

State Lowers the Boom on Main Street Angle Parking

The Michigan State Highway Department lowered the boom on angle parking on Main Street in Cass City Tuesday night when L. J. Mikulich, district traffic engineer from Saginaw, said that Cass City would change by March 1 or go to court.

Speaking before the Cass City Village Council Tuesday night at the Municipal Building, Mikulich said, "what it boils down to is that Cass City changes to parallel parking or we turn the case over to the attorney general for action." There has been a law on the books requiring parallel parking on State highways longer than I have been with the department (15 years), Mikulich said.

We have tried to move slow in bringing uniform parking, but are cleaning up the last pockets of angle parking now.

Five Left

In my district there are five communities affected, he explained. Besides Cass City, Chesan-ing, Pigeon, Fairgrove and spots in Saginaw and Bay City are affected, he explained.

Lose Parking

Mikulich said that studies have shown that the switch will cost the village about a third of its Main street parking spaces. He said that increased road capacity and safety were the reasons the department is insisting on parallel parking.

Parking History

The history of the active fight for parallel parking in Cass City dates back eight years when a minor war broke out between the council and the merchants over the change.

At this time the change was made and the lines marked for parallel parking... but it lasted for just two weeks and two special council meetings. At these meetings, some 40 merchants voiced protests over the change and the council capitulated and the lines were re-marked after only two weeks.

"It boils down," one council member said at the time of the fracas, "to whether we want Federal aid for Main Street or angle parking for the customers of the merchants."

A council committee was formed at the time to investigate off-street parking, but no action was ever taken.

The parking status quo remained until about a year ago when residents of West Main street appeared before the council asking for much needed drainage. This started another round of meetings with the State Highway Commission with no appreciable results.

Still a Problem

Main street east and west of the business district is still a problem and Village President Lambert Althaver queried the highway representative to see if there was any chance for State and Federal help when the village switches parking.

The prospects are exceedingly dim, if not nonexistent, according to Mikulich, who said that highway funds are tight due to expressway construction.

Although there will probably be no outside financial assistance, the State controls the right-of-way of all of Main street (M-81) and any drainage or construction on the street requires prior approval of the department and this type of construction is very expensive, the village learned in last year's discussion with the department.

Alley Parking

During the discussion, Fred Aut-

en revealed that the petitions are now ready to be signed for the blacktopping of the alleys north and south of Main Street. Planned for early next year is completion of the two blocks west of Seeger Street.

The council also said that in light of the Highway department decision, an effort would be made to accelerate work for the two blocks of alley east of Seeger street for completion the following year.

Interest for School Bonds to Top $1 Million

The steadily rising bond market of recent months was reflected in the three bids received for the $1.6 million bond issue of the Cass City School District for the proposed new high school.

Halsey, Stuart and Company, Inc. of Chicago was the low bidder with an interest rate of 3.6116. First of Michigan Corporation of Detroit was second with a bid of 3.6231 and Kenower, MacArthur and Co. of Detroit was third with a bid of 3.6577.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that the school's issue was bid in the midst of a steadily rising bond market.

In July the average interest was 3.32 and in September the rate had risen to 3.47. These interest charges are for Class A (top rated) bonds.

If all of the bonds are retired at maturity the district will have paid $1,041,067.00 in interest for the issue.

However, Crouse said, there is a recallable provision in the bonds and if the state changes the law, the district could save interest money by retiring some of the bonds before maturity.

Free Movie to Highlight Family Night at Cass

"McLintock," a laugh-filled slug-fest starring John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara will be the featured picture at the annual all-free Family Night Halloween Show at the Cass Theatre Saturday night, Oct. 30.

Sponsored by the theatre and the Chamber of Commerce, the affair will get under way at 8:00 p.m. with theatre doors opening at 7:30.

Free prizes will consist of comic books, movie passes and crisp dollar bills, according to Richard Hendrick, theatre owner.

Parents are invited to accompany their youngsters to the free program. The show will be the first in a series of free pictures sponsored by the Chamber and the theatre. Several other free movies will be given during the Christmas shopping period.

Dealing with Frutchey

Seek to Straighten Vulcan Street

The traffic-impeding sharp turn on Vulcan Street, about a block north of Garfield street, will be straightened, if an agreement can be worked out with Frutchey Bean Co.

Frutchey owns the property that makes the two right angle turns necessary in the road. Arthur Atwell, representing the company, said that Frutchey would deed the land to the village if the council would guarantee that there would be no bill for curb and gutter. Atwell figured that curb and gutter would amount to about $1,800 to Frutchey on the basis of $1.75 per running foot.

The council takes the position that they cannot bind future trustees to any agreement of this sort.

