet to reach it, they explained.

Supervisors Okay

Low Bids for Jail

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors figured a way to raise the $84,000 needed to construct a new county jail and include the 4,000 extra feet of emergency Civil Defense area in special session in Caro Monday.

When the bids for the jail were opened Tuesday, Sept. 28, supervisors were debating whether to go ahead with the complete jail or eliminate the CD area for which the Federal government pays $45,597. Most of the supervisors wanted the extra area for office space.

Concluded on page six.

Students Building Nature Trail on School Grounds

There are at least 16 different species of trees on the northern portion of the Cass City Recreation Park and the Cass City school grounds.

Robert Hirn, biology teacher, says that many have already been identified as students work to prepare a permanent tree identification course in the area.

The trail will be marked so that interested groups or individuals can follow it and conduct this type nature study on their own, Hirn said.

Sponsors are planning to construct a brochure that will be placed at the beginning of the trail. It will instruct individuals on what to do.

Participants can use the brochure for information, but it is designed also to challenge the knowledge of participants as they tour the trail.

It is expected that the trail will be ready for use within two weeks, Hirn reports.

From the Editor's Corner

The official end of Cass City as the Christmas Town of Michigan caused not even a ripple in the stream of village affairs last week.

The file was closed on an era when the village council voted to take over the hanging of the street decorations from the Chamber of Commerce.

This decision was one of the few connected with the program which didn't result in controversy in the community.

During the height of our fame at Christmas, while the State applauded, local residents bickered.

The Christmas program grew almost by accident, stemming from the displays erected by a few home owners for their amusement and the joy of their friends.

Almost before you knew it, a contest was sponsored by the Chamber and the first argument started. Should business be allowed to compete with home owners?

Homeowners won and were allowed to compete in a class by themselves and the age of the animated display started.

With the metro dailies picking up the story, the emphasis switched.

Now the talk up and down Main Street and the rest of the village was not the Christmas spirit of the displays, but rather... who started "Christmas" in Cass City? How many persons can we get to visit the village? How can we get more publicity from radio, TV and newspapers?

Then the Christmas pageant was started and additional thousands streamed into the village. The displays were excellent and the program reached its zenith.

But the foot soldiers were getting tired. Keeping the displays in order was taking weeks and weeks and weeks and hanging the Main Street decorations was simply work. Fewer and fewer turned out for the Sunday workday and most of those who did, didn't stay as long as they previously had. Suddenly, residents no longer argued... they simply weren't interested.

What started as a gradual erosion of interest, soon became a flood tide and as quickly as the program sprouted, it died.

There are few regrets.

Leg Broken in Farm Accident

Lester O'Dell, Decker, is recovering at Hills and Dales General Hospital from severe leg injuries suffered Saturday when he was pulled beneath a chopper wagon and run over by both wheels.

O'Dell was riding on the draw bar of the wagon being pulled by his father-in-law, Elmer Fuester, near their respective farms at Decker. O'Dell's young son was riding on the wagon.

When O'Dell attempted to move a board that threatened to hit his son, the board broke and O'Dell fell. His foot became caught in the wagon wheel and he was pulled beneath the wheel. He was also run over by the rear wheel.

According to his wife, one leg was broken and smashed above the knee. He also suffered severe bruises. Mrs. O'Dell stated it would be several weeks before the leg had healed enough for a cast.

Fifth Fire Fatal for Cass City Elevator

FLAMES SHOOT SKYWARD, forming a backdrop for firemen and equipment as fire consumes one of Cass City's most familiar landmarks, the former Farm Produce Company elevator at the west village limits. Huge new cement silos just to the right of this picture were spared with only minor smoke damage.

Building Plans Unsure

With smoke still curling from its rubble and the stench of its burned contents waiting through the village, Frutchey Bean Company continued to receive crops this week following a devastating fire Wednesday night, Sept. 29, that wiped out a third of its Cass City facilities.

The fire, the cause of which is still unknown, completely destroyed the 65-year-old former Farm Produce Company buildings at the west village limits. No report has been received from the insurance company but early estimates by company officials set the damage at between $75,000 and $100,000.

Chief concern this week was whether or not smoke damage in one of the firm's adjoining skyscraper cement silos was serious enough to affect the beans kept there. At first it was believed there was no damage in the new silos but investigation showed that a pipe leading from the new silos to the old building funneled in considerable smoke at the peak of the fire.

There is no discoloration of the beans, just some odor which may be removed through washing.

Students Spot

The fire is believed to have been first spotted at about 9:00 p.m. by Tim Knight and Lexie Tetreau, Cass City High School students working on a home-coming float in a garage just off the burned buildings.

Fifty firemen from Cass City, Caro, Gagetown and Unionville fought the blaze for three hours before bringing it under control. Cass City firemen stayed at the sight for 17 straight hours to keep it under control, according to Chief Nelson Willy.

Village firemen were called back two more times to keep the persistent smoldering from breaking out again. Despite the size of the fire, no injuries were reported.

Crops Destroyed

Destroyed in the inferno were 740,000 pounds of beans, 200,000 pounds of rye, two sets of bagging equipment, two mills, three bean gravity separators and all office equipment, according to George Fisher, manager of the burned installation.

Fisher stressed that no records were lost because the fire was concentrated in other areas and the records were kept in heavy safes.

A State fire inspector has examined the damage and is expected to have a report in two weeks, according to Willy.

Cause Unknown

Company officials have no idea what caused the blaze. Jack Hartwick and Charles Holm were the last employees to leave the plant at about 8:00 p.m. The fire was spotted an hour later.

There had been no activity since

LOOKING FORWARD TO another week end of racing is Mrs. Vivian Zuehlke. The eight-year veteran of the drag strips poses with a couple of the myriad trophies that she and her husband have annexed through the years. (Chronicle photo)

Trophies (Not Cash) Reward For Week End Drag Racing

Mrs. Vivian Zuehlke of Kingston is a powder puff and glad of it.

The 29-year-old blonde, attractive mother of three isn't any wisp of a girl that would faint at the drop of an oil can... far from it. But the casual observer would be surprised to learn of her hoopy if they saw her walking down the street... she has all the proper measurements in all the proper places.

Mrs. Zuehlke is a drag strip racer.

Her husband is also a dragster and the family spends most of its spare moments either dragging or preparing the car for another race.

The racing season starts in April and extends through the last of October or early November. During this time the Zuehls are on the road every week end. "We race at least once every week and sometimes twice," Mrs. Zuehlke said.

It's not uncommon for the family to take off for Grand Bend, Canada, (about 100 miles away) for the first race of the week end and then hustle back to Uby for another race the following day.

In addition, they take frequent trips to other courses including this year the National Drag Races at Indianapolis.

