

Schoolmen, Council Discuss Problems

The Cass City Village Council and members of the Cass City School Board informally discussed the problems of furnishing water, sanitary sewer and storm sewer to the new High School Tuesday night in special session at the Municipal Building.

Representing the school were Donald Crouse and Board President H. M. Bulen.

Probably the easiest problem to solve will be furnishing water. There will be an ample supply for the facility with the new mains and water tower recently completed. It's just a matter of running the line to the school, Village Engineer William Schram said.

The school will not have to worry about the cost of running the water. Under existing council policy the village pays for extending the water mains and charges only a tap-in fee for going from the mains to the facility or home served.

Face Problems

While there will be no problem with water for the school, sanitary and storm sewer construction poses several questions.

The existing storm sewer cannot handle the increased run-off from the new construction. It was suggested that the area might be drained in a northwest direction but plans here are nebulous at best.

Any serious discussion about the sanitary sewer was deferred until after a survey, several months in the making, by consultant engineers is presented at the next regular meeting.

Crouse revealed that the school holds an easement through land owned by Dr. H. T. Donahue for a 66-foot wide roadway from the village limits to the new school site.

This easement is over a ravine and is the lowest spot in the area and now is a natural drainage area.

Although the school has the easement there is no present plan for building a road to the new school. "Someday there will be one there," Crouse said, "but we don't feel that the school will have the money to build it."

To Annex

Sometime in the not too distant future annexation of the property between the new school and the village is planned with full agreement of the school board, Dr. Donahue and the village.

Not planning to annex are homes fronting on Cemetery Road, just north of the village limits. The annexation would leave a piece of land belonging to the township, surrounded by property that is part of the village.

A verbal agreement has been received for the construction of a sidewalk to the new school, fronting on Cemetery Road.

Cost Guidelines

Village President Lambert Althaver explained the cost guidelines used by the council in construction of sanitary and storm sewer.

All of the cost is charged to the subdivider and 30 per cent of the sanitary cost is returned when the area is more than 50 per cent occupied. All roads are built at the developer's expense.

UNICEF Halloween Collections Net $150

UNICEF "Trick or Treaters" collected approximately $150 during their annual tour of the village Thursday night, Oct. 28, according to Mrs. James Jezewski, local chapter treasurer.

An estimated 60 children took part in the village-wide canvass. Mrs. Jezewski reports that persons who were missed during the canvass may send donations to her for the next two weeks.

She extended her thanks, on behalf of the local chapter, to Konrad's Bakery and Sommers' Bakery for donating the donuts and cupcakes which were passed out to the participating youngsters after the drive.

Re-elect McConkey To Migrant Board

Keith McConkey, Cass City businessman, has been elected for the second year to head the board of the Tuscola-Huron Migrant Workers, Inc. He was named at the board's meeting Thursday night, Oct. 28, at the Pigeon Methodist Church.

McConkey is also president of the Cass City Council of Churches, a member organization of the migrant organization.

The group also heard reports of work done during the summer.

Quiet Halloween in Village

Despite widespread vandalism throughout the county and Thumb, Cass City spent a relatively quiet Halloween, according to a report from village police. The scene was a little less quiet in Gagetown, however.

Police Chief Carl Palmateer reported that very little damage was done in the village aside from expected window soaping and littering of village streets with vegetables.

Increased patrolling in the village both Saturday and Sunday night is attributed with keeping vandalism at a minimum, although Palmateer was quick to commend the area youngsters for not causing more trouble than they did.

SUCCESS STORY—Looking more like an average American family (which they are) than immigrants from Holland (which they also are) the Arie VanderMeers of Cass City relax in this scene at their home.

VanderMeer, General Cable Corp. office manager, relates his experiences under German occupation and Allied bombs and some of the difficulties of the immigrant in America. (Chronicle photo)

A. VanderMeer: A Success Story-Prisoner to Manager

"Every morning, just like clockwork, the Allied bombers, mostly English Spitfires, would come in at 10:00 and bomb the railroad center."

There were a lot of Poles and Russian prisoners and they'd work like crazy to get the rails laid before 10:00 a.m. and then the planes would come in and ruin everything.

"It was always at the same time, every day. We even began to suspect that the same pilots were dropping bombs on the same spots."

"After awhile it reached a point where we knew they were coming at 10:00 so we left for the woods at 9:00."

These are some of the wry recollections of Arie VanderMeer, a Dutch immigrant to America who spent several months at the end of World War II in a German work camp, first as a conscripted Hollander and then as a prisoner of war.

VanderMeer is better-known around Cass City as office manager for the General Cable Corporation, Cass City division, a post he has held for almost a year.

War Story

His story reads like a novel someone forgot to write, with the main character a youth who returns home to a war-torn country, joins the Dutch Marines, and takes part in a police action in Indonesia.

He almost stays but political unrest changes his mind, and he returns to Holland, is married, and has a son. Now he must plan his future.

He and his family decided on America. They arrive and he goes to work in a factory. Realizing that he may spend the rest of his life as a common laborer rather than working in the field for which he was trained—accounting—he takes extension courses to improve himself.

Then he lands a job with an insurance company as an accountant... too monotonous. He then joins Cable at its new Quincy plant as cost accountant and three months later is office manager.

A few years later he's transferred to the Cass City branch.

End of Story?

End of story? Not quite. But it'll do for a starter.

"Holland was under German occupation for five years. At the end of the war the Germans began picking up all men between 18 and 40 and transferring them to Germany for work crews, tells VanderMeer.

"I was 18 and still in school when they picked me up in November, 1944. I was shipped to Germany and in January, 1945, I went over the hill. I tried to get home, but they caught up with me and I was imprisoned for two months."

"There was such a tremendous shortage of men, however, that I was soon taken to a work camp to dig trenches for a last defense area. I escaped again and walked most of the way home. I arrived April 10th and soon after the Canadians liberated us."

Germans Not Bad

VanderMeer had a good word for his former country's conquerors.

"I can't say the Germans were bad while occupying Holland. If we left them alone, they left us alone. They differed from Japan in that the Germans tried to give us some self-government."

Once the underground didn't leave the Nazis alone and ambushed a German officer. The Germans retaliated and now at Putten stands a monument to the 330 men who were slaughtered in the village square.

Toward the end of the war the Germans drained Holland of all its foodstuffs and other essentials, says VanderMeer. Holland is one-fourth the size of the State of Michigan and has 10 million people ("That's one reason I left.")

"The last winter things got so bad that my wife and her family were forced to eat flower bulbs and sugar beets."

In Indonesia

After the war, VanderMeer joined the Dutch Marines and spent some time in Indonesia. When his stint was done, he was offered a job in Jakarta and had just about decided to stay when the political scene became uneasy.