After considerable discussion, they voted to offer Frutchey $1,000 for the necessary land. If the offer is accepted, the road will be straightened. After drainage of the area is completed, plans are to make the street a major outlet for traffic serving the industrial section of the village.

If the offer is declined, the road will not be improved.

Cultural Center Open; Lectures, Art Series Next

Plans for increased use of the Elkland Township Cultural Center were formulated at a meeting of the center's steering committee Thursday evening, Oct. 21.

Scheduling may be set up by contacting Campbell or Mrs. James Bauer and will be done on a first come, first serve basis. Use will be arranged for a nominal fee, dependent on the type of meeting or event being held and the size of the group participating.

The center is now being used by Miss Debbie Boylan for baton twirling instructions, and several events have been scheduled for coming months.

They include two more lectures sponsored by the American Association of University Women, the Michigan Bell Art Series, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club, and a senior citizens Christmas party given by Zonta.

From the Editor's Corner

If you have small fry at home waiting for Halloween tricks or treats, Saturday is the night. The Village Council and the Chamber of Commerce were each waiting for the other to select a date so that homeowners would not be greeted by the kids on both Saturday and Sunday. Tuesday, it was decided by the council that since the free movie was Saturday, the rest of the Halloween fun should be the same night.

But don't be surprised if there are a few holdovers Sunday.

I can testify that the village council had nothing to do with the changing of parking on Main Street from angle to parallel, effective next spring. The State Highway Department representative didn't ask for cooperation, he said that the village is going to live up to the law for trunkline highways—period!

One kernel of satisfaction for those who have opposed parallel parking is that he admitted that one of the two reasons for changing parking was to increase road capacity... you have no problem about that here, he said... something that the pro angle parking people have pointed out for years. He said that parallel parking is safer for motorists and this was the other reason for demanding the change.

Regardless of the merits of the change, it will be made and a 10-year controversy will end in Cass City.

Ken Fiesinger, manager of the Rotary Rascals, says that the Liming Lions have accepted a challenge to meet his team in a benefit six-man tag football match Nov. 11.

Nov. 11 is Veterans' Day, but there will be no armistice when these two clubs take the field. Concluded on page four.

Vandals Drive Car in Wheat

Stanley Muntz, Muntz Road, Cass City, reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that a car had been driven into his wheat field sometime during the night and had made several power turns, damaging a large amount of wheat. Sheriff's officers investigated and found tracks at the scene but no other evidence.

Sentence Four to Jackson Prison

Four Tuscola County men were given varying terms in Jackson State Prison when they appeared in Circuit Court for sentencing in two court sessions during the past week.

Albert R. Hutchinson, 31, Cass City, was sentenced to 2½ to 15 years at Jackson when he appeared before Judge James Churchill Tuesday for sentencing on a probation violation charge.

Hutchinson was on probation on a bad check writing charge. He broke probation by writing more checks and leaving the area.

Village Asks Help In Removal of Its Dead Trees

Homeowners with dead trees on village property in front of their homes are asked to call the Municipal building, if they desire free removal this fall.

Deadline for notifying the village is Dec. 1, the council decided.

Water Tower Removal Bids Puzzle Council

The Village Council opened bids for the removal of the old water tower Tuesday night and still are not sure who will do the work.

There was a wide discrepancy in the three bids received.

The low bid was for $3,795, just about half of the price quoted by the second bidder, R. J. Fox Construction Co. of Caro, who asked $7,300 for the work. The top bid was submitted by Nor-west Machinery Movers Co. and was $24,200.

The reason that the council did not accept the low bid of the Oak Ridge Water Tank Service Co. Tuesday was that the bid was not accompanied by a performance bond as specified in the letting.

Subsequent discussion with representatives of Oak Ridge Company indicated that the company was reluctant to furnish this type bond.

The men said that removing the tower was not too difficult with the use of a 50-ton crane.

Because of the wide variance in prices, the council took the entire matter under advisement.

William Churchill, 23, Vassar, also arrested on a probation violation charge, received a two to 10-year sentence. On probation for breaking into the Mayville Community school in December, 1963, he broke his probation by getting traffic tickets and was found with beer in his possession.

Samuel E. Trisch, 19, Caro, originally booked August 24 on a breaking and entering charge, was sentenced to two to 10 years at Jackson. Trisch broke into the Bruno Mazur home in Kingston township August 22. He also broke into several other homes about the same time.

In another court session held Friday, Oct. 22, Wellington Chrysler, 30, Vassar, was sentenced to four months to 14 years at Jackson on a forgery charge. Chrysler had entered a guilty plea earlier to a charge that he had written several bad checks on a Vassar firm. Chrysler is currently serving time at Jackson on another charge and is expected to be eligible for parole next spring.