Many Trophies
All of these races have paid off... but not in money. The Zuehls have won some 70 trophies since they started racing together. "Ed has won more than I have," his wife says, "but he has also raced more. His best time is better than mine," she added truthfully. "I posted a :13.51 for the quarter miles and he has a :12.20 for the distance."

The reason the husband drives more is not because he has been hogging the family car, there simply are many more events open to men.

We need more powder puff events (the nickname for dragging events for girls) and to get them we have to have more drivers. There's really nothing to it, Mrs. Zuehlke said.

"Oh, you have to learn the starting lights to get a quick start and there are tricks in shifting... but you're never afraid... it's all over too fast."

Full Time

Actually, dragging the way the Zuehls do it is a full-time hobby. After the season closes you have to get the car ready for next year... or perhaps build a whole new one.

The modified 1955 Chev the Zuehls are driving now is the third drag car for the couple.

They built it last winter at a cost of $3,000, not including their labor. About the only thing about it that is the same as when Ed picked it up at the junkyards is the shell, Mrs. Zuehlke said.

"We installed dual AFB carburetors, 1963 Corvette 327-horsepower engine, high performance cams, a four-speed shift and other modifications to make this car really go."

Before the Chev, the Zuehls had a '53 Mercury and a '57 Chev. He sold both of them and got more than his money back, Mrs. Zuehlke said.

We could sell this one tomorrow for at least as much as it cost us, she continued.

Losing Proposition

But the money they can get out of the car is about the only way they get any of their money back. You just can't win enough to pay your entrance fees, Mrs. Zuehlke explained. We do a little better in Canada because they don't charge the entrance fee, but it's still a losing proposition. It's a hobby just like any other and you can't expect it not to cost you, she concluded.

To pay some of the racing expenses, the Zuehls have sold back to the track many of the 70 trophies they won. Mrs. Zuehlke isn't sure whether or not she has ever won the same trophy twice.

Likes Horses

Actually, cars are a second love for Mrs. Zuehlke. "Before I got married I was in love with the horses, but Ed liked cars so I started with them. Now I'm mad about them," she said, "and my interest is greater than it was eight years ago when I first started."

With the parents they have, it would be highly surprising if the three Zuehlke boys, Brad, 3, Randy, 8, and Danny, 5, aren't tooling their own cars down the strip as soon as they are old enough to do so.

Teenager Tells of Beer Bust

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is trying to find the person or persons who furnished the liquor to a group of Cass City minors who staged a beer party Friday night on Milligan Road, about a mile east of Peters Sawmill.

Investigating deputies were tipped off by local enforcement officers and picked up a 17-year-old minor boy, obviously intoxicated.

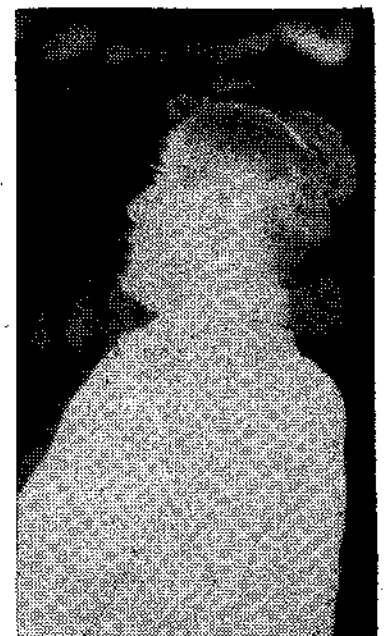

The boy was questioned that night and the following morning and revealed some of the persons attending the party and told police where the drinking occurred.

Evidently, there were a dozen or more underage boys and girls at the party.

When officers arrived on the scene they found four beer cases, many broken bottles and an empty whiskey bottle.

Naturally, we want to put a stop to this sort of thing, Sheriff Hugh Marr said, and the persons we really want to catch are the ones who are furnishing the stuff to these kids.

Marr said that they have the name of one adult who could be involved and they are investigating.

A SOMEWHAT dazed Arlington "Barney" Hoffman watched as the former Farm Produce Company elevator burned Wednesday night, Sept. 29. Hoffman had managed the firm for a little over four years after it was purchased by Frutchey Bean Company in 1960.

Thieves Take Bus Battery at School

A battery valued at about $25.00 was taken from a Cass City school bus parked on school grounds over the week end, according to Donald Crouse, superintendent.

The bus, normally parked at the home of driver Rev. George Getchel, was worked on Saturday and parked at the school.

Nothing was taken from other buses also parked at the school. Police are investigating.

Trisch Wins Countersuit

Damage Suit Boomerangs For Insurance Firm Friday

An attempt by Wesley Clark and the Fidelity & Casualty Company of New York to collect damages from Lloyd Trisch stemming from an automobile accident Aug. 14, 1962, boomeranged Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro.

A Tuscola county jury denied the insurance company and Clark $1,073.37 damages claimed and instead awarded Trisch damages of $1,067.45 in a countersuit.

The accident occurred on M-46 about a quarter mile east of M-24. Trisch was making a left turn from

M-46 when the crash occurred.

Jury members awarding the judgment to Trisch were: Erma Laethem, Fred Schilk, Gus Miklovic, Betty Hampton, Betty Johnson, Alex Andreychuk, Mrs. Vera Henry, Frank Reid, Tyrus Hampel, Frank Rubisch, Arthur Walt and Jerome Root.

Several criminal cases were heard Tuesday.

Charles Verduco of Saginaw was sentenced to two to five years at Jackson Prison for unlawfully driving away an auto owned by Dennis Thiek of Gagetown.

Verduco stole the car June 27 from the village of Gagetown. He drove it to Saginaw and abandoned it when it ran out of gas. He had been in court previously on other charges.

Reymundo Cantu of Birch Run was sentenced for 7 1/2 to 10 years at Jackson Prison after he had pleaded guilty to indecent liberties. He feloniously assaulted a nine-year-old girl in Arbela township April 4, 1965.

Albert Lintner Jr. of Cass City was brought before Judge Churchill for parole violation. He had failed to make restitution payments for a series of bad checks that he had written, as required as one of the terms of his parole.

He had also failed to report to the parole board. His parole was continued on his promise to live up to the parole agreement.

Tell Time Table For Financing New Fire Hall

With the village's option for the purchase of the former H. O. Paul building due to expire in November, how will it be possible to secure the money through the sale of bonds before the deadline?

The answer, according to Village President Lambert Althaver, is that it won't. "However, we expect that we will be able to get a proposal ready and have a vote of the people in time to meet the option date."

If the measure is authorized by the voters, we regard the sale of bonds as a formality and will negotiate the sale, completing payment when the money arrives, Althaver continued.

The village plans to ask residents for $56,000. This money is to be used for both the purchase (about $25,000) and the remodeling of the building.

There has been no indication of how many years the bonds will be issued for, or the number of mills that will be needed for the project.

