

3 Injured In Area Crashes

A Cass City man suffered minor injuries early Sunday morning when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car and it slammed into a concrete culvert on M-81, a half-mile east of Schwegler Road.

William N. Merchant, 25, Cass City suffered bruises and a head laceration. He was given emergency treatment and released. His car was demolished.

James Briggs, 59, Cass City businessman, suffered facial lacerations Friday when his car slammed into the rear of a pickup making a turn on M-53 during a snow storm.

Briggs was unable to stop in time and drove into the rear of a truck driven by James Ballagh, 47, Uby. The impact knocked the truck into the ditch, according to Huron county deputies investigating the accident.

Minor Crashes

A rash of minor accidents kept Cass City police busy during the week. A Cass City youth was injured in one of the crashes.

David MacRae, 17, Cass City, suffered bruises and abrasions Saturday when his car and a car driven by Gary C. Pierson, 21, Cass City, collided at the intersection of Ale and Houghton streets.

MacRae told police that both cars reached the intersection at the same time and were unable to stop because of ice on the road. Riding with MacRae were Les Searls, 17, Suzanne Rabideau, 15, Patti Rabideau, 10, and Kathy Herhalt, 16, all of Cass City.

In another accident Saturday, a car driven by Frances E. Yeitter, 21, Fillion, struck a parked car owned by John Franks, 25, Cass City, parked in the General Cable Corp. parking lot.

The Yeitter car reportedly slid into the Franks car when the driver stepped on the gas. Also in the Yeitter car were Frances Krozak, 21, and Dawn Wisniewski, 21, both of Fillion and Mary Gumolia, 18, of Bad Axe.

A car driven by Alan L. Guilds, 20, Cass City, backed into a passing car driven by Verna B. Carr, 20, Friday on Main Street, about 30 feet east of Seeger. Riding with Guilds were Robin Guilds, 18 months old, and Ruth Guilds, 22.

In another backing accident, a car driven by Mary Lou Koppelberger, 18, Kingston, struck a parked car owned by Walter Jezewski, Cass City, while backing from the curb on Main Street, about 50 feet east of Leach Street on Thursday.

Also in the Koppelberger vehicle were Scott Fleenor, four, Sherry Fleenor, 25, and Shawn Fleenor, two.

White Creek Club Break-in Reported

Police are still searching for the thieves who broke into the White Creek Club, Deford, sometime Wednesday night, Jan. 5, or the following morning and made off with $35 to $40 in change.

Entry into the club was made by breaking a basement window. No other damage was reported nor was anything except the change taken.

Gen-Tel Purchases Warehouse, Land For Radio Tower

General Telephone District Mgr. Richard Drews announced two projects this week which are under way in conjunction with the company's continued upgrading of repair service to customers in the Cass City district.

Drews announced the purchase of a warehouse building in the industrial district for storage and the purchase of a plot of land for a radio tower and mobile dispatch unit.

The warehouse, next to the Grand Trunk Depot, was purchased from Croft-Clara Lumber, Inc., which had used the building for storage of materials. Croft-Clara has since expanded its storage facilities at its main location.

"This building will be used to store construction material and vehicles of the Cass City district," Drews remarked. "It will also be used for a repair-reporting center for the district. The men currently report to the main building."

"An office will be built, from which the repair trucks will be dispatched," he stated.

The site of the tower is a four-acre plot about a quarter-mile north of the intersection of M-81 and M-53.

"This site will contain a radio tower and mobile dispatching building and equipment. Drews explained. "These facilities will enable the company to have radios in all of our vehicles and to provide for immediate response from the dispatch service."

"These two projects are just a part of our major expansion program which will enable us to keep pace with the rapid growth of the Thumb area," he concluded.

Both projects are part of a $22.4 million service improvement and expansion program for 1966 by the company.

two-week stay over the recent holidays. The Cotrim and the Marshalls tell what the Christian Rural Hospitality Council program means to them. (Chronicle photo)

Marshalls Love Every Minute As Hosts to Brazilian Family

"A foreigner in my home?" That's a situation that's being considered more often in Cass City as the local chapter of the Christian Rural Hospitality Council (CRHC) takes shape and residents are contacted to provide week end homes for Michigan's foreign college and university students.

An organizational meeting for the local chapter will be held tonight (Thursday) at the St. Paul's Catholic Church Hall at 8:00 p.m. as a preliminary to the village's first student visitation on January 27-30.

To find out what having a foreign student as a house guest entails and what it means to both the host and the guest, Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall of Cass City were interviewed.

Their guests, over the recent holidays, were Mr. and Mrs. Jose C. Cotrim (Ko-trem) and son, Ricky, originally of Salvador, Brazil, and currently of Lansing where Jose is attending Michigan State University.

For the Marshalls, having the Cotrim as guests was a "very pleasant experience. We loved every minute they were in our home."

No Qualms
"We had no qualms," says Mrs. Marshall. The council called us the afternoon before the Cotrim were to arrive and asked us to take a family."

"About 20 years ago we hosted a fellow from Iran. Since we'd done it before and knew how much we'd enjoyed it then, we agreed to take a family."

If anything, the council is a leveler of prejudices. Guests are paired with hosts according to hobbies, family and home background

Minors Purchase Beer from Store, Use Marked Bill

Five out-of-town youths were ticketed Saturday by Sheriff's deputies for possession of beer which they allege they purchased from a Cass City store.

Deputy Hilton Saries stopped the youths a mile and a half east of Cass City on M-81 and found several open bottles of beer. They admitted purchasing the beer from Port's Confectionery in Cass City and two of the youths, Ronnie Sisco, 20, Otter Lake, and Thomas W. Berlin, 20, Lapeer, agreed to make another purchase.

After making a second purchase with a marked bill, the boys returned to the car. Cass City Police Chief Carl Palmateer and Patrolman Robert Pawlowski returned to the store with the youths and they identified the seller of the beer.