He views with some amusement the difficulties Indonesian leader Sukarno has experienced in the past month.

Returning to Holland, he studied accounting. He married and

Expect 250 at Fall GOP Rally

Tuscola County Republicans are expecting some 250 persons at the $25 a couple fall rally slated Wednesday, Nov. 10, at the Sherwood Forest Country Club at Gagetown.

Spearheading the rally will be Congressman James Harvey of the 8th district and Congressman Elford A. Cederberg of Bay City, from the 10th district.

According to Carl F. Mantley, GOP county chairman, entertainment will be featured in addition to the addresses by the visiting dignitaries.

Tickets are now on sale from most elected county officers as well as members of the county GOP committee, Mantley said.

Village Reveals Plans For Paul Building

Village President Lambert Althaver this week revealed what village taxpayers would be receiving for an estimated $52,000, if they approve the purchase of the former H. O. Paul building from the Piney State Bank.

The building itself will cost $25,350.00. Useable floor space measures 66x96 feet in the main building. There is a 24x26-foot addition at the rear of the building that is included in the sale price.

A little over half of the space in the main building and all of the additional space in the addition will be used by the fire department.

The department will be housed in the west half of the building. Two large overhead doors will be installed so that equipment will have immediate access to Main Street and quick exit on fire runs. In the add-on building, plans call for the fire department to house its records and communication equipment.

The east half of the building will be primarily used by the area library. It is expected to about double the space available for books.

The library portion will be 30x60 feet, less a 12x26-foot section that will be used as an office for the Cass City Police Department.

Whirlwind Chest Drive Meets Quota

Elkland and Novesta Township Community Chest maintained its perfect record of meeting its quota for the 17th straight year. Drive Chairman Willis Campbell announced this week.

It was the fastest, but not the largest, collection ever made in the area. To date there has been $6,887.35 collected and a few remaining envelopes will boost the total over the $7,000 mark. Last year, the drive netted over $7,500.

Just three weeks after the drive started, the volunteer workers celebrated with a victory dinner. That victory dinner is a good idea, Campbell said, and in future years will have the victory dinner instead of the kick-off dinner.

"One thing sure," Campbell, who is chairman of the county United Fund, said, "we will be first to report a completed drive to the Tuscola County United Fund."

Coal Still in Demand in Village

Despite this modern age of gas, oil and electric heat, there is still a strong market for good old-fashioned coal.

That's what Vern Watson found out when he advertised in the Chronicle as follows:

For Sale-between 2 and 3 tons of coal to be taken out of basement, $15. Vern Watson, 4458 Maple St. Phone 872-2471.

Mrs. Watson reported that she received 11 calls for the coal and sold it almost as soon as the paper was out, when she came in to pay the 55 cents the advertisement cost.

Rotary-Lions to Clash

Has-beens to Play For Local Have-nots

Veterans Day is Thursday, Nov. 11, but few veterans will have sacrificed more than those Cass City Lions and Rotarians who turn out for the "First Annual Touch Football Game" that evening at the Recreation Park at 7:30.

Pre-game groans and moans indicate that it may be the "last" annual game as team members from each side limber up for what is expected to be the most devastating encounter since Custer met Sitting Bull at the Little Big Horn.

The Rotarians issued the challenge to the Lions two weeks ago, and, according to one Lion official, "some foul member accepted." The Rotarians had originally challenged the Gavel Club but when it was learned that both Cass City High School coaches were members of the Gavel Club, the offer was withdrawn in favor of the less athletic Lions Club.

Practice sessions indicate that both teams have some star players. Two Rotarians who are expected to deliver fine play are "Bull" Erla and "Barrel" House. Both have somewhat murky background as football players, but pro-ball scouts have assumed a "weight and see" attitude.

Another hot item with the Rotarians is Ken Eisinger, better known to sports fans as "The Gas Man." A real scramble on the field, Eisinger has fallen in disfavor amongst his teammates who have rumored that he has been keeping in shape by taking part in non-scheduled practice sessions and by playing ball with neighborhood youngsters.

The Lions are strong in the cheerleading section with "Flapper" Fay McComb, "Gorgeous" George Jacoby and "Happy" Harry Little named to lead the rah-rah's.

Backing up the Lion cheerleading section will be that all-conference champion water boy, Pete Rienstra.

Althaver explained that plans for using a second story were discarded when the architect's survey revealed that the building was not high enough.

The village will not buy any of the removable equipment for the library. Money for shelving and similar equipment will come from library funds.

A breakdown of the costs as estimated by the architect are: Library, new ceiling, floor, heating units and painting

Two new overhead doors	2,000
New heating equipment, floor drain for fire trucks	3,000
Exterior painting and repairs	2,000
New electrical service	2,000
Architect fees	1,500

Total repair costs $26,500

In addition to the space allotted for the various departments, a 33-foot square space will be available for future expansion.

Althaver stressed that the cost of maintaining the building would be shared by the library, on the basis of the amount of floor space the facility used.

He said that it costs an estimated $200 a month to maintain the building, including taxes.

Compares Costs

"One reason that the village is going ahead with this plan is that we believe that we could not get the same amount of floor space for the total amount due for this building if we were to build a new facility," Althaver said.

1 Mill For New Building

If voters approve the purchase of the former H. O. Paul building Tuesday night they can expect an increase of one mill ($1.00 per $1,000 of the village's valuation) to pay for the $52,000 bond issue and interest. The figure was released at a special council meeting Tuesday night.

The one-mill figure was arrived at by assuming the bonds would be issued for a 10-year period. The relatively short payment time normally results in a more advantageous interest rate. If passed the total village tax would increase from 13 to 14 mills.

If the bonds are approved the village's bonded indebtedness will move to a total of $177,000 next year.

Starting the current year, Cass City owed $112,000 on sewer bonds that will be completely paid in 1980 and $74,000 in water bonds where final payment is scheduled in 1981. Presently, the village pays $9,000 yearly for these bonds.

Trustee D. E. Rawson said that the need is urgent for the new facility and the location is ideal for the fire department and is in a central location for the new library.

"We could not build this building for $52,000 and the lots alone are worth $20,000," he claimed.

Paul Molnar Suicide Victim

A 38-year-old Snover man whose wife described him as being despondent over the past month, was found hanged to death at his farm home Saturday.

Funeral services for Paul K. Molnar, Downingtown Road, Snover, were held Monday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home with Elder Elden Winters, Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints of Cash, officiating.

Molnar's wife found his body Saturday. She told Sanilac County sheriff's officers that her husband had been despondent for the past month. He had gone for a walk Friday night and had not returned. Dr. Robert Smich, D.O., Sanilac County deputy coroner, ruled the death a suicide.

