

Suggest Community College Location Near M-81 and M-53

The general citizens' committee of the three-county area study committee accepted the recommendation of the site committee to locate a new community college somewhere within a three-mile radius of M-53 and M-81 Tuesday night.

Meeting at Cass City High School, the group also accepted reports of the three other sub-committees of the study group.

The location was endorsed after considerable discussion. Some of the group want to express the site in terms reading "as near the center of the three-county area as feasible".

Final Decision

The recommendation of the citizens' committee is meant as a guide line for the trustees of the new college, but is not binding on these authorities. They could move it out of the area if land in the immediate area were not available at a reasonable price or tests show that a minimum of 150 acres of the right kind of land were not available. The trustees have the final word about site selection.

The location selected is as near to the geographical and population centers of the area as possible in an area with access to good roads.

Finance Committee

Accepted without comment was the report of the finance committee presented by Dale Abke. The committee suggested that not over one mill be raised in taxes for the new school for all purposes. They recommended 70 per cent of this money for operating and 30 per cent for building and site.

The committee report noted that the ratio could be changed, depending on the amount of money needed for the type of vocational program adopted. Only the ratio, not the total one-mill tax would be affected, they said.

Legal Procedure

The legal procedure for forming the community college was outlined by H. Dale Cubitt.

Voters will be asked to approve three propositions. The first will be to form a Community College district of school districts in the three counties.

Second a board of trustees, including two persons from each county, will be named and third, a vote for the necessary money must be approved.

Persons seeking a spot on the college board will run for election by having petitions circulated the same way as they would if they were running for a school board post.

Needs Committee

The final report heard by the committee was from the needs committee. This group inspected a community college at Port Huron and Ferris State College.

They emphasized that the community college should have two distinct aspects. A college transfer program and a terminal program including technical (vocational) training courses as dictated by the needs of the area served.

The needs committee also pointed out that at Port Huron the most pressing problem is finding qualified teachers for the program. They said that their investigation there showed that the majority of the students are in business administration, teaching, general and registered nursing.

Explain College

Prior to the reports the group saw a film presented by Dr. Max Smith, Michigan State University community college specialist, that outlined the many facets of a community college and showed how it serves the area.

A survey by MSU showing what the students do after leaving or graduating from high school was distributed for study by the group.

Among the interesting information gleaned from the survey is that well over 50 per cent of the students were still in the three-county area two years after they graduated.

It also indicated that 40 per cent of these persons would be interested in further education if the opportunity were available to them in their home areas.

Final Decision

The final decision by the group Tuesday was to include the school districts of Millington and Crosswell-Lexington in the study area. These districts have requested withdrawal from the community college area.

Their letters will be noted when the plans are submitted to the State Board of Education and final decision made by this board prior to the vote forming the college.

Damage to the parked vehicle and to the Stoneburgh vehicle was estimated at $200 each.

Two Car Crash

Five persons were shaken up in a two-car collision on Bay City-Forrestville Road, about 11 feet from Ashmore Road, Saturday afternoon.

Cars driven by Sharon Marie Nitz and Leonard James Emmons, 17, were damaged in the crash. Passengers in the Nitz car were two Nitz children, age 9 and 7. Passenger in the Emmons' car was Pat Zuraw, 15, of Gagetown.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Nitz attempted to back from the east side of Goslin's store and was struck in the rear by the Emmons' vehicle.

The rear of the Nitz car and the front of the Emmons car were damaged in the mishap, according to the report of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

A car driven by Miss Mabel Spaetzel, 75, of Argyle struck a Deckerville girl, Joyce Ward, 5, as she stepped down from a school bus Thursday.

Miss Spaetzel told deputies she saw the bus but did not see anyone near it and continued to pass. She was ticketed for improperly passing a school bus when it was stopped discharging passengers.

The girl suffered bruises and abrasions and is in good condition in Deckerville Hospital.

No Zip Code Change for Village

The change in the ZIP code number authorized by the postal department this week will have no effect on Cass City, Acting Postmaster Grant Glaspele explained this week. The change in numbers will be for cities that have multiple zip codes for different sections of their cities.

Cass City's ZIP will continue to be the one now being used: 48726.

From the Editor's Corner

The other day a lady reported to me that she was shopping for a book in a Bay City book store. The work she was after was the baseball autobiography by Branch Rickey. After a good deal of joking around, the clerk said, "Sorry we have nothing listed under Branch." She finally found the book when told that Branch was the first name and Rickey the last name.

As it was a Christmas present, the clerk was instructed to send it to a community in Connecticut. She promptly started to write Connecticut with a K.

The labor shortage is acute.

I received a good deal of comment about the word "hardly" used in the fire hall survey story in last week's edition. A good many persons thought it was a misspelled word or no word at all.

Some thought it should have been heartily or hardily.

Webster defines hardly as in a hardy manner - boldly, stoutly, certainly and assuredly. The sentence in the story read, "I am hardly in favor of passing the tax levy".

Once the spans arrived for the new bridge, it was only a matter of a couple of days before the bridge was completed.

Early last week we looked and the center span was standing forlornly by itself and Friday the bridge was opened for traffic.

It's an improvement long delayed, much needed and much appreciated by everyone who travels South Cemetery Road.

The men at the post office are now equipped with the aerosol spray that can be used to ward off dogs as they are delivering the mail.

It is required that it be carried by the employees on the road. According to the advertising on the can, it is effective 86 per cent of the time.

One of the local carriers said, we keep asking ourselves - what about that other 14 per cent? It keeps you from becoming careless when some of the nastier dogs approach, he concluded with a grin.