The clerk admitted selling the beer without checking for identification and the marked bill was found in the cash register. The youths stated that both purchases were from different persons.

The bill and the beer were taken into custody by Saries. Just what action will be taken has not been reported.

and the host is in the dark until the guest arrives as to what country he comes from or what color he is. Common ground for the Cotrim and the Marshalls was farming.

"They didn't tell us anything about them," Mrs. Marshall continued. "We were all wide-eyed when the Cotrim drove into the yard, wondering what they were like and where they were from."

Language Barrier?
One of the biggest problems facing the host, or so he very often thinks, is the language barrier.

"We weren't concerned with the language problem. We'd had experience with Mexican laborers who couldn't speak a word of English and we felt that we could always make ourselves understood somehow."

In the case of the Cotrim, both Joe (as he prefers to be called) and his wife, Katy, speak fluent English. Joe had some background in English through school but it wasn't until he married his wife, whose father is English, that he studied the language seriously.

Biggest Problem
When asked what problem connected with hosting a family was the greatest, Marshall replied that there were "no problems."

"We went on with our normal life. I understand that's what they want you to do so these people will have some idea of the normal American way of life."

Joe verified this with the comment, "Our primary intention is to get acquainted with the American way of life. We like the hosts to act . . . normal . . . rather informal so we can see what the . . . normal way of life is like."

Who Gains?
Who gains the most from these encounters, the guest or the host? It's difficult to say. For the Marshalls it was a learning session.

"We learned a great deal about Brazil and their way of living," says Marshall. "You can learn so much more from the people than you can from books."

"You'd be surprised how much they know about our country. So much more than we know about theirs."

As an added dividend, the Cotrim's young son is only 19 months old. "Ricky made quite a hit around here," Mrs. Marshall confided.

Special Student
Joe is taking two terms in financial administration at MSU as a special student. In Salvador, population about 800,000, he is controller for his family's Caterpillar dealership corporation which serves the entire state of Bahia.

Joe, who celebrated his 27th birthday New Year's Day, has his Masters Degree in economics from the University of Sao Paulo.

To Joe, being a guest in an American home "is the best way to learn your way of life."

"Spending the holiday with a family means a great deal more to us than spending it alone." It means, too, that we make some new friends."

"Generally, if we didn't visit a family, we would stay in Lansing or perhaps visit one of your big cities . . . but we would be alone."

The family's stay with the Marshalls was not the first such visit

Negotiations Progress Topic At Board of Education Meet

Cass City Board of Education members wound up a relatively light session Monday night with an executive session during which negotiations between the teachers' union and a board committee were discussed.

Board comments on the negotiations were not revealed, however Supt. Donald Crouse reported that copies of the agreement were presented to each board member for further study.

No action was taken on the agreement which has been in the works for the past two months. During the November session, the board agreed to accept the Cass City Teachers' Club at bargaining agent for the teachers.

At that time a representative of the Teachers' Club stated that the Cass City teachers had accepted the club to represent them in "all future bargaining on wages, hours and other items and conditions of public employment."

Board members Mrs. Gerald Priesskorn and Donald Koepfgen are representing the board at the negotiations sessions.

In connection with the negotiations, the board approved a motion from a previous session that "any negotiated board policy unanimously approved by the board be effective immediately. Previously there was a 30-day waiting period."

New Buses
Purchase of three new buses was approved with specifications to remain the same as the last bus purchased. One bus chassis will be purchased from each of the village's three automotive dealers with the bodies to be by Wayne Body Company.

Drainage Agreement
A written agreement granting Cass City Public Schools the right to drain storm sewer water from the new high school across or in the vicinity of their property will be sought from three affected property owners.

Board member Koepfgen was assigned to secure the agreement to prevent the possibility of legal action in the event of damage caused by excessive water shed. verbal agreement.

The three pieces of property affected lie directly to the north and to the west of the site of the proposed new high school.

New Teacher

Willis Campbell Elementary School's crowded kindergarten situation has prompted the hiring of a new, part-time teacher. Mrs. John Esau will teach kindergarten classes for a half day for half a semester.

Ken Maharg, board member, was tentatively appointed to a county visitation committee which will visit special education classrooms throughout the county to see if they are being operated to their best advantage.

Each school in the county has two members on the committee, a board member and the superintendent.

A motion that the ninth grade coach be put on the salary schedule at $150 a year was approved. Ron Bass has been filling that post and will continue in that capacity.

Crouse and Board President Horace Bolen are to contact Fuelgas manager Ken Eisinger for a price appraisal in connection with a proposal offered the school by Southeastern Michigan Gas Company. Fuelgas is currently supplying bottled gas to the school.

Still in Black, but Costs Top Income

Reveal New High in Expenses for County

Although Tuscola County finished the year with a cash balance in the general fund of $13,230.99, a sharp increase in county spending resulted in expenditures exceeding revenues by $79,182.11, Arthur M. Willits indicated in his year-end report to the Tuscola County Supervisors this week.

The county started the year with a hefty balance of $92,403.12 but general fund spending was $65,189 over the year's receipts.

Total funds available from all sources, including cash on hand, was $10,977,921.79 and the total amount spent was $9,842,300.38.

The increase was some $731,000 over the previous year for all funds available to the county.

Expenses for most of the county's operations increased sharply. A comparative report of these expenses can be seen in the clerk's report elsewhere in this issue.

Register of Deeds

Register of Deeds William Profit's report, as presented to the supervisors, showed that his department collected $19,355.75, up some $378 over the previous year.

The collections enabled the department to show a slight profit over expenses which totaled $18,210.08.

Friend of the Court

C. V. Hamilton, friend of the court, reported that he made 497 house calls to get the facts about 349 active cases involving 778 children.

His department handled $174,963.07 worth of alimony money and issued 6,033 checks.

Hamilton is also deputy clerk of the court. He spent all or part of 61 days in court room work. His office also prepared weekly court schedules and kept records of time and mileage for all jurors.