Born in Gagetown, Jan. 5, 1927, Mr. Molnar was the son of Mrs. Joseph Molnar, now of Deford, and

From the Editor's Corner

This week members of the Michigan State Highway Department were in town surveying east and west Main street outside of the main business district.

This, of course, doesn't mean that there are any plans afoot for improving the street, but as one member of the council put it, "at least they know about our problem."

In the last 20 years in the tri-county area, 32 townships have shown growth and 37 have shown decreases in population.

According to figures compiled by the Community College Study Committee headed by MSU, Elkland is one township that has increased in the immediate area. Showing less population have been Greenleaf, Evergreen, Grant, Elmwood, Elkington and Novesta townships.

Swindles by mail are becoming more and more common, the postal department reports.

They advertise profitable vending machine businesses where investment is secured by inventory or bargains beyond belief.

A bunch of shysters, calling itself Western Distributors advertised 17-jewel watches for $3; portable typewriters, $25; electric frying pans, $5, and many more. They were taking in $1000 a day on the fraud.

You will never find a classified ad of this type in the Chronicle. We make it a practice to immediately throw away any questionable advertisement unless it is placed by a reputable advertising agency. We receive at least one a month.

Post Office Closed; Early Copy Needed

Next Thursday is a holiday and a few businesses will close in honor of Veterans' Day. Included are the banks and the Postal Department.

For this reason the Chronicle will be published one day early next week.

Advertisers and correspondents are reminded that all copy must be given to the Chronicle one day earlier.

All news copy should be reported as soon after it happens as possible to enable the paper to meet the advanced deadline.

Release Contract For Removal Of Water Tower

Contract for the removal of the old water tower was awarded to Oak Ridge Water Tank Service, Co. Tuesday night by the village council for $3,795.

Three bids had been opened a week previously and taken under advisement while Oak Ridge was investigated because they did not furnish a bond with their bid.

After extensive checking it was found that the company was reliable. The village's consultant engineers confirmed that the removal with a 50-ton crane as suggested by company representatives was feasible and recommended acceptance of the bid.

The council gave the company the contract provided that they posted two bonds, each in the amount of the contract price for the removal, as required in the bid. The work is expected to be completed this year.

Oak Ridge's bid was about half as much as the next lowest bidder.

Explorer Scouts Feed Lions and Cass City's Program Thrives

From the outside, it looks very much like what it is, a one hundred-year-old pioneer-type log cabin.

Inside it's different. Inside, it looks very much as one would imagine a Viet Cong prisoner of war camp would look, with rickety bunks, ramshackle furniture and a huge, pot-bellied, cast-off, cracked furnace as its contents.

But to seven Cass City Explorer Scouts and their advisors, it was hearth and home Saturday night and Sunday during an Explorer Scout campout. It is, of course, the Scout cabin, located on the Cass River, just southeast of the intersection of Koepfgen and Elmwood roads.

Early Sunday morning the Scouts were joined by four Lions and a Scout official for a breakfast and some hand gun target practicing. Members of the Lions, the Explorers' sponsors, taking part were Lloyd Bryant, club president; Russ Schneeberger, Pat Martin and Dave Kraft. Counselor Keith McConkey was also on hand.

The campout, according to Carl Reed, associate advisor, is just one phase of an over-all Explorer Scouting program which takes the boys one step further than the familiar Boy Scout program.

At the recent session, for example, the boys mixed mortar which was used to caulk up the outside of the cabin which was donated to the Scouts. The cabin was moved to its present site a year ago piece by piece and then rebuilt by the boys.

Build Bunks

Saturday night, before some of the boys and their advisors could sack out, it was necessary for them to build their bunks. This consisted of making two by four frames which were laced with binder twine that served as mattresses. Sleeping bags were tossed on top of the waffle pattern of laced twine and, according to some of the boys, it was almost as good as "home sleepin'."

"We used the twine mattresses because they're easy to replace in case they're damaged by birds or rodents," says Carl.

Consider Projects

Sunday dawned, balmy, if somewhat windy, and after breakfast and target practice, the boys resumed their mortar work. Temperatures the previous night had dropped to below 40 degrees but a fire in the old furnace kept the boys from experiencing any discomfort.

Following completion of the cabin, which will eventually replace the Scout rooms as an Explorer meeting place, the troop will consider several other projects.

"After we get going," says Reed, "we're going to hold advanced campouts at which the boys can earn outdoor merit badges."

Plan Fish Site

Other projects under consideration include a rifle range and a dam across the Cass to create a fishing site. A letter has already been sent to the State Conservation Department seeking permission on the latter project.

When not working on the cabin, the boys are enmeshed in a myriad of other projects. For example, according to Reed, the boys worked

Wednesday night in two groups, one at the cabin, and the other cleaning up the old Gun Club rifle range in the basement of the Elkland Township Cultural Center.

"This Wednesday night," Reed explains, "we're going to start our NRA Explorer Scout rifle matches."

Troop Members

The troop currently has 13 boys participating in the program. Besides Carl, other leaders include his brother, Chuck, as advisor, and Gary Randall who serves also as associate advisor.

Members of the troop include: Robert Doerr, David Bolen, Gary Chambers, Robert McIntosh, Tom Lounsbury, Dennis Luettke, and Robert and Dennis McDonald. Other members are: Bill Perlaki, Terry Hile, Kerry Ball, Henry Ashmore and Randy Doerr.

official and four stalwart members of the sponsoring club, the Cass City Lions. The event was an overnight campout. (Chronicle photo)

Local Lions View Gas Film Monday

"Impact," the film story of the natural gas industry, was presented to Cass City Lions Monday night at their regular meeting at Martin's Restaurant.

Melvin Krabach, Southeastern Michigan Gas Company representative, prefaced the film with a few comments on the industry. The film covered the taking, piping and storing of natural gas through a nation-wide system and outlined the importance of natural gas to modern day living and economy.

Treasurer Ron Keegan reported that the club would net just over $500 on the recent broom sale.

Next major activity for the Lions will be a touch football game between the Lions and the Rotary Club. Keegan and Dave Kraft were named to head the ticket committee.

Cheerleaders will be Fay McComb, George Jacoby and Harry Little with Pete Rienstra on the water bucket. The coach and his staff include: Pat Martin, Paul O'Harris, Dr. William Selby, Tom Jackson, Jim Williams, Joe Parrott and Bill Johnston.

A board of directors meeting will be held the third Thursday of the month, Nov. 18, instead of Nov. 25 which is Thanksgiving.

Panel Discussion WSCS Highlight

A panel appointed by Mrs. Harry Crandell, chairman, highlighted the regular meeting of the WSCS of the Methodist Church Monday.

With the background comments that church attendance is greater than ever in the nation and the influence of the church not keeping pace, the panels discussed "What can the church do for the community?" and "What do we owe the church?"