If the issue passes, plans call for the building to be used as an area library and for the Elkland Township Fire Department.

The entire building costs, including maintenance, will be assumed by village taxpayers.

Exchange Vows

The Novesta Church of Christ was the setting Aug. 28 for the afternoon ceremony uniting Miss Linda Getchel of Lincoln and Charles A. Peasley of Cass City in marriage.

The Rev. George Getchel, brother of the bride, read the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Getchel of Lincoln and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Peasley of Cass City. Mr. Ellis Tolly of Lincoln assisted Pastor Getchel at the 4:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a lace ballroom-length gown fashioned with a scalloped neckline. The full skirt had tiers of ruffles in the back. She wore her grandmother's white pearl necklace and carried an arrangement of pink roses and white gladioli with stephanotis in the form of a cross on her mother's wrist.

The bride's niece, Deborah Getchel of Lincoln, Ill., was flower girl. Her white eyelet street-length dress was designed with an Empire waist with blue velvet ribbon. She carried a basket arrangement of roses and carnations.

was Mrs. George Getchel, sister-in-law of the bride.

The matron of honor, Iyla Waters of Cornum, wore an emerald green street-length dress fashioned with scoop neckline and overlapped pleats. Her bouquet was yellow carnations surrounding white roses in the form of a cross.

The bridesmaids, Arlene Peasley of Cass City, sister of the groom, and Joyce Tolly of Lincoln, approached the altar in gowns of ice green styled as the matron of honor's. Their flowers were white carnations surrounding yellow roses in the shape of a cross.

The bride's niece, Deborah Getchel of Lincoln, Ill., was flower girl. Her white eyelet street-length dress was designed with an Empire waist with blue velvet ribbon. She carried a basket arrangement of roses and carnations.

Ray Peasley of Cass City, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Ralph Zinnecker and Jerry Guilds, both of Cass City.

Ringbearer was Michael Kitchen of Dearborn, cousin of the groom. Seating the 250 guests who attended were Jack Cuny of Tawas City and Lowell Bindschattel of Clio, brothers-in-law of the bride, and Neil Hicks of Flint and Robert Kitchen, both uncles of the groom.

Mrs. Getchel wore a two-piece blue lace dress with a corsage of pink roses and Mrs. Peasley chose a green crepe dress with a corsage of yellow roses. The couple's grandmothers both wore white rose corsages.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

Compliments to the Village of Cass City for their lovely recreation park with all of its accommodations and entertainment for the children.

The Wentworth reunion was held at the park in August 1965 which made about five years it has been there and was very much enjoyed by all including many from a distance who remarked that they knew of no other park as well equipped for gatherings as Cass City park in comparison with the size of the village.

They enjoyed it so much they voted to make it an annual affair to meet at the Cass City park.

We wish to thank all who are responsible for this in behalf of the Wentworth reunion.

Lena and Bill Patch

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Minutes of the regular August meeting were read and approved as read.

Monthly financial report was briefly reviewed.

A letter from F. H. Pinney was read informing the council that a new heating system would have to be installed in the H. O. Paul Bldg. A revised layout of the building as drawn by the architect was presented. Pres. Althaver was requested to obtain more specific estimates on the cost of the remodeling.

A motion was made by Trustee Seals seconded by Trustee Freiburger that the president be authorized to initiate proceedings with the bonding company for the issuance of a maximum of $50,000 of G.O. bonds for the purpose of purchasing and remodeling the H. O. Paul Bldg. for a combination library-fire hall. Yea-6 Nay-0 Motion carried.

The committee working on the employee retirement plan reported that the actuary has completed his study. This report will be used by local insurance companies in computing costs of such a program. Dump Committee reported that further investigation showed the two sites previously discussed to be of doubtful value. Another site belonging to the county is to be investigated.

Sealed bids are being sought for the dismantling and removal of the abandoned water tower. Bid opening is scheduled for October 26, 1965 at 7:00 P.M.

Drafts of the alley petitions for blacktop were reviewed. Clerk was instructed to contact Surveyor Case for a sketch of the layout of Brooker St. as it joins Vulcan.

Motion by J. Seals seconded by G. McCullough that the village crew install Christmas decorations on Main St. Motion carried.

Motion by F. Auten seconded by Dr. Rawson that the bills as approved by the Finance Committee be paid. Motion carried.

Automation Gives Wives Less Work

Automation and its impact on jobs and women were discussed by 52 members of the WSCS Monday evening at the Methodist Church.

The topic was "Automation and Leisure" and was presented by Mrs. Clare Carpenter. She pointed out how automation has increased leisure for the housewife through use of packaged foods. Today there are 8,000 items on the shelves of the supermarket, she explained, and in 10 years there will be 12,000.

Economy and convenience are the reasons, she said. It costs just 23 cents more to buy a frozen meal that takes an hour and a half to prepare at home, she explained.

The effect of automation on jobs for women was illustrated by Mrs. Carpenter by citing a job in the potato industry.

There are 400 women in Michigan employed taking the eyes out of potatoes, she said, and scientists are working to produce potatoes without eyes. When they do, these people will have to find other jobs, she said.

After her talk, she asked several women to comment on various topics.

Mrs. Keith McConkey told of the service of women's clubs in the area.

Mrs. Roy Chisholm told of women in education and Mrs. Roger Marshall, of women in industry. She said that of the 550 - 700 persons employed at General Cable, 350 are women who do hand work and run machines.

Mrs. Robert Keating said that the increased use of the library showed the results of automation and more leisure time for women.

In the business session, Mrs. Harlan Dickinson was named Chelsea Home Friend chairman to complete the term of Mrs. L. B. Rolison.

Group II, with Mrs. Dale Brown and Mrs. Jack Kilbourn, cochairmen, served the dinner.

Mrs. A. Kozan gave devotions and read a humorous poem of the "Good Old Days" on the farm.

Mrs. James Braid led the 6:15 prayer group.

Elevator Razed

noon, however, in the area where the fire is believed to have started.

Fifth Fire

It was the fifth fire in the history of the Cass City landmark and the second fire this year. A small blaze was spotted on July 8 in one of the elevators but was put out before it got out of hand.

Up until last week's fire, the most severe damage was experienced in an office fire in 1931, according to Frank Reid, retired Farm Produce manager. In that fire, the entire offices were gutted and the heavy safes fell into the basement.

History

Reid, who worked for Farm Produce for 51 years, 36 as manager, provided some history on the installation. The firm was started in 1900 by William McCullum, E.A. McGee and Company purchased the business in 1906.

In 1910 it was purchased by Farm Produce Company, an organization of farmers. At that time, Reid reports, the business consisted of an office and a warehouse which was used for grinding and some storage.

The grain elevator was built in 1912 and the big bean elevator was erected in 1914.