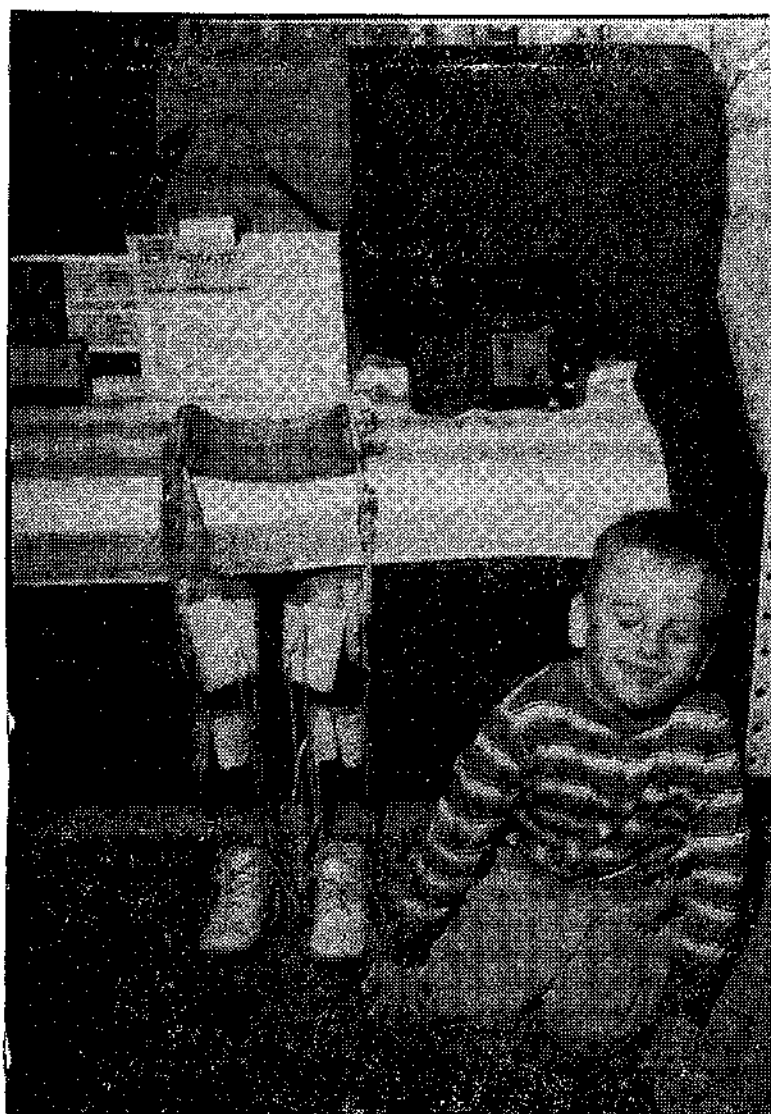

County Marriage Lull Brings Smiles To Gay Bachelors

'Tis the season to be jolly and if you believe that to be single is to be happy, then Tuscola county's eligible bachelors are taking the season seriously.

For the first time in at least 10 years, there was not one marriage license issued or applied for in Tuscola county during the week's period from Tuesday noon through Tuesday noon, according to information reported by the clerk's office.

School Sells Bonds

All but $255,000 of Cass City Public Schools $1.6 million in bonds for the proposed new high school, as of Monday, have been sold. Board of Education members voted last Monday night by Treasurer Bill Ruhl at their regular meeting.

Ruhl released the figure in a report on a trip by Horace Bolen, Elwyn Helwig and himself to Chicago Wednesday, Dec. 8, to sign the bonds.

The total figure, with interest, was $1,616,825.99 and it took Bolen and Helwig an hour to sign the 320 bonds.

All but $3,000 plus some $65,000 for operating expenses, which will be invested later, has been invested. Ruhl, using some quick computation, speculated that the invested monies were earning about $175 a day at an average interest of 4.4. The bonds, sold at about 4.6, are costing the school about the same per day.

Sex Education

A sex education class, sponsored by Mrs. Lucy Miller, County health nurse, was approved for seventh and eighth grade girls, with approval of their parents. A similar program was approved for boys in the same classes as soon as someone is found to present it.

Advanced instruction is annually given to senior high girls each spring by Mrs. Miller.

The course, according to Principal Arthur Holmberg, discusses facts "that are pertinent to problems of that age."

Slips are to be sent home with the girls explaining the course to their parents and asking permission for the girls to participate.

Two film strips will be shown, one relating "The Story of Man-Struction," and the other dealing Concluded on page six.

Young Son Recovering

Prize Caps Happy Yule for Prebas

It's a long road that has no turning and the Frank Preba family is very happy that they are apparently around the bend of the road that handed them enough misfortune to last the average family a lifetime.

Consider the plight of the family just one year ago. It was not a merry Christmas.

The Prebas had just lost a new baby boy by premature birth. Mrs. Preba was hospitalized from a nervous breakdown in Colorado. She collapsed far from home because she had just been told by specialists at Denver that her youngest son, Frank Charles, then three years old, would never walk or crawl.

The shock was doubly difficult because tests taken when the baby was 1 1/2 years old indicated that he was perfectly normal. But what the battery of examinations had failed to reveal was that the boy suffered a pinched nerve at birth.

From this bleak picture, consider the family's prospects today. Little Frank can crawl over the floor and walk with the aid of braces and a special handrail and the prospects are bright that he will be able to walk without aid in future years.

The change has come from operations performed in Saginaw. It was the first of a series for the youngster. The next will be on his knee.

Between operations there is much individual effort for the youth, under his mother's guidance. He walks with the aid of the handrail, stands with a specially built standing table and his mother exercises the legs three times daily.

Although Mrs. Preba is robust and her husband strong and healthy, the children have all been forced to overcome a slow start. Little Frank weighed one pound, eight ounces at birth and his two sisters were both under three pounds when they arrived, Mrs. Preba said.

luck started with the grand prize drawing in town last year. Preba said with a smile. The color TV given away then was won by my brother-in-law (the Nicholas family). Anyway, it has been a good year for our family, he concluded, and winning the movie outfit sure caps it off.

Besides the grand prize, two savings bonds were also awarded. They were won by Raymond Cummings of Cass City and Alga Kamrad, Unionville.

Another drawing will be held Saturday at 4:15 p.m. and the final drawing at noon Friday, Dec. 24.

Gas Thieves Have A Good Thing Going

Someone has a good thing going. And, the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is running down leads to put a stop to it.

Persons unknown have been stealing gas. Thursday, Dec. 9, William Woodward of Deford reported someone drained his tank while he was working in Pontiac.