Mrs. Keith Murphy and Mrs. William Leverich, mothers of young children, and Mrs. Gilbert Aibee and Mrs. Clare Carpenter, mothers of older children, formed the panel.

They recommended that the church welcome newcomers, take an interest in farm-town relations and participate in community civic activities.

The panel suggested that members could help the church by remembering the church pledge, strive for better programs and urge younger members to be more active in church affairs.

The 40 members present voted to decorate the fellowship hall at the hanging of the greens Dec. 6. Mrs. Thomas Proctor and Mrs. Leverich will decorate the tree.

Group III with Mrs. Ben Kirtan and Mrs. Stuart Nicol, cochairmen, were hostesses for the dinner.

Mrs. James Braid led the prayer service in the lounge at 6:15 p.m.

Burial was in a Columbiaville Cemetery.

Arraign Pair on Driving Charges

Two county men were arraigned Tuesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court for driving on suspended or revoked licenses.

Andrew J. Laszlo, Caro, was released on his own recognizance under $300 bond. He was arrested on the same charge twice in 1956, once in 1957 and once in 1958. The case was adjourned to November 23.

Edward Carlisle, Gilford, arraigned on the same charge, third offense, entered a plea of not guilty and $300 bond was continued. A date for his trial has not been set. He was arrested Sept. 10 in Vassar. Previous arrests on the charge were in 1959 and 1964.

Arson Charge
Bond of $4,000 for Glen Richardson, Vassar, was continued following his arraignment on arson charges. He entered a plea of not guilty. Richardson is charged with setting fire to James Cleveland's farm house in Millington last May. The house was destroyed. No date has been set for trial.

Indecent Exposure
Morey Dadacki, Cass City, denied his guilt when arraigned on an indecent exposure charge stemming from an incident October 6 in Kingston. No date has been set for the trial.

Violates Probation
Sentence was suspended for Ada Graves, Millington, until Nov. 6, following her appearance on a probation violation charge. Mrs. Graves was put on probation in 1960 following her arrest for selling beer without a license. She broke probation by not reporting to the probation officer in September or October. She was released Tuesday on her own recognizance and bond was set at $500.

Several Hurt in Area Accidents

A rash of automobile accidents over the past week injured six Cass City area persons and one accident resulted in the arrest and jailing of a Gibraltar man.

Five Hurt

Five persons were injured Thursday, Oct. 28, when a car driven by Bart L. Aiken, 66, Owendale, slammed into the side of a car driven by William W. Warren Jr., 31, Bay City, at the intersection of M-46 and Bradford Road.

Aiken was traveling east on M-46 and was unable to stop when the Warren vehicle pulled onto the highway in front of him, according to a report filed by investigating officers.

Riding with Aiken were Albert Englehart, 46, Harold McAlpine, 30, George King, 33, and Dick Greenwood, 31, all of Cass City. All four occupants of the Aiken vehicle and Warren were injured.

Loose Control

Saturday afternoon Louis Luana, 77, Deford, pulled out of Kilbourn's service station in Deford, lost control of his car, and slammed into a concrete base support on a Tuscola County Road Commission fuel tank. He was taken to Cass City Hospital for treatment.

Driver Jailed

Robert W. Wright, 27, Gibraltar, is in Tuscola County Jail, arrested for failing to stop and identify himself at the scene of an accident, following an accident in which his car sideswiped a car driven by Doris Ann Roberts, 20, Deckerville, Sunday evening on M-46 near Cat Lake Road.

Wright did not stop and a witness gave his license number to Miss Roberts. Police traced him to Cass City area relatives where a sister-in-law reported that he had arrived Sunday night in an intoxicated state and with his car damaged. He was arrested later.

No injuries were reported Wednesday, Oct. 27, when a car driven by William N. Warack, 42, Gageton, ran into a cultivator being pulled by a tractor driven by Gary R. Lewis, Gageton, on Bay City-Forestville Road, a half mile west of Jacob Road.

Lewis told investigating deputies that he had stopped to let a third car pass from the other direction. Warack reported that he too was watching the oncoming car and didn't see the cultivator until too late to stop.

A piece of scrap metal fell off a truck Wednesday, on Cass City Road, a half mile west of Spence Road and struck a car driven by Chris J. Laferty, 65, Grosse Pointe Farms. Neither Laferty nor his wife were injured. Driver of the truck was George Eugene, Saginaw. Cass City Patrolman Robert Pawlowski investigated.

Two vehicles were damaged when a car driven by Henry Sofia, 50, Bad Axe, crossed the center line and collided with a car driven by Robert Graham, 40, Cass City, Saturday evening in Uby. Huron county sheriff's deputies investigated.

Elementary Conferences Set

Cass City elementary school children and their mothers will probably view American Education Week, November 7-13, with mixed emotions because, by coincidence, Willis Campbell Elementary School has picked the same week to hold Parent-Teacher Conferences.

For the youngsters, it means no school on the days of their conferences and for the mothers, well, perhaps there's some consolation in the AEW theme, "Invest in Learning."

Mrs. Paul Murray, elementary principal, has released the following schedule:

Kindergarten Conferences - Nov. 5, 8 and 12. No school for kindergartners these three days.

Special Education Conferences - Nov. 5 only. No school for these children on this day.

Conferences for first, second and third grades on Nov. 5 and 8. No school for these grades on these two days.

Conferences for fourth, fifth and sixth grades on Nov. 12 and 15. No school for these grades on these two days.

The conferences offer teachers and parents a chance to discuss the respective child's progress and to come up with solutions to any problems the child may be having.

Letters to Editor

Dear Sir,

I would like to thank you very much for the drag racing article you recently did about me. I certainly didn't expect that much and the front page yet, what a shock!

Thanks again,
Viv Zuehlke

P.S.

I still love horses, my favorite is now 19 years old and I wouldn't give him up for anything.

Nov. 1, 1965

Dear Mr. Haire:

I would like to thank you and Mr. Kraft for the fine job you did on the story about the Michigan Kidney Foundation. While I felt people in and near Cass City had responded well before the story came out, it was much easier on me and the results in sales of candy was overwhelming.

It is my regret we could not contact everyone. I'm sure many were disappointed.

Thanks to all that bought and to everyone that helped me sell. We sold $400 worth and could have sold more if candy could have been available.

Thanks sincerely,

Mrs. Lloyd Frederick Decker, Mich.

Pastor to the Deaf

Presents Program

The Rev. Robert Brenner of Flint, Lutheran pastor to the deaf, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Good Shepherd Lutheran Ladies-Aid. He told of the deaf mission work of the Lutheran church on the national scale and on the district level in his area.

He had Aid members go through the alphabet with him in sign language. He then did the Lord's Prayer and explained the signs as a close to his program.