In other criminal news, action was filed against Fred D. Rosenberger, 31, Caro, charging indecent liberties last December with a 15-year-old girl. Rosenberger is in Tuscola County jail under $1,000 bond.

A petition to appoint counsel for appellate court for Donald McWilliams was adjourned to November 9. McWilliams is serving time in Jackson for murder.

Board Approves New Library

Mrs. Robert Keating, chairman of the library board, reported this week that the Cass City and Elkland Township Library board has voted to accept a proposal of the Cass City Village Council to lease space in the proposed new Elkland Township Fire Hall building.

We voted to accept the offer after seeing the tentative floor plans of the architect and a few minor changes we asked for were agreed to by the council, she said. The plan for the new building in regards to the library is to give a 10-year lease and charge a proportional share of the cost of maintaining the building.

The decision was reached at a special, unannounced meeting of the council held Friday, Oct. 8.

Okay Gas Heat At New School

The Cass City School Board authorized the use of natural gas for heat for the new high school at a special meeting held at the school Thursday night.

A representative of the school's architect, Warren Holmes, appeared before the board and said that in his opinion gas would cost less than electricity.

Costs of installing the two systems were said to have been close to equal when all factors were considered, the board learned.

In addition to the gas boiler, a

Campbell Regional Chairman for Michigan Week

Willis Campbell has been named regional chairman of the 13th annual Michigan Week May 15-21, replacing the late Judge Edward Kane who died early in October. Campbell will be chairman of region 14 which includes Huron, Lapeer, St. Clair and Tuscola counties.

"We are extremely fortunate that we could persuade Campbell, one of Michigan's outstanding civic leaders, to take the place of Judge Kane," Deputy General Chairman Edward L. Baker of Detroit said. "No one is better able to organize the strong leadership Michigan week requires in counties and communities of the area and to bring its entire population into the campaign to promote and improve Michigan."

Investigate Minor Area Accidents

Village police investigated two minor accidents in Cass City and although two cars were damaged heavily in one collision, no injuries were reported.

Cars driven by Leo Tracy, 45, and Miss Agnes Milligan, both of Cass City, collided at the intersection of Church and Brooker streets Saturday. The accident occurred when Miss Milligan turned the corner onto Church and struck the Tracy vehicle. Both cars were damaged.

Framework on a storm front at the IGA Foodliner was damaged Friday when struck by a car driven by Blas Saldana, 23, of rural Cass City. Saldana's car was not damaged. Riding with him was Lidia Saldana, 18.

Judith Ann Heckman, 19, Gagetown, suffered a fractured collarbone and cuts on her head and legs, and a passenger in her car, Cathern Scheufelt, 18, Owendale, suffered injuries in a two car crash Sunday just southeast of Sebewaing.

The accident occurred when Miss Heckman's car and a car driven by Ronald J. Volz, 16, collided. Volz received back injuries and cuts on the head.

Huron county sheriff's deputies investigated. The injured were taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon.

stand-by oil tank will be purchased for emergency use.

Buy Car

The board also voted to purchase a Ford station wagon at a cost to be set at eight per cent above invoice. This wagon will be used to haul special education children to Caro.

Presently, the school district is paying $10 a day to have four children transported to classes in Caro. The $10 purchases both the car and a driver.

Another expenditure authorized was for a civil defense receiver. It is being purchased on a matching fund basis and the school's share will be $117.25.

The receiver will be used for tornado warnings and similar disaster alerts and can be activated by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department at his office in Caro.

The board is going to stop withholding payments from teachers' salaries for life insurance in the future. No new payroll deduction plan will be allowed, but teachers presently under the plan can continue to have the deductions made.

Annoint Committee

A committee of Board President Horace Bulen, Elwyn Helwig and Crouse was appointed to discuss sewer and water for the new high school with the village council.

Police Hold Rampaging Caro Man For Felonious Assault

A 28-year-old Caro man with a rural Gagetown address is in Huron County Jail awaiting Circuit Court arraignment on charges of felonious assault and resisting arrest.

Max F. Buschbacher waived preliminary hearings before Justice John Guza of Bad Axe Monday morning and bond was set at $2,000.

Buschbacher's arrest came early Monday morning after a wild chase resulting from his kidnapping of a Huron county deputy.

Deputy Edward Mroczek picked Buschbacher up in Sebawaing for a trip to Bad Axe to answer a bad check passing charge. On the way back, Buschbacher pulled a knife and held it at the deputy's neck and ordered the officer to drive to the home of Bushbacher's parents in Sebawaing.