A check with A.D. McIntyre, Frutchey Bean Company president, Wednesday morning revealed that company plans are indefinite about rebuilding.

"We'll rebuild, of course," McIntyre explained, "but just what type of structure we're not sure. We're waiting on everything to close with the insurance... to see what can be salvaged."

There is some speculation that new construction will be in the form of a warehouse of some sort.

Hobby—Handicraft Group Meet Oct. 2

The Cass City Livestock Hobby and Handicraft group met Saturday, Oct. 2, at the 4-H building. It was the first of the fall meetings.

President George Russell presided. Pledges to the flags were led by Susan Koepgen and Dean Little.

Officers were elected for the year as follows: president, Tom Russell; vice-president, Bob DeLong; secretary, Janet Koepgen; treasurer, Max Hendrick, and reporter, Linda Russell.

Pins were given to first-year members by Leader Keith Russell. 4-H members filled out reports for their summer projects and new members were welcomed into the club.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Keith Russell at the close of the session.

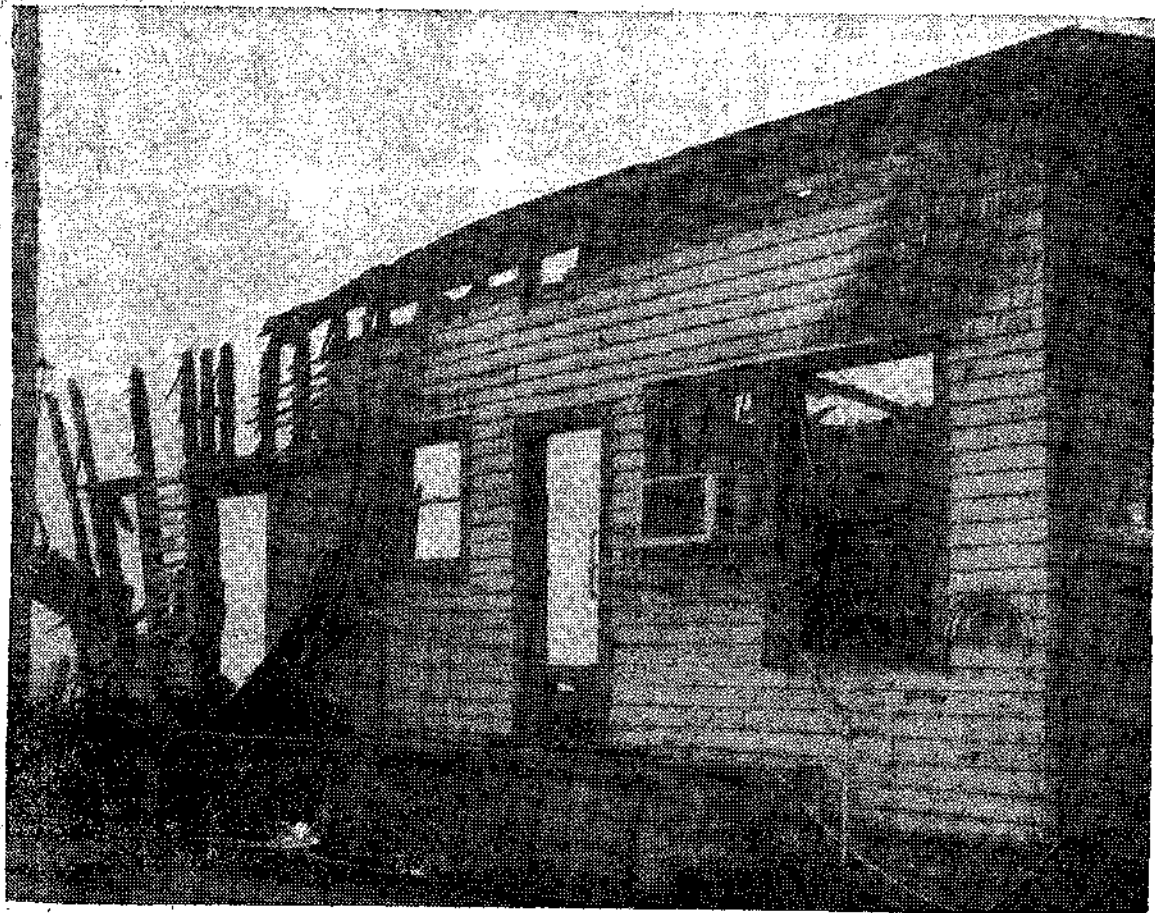

Solve life's little problems and the big ones will always take care of themselves.