During the business meeting, two new members joined, Mrs. Elmer Voss of Detroit and Mrs. Ralph Maurer of Gagetown. The Ladies Aid also voted to rejoin the Lutheran Women's Missionary League as a group. Meetings will be held quarterly in conjunction with the regular monthly Aid meeting. Pastor R. Brenner will lead the lessons of the LWML.

Nineteen members attended Monday night's meeting at the church. Mrs. Fred Iseler and Mrs. Glenn McCullough were hostesses for the evening.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
I see by the papers where President Johnson was getting a little mad at two or three newspapers but allowed as how he wasn't calling no names at this time. I reckon they was Republican papers and Lyndon was still hoping he could convert 'em and git 'em baptised into the Great Society afore 1968.

I been following politics now fer nigh on to a half century and I've noted over the long haul it was bad politics fer a official to git mad at the papers. I recollect reading back in 1943 when Governor Gene Talmadge of Georgia was putting on a campaign agin "them lying Atlanta newspapers."

It wasn't long afore old Gene got beat and the last I heard, the Atlanta newspapers was still doing fine. But I always figured it was harder to run a newspaper in a small community than in the big city. Them city editors can hide out on the 12th floor of their newspaper but the editor of the small town paper has got to pass by the pool room or the philosophers setting around the public square two or three times a day. And it must be special hard on the wimmen folks running small town papers. I was reading a piece the other day where about 10 per cent of all the weekly papers in the country was run by wimmen. Incidentally, this piece went on to say they was doing a mighty fine job of it. I'll have to tell my old lady about this item and maybe she'll slow down on my chores around the house.

I recollect reading many years ago a description of a small town editor. I don't remember the exact words, Mister Editor, but it went about like this. A country editor is a rich man without money, a Congressman without office, a carpenter without a hammer or saw. He farms without a plow and runs a butcher shop in the newspaper world and deals out brains fer cash or credit. And he loves them that advertises with him like a brother. He is a teacher, a lawyer and preacher. He sends forth truth to save souls and gits lost hisself. He heals the wounded, cares for the dying, rescues the perishing, and then starves to death hisself on account of nobody will throw him a ham sandwich of kindness that would jerk him from the jaws of despair.

Of course, it was 40 year ago I saw that piece and it might be different now. If you was disagreed with me in this matter, you always have the editorial page and the last word.

And speaking of wimmen editors, I see where the Cigar Smokers of America held their national convention in Newport, R. I., and they was two wimmen showed up fer the affair. This piece said one of them demanded a vote in the convention. Just like a woman, let her smoke a 25 cent stogie and she demands a vote.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Farm Bureau Women To Hold Tea Nov. 5

Tuscola County Farm Bureau Women will entertain at a tea at the Farm Bureau Center in Caro Nov. 5.

From 1:00 - 3:30 Friday afternoon, women of the county organization will have the opportunity to meet the chairman of Michigan Farm Bureau Women, Mrs. William Scramlin of Holly, and Miss Helen Atwood, coordinator of women's activities for Michigan Farm Bureau.

Clip Cows Early Says Ag. Inspector

Dairymen are urged to get a head start on their winter milk sanitation program by clipping a few cows each day from now until bad weather sets in. This advice comes from Gerald Thorp, Cass City, Michigan Department of Agriculture dairy inspector for this part of the state.

Early clipping of flanks, bellies, and udders makes easier work all winter when cattle are closely confined. While clipping is not required by law, strict sanitation is enforced by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"Clipping is easy in the autumn, but difficult after cattle have been indoors for weeks," said inspector Thorp. "Farmers may rent clipper from producer associations and dairy plants."

Thorp is a member of the Department of Agriculture Dairy Division's forty-man force charged with assuring Michigan consumers that milk and dairy products are produced under sanitary conditions. Routine inspections are made at dairy farms, as well as plants processing milk, cheese, ice cream, butter, and nonfat dry milk.

Mrs. Scramlin recently attended the triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World in Dublin, Ireland. She is seeking re-election to the office of State Women's Chairman, a position she has held for two years. Miss Atwood came to Michigan from New Hampshire last spring, where she had directed programs in the women and young people's groups. She was also editor of the New Hampshire Farm Bureau paper.

All area Farm Bureau women are urged to attend the tea to meet the state leaders.

Also included in the program will be a teacher-mother from the Tuscola County Retarded School, who will launch the committee in a Christmas project.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A regular meeting of the Council of the Village of Cass City was held on Tuesday, October 26, 1965 at 7:00 p.m. in the Municipal Bldg. All trustees were present except Trustee Seals.

Prior to opening of the council meeting, bids were opened on the removal and dismantling of the water tower. Three bids were received, as follows: Nor-West Machinery Movers - $24,200, Fox Construction - $7,300 and Oak Ridge Water Tank Service Co. - $3,795. Due to the variance in the bids, council deferred a decision on the award pending further study and consultation with village's civil engineers.

Mr. Arthur Atwell was present representing Frutchey Bean Co. The village has been negotiating for a right of way for straightening Vulcan St. into Brook St. and to correct a drainage problem. No decision was reached at this meeting. An offer of $1,000 is to be made to Frutchey Bean for purchase of portion of their property for this purpose.

Mr. L. J. Mikulich, District Traffic Engineer for the State Highway Department was present. He was present to tell the council that the village was being advised of the need to change from angle to parallel parking on Main St. (M-81) by March 1, 1966. He further stated that angle parking had been illegal for many years, and the state had set a deadline for compliance or the file would be taken to the attorney general for legal action. The Hwy. Dept. will put up the signs and mark parallel parking stalls whenever so requested by the village.

Prior to the regular meeting, a public hearing was held to hear objections, if any, to vacation of alleys. As no one appeared to object to this vacation, motion made by Glenn J. McCullough, seconded by Dr. D. E. Rawson to adopt resolution vacating the alleys in Block "C", James Hitchcock's 2nd Addition to the Village of Cass City and Block "K", James Hitchcock's 2nd Addition to the Village of Cass City. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Minutes of the regular September meeting and a special meeting held were read and a correction made.

Pres. Althaver reported on the Fire hall-Library Bldg. progress. A revised architect's drawing was presented. The village attorney was advised by Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, bonding company, that the earliest a special election can be held is Dec. 20, 1965. This date is a month after the present option expires.

Dump Committee reported it has approached the county road commission on the possible sale of a portion of their property to the village for dump site.

Committee reported no action on the employee retirement plan.

Motion was made by Dr. Rawson seconded by B. Freiburger that the request from Erla's Inc. for transfer of ownership to it of 1965 SDM licensed business located at 6233 Church, Cass City from Richard and Genevieve Erla be approved. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Treasurer's report was made on the village property taxes showing receipt of $59,121.40 with $335.40 returned to the county for collection.