Buschbacher was ordered out of the house by his father after the fugitive allegedly threatened his mother. He left with a pistol and a rifle and fled south in his own car.

In a wild chase, in which the fugitive roared through one roadblock with a car riddled with 10 bullets, Buschbacher ended up in a foot race to the home of his estranged wife and their seven children near Fairgrove.

Some 30 officers from Tuscola and Huron counties surrounded the home and, while Buschbacher was using one of his children as a shield, a state trooper slipped up behind Buschbacher and disarmed him.

Buschbacher still faces a charge of bad check passing.

Millers to be Feted On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Miller of Cass City will be honored by their children Sunday, Oct. 31, in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. Open house will be held from 2-5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Miller, 4454 Woodland, Cass City.

Iva Kress, born in Alma, Feb. 24, 1895, and Ervin Miller, born in Canada March 9, 1892, were married Oct. 27, 1915, in Alma.

The couple have two children, Mrs. Oliver Sprunger of Owendale and Gerald Miller of Cass City, and six grandchildren.

EDITOR'S CORNER

spokesmen report.

I don't imagine that many area people will have occasion to be passing through Lafayette, Ind. But if they do, it would pay them to stop at the Union building and see the scale model of the Purdue University Campus and surrounding area.

It is about 12 feet long and five feet wide. It includes the topography of the land, with all elevations drawn to scale. There are literally thousands of homes, businesses and campus buildings all drawn to scale and all placed in exact position.

It's like looking at the school from high up in an airplane. . . . but more impressive.

There will be no fall clean-up program this year, but trustees of the village promise an all-out effort next spring to get the town in tiptop shape.

Attend the church of your choice—make it a family affair.

Today's speed makes highway safety a life and death matter.

WHEN CASS CITY residents go to Champion Advertising Co. for new licenses, starting Monday, Nov. 1, they will need the three things illustrated in this picture. Posing to draw attention to the new law are Jo Ann Labadie, license plate clerk for the Automobile Club of Michigan, and Secretary of State James Hare.

File $74,000 Suit Against Consumers

A $74,000 suit was filed Tuesday against Consumers Power Company by five men and a Caro Company by five men and a Caro firm in connection with an explosion which destroyed a building used as offices and apartments.

Wayne Raymond, owner of the building, is asking $35,000 for the residence and contents which were destroyed in the January 30 explosion.

Milford and Terrance Raymond, who had clothes, guns and equipment stored at the demolished residence, are asking $15,000 and $3,000, respectively.

Novesta township authorized the proposal unanimously, 24-0. Kingston's vote was 52 yes and two no, while Koylton township favored the franchise by a 22-1 margin.

Gas company officials declined to say how long it would be before they were ready to exercise the franchise and bring natural gas to the area.

"Harvey" Next for Thumb Players, Tryouts Slated

Persons interested in reading the script of the three-act play prior to tryouts may contact Mrs. Texas Eckstone at 325 Norman Street in Caro or call OS 3-4837.

Six male and six female parts are available.

It's Not the Hunt, but The Story that Counts

By Dave Kraft

Well, you pheasant hunters, how'd you do? Just as I thought. Remember, though it's not how you hunt and shoot, it's how you tell the story that counts. I think I'd rather sit around at the New Gordon on a Thursday morning and listen to the exploits of my peers any day of the week than trek the trackless wastes of Deford and Decker looking for the elusive Chink.

I like the story about "Well, we got one." A little while later you learn that there were 17 hunters lined up in a row and the pheasant, apparently the last of its breed in the county from all reports, came at them with a knife and they shot him in self defense.

One guy I know got a raccoon. "He came in about three feet over the corn field. The guy I was with yelled, 'Bandit at three o'clock.' (He called him a bandit because of the mask, of course).

"I wheeled and shot twice. The first shot was at about 3:15 and missed. The second shot was a little better at 3:29 but still missed."

"Hmmm? How did I get the raccoon? Well, he tried to land dead-stick and slammed into a fence post. You know what lousy flyers those raccoons are."

I think the locale has a lot to do with the success of the hunt. I noticed, late Wednesday afternoon, as I was delivering papers, that a lot of the men were hunting the corn and malt fields at the corner of Main and Leach streets.

Not many pheasants there, but after a while you don't give a hang.

My recipe last week on cake baking brought some comment. The Tuesday before the paper came out, Mrs. Konwalski at Konrad's Bakery had a lady come in late in the afternoon and ask if she could get a three-layer anniversary cake made up.

Mrs. K. said sure and asked when the lady wanted it. She replied, "Six o'clock."

She was hosting an anniversary fete of some sort and had to bake the cake. Instead of just one boy, she had three children. Just before going to Konrad's she had another addition... one burned cake.