Miscellaneous

In other business, a request by the Road Commission for a $100,000 appropriation "for road purposes" was deferred until after the finance committee reports. The request was made a special order of business for Friday.

At the request of the Finance Committee, $50,000 was transferred from the jail tax collection fund for 1965 to the jail sinking fund for current building expenses.

May Lose Fees

Tuscola County stands to lose close to $6,000 a year if the filing of automobile liens is taken away from the Register of Deeds office and handed over to the State Department, supervisors learned Tuesday.

In recent legislation, the bill passed in one house and came within one vote of passing in the other. The matter was referred to the Resolutions Committee for study.

Last year, the Register of Deeds, in this department, collected $5,985 in fees.

Director Sought

The Equalization Committee was given authority to hire an equalization director for the county. Under state law, an equalization department for the county must be in operation by Jan. 1, 1967.

William Dennison, Michigan State Association of Supervisors secretary-treasurer, discussed a wide range of items pertinent to county government and how they affected the supervisors.

A retirement plan for the county employees was presented by Western Life Insurance Company and was referred to the Salary Committee. Various retirement plans for county employees are under consideration.

County '65 Costs Up- Clerk Reports

Because of increased salaries and operating costs, every department reported by County Clerk Archie Hicks in his annual report showed a jump in cost. The continuing upward spiral is a trend of recent years.

In his report, Hicks also showed that his department had collected

$14,865.19 in fees during the year. The money was then redistributed to the proper agency or person.

In addition handled a $5,000 bond of attachment and $1,518.58 in garnishments. Total handled by the clerk was $21,383.76.

Annual Meeting To Mark 20th Area ABA Anniversary

When the annual meeting of the Cass City-Kingston Artificial Breeders' Association is held Saturday, Jan. 15, at the Deford School it will mark the 20th anniversary of the organization.

Although the ABA is 20 years old, the meeting Saturday will be only the second for the consolidated group. In 1965, the board voted to consolidate the Kingston and Cass City groups.

Both associations started at about the same time. The Cass City ABA leaned heavily to the Red Dane breed while Kingston was primarily interested in Holsteins.

The Kingston group started after

Cultural Center Spring Lectures Set by AAUW

The Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women has finalized plans for two more lectures in their series, both of which will be held this spring.

March 30 will bring Dr. Leroy Augusten, chairman of the Department of Biophysics at Michigan State University, to the Cultural Center. His lecture will be entitled "Come Let Us Play God" and will be part of the branch's emphasis this year on "Science: A Creative Discipline."

Dr. Augusten addresses over 150 audiences a year and has just returned from a lecture tour in Europe.

The second spring lecture will be given on April 27 by Michael Church, assistant director for cultural activities of the University of Michigan. Church, a well-known artist, writer, and critic in the art area, will speak on "Art In the Fourth Dimension."

He will also address Cass City High School students during the afternoon and will meet with persons responsible for the cultural aspects of the community. The branch also plans to exhibit works of local artists at the Cultural Center in conjunction with Church's visit.

Both lectures will be open to the public, and proceeds will go to the branch Fellowship Fund which enables outstanding women scholars to do graduate study.

The branch meeting this month will be held at 8:00 p.m. January 19 at the home of Mrs. Harry Crandell with Mrs. B. H. Starman as co-hostess. The group will begin their study of genetics with "The Thread of Life."

From the Editor's Corner

The Cass City Village Council will resubmit in March the $52,000 bond issue for the purchase and remodeling of the former H. O. Paul building for a fire hall and library.

The theory, according to the trustees, is that a better educational program will result in swinging the vote to the building.

It is true that the village has nothing to lose by resubmitting the issue for another vote in March. The cost of another election is negligible when conducted with the regular village election.

However, past experience has shown that a measure defeated once, more often is more decisively defeated in the second try. The vote for money at both Deford and Cass City schools in previous years is a case in point.

What possibly could turn the tide for proponents of the purchase is a change in the program.

There is one that we can think of that would influence several votes including several firemen who told me in confidence that they voted against the measure because of the arrangement between the village and the township.

The nub of the problem is that the village pays twice for service when it pays for all of the housing costs and shares equally, via township taxes, in the purchase of all new equipment. Many persons feel this is an inequitable arrangement . . . and I share their views.

If the council could come up with a positive statement of a change in the policy it should brighten the chances of passage of the bond issue.

Your paper gets around, Supervisor Ed Golding said this week. When we conducted our clinic for the new senior citizens' tax exemptions we handled about 50 from Elkland Township.

But we also had residents come from Novesta township, Kingston, Shabbona, Evergreen, Greenleaf, Gagetown, Argyle, Snover and northern Huron county.

Please report that we are only able to assist township residents and that interested persons in other areas should contact their respective township officers, Golding requested.

Wanted to See Mother, Took Truck for Ride

You can't blame a fellow for wanting to see his mother and that's apparently the attitude Harry Bohnsack, Cass City roofing contractor, took this week toward an employee who took one of his trucks for a jaunt to Port Huron. Bohnsack reported to Sheriff's deputies Friday, Jan. 7, that one of his trucks had been stolen by Paul Gross. Later in the day he received a call from Gross that the truck was at his mother's house in Port Huron if Bohnsack wanted it.

Gross explained to Bohnsack that he wanted to see his mother and taking the truck was the only way he knew of doing it.

Before taking off on his trip, Gross filled the truck with gas at a local station and charged it to Bohnsack.

Port Huron police impounded the truck and arrested Gross for larceny of a truck. Bohnsack, who recovered the truck Saturday, reportedly has not taken any action against Gross.

Legislature Notes CRHC Work Here

The Michigan Legislature recently passed a resolution of tribute to the Christian Rural Hospitality Council. Copies were presented last week to officers of the council by Senator Frank Beadle of Port Huron. The resolution was introduced in the Senate by Senators Beadle, Richardson and Hart and was passed by both the Senate and the House. It commends the council and its 753 member families.