Michigan Curb & Construction Co. will be unable to curb and gutter Pine and Seed Streets this fall as proposed due to bad weather they have encountered. It was the feeling of the council that this work should wait until spring.

Clean up week will be held in the spring.

All dead trees on village property are to be reported to the village office before Dec. 1st for removal by the crew during the winter months.

Leaf burning on streets that have been black topped is not allowed.

Finance Committee is to formulate policy regarding discounts on purchase made by the village.

Motion made by F. Auten seconded by B. Freiburger that the bills as approved by the Finance Committee be paid. Motion carried.

There being no further business, motion made by F. Auten seconded by B. Freiburger to adjourn. Carried.

Gen-Tel Reveals Expansion Plans for Cass City Area

Continued improvement and updating of service in the Cass City exchange will cost General Telephone Company of Michigan $196,900 in 1966. That's the story several newsmen from the company's eastern division area were given Thursday night, Oct. 28, at Gen-Tel's annual Editors' Conference in Port Huron.

Cass City's figure is part of a total figure of $401,900 to be spent in the Cass City district which covers most of the Upper Thumb. The total figure also includes $158,200 to be spent in Harbor Beach.

Richard W. Drews, Cass City district manager, prefaced his report with remarks on spectacular growth in the Cass City district.

"We are undertaking several major projects in the Cass City district because of the rapid growth in the area," he stated. "The Thumb is a natural outlet for Detroit."

"In the past two years, the Cass City district has increased one seventh in the number of stations," he concluded.

Major project in the Cass City exchange will be the completion of outside extension and north rural upgrade work which was begun this year. The company expects to spend $94,100 in completing this project.

Another large project will be outside plant extension for base rate area addition in an area west of Koepfgen Road, south to the river, east to Schwieger Road and north to Milligan Road. Work here will include rural upgrading, buried cable and reduction of all service in that area to four party lines. Cost of project has been set at $46,000.

Faster repair service will be available throughout the area with the installation in 1966 of mobile telephone equipment in all of the company's 15 vehicles. A base station will be located in the plant office and each repair truck will have an individual receiver. Drews reported this project would cost $12,000.

Other projects included: 200 line and 100 terminal addition upgrade, $17,200; replacement of construction truck, $15,000; outside plant extension and upgrading south and west, $3,400, and other minor projects totaling $8,300.

Michigan Mirror

Appointments May Tell Romney's Plans

High Hopes

Looking more and more like a national political candidate, Gov. George Romney has increased speculative reporting by a number of his agency appointments under the government reorganization law.

Inadvertently, or perhaps by design, he has placed in strategic positions several men who could be pulled out easily to work full-time in a national campaign by 1968 because they would have accomplished much of the important initial reorganization.

Whether these men, like former Congressman Jack McIntosh who was named chairman of the new Commerce Department, will be used in this way remains to be seen.

Increased travel out of the state for speaking engagements and the recent trip abroad which included Viet Nam add impetus to what had looked like a low-key test of the Republican winds.

Sitting here in Michigan it is very difficult to determine whether Romney is getting any encouragement for a bid to be the party's No. 1 candidate three years hence. Many of the "men on the street" in other states know of him. For those who heard much of the fiscal problems of Michigan in past years, Romney looks like a good prospect because the cash crisis stories are no longer in print. The "minor" happenings which loom large in Michigan headlines for just a day rarely get published outside the state.

Difficult as it is at this early date to clearly read the Governor's goals and possible progress toward these goals, a word of caution might be worthwhile in trying to get an accurate reading of his potential. It isn't too many years ago that nearly every political writer in the state was booming then Gov. G. Mennen Williams as presidential timber. If he was unable to get the No. 1 slot, he surely had a better than average chance to be the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, they said.

A direct parallel is probably impossible between Williams and Romney. It must be remembered that when Williams was looking for his big chance, his party had a wealth of capable men with similar aspirations. Only two could get on the ticket and he wasn't one of them.

As of now, the Republican Party is in essentially the opposite situation. A willing candidate with good background and personality is sought.

Even in politics, it helps to be in the right place at the right time.

Better Buys

Something new was seen along Michigan's roadsides this year which state officials hope will grow considerably in size and gain widespread public recognition.

Started by 23 roadside farm stand operators in eight southeastern counties, the Michigan Certified Farm Markets Association originated the use of a rectangular marker to designate high-standard operations.

The farmer members now number 37 in 15 counties scattered around the state, just over a year after establishment of the organization.

Idea behind the association is to guarantee motorists fresh-picked, top-quality farm produce and discourage borderline or fly-by-night stand operations.

Placement of the association's markers means the stand operators adhere to a rigid code of ethics covering condition of merchandise, price marking, advertising, building cleanliness, and parking facilities.

One of the stipulations of the code requires sufficient advance signs visible from the highway so the motorist has time to slow down, thus preventing a traffic hazard.

Members of the association hope shoppers will learn the meaning of this sign and thus encourage other farmers to join together to maintain easily accessible, clean stands offering good grade produce.

A marketing specialist with the State Agriculture Department regularly checks the member stands to assure compliance with the voluntary code.

Early Start

The push is on for a full six-month concentration to make every citizen aware of the 1966 Michigan Week observance.

It started more than a decade ago with a number of state, regional, county and community committees. As years have passed, the top six or seven units have been working nearly year-round on the project to increase the numbers involved at the lower levels.

Now the push is being made to get individuals, families and many neighborhood groups involved in the state promotion early in the year for the May event.

People, programs and publicity

"People, programs and publicity" have been proposed as a keynote for the campaign to get Michigan's entire population, if possible, into a working attitude derived from a group known as the Michigan Minutemen.

The Minutemen, which originated in 1963, wanted to get many salesmen talking about Michigan "the way Texans talk in superlatives" 52 weeks a year. Now the Michigan Week top campaigners hope to expand this same idea to many thousands more than have been reached to date.

Worry less about the future and more about the present and our progress can be doubled.

If you can't learn to take a little kidding now and then it's high time to remodel.

VANDER MEER

The couple had a son, Frederick, who is now 10 years old and a sixth grader.

"After I got home, I felt there was more opportunity in America than in Europe. We had a choice of Canada, New Zealand, Australia or the United States."

"I told my wife that we'd try it for five years and if we didn't like it, we'd come back. That was nine years ago. Still, the first five years are the hardest. I think that's true any place in the world."

Helping in their decision to pick America was the fact that the couple had relatives in various U.S. cities.

Becomes Laborer

The family arrived in Grand Rapids where they lived for two years. "We had a pretty hard time. I started at a brass factory in the stock room."

"I realized that I wasn't going to get anywhere that way and that all my study and experience in accounting was going to waste. I decided to take extension courses at Michigan State University in cost accounting."