But Woodward's trouble is minor compared to Harold Campbell's, who runs a sawmill at the corner of Broadway and Hurds Corner Roads.

Here the thieves, that police theorized are the same as the culprits involved in the Woodward theft, took gas from three tractors on the same night and the following two nights, also.

Probably feeling that there is no use switching a successful operation, they returned Monday night and helped themselves again.

Officials of the Sheriff's Department have tire tracks that give an inkling of the type of car involved, according to the complaint report.

Shoot up Station

The department is also investigating the destruction of a rain measuring station on the Cass River, about a quarter mile west of Cemetery Road.

A complaint was filed Monday, Dec. 6, by the U. S. Geological Survey Department. According to investigating officers, the lock was shot off the station by a slug from a gun. The sheriff's department theorized that the vandalism was the work of a deer hunter.

Prize Winners

The string of good fortune that has helped the family in the last 12 months continued Saturday. The Prebas were the winner of the Kodak movie camera and projector given in the weekly drawing sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Election Monday

Interest Light At Open Meet

An open meeting on the proposed purchase of the H. O. Paul Building Tuesday night went the way of most open meetings with few persons attending and little or no opposition to the project which will go to the voters Monday in a millage vote.

The building, if the $52,000 bond issue is approved Monday, will be used as a combination fire hall, library and police office.

Village President Lambert Althaver, with the aid of three aides, relisted the plans for the building and why it is needed, for the 40 persons who turned out.

Aside from a question from Dean Toner as to why the village had to pay the "long shot," most of the queries about the building were questions of clarification and no real opposition was expressed.

Toner was referring to the often discussed method in which the village pays taxes for the building and its upkeep and also shares in the cost of the fire department equipment with the township through township taxes.

Althaver answered Toner's question by explaining the agreement between the village and the township which provides that the village supply housing for the department and the township equip the department.

Althaver also explained the economy of using the existing building as opposed to building a new building. "We can get 6,900 square feet of space for less than $8.00 a square foot. A new concrete block building would cost $9.00 to $10.00 a square foot and this doesn't include the land."

One spectator asked about plans for the old fire hall and library. "We have no concrete plans," answered Althaver. "There was some talk of tearing it down for parking now that we must eliminate angle parking."

Traffic control, maintenance, parking and financing were also explained by Althaver.

Althaver closed the session by asking the group to "carry our plans and our need to your friends and neighbors."

Election polls located at the Municipal Building, will open at 7:00 a.m. Monday and will close at 8:00 p.m. All voting will be at the Municipal Building.

Jack Esau and Howard Bacon represented the company and Rod Karr, Pat Sherman and Lucille Cooper represented the employees. Kirk Perly was the union negotiator.

Delayed Report Reveals

Centennial Funds Given to Center

Cass City Area Centennial Corporation closed its books Tuesday night with a surplus of $2,375.16 and the money was handed over to the Elkland Township Cultural Center board to be used for expenses. The action took place at the Cultural Center.

The long awaited report on the centennial's financial outcome was presented by co-chairman Clint House and was based on figures compiled by treasurer Robert Keating.

Corporation bylaws allowed that any net profit be used for "civic work or charity." The money was presented to the center after James Bauer, centennial committee member, remarked "We all are in agreement that the Cultural Center needs help. It has no organization in back of it."

"The center also carries a little indebtedness, about $2,000, borrowed to finish up the building so it would be ready for the centennial," he continued.

There was some discussion that perhaps other projects should be considered, to which Tom Proctor answered, "If the net proceeds had been more, say $5,000, we could have spread it around. But since the Cultural Center is a by-product of the centennial, I think the money should go to it."

Revenue Division

Most proceeds, of course, were from the revenue division which had a total of $11,061. This included proceeds from advertising, sale of programs, souvenir plates and wooden nickels. It also included the carnival which netted $1,321. Expenses totaled $3,452.

Spectacle Proceeds

The week-long highly spectacle grossed $6,585 through the queen's contest, ticket sales and other revenue. Expenses for the spectacle ticket division and the spectacle division totaled $3,445.

The participation division, which included the sale of centennial wear, brothers of the brush certificates and other items, had a gross income of $5,998, with expenses of $3,846.

Area Nimrod Bags Cow Elk

Elk are not as wild as our white-tailed deer, Victor Orzel of Gagetown said this week after returning home with an elk cow, shot on the Black River Ranch, east of Vanderbilt.

Orzel is the only area nimrod to have bagged an elk in the special permit only hunting season for Michigan's largest game animal.

I shot the cow about two hours after the season opened, Orzel said. I tracked it in the light snow to get my shot. I'm sure that I could never have come up on a deer like that, he concluded.

Orzel said that he had scouted the area where he was hunting a couple of times before the season.

The nimrod also reported that he was one of the fortunate few to get a license in the Michigan Department of Conservation lottery the first time he submitted his name.

Farmers in Michigan can grow corn faster than they can store it, because the shelled corn must be dried. Experts at Michigan State University say, however, that a chilling process may be used in the future to cool the corn for storage. This "refrigerated" corn would allow fast harvesting and prevent bottlenecks at the dryers.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Junked Car is Gutted by Fire

A junked car was gutted Sunday, shortly after noon, at the Thelma Pratt farm four miles south, two east and a half north of Cass City, according to Fire Chief Nelson Willy.

The fire was near a barn and worried renters called the fire in. Defective wiring was blamed in a fire last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Rievert, Gagetown, which caused extensive smoke and water damage.

The fire was extinguished by the Gagetown Fire Department but started again between the walls and had to be put out a second time.

Jr. High Cagers

Lose 2 to Caro

Cass City future cage stars were decisively beaten Friday when both seventh and eighth grades fell at Caro.

The seventh grade lost 38-15 and the eighth grade bowed, 47-15.

Coach John Bifoss said that the games indicated that both clubs need a lot of work. The teams' progress will be compared when the youngsters play at Marlette Friday in the last game before the holidays.

Against Caro, it was a pair of brothers who caused Cass City the most trouble. Mark Putnam scored 17 points for the eighth graders, while his younger brother scored an equal amount for the seventh grade.