It reads: resolved by the senate (the House of Representatives concurring), that the Michigan legislature, by these presents speaking for themselves and for the People of the State of Michigan, extend their highest tribute to the Christian Rural Hospitality Council and to each of the participants in its program to promote direct international understanding and good will.

The council headquarters are in Mayville. There are a large number of member families in this area.

VISITORS ENJOYED

Concluded from page one. for them. "At Thanksgiving we stayed with another family," Joe relates. "We enjoyed it so much that when we got back, I called the Center for International Programs and said we'd like to repeat the experience."

The Marshalls are one of 40 Cass City families who are members of the county chapter of the CRHC and who are forming the core of the new Cass City Chapter. Over 300 families throughout the county belong to the council.

Started four years ago as the brain-child of Rev. William Lutz of Mayville, the council is currently recognized by the state of Michigan and by the United Nations. It is the only such council in the nation.

Member families open their homes to foreign students at Michigan colleges and universities during vacations and between semesters.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Concluded from page one. meeting with the county agent, Morris W. Wilber, in March of 1946. They were told that 300 cows were needed to start the program.

The organizers signed 32 farmers with a total of 364 cows. Dick Ross went to East Lansing in July of 1946 to learn the duties of the technician and has been serving the group since that time.

The first board of directors lists many names prominent in Tuscola County affairs. It included: Allison Green, Bruce Ruggles, Tildon Tait, Fred Henderson, Louis Iyle Everett, Ruggles and Everett Wenzlaff, William Froede and Carl still serve on the board.

From the Cass City board, Ed Goiding has served for 20 years, either as president or secretary of the group.

During the 20 years that the Kingston ABA has operated, 391 farmers have joined, with 5,100 cows in the program.

Hawks Fly to Pair Of Cage Victories

The Cass City Red Hawks made it three victories in a row Tuesday night when they defeated North Branch 83-67 in what Coach John Oswald called the best team effort of the year.

The victory enabled the Hawks to equal their entire victory total of the previous year and boosted their chances in the remaining games this year.

The Hawks were paced by Wayne Copeland who netted 27 points and Oswald said the defensive play of his guards. Copeland, Al Zawilinski and Dave Schember. . . was outstanding.

They stopped the best pair of guards we've seen all year almost completely in the second half, Oswald said.

Oswald also noted that the team had four players in double figures, giving the club balanced scoring.

Phil Gray came off the bench to give us a needed lift with 14 points and Dave Asher played a strong defensive game while leading the team in rebounds, Oswald said.

It was a gasser. One of those games that the Cass City Red Hawks haven't experienced much in recent years. . . not since the glory days of basketball here six or seven years ago.

Most of the Hawks' victories have been bitter duels, decided in the closing moments of the game, but Friday against cellar dwelling Bad Axe, Cass City rolled to an easy victory, 84-58.

It was the second straight victory for Cass City and such an easy win that Coach John Oswald was able to use his bench about midway through the second period and again through most of the final quarter.

Paced by Dave Asher and Jim Walters, Cass City quickly ran up a nine-point lead before the Hatchets were able to count a point.

But the Hatchets rallied after they finally found the range to move into a tie at 17-all at the end of the initial period. . . but this was the last time they got close.

With Walters, who had his best night of the year, showing the way, the Hawks bombed the bucket in the second stanza for 23 points while the Hatchets netted just 11 points. At the intermission, Cass City was in front 40-28 and the only question was just how big the final margin was going to be.

In the second half, the Hawks continued to roll. At the end of the third period the margin had grown to 59-44 to set the stage for the attack by the bench warmers that pushed the total to the final 84-58.

Although Bad Axe is admittedly a weak team, there were several bright points for Cass City in addition to the score.

Walters' best showing of the year certainly must have brightened Oswald's outlook and Dave Asher continued his steady improvement since the season opened. Tom, Kelly sparkled on the boards and Jerry Knoblet finally added some scoring punch (16 points) to his fine defensive play.

Oswald used all of the players on his squad and 11 of them shared in the scoring.

Cass City hit 48 per cent of its field goal tries, converting 28 of 58 shots. Bad Axe hit 32 per cent on 19 out of 60 shots. Each team hit 67 per cent of its shots from the free throw line.

The Hawks will have an opportunity to move up in the league standings Friday when they host Sandusky at Cass City in a game that is rated a toss up on the basis of previous games.

Reserves Win

The Hawk reserves defeated the Hatchet seconds, leading all the way in a 42-32 decision.

Junior High Hawks Still Winless

Cass City's seventh and eighth grade teams suffered two more defeats in games played with other schools in the Thumb B Conference.

The closest Cass City came to winning was in the first game with Bad Axe when the little Hawks bowed 24-19. The seventh graders fell behind 8-3 in the first quarter and were never able to overcome the lead although they played the winners on even terms during the last three periods. Rob Alexander had eight points and Ralph Retherford six points for Cass City. Dick Walker of Bad Axe netted 11.

The eighth graders showed no offense and little defense in the nightcap, bowing 51-9. Only bright spot in a dismal picture was the rebounding of Dave Milligan, John Smentek and Bob King. Smentek netted eight of the nine points for Cass City.

Lakers Big

The seventh grade was pulverized by the Lakers Monday afternoon, 70-20. The Lakers featured a well balanced, rangy team. Steve Zagorski, tall center, netted 18 points for the Lakers and Doug Yaakle had 14. Alexander led Cass City with nine points.

The eighth graders again showed that they have no scoring punch, losing to the Lakers, 41-13 in the second game. John Smentek had six points for Cass City, while the Laker scoring was led by Dave Shaw with nine points.

AS YOU TRAVEL, ASK US

This is the sign and slogan of courtesy posted by Standard Oil stations all across America. It is a most heartwarming invitation to the lost motorist or passing stranger seeking hospitable accommodations. 'Stop and ask' it says, we'll try to help you. Also, you might like to try our product.