I landed a job with a Battle Creek insurance company but it was too monotonous and I wanted to get back to by original line of work, accounting.

VanderMeer answered an ad run by Cable for its new Quincy plant and was hired as an accountant. Three months later he was promoted to office manager. Five years later he was transferred to the Cass City plant.

The Beginning

"In the beginning it was awful hard to convince people that because of or despite speech differences, you can handle people. You have to prove yourself better than anybody else for the job."

"Cable does employ several Europeans in its home offices and throughout the state and knows they can do the job."

"I'm very proud of being an American and so is my family. Last summer my wife and son visited Holland. When they returned, she commented that Holland is a nice place to visit, but she wouldn't want to live there."

Cable Announces Promotions

A professional baseball umpire and former pro ball player has been named to one of the top posts at General Cable Corporation's Cass City plant, it was announced this week.

Also announced were eight promotions within the plant. Charles Wagoner, formerly of Davenport, Iowa, has been hired as assistant plant manager of the Cass City plant.

Wagoner, originally from Iowa, has a wide background in production management in the missile field.

Before joining Cable on October 11, he was assistant production manager for the Eagle Signal Company division of E. W. Bliss. Prior to that he was with Collins Radio which did missile work for the Polaris submarine.

Charles Wagoner

Before joining Collins, he was assistant production manager for ITC on its BOMARC missile ground test equipment.

"I think this is going to be a great challenge," he commented about his position with Cable.

With Red Legs

Wagoner played professional baseball with the Cincinnati Red Legs in the team's minor league system. He is also a professional baseball and softball umpire and just finished umpiring in the Midwest League of professional baseball, a class A league.

He was in the US Air Force during the Korean Conflict.

His wife, Christa, and three children, David, six, Cathleen Ann, four, and Bruce, two, are still living in Davenport but expect to move to Cass City as soon as suitable housing is available. Wagoner spent the week end visiting with his family.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

There Are Tigers All Over the Place

By Dave Kraft

Growl! I'm a tiger. Growl. Every Chinese New Year has a name, like "The Year of the Octopus" or some such thing. In America we are having the year . . . or years . . . of the tiger.

For a while this was true only of the automotive industry. You could drive a tiger, put one in your gas tank or put tiger paws on your wheels. Seats could be upholstered in tiger, the top covered in tiger vinyl and by taking the "Varoom" motor off the kid's bicycle and using your imagination, you could conceivably have the sound.

Now, through the marvels of science, you can put a tiger in your hair. There are lots of places I'd like to have a tiger, but until I saw this commercial the other night, my hair wasn't one of the places.

The scene opens with an attractive young lady languishing on a divan. She's wearing some sort of a negligee and . . . Hmmm? Did the negligee have a pattern? Whadda ya mean, did it have a pattern? Of course it had a pattern. . . tiger skin. . .

She raises her eyes (if you'll pardon the expression) seductively and asks, "Is there a tiger in your medicine cabinet?" My first impulse is to grab a chair and a whip and go take a look.

With that she pulls out a tube of Top Brass hair dressing and here's the real mystery. Where in the world would she keep a tube of hair dressing in a get-up like that?

She ends her spiel with "Use new clear Top Brass and sic em."

Now, I just happen to have a tube of clear Top Brass in the medicine cabinet. Not because I want a tiger in my hair, but because I like the pretty blue color.

I put some on my hair after the commercial and snuggled up to my wife. "Growl! I'm a tiger. Growl!"

"What?" she asks. "I'm a tiger. Why don't you run upstairs and put your tiger negligee on and I'll let you run your fingers through my hair because I'm a tiger."

"Well," she answers. "I'm a great white hunter and if you don't take that garbage out, we're going to have a new tiger-skin rug for the fireplace."

Trouble with her is she doesn't watch enough television.

Save, how about that angle parking. If I were you businessmen, I'd fight 'em to the last yellow line on the pavement before giving up my angle parking.

Tell you what we'll do. Let's stage a protest march. We'll get some placards and I've already got the heard and we'll march on Lansing.

As a climax, I'll jump onto a previously erected stage and burn my draft card. . . if I can find it.

This parallel parking bit is ridiculous. How in the world are you going to pull a left turn just past the light and swing into a parking place so you can get to Konrad's Bakery before Gerald Priesskorn buys the coffee if you got parallel parking?

Seriously, though, I get so tired of the bureaucratic tail wagging the tax paying dog that one of these days I may come out of my complacency and do something about it.

Went to a Halloween party the other night. My wife and I got a prize for wearing the eeriest costumes.

She went as Morticia and I went as Count Dracula. She was going to go as a dish and I was to throw her into the party through a window. Hmmm? What would she have been?

A flying sorceress, what else?

District Official Guest Speaker at Lutheran Church

The Rev. Calvin Fiege, Stewardship Director of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, will be the guest preacher at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church Sunday, Nov. 7, at 9:30 a.m.

Rev. Fiege is currently conducting the Every-Member-Visitation program in the congregation and will speak on the subject of the Christian's commitment and responsibilities to God and men.

At the worship service three team captains and nine teams will be commissioned for the work they are to do that day. Beginning at two o'clock, the 24 visitors will visit with each family of the congregation to discuss the present status of the congregation, its challenge to them personally and the work which each has to do in this community and in the world.

Members have been asked to remain at home Nov. 7 and will be contacted during the following week if an emergency necessitates their being away.

There will be no Sunday School Nov. 7.

EXTRA BEATS

Q. During a recent examination the company doctor said I had extra heart beats. He indicated that this might be due to drinking coffee or smoking but didn't say whether the condition was harmful. Is it?

A. Extra beats (extrasystoles) are generally not harmful in otherwise healthy persons. Even so, it might be wise to avoid coffee and/or tobacco.

SOUR STOMACH

Q. If you drink milk and then almost immediately drink fruit juice will this cause the stomach to sour?

A. No. When milk reaches the stomach it is normally curdled by an enzyme called rennin. This is the first step in the process of digestion and is not affected by other foods eaten at the same time.

FISSURE OR FISTULA

Q. What is the difference between an anal fissure and an anal fistula?

A. A fissure is a slit-like, elongated, shallow ulcer. A fistula is a canal or tube-like abscess. Anal fissures often become infected, and burrowing of the infection may result in formation of a fistula.

IT SEEMS TO ME

The Young Kids Don't See the Grid Game

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Football season is on us once more. We have a good coaching staff, pretty cheerleaders, a rapidly-improving band and the spectators, in addition to the team. Plus: some children of all ages whose job, it seems to me, is to ignore the whole athletic contest the rest would like to see. Where do these orphans all come from? They roam the aisles and the cinder track, just biding their time; soon swarming onto the field keeping just back of the team. It has become a major nuisance to people who have paid at least a dollar to see the home team play. Whose fault is it? Not the coaching staff, certainly. Nor the teachers' or the administration's. The parents of young children who are given the money to get in to a game they can't understand, thus turning the crowd into a mass baby-sitter. The parents are responsible! I write as a parent who attempts to know where my children are at all times. I have learned to say "No" when my children want to go someplace that I cannot go and there isn't any doubt about whether they will be in the way.