Announce First Sugar Beet Pay

Michigan Sugar Company sugarbeet growers received $5,648,200.00 in cash and credits this week, as the first payment on their 1965 sugarbeet crop, according to figures released Dec. 15 by the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association.

The total payment received by Caro factory district growers amounted to $1,306,058.00 for their 9,918 acres.

This year's December payment represents an average return of $8.25 per ton. District growers received $8.15 per ton last year as the initial payment on their 1964 crop.

Gilbert C. Smith, field manager of Michigan Sugar Company's Caro facility, explained that last year's crop had a higher sugar content than the 1965 crop but greater extraction efficiency, coupled with a strengthening price of sugar, enabled Michigan Sugar Company to increase slightly the first payment this year. He emphasized that area farmers would be mailed two additional payments on their crop in 1966. A conditional government payment will also be paid during 1966 to those farmers who complied with U. S. Department of Agriculture regulations on the sugarbeet crop.

Hawks Score No Field Goals In Stalling Loss to Eagles

For the first time in history Cass City played a basketball game and failed to score a field goal.

The squad played at Frankenmuth and Coach John Oswald ordered his squad into a game-long stall. Hawks lose 20-3.

Cass City took just five shots at the basket and the Eagles took 16. The winners charged into a 6-2 lead in the first quarter and were in front 10-2 at the half.

In the final two quarters, Cass City was held to a single charity toss to go with their first charity pair of gift heaves.

Frankenmuth added four points in the third quarter. It was not until the final three minutes that Cass City attempted to open up the game.

The sudden switch added to Frankenmuth's margin as they scored six points, but failed to help the Hawks pick up a basket from the field.

"We showed improvement," Coach John Oswald said after his club lost to Caro Friday in a surprisingly close game, 73-66, at Cass City High School.

Our defense was much better, but two of our more serious faults were still apparent against the Tigers, Oswald continued. We failed to get our share of the offensive or defensive rebounds and were guilty of sloppy ball handling.

Our defense was good enough to stop Caro's fast break and keep the Tigers from close-in shots, but Rich Campbell ruined us by picking up the rebounds for easy points. Because of this, Caro counted 40 per cent from the floor, while the Hawks' shooting percentage was 33 per cent.

The Hawks hung in the game for most of three quarters. . . . never able to forge into the lead, but always close enough to keep the game interesting to local fans.

Friday's attack was paced by a pair of guards. In the season's opener against the Lakers, the guards were almost negligible in Cass City's offense. Against the Tigers, Wayne Copeland picked up 15 points and his running mate, Dave Schember, garnered 14.

It was Schember who kept the Hawks in the contest in the opening quarter. He rammed home a pair of field goals and three for three from the charity circle for seven points as Cass City trailed, 18-16, at the end of the first period.

The visitors moved into a seven-point lead at the end of the first half with a 22-17 advantage in the second quarter. Both teams showed divided scoring.

Cass City closed the gap to just three points in the third quarter. With Copeland swishing the nets three times and Al Wallace and Jim Walters adding a pair each, the Hawks charged for 20 points while holding the Tigers to 16. It was their best quarter of the young season.

But the Tigers were able to withstand the Hawks' challenge and won going away with a 17-13 advantage in the final stanza.

The Hawks showed balanced scoring in the game. In the rating system used by Oswald that includes rebounds, defense and errors, as well as point production, Walters was rated as having played the best game against the Tigers.

The box score:

Cass City	FG	FT	TP
Wallace	5	0-3	10
Walters	4	2-6	10
Knoblet	1	1-1	3
Schember	4	6-7	14
Copeland	6	3-5	15
Ruhl	2	0-0	4
Gray	3	3-4	9
Kelly	0	1-1	1
	25	16-27	66
Caro	FG	FT	TP
Bassford	3	0-2	6
Campbell	7	7-11	21
Keckler	6	1-4	13
Andrew	5	0-0	10
Frick	2	1-3	5
Smith	5	0-0	10
Travis	3	2-2	8
	31	11-22	73

Junior Varsity Wins

The Cass City JV squad posted its first victory of the year with a 73-61 nod over the Tigers seconds in the preliminary. John Maharg picked up 24 points.

Cass City should have a chance to break into the win column Friday as the team faces Marlette which does not have its usual powerhouse this year.

Owen-Gage Yule Concert Tuesday

Milan M. Miller, music director of the Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools, is planning the annual Christmas concert for Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, at 8:00 o'clock in the Gagetown School.

The concert will feature the Junior and Senior bands. There will be a carol-sing for everyone with students from the third through eighth grades participating.

IN PAST YEARS, a group of Cass City men, accompanied by one of Santa's helpers, has visited special education and retarded children's schools in the county, passing out candy to the youngsters. This year, however, the students were loaded into a bus and brought to the Fuelgas plant in Cass City where Santa loaded them down with candy and gifts. Mrs. Freida Speath, Carpenter School teacher, introduces a student to Santa. (Chronicle photo)

ANOTHER CARPENTER school student is introduced to Santa at Fuelgas of Cass City Tuesday morning and with some prompting by his teacher, Mrs. Speath, tells St. Nick what he wants for Christmas. The students range from throughout the county and area. Other teachers present were Mrs. Bessie Davison and Mrs. Ruth Rinebold from the Tuscola Intermediate Training School at Darby School and their aids, Mrs. Caren Craig and Edna Bush. Harry King of Cass City drove the bus.

IT SEEMS TO ME

Can't Put Christ Out of Christmas

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Well, have you done all of your Christmas shopping? It is customary at this time of year, while examining the piles of appropriately-wrapped gifts, to pause a little while, and piously say: "Of course, we mustn't forget to put Christ back into Christmas!" Balderdash! God put Christ there, not man; and how arrogant to believe that we could put him out of Christmas! The truth is that the Christ is more in Christmas this year than last! Look about you and see if there isn't more compassion this year than last. In the midst of weapons of war, mankind is making a valiant effort through the United Nations to eliminate war. The medical world is treating the war-wounded, returning an increasingly high per centage of them to society and their families. Things are looking up at Christmas time in 1965! Put Christ back into Christmas? Hardly. Find him there! Or, so "It Seems To Me."