The recipe prompted Mrs. Helen Agar at Helen's Beauty Salon to send me an article from the November 22, 1960, issue of the Detroit News, written by Kendrick Kimball.

This ties in nicely because it is just a little bit past the first anniversary of our campaign to purchase plans for a still. The whole thing fell through, if you remember, because I couldn't get anyone to tell me how to fix the mash. Here's Kimball's version of a new, old drink.

"Dog Face McFeek ran a honky-tonk above the straits whose specialty was so-called Indian Whiskey prepared for the Ojibway trade.

The whiskey was in its most virulent form and prepared in accordance with an old Mackinac Island recipe. Dog Face began with a half barrel of raw alcohol. He filled it nearly to the brim with swamp water, and after scooping out the pollywogs, inserted red pepper, chewing tobacco and an ounce or so of turpentine. The stuff was stirred with a canoe paddle.

Dog Face played no favorites and also served the blend to lumberjacks. It was prime when the customer thought he was swallowing a handful of No. 4 fish hooks."

Kimball also relates the recipe for "pickled venison, symbolical of the condition of most of Dog Face's patrons." It's a little too lengthy to go into here, but if you want to look it over, stop by. I'll be back as soon as I scoop some swamp water.

The "Grassroots Editor" is a monthly publication which labels itself "A Journal for Editorial Writers." It is a collection of editorial comment compiled from newspapers around the world by the Southern Illinois University Department of Journalism.

From the October issue comes this, neatly little item taken from the "Narromine (N.S.W., Australia) News & Triangle Advocate."

"From his girl friend, holidaying on the Gold Coast, the young man received a photograph.

It showed two couples sunbathing happily on the beach while his beloved sat all alone and forlorn.

Her letter said, 'See how lonely I am without you.'

And he was happy.

That is until a cynic looked at it and commented, 'Yeah, but who took the picture?'

Learn this lesson well—there is no reward for finding fault.

Today's downfall comes in trying to keep up with the upkeep.

Services Held for Former Sheriff George Jeffrey, 75

Funeral services for George F. Jeffrey, 75, twice a former Tuscola County sheriff, were held Friday at the Caro Methodist Church following his death Tuesday in Saginaw Osteopathic Hospital after a week-long illness.

Mr. Jeffrey was elected sheriff in 1934 after serving as deputy for four years. He served until 1940 and then went to work for a construction company working at Willow Run Airport. He stayed with the firm until the job was completed in 1943 and then took over the post of Tuscola County undersheriff. He was elected sheriff again in 1949 and served until 1954.

At the time of his death, Mr. Jeffrey was Circuit Court bailiff. Born June 20, 1890, in Koylton township, he was a lifelong county resident. He and Ila Denhoff were married in 1914 in Kingston. She died in 1924. He married Lula Emery at Caro in 1926.

Surviving, besides his widow, are: a daughter, Mrs. Clinton Gasta, Bay City; and a son, Harold, Bay City. Also surviving are eight grandchildren, one great-grandchild, two sisters and a brother.

Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

Nine Attend BPW District V Meet

Nine Cass City women attended the Business and Professional Women's Club District fall meeting held recently at the Bay City YMCA, according to Mrs. Phyllis Connolly, public relations.

Mrs. Julia Hillaker, district director, presided over a business session at which she urged all members to take part in visitation night programs at various clubs in the district.

Participation in club activities, for experience and fun, was stressed with a skit which also showed officers the importance of their proper functions in maintaining the "health" of the organization.

"Plans for Progress," was the theme of the session with plans for increasing membership and development of new clubs discussed and outlined.

Members were reminded that letters to their representatives in government positions are heeded and bear considerable influence in furthering club goals and for the good of all.

Attending from Cass City were: Mrs. Connolly, Betty Carner, Sherry Sealey, Betty Jo Agar, Katherine Crane, Mrs. Ken Anthes, Mrs. Fred Wagner and Mrs. Calvin MacRae. Mrs. Wagner is district secretary.

CASS CITY'S CITRUS CROP had a bad year, consisting, unless someone hasn't reported in, of one lemon, one lime and one orange, all grown by Burt Elliott. Elliott, who harvested his lime earlier for a limeade, is shown with his still green orange (in front of the paper) and lemon. He purchased the dwarf fruit trees from a Galesburg firm and is experimenting on orange and grapefruit trees of his own. Unless something unforeseen happens, he intends to harvest the rest of his crop in about two months. (Chronicle photo)

Slate Scholarship Deadline Oct. 31

High school seniors in the 28th Senatorial District wishing to apply for a state scholarship through the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority are reminded that the registration deadline is October 31, according to State Senator Frank Beadle of St. Clair.