Camera Highlights of Frutchey Bean Co. Fire Sept. 29

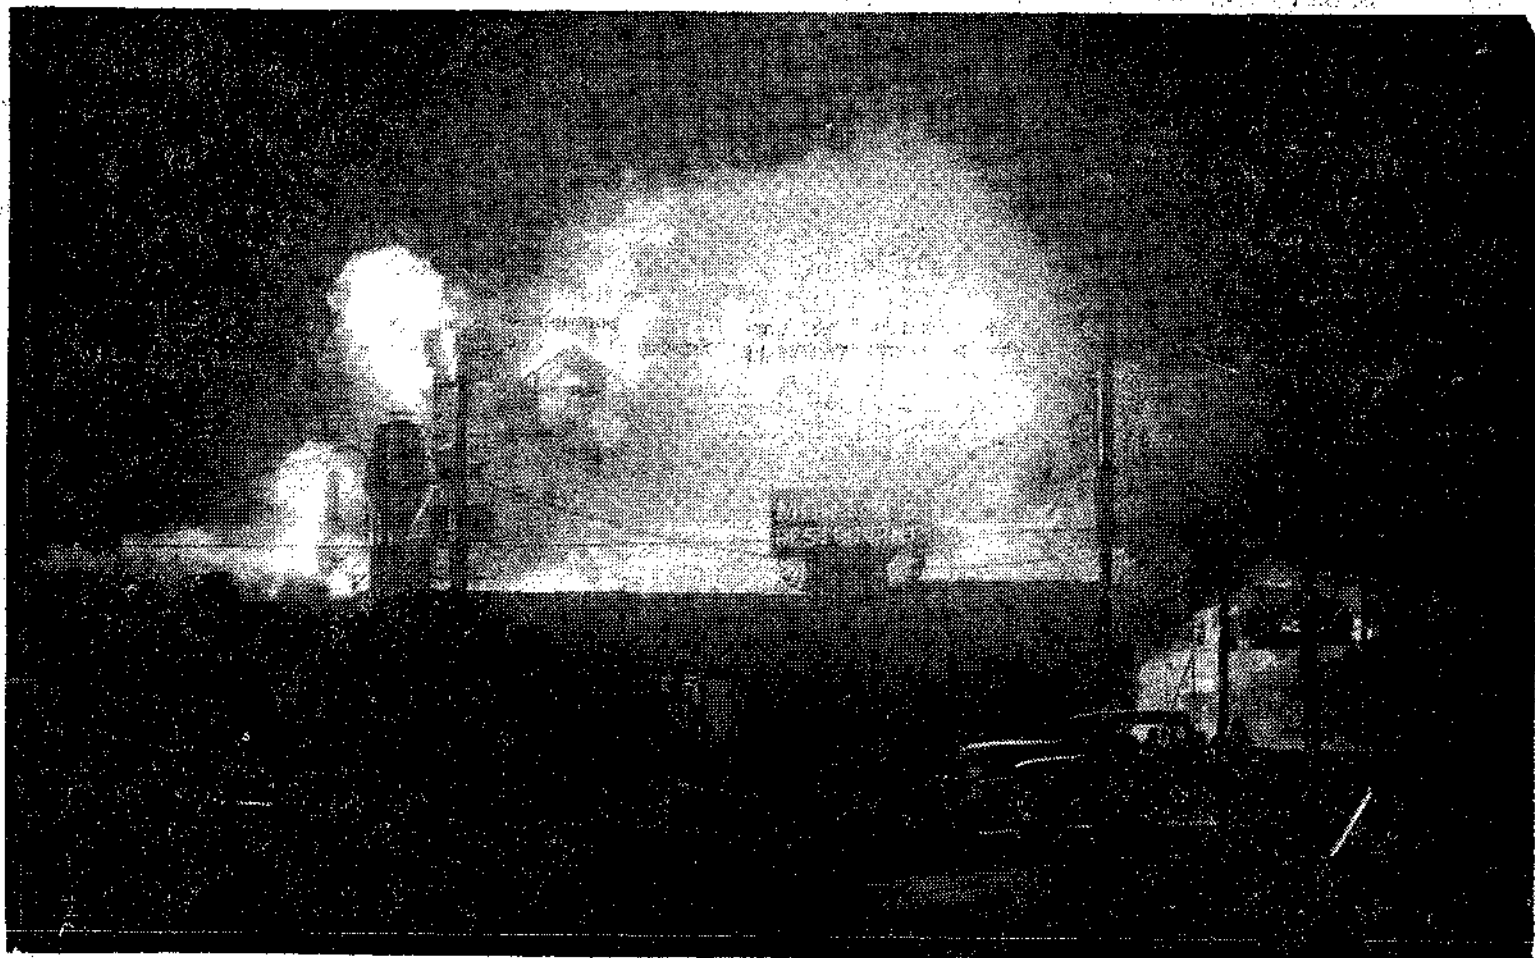

TWO CASS CITY firemen are silhouetted against the white hot flames of the burning Frutchey Bean elevator as they work with their hoses. Fifty firemen from four area fire departments spent three hours controlling the flames and the Cass City department spent 17 hours at the scene. (Chronicle photo)

fire, is hazy because of heavy smoke that continued to pour from the rubble for the better part of a week after the fire. Office records were saved but all equipment was lost. (Chronicle photo)

FLAMES FROM THE burning Frutchey Bean Company Elevator seem to be engulfing Martin's Restaurant but fortunately firemen were able to prevent any damage to the restaurant and a garage between the restaurant and the burning building. This was the scene about a half hour after the blaze was spotted. (Chronicle photo)

THIS WAS THE SCENE about an hour after the Frutchey Bean Company fire started Wednesday night. By this time, the major portion of the elevator superstructure and an adjacent building (at right) had burned. The entire building complex, aside from siding, was constructed of wood and burned rapidly. (Chronicle photo)

The fellow who considers himself the light of other peoples' lives is often put out.

The 1966 Oldsmobile Toronado, with front-wheel drive, is the most unique automobile in many years. A six-passenger hardtop coupe, it is available in a standard or deluxe model. Driving traction and handling under every conceivable road condition are only two of the outstanding characteristics of this car. In styling, too, the Toronado is distinctive and unique. A specially-modified 425-cubic-inch Toronado V-8 and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission deliver power to the front wheels. Inside, the Toronado provides full 6-passenger spaciousness and features a flat floor.

No Injuries in Minor Area Mishaps

Two minor accidents involving no injuries but one citation were investigated by Cass City police during the past week.

Monday cars driven by Dennis Gremel, 19, Cass City, and William Eberline, 40, also of Cass City, collided in the middle of the intersection of Sixth and Leach streets. Gremel was traveling south on Leach and Eberline was traveling west on Sixth Street. Because the intersection was open and without signs, no summons was issued.

Saturday morning cars driven by Mrs. Grant Glaspie, 35, and Roger Parrish, 31, both of Cass City, collided at the intersection of Church and West Streets when Parrish failed to yield the right of way.

Parrish's car struck the Glaspie

Nazarene Church Slates Revival

The Cass City Church of the Nazarene is holding Evangelistic services Oct. 7-17 at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

The Rev. Richard Lashley is the Evangelist. He is president of the Thumb zone youth society, president of the Interdenominational

Camp at Caro and pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Fairgrove.

Miss Gertrude Cooper of Findlay, Ohio, graduate of Chicago Evangelistic Institute, is in charge of the music and special singing. She will also give special programs for the youth with Sencio-Felt pictures with Roto-Chrome and black lighting and illustrate gospel songs. Miss Cooper has worked extensively with youth in various camps.

Pastor Richard Spencer extends an invitation to the public to attend.

vehicle in the right rear fender. He was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. Officer William McKinley investigated.

No injuries were reported in a two-car crash Saturday on M-81 at Dodge Road in Elkland township. A car driven by Wayne Dewey, 44, of Cass City drove onto M-81 and collided with a car driven by Gail Ann Hutchinson, 24, of Cass City.

Lutherans Plan Fellowship Dinner

Members of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Cass City will gather for a fellowship dinner Sunday, Oct. 10, at 12:30. Each family will bring table service and a dish to pass.

During the program following the meal, the children will be entertained outside or in the parsonage basement so that their parents may participate in discussion about congregational matters such as relationships and responsibilities of members toward the congregation.

The program will consist of entertainment, film strip and speakers.

The Rev. Calvin Fiege, Director of Stewardship in the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, is acting as director of Every Member Visitation in connection with Cass City's stewardship program. Approximately once a week Rev. Fiege travels from Ann Arbor to visit with the leaders of the EMV. This is the beginning of one of the biggest programs to be undertaken this year and all members are urged to attend the Oct. 10 dinner.

OKAY JAIL BIDS

The county is allowed to set aside a tenth of one mill for capital improvements. They took this money for 1964 and 1965 and pledged 1966 for the jail. This totaled $42,000.

The county also receives $100,000 in fees which can legally be used for the construction. From this money they are taking $21,000 this year and $21,000 next year to make up the money necessary to complete the jail project.