The people who work at Caro State Hospital are asking your help in a momentous undertaking. Between now and Christmas they are attempting to garner approximately 3,000 books of trading stamps—which would give the Caro patients a 64-seat bus which could take the patients on various journeys into the world of which they are a part. You can share in this project by giving your donation of books to any employee of the hospital. (Floyd Dodge is one such.) They hope to have the bus by Christmas. Wouldn't you like to help? So, "It Seems To Me."

As you know, if you are a long-time reader of this column, my kid brother (two years younger than I) lives in Hong Kong where he is a newsmen. He and I have been having something of a race to see who could be the first author of a printed book. He sent me a paper-back book published in Hong Kong which is a collection of essays, called "This Is China." Guy wrote a chapter in it, called: "China's Border Policy: Dragon Throne Imperialism?" The race is still on, however, with the goal an entire book written and published.

The Right Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Episcopal bishop of New York, says his support of civil rights caused many to wince on pledges toward completion of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. One man cut a $600,000 gift out of his will. I wonder how that man is going to explain his act to St. Peter, especially if the gift was to have gone to fix the gate of heaven?

This 'n' That: Methodisms supreme court, the Judicial Council, put off for the third time in a year a decision on where ultimate authority lies for racial integration. . . . Trustees of Davidson (North Carolina) College, a Presbyterian school, eliminated a faculty oath that had restricted full faculty tenure to Protestants. . . . Iowa has become the tenth state to end capital punishment. Governor Harold E. Hughes observed that he was confident crime would not increase because of the substitution of life in prison for crimes formerly punished by death. And people in the tall corn state can be proud of this advance, or so "It Seems To Me."

Each year, the National Council of Churches gets out a report on church contributions in time for Thanksgiving. With only forty-one American and six Canadian denominations reporting, over 3 billion dollars has been reported! Who said that churches are poor? Giving is just one sign of a thriving Church; or so "It Seems To Me."

Letter to Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. In most instances letters will be printed in full. However, the paper reserves the right to edit letters to fit space requirements. All letters must be signed.

Ubbly, Michigan
December 9, 1965

Dear Editor:

I think Cass City owes its representatives, both youths and adults, the encouragement they deserve for extra effort put forth. First, let me define representatives. Anyone who represents Cass City in athletic competition, musical accomplishment, other competition and achievement, or just plain good will is a representative of Cass City to other towns around the area. Is Cass City proud of these people?

I am proud to be a student at Cass City High School, an institution which has acquired a fine reputation over the years as a school with spirit, a school that always does its best but does not throw a tantrum when beaten, a school that turns out scholars who come out of college with honors. Our school is not perfect, and it has not improved in all areas as rapidly as some neighboring schools, but it is doing remarkably well considering the lack of backing it has received from many.

Consider our athletes. They lost to the Lakers last Friday, and will probably lose to Caro this Friday, but have they given up? NO! Every night after school they practice, and practice. Some of them have high academic records to maintain and tough classes in which to maintain them. After an hour or two of rigorous basketball practice who feels like studying? This sacrifice is not limited to our athletes. Our band, cheerleaders, debaters, majorettes, and many others put in their time and sweat to be the best possible, partially in order to show everybody how good Cass City really is. Imagine how we feel, playing to an empty house after really sweating to make it good. Put yourself in the place of a basketball team that has to play without the assurance of constant support and approval that a good cheering section would give them.

Now, again, return to your former life as a spectator (or as a participant if you were), but add one thing. Add vocal support as proof of your moral support when the team needs it.

Sincerely,
Mary Lou Spencer
P.S. Many thanks to the Chronicle for its work in reporting school events. The weekly player who receives recognition tends to balance off the lack of recognition found at school.

A Michigan State University soil scientist says eight to eleven million acres of land in Michigan can use more lime. Art Wolcott notes many farmers make the mistake of not using lime when they stop growing alfalfa. It is normal for these soils to become more acid with use, he says.

Musicians Prep for Winter Concert

"The Spell of Christmas," a joint Christmas concert to feature students from both the instrumental and vocal music departments at Cass City High School, will be presented Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Directing the vocal section, which will consist of selections by the 77-member a cappella choir, soloists, duetists and audience-participation carol singing, is Roger Parrish. Ronald Walker will direct the instrumental division.

Opening the program will be junior band selections which will include: "The Clockwinder Song," "Cantique de Noel," and "Yuletide Sketches."

The vocal section takes over after the junior band performs and the a cappella choir will offer the following selections: "Break Forth, O Beateous, Heavenly Light," "The Carol of the Angels," "The Holly Carol," "The Spacious Firmament on High," and "Sevenfold Amen."

Guest Soloist

Special guest soloist from the teaching staff will be Mrs. Brewster Shaw, foreign languages, who will sing in French "Les Anges dans nos Campagnes (Angels We Have Heard on High)."

Other soloists are: Janita Allen, Bev Harbec and Dale Bullock. Also slated is a duet by Rosemary Fritz and Sue Kelley.

During the carol singing portion, the audience will be invited to sing along. Organist for the vocal numbers will be Don Greenleaf.

More Band
After intermission, the band will again take over with the sixth grade cadet band's presentation of the "Christmas March."

Winding up the program will be the following selections by the senior band: "A Merry Christmas," "Sleigh Ride," and "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Narration for the last number will be by Barbara Auten, LaDonna Moore, Cheryl Kozan, Evelyn Merchant, Donna Russell, Tim Stickle and Teresa Tracy, all members of the fifth grade band.

Projects Net Nearly $1,000 for Band

At a recent meeting of the Cass City Band Boosters reports of the club's various fund raising projects were revealed.

Three projects netted nearly $1,000. The spaghetti dinner held in October netted $343. About $400 was realized from the candy sale and the football concession stand sales resulted in a profit of $311.

The next project will be popcorn sales at basketball games. The club has purchased a new popcorn machine.

The next meeting will be in January.

The public is invited to attend.

A pair of Saginaw county residents are seeking damages of $250,000 from the Tuscola County Road Commission for injuries suffered in an accident on M-46, about 2½ miles east of M-15.