Beadle noted that there are nearly 6,000 scholarships available for the 1966-67 academic year "but it is unfortunate that so many students who could qualify do not because they are unaware of these scholarships established by the Michigan Legislature". In alerting eligible high school seniors, Senator Beadle stated that students may -

- Secure a State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship registration form from their own high school.
- Mail the registration form and $1.50 fee, with self-addressed envelope by October 31, 1965 as defined in the registration instructions.
- Take the State Competitive Scholarship examination on Saturday, November 20 at 8:00 a.m. at the assigned center.

Beadle stated that high school offices should have the necessary details available, but if not, students may write the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, 700 Prudden Building, Lansing, Michigan.

Hunt Construction

Two Thumb-area construction firms - C. R. Hunt Construction Company of Cass City and the Rooney Contracting Company of Bad Axe - have been awarded the contract for road building and fill work on Detroit Edison's Harbor Beach Power Plant site.

Chester F. Ogden, Edison administrative vice-president, said the firms will begin work immediately on a roadway-causeway which will extend east from Highway U. S. 25, across Edison's shoreline property and out into the submerged area of the site for a distance of about 1,200 feet. The work to be done this fall also will include filling in the north half of the plant area which lies about 1,000 feet north of the U. S. Coast Guard Station.

Ogden said that about 200,000 cubic yards of sand, gravel and riprap - large pieces of rock used to prevent erosion - will be trucked into the construction area before mid-December when winter weather is expected to interrupt operations until early spring. An additional 200,000 yards of fill will be needed to complete the "island" upon which the plant buildings will be erected, he said.

If these 400,000 yards of fill were to be dumped onto a football field, they would form a pile 360 feet high, completely covering the playing area.

He noted that this preliminary phase of plant construction will employ more than 50 persons - truck drivers, special equipment operators and other construction workers.

Q. Is it possible to change the sex of a person?

A. No. Change of sex is known to occur in some animal species, but in humans only apparent or simulated changes of sex are observed. In some instances mutilating operations may be performed to give the illusion of change but no true alteration of sex is involved.

CHANGE OF SEX

Q. Would a strong acid solution be suitable for removing tartar from false teeth?

A. No. The use of strong chemical solutions and abrasive powders on dentures roughens the denture and encourages deposition of more tartar. If the denture is heavily encrusted with material it is best to take it to a dentist for cleansing and polishing. Afterward, gentle brushing with soap and water should keep it free of deposits.

money away, but they do either knowingly or unknowingly, remarks Don Kebler, Extension agricultural agent.

Either way, they can develop a system which will enable them to take advantage of Income Tax Management.

Telford does return the total information necessary for an operator to make possible savings by letting his Income Tax Consultant use it, or using it himself.

Actual cases show where operators have saved themselves $200, $500 and even $1500 in income tax payments.

Why should the income tax management be a perpetual endeavor? Because income, cash purchases, delayed payments and machinery purchases made in one year affect the income for the next year.

An operator who says "Why should I use this tax management method, when I had a poor year and no tax to pay?" - may be fooling himself. He could well be declaring deductions which could be used in the following year, and thus help to reduce that following year's taxable return. Unused deduction and exemption credit just cannot be carried over and applied in another year.

A good rule of thumb is to keep deductions to a minimum in a non-taxable year and plan the purchases of machinery and improvements in high income years. In other words, make all the cash income you can in a year of no income tax and keep to the bare minimum items qualifying for depreciation. In a high income year, buy machinery and improvements for depreciation, and any of next year's fertilizer, seed, feed and other cash expense items normally considered an annual operating expense.

Remember, your children could earn from you over $600 and still qualify as your dependent, if they honestly do the work for the money paid, and you contribute more than 50 per cent to their support.

Every farm operator who is or is not paying Income Tax can use this tax management system. All he needs is a good adequate farm business record keeping system, and keep it up to date. November and early December is the time to compute one's tentative income tax. Then he can make the adjustments. It's too late after January 1st.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

So live that tomorrow is a reflection—a mirrored reflection of what you do today.

Heads Up Action

A day in the field away from those workaday worries... The thrilling sound and sight of a ringneck bursting into the air, a whirl of rich colors... The thumping excitement that takes hold as you swing onto your fast-flying target, aim, and squeeze the trigger. That's the autumn come-on for Michigan pheasant hunters.

By the time this season's final shot is fired, Nov. 10, an estimated 700,000-800,000 ringnecks will have been bagged in that part of the state.

Eagles Claw Hawks; DeChane, Bad Axe Next Foe Friday

The Cass City Red Hawks were unable to stop the power football of the Frankenmuth Eagles last week and lost a one-sided game to the league leaders, 35-0.