How like the church! You may not be a traveling motorist but you are en route. The journey from the cradle to the grave is one upon which all have embarked. The road of life twists and turns, abounds in hills and valleys, and is full of surprises. Doubtless your needs will be many. So . . . as you travel, ask us.

The church is the world's oldest service station, and this warm invitation in variant forms is constantly displayed. For the lost traveler we have the most up-to-date road map, the Bible! Truly a "lamp unto our feet and a light unto our pathway." Or perchance your need is fuel for the journey. Come, then, eat heartily of the "Bread of life" and drink to the full the refreshing "water of life" dispensed in the gracious measure by the Chief Attendant.

Ask about our other services, too. If your lamps are dim we are lighting experts. Our Manager is known as the Light of the World. Protection for your vehicle? Surely! "Put on the whole armor of God" . . . we supply everything. Information on interesting excursions? Maybe 'people to people missions' interest you, always nearby. Or there's 'good news trips' to other lands; we have entire departments established to set up this for you. 'Choir loft hill' is close by for the musically inclined, and scholars will not want to miss the numerous 'Sabbath schools'. And insurance? Well, pardon our boasting, but we are the only company offering 'eternity policies'.

So (if the Stardard people won't mind) "As you travel, ask us" - the Church.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

It'll soon be 70 year since I come into this world and as we git going fer 1966 I look back on the changes and agree with Ed Doolittle that we ain't handled a heap of them right.

Fer instant, ways of spreading news and gitting acquainted with others has gone all the way from two wimmen talking over the backyard fence to bouncing pictures off one of them things they got anchored in orbit. And the more we learn about one another, the harder it seems fer us to git along together.

I bring this matter up at the country store Saturday night and Zeke Grubb was of the opinion them science fellers was the cause of it all. He said he could recollect when his next meal come from the garden patch, canned fruit and vegetables in the pantry, the chicken coop and the cow over in the pasture. But now, claimed Zeke, farmers and ranchers won't eat much that is home grown. They grow it and raise it, sell it and buy it back after it's been purified, pasteurized, homogenized, vitamin enriched, condensed, cooked, froze, preserved and filled

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A Special Meeting of the Council of the Village of Cass City was held on Wednesday, January 5, 1966 at 7:00 a.m. in the New Gordon Hotel. All trustees were present.

It was moved by Trustee Bernard Freiburger and seconded by Trustee Gladys Albee that a resolution be adopted resubmitting to the electors of the Village the proposition that the Village borrow $52,000 to be repaid by the issuance of G.O. bonds to purchase and remodel the H. O. Paul Bldg. for firehall, library and other municipal use. This proposition is to be voted upon at the time of the General Elections on March 14, 1966. Yea-6. Nay-0. Motion carried. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

L. E. Ahlaver

with chemicals to keep it fresh tasting. It has got to the place, allowed Zeke, where peanut butter ain't even made out of peanuts no more.

Clem Webster was agreed with Zeke, said he was reading in his pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture where American farmers and ranchers could raise enough to feed the world and still go fishing two days a week, but they won't eat what they raise. A feller would think, claimed Clem, that bread was bread and milk was milk, but ever bakery and ever dairy made 'em different. Take the Irish potato, for instant, said Clem. A farmer sells 'em by the bushel, then he buys 'em back in little seltone packs, all sliced up and fresh frozen. He pays more fer a peck of potatoes in the store than he got for 5 bushel in the field.

Bug Hookum was lamenting he had saw a piece in the Farm Journal saying agriculture production has went up 500 per cent in the last 35 year, but the farmer and rancher profits has gone down 10 per cent in the last 15 year. He claimed things has got to the point where farmers and ranchers got to sell what they raise and buy it back to keep the money spread out and going round to keep the country moving.

They ain't nothing in this world, Mister Editor, that can git as wet as the crying towel when the fellers at the store git together. Personal, I didn't say too much fer the record on account of my old lady says she can buy a hen already killed, cleaned and cut up cheaper than she can bulldoze me into helping her raise her own.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

GI Thanks Local Girl for Gift to Viet Nam Kids

Susann Guinther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hazen Guinther of Cass City, sent a gift for people in a village in Viet Nam and her gift was acknowledged by Spec. 4 Paul. Ehmke, 22, who started the project.

Miss Guinther sent the gift after reading that the GI had started a project to help people in a village because of their desperate plight. In his letter to Miss Guinther, Ehmke reported that after the story was printed he received so many packages that he is considering starting support of the whole Viet Nam village.

He said that the army also has plans to assist by building a small school. Doctors are now making trips to the village two or three times a week, the letter continues. The kids have practically no clothing and need anything in just about any size from 3 to 12 years old, Ehmke explained.

In the newspaper article that started Miss Guinther's interest, Ehmke reported that most of the children are parentless and some of them have lost arms and legs in the war.

Ehmke's mailing address is: RA19684335, Det. B, Maint. Bn., First Cav. Div. Air, APO, San Francisco, Calif., 96490.

Men's Club Installs New Officers Sunday

The first meeting for 1966 of the St. Pancratius Men's Club was held Sunday, Jan. 9, in the parish social hall.

Plans were made for the completion of the remodeling of the social hall.

It was decided that a euchre tournament would be held after each monthly business meeting.

A new slate of officers was installed for 1966, including: president, John Koepf; vice-president, Ron Keegan; secretary, Ron Fontaine; and treasurer, Ed Scollone.

Lutheran Ladies Elect Officers

Mrs. Frank McCormb was re-elected president of the Lutheran Ladies Aid at the January meeting Monday evening, Jan. 3, at the church. Others re-elected to office were: secretary, Mrs. Gerald Bock, and treasurer, Mrs. Vernon Schulz.

Newly-elected officers for the year are: vice-president, Mrs. Richard Schuette, and Christian growth chairman, Mrs. Frank Butler.