Robert Gempel is asking for $200,000 and his wife seeks $50,000 in a case filed this week in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

The Gempels claim that faulty work in resurfacing the road was the cause of the accident in which both persons were severely injured. The crash occurred Aug. 21, 1964.

"HO! HO! HO!" is a typical remark for a Santa Claus and that was exactly what Santa said as he greeted this group of youngsters as he opened his headquarters in Cass City Friday in the former Mc-

Arthur building. Santa will return this week end and will be in the village most of next week, passing out candy and other goodies to the youngsters.

COMMENTS BY KRAFT

Of Coffee Pots And Puppie Dogs

By Dave Kraft

It's about time I started another fund raising campaign and I think I've hit on one that'll open your eyes about as fast as sucking hot coffee through a straw.

Every morning, about 9:15, Konrad's Bakery throws its doors open to a bunch of bleary-eyed, irascible, sometimes unshaven and otherwise disreputable lot masquerading as businessmen.

It is at this time that Konrad's does a landside business in coffee, dunkers and that stuff. On particularly bad days, some of the crew go for a second cup of coffee.

What makes it bad is that they don't go for it all at the same time. This means that the waitress gets to the table with a refill just in time to have somebody ask for another one.

The other day Mrs. K. after several trips, remarked, not without some exasperation, "Why don't you men take up a collection and buy one of those coffee warmers so I don't have to keep running back and forth?" (Sometimes she talks to us almost as mean as our wives do in the morning.)

So we did. Everybody threw in all the pennies they had. Averaged out about two cents apiece. All I had was a nickel so I threw it in and tried to take three pennies but they wouldn't let me.

The pot continues to grow day by day and it is only a matter of time until we have enough money to buy a coffee warmer (that's the way it's spelled on the sign in the pot) to keep the waitresses at Konrad's from getting flat feet running back and forth getting refills for irascible businessmen.

Now, I know you are all just dying to contribute to so worthy a cause so I will be more than happy to be the receptacle for your donations. I will also accept gifts of ground coffee and those little candles that go under the coffee pot.

Or, if some of you ladies are game, you might invite us all over to your place for that second cup of coffee. Can you possibly imagine the talk you could start?

Your husband leaves at, say, 8:00 a.m. and at 9:30 a.m. 27 strange men converge on your home. Put you right at the top of the "talk" list.

But, of course, I don't think there's a woman in town with that much nerve. . . is there?

As everybody knows, puppies were put on this round world so little boys could be leaders and it is also true that little boys were put here so puppies would have somebody to follow.

The other day, a pair of them were fulfilling their destinies and as they walked by Mrs. Wrayburn Krohn's, she saw the boy stop, pick the puppy up and make a dash for her steps.

When she answered the door, the youngster asked her if she'd mind taking care of the puppy. "He's going to get his feet wet and he'll get cold. Besides, I'm afraid he'll get run over on the highway."

He went on to explain that he'd tried to get the puppy to go home but he just wouldn't go. "It'll just be for a few minutes."

"Well, how long is a few minutes," Mrs. Krohn asked. With that, the boy set the puppy down and ran out the door, on his merry way to school.

Mrs. Krohn called the boy's parents and was informed that the boy didn't have a dog. She concluded that the boy was just looking out for the puppy.

Which, as everybody knows, is why little boys and little puppies were put on this round world.

Early corn planting substantially boosted yields on Michigan farms. Michigan State University specialists recommend planting as soon after May 1 as the seed beds can be prepared. Research shows that corn planted this early will average 27 per cent higher yields than plantings made June 1.

Extension Sets Work Schedule

Home Economists Mrs. Barbara Henrikson and Mrs. Margaret Ann Ross were recently assigned by the Cooperative Extension Service to Sanilac, Tuscola, and Huron Counties. They are working with Al Ballweg in setting up work schedules for Tuscola County.

The Family Living Education lessons planned for each of the three counties will be held through June 1966. Coordinated programs, based on area needs, will be planned for 1967.

Mrs. Ross will specialize in Foods and Nutrition, Kitchen and Home Planning, Family Sociology, Home Management, and Young Homemaker programs. Mrs. Henrikson will specialize in Textiles and Clothing, Home Furnishings and Care, Family Psychology, Health, and Low Income programs.

Any of the lessons taught in the three counties are open without charge to all interested persons. Women who would like to form or to join existing Extension Study groups are asked to contact either the home economists or Extension members.

An area newsletter is planned for the some 1200 Extension Study group members in the area. Direct-mail educational materials will also be sent to young homemakers and other special groups.

Both home economists will work with 4-H leaders and 4-H youth. Either of the home economists may be reached at the Cooperative Extension Service offices in the courthouses at Caro and Bad Axe or the Federal Building in Sandusky.

100 Guests Honor George Severns

Mr. and Mrs. George Severn of Tawas City celebrated their golden wedding Sunday, Nov. 28, with open house from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. at the Oddfellow Temple in East Tawas.

Mrs. Severn wore a blue dress with gold accessories and a lily of the valley corsage.

The room was decorated with gold bells and large gold "50's". Little gold bells decorated the gold net over the white tablecloth of the main serving table, which was centered by a two tiered wedding cake decorated with gold roses and a gold "50". Two two-candle candelabra and two cakes decorated with tiny yellow roses flanked the wedding cake. Yellow mums and gold bells decorated the other tables.

Ice cream, cake and coffee, tea and punch were served to 100 or more guests from Elkton, Pigeon, Bad Axe, Caseville, Port Hope, Flint, Mt. Morris, Detroit, Grayling, Owendale, Argyle, Midland, East Tawas and Tawas City.

Mrs. Patricia Childs and Miss Kristine Gildner, granddaughters of the Severns, poured coffee and Miss Vickie Gildner served punch. Mrs. Rose Ashmore presided at the guest book and Miss Carol Jean Ashmore attended the gift table. They are also granddaughters of the Severns.

Mr. and Mrs. Severn were married at Elkton Nov. 25, 1915. They were attended by Mrs. Wiley Wilfong, sister of the groom, and Mr. George Burtenshaw, brother of the bride. Neither was able to attend.