The Eagles had too much of everything for Cass City. This week Coach John Bifoss and his aides will be preparing the team for another challenge.

For the Bad Axe Hatchets will host Cass City and the local grid-ders must devise a way of stopping all area halfback Dick DeChane, DeChane, the fastest man in the league, is a three-year veteran and the heart of the Bad Axe attack. Stop him and you have a good chance of stopping the Hatchets although Darryl Meredith has come on strong in recent games to give Bad Axe a dual threat.

Friday the Eagles scored early and often. They pounded out two first period touchdowns and then added markers in each of the next three quarters.

"We took too long to start hitting hard", Bifoss said when commenting on the game. Frankenmuth has a hard hitting ball club and they picked up many yards running around our ends, Bifoss said.

Wayne Croeland was injured in the game. The regular Hawks' end is out for the remainder of the season as he suffered a concussion.

Terry Wiss capped a 58-yard drive for the first TD. Steve List went the final six yards to cap a 69-yard drive the next time the Eagles had the ball. Both points were converted and it was 14-0 at the end of the first period.

Richard Lindow went six yards in the second quarter for the third marker. Tim Irvine went 44 yards on the first play of the second half

Hard Hitting Duane DeLong Player of Week

Although Frankenmuth had little trouble rolling over Cass City Friday, it wasn't the fault of Duane DeLong. Coach John Bifoss picked the senior linebacker as his player of the week for the Hawks.

DeLong will have earned his second letter in football at the end of this season. He plays offensive center and defensive end.

Duane DeLong

The Hawk gridder is a three-sport man at Cass City. As a Junior he earned letters in basketball and baseball last year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don DeLong.

and Lindow finished the Eagle scoring with a six-yard sprint in the final period.

Marc Marcell kicked all five points after touchdown.

The statistics accurately reflected the game. Frankenmuth out-gained Cass City, 299 yards to 75.

The statistics:

First downs	5	18
Passes completed	5-16	8-13

O'Henley Part of Naval Operation

Fireman Edward J. O'Henley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. O'Henley of Cass City, participated in operation "Deep Furrow" Sept. 13 to 25 while serving aboard the destroyer USS Robert L. Wilson.

"Deep Furrow" was a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) exercise held in the Aegean Sea by units of the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

Upon completing the exercise, Wilson departed for port visits to Reggio di Calabria and Naples, Italy.

BOOK REVIEW

Two Books Dealing With Race Relations

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

The books I am reviewing for you this week are on different aspects of today's most pressing social problem: the adjustments of white people and Negro people.

For the first time in the history of this column we are reviewing two books instead of just one. These came to me as the selection of The Religious Book Club.

They are The Freedom Revolution and The Churches, by Robert W. Spike, and The Luminous Darkness, by Howard Thurman. These books do not overlap, and one of them deals with the racial 'incidents' that have troubled the American people from 1964 on.

Robert Spike, the author of this book, is the director of the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches, and, as such, has been on the 'firing line' both in the South (participating both as an observer and a demonstrator) and in the North, where the National Council of Churches has come under the direct attack of those racists who loudly complain that the Council has no right to enter the arena of racial conflict.

Howard Thurman, on the other hand, is a Negro, one of this country's ten best preachers (according to Life magazine). He founded and for many years was pastor of The Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples in San Francisco, the first interfaith, inter-racial Church in the nation. He has written five other books.

One of the most helpful things about Spike's book is his listing of the various organizations giving leadership in this field of 'revolution'. A short history of each is given, along with detail of the leadership of the group. I am sure that many of the American people believe that all Negroes in America belong to one large organization whose leader is Martin Luther King. Nothing could be further from the truth. Matching the surplus of the many Negro groups actively taking leadership in this field, are the organized groups of whites, also detailed by Spike.

One of the most helpful series of paragraphs in this book is the one headed, "What the Federal Government Can and Cannot Do." This book should be in the library of every thinking person in America who wants to know the true story about what 'the freedom revolution' is and where it is taking us.

The Thurman book, also small (the book by Spike consumes only 128 pages, this one only 113 pages) is less directly concerned with the civil rights movement as it is with providing a 'rationale' for what is taking place. We are given warm insights into the writer's mind, and taste just a little of the bitterness that is involved in being not simply an American but a Negro American. How easily the white American, thinking that he is free of all racial prejudice, falls into the thought-forms of the southern White.

Thurman spares neither the Negro nor the White for today's conflict, but impales both on shafts of reason. Nor does he hold the church blameless. Looking over this book, I see that I have done extensive underlining. The book's title is well chosen: The Luminous Darkness, holding out hope that this dark hour of our nation may hold out the way to light, for all the generations to come.