Fifteen members attended the meeting when two new memberships were accepted. They are Mrs. Natalie Fritz and Mrs. Dale Iseler, both of Cass City.

Mrs. Esther Willy and Mrs. Peter Zell were hostesses for the evening.

The group served a noon luncheon Tuesday, Jan. 4, to 25 pastors and their wives at a monthly district meeting at the Good Shepherd Church.

Hawk Debaters End Session in Fifth Position

Stiff competition proved to be too much for Cass City's green debate squad and the Red Hawk team ended the local debate season Monday night in the bottom half of the placings.

Despite a fifth place rating, Debate Coach Ed Doerr commended his squad. "We had a 7-13 record for the season which isn't too bad considering we had only one seasoned debater," he commented.

Cass City lost to Akron-Fairgrove and Frankemuth in the first round and to Sandusky and the Lakers in the second round.

Tied for first place are Caro and Sandusky with Frankemuth, the Lakers and Akron-Fairgrove tied for second place and Millington in third.

On the individual level, Tim Knight, the squad's only experienced member, placed fourth in the star speaker category with speakers from Sandusky, Lakers and Caro placed above him.

Individual scoring is based on speaker points and is extremely close. Knight finished with 20.5 points and the third place speaker had 20.8. The top speaker had a total of 22.5 points.

All that is left on the squad's debate schedule is the district meeting at Sts. Peter and Paul in Saginaw on the State Debate schedule. The date has not been set.

Schedule Scout Klondike Derby

Mitchell Babcock, Thumb District Scout activities chairman, this week announced that the annual Thumb district Klondike Derby is scheduled Feb. 5 at Camp Pine Acres, on Orr Road near Caro.

The event is for patrols only and costs 35 cents per person. The event starts at 10:30 a.m. and is expected to be concluded at 3:30 p.m. Besides the race on the 50-pound sleds, the derby will include problems in first aid, rope work, compass and other related activities, Babcock said.

Michigan State University is offering 185 extension courses this winter in a wide variety of subject-matter areas in some 45 communities throughout the state.

More Work, Higher Costs for Sheriff

Reflecting the creeping cost spiral throughout the county the year-end report by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department indicated increased expenses as well as an increased work load.

The department's expenses from the general fund were $91,457.81, as compared to $70,275.57 the previous year. However, the amount of money collected for fees and fines also increased sharply. This year $34,027.82 was returned to the county or villages from these sources to make the net cost of running the department $37,429.99.

The net cost figure is only slightly higher than the costs for 1964 when $35,551 was spent.

Averaged out on the basis of the county's population, Sheriff Ilugh Marr said, the cost per citizen was 85 cents, up four cents from the 81 cents average in 1964.

License Bureau

A glance at the comparative figures for the license bureau gives an indication of the increasing work load in the department. In 1964 this department processed 7,449 licenses. This year the total was 9,994 and starting about July 1 a camera was installed and the department added the responsibility of snapping pictures for licenses. From these activities $28,113.75 was collected.

Work Load

Sheriff's deputies worked a total of 25,417 hours, including a total of 223 hours of unpaid overtime, Marr said. This is an increase of 1,293 hours from the previous year.

Also jumping sharply was the number of miles patrolled. The 249,182 miles driven was 34,673 more than the previous year and increased gas consumption by 2,747 gallons in 1965.

Jail Operation

Nearly 100 more prisoners were received at the county jail in 1965 than there were in the previous year — a new all time record.

In 1964 the jail served more

Romney Praises Owner of Newest Cass City Plant

Gov. George Romney recently wrote a letter to H. C. Cole, president of Cole Carbide Industries, congratulating the Royal Oak resident for opening a branch in Cass City.

Romney said, "I was very pleased to learn recently that your company has been expanding its operations by taking over a vacant plant in Cass City.

"Cass City and the adjacent area will derive a considerable benefit from the payroll of your new plant. We appreciate your decision to locate additional production facilities in this fine Michigan Community.

"Best wishes for your continued growth and a very successful future."

BUSINESSES INCREASE

1965, an increase of 2.5 per cent for the period.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses, such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

It is interesting to review what has happened in the nine principal Tuscola County communities during the past year.

SMOKE BILLOWS from a window at the Louie Pierce home at the corner of Seventh and West streets early Thursday morning as firemen work to put out a persistent fire started by a defective chimney. It was the fifth fire for the home, better known as the George Webber home. Pierce had just recently bought the house and was preparing to move in. Damage was estimated by Chief Nelson Willy at about $5,000. (Chronicle photo)

A Little Advice From A Veteran

By Dave Kraft

Inasmuch as this is a new year, I'd like to begin it by doing a good deed. In February I will have been married five years. No record, to be sure, but it does make me eligible to pass on a little advice to those who are about to become tangled in the web of matrimony.

Young man! Don't... don't ever go shopping with your wife. Specifically grocery or clothing. Young woman! Don't... don't ever ask your husband to go shopping with you. Not if you don't want him to go to an early grave.

I could go into a long, belligerent tale about clothing shopping but it is not as fresh in my mind as the grocery shopping I did the other night.

Actually, grocery shopping with the wife isn't too bad if she let's you push the cart. About the only pleasure I get out of shopping is using the cart as a scooter up and down the aisles.

But, here is the invisible evil of shopping with your wife. Sooner or later, just as sure as Cass City is going to go to parallel parking, something will come up and she won't be able to make it on the regular night for shopping.

So who has to go? Right! Take the other night for instance. No baby sitter so my wife says, "You'll have to get the groceries." I could have let her go, but she takes about three days just to get a quart of milk and usually comes back with 19 cents in change from my entire check. So I went.

In the event that any of you men should get stuck with the shopping, one thing to require of the wife is that she gives you a shopping list that is at least legible. My wife writes her groceries on a piece of paper somewhat smaller than a post card.

She fills it out right down the center, then writes on the margins and inserts teeny tiny words in the spaces between the original list until the whole thing looks like one of those scrambled word contests.