The vote was 20 in favor with five supervisors absent.

The successful bidders who were awarded contracts are: Davison and Sons of Tawas City, general contract, $308,160; Daveny Plumbing and Heating of Flint, mechanical, $142,677; Southeastern Electric of Bay City, electrical, $89,896; and Southern Steel Co. of San Antonio, Tex., jail equipment, $41,470. Total cost of the new jail is $562,203.

CIRCUIT COURT

found guilty of stealing a case of wine from Fort's Store in Cass City Sept. 22.

Johnson was tried in Justice Court and fined $50 and $6.25 costs. In addition he was ordered to make restitution of $25.

Still under investigation by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is the looting of $215 from the Moose Lodge in Caro. The Lodge was entered Friday by thieves who broke a padlock and hopped on the front door and then smashed a glass to gain entrance to the rooms where the money was kept.

Explain Change In 3-County Extension Service

The Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service is reorganizing in an effort to take the 51-year old organization out of urban areas and concentrate on rural Michigan. Extension Service stress is going back to farms. In Tuscola county, we have actually never gotten away from work with farmers and rural people, said Alfred Ballweg, formerly carrying the title of County Extension Director, now changed to "County Extension Agricultural Agent".

The Service will provide a more comprehensive educational program for commercial agriculture and rural families. Primary emphasis will be given to agriculture, agriculture marketing, family living education, 4-H youth work and natural resources.

State-wide about 30 positions will be eliminated. The chief reason for the cutback is the fact that the 1965 Michigan Legislature appropriated less than the M. S. U. budget requested.

While Tuscola county will feel the extent of the cutback to a lesser degree than some of the more urban areas, we too will be affected by the cutback, according to Ballweg. The counties of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac will be one of 28 program units in the state of Michigan. Sanilac county is without both a 4-H and Home Extension Agent, therefore, the Home Agents and Club Agents in Tuscola and Huron counties are asked to spend a third of their time in Sanilac county to carry forward both the 4-H and Family Living program in that county, too. In other words, each of the three counties will have two-thirds of the time of Agents in 4-H and family living phases of the total program in the tri-county program unit.

Home Economics work will be known as "Family Living Education" and Barbara Henrikson will have the title of "Extension Home Economist." George Pattullo, 4-H Agent, will be known as "Extension 4-H Youth Agent". There will be no change in the assignment for Don Kehler, except that his title will change from County Extension Agent, Agriculture, to "Extension Agricultural Agent".

There are still many details to be worked out on the tri-county operation of the Family Living and 4-H programs.

The effective date of the reorganization was October 1, said Ballweg.

Smith-Douglass Ad To be Sample at Advertising Meet

A recent advertisement run in the Chronicle by Smith-Douglass Farm Center manager Clinton Law has been chosen as a sample of outstanding advertising to be shown at a company advertising meeting.

D. W. Cook, assistant general manager, Saginaw, in a letter to Law, stated, "The ad you put in the Cass City Newspaper was as good an ad as I have seen this year. Enough so that we are going to use this as the sample at our advertising meeting."

"I am also going to send a copy of this on to Mr. Cummings (head of advertising for Smith-Douglass) at Norfolk. Keep up the good work."

The quarter-page ad showed a couple gazing romantically at each other with the inscription, "Getting married is an expensive way of getting your laundry done free."

The ad explained further that another expensive way of saving was not using the firm's products.

Fraudulent Phone User Prosecuted

A Harbor Beach woman was fined $20.00 in Bad Axe Thursday, Sept. 30, for making fraudulent phone calls in General Telephone Company's Cass City district.

Justice John Guza of Bad Axe fined Bonnie Brandow, 20, of Harbor Beach $15.70 plus costs of $4.30 on the charge.

Miss Brandow was the first person to be prosecuted under a stringent policy put into effect by General Telephone recently, according to local officials.

Fabrics Set for Extension Lesson

Have you ever stood at a garment rack with a handful of labels and pondered? What is a built in whiteners? Does a modulus rayon act like acetate? What good is nylon in blue jeans? Will washable woollens really machine wash? How durable is durable press?

An afternoon spent at the Extension lesson "Textile News and Views" taught by Barbara S. Henrikson, home economist, will answer these and many other questions that may be troubling you. The lesson is open to the general public, free of charge, at the 4-H Building, fairgrounds, Caro, at 1:30 - 3:30, Thursday, Oct. 14.

General Cable Denies Charges

General Cable Corporation is one of a group of large aluminum manufacturers named in a suit in the U. S. District Court, charged with conspiring to fix prices in the sale of aluminum conductor cable in overhead electric lines.

General Cable was one of four firms who denied the charges or said they believed that the charges could not be supported.

Cable representatives said, according to a report of the Associated Press, that it had "never been involved in collusion or agreement with other manufacturers relating to aluminum cable."

What happens to a mental patient when she gets out of the hospital? Will she remain with her family or be readmitted?

The Cooperative Extension Service and the Saginaw Valley Consultation Center are combining forces to see what can be done to help ex-mental patients adjust to their home and community, according to Barbara S. Henrikson, Extension Home Economist.

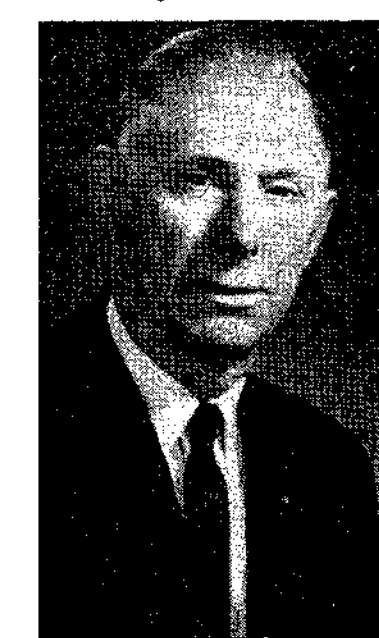

Volunteer Extension Homemakers, 4-H Leaders and community leaders attended the second in a series of training meetings Monday, September 27, in Caro. They will work directly with the ex-patients in their homes on such matters as budgeting, grooming, child care, nutrition and marketing.

It is felt that as the ladies gain confidence on homemaking techniques that this confidence will extend to other areas of their lives.

Rotary District Governor Makes Annual Visit

The aims of Rotary and some of its current international, national and local programs were reviewed Tuesday by Irl L. Baguley of Caro, district governor.

Baguley reviewed local Rotary programs with President William Kitzman and Thomas Proctor, club secretary.

He told members how Rotary is stressing plans of action for global advancement of Rotary. He explained that this district and two others in Michigan are matched with Costa Rica and Mexico for mutually helpful projects.

Baguley is well-known in Cass City. He served as Director of Social Welfare of Tuscola County for many years before retiring.