College-aged youth of the Methodist Church are giving a year of their lives to serving in America's great southwest. Planned to foster deeper understanding across racial and cultural lines, the plan features utilization of all possible means of communication between participating congregations. This plan is known by its designation, N-1-plus; decided this stands for neighborhood - one year - plus more time if desired by the groups served. Oh, to be young again! Or, so "It Seems To Me."

The following unique attempts to take the Gospel to people are challenges to the imagination: A new peak in interest in attendance at worship services was reported by the Rev. Warren W. Ost, who has headed the National Council of Churches' national parks ministry since its beginning in 1962. Young ministers, working at regular park jobs for financial support, lead worship services on Sunday mornings and in their spare time.

In San Francisco, a new venture led by the United Church of Christ, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Methodist Church, is known as "Intersection." In its two-room site off Market Street, Intersection offers art exhibits, both experimental and commercial, and the traditionally unconventional coffee house entertainment which might range from a modern dancer's interpretation of modern poetry to stand up comedy.

Not to be left out is a new program of London's Salvation Army, co-sponsored by the Methodist Church with the backing of the British Council of Churches. They plan to build a night club amidst many of London's most popular night spots in Soho, planning the entertainment to attract the "Beat" generation. And in all the attempts to reach the unreached elsewhere, Oberlin College in Ohio has announced the closing of its Graduate School of Theology. I visited this long-established school several times when my assistant minister was in attendance there, and liked what I felt there. A two-year, $100,000 project of the Lilly Foundation has shown in a preliminary report that only 33 per cent of 986 students in seven typical Protestant seminaries plan to stay in the parish ministry. The churches have not found the best way of challenging today's youth to enter the ministry. If this trend does not change soon, many churches will not have resident, trained ministers. This can happen in a frighteningly short time. Or, so "It Seems To Me."

Laugh! The next thing the aerosol deodorant manufacturers will be telling us is: The family that sprays together, stays together. Or, (shades of MacArthur's old dying soldiers!) Old bookkeepers never die, they just lose their balance. Or, Old bankers never die, they just lose interest.

Altar Society Elects Officers

The monthly meeting of the St. Pancratius Rosary Altar Society was held Monday evening, Nov. 1, in the social hall.

Officers elected for the coming year included: Mrs. Garfield Turner, president; Mrs. Dwayne Peters, vice-president; Mrs. Lyle Richardson, treasurer, and Mrs. Valerian Izdorek, secretary. Installation will take place during the January meeting.

Mrs. Dwayne Peters is general chairman of the annual bazaar to be held Nov. 27 at the social hall. The Thumb Deaneary meeting was to have been held Nov. 3 in Sandusky with Virgil Gradowski as speaker. His topic was "Human Relations."

To prevent bad habits from creeping in a man should have a booster shot now and then.

No man can be denied a future, but too often a shady past acts as a handicap.

Agent's Corner

Barbara Henrikson

Father is no longer king.

Two centuries ago, Americans decided that they didn't want to be ordered around by a king. They revolted because they felt individuals had certain inalienable rights, which only democracy could answer.

Today the family is in a similar revolt. Women and children no longer accept the authority of the father as final. Every individual is important in the family.

As patterns change, they often swing too far in the opposite direction before settling down to an acceptable average.

Women became emancipated. They were allowed education. Women usually have a slightly higher education than their husband today. About one-third of wives hold jobs outside the home. Sociologists agreed that where the woman worked outside the home, men should share in the housework.

Men no longer work at home in most families. Since the children couldn't see him milking the cows and threshing wheat, psychologists said he should spend more time with the children so they could see how a man acts.

Men were tied down in factories for 12-hour days. Women were more free at home, could drive the car. It became natural for her to do the buying. She now spends 80 per cent of the money brought home.

The object of today's marriage is affection and companionship. The attitude is give me happiness, or give me a divorce.

Two-thirds of the women don't hold jobs, yet they often expect the man to do housework. Few men work over a 40-hour week, but the wives still handle the money. The man has time to spend with the children, but does so doing woman's work, or children's play.

The family is supposed to be democratic, but one of the popular songs is "Queen of the House". We don't have a king, and we don't have a democratic family.

Try studying the Bill of Rights sometime. Apply the principles to your family. If these rights were law in the family, one or several members would be put in jail weekly, in most families.

If a man is no longer king, it's the fault of the democratic system. If he is a slave, it's because he has tried too hard to be good to his family, has listened to too many authorities, has been taught not to trust his own judgment.

Let's vote for equality for men.

Hawks Lose; Gird for Redskins

Coach John Bifoss promises a "better show" Friday against

Player of Week

For the first time in the two years the Chronicle has been publishing the player-of-the-week, a player has been nominated for the award for the second time.

Coach John Bifoss said that Rick Turner was deserving of the honor because he "has been our most consistent player all season."

Rick Turner

He is a good blocker and has been a hustler since the opening practice. He has the desire to play that makes him our best lineman, Bifoss continued.

Always going all out to win, Turner is the toughest man for his size in the Thumb B Conference, Bifoss concluded.

Sandusky than his team turned in against Bad Axe when the Cass City Red Hawks return to the friendly confines of the Cass City Recreation Park for the final home game of the season.

On the basis of play this season, the Hawks should rank as slight favorites over the Redskins, but a victory by the visitors couldn't be regarded as a major upset. Marlette and Sandusky played to a tie last week.

Bifoss said that he was unhappy with the defensive play of the team against Bad Axe. The Hawks yielded 277 net yards on the ground and were unable to stop Dick DeChane.

DeChane scored all of the Hatchets' touchdowns and broke loose for numerous long gains.

Bad Axe scored the first two touchdowns in the game as DeChane went 21 yards and then capped a drive to go two yards more for the second touchdown. Behind a beautiful run by Karl Weippert for 43 yards and a touchdown the Hawks got back into the game. Weippert then ran the point after touchdown and at the intermission Cass City was back in the game, 12-7.

The touchdown that put the game out of reach was scored in the third period. DeChane gave the Hatchets good field position when he returned a punt 30 yards to the Cass City 36. A 15-yard penalty was overcome by the Hatchets with a completed pass, good for 16 yards.

Bad Axe kept moving the ball until they reached the four-yard line from where DeChane took it over for the marker that salted the game away.

Neither team was able to score in the final period. Cass City moved to the Hatchet 34-yard-line, but was held on downs.