When you come onto the thing cold, you get such startling combinations as tomato soap, Kleenex aluminum foil, Action liquid bleach (No such animal) and Pepto Bismol flakes.

As soon as you get this straightened out, you have to straighten out the store. Store owners throughout the nation will deny this, but I know better. If they have three sizes of something made by the same company, they will do their best to put these items as far apart as possible.

Take the soap department, for instance. If there was ever a grocery department designed to turn a man into a screaming, raging looney, it is the soap department. There are 99 and 44 one-hun-dreths different kinds of soap. Dish, wash, hand, liquid, flake, capsule, tablet, family size, lotioned, colored, clear, and one or two which look good enough to eat, drink or take a bath in.

All the powders come in three, sometimes four, different-sized boxes and all the liquids come in plastic bottles which all look the same.

A man could boil up some tallow and ashes and make his own soap quicker than he can find what he's looking for in such a maze of television sponsors.

Another tricky spot is the toilet tissue section. Do you know how difficult it is to purchase one roll of white toilet tissue?

You can get it printed, pasted or perfumed; in quantities of two to six, but one white roll you can't have. It comes in soft, very soft and gently but seldom in one white roll.

By the time I get through these two sections, I'm so cussed mad that I could go home and take the lead out of the automatic pencil my wife uses to write her shopping list with.

It doesn't make a good impression with the other shoppers when they encounter a fellow with a beard, in the midst of the toilet tissue section sweating at a roll of pink tissue. Store owners don't invite you back, I can tell you that.

My solution has been to hire a baby sitter with a standing invitation for Friday night. Then I can go and push the cart and scooter up and down the lanes and marvel at the way my wife can go through the store and still maintain her sanity.

Did you hear about the two guys who drowned while ice fishing up near Mud Creek? They tried to build a basement in their ice shanty.

Barbara Henrikson

Our attitude affects other people even when we don't try. Some people seem to have a special sense which tells them another person's moods.

This doesn't seem to be an easy thing to teach. Intelligence has nothing to do with it. Sometimes it seems to be more a case of a quality that children have and then lose as they grow up.

A baby doesn't understand words. He learns to interpret the people around him by other means of communication.

If mother is relaxed, she is soft and comfy. When she gets tense, her muscles tighten and become hard. Baby doesn't know she is angry at the neighbor but he knows she isn't soft as usual. He cries.

This could be one reason why babies so often cry when a man holds them. His relaxed muscles are often as hard as mother's tense ones.

An older baby listens to voice tone, not words. He watches for a set mouth or a smile. When he learns words, he often partially forgets these little indications of temper and temperament if the people around him are open in their feelings, quarrel when they are angry, kiss when they are happy.

If the atmosphere at home is tense and yet the family stays together, the child may keep this sensitivity to others' feelings. He has to, in order to get along with the rest of the family. This could be one reason why some of the best psychologists have personality problems of their own, yet understand others so well.

Psychologists and social workers are taught to watch for the signs of communication other than words. They watch for a sudden quirk at the corner of the mouth, the raised eyebrow, the outburst lower lip.

The unconscious signs that communicate a mood or an attitude are their tools as much or more than the spoken word.

When we say "Are you mad?" or "What are you so happy about?" we may not be aware that we feel this way. Usually we have interpreted some of these signs.

A woman can wear make-up to hide paleness, circles and wrinkles, but make-up doesn't touch the signs of her attitude.

No make-up in the world can affect a bitter heart or an overflowing happiness. And the more sensitive the person you are talking to, the more your attitude affects them.

Michigan State University economists predict that by 1980 farming in Michigan will be big business. The average commercial farm will have more than $130,000 invested. Sales will average over $25,000 per year per farm.

Vernal Still Top Variety of Alfalfa

Vernal alfalfa is still one of the highest yielding, most desirable varieties for Michigan, according to a Michigan State University crop scientist.

H. L. Kohls reported that Vernal has proved to be hardy and more widely adapted to Michigan than any other high yielding variety. It also showed considerable resistance to alfalfa wilt.

DuPuits, another high yielding variety adapted to the southern part of the state, also made a good showing in recent field trials. Kohls said this variety is excellent for farmers cutting three times per year for one or two years. When hay is grown on the same fields for four or five years or more, Vernal is usually a better choice because it is more hardy and resistant to alfalfa wilt.

A new variety, Soranac, produced very good yields in field trials at both East Lansing and Lake City. "It is vigorous in growth and worthy of further testing," said Kohls. "We'll run it through field trials two or three more years before making recommendations on its adaptability to Michigan."

Compare Sudangrass Varieties in State

Piper Sudangrass still ranks among the high yielding varieties for Michigan, but several new hybrids are also showing promise, according to a Michigan State University crop scientist.

H. L. Kohls pointed specifically to Mor-Su and Su-Chow P-A-G 34, two hybrids that were, among the five highest yielding varieties in both East Lansing and Lake City field trials.

"There were many other very promising hybrids," said Kohls, "and all of them should be tested two to three more years before recommendations can be made for Michigan."

Over 560 students took advantage of the career counseling service of The University of Michigan during 1964-65.

Private foundations and industry greatly increased their support of research at the University of Michigan during 1964-65. An increase of 85 per cent, for a total of more than $2-million, was financed by private and industry foundations and non-governmental health agencies. Industry and industrial associations sponsored more than $2.5-million, a 35 per cent increase.

IT SEEMS TO ME Converting Dragsters With Coffee Hour

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

For the first column in the new year, nothing could be better than to let you know of some new ways religious leaders are getting converts. The Rev. Arthur Hill has started a ministry to dragsters and has noted some of the racing enthusiasts attending worship services of his new congregation! . . . The Rev. Gerald E. Peterson told of starting a coffee house in the basement of the church he serves. Of the 40-50 persons on an average night, only half of them claim church membership. . . . These leaders are to be commended on attempting to adapt their evangelistic approach to their own situations. Or, so it seems to me!