He was also a supervisor from Indianfields township and a Caro businessman. During an unsuccessful campaign for probate judge, he became even more widely known in the county.

Rednose Not Fatal But Can Cut into Profits

The initials I. B. R. and B. V. D. are not new government agencies, but they are becoming more familiar to beef cattle feeders.

I. B. R. is infectious bovine rhinotracheitis, more commonly known as "rednose". It is a virus disease that affects cattle of all ages and while it causes few death losses, economic losses in feeding may be high, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

B. V. D. is bovine virus diarrhea, another virus disease, which often starts with respiratory involvement and is often confused with pneumonia or shipping fever, Ballweg reports.

Michigan State University Extension Veterinarian Clifford C. Beck reports to the Extension office that there is a combined vaccine available through veterinarians that can control both of these diseases.

Does it pay? Dr. Beck puts it this way. "If the cattle feeder figures he has his animals on feed for 200 days, the cost of vaccination would cost less than one-half cent a day. That's rather low-cost insurance against these two diseases."

The first step costs the most but it is worth the price if it's in the right direction.

Antelope Question Knows No Bounds

By Dave Kraft

It is well-known that I am a patient and forgiving man, but I've reached the conclusion that somebody up there doesn't like me.

I base this on two happenings: One was the Frutchey Bean fire and the other was the twister at Gagetown.

How did these affect me? I'll tell you how they affected me. . . they both happened on Wednesday, that's how they affected me.

Any darn fool knows the Chronicle comes out on Wednesday, ergo, things happening on Wednesday don't get in until the next week, by which time everybody else knows more about what happened than the guy who covered the event.

So it is with all sincerity that I beseech thee, please schedule your tornadoes and fires for no later than Tuesday night.

Say, how about that fire? I'll please you all to know that I made it there. . . mainly because I hadn't gone to bed yet. I got there so fast that the flames hadn't even begun to appear yet. I even beat Elwyn Helwig there.

I'd like to thank the firefighters for letting me get a few pictures before putting the thing out. They're getting better about that, but there's still room for improvement.

Thursday was a relatively calm day, but Friday the wind shifted and blew the smoke and stench through town. It smelled like the Vassar dump at high noon.

It was a history-maker. From now on, Wednesday, Sept. 29, will be remembered as the night Frutchey Bean burned down.

John Herhall. . . excuse me, Pfc. John Herhall, US Army Airborne, is home on furlough. . . Got home Friday, Sept. 24, and goes back Friday, Oct. 8.

John's a para-med. He was a paratrooper, but he changed his classification after an incident that makes me even surer than I ever was that I never want to jump from an airplane unless it hasn't left the ground.

John, for reasons unnecessary to go into, didn't pack his chute right for his 15th jump. Consequently, when he bailed out, it didn't open. He managed to get it unsnarled and out of his pack but he had what they call a streamer.

That's when the chute doesn't fill with air and just streams out behind the falling victim.

John said he fell about 1,500 feet before he got his reserve chute open. He explained that the fastest an individual can fall is 180 miles an hour and that he was just about there when he pulled his reserve.

The resulting impact was terrific. The chute slowed him some, but the fall had put him on a slant course and instead of coming straight down, he slammed into old Ma Earth on about a 75 degree angle.

He hit with such force that his lower leg bones were jammed about three inches above his knees. He spent two weeks on crutches.

He says he still gets a funny feeling in his stomach when he thinks about it. Paratroopers get $55 more a month for jump duty than the regular infantryman. I figure that's about what I'd pay not to have to do it.

If you haven't been into Wood's Drug lately, then you haven't seen their toy animal display.

It has a sign which reads, "Please do not feed the animals." Then in smaller lettering it says, "They're stuffed already."

Our question as to the correct term for the male antelope has been answered, along with several questions we didn't even ask. The reply came from a "constant reader," and while there may be some room for dispute, he seems to know what he's talking about.

The letter reads: "Dear Dave, I am glad to note that you are conducting research about the name of the male antelope. No branch of etymology is more interesting than that of the plains Indians. (I didn't even know that the antelope was a twig of the etymology, whatever that is.)"

Possibly no other word in any language is more beautiful than Minnehaha or "Laughing Water." Yet even deeper feeling is expressed by Minneboohoo, or "Weeping Water." (He's gotta be kidding.)

The masculine form of antelope is, of course, "uncelope." (What else, I suppose the little one are called niece and nephewopes.)

Motorists driving through the rolling hills of Wyoming may be treated to the sight of a herd of antelope-grazing-by-the-highway. If the car stops, the proud beasts will be instantly alert, and may stand motionless for several minutes, gazing toward the intruder.

But any untoward motion will cause the uncle of the herd to spring up and lope gracefully away. The females obediently follow suit, leaping high into the air.

The plains Indians speak of this as "raising the antes." (Groan!)

No sportsman could hope to have a more heart-warming experience. As the poet has said, "My heart leaps up when I behold antelope in the sky." (I imagine it would. Did you ever hear about the cow that jumped over the moon?)

So there you are. All that just because Joe Weller went antelope hunting.

Local Library Shows Circulation Increase

The monthly meeting of the Cass City and Elkhart Township Public Library board was held Sept. 29 at the library. All board members and the librarian were present when Mrs. Robert Keating presided.

The board voted to raise the fee for a library card to patrons who live in townships not affiliated with the Cass City library. Starting Nov. 1 the fee will be $5.00 per year for a card which is for the entire family. This does not apply to Evergreen, Kingston, Novesta and Elmwood township residents. Those townships have contracts with the Cass City library for services.

Librarian Mrs. Arthur Little reported 23 new books added during the month of September and figures show a 12 per cent increase in circulation over September 1964.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where a fellow from Detroit named Alfred Adamo was writing to all the big magazines and newspapers in the country trying to get a movement started to make Columbus Day a national holiday ever year.

I put this matter on the agenda at the country store Saturday night and all the fellers was agin it. First off, Ed Doolittle said the national budget couldn't stand it. He reported he had saw in the papers where more'n 1,200 people was killed for the July 4 and Labor Day holidays. Ed was of the opinion the economy of the country can't stand losing no more taxpayers for national holidays.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed, allowed as how President Johnson would have to go to Spain for the signing ceremonies on this bill and, furthermore, it would probable take about 1,000 pens for such a historical occasion.

Clem Webster, that was in time with the Great Society most of the time, said he would vote with the majority agin the bill but he wanted to get one item in the records. He reported them pens President Johnson was using was now being bought wholesale and the price had dropped from $1.11 per pen to 17 cents. Clem claimed this was a big saving and was in keeping with turning out the White House lights and other Great Society economy moves. Furthermore, allowed Clem, the pen people had been having it pretty hard in this pocket of poverty has now been washed away.