The Freedom Revolution by Robert W. Spike, Association Press, New York, 1965.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

They ain't nothing in this world, including rabbits, that can multiply as fast as workers in one of them Government agencies. I was reading some figgers yesterday on how fast they grow 'em in Washington. This piece said when the Congress set up the Department of Health, Education and Welfare 13 year ago they was hiring 40,264 workers and spending $1.9 billion a year. Now they was using 83,702 workers and spending $7.8 billion a year.

I mention this matter on account of we now got another new agency started called Urban Affairs or somepun. Senator Harry Byrd claims this agency will also set a new record in 13 year fer growing, figgers by 1978 it'll be hiring 250,000 workers and spending $225 billion a year.

President Johnson said it was "very fitting" that we have this new department at this time. It could be like some of the clothes wimmen was wearing this season, more fitting than proper.

And them folks running the anti-poverty department ain't doing too bad. I was reading in the papers last week where these Appalachia doctors in Washington has hired 2,152 college graduates at a cost of $17,000 a month to "study the culture of poverty." Me and you know, Mister Editor, that poverty ain't got no more culture than a bullfrog has got hair. But they ain't spending nothing but money and they have took to making money out of scrap metal so I reckon it don't make much difference.

And I was reading a interesting item on this new "hazardous to health" label they was going to require on cigarette packs. The folks that manufactures cigarettes has made a survey and come up with the figgers that only 7 per cent of cigarette smokers will ever see the label and 2 per cent of that 7 per cent won't know what "Hazardous" means.

I'm a pipe smoker, Mister Editor, and ain't got no feelings one way, or the other about this label law fer cigarettes, but this label business could git out of hand, sorter like the packaging business. The Department of Agriculture reported last week that fer ever $20 spent on groceries, about $1.75 went fer boxes, wrappers and things they was packed in. A Cleveland heart doctor has come out with what he says is proof that eating mustard is bad fer the heart. And another heart expert has allowed as how charcoal steak was mighty hard on the heart. If we git to putting labels on everything that is bad fer the health, people was going to be scared to eat anything. And, incidental, it was already beginning to look like the only way a feller could escape heart trouble was to starve to death.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Out-of-state Students Are Desirable, Say College Officials

Mixed Blessing

Despite legislative efforts to reduce the number of out-of-state students at Michigan's colleges and universities, the total changes little.

Some legislators feel that students from elsewhere deprive Michigan students, whose parents are paying taxes, from attending schools here. They have tried to discourage enrollment by charging substantially higher tuition fees for out-of-state students.

University officials feel differently. They argue with some logic that the opportunity for Michigan students to meet and mix with students from other states and countries is a necessary educational experience.

They identify the extra costs paid by the out-of-state student plus the sizable amounts of money he and his family spend in the state while he is studying here as economic assets. At MSU, for example, a Michigan resident pays $324 per year for tuition; an out-of-stater pays $870. It is estimated that out-of-state student leaves an additional $1,000 to $2,000 per year with Michigan merchants.

Officials from the state institutions also state that despite the influx of student applications, they have not yet had to refuse admission to a Michigan resident whose records indicated he could successfully complete a college degree.

A study prepared for the Midwest Council of State Governments shows that in the 1963-64 school year Michigan's public colleges and universities enrolled 12.5 per cent of their students from other states and countries. This included some 14,275 out-of-state students and 3,960 from foreign countries.

Sixteen New England and Middle Atlantic states accounted for more than 11,000 of the 14,275 non-residents enrolled in Michigan in the study period.

Migration of Michigan students to other states was considerably lower than the rate of influx. The other states admitted 5,902 students from Michigan.

Imbalance was noted in the report in all states except Washington, which took in 81 Michigan residents and sent the same number of students here. Students entering Michigan public schools from 31 states outnumbered those leaving here, while 17 states admitted more Michigan students than came here.

Out-migration from Michigan was most pronounced at schools in the far west and southwest.

Operation Success

Real progress seems apparent after the first full operative year of Michigan's community mental health services law.

A total of 13 day care centers for severely retarded were opened during the past year to receive state funds under the law. Another six are in the planning stage. In all, the 19 centers will provide services for 350 people, primarily children.

These new services were credited largely for reducing the state's institutional waiting list to 1,557 at mid-year. This was the lowest number on the list since 1961.

New day-care centers ranged in size from a capacity to serve 12 persons, to the 96-person plan operating in a group of centrally-supervised units in Wayne county. Limitations are designed to keep a ratio of six students per instructor. Most of the 19 centers are geared

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1966 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings.

REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.