LAUGH! "This clock I bought from you loses fifteen minutes every hour," complained the irate customer. Answered the clerk: "Didn't you see the sign '25 per cent off' when you bought it?" Laugh Again! "Now, Miss Jones," asked the psychiatrist, "Are you ever troubled by improper thoughts?" "Why, no," replied the beauty. "To tell the truth, doctor, I rather enjoy them!"

Methodist Bishop Kennedy, not one to back-down in a fight on principle, recently preached at Galloway Memorial Methodist Church to a racially mixed congregation—the first in that 3,000 member church. The church invited the Bishop to lead a four-day mission more than a year ago. Three days before leaving for Mississippi, he received a letter from a student at Millsaps College who asked if Negro friends might attend. The bishop (telephoned Dr. W. J. Cunningham, the pastor, who after consultation with leaders of the church, decided that all who came peacefully would be welcomed. Three or four Negro students attended each night. Bishop Kennedy, possibly the most vocal Methodist bishop, had turned down an earlier invitation to preach in a southern church unless that church practiced integration in its worship hour. This popular speaker has taken his stand as has his church, Or, so it seems to me.

The recent blackout in New York and neighboring communities provided ready-made sermon topics. Among them was a very effective one preached by Martin Luther King who preached on "what to do when the lights go out." The hundreds of commuters who sought refuge in St. Patrick's Cathedral found there an ample supply of candles; but no rest rooms. One man left his barber's with the left side of his face shaved while the right side was yet bewhiskered. Said one commentator: "We had taken for granted the notion that electrical power would flow forever. Do we not also presume on God's providence? The survival of a nation depends not only on its physical resources but on the mercy and the common grace of God." And so it seems to me!

A recent article on the cost of shoplifting across our great nation caught my eye. Pointing out that the main causes used to be the desire for an apple by the cop on the beat or by some fleet-of-foot youngster who swiped some penny candy, UPI reports that about $300 million never reaches the supermarkets because of shoplifting. And who is it that pays for it? You and me! While kleptomaniacs and people who steal because of real need used to be thought the principal cause, today's shoplifter is simply trying to get something for nothing. Of 197 shoplifters 56 were professional people—doctors, lawyers, professors, military personnel and their wives. The average haul is only $3.75 with most shoplifters carrying enough money to pay for the items taken. The biggest hazard to shoplifting consists of ample store personnel scattered throughout the store, according to the article. Or so it seems to me.

Approximately one of every 1,000 Americans is a University of Michigan alumnus.

More than 3,500 University of Michigan students last year received financial support through employment on research projects during 1964-65. The University's total research volume was $47.3 million.

Michigan MirrorSolons Set Sights on Short Session in this Election Year

Political Roundup
Long legislative sessions are getting to be the rule rather than the exception, but the 1965 meeting came close to some records.

This year, lawmakers say they will get their work done before summer starts. In an election year a short session is always the aim but it has not always been achieved.

Historical statisticians note that last year's 126-day session was the second longest in the past 50 years, surpassed only by the cash crisis meetings of 1959.

In terms of productivity, last year's activity put more new laws on the books than were enacted in a single session since 1919 when legislators passed 432 acts in 82 days. Last year 415 acts, including three local ones were put on the books.

In six of nine election years since 1948 the legislature has met in either extended sessions or held special meetings for specific purposes.

Current evaluation would indicate both the Republicans and Democrats will try their best to stick with the present plan for a short session.

Democrats face the two-headed monstrous problem of opposing Gov. George Romney in his anticipated bid for a third term while keeping party peace by avoiding a potential fight over the U.S. Senate nomination.

Republicans will look for a strong campaign to put Romney back in the executive office by an even bigger vote than he pulled against the national Johnson slide. They also admit an uphill battle in attempting to get back some of the legislative seats lost in the 1964 tally.

Finally, if legislative apportionment is changed again, new districts will make both parties' jobs that much tougher as a new territory is more difficult to gauge.

Crime Rate Up
Recent emphasis by law enforcement officials throughout the state on a concentrated battle against crime has been well-timed to coincide with the start of the 1966 legislative session.

The discussions have involved a wide range of ideas, including a central clearing house on crime-fighting programs, state support of policemen's pay, and uniform police training standards.

Crime is on the increase in Michigan (and the nation.) About this there is no doubt. Figures just recently compiled for 1964 showed a rate of 1,393.6 major offenses per 100,000 population, a 12 per cent boost over 1963.

Prosperity is blamed by some for part of the increase. When prosperity is high, the criminal element sees more opportunity for activity and crime appeals to more individuals.

Others cite declining moral values, usually also linked to economic well-being and changing times, as largely responsible for the rise in crime rates.

They support this by showing the change in age levels of the criminals. In 1964 more than 77 per cent of the major offenses were committed by persons 21 years old or younger.

Michigan's healthy $136 million surplus is now expected to be essentially intact at the end of the current fiscal year because of constantly rising revenue income.

With this in view, the various law enforcement agencies and officials, with chief spokesman Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley in Lansing, will surely be looking to the legislature for funds and regulatory methods to attempt to stop the rising crime rate.

Travelling Books
Michigan's Historymobile went into winter hibernation late in 1965 but will be back on the road this spring taking its colorful story to additional thousands of state residents.

Solan Weeks, director of the Michigan Historical Commission museum, said the first year of the display unit was considered a worthwhile venture.

The three-fold purpose of the mobile unit is to stimulate interest in Michigan's heritage, publicize the museum resources of the state, and acquaint the general citizenry with local history.

Developed through cooperation of a number of businesses with 14 Michigan museums, the Historymobile was staffed in each community it visited by local historical society members.

The 19 exhibits included in the 1965 presentation portrayed the state's development from the time when mastodons roamed the state, through the French and British eras, the territorial years and eventual development into the present industrial status.

The right viewpoint will do much to lighten life's burdens.