Everybody was strong in favor of Columbus but, considering all the dangers, they was agin giving him a Day. And so, Mister Editor, if you git a letter from this feller Adamo I would tell him, Columbus si, holiday no.

Josh Clodhopper announced he was feeling mighty encouraged over our war agin poverty and was pleased to hear the pen folks had been took care of in such fine style. He reported he had saw where the hotel folks was also gitting removed from the poverty list. Fer instant, he told the fellers, he was reading where the Office of Economic Opportunity had rented a hotel in St. Petersburg, Florida, for 18 months for $225,000 at the same time they was a ad in the papers offering the hotel for sale at $205,000.

But all the fellers was agreed the anti-poverty program was gitting a mighty fine press. Ed said he had saw where the program was paying $32,000 a month for 16 orcs agents and $2,000 a month to a firm in New York to advise the press agents where to press. Personal, I was noting where a Russian official told his folks Americans complaining agin these matters was put in jail. We ain't got enough jails to hold that many people, in fact, we was running out of enough houses to hold 'em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

The man who follows the straight and narrow path in the journey through life will always have plenty of elbow room.

A poker face may sometimes win, but no man in the world has ever been able to bluff his conscience into silence.

Democratic "Get Romney" Campaign Like Gang Warfare

One Man -- One Fight

Political sparring for the 1966 bout is getting serious already, but instead of being a man-to-man encounter, it has taken on more of a "Daniel in the lions' den" appearance.

Like gang warfare, the rumblings started several months before the midsummer Democratic "Get Romney" campaign came out in the open.

Even a few dissident Democrats commented about the lack of subtlety used by the legislative majority leaders in killing Gov. George Romney's hopes for tax reform this year.

One of the keys to this all-against-one effort lies in the increasing mention of the Governor's name in conjunction with 1968 presidential election talk. Another is in the fact that State Senators will be elected for four years in 1966.

Still a third can be found in the attempt to get former Gov. G. Mennen Williams back to run against Romney next year.

First, Democrats need to punch as many holes as they can in Romney's national image armor, which at this point is very firm. Four-year terms for Senators starting in 1967 means the Democrats need to put up a strong fight next fall to hold as many seats as possible.

To accomplish this politicians need to appear as supporters and idea-men for all popular legislation and opponents of the publicly unpopular proposals.

If any tax reform is to be undertaken, they must try to see to it that it is Democratic-initiated. It must be geared so they can appear to be convincing Gov. Romney that it is valuable and needed.

By calling Romney's reform plan unfair to the low income taxpayer and the consumer, they hope to maintain good favor with the voting, working man next November.

Possible retirement from the international political arena has been admitted by Williams, but his statements of recent weeks are still a far cry from announcing intentions to run against Romney. Democrats tried at least once before to lure the former six-term governor back to the state scene.

Strong evidence will be needed that serious inroads have been made by the current campaign if Williams is to agree to run against the present chief executive in either the Governor or U.S. Senate race next year.

An unfortunate sidelight of the current political fighting has developed to include an area of legislation which should have nearly unanimous support.

Several traffic safety measures proposed in the regular 1965 session died because of minor spats between members and the major fight between the Governor and the Democrats.

Now, majority Democrats say they are working on a comprehensive program of traffic safety legislation to be presented next year.

A Governor's study committee came up with several recommendations to alleviate traffic safety problems. Most of these were incorporated in the Governor's official legislative program, which this year was the kiss of death for them.

Although several of these duplicated proposals suggested by Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare, legislative powers decided to hold passage until next year.

Waiting, under pretense of preparing a major program, accomplishes an important political purpose. House Speaker Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, says the program "will be ready to move as soon as the 1966 session convenes."

Essentially what he means is that he will have traffic safety bills ready for introduction before the Governor's 1966 legislative program is spelled out. The package, or a good part of it, can then be represented as a Democratic victory.

Blue Guidelines

Blue, yellow and white may one day have as important meaning to traveling motorists as the red, green and yellow of traffic lights now denote.

Michigan highway officials have now installed the second series of color coding signs and reflectors to test the effectiveness of them as a means of instant communication.

Yellow and white reflectors have been in use for some time on the state's high-speed roads. The white is used on through sections to mark the roadside, while yellow reflectors bring out exits and entrances.

Blue signs and reflectors to denote exit lanes were tested to some degree of effectiveness at Mt. Pleasant and Clare on U. S. 27 the past four years. Similar markings were installed this fall at the complex Ann Arbor-Flint interchanges on northbound U.S. 23.

Officials hope the new test will determine whether the distinctive blue markings will eliminate some driver confusion and thus ease the flow of traffic at busy interchanges.

Without a lot of pepper a man is never worth his salt.

There's nothing wrong with the dreamer who hustles after the alarm clock rings.

IT SEEMS TO ME Few of Graham's Converts Active

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Seems To Me.

The first Negro president of Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Miss., was installed in June. The college is located just outside Jackson, Miss., and is related to the United Church of Christ. It was founded in 1869 primarily to provide for the education of Negroes, but today is completely integrated in faculty and student body.

Pome: (especially dedicated to Cass City's growing number of golfers.)

Don't believe the tales that golfers tell; The ball lies poorly — the players lie well.

At this time of concern over the proper places of the church and state, it is untimely to add new laws which can only add to the conflict. Such, however, is Senator Dirksen's bill calling for elections to be held on the first Sunday in November! Comments Christianity Today, a Protestant magazine, (in part) "No one in this country has a right to impose his idea of Sunday observance on another. This is proper. But it is equally right that society not impose Sunday civic obligations upon the religious conscience that would keep many Americans away from the polls." Now is the time to let our Senators and Representatives know how you feel about this important matter. Or, so it

The Christian Scientists attending the annual meeting of the Mother Church in Boston last spring, were urged to climb on the ecumenical bandwagon. Members were urged to seek "areas of agreement" with persons of other denominations rather than regard themselves as "entirely different or exclusive." This is the first sign that officials of the Christian Science Church consider their church able to unite with others. In succeeding years we can hope for further word concerning just what role that church is willing to play. Or so it seems to me.

The Christian Century, in its editorials on June 23, 1965, says: "When the United States Supreme Court held unconstitutional Connecticut laws banning the use and dissemination of birth control information and devices, it rescued much of the privacy of the home," and almost incidentally upheld the rights of churches which gave such information even while such was against the law! This is long overdue, of course; and so it seems to me.

Extension Group To Treat Patients

The Cass City Home Economics Extension group met at Mrs. Frank Meiser's home Thursday, Sept. 30, for a seven o'clock dessert.

It takes backbone to back down from a wrong position.

Play it cool — it's possible your past may take a short cut and head off your future.

Do not purchase stretch fabrics a size smaller with the idea that they will stretch to fit. Michigan State University clothing specialists report that stretch is a constant, not a size factor.