Services Monday for Mrs. F. Roman, 78

Funeral services for Mrs. Ann Roman, 78, of Deford, widow of Frank Roman, were held Monday at Little's Funeral Home.

Rev. R. E. Betts, pastor of Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiated and burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Mrs. Roman died Friday night in Tuscola County Nursing Home, where she was a patient a year. She was born Oct. 28, 1887, in Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Roman is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lee Czerny of Detroit, and a son, Sylvester Roman of Millington.

Mr. Roman died in August, 1955, attend, due to illness.

Medical Mirror

CYSTIC MASTITIS

Q. I have heard that cystic mastitis (my friend has it) is a form of cancer. Is this true?

A. No. Cystic mastitis (cyst formation in the ducts of the breast) is a non-cancerous disease. This is not to say, however, that the condition should be ignored. In fact, frequent, periodic examinations are advisable for those who have cystic mastitis. Very often the doctor will choose to withdraw (aspirate) the contents of larger cysts. It's a simple procedure that can be done in the office.

FETAL EAR FUNCTION

Q. There is an old saying that music quiets a kicking baby. Can the unborn baby hear?

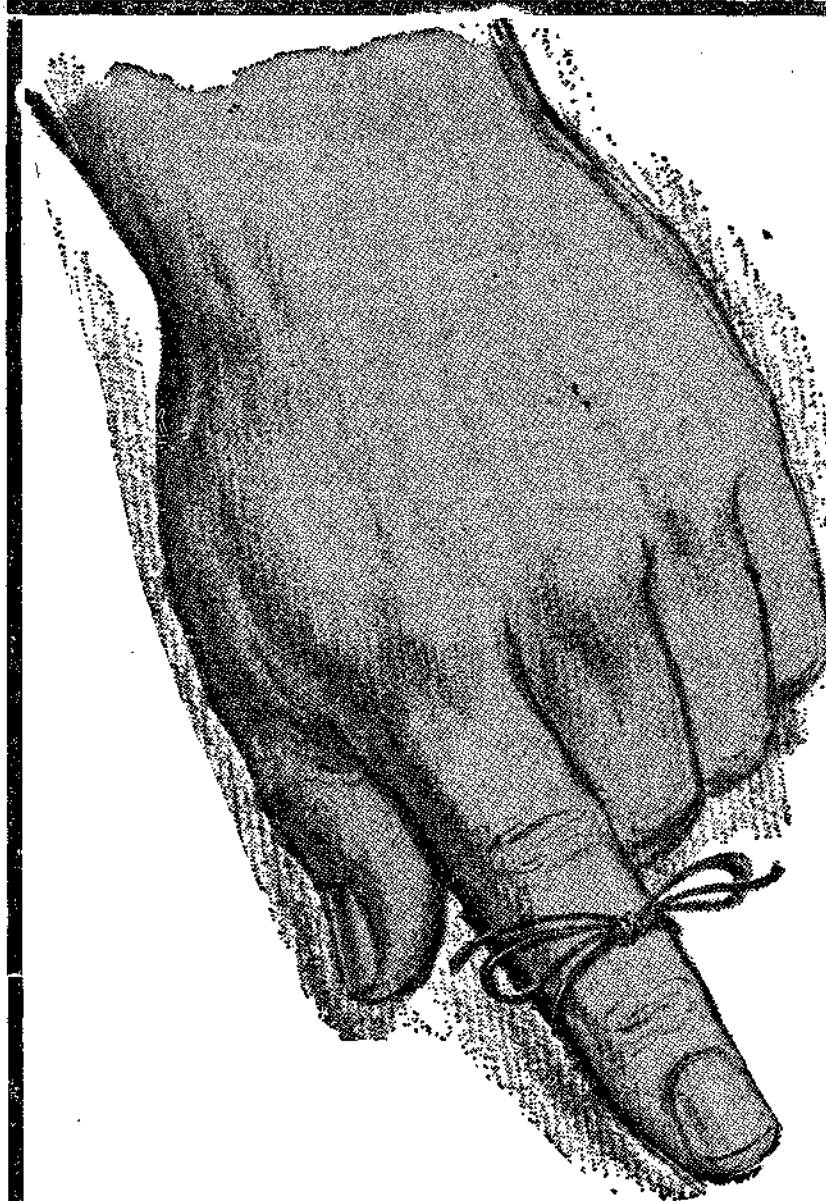

A. The fetal internal ear structures reach full adult size by the fifth month and there is evidence that the fetus can hear sounds at this early date.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was debating matters sideways, up and down, round and about.

Starting off sideways, Ed Doolittle was having a good word to say for the feller that runs the store. Last week he put a sign in the window telling all fishermen he has got "Fish Bait, Crickets, Worms, and Rabbits Feet." Now there was a feller, claimed Ed, that was on the ball and keeping in tune with the times. Ed figured the storekeeper was needed in Washington where everything, special the budget department, was operated on the rabbits foot theory.

Clem Webster of the Great Society said he didn't have nothing agin anybody totin a rabbits foot but he was defending the budget plan. He reported he was mighty glad Lyndon wasn't letting a good horse git away on account of being too stogy to pay for a strong halter to hold him.

I don't know how you feel about this matter, Mister Editor, but some of the fellers was wondering if it wouldn't be a little cheaper if Lyndon would try closing the stable door once in a while.

Zeke Grubb announced he was a heap more worried about people than he was about the budget. Zeke said he was reading a piece where this feller General Horshy that runs the draft department said last week they had rejected 130,000 draftees last year afore they even took them from the local draft boards. And of that number, 54,000 was turned down because they was classified as not fitten to associate in a law-abiding society.

Them figgers, Mister Editor, was pritty shocking, coming from official sources. I'm glad I won't be here to see it but the time is coming soon when a new generation of teachers, doctors, lawyers, maybe college presidents, might be running around with their hair curled in and their shirt tail tucked out. It's a sad thought for a old feller like me that's coming down to the sunset of his days.

Speaking of these matters and moving up and down, Bug Hookum reported he had saw where a West Coast newspaper had run a series of articles by the fashion editor advising college girls how to dress in fashion while they was gitting thrown in jail fer demonstrating. According to Bug, this fashion writer advised wearing matching sweaters and tights to give 'em that "total look" while they was putting their name on the police blotter. How do you like that, Mister Editor? But I reckon when we come out with this new equal rights fer wimmen law we was asking for it. I even saw where a college girl in Florida was testing the law by trying to git in the Marine Core.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

A decision is a choice made in the face of uncertainty. It is impossible to get all the facts on anything. Today yesterday's facts are no longer true in many cases.

You have to collect as many facts as possible and necessary before making a decision.

Meat has protein so you know that chicken is as good for your family as beef tenderloin. If economy is your goal, you buy chicken. If you're trying to impress the boss, you buy tenderloin. But if you're trying to help your husband get a raise, you buy chicken anyway.

You don't need a lot of information to make this decision. In an hour it will be all gone.

Suddenly your husband is offered a new job in another town. This is not so simple.

If you move, you will have new friends, a new church, shopping district, schools. There will be new playmates for your children, different values in the neighborhood.

You start out to gather information. A lot of it will conflict. One lady wouldn't buy a carrot in town, another does all her shopping there. The new boss sends his kids to a private school, because the local one is a mess. A new co-worker has raised 17 kids and they've all graduated from college.

No matter which way you decide you will find someone who agrees with you and someone who disagrees.

Long-term decisions do not really show whether they are right for about ten years.

And even then you can't be completely certain as you didn't try the other possibilities.

Englishmen are not certain of the origin of their national anthem "God Save the King (or Queen)". It was sung as far back as 1745.

"1966 Ford quieter than my Jaguar?
Not jolly likely!" said Rob Walker

... then he drove the Ford.

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently demonstrated the 1966 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses the '66 Ford LTD with Rob Walker at his family's estate in Wiltshire, England.

"Astonishing... I believe this Ford of yours really is quieter!" exclaimed Rob Walker, famed British automotive sportsman.

Ford's quiet ride is the result of built-in quality and overall engineering excellence. Other examples of this engineering magic from Ford are: ■ New Stereo Tape Player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New Magic Doorage on wagons—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ Silent-Flo Ventilation, standard on Ford 4-door hardtops, gives open-window freshness with all windows closed. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford, at your Ford Dealer's.

State Government Expansion "Sneaky"—Goes on and on

They "Sneak" Up
Expansion of state government sometimes occurs in such a fashion that the full impact is rarely noticed until someone points it out. Over a period of years you may read that the Mental Health Department has expanded services, enabling its institutional waiting list to be reduced. This is real progress, you note.

State Police get a shorter work week. You observe that the previous hours were unreasonable. Officials say more troopers are desperately needed. You agree: it's rare that you see a State Police car on the road.

New federal programs are requiring state implementation. You side with legislators or other officials who say, "We're paying the tax dollars to Washington so we might as well get some more back."

The legislative system itself needs considerable revision in terms of operating methods and staff situations. This sounds reasonable.

It just follows then that the executive office must take on more manpower to keep abreast of the new and expanded services offered.

On and on goes the list, but the changes are scattered over a period of time. Each is considered independently.

Then comes the statistician who notes that state employment has jumped nearly 5,000 in the past five years to about 37,000 people. This means a payroll of an estimated $245 million annually.

He notes that much of the $55 million increase in the state wage cost during the past year went to mental health, social welfare and other areas of current primary concern.

The legislature added about 100 employees last year, and the Governor's office staff and payroll have more than doubled in the five-year period.

The one bright spot, the statistician notes, is in the Revenue

Department. The staff has been cut from 711 to 666 and Commissioner Clarence Lock boasts it is costing considerably less to bring in the tax dollars.

A Poor Joke
Amusement has been voiced in several corners of the State Capitol about the latest Democratic Party stand on fiscal reform.

This one says 1966 is the deadline for action on tax revision, or words to that effect. It has been presumed for several years that any such revision would likely include a state income tax.

The amusement is that this party statement is getting to be old hat. Under the last two Democratic governors, fiscal reform was written into the party's platform.

Minority ranking in the legislature was then given as the reason for failure to accomplish it.

In the first term of Republican Gov. George Romney, the Democrats agreed with him (and their party's long-standing position) but said they could not find enough opposition-party lawmakers to get it passed.

This year's fiasco speaks for itself since it is still so fresh in mind. The Democrats strung Romney along before they finally admitted they couldn't bring in the votes themselves.

What will happen next year while the Democratic majority is still firm is not too difficult to forecast. After all, a short session is planned to allow the lawmakers' maximum campaign time. The Dems hope to keep the upper hand.

Strong party stand or no, it must be remembered that while the Democratic legislators are members of the party they rarely have great numerical strength on the State Central Committee, which sets down such statements as the 1966 deadline for action.

Of course, failure to fulfill the party's platform plank or subsequent policy statements can always

(at least until 1967) be blamed on lack of agreement with Romney on details of fiscal revision.

Not So Simple
Irate citizens sometimes come up with a solution to any community problem. In more cases than not, it usually starts out with, "Why don't they just..."

Take for example, the problem of a town intersection which happens to be part of the state trunk-line system. The problem is too many accidents. The citizen's immediate idea is, "Why don't they just put up a traffic signal?"

Highway Department officials, plagued by this query year in and year out, study each situation but try to emphasize that a stop light is not useful as a device to prevent accidents.

Several intersections in the state can be cited by department officials as examples of what happens when a traffic signal is installed after study of local complaints.

It frequently runs in statistics like this: one-year before and after studies showed accidents went up from 4 to 15 at an intersection where a yellow flasher was replaced by a stop light. Ten persons were injured before the new signal. After the installation, 15 were injured and one killed.

"Traffic engineers have known for some time that stop-and-go signals often cause more accidents than they prevent," says department spokesman Harold Cooper. Stop-and-go signals have only one purpose and that is to assign the right-of-way at heavily traveled intersections.

"Our experience shows a general increase in accidents can be expected after installation of a new signal," said Cooper. Only about half the increase can usually be attributed to rear-end collisions involving motorists who forgot the new signal was there.

The whole grain is used in making graham flour.
